Did TV Influence Hostage Act By

By DENNIS FEOLA Herald Staff Writer

A Chuluota man who barricaded imself in his southeast Seminole home threatening to kill his three children was talked out of the act by a Seminole sheriff's deputy after nearly three hours of negotiating. And, coincidentally, just as a defense lawyer in Miami defending a youth on trial for murder is claiming the boy was influenced by a television program, the sheriff's deputy involved in the Seminole incident credits a TV show he watched with affecting his performance. John Spolski, communications supervisor with the sheriff's office, said a recent airing of the "Lou Grant" show favorably affected his performance during three hours of negotiations with the Chuluota man. In Miami, television violence is being used as a defense for Ronny Zamora, teenager charged with the murder of an 82-year-old woman. His attorney claims he was so intoxicated by television violence the youth couldn't tell right from wrong.

The Chuluota incident began at 1 a.m., Wednesday when the man's wife called police saying there had been an argument and the man had gone into their home for a gun. The wife ran to a neighbor's home and the man barricaded himself inside with his three children, ages 16, 10 and 5. "When I was first called, I thought it was a dream, a continuation of the show," Spolski said. "The show was so fresh in my mind I believe subconciously I entered this with the thought we could carry it out successfully, just as on the show."

The Lou Grant shoe aired locally from 10 to 11 p.m. and Tuesday's episode depicted a crazed gunman who took members of a newspaper's staff hostage. Ed Asner, who Defendant's 'One Friend' Was Television Page 2A portrays city editor Grant on the show handled the successful negotiations. Spolski said the tone and upbeat ending o the show affected his attitude. He said many of the strategies used by the Grant character were also used by him:

Senate Compromise May End Filibuster On Gas Price Issue

WASHINGTON - Well, the Senate filiouster ended Wednesday night, just long enough for everyone involved to get some sleep. Action will resume today on a com-promise plan announced by Democratic Leader Robert Byrd after more than 36 hours of almost continuous debate Wednesday

The senators welcomed their night's sleep - although at least two got a head start by dozing off in their chairs during the debatebut there was no assurance the proposed com-promise, which would extend controls to intrastate gas, but set the ceiling on new gas at $2.03, would win approval or end the filibuster that started Monday.

Abortion Time Running Out

WASHINGTON (AP) - House and Senate conferees are running out of time as they try to resolve the abortion issue, which has held up passage of a $60.2-billion bill to pay for the operations of two agencies. Unless a com-promise is reached by both houses, the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare would run out of money at midnight Friday, when the current fiscal year

Sheriff Polk Seeks Insurance

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk Friday will fly to Tallahassee to obtain general liability insurance from the only insurance company operating in the state that will write the policy. Polk's current policy expires Friday at midnight.

Polk's insurance search was made necessary when the county commission Tuesday night declined to bring the sheriff's department under the county's self-insurance program.

The commission's action didn't involve a vote; no commissioner offered a resolution to include the sheriff.

Polk said he understood why the commissioners were unwilling to bring the sheriff's department into the county's insurance program, but "the only policy available to me is not a very good policy."

Commissioners said they didn't want to include the sheriff in the county's insurance program because the sheriff's department isn't covered by the "sovereign immunity" statute adopted in this year's state legislature.

That statute limits liability claims against county employes to $50,000 per person up to a maximum of $100,000 per claim, said Bob Ellis, county administrative services director, who runs the county's insurance program.

The sheriff had saked the commissioners to cover his employes for up to $1 million per claim, and "the county's insurance for up to $1 million per claim, and "the county's insurance program is geared only to the $50,000-$100,000 claim limit," said

The county, which maintains a loss fund of $330,000 to pay claims, is insured with Lloyd's of London against claims that would require more money than the loss fund contains. The Lloyd's policy is called an "excess insurance policy," according

"The decision on the sheriff came down to the wire because we were waiting for Lloyd's to tell us how much the sheriff's department would have to contribute to the loss fund and how much of a pruntum would be required to buy excess insurance," said Ellis: "We finally get the information Monday."

firmation of the objectives and goals of the Greater Sanford Development Corp.

The Sanford City Commission this week demonstrated forcefully its continued support by committing labor and up to $36,000 for materials to be used in the first-phase beautification and alteration of First Street in downtown Sanford. The decision is a positive step for the future.

We also commend Tom McDonald, SDC chairman; Sara Jacobson, prime mover and special consultant to the SDC; and the other members of the organization who have worked so painstakingly and so long to get the project going. The vote this week by the city commission follows months of discussions, presentations and requests. Now it is action time.

The $36,000 to be administered by the city, the labor and equipment to be provided by the city, the pending $20,000 grant from the federal Economic Development Administration, plus what is left from the $41,000 collected earlier from merchants and residents, should get the project moving

"I think it is reassuring to all of us to know the city has recognized it is rare for this kind of plan to get this far," commented Miss Jacobson after this week's vote, "and to realize that the city shares the SDC's sense of urgency and that change and progress must take place immediately."

We echo these sentiments. And we now challenge the property owners and merchants downtown to pick up the ball and start running. They will have the most to gain from the planned

As a buffer down the road, according to Mr. McDonald, the SDC "is keeping in abeyance" the need for legislation to create a special taxing district to help provide funds for the program, "We'll try to do without it," he says.

This week's vote was especially encouraging because one of the project's most persistent critics, Commissioner A.A. McClanahan, voted - albeit reluctantly — for the budget allocation. Mr. McClanahan has been negative consistently on the SDC plans, never quite spelling out specifically what he finds objectionable. We hope now, though, that his positive vote will be the first of many as the project gets moving from phase to phase.

The impact of satellite communications can be enormous. Development of the technology should be pushed by the government and by industry in order to realize the benefits as Of course, there will be resistance because the new technology will render obsolete older technologies in which substantial investments have been made. But it is the virtue of our system of businessand government that it can easily and quickly adjust to such technological change.

An example is the experiment soon to be conducted in the

It is possible to foresee the day when satellites take over the functions of many telephone lines, and reduce the clutter of telephone poles and

A former Jesuit seminarian, Brown, calling the issue "a matter of conscience," has been an outspoken foe of capital punishment. Despite his opposition, the California Assembly this past August overrode his veto and reinstated the death penalty by a margin of 54 to 26. The law that now becomes effective provides about 15 specific types of murder, for which the courts may impose death by cyanide gas in the San Quentin death chamber. Treason too is listed as

But, when it comes to the right of poor women to impose capital punishment on their unborn children, Gov. Brown's conscience is dormant. ## Fidel: 'Unjust' Blockade Or Not, Revolution Will Go On MIAMI - Cuban President Fidel Castro urged the United States in a speech late Wednesday night to lift the trade blockade against Cuba but vowed to continue the revolutionary role of the Cuban people even if the blockade remains another 30 years. "We need medicine and food," Castro told a crowd said by Havana Radioto number one million people, "but we will exist with sacrifice if we don't have them because of the blockade."

Castro spoke for more than two hours in the Plaza of the Revolution in Havana at the conclusion of the first Congress of the Committee of the Defense of he Revolution and his remarks were monitored in Miami. Labeling the trade blockade "unjust, arbitrary and criminal," Castro called upon the Carter administration to allow free trade and to desist from the policies of hostility and aggression that has been continued by the past five presidents. Castro told the Cuban people that closer relations with the United States would be "a good thing" but cautioned it will be a "long process." Missing from the speech was any mention of the recent 'freedom flight" in which a planeload of Americans and their dependents were allowed to return to the United States. Castro vowed to continue the socialist policies for the country and said Cuba will continue its present international policy and will keep close and solid relations with the Soviet Union.

because it "belongs to the Cuban people." "If you want to talk about indemnizations," said Castro near the end of his speech, "you must include the damage caused to our economy by a 17-year blockade and by the aggressions that have made us maintain hundreds of thousands of armed men for a long

"They must pay for those damages...because this will be the only manner in which they can receive payment for those companies seized by the revolution," he explained. Castro also commented on the recent exchange of "special interest" missions between the United States and Cuba. "This signifies a certain relaxation, but enormous problems still exist; certain things that are against our country that are still in effect by the United States," he said. "There is the naval base at Guantanamo, occupied by force in the eastern region of the country...through a treaty imposed at the beginning of the

SEMINOLE HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM—1977 STYLE—EYES DELAND

In some corners, they call it football. But when Seminole and DeLand meet, it is more like sheer hate at stake. This is the case Friday night at DeLand, when old rivals renew battle on the gridiron. The last time the teams met in DeLand, Seminole was cruising toward victory when a staggering second half by DeLand produced a turnaround. Last season, Seminole gained revenge in Sanford. But don't get the idea that the home team wins every year. In fact over the years, some of the sweetest victories in this rivalry have been the ones on the road. While neither DeLand nor Seminole appear headed for post-season greatness, that's of little consideration. Just the other's name heats up the adrenalin. These two teams need little preparing for each other. All the coaches have to do is open the gate and

A Fire In The Doctor's Office

PLANTATION (AP)- Fire in a doctor's office at a large hospital in this Fort Lauderdale suburb early today forced the evaculation of 30 patients, including 11 newborn babies who slept through it all.

The patients were hustled into the parking lot on stretchers and in wheel chairs. Babies were held in the arms of their mothers, nurses and aides. Ambulances formed a circle around the patients much like a wagon

No patients were injured, but four firemen were treated for smoke inhalation, hospital spokesman Dan Linvill

"The babies were content without a care in the world," hospital spokesman Dan Linvill said.

The fire started at 3:20 a.m. in an unoccupied doctor's office in the X-ray department on the first floor in the south wing of the 264-bed hospital. Firemen managed to put it out quickly and keep it contained in the single office, Linvill said.

But smoke spread to the other two floors of the hospital and nurses pushed many beds into the hallway at the opposite end of the building to keep patients out of the smoke. The hospital was almost full with 243 patients. The doctor's office was gutted, but there was no imme diate estimate of damages.

The evacuated patients from the first floor's maternit and gynocological unit stayed in the parking lot for about 21/2 hours while fans were used to blow smoke out the windows, Linvill said. All but the babies were returned to

"We wanted to take the precaution of keeping the bables

Linvill said the evacuation was surprisingly orderly with a minimum night staff. Extra personel came in later to help in the emergency.

"Personnel and patients alike were calm and cool," he said. "Patients didn't have a long time to think about it because they were awakened in the middle of the night. We intend to feel that if you have to have something like this it might be better during the night shift because there wasn't enough time for people to really panic."

Tax Bills Coming-Discounts Are Offered By MARK WEINBERG "We'll send out 73,000 tax bills in the next month," Ray

Herald Staff Writer

First, the bad news: In the last week in October you'll be getting your annual county tax bill in the mail from Troy Ray, Seminole County's tax collector.

Now, the good news: if you pay your tax bill by Nov. 1, you'll get a four per cent discount. The discount if you pay during November or December is three per cent; if you pay in January, the discount is two per cent; if you pay in February, your discont is one per cent. Tax payments are delinquent after April 1."

Ray's office collects taxes for every public body in the county, including the school board, the cities, lighting districts, Seminole County port and fire protection district (which covers the county's unincorporated areas.)

This will be the first year the tax bills will be entirely prepared by the courthouse's "mini-computer," used by the tax collector and Terry Goembel, the tax assessor. "We've had the computer for two-and-a-half years, and we've gradually been phasing it in. We'll also use a computer in Tampa to double-check our mini-computer. Before we had the mini-computer, it took about nine weeks to prepare the tax bills by hand and with a bookkeeping machine. This year, the mini-computer can do the job in 48 hours," Ray said.

The mini-computer will also distribute the tax money paid by county residents to the various units of government on whose behalf Ray's office collects taxes. The first tax bills Ray's office will mail - about 26,000 of them - will go to mortgage companies (including banks) which pay homeowners' property tax bills out of escrow

"Mortgage companies must set up escrow funds to pay property taxes, according to state law. It's also a procedure that protects the mortgage company's investment in the homes for which it holds mortgages because it makes certain taxes will be paid on time," Ray
