Navy Calls Off Today's Scheduled Rocket Firing

Former NAS Officer Shows Jaycees Film On Missile Test

A recently released film on the test of missile 12A at Cape Canaveral was shown yesterday to the Seminole County Jaycees by Bud Bramley, former Navy officer stationed at N.A.S. Sanford, Bramley is now with the Industrial Relations Department in the Convair Division of General Dynamics at Cape Canaveral.

Bramley explained that Convair first developed the MX774 missile in 1948, featuring a gimbal engine, integral fuel tank in the skin of the rocket and a separate nose cone.

In 1953 the division received the contract on the Atlas for the U. S. Air Force. In June 11, 1957, the Atlas was first fired in an unsuccessful launching. Dec. 17, 1957 brought the completely successful launchings, he said.

The 800 employees at Convair benefited highly in the success of the 12A, explained Bramley. The former Naval Officer was stationed for three years in Sanford and is a frequent visitor here.

Canal Hearing Monday Morning In Washington

State and local officials will leave tomorrow morning for Washington, D. C. where they will appear before the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors Monday morning.

The public hearing will give the Florida men an opportunity to state their interests in the Sanford-Titusville Canal project, recently turned down as economically unjustified by the District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, Jacksonville.

The proposed canal would link Sanford to the Intracoastal Waterway near Titusville. At present a 12-foot government maintained channel, up the St. Johns River from Jacksonville, ends at Sanford. Florida leaders feel that the tremendously improved Canaveral Harbor is not fully utilized with no link between the east and west ports. A Cras State Barge Canal, already authorized, will provide the link between west coast ports and the St. Johns River.

A critical comment of the survey report, prepared by Gee and Jensen, Consulting Engineers, West Palm Beach, and Dr. B. W. Bradburn, U. S. Army Engineer District, summarized the benefits to the state of the Sanford-Titusville Canal, and attempts to prove how the District Engineer erred in an "inadequate and ultraconservative" report.

The comment lists benefits of recreational boating, commercial transportation savings, and the attraction of new industry from the proposed canal.

Proponents of the project will be given the opportunity to present their statements first, at the 10 a. m. meeting, followed by the opponents.

All interested parties will be given adequate opportunity to express their views. A detailed summary will be presented by each proponent in writing, accompanied by a short oral statement.

The Board has requested that groups with a particular interest designate one of their group to present their case. Resolutions must be brought endorsing both the representative and the canal.

John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, is chairman of the St. Johns-Indian River Improvement Association.

City, State Leaders Witnesses At Hearing

Florida leaders will attend the hearing Monday before the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, Washington, D. C. They will be witnesses in their stand for acceptance of the Sanford-Titusville Canal and advise its improvement by the government.

Tornado Wrecks Tenant Homes Along Delta

ROLLING FORK, Miss. (UP)—A tornado dipped down from a thunderstorm Thursday night and wrecked five tenant homes along a half-mile stretch of the Mississippi Delta. The houses all were occupied but there were no injuries.

The storm was part of a severe weather line moving slowly across the Southeast. The U. S. weather bureau at Memphis, Tenn., warned of possible tornadoes, thunderstorms and hail through a large area northwestern Louisiana, central Mississippi and a portion of north-central Alabama.

Weathermen at Nashville also forecast heavy thunderstorms, strong winds and possible hail through the Middle Tennessee region.

East Tennessee also were in for severe thunderstorms and heavy, gusty winds, according to the weather bureau at Raleigh, N. C.

Highway patrolman Maurice Phillips said the Mississippi River hit just south of the tiny village of Nitta Yuma, 10 miles north of Rolling Fork.

The Negro tenant houses were flattened, Phillips said, one barn was demolished and there was damage to the homes of two white families.

A physician, Dr. Marion Parker, arrived at the scene shortly after the tornado hit. He said he found no one injured.

The storm also ripped away utility poles and lines and workmen were busy repairing them.

DR. THOMAS L. LARGEN
New Doctor,
T. L. Largen,
Practicing Here

Since March 1 of this year, Sanford has had the services of a new doctor, Dr. Thomas L. Largen, surgeon and orthopedic specialist, he became the associate of Dr. John Morgan and Vincent Roberts in their East First St. office.

A native of Hillville, Va., Dr. Largen studied for four years at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where he graduated in 1944 with a B. S. in biology. This was followed by four years at the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va., graduating with honors. While a student, the young doctor was a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, president of the A.D.A. and belonged to Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity.

The doctor interned, chiefly in surgery, at Cincinnati General Hospital, University of Cincinnati Medical School, O. This was followed by four and a half years in residency at the same hospital, practicing surgery and orthopedics.

In 1948, Dr. Largen entered the service, and served two years with the army at Fort Gordon, Ga., one as orthopedic chief; the last an assistant chief of surgical service.

Dr. Largen and his wife, Patricia, live in South Pinecrest with their two children, Jeff, 1, and Susan 3. Mrs. Largen is a former stewardess with American Airlines.

Busy from the minute he arrived in Sanford, the new doctor has already become well versed in the ways of broken Sanford limbs and surgical operations.

Trumper was burned while working on a car with Glenn Jones, 816 West First St. A spark ignited the engine when the carburetor backfired. The flames shot out to set the victim's collar shirt on fire. The accident occurred about 8:30 p. m.

Jones received second degree burns on his hand as he attempted to put out the flames, which enveloped his friend. Trumper is a senior at Seminole High School.

Harman will return to Sanford tonight, only to leave in the morning to testify Monday at the Sanford Titusville Canal hearing in Washington, D. C.

Well-Concealed 'Shine Still Found In Cypress Swamp

A well-concealed moonshine still was discovered yesterday by two state beverage officers and a Seminole County sheriff's deputy. The still was located in a cypress swamp, 1 1/2 miles southwest of Markham, near the Wekiva River.

State beverage officers A. W. Analey and William L. Wain, working with deputy Marlon Dragoo, were looking for the still when they stumbled upon it. The three men were in the act of "sweetening the mash". The man dropped the five pound sack of sugar and ran. Discovered in the swamp was a 150 gallon still pot, 1500 gallons of mash, and 40 gallons of moonshine whiskey. The three officers completely demolished the still before leaving the area.

Accident Victims' Condition Improved

The condition of Lowell Oizer and his son, Willis, who were injured last Sunday in an automobile accident near Corbin, Ky., has improved. The men are confined to the Southern Kentucky Baptist Hospital in Corbin.

While Mr. Oizer still remains on the critical condition, his office reported this morning that he is aware of those around him, and Willis is reported to be conscious most of the time.

Educators To Elect FEA Officers Today

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—The election of officers today highlighted the 72nd annual convention of the Florida Education Assn.

More than 10,000 teachers and principals were expected to cast ballots in the day-long voting.

Only two nominees were listed for president of the influential group—H. Bill Constanter Jr., principal of Kirby Elementary School of Gainesville, and Loren L. Shepley, principal of Miami Jackson Senior High School.

Outgoing FEA president Braulio Alonso of Tampa, was unopposed for vice president.

The delegates split up into workshops today to discuss various state school problems ranging from tougher curricula to the classroom shortage.

Tonight, Gov. LeRoy Collins and National Education Assn. president Dr. Lyman V. GINGER will address the teachers.

Thursday, a University of Florida educational consultant told a meeting of county school superintendents that the state's new constitution "is a step backward rather than forward" as far as the schools are concerned.

"We're practically compromised out of the picture," said Dr. Roe L. Johns, head of administration and field services for the university's college of education.

"I think it is unjust to the part of the legislature," he said, "but apparently there was so much concern about reapportionment and other controversial issues that not too much attention was paid to education."

He praised both the Legislature and Collins for bringing Florida's schools from their rank among the lowest third in the nation in 1946 to the upper half in 1958.

The FEA's resolutions committee offered a resolution on teacher pay. But noticeably missing was any specific minimum wage demand as put forward last year.

"Instead," said the committee chairman Floyd T. Christian, school superintendent of Pinellas County, "we want to suggest that salaries, working conditions and fringe benefits be adjusted so that the teaching profession can compare favorably with other professions."

"Last year we recommended a $1,200 minimum and a $7,000 maximum and the Legislature went a long way in backing us up.

We have commended both Gov. Collins and the legislators for their support of our educational program and if we come back now asking for another definite salary raise, it will be like waving a red flag," he said.

Petrified Body Of Baby Found

The body of a still-born baby, in a petrified condition, was discovered yesterday afternoon by a Negro woman in an alley between Sanford and Cypress Aves. The tiny body was taken to Dr. Starke, who estimated that it had been born some years ago.

Investigating police officers, Sgt. Ben Butler and Len Cook brought the body to the police station for proper disposal.

Officers theorized that the recent demolition of buildings in the immediate area had disclosed the burial place of the infant.

THE SEMINOLE COUNTY chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees was organized here yesterday. The honorable James M. Mead, former U. S. Senator of New York State, was the principal speaker and in charge of organizing the group. (Left to right) Clifford Beaumont, Orlando; A. G. Markey, St. Cloud; and Mead. (Photo by Bergstrom)

Too many pressing responsibilities in the Lord's work. The congregation couldn't afford to have its church painted.
But painted it was!
That was a glorious Saturday—no picnic or ball games, just hours of hard work. And what with the paint supplied at cost by a local dealer, and the brushes loaned by the very painter who might have hoped for the contract—nobody made a nickel!
But the remarkable thing is that nobody in town thought all this remarkable...
You know Christianity has had a deep influence on the life of a community when we begin to take for granted the seal and sacrifice of Christian neighbors. The next step is to add our strength and faith to theirs in the worship and work of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Attend Mental Health Forum!

One in every 16 Americans is suffering from some form of mental disorder. Mental hospitals hold more than half the number of patients suffering from all diseases in the entire hospital.

This seems almost unbelievable, but the figures are there. There are more people in hospitals for mental illness than for polio, cancer, heart disease, tuberculosis and all other diseases combined.

Is it any wonder, then, that the Seminole County Mental Health Association is attempting to enlighten residents of this area? We are not unaffected here. Until now, there has been little hope for those suffering with mental disorders.

The local Mental Health Association will hold a forum Monday night at the Pin-crest School to kick off Mental Health Week, April 27 — May 8.

No drive is being conducted. The Association received its funds through the United Fund Drive last fall. This coming week the group will attempt to re-educate those who consider mental illness a disgraceful disease that cannot be cured.

We in Seminole County are well aware of the element of crime and vandalism among our children. But do you know that mental illness takes its largest toll among children and teenagers? Many of these are desperately in need of psychiatric help to put them on the right path to responsible adulthood.

Support your Mental Health Association. In less than a year this active group has made tremendous strides on "the road back" for the mentally disturbed.

Government Secrecy

Because Representative John E. Moss of California is a Democrat, some political partisans may look askance at his charge that censorship and secrecy in the Department of Defense "has reached an alarming degree." He accompanied his report to the American Society of Newspaper Editors with a charge that President Eisenhower has made a "dangerous" move to impose even tighter controls over the flow of defense information "to the public and to Congress."

Notwithstanding Representative Moss' political-party preference, he has more than a little factual data to support his claims—not only in the various departments of the Administration, under Republican control, but also in the halls of Congress, which is currently controlled by the Democrats.

During the first three months of this year, for instance, one third—33 per cent—of the committee hearings held by representatives and senators have been behind closed doors. In some instances, this practice is necessary for reasons of security.

But what security is involved in the Senate Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, which held 46 per cent of its sessions in secret? And why would the Senate Select Small Business Committee close its doors 40 per cent of the time?

By contrast the Senate Armed Services Committee, where secrecy might be expected, closed only 36 per cent of its meetings.

Actually, some committees of Congress had good records. For instance, the House Ways and Means Committee, which met in secret 88 per cent of the time in 1957, has held only five per cent of its meetings this year in secret.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, Sigma Delta Chi (national journalistic fraternity), and other press groups have waged a continuing fight against unnecessary secrecy in government at all levels. And some progress is being made. The House just recently endorsed an amendment to a 1780 bit of legislation which has been used by bureaucrats as authority for withholding public information from the public. That amendment has now gone to the Senate for what we hope will be concurrence.

The amendment specifies that the 169-year-old law cannot be used to suppress news to which the public is otherwise entitled. This will prove helpful, but it still remains for the congressmen and senators to demonstrate their own willingness to let the public know what's going on in government. They can do that by calling a halt to closed-door meetings except where the national security is clearly involved.

As the members of the Tennessee Press Association have noted in a slogan adopted adopted a year or so ago: "What the people don't know WILL hurt them."

We Should Be Thankful Here!

About once a month the Bureau of Labor Statistics announces that living costs have reached a new high point, and some consumers are prone to blame the rising costs on prices for food products which the farmer produces.

On the other hand, the farmer finds the costs of things he must buy constantly going up more rapidly than prices of the things he sells. Although he is in a less favorable income situation, the farmer is being blamed for the rising cost of living.

Statistics reveal that food prices averaged three per cent higher at the end of 1957 than they did in 1956. Housing was also three per cent more expensive than a year earlier, but costs of almost everything else, except clothing, had gone up even more.

Doctor bills, transportation, things we buy for personal care, and similar items, advanced in cost more than did food. As a matter of fact, since 1950 all other items except clothing and household furnishings have shown much larger cost increases than food.

Fortunately, food is still one of the best buys for your money. The American family spends just over one fourth of its income for food. This has been true for a number of years.

But it has been pointed out that we are eating considerably better now than we were in 1940, before World War II began. And if we were content now to eat the same foods, in the same form we ate before World War II, we could buy them for about 20 per cent, instead of 25 per cent, of our income.

Fruits, vegetables and meats — which Florida produces in abundance — are better foods than potatoes and rice and some other foods which are still eaten and are good, but which were eaten more largely when incomes were lower.

We in this country should be thankful that we can say, "What's For Dinner?" instead of being among the millions throughout the world who ask, "Is there anything for dinner?"

Herlong Reports

The decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court continue to intensify uneasiness among Americans, including members of Congress.

My mail is heavy with letters protesting that the high court is showing a consistency in going beyond its constitutional powers.

Congress is disturbed. More than 30 bills, including one by me, have been introduced in the House and a large number in the Senate calling for changes that would bring the court back into the bounds intended by the Constitution.

The recent decisions of the court in the denaturalization case of Ruckelshaus Frank Costello caused a new furor.

The latest action called to mind other rather recent decisions of the court, namely that which opened up the files of the FBI to criminals and another which held that persons arrested must be arraigned immediately, before they could be interrogated by police.

The latter action resulted in a confessed rapist being turned loose immediately, in Washington, and he was arrested again a few weeks later on another assault charge.

In the FBI case, Congress stepped in immediately and passed legislation to nullify the court ruling.

Congress presently is making a study of the proposals before it, in regard to the court, with the purpose of arriving at some legislation that will be sound. Some of the bills that have been introduced are pure window dressing.

The present difficulty undoubtedly is in the make-up of the court's personnel, which is extremely liberal in its thinking. Therefore, any bills having to do with terms of office, election of members, or methods of appointment could not affect those now serving.

Legislation dealing with the court will have to come from the House Judiciary Committee.

Of the bills introduced, I think the one which would be the most effective and have the soundest approach is that by Congressman Francis E. Walter of Pennsylvania, ranking Democrat of the House Judiciary Committee and Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. This legislation would have the effect of re-enslaving state laws which have been declared invalid by the high court.

The Supreme Court has held that state laws pertaining to internal security are invalid when there is federal registration on the subject. I will support Mr. Walter's bill because it adheres to the principle of states' rights.

By CECIL A. TUCKER II
 It's always important to know what happens to the money we have to spend. This becomes even more important, as we begin to see the dark clouds of "hard times" begin to gather.

The best way for anyone to keep up with his expenses and expenditures is to keep a simple set of books. Every family would be better able to manage its affairs if records were kept of financial matters.

It's imperative that a farmer keep books. He is a businessman, and if a business doesn't show a profit, it goes bankrupt. Farming is even more complex and risky than most businesses. If handled loosely, a few invisible cost leaks can drain off all your profits. The antidote for this is a good set of farm records.

But even a successful farmer needs farm records. One reason is that he must file an income tax and social security report. If he has no records to support his especially for Florida Farmers. It is the "Florida Farm Family Record Book" and you can get a copy free at the County Agricultural Agent's office. Information correctly kept in this book can be copied directly into the income tax return sent year. Remember, a record kept and not used is just like a piece of machinery bought and left to rust away in idleness. Use your records as a tool for carving out better farming and happier living.

Your Child's Health
 Every conscientious parent is obligated to care for his child's health. Because it is seldom that children are subjected to so-called nervous diseases, it doesn't enter the mind of the parent to employ the Chiropractor in cases where children responded more readily than adults to Chiropractic care, and that response is not limited to those curvatures, or some other chronic condition which is generally associated with abnormalities in the spine. Chiropractic is effective in cases of indigestion, constipation, diarrhea, fever, cold, cough, pain, and for various acute diseases to which children are subject. The Chiropractor realizes that a child will be healthy only when they are free of nerve interference caused by spinal misalignments.

Cadillac

It's an Easy Step from Dreaming to Driving!
 Here he is at last—just a few miles out on his maiden journey—with his hands on the wheel and his head in the clouds. It's his!
 And yet, truth to tell, he does have one regret. For he knows that he needn't have waited this long, had he but realized what an easy step it is from dreaming of a Cadillac to driving in a Cadillac.
 Like a great many motorists, for instance, he was not aware that a Cadillac—in view of its obvious virtues—could be so modest in price.
 Nor did he appreciate, until the facts were presented, how economical a Cadillac is to maintain or how wonderfully it holds its value over the years.
 And little did he suspect how accommodating his dealer would be in welcoming him to membership in the great and distinguished family of Cadillac owners.
 So, if you have your heart set on a Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to investigate this happy set of circumstances.
 In fact, why not visit your dealer today? He will be happy to help you select your favorite Cadillac model with your favorite Fleetwood interior—be it the luxurious Sixty-Two Coupe or the magnificent Eldorado Brougham.

'Night Passage' Starts Sunday At Movieland

A magnificent six-star action picture filmed in the most thrilling color process ever brought to the screen comes to the Movieland Ride-In Theatre Sunday with the presentation of Universal-International's "Night Passage," which has James Stewart and Audie Murphy heading its six-star cast.

The film is truly the most exciting package offered outdoor fans in a decade, since it combines the talents of two topflight action heroes with a unique story screened in Technirama, the new wide screen process, never before used in a movie, which has more clarity and warmth of color than any process to date.

Colorado is the background of this payroll robbery thriller with Stewart and Murphy in the most two-fisted portrayals of their fabulous picture careers. Murphy becomes a villain in this one for the first time and Stewart is a hero, but both play in a relationship which remains a secret until the audience finds it out toward the middle of the story.

Never has a U-I assembled such a perfect big name cast for an outdoor film as for this exceptionally suspenseful robber-killer yarn written by Edder Chase. Chief of the gang to which Murphy belongs is Dan Duraya, whose smile has more venom than a snake's fangs. An outstanding performance is given by young Brandon DeWilde, the boy who was so good in "Shane." In this film he's an unwilling member of the robbery.

On the distaff side, Blaine Foster, as Charlie, the waitress, who loves Murphy in vain only to find that Stewart is her man, turns in a finely shaded characterization. Elaine Stewart, as the wife of railroad mogul Jay C. Flippen, has a come-hither look for both Stewart and Murphy which establishes her as one of the screen's most alluring glamour girls.

Producer Aaron Rosenberg went all out on this production to give it unlimited wealth of background by sending the company to the Rocky Mountain area near Durango, Colorado, for all exterior. Cameraman William Daniels, a master of wide screen color, took full advantage of the magnificent panoramas. Tremendous credit goes to Director James Nielson, a discoverer of Stewart's, who made his motion picture debut with "Night Passage" after many years of directing Broadway stage and television productions.

Water content of a human body weighs more than the skeleton.

'The Young Lions' Opens Sunday At Ritz

When Irwin Shaw's book, "The Young Lions," was published in 1948, it was greeted by critics as the finest novel to emerge from World War II. Most of them agreed that the book had all the ingredients of great drama.

Now, ten years later, Twentieth Century-Fox and its Producer, the late Al Lichtman, have taken this highly-acclaimed novel and transferred it to the CinemaScope screen with the same kind of high-grade ingredients. Foremost among these is the year's most imaginative cast, which includes Marlon Brando, Montgomery Clift, Dean Martin, Hope Lange, Barbara Rush and Swedish beauty, May Britt, in leading roles. The film bows Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

"The Young Lions" is the story of three vastly different young men, the girls they loved, and what the war did to each of them. But it is not a war story per se, although the conflict motivates and affords a vivid background to what they do. It is, in fact, really three stories in one: two concern Americans, the other a European, and the three do not fully mesh until the closing moments of the picture.

Make It Easy To Talk With Hard-Of-Hearing

By William H. Bennett, M.D.

Many of us have experienced the frustration of being unable to hear what someone is saying. This is not only annoying, but it can be a real barrier to communication. The good news is that there are many ways to make it easier to talk with someone who is hard of hearing.

Speak clearly. This is the most important rule. Speak at a moderate rate and use a moderate tone. Avoid shouting or speaking in a monotone. It's better to be heard than to be understood.

Face the person. When you are speaking to someone who is hard of hearing, face them directly. This allows them to see your mouth and lips, which can help them understand what you are saying.

Use visual aids. If you are talking to someone who is hard of hearing, use visual aids to help them understand. This could include pointing to objects, using hand gestures, or showing them written notes.

Be patient. It can take longer for someone who is hard of hearing to understand what you are saying. Be patient and don't get frustrated. Repeat what you said if necessary.

Try and Stop Me

HONOR WAGNER, baseball immortal, played one full inning at first base with the use of only one hand. On his way to his position, he reached into his rear hip pocket for a chew of tobacco. His hand was so big it got stuck in the pocket and he couldn't pull it out. Nonchalantly, the Flying Dutchman pulled in three "chew" sticks, "chew" sticks, and fled to the dugout where they had to cut out the pocket to free his hand.

A U. S. Internal Revenue Department agent phoned the head of a big charitable organization. "I notice," he said, "that a manufacturer named Ignatz Nitch reports he donated $10,000 to your charity last year. Did he?"

"Not yet," was the jubilant reply, "BUT HE WILL!"

State Department official has this reminder posted on his office: "If you could kick in the pants the person responsible for most of your troubles, you wouldn't be able to sit down for six months."

Florida Delegation Pushes Canal Support

More than a score of witnesses appeared before the Board of Engineers, River and Harbors Board, in Washington this morning to testify that the economic value of the Sanford-Titusville Canal is far above that set by district engineers. Technical and economic figures presented by Col. Herbert Gee, consultant to the St. Johns-River Improvement Association and by Prof. R. W. Brabury, professor of Economics, University of Florida, set the ratio of benefits to cost at 2 to 1. The ratio set by a Congressional committee in 1955 should be 1 to 1. Governor LeRoy Collins, in a strong statement to the board, read by J. Bralley Odham, said "The vast growth and potential of the state of Florida make it more and more imperative that the state develop as rapidly sound inland waterway transportation routes. The proposed Sanford-Titusville Barge Canal would open up Port Canaveral and facilitate the supplying of several national defense installations in the area with petroleum and other necessities. As governor of Florida, I hope this project will be found feasible and consequently its construction expedited."

It would make a corresponding saving in this transportation expense. Under the terms of our charges for service to our customers, such reductions would be passed on directly to our consumers," he said.

City Fathers To Hear Reports, Requests Tonight

The Sanford City Commission will meet tonight at City Hall. Business on the agenda includes a report on the cost of widening Sanford Ave. a request of radio station WTRR to reacquire their lease or to sell them the land upon which the station is located, and consideration of the contract with the Florida Development Commission for the services of a planning consultant.

Other business discussed will be the Sanford Gas Company's petition to grant them a franchise, the transfer of funds necessary to construct a patio at the Civic Center, and a request by James Gut Jr. to put diagonal parking on Magnolia from First to Second St.

The resolution authorizing the loan application to HIFA for the "Bazaar-Tennis" project, private operation of the municipal cemetery and several ordinances will complete the agenda.

Ordinances include first reading: vacating of an alley-way in Grace line Court sub-division; prohibiting junkyards and trailer parks within the city limits; and destruction of public property.

Second reading: licensing of bookkeeping, tax consultants etc. when not part of other employment; prohibiting signs designating the price of gasoline and other petroleum products within 15 feet of a public right-of-way and in keeping with the state law.

ON THEIR WAY TO Washington to testify in the Sanford-Titusville Canal hearing this morning were Judge Volie A. Williams Jr., J. Miron Harman Sr., John Krider, Jack Muddock, Orange County Commissioner, and J. Bralley Odham. (Photo by Bergstrom)

NAS 'Copter Takes Part In Search For 3-Year-Old Tot

NAS Sanford's search and rescue helicopter crews were alerted early before dawn on Saturday in response to a call from Brevard County officials to assist in the search for tiny Judy Peterson who disappeared from her home in Rockledge early Friday afternoon.

At first light, the helicopter was launched with Commander Laurence L. Hamrick at the controls and crewmen J. T. Askew Jr., ADJ, and B. J. Bibby Jr., aboard. The NAS Sanford joined in the largest manhunt ever staged in Brevard County.

The manhunt was precipitated when little three-year-old Judy Peterson wandered away from her home shortly after 3 p. m. on Friday and ended 18 hours later when the blonde, blue-eyed tot was found, frightened, but unharmed in a palm tree scrub.

Airman S/O P. N. Thomas of 1st Air Force Base actually found little Judy at 8:30 a. m., thus ending the manhunt in which helicopters from the Civil Air

Storage Terminal To Be Located Here

In order to better serve its fertilizer customers in the lower Southeast, Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical Co. is planning to install a large-volume nitrogen solution storage terminal in Sanford. Work is scheduled for completion in late summer.

The terminal will store Ureana and Nitrena solutions and will be located on the St. John's River.

Nitrogen solutions will be shipped to the terminal by barge via the Inland Waterway from the Division's manufacturing plant at Hopewell, Va. Shipment from the terminal to customers will be by rail and tank truck.

Nitrogen Division is the original and largest manufacturer of nitrogen solutions in the United States. Its plants are located in South Point, Ohio, and Omaha, Nebraska, as well as in Hopewell, Virginia. Nitrogen solutions are used in the manufacture of mixed fertilizers and for direct use by farmers as a nitrogen fertilizer.

"Florida has been served by Nitrogen Division's Hopewell plant for many years; and installation of the terminal at Sanford, as well as one going in at Jacksonville, affirms the Division's aim to constantly improve that service," a Division spokesman said.

Episcopal Rector Flies In A3D Jet

The Rev. John Thomas, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church flew today in a Navy A3D Skywarrior jet plane. Pilot was Lt. L. M. Cobb, a member of the congregation, attached to VAH-13, at NAS, A.S.

The invitation was extended from the navy because of the minister's policy of urging his congregation to pray for the pilot and crew whenever a plane flies over the church.

Navy authorities stated today that this was the first jet ride for an Episcopal clergyman in navy history, "and possibly the first such ride for any minister."

The 70,000 lb. bomber circled the Sanford area. Flight was scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Russia Urged To Join Arctic Inspection Plan

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower today urged Russia to join in a military control inspection system for the Arctic zone as "a significant first step" to help reduce tensions and the mutual fears of surprise attack.

In a letter to Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, the President also renewed his appeal that Russia agree to East-West technical studies on control or suspension of nuclear tests and general disarmament.

Eisenhower noted that the United States had proposed in the United Nations Security Council that there be set up an international inspection system for the Arctic zone.

"Your support of this proposal and subsequent cooperation would help to remove a significant first step," the President said.

Declaring that the United States "is determined that we will ultimately reach an agreement on disarmament," the President noted that he had proposed the technical studies, in an April 8 letter to Khrushchev.

"You say that we must first reach a final political agreement before it is worthwhile even to initiate the technical studies," Eisenhower said. "But such studies would, in fact, facilitate the reaching of the final agreement you state you desire."

The President said solution of the technical problems necessarily would take time. He bluntly added that he was "unhappy that valuable time is now being wasted" by the Kremlin's refusal to agree to such studies.

The technical studies, the President said, "would include the practical problem of supervision and control which, you and I agree in any event indispensable to dependable disarmament agreements."

They were "necessary preliminaries to putting political decisions actually into effect," the President said. Completion of these in advance of political agreement "would obviate a considerable period of delay and uncertainty."

2 Young Children Found Living Alone On Houseboat

CHICAGO (UP)—Authorities today sought the father of two children found living alone on a disreputable houseboat in the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal.

Lt. Nathan Klein of the sheriff's Police Youth Bureau said he found John Kelly, 9, and his brother, Eager, 8, sleeping on the houseboat Saturday. He said they could have been there a week. The unlighted stove dripping fuel oil, "I wouldn't leave a dog like this," Klein said.

He said the boys told him their father, Howard, had left with a friend to visit his wife Ruth, who lives with six of their nine children on a farm near Bristol, Va.

The boys were taken to the Arthur J. Judy Home for Children.

Klein said the boys' sister, Carol, 20, worked as a waitress in a restaurant near Midway Airport. He said Carol told him she did not know her father had gone to Virginia.

Storms, Tornadoes Rip South

By UNITED PRESS

Flooding rains, damaging hail storms and tornadoes ripped the South in the heart of a widespread storm system ranging from the Gulf Coast northeastward to New England.

Texas, hardest hit by the week-end storm, counted at least three deaths in accidents blamed on the weather.

More than 35 Texas families were forced to flee their flood-washed or threatened homes.

Rain Sunday and early today extended from southern New England into South Carolina, west into the Ohio Valley and southwest through Tennessee, northern Georgia and Alabama and through Mississippi, Louisiana and eastern Texas.

Apparent tornadoes flicked from black clouds in Texas, Mississippi and Kansas.

Tornado winds ripped the roof from a school near McKinney, Tex., Sunday, accompanied by a hail storm that damaged homes in the area. Officials estimated storm damage at McKinney and nearby Frisco at $175,000.

A twister also damaged several homes near Vicksburg, Miss., Sunday, and others struck near McDonald and Colby in northwestern Kansas, causing minor damage.

Dead in the Texas storm were a Negro couple, who drowned Saturday when their car was washed into a creek near Dallas, and a woman killed in a traffic crash during a driving rain near Fort Worth.

The rain was heaviest in the South where College Station, Tex., recorded 1.34 inches in six hours Sunday, and Lake Charles, La., was soaked with a 1.69-inch rain.
