It's Come As You Are In White House Deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rumbled corridors are okay; ties are optional. The new look in the White House is comfortable. Some might call it sloppy. There's an air of casual slapdash as aides in the Carter administration breeze through the plush corridors jacketless, often wearing khaki pants and turnlecks rather than the three-piece suits popular during the Ford administration. "This is the way most of us have been all along," says Gerald Rafterson, a White House media consultant who was sporting a turnneck. "People who wore coats and ties continue to do so. Those who wore slacks continue to be slacks."

Vets Must Learn Or Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans going to school under the GI bill now have a new incentive to complete their course work. If they don't, Uncle Sam is going to demand full refunds from them. In the past, if a veteran dropped courses and ended up carrying too few hours to qualify for his payments, the Veterans Administration paid for the courses until the date he dropped them. But under new legislation, the VA is seeking retroactive refunds from any student who drops courses and takes fewer classroom hours than required for his VA payment. The amounts vary for full-time, three-quarter and half-time students.

Students Take Over News

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fledgling journalists at the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University are cutting class to turn out special city editions of their newspapers to try to fill a void left by a strike that's crippled Philadelphia's three papers. The Temple News, normally published four days a week, put out its first special edition last Friday. Penn's Daily Pennsylvania lined up extra advertising to pay for the 12,000 extra copies to be distributed in the city today.

WORLD IN BRIEF

British Foreign Secretary Has 'Stroke', Seriously Ill

LONDON (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland is dangerously ill in an Oxford hospital after "showing indications of a stroke," the Foreign Office said today. A spokesman said that Crosland, 58, was placed under strict medical care after falling ill Sunday while spending the weekend at his country home near the university city of Oxford.

Israel Awaiting Vance

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli officials during Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's visit starting Tuesday may revive their proposal to exchange some of the occupied territories for individual no-war agreements with their Arab foes, informed sources report. With the Arabs insisting that the Palestine Liberation Organization participate in the Geneva peace conference the Arabs want reopened and with Israel refusing to negotiate with the PLO, the Israelis say privately that talk of resuming the Geneva negotiations now is unrealistic.

Cyprus Talks To Resume

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek and Turkish Cypriots have agreed to begin negotiations recognizing the partitioning of Cyprus into Greek and Turkish zones and joining them in a federation. U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has announced.

Acquitted, Back In Jail

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man acquitted last week by a circuit court jury in a rape case was back in county jail today on a burglary charge.

State's Attorney charged Bobby Gene Stokes, 22, of apartment 64, Seminole Gardens Apartments, in connection with a break-in at the residence of Patricia D. Williams, 26, apartment 54, in the same apartment complex.

Bond for Stokes on the burglary charge was set at $5,000.

Action Reports

* Fires

* Courts

* Police Beat

Police reported nothing was missing from the residence and that Mrs. Williams told them she saw a man exiting her residence when she returned home late Friday night.

A circuit court jury last Tuesday found Stokes innocent on a grand jury indictment accusing him of raping an 11-year-old Sanford girl in her bed the night of Dec. 11.

Battery Charge

In other weekend arrests, Sanford police jailed Stephanie T. Sanders, 24, 1231 Oldenwood Ave., Sanford, in lieu of $5,000 bond on an aggravated battery charge.

Police said citizens apprehended an auto burglary suspect and held him for police at Myrtle Ave. and 13th St., Sanford, Francisco Pruneda Ramos, 20, of Sanford, was taken to county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond on two reported auto burglaries.

Police reported $45 in clothing allegedly taken in burglaries of auto of Deborah Watkins, of Orlando, and David F. Carson, 40 E. 14th St., Sanford, were recovered. Officers said Carson told them he saw a man exiting his auto and he chased and apprehended the suspect.

Bribery Charge

An Altamonte Springs man was lodged in county jail on traffic and bribery charges after his car was stopped by sheriff's deputies at Amanda and Jackson Sts., Altamonte Springs, in a routine traffic check.

Sgt. E.H. Standley and deputy William Thomas reported they stopped the auto because it was being operated without lights Saturday night.

Cornelius Bernard Byrd, 34, of 111 North St., Altamonte Springs, was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond on a felony charge of bribery to a police officer after allegedly offering to pay the deputies $75 each to "let him go" on misdemeanor charges of no driver's license and driving without headlights.

Drug Charge

Altamonte Springs police jailed three Tampa men Sunday night on felony possession of controlled substance charges. Bonds of $5,000 each were set for John Francis Daly, 19, and Craig Williams Parker, 18, according to county jail records.

A deputy state fire marshal and Sanford police officers and investigators today were probing for the cause of a fire early Sunday that partially destroyed a six-room frame home at 311 Hickory Ave.

Fire Chief G.M. Harriett said no injuries were reported in the 3 a.m. blaze.

Police patrolman Joe A. Dillard reported that Willie James Jenkins, 31, who lived in the house, told police that he "tried to light a gas stove and the stove exploded."

Seminole County firemen at Station 43, Chuluota, reported to sheriff's deputies Sunday night that a $150 food injector nozzle was stolen from a storage compartment in a fire engine parked at the station, according to a report filed by deputy R.A. Alexander.

NATION IN BRIEF

It's Come As You Are In White House These Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rumpled corduroys are okay; ties are optional. The new look in the White House is comfortable. Some might call it sloppy. There's an air of casual slapdash as aides in the Carter administration breeze through the plush corridors jacketless, often wearing khaki pants and turtlenecks rather than the three-piece suits popular during the Ford administration. "This is the way most of us have been all along," says Gerald Rafterson, a White House media consultant who was sporting a turtleneck. "People who wore coats and ties continue to do so. Those who wore slacks continue to be slacks."

Vets Must Learn Or Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans going to school under the GI bill now have a new invention to complete their course work. If they don't, Uncle Sam is going to demand full refunds from them. In the past, if a veteran dropped courses and ended up carrying too few hours to qualify for his payments, the Veterans Administration paid for the courses up until the date he dropped them. But under new legislation, the VA is seeking retroactive refunds from any student who drops courses and takes fewer classroom hours than required for his VA payment. The amounts vary for full-time, three-quarter and half-time students.

Students Take Over News

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fledgling journalists at the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University are cutting class to turn out special city editions of their newspapers to try to fill a void left by a strike that's crippled Philadelphia's three papers. The Temple News, normally published four days a week, put out its first special edition last Friday. Penn's Daily Pennsylvanian lined up extra advertising to pay for the 12,000 extra copies to be distributed in the city today.

WORLD IN BRIEF

British Foreign Secretary Has 'Stroke', Seriously Ill

LONDON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland is dangerously ill in an Oxford hospital after "showing indications of a stroke," the Foreign Office said today. A spokesman said that Crosland, 58, was placed under strict medical care after falling ill Sunday while spending the weekend at his country home near the university city of Oxford.

"His condition has gradually deteriorated and he is now dangerously ill," the spokesman said.

The statement said Crosland was taken ill at his home at Aderbury after going for a walk.

Israel Awaiting Vance

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli officials during Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's visit starting Tuesday may revive their proposal to exchange some of the occupied territories for individual no-war agreements with their Arab rivals, informed sources report. With the Arabs insisting that the Palestine Liberation Organization participate in the Geneva peace conference the Arabs want reopened and with Israel refusing to negotiate with the PLO, the Israelis say privately that talk of resuming the Geneva negotiations now is unrealistic.

Cyprus Talks To Resume

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Greek and Turkish Cypriots have agreed to begin negotiations recognizing the partitioning of Cyprus into Greek and Turkish zones and joining them in a federation, U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has announced.

A Sanford man acquitted last week by a circuit court jury in a rape case was back in county jail today on a burglary charge. Sanford police charged Bobby Gene Stokes, 22, of apartment 64, Seminole Gardens Apartments, in connection with a break-in at the residence of Patricia D. Williams, 26, apartment 54, in the same apartment complex.

Bond for Stokes on the burglary charge was set at $5,000, according to county jail records.

A circuit court jury last Tuesday found States innocent on a grand jury indictment accusing him of raping an 11-year-old Sanford girl in her bed the night of Dec. 31.

Battery Charge
In other weekend arrests, Sanford police jailed Stephanie A. Sanders, 22, of 1234 Oleander Ave., Sanford, in lieu of $8,000 bond on an aggravated battery charge.

Police said citizens apprehended an auto burglary suspect and held him for police at Myrtle Ave. and 13th St., Sanford. Francisco Pruneda Ramos, 20, of Sanford, was held in county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond on two auto burglary charges.

Police reported 415 in clothing allegedly taken in burglaries of autos of Deborah Watrous, of Orlando, and David J. Carson, of 404 E. 14th St., Sanford, were recovered. Officers said Carson told them he saw a man exiting his auto and he chased and apprehended the suspect.

Bribery Charge
An Altamonte Springs man was lodged in county jail on Tuesday and bribery charges after his car was stopped by sheriff's deputies at Amanda and Jackson Sts., Altamonte Springs, in a routine traffic check.

Sgt. E.H. Standley and deputy William Thomas reported they stopped the car because it was being operated without lights Saturday night.

Cornelius Bernard Byrd, 24, of 141 North St., Altamonte Springs, was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond on a felony charge of bribery to a police officer.

After he allegedly offered to pay the deputies $75 each to "let him go" on misdemeanor charges of no driver's license and driving without headlights.

Altamonte Springs police jailed three Tampa men Sunday night on felony possession of controlled substances charges. Bonds of $5,000 each were set for John Francis Daly, 19, Willard Palmer Mills, 19, and Craig William Parker, 19, according to county jail records.

A deputy state fire marshal and Sanford police investigators today were probing for the cause of a fire early Sunday that partially destroyed a six-room frame house at 611 Hickory Ave.

Fire Chief G.M. Harriett said no injuries were reported in the 3 a.m. blaze.

Police patrolman Joe A. Dillard reported that Willie James Jenkins, 31, who lived in

Pump Priming Blow To Budget

President Carter's post-inaugural pardon of draft-evaders but not deserters fulfilled a campaign pledge but displeased many. His proposed $31.3 billion economic stimulus package is likely to do the same.

The bulk of that package is in a one-year-only tax rebate of $50 for almost every taxpayer and dependent and recipient of federal income support, except for million students and four million persons not on federal tax rolls. This gift to individuals will cost about $11.4 billion, plus a two-year personal income tax cut costing $7 billion. So much for the general public.

For business, there is a two-year tax credit of about $3.6 billion. For labor — and those members of Congress who believe the government can ordain employment — $6 billion over the two years for public service jobs and job training, with an additional $2.2 billion for public works.

Mr. Carter's chief economic adviser, Charles Schultze, citing a need for what he called "vigorous action," said in his presentation on Capitol Hill that the exact effects of the program on the economy are hard to predict. Not really.

Recipients may be briefly delighted with a $50-per-head rebate — a month's "free" rent, perhaps, or one whole car payment — until inflation takes its inevitable toll.

A Democratic Congress, despite its sympathy for organized labor's demand that virtually the whole sum in question be put toward job creation, President's program. Something in the forthcoming Carter economic message may ease the passage. But Congress may be hard put to explain to the folks back home why it broke its pledge of last September to permit only a $56 billion budget deficit, and Mr. Carter will be explaining why he took such a giant step away from the balanced budgets that he promised by 1980.

The problem may be that President and Congress alike still are running against Gerald Ford and his policies, and that the economy Mr. Carter described not long ago as "very seriously stagnant" has gotten to its feet and outrun them both.

The Commerce Department's index of leading economic indicators has posted its biggest gain in 18 months — without artificial stimulation. The gain foretells improved production and employment statistics as well.

During 1976 consumer prices, the key to inflation, rose only 4.8 per cent — the lowest annual rate since 1972, when wage and price controls were in effect. The adjusted gross national product for the year rose 6.2 per cent.

Mr. Carter seeks to find work for more of the nation's 7.6 million unemployed. That work will be generated by the economy if it is allowed to grow as it already is growing, without massive interference rekindling inflation that undoes everyone's good work. In that respect, tax relief for business is by far the healthiest part of Mr. Carter's proposal.

The President's economic package may reflect a political need to put his own imprint on what Budget Director Bert Lance conceals in "A Ford budget with Carter amendments." Perhaps as a compromise it is good politics, but it is bad economics.

And it is abysmally bad philosophy. It would shovel out money regardless of need, imposing a social doctrine of income redistribution on a tax system that is only supposed to raise revenue. And at the heart of it is a rebate that is a thinly disguised dale.

"This," Lance said, "is a first stab, done in a hurry, deal with a particular problem that must be solved in a hurry." The hurry is not that great, and the package is more stab than solution.

ANGLE-WALTERS
Revamping
Bureaus Is Past Due

WASHINGTON — The purpose of federal government reorganization — as pushed by President Carter and his Republican and Democratic predecessors — is not primarily to increase efficiency.

Reorganization is crucially important if a president is to gain effective working control over his departments and agencies.

The civil service laws, important as they are in protecting employee rights, serve to make it virtually impossible for a president effectively to manage the federal government short of a major reorganization.

The president has the right to appoint but a thin layer of officials at the apex of the State Department, Pentagon, Treasury, Agriculture and the other agencies he is charged with administering. At the working level he must depend on the senior civil servants. Firing any of these, shifting them from one post to another or transferring them to other departments to fit his particular style and purposes is all but impossible. In recent years it has not been accomplished at least to the degree necessary for effective working control by the White House and cabinet.

The last president to achieve such in this line was Franklin Roosevelt. And his success was spotty. Remember, too, that he was dealing with a smaller organization at a time when the effectiveness of civil service was less than it is today.

Most of the senior civil servants today are so entrenched with key congressmen through mutual back scratching — and so tied in with fellow bureaucrats up and down the line, they sit in empires of their own. In 1977, too, government employee unions are to be reckoned with.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) on one occasion proposed that every decade or so senior civil servants be rotated from department to department and agency to agency. This shifting, he believed, would break the power blocs, but retain the skills of able men and women. Congress did not act on his proposal.

Melvin Laird, then secretary of Defense, spent months agonizing how he could increase efficiency in the Pentagon and cut costs by retiring the one official out of 10 he believed could be disposed of with profit. He was not successful.

Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon attempted to reach deep in the departments, substituting their men for those whose philosophy, working methods or personal power conflicted in their minds with the running of the government in the manner desired at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. All three of these presidents failed.

Reorganization, apparently, offers the only way out. Once a department or division is reorganized, the shifting of personnel is relatively easily accomplished. Procedures are carefully devised, senior officials can be required to retire early, moved from slot to slot or transferred between agencies.

JACK ANDERSON

Ford--Reagan Rematch Likely In 1980

WASHINGTON — Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan would like a rematch in 1980. Both Republican heavyweights are back in their corners, preparing for a comeback.

For preliminaries, they plan to hit the road in 1978 in behalf of Republican congressional candidates. The two should emerge, given the vicissitudes of politics, as the leading presidential contenders at the next Republican convention.

Both men have discussed their intentions frankly with associates, who are making whipsaw predictions about the 1980 rematch. Ex-Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., the capable and innovative new Republican national chairman, is less positive. But he told us he "wouldn't be the least bit surprised" if Ford and Reagan squared off for another 15 rounds at the next Republican super bowl.

Although Ford is 63 and Reagan 66, both men are in excellent health and appear younger than their ages. They also believe that the GOP nomination will be worth the fight. They sense that the electorate, weary of government interference in their lives, are turning more conservative — a trend only temporarily arrested by the Watergate scandal.

But the next scandal, they believe, will damage the Democrats. Dozens of congressmen — some say as many as 90 — are under investigation for taking cash, gifts and other favors from the South Korean government.

The offerings were distributed to Democrats

Just when we are on the verge of being lulled into complacency about the state of the nation or the world, something happens to remind us that man has a long way to go on the road to becoming a civilized or even rational creature.

Cases in point: last week's sentencing of the publisher of "Hustler" magazine, and a killing in Texas.

These diverse incidents are related only in the fact that both prompted court rulings which tell us something about the society we live in.

The "Hustler" case is well-known. The girlie magazine publisher was sentenced to from seven to 25 years for participating in "organized crime" and concurrent six-months sentence for "pandering obscenity." (Unless I am mistaken, the first charge was related only to the latter offense.)

So justice was done. Or was it?

In Texas a white back, a man went into his sleeping son's room, folded the young man's arms across his chest, and shot him in the head.

But justice again prevailed. The father was sentenced to three years' probation.

It seems that the son had been a drug abuser, and the court apparently considered his killing to be something less than a horrendous act. (The drugs used by the son were Valium and marijuana.)

Such peculiar and apparently illogical sentences must have their origins in very strong prejudices held by the citizens of those communities.

After all, there is no doubt in anyone's mind about what killing is. But there is considerable doubt as to what obscenity is.

Perhaps this is because the term "obscenity" has concrete meaning only in the realm of religion. It is woefully inadequate for any sort of legal application.

In the Buddhist nations of Southeast Asia, for instance, it is "obscene" to lounge in such a way that the sole of one's foot is pointing toward another person.

It is a very serious social offense. But as far as I know the Asians have not made that faux pas a criminal offense. Perhaps they are more sophisticated than we, who justly incorporate our religious rules into our criminal codes.

Consider the poor judges who feel they have to make such rulings to stay in office. They have to conform common sense and the law into all sorts of weird and unrecognizable shapes.

And what precedents they set! I would say son murder his father on the grounds that the father is an alcoholic (that is, a drug abuser) and expect to get three years' probation? Will the "feds" drag the Sears company into court in Mableton, Alabama, an obscenity charges because they show people wearing underwear in their catalog?

Having said all this, I'll now retire to my living room to watch a few people get beaten, stabbed, and murdered on television.

All is well. The purveyors of "obscenity" are being taken care of. Or are they?

DON OAKLEY
Gas Firms
Not Solely To Blame

It is time either to prove or to lay to rest the natural gas industry is using the present crisis to loot the pocketbooks of American consumers by forcing the deregulation of interstate gas prices.

The hardships people are enduring because of closed schools and factories and businesses and lowered thermostats are bad enough without the nagging suspicion that they are attributable to machinations in the executive suites of the gas companies. People like Ohio's Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, who makes this kind of charge with some justification, are to be congratulated for doing so.

Neither is the federal government doing anyone a service by leading us to believe that, once the crisis is over, we will again have plenty of gas at the same regulated price. None of the emergency steps currently being taken to bring gas into gas short states does anything to address the problem of where we are going to get the gas we will need in the future.

One thing we can all agree on is that even if the nation's severe cold and unprecedented gas demand had been foreseen, the capability of the existing pipeline system to deliver that gas would still have been strained to the utmost.

Thus the immediate question that must be resolved when this winter is over is how to prevent a repeat of a situation that is approaching tragic proportions. And in this respect, a grave indictment can be brought against the regulators. One piece of evidence:

The largest supplier of natural gas in Ohio, a Milwaukee resident, became thoroughly bored and decided that "Thum Wrasslin was perfected into the fine art that we know it as today."

It was while a student at Marquette University that Schmidt, a Milwaukee resident, became thoroughly bored and decided that "Thum Wrasslin was perfected into the fine art that we know it as today."

"Thumb wrestling was the answer," he said, using the non-commercial name. "It could be played by persons of all ages — from five to 90 — with no distinction for sex or nationality."

"There are a couple of reservations. Because it is a contact sport, our association frowns on mixed matches. They could lead to other things. Also there is a 10-pint handicap for double-jointed thumbs."

The rules are simple and the equipment rudimentary. Required are a miniature ring, 10 inches square; a "Thummy," or rubber sleeve, which is placed over the thumb as a protection against opposing thumb nails and sweaty skin; a book of rules, a penalty chart — "illegal holds, unnecessary roughness, abusive conduct, grease."

Competitors are classified according to thumb length, measured from the base to the tip, including the nail. The two thumbs are laid side by side on the mat. They switch places by jumping each other's thumb three times — as a sort of practice — and then are raised for combat. The object, as in wrestling, is to pin the other thumb for the count of three. Five points for a fall, five rounds a match.

Schmidt said his classmates at Marquette became so intrigued with the new pastime that they neglected their books and often shoved meals aside to compete in the cafeteria.

"I knew it had professional potentialities," he said. "Last fall we devised an equipment packet — which, incidentally, is being introduced at the Toy Fair this week — and sent brochures to 2,500 campuses. We have received 250 requests for details."

"Our aim is a world-wide tournament," Schmidt said, "live, with the thrill of victory, on the Wide World of Sports."

The Carter-Burns Rift

NEW YORK (AP) In this third week of the Carter presidency, in this year of the big freeze, the nation's best economic minds are haggling about these considerations — will President Carter and Chairman Arthur Burns manage to work out their differences or will Carter's fiscal push be negated by Burns' monetary drag?

Early last week these questions couldn't be asked, because for those who continually contemplate the impossible, that's no reason not to wonder. The questions arise because of the mysterious stance taken by Burns last week.

Testifying before Congress, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, which seeks to control money supply, both praised and damned the Carter package, and nobody quite knows now if in practice he will support or oppose it.

At head of the Fed, Burns has enormous power. The chairman and his board can make their decisions largely in private. They do not have to comply with the President's wishes. They can choose their own course no matter what Carter does.

While seeking to understand the intricate and confusing position that Burns may or may not be taking — his most clearly expressed opinion was that spring will surely come — some concerned spectators believe they can see the handwriting on the wall, or more precisely, the headline in the newspaper: "Burns cool, Carter burns."

Equally mystifying is what the employing firms for January mean. While trying to estimate what impact the cold spell will have on the February jobless, nobody seems to know what happened last January.

Even Julius Shiskin, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, doesn't seem to know why the rate plunged to 7.3 per cent from the previous month's 7.8 per cent.

The most likely explanation is that job-seekers gave up seeking and remained in out of the cold. If that is so, it points up some remarkable aspects of the employment figures:

1. How easy it is to generate out of adversity, with statistics, what might at first glance appear to be the most remarkable good economic news we've had in some time.

2. How meaningless that January figure is, a statistical effort that might have meaning to statisticians but which is essentially unusable by anyone else.

What is the total impact of the cold weather? Economists are now seriously wondering if they should attempt to enter into their calculations the possibility that the frigid air will persist, not just for one season but for several.

The issue is ever broader. Weather patterns appear to be changing, and this year's incursion of Arctic air is believed to be part of the same pattern that is bringing sharp changes in precipitation elsewhere.

There could also be a connection between summer droughts and this winter's cold, and perhaps connections with other natural phenomena as well.

regulators has been an open secret for years. It has been a flirtation that has cost the public heavily, from beneficial leaks in the tax laws to higher rates for natural gas.

With dreary regularity, we have called attention to this cozy relationship. We reported last April, for example, that the gas industry cleared of Arctic air is believed to be part of the same pattern that is bringing sharp changes in precipitation elsewhere.

The FEA promised to cooperate with Dinegill. Yet in a confidential letter to the FEA, Dinegill complained that his subcommittee "never received a copy of the various investigation reports and documents of your findings."

In a separate letter to the Carter camp, Dinegill warned: "One may . . . legitimately question the wisdom of appointing Mr. Robinson, who has become controversial because of his prior position at FEA in the Ford administration."

In the overcharge case, a grand jury has now returned a 14-count indictment. Robinson told us he wanted to pursue a civil rather than a criminal investigation of the price-gauging charges.

However, we have obtained a recent letter that the U.S. attorney in the case, John Briggs, sent to the FEA. If the agency wanted to go ahead with separate civil action, he wrote, it wouldn't jeopardize his criminal prosecution.

It is now up to President Carter to end the illicit relationship between the oil and gas crowd and the federal regulators.

Donnie Allison: 'Thrill To Outqualify Foyt'

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — "I didn't come down here with intentions of out-running A.J. Foyt. I came down here with intentions of just 'nervy'ing everybody," Donnie Allison advised.

But Allison didn't think he had enough of that expensive commodity to dislodge Foyt from the top spot. "I really didn't think it would run quite that fast. I honestly didn't," he said through an ear-to-ear grin.

"I think I know where a car can run really free and fast. I was right there today," he recounted. "In fact, I don't know if I could duplicate it again right now. The car went exactly where I wanted it to go."

Conditions were close to ideal when Allison ran Sunday. A gusty wind that had bothered Foyt earlier had died down a little, although nobody had a wind sock handy to tell exactly how much.

Foyt, who qualified at 187.707 m.p.h., said, "The wind was really a factor. It was like you were running into a wall when you got down in the corner."

Thum Wrasslin In Big Apple
NEW YORK (AP) — The Big Apple, which has weathered six-day bicycle races, marathon dancing, flag-pole juggling, Cosh-Oh-Carry Fyle and Muhammad Ali, is bracing itself for the formal introduction of sports' newest fad: Thum Wrasslin.

An expensively embossed invitation heralds the "First International Thum Wrasslin Press Party and Tournament" Tuesday at one of Manhattan's plusher steak emporiums.

It's a commentary on the times. The Golden Twenties called the "Age of Wonderful Nonsense." College kids gulped goldfish and drank champagne from their ladies' slippers. Now, with sports on another heady binge, they are jousting with thumbs.

"Thumb wrestling has been traced by archeologists to cave drawings as early as 12,000 B.C.," says Bob Schmidt, a festive 29-year-old advertising executive who takes credit for rejuvenating the pastime.

"It was enjoyed by the ruling classes of both ancient Greek and Roman cultures but fell by the wayside in the Dark Ages only to reemerge as a popular sport during the Renaissance."

Without taking his tongue from his cheek, he said that it wasn't until 1968 when a man named Muth Nissaur became world champ that "Thum Wrasslin was perfected into the fine art that we know it as today."

It was while a student at Marquette University that Schmidt, a Milwaukee resident, became thoroughly bored and decided that "Thum Wrasslin was perfected into the fine art that we know it as today."

"Thumb wrestling was the answer," he said, using the non-commercial name. "It could be played by persons of all ages — from five to 90 — with no distinction for sex or nationality."

"There are a couple of reservations. Because it is a contact sport, our association frowns on mixed matches. They could lead to other things. Also there is a 10-pint handicap for double-jointed thumbs."

The rules are simple and the equipment rudimentary. Required are a miniature ring, 10 inches square; a "Thummy," or rubber sleeve, which is placed over the thumb as a protection against opposing thumb nails and sweaty skin; a book of rules, a penalty chart — "illegal holds, unnecessary roughness, abusive conduct, grease."

Competitors are classified according to thumb length, measured from the base to the tip, including the nail. The two thumbs are laid side by side on the mat. They switch places by jumping each other's thumb three times — as a sort of practice — and then are raised for combat. The object, as in wrestling, is to pin the other thumb for the count of three. Five points for a fall, five rounds a match.

Schmidt said his classmates at Marquette became so intrigued with the new pastime that they neglected their books and often shoved meals aside to compete in the cafeteria.

"I knew it had professional potentialities," he said. "Last fall we devised an equipment packet — which, incidentally, is being introduced at the Toy Fair this week — and sent brochures to 2,500 campuses. We have received 250 requests for details."

"Our aim is a world-wide tournament," Schmidt said, "live, with the thrill of victory, on the Wide World of Sports."

Massengale Sweeps Hope

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Rik Massengale so completely dominated the rest of the field that it was almost dull. He had no sense of frustration, no body-beaten runner-out Bruce Lietzke said Sunday.

Massengale to make a change in plans. He was to skip the week's Los Angeles Open, the last event on the Winter segment of the schedule. His triumph put him in position to gain a spot in the rich World Series of Golf of the Winter point standings and he decided to skip the Los Angeles Open and the other celebrity amateurs completed their four days of play Saturday.

Massengale was in the final round of the 90-hole, five-day Hope, stayed in front and finished in front.

Only his quest for Palmer's scoring record lent any suspense, any drama to the proceedings that tailed off in a spectator interest after former President Gerald Ford and the other celebrity amateurs completed their four days of play Saturday.

Barons Pose
Woe For NHL

CHICAGO (AP) — It was an unavoidable question. Cleveland Barons Coach Jack Evans answered it as best he could.

Barons Pose Woe For NHL. The team has suffered money troubles virtually since it entered the league as the California Seals 10 years ago. Should it go under, it would become the first NHL club to fold since the Brooklyn Americans retired from the league in 1942. Players under contract to the Barons would be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Win Booster Event

Bob Sheddon and Sandy Pinnock won Saturday's Seminole High Booster tennis tournament, stopping Dr. John Morgan and Laurie McNulty by 6-1, 6-7 and 6-1 for the Class A title.

Runner-up A.J. Foyt said, "The wind was really a factor. It was like you were running into a wall when you got down in the corner." Richard Petty, the third fastest qualifier said, "It's been a long time since we qualified that good here. Last year, we went through seven or eight engines before the race. I'm pleased."

Barry's Steal Spurs West Stars, 125-124

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' Pete Maravich, who was set to launch a potential winning shot for the East with seven seconds left, stole the ball from the Milwaukee Bucks' Rick Barry, diving to the floor to steal away the loose ball from two scrambling Eastern Conference players. Sprawling on his side, Barry tipped the ball to Denver's Bobby Jones, who fed Phoenix's Paul Westphal for the layup that produced the decisive point in the West's 125-124 victory over the East Sunday.

Westphal's basket gave the West a 125-122 lead with seconds to play. Then, after two free throws by Mark McDougal of the New York Knicks had brought the East within 125-124 five seconds left, Barry dived after the ball at the end.

Whalers Lose Shutout, Coach Also Fined $250

The Associated Press — The New England Whalers ruined Jacques Caron's bid for a third straight shutout. But World Hockey Association President William MacFarland may have ruined the night for Whalers' Coach Harry Neale. Neale may end up with a $250 fine for verbally jousting with MacFarland following a 5-0 victory over the Cincinnati Stingers Sunday night.

MacFarland visited the Whalers' locker room to offer congratulations and found Neale in a combative mood. The New Englanders were saddled with three straight penalties in the final four minutes, giving the Stingers three power play opportunities.

"When are you going to do something about this?" Neale asked MacFarland. "About what?" was the reply. "Steve Dowling," Neale answered, referring to the referee who called 11 penalties against the Whalers in the game and six in the final period.

"I thought he did a good job," said MacFarland. "What about those late penalties?"

Neale countered: "What about those late penalties?"

Indiana Questions Defense By Michigan

By The Associated Press — If ever a college basketball team went to court without a defense, it's the Michigan Wolverines.

Cochan Johnson Jr. certainly found them guilty Sunday after a 73-64 upset by Indiana.

"They just ran their offense in the second half," a grim Orr said of Indiana. "I don't know how they got Woodson opened so often."

Orr referred to Mike Woodson, Indiana's freshman forward who flowed through the Wolverine defense with shocking ease and scored 26 points.

While fifth-ranked Michigan wasn't playing defense, Indiana was. The Hoosiers seemingly had stop signs up all over the court and the traffic was terrific.

"We concentrated all week on defense," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "We thought we had given up some easy baskets last week (in an 89-64 loss at Michigan) before we set up. We told our kids this week that we defended started when the shot went up."

Indiana's overbearing defense got Kent Benson into foul trouble, however, and things looked discouraging never thought I'd see Rick Barry go on the floor." Barry said the intensity existed because 10 of the 24 All-Star players — he being one of the 10 — once had played in the ABA. Brown both played and coached in it.

Maravich, however, said some of the intensity was illegal. Specifically, he thought Westphal had fouled him as he tried to shoot from the top of the key on the East's last possession.

Maravich's shot was plotted during an East time out called with 18 seconds left after a steal by McDougal.

"I tried a simple pick and roll," Maravich said. "I came off McDougal and Westphal fouled me. I hit on my right wrist. It was not a clear steal. In a key situation when the ball is being decided, they (officials) should call it."

"I thought they were good calls," said MacFarland. "You want to bring a bunch of goats into the World Hockey Association and you're going to get penalties. And you're also going to get a $250 fine. You know the rule about commenting on officials."

Neale later said, "I'm not saying we didn't deserve any penalties, but not that many in the last few minutes." In other WHA action, Edmonton defeated Calgary 5-2, Winnipeg beat Indianapolis 7-5, and St. Louis defeated Phoenix 5-2.

Third-period goals by Dave Keon and John McKenzie produced the Whalers' victory. It was only the sixth time in 26 games this season that a WHA club beat the Stingers.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, February 15, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a very fortunate day for you, careerwise and financially.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Because your attitudes are far-sighted and you're not afraid of reasonable risk, this could be a red-letter day for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The more you are to a business proposition today than first meets the eye. Explore it thoroughly.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) I hope you have something planned with friends today, because you'll enjoy the social whirl.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Larger opportunities than usual exist in your work or career today. Jobs aren't won't by escape and the notice of the right people.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are times when you have to stick your neck out a little bit. You really won't be doing so today if you follow your good judgment at all times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll be lucky today in situations that include people with whom you have strong emotional bonds. Good fortune touches you when you meet them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your judgment is very astute today in evaluating major issues. Reserve final decisions for yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The services you may be called on to perform have a high value today. Don't inflate your price, but don't downgrade it either.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're not only a good leader, you're a good manager today. Don't let the reins slip from your hands.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Even though your rewards may be late in coming today, be patient. The better things of life often go to those who wait.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something you've been hoping for is working out according to the game plan. You might even see the tip of the iceberg today.

YOUR BIRTHDAY Feb. 15, 1977 You may find this coming year that many things that caused you anxieties in the past have ceased to exist. It should be clearer sailing for you.

Protein Needed While Dieting

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a woman in my mid 40s, in good health. Over the years I have become a little overweight and am planning on losing 15 pounds. I have found a lot of calorie charts but I am interested in protein as I want to eat the right amount to keep my health. Could you tell me how much protein I need a day and where I could get a protein chart to know how much I am getting?

DEAR READER - Women over 18 need 46 grams of protein a day plus 30 grams if they are pregnant and plus 20 grams if nursing a baby. This is the Recommended Daily Dietary Allowance (RDA) for normal healthy people, which means it is more than the minimal requirement. This amount of protein assumes you are getting enough calories in your diet to provide the energy you need each day.

County Pays $22,000 To Keep Orlando Bus; Business Shows Gain

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

After learning today that ridership has tripled on a bus route between Orlando and Seminole County, the Seminole County Commission indicated a preference for public transportation in the county by agreeing to subsidize the route, which is operating at a deficit.

Area residents had protested purchase of the facility because they said it would be like paying today for the fire station if it is purchased with taxpayer dollars.

Kimrough asked that the contract be written in such a manner that the $21,900 would be tied exclusively to the purchase of firefighting equipment.

The issue surfaced about a year ago when association members refused to donate the fire station and the site. County officials balked at paying for the facility because they felt the station had already been built with tax dollars.

In addition, the county furnished the Seminole-Goldenrod station with expensive firefighting equipment.

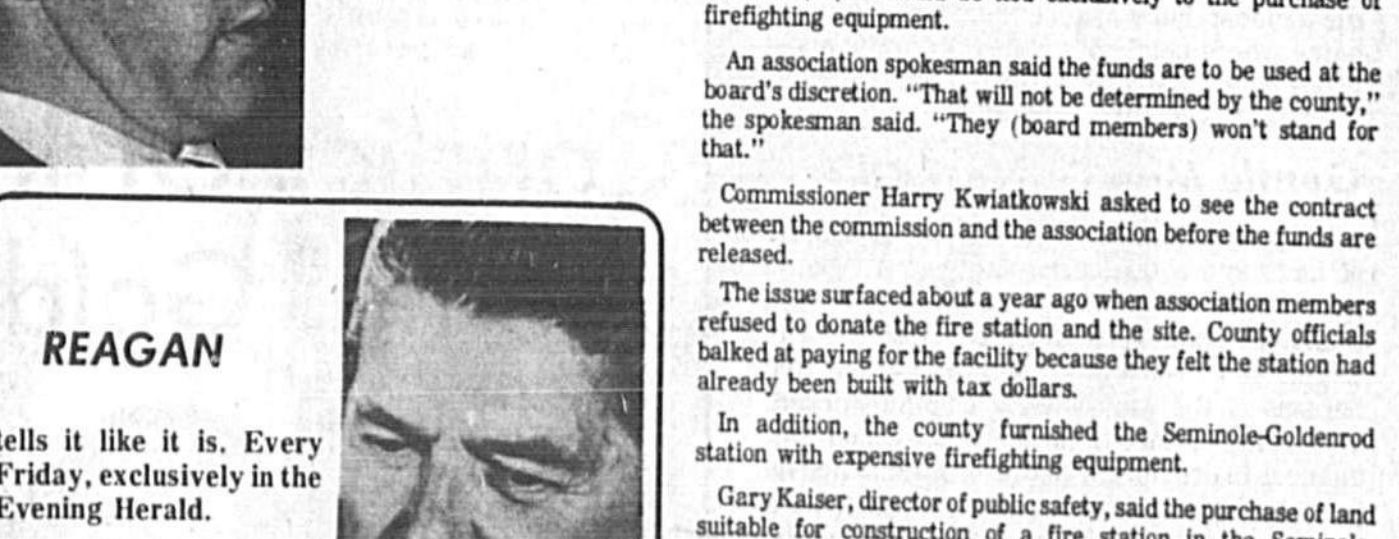

The county had until March 31 to act on the association's request that Seminole purchase the facility.
