Holter Monitors Keep Heart Rate

DEAR DR. LAMB - My mother, age 77, had a blood pressure of 130 over 90 and her pulse was 100. Her doctor put her on Lanoxin once a day, plus Inderal. Now her blood pressure is 120 over 70 and her pulse is 58 to 60. The doctor says the pulse is fine at that rate but not to let it go under 50. Wouldn't a pulse rate of 70 or 80 be better? The problem is to watch the pulse all the time and to see that it doesn't go to 50. A wider margin seems better to me.

Usually Inderal is not used in the presence of heart failure but it is used to control heart rate and lower blood pressure. In any case, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 94, Your Heart Rate: What It Means. Other readers who want this issue can send 25 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Dr. Lamb, 1111 N. W. 13th St., Box 1501, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10101.

Impact Study May Delay New Hospital

Construction of Sanford's proposed new hospital could be delayed up to five months due to a requirement of the State Bureau of Land and Water Management, a bureau spokesman confirmed this morning.

bureau representative Alex Sokolik in Tallahassee Friday, but said at this point he does not think there is a need for concern. In a letter to McCollum, the Bureau of Land and Water Management advised that the proposed hospital might be a "Development of Regional Impact" (DRI) under Section 22P-2.04 of the Florida Administrative Code.

McCollum Thanks Seminole Voters Following Victory

McCollum said this morning he will meet with Barbara Henderson, associate planner with the Bureau of Land and Water Management, the state statute may require a regional impact study before construction of the hospital may begin.

TRADITIONS The Past, Present Blend For Bountiful Fall Feast

Americans cherish memories of the family Thanksgiving table filled with wonderful food lovingly and painstakingly prepared over days and days.

But times change, and with them, traditions. Today relatives may be 2000 miles away, and Mom's schedule may be as busy as Dad's, yet everyone still looks forward to the traditional feast of turkey, gravy, stuffing, vegetables and pie. Nowadays when daily schedules are so busy, the key to putting together a "best-ever" holiday feast is to have everyone help by making some dishes ahead.

Take the turkey for example. Select a large, deep basted turkey, lavish with white meat, several weeks in advance. Allow 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of turkey for each person. Store the turkey in the freezer, and then transfer it to a tray in the refrigerator before the feast for easy defrosting.

Gravy, an essential part of the holiday feast, can be started in advance, as can Cranberry-Pear Sauce. Since it's traditional to prepare enough turkey for leftovers, make extra gravy and double the recipe for Cranberry-Pear Sauce. The stock for the gravy can be prepared the day before the feast. To make the stock, cover the turkey giblets and neck with plenty of water, heat until onion, celery, other seasonings and a small bay leaf. Simmer until the giblets are tender, then strain and refrigerate the stock and chop and refrigerate the giblets.

TURKEY GRAVY
Turkey giblets and neck
10 cups water
3 onions, peeled, quartered
3 ribs celery, cut into sticks
2 carrots, peeled, cut into sticks
3 chicken-flavored bouillon cubes
2 bay leaves
1/2 cup turkey pan drippings
1/2 cup corn starch

In large saucet pan place turkey giblets and neck, water, onion, celery, carrots, salt, bouillon cubes and bay leaves. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until liquid is reduced by 1/2. Strain broth; reserve broth and giblets. Pour roasting pan drippings into large measuring cup. Let stand several minutes until fat drippings separate from turkey juices. Return 1/2-cup fat drippings to pan; discard remaining fat drippings. Add reserved broth to turkey juices to equal 4 cups. Sprinkle corn starch into drippings. Stir and cook over medium heat just until smooth; remove from heat. Gradually stir in broth until smooth. Return to heat. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat, stirring up brown bits from bottom of roasting pan and boil 1 minute. If desired, chop giblets and add to gravy. Makes 3 cups.

Alternate Method: Follow recipe for Turkey Gravy. Return 1/2-cup fat drippings and 1/4-cup turkey juices and broth to roasting pan. Stir together corn starch and remaining 1/2-cup turkey broth until smooth; add to roasting pan. Straining constantly, bring to boil over medium heat, stirring up brown bits from bottom of pan and boil 1 minute. If desired, chop giblets and add to gravy. Makes 3 cups.

Creamy Olive Sauce Deftly Seasoned Chicken Gets New Dress

Chicken takes on a new dress with a ripe olive garlic-accented sauce.
 The chicken halves are poached until just tender. Then a smooth cream sauce, deftly seasoned with garlic and pointed up with the earthy hue of ripe olives, is spread over the halves and baked. The nutty flavor of the ripe olives blends with the gentle pungency of garlic to emphasize but not overpower the chicken flavor. Served with hot parallel rice and green asparagus, color contrasted with pimiento strips, it is an anytime appetite pleaser.
 A salad of butter lettuce, artichoke hearts, chopped egg whites and sliced egg yolks, accented with whole ripe olives and cherry tomatoes, completes this showy meal.
POACHED CHICKEN IN GARLIC OLIVE SAUCE
 2 (2 pounds each) broiler chickens
 2 (1 1/2 oz.) cans chicken broth
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 teaspoons finely minced garlic
 1 cup flour
 1 1/2 cups broth from cooking chicken
 1 egg
 1 cup pitted California ripe olives
 Cut each chicken in half (or have your butcher do it). Starting from breast on each half, loosen skin and pull off. Skin may be left on wings, if desired. Skewer legs close to body. Heat broth in large skillet. Add chicken. Bring to boil on high heat. Reduce heat; cover, and cook gently for 20 to 30 minutes or until chicken is fork tender. Drain, save broth. Remove skewers and place chicken halves in oven-proof baking dish.
 Cover with foil or waxed paper while preparing sauce. Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Melt butter; add garlic and cook over very low heat 3 or 4 minutes. Stir in flour. Add 1/2 cup broth, half and half, and salt to flour mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce boils and thickens. Remove from heat.
 Beat egg until bubbly. Add little heated sauce to egg and return to remaining sauce. Stir in olives. Spoon sauce over chickens and cover completely. Bake in pre-heated oven for about 10 minutes, until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 servings.

Party Ideas A Little Lobster Goes A Long Way

It's difficult to come up with a reasonably easy-to-prepare and reasonably less-expensive dish for a cocktail or buffet party.
 A basic that stretches well for such occasions is the South African rock lobster tail. Use it in small quantities in a variety of dishes and you'll impress your party nibblers.
 4 (3 ounces each) frozen South African rock lobster tails
 1 cup water
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon crumbled thyme and dill weed
 4 eggs
 Drop frozen rock lobster into boiling salted water. When water reboils, cook for 3 minutes. Drain and dredge with cold water.
 With scissors, remove underside membrane and pull out meat. Chop rock lobster finely and set aside. In saucepan combine water and butter and bring to a boil. Boil until butter melts. Stir in flour all at once until a large ball is formed. Remove from heat and stir in salt and herbs. Cook 4 minutes. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Stir in chopped rock lobster meat. Drop mixture in mounds the size of walnuts onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until puffs are brown. Remove from heat and press the tip of a knife into each puff to allow steam to escape. Replace in oven for 3 minutes to dry. Serve warm or cold. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 48 balls.

Society Must Face Recruiting Problem

The military services are having trouble recruiting young Americans of character and ability to serve in the armed forces.

Another reason is that there is a shrinking pool of manpower from which the services draw.

There are a limited number of options. A resumption of the military draft is not one.

Another option is to increase the incentives for military service, especially at the entry level.

This is an option we favor. Instead of spending all our new defense money on weapons, we should spend more of it on manpower.

ROBERT WALTERS

Taxpayers Battling ID Bonding

HAMILTON, Mont. (NEA) — When Herbert Kent, a supermarket owner in this western Montana community, wanted to build a new store last year, he tried to finance the construction through low-cost industrial development bonds, or IDBs.

There was no question about the feasibility of the project, Kent recalls. "But the brokerage house couldn't sell the bonds. They said it was just too small an amount."

The citizens of this community are determined to prevent a Boise, Idaho, real-estate developer from using IDB funds to construct a major new shopping center.

Fewer than 300 miles west of here, a strikingly similar drama is unfolding in the Columbia River community of The Dalles, Ore. Again, the issue is a proposed new shopping center to be built by a Boise developer.

Indignant citizens there also have collected enough signatures to require a referendum on the question of issuing more than $7.4 million worth of IDBs — they invariably provide funding for commercial construction projects designed to benefit profit-making companies but they are tax-exempt because they are issued in the name of state or local governments.

Libya Ordered U.S. Planes Shot Down

U.S. Navy Ship Is Sunk

WASHINGTON — While Billy Carter was being investigated for pocketing petrodollars from Libya, that country's pilots were overheard receiving orders to shoot down U.S. reconnaissance planes over the Mediterranean.

U.S. Navy Ship Is Sunk

At least seven of the slow-flying RC-135s were meted by Libyan jet fighters in international airspace. Some American aircraft had to take evasive action and use electronic trickery to avoid being blasted out of the sky.

Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi earlier demanded that U.S. Navy ships also keep out of the Gulf of Sidra, where naval maneuvers had been scheduled off the Libyan coast but beyond his jurisdiction.

It was no secret in the Pentagon that Qaddafi was a friend of Billy Carter and that the president's brother was trying to get the ban lifted on the sale of transport planes to Libya. Whether this influence was the reason for the decision is not known.

On Aug. 2, for example, a lone RC-135 was shot down when its radar showed a squadron of MIG-23s closing in on the aircraft.

The electronic gear aboard the U.S. plane showed that the Libyan fighters were "locked onto" the 135 and were armed and prepared to seek re-election.

In 1974, when he was head of the Ford administration's Federal Energy Administration, Sawhill pooled the need for government subsidies to encourage development of synthetic fuels. Capital was no problem, he said, explaining that "the money will be there if the government permits industry to earn an adequate rate of return."

Sanhill at that time was counting '80 prices setting at $7 to $9 a barrel. "If prices stay at this level, there's no need for any subsidy," he said.

The Playoffs:

Gura, Royals Romp 7-2

Brett Homers
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Larry Gura had not won a baseball game for the Kansas City Royals in more than a month. But then he had a pitched game against the New York Yankees in more than a month, either.

Despite his inefficiency during the final month, Gura was named the opening game starting assignment against the New York Yankees in the American League Championship Series by Kansas City Manager Jim Frey.

Gura survived a shaky second inning—allowing back-to-back homers for the first time in the 11-year history of the American League Championship Series—to Rock Erickson and Lou Piniella—to beat the Yankees for the fourth time in as many starts this season.

"I think people would rather see me win in the playoffs than win 20," said Gura. "From the fourth inning on I felt good."

Joe DeSantis Sports Editor
There's nothing like a little head-to-head competition to set matters straight. And with the exception of the Lake Brantley Patriots and Oviedo, all of Seminole County's prep football squads square with conference opponents Friday night as mid-season brings on more significance to wins and losses.

Speaking of wins and losses, last week's selections produced a 4-1 mark to bring the season's total to 18 on target missions, 6 crash landings. That's good for a picking percentage of 75.

On with the countdown.
Apoka at Lake Howell.
The high flying Blue Darters are right where nobody expected them to be: in front with a perfect 3-0 record. More importantly Apoka's victories represent a trio of wins in conference play.

Lake Howell returns to Silver Hawk country after a tight loss to Lake Brantley. Sam Weir's defensive unit will be plenty sore after allowing the Patriots to score. The "Crunch Bunch" and "Shoof Patrol" went into the fray like game on back-to-back shutouts.

Cruz Keys Late Astro Rally

Houston's 7-4 Win Evens Series

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Joe Cruz, Houston's subbered power source, singled home Terry Pugh with the tie-breaking run in the top of a four-run 10th inning Wednesday night, enabling the Astros to even their National League playoff series against Philadelphia at one game apiece with a 7-4 victory over the Phillies.

The best-of-five series switches Friday afternoon to Houston, where all remaining games will be played. Philadelphia won four of the six games between the team during the regular season in the Astroplex. Larry Christenson will pitch for the Philadelphia muckchuckler Joe Niekro.

A playoff-record crowd of 65,476 watched Cruz drive in the go-ahead run in the eighth inning to give Houston a 3-2 lead and then bounce a single through the right side of the infield to deliver Pugh in the 10th for a 4-3 lead.

Published off the 10th with his third hit of the game, a show single to right, Cruz was intentionally walked and sent to second base by the Astros. Cruz, a 35-year-old native of Arroyo, was sacrificed to second by the Astros and scored on the throw to the plate. Cruz was second when right fielder Bob Boone.

And Rafael Landestoy ran for Morgan. Cesar Cedeno produced an RBI single to left field to score George Brett from third base and Amos Otis from second and hand Guidry his first ever post-season loss.

Chlorine Spews From Hydrant

Kids Choke On Gas, But They're OK

Eight middle-school children were treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte this morning after they were hit by a cloud of chlorine gas while waiting for a school bus, Longwood city officials say.

None of the youths, and all guests at South Seminole Middle School, ages 11 to 13 required anything but some oxygen at the emergency room, a hospital spokesman said.

City Administrator David Chace said the children were standing on the corner of Magnolia and Wayman avenues shortly before 9 a.m. when the gas shot out of a new fire hydrant at the end of a new water main being cleaned by two city Public Works Department employees.

Police Chief Greg Manning said the two workers were not injured by the gas. Chace explained the gas, along with water, was being pumped through the main to clean it out before it was to be put into service, as required by state law.

The eight children, standing on the corner near the open hydrant, apparently were caught in a cloud of the toxic gas as it unexpectedly shot out the hydrant, rather than the other end of the line, Chace said.

Herald Ambulances took the children to the emergency room although none of them appeared injured by the gas, Manning said.

The incident was handled by the Longwood Fire Department, but Chace ordered department officials not to comment, Capt. Alan Brown said.

The youths, as identified by Florida Hospital, were: Joshua Johnson, Jaymie Therpe, Douglas Woods, Tim Auerbach, Lisa Lewis, Gina Bower, Tracy Todd and Lori Gary.

A hospital spokeswoman late this morning said their exact ages and addresses were not available. — DAVID M. RAZLER

HARRIETT FINDS 'HOT' CELEBRATION

Sanford Fire Chief George M. Harriett (left) is greeted by firefighters Sid Hawkins (center) and William Behrens Thursday night as he arrives at an allegedly burning Holiday Inn on Lake Monroe for a surprise retirement dinner. Harriett was taken by other members of the fire department to the Sanford Inn to find a fire he was told was filling a back room with smoke. Instead, he found the room filled with his colleagues who had decided to surprise him with the dinner to celebrate his retirement, scheduled for January. Harriett has been on the force 38 years.

Timely Message From The President

Those of us who are members of our Sanford-Seminole Art Association feel we are very fortunate to be a part of a large group of people who are not only creative but enthusiastic enough to all help with the Fall for Art Show.

We live in a small pleasant town set like a jewel on the shores of beautiful Lake Monroe. There is no need to sell the city, the place speaks for itself.

Our downtown area is seeking to improve its image every day, and is succeeding there in our beautiful zoo with clean healthy animals housed in quarters shaded by giant oaks, an artist's paradise, a children's joy and animal lover's delight.

I remember when the zoo opened I took my lively rosy much-loved-grandson to see the petting zoo.

I'll never forget the look on his face when a fresh black baby gnat nudged him and matched all the food in his hand and then tried to eat his shirt.

Sanford is a town of churches, civic minded people interested in improving our city in many ways.

There's the General S a n f o r d M u s e u m, beautifully presented the Ballet Guild guides are youth in tasteful classes.

There are boutiques, an art gallery and several antique shops, great restaurants, the Heart Park too.

Sail boat races on the lake where the graceful boats look like butterflies sailing the beautiful and famous St. Johns river, a source of joy and fun for boaters and fishermen and other sporting activities.

Our members also come from charming surrounding towns like Lake Mary, Maitland, Longwood, Fern Park, Casselberry, Dittusa, DeBary, Osteen, Oviedo, Geneva and others.

This whole area is lush, productive land with cattle grazing, beautiful horses in shady pastures, miles of farm land filling market baskets with home grown vegetables and famous citrus fruit.

Our club is made up of many kinds of artists, some very famous some quite interesting in their various types of art.

There's a young law man who loves to carve dogs, spiders and coons.

Another policeman who does exquisite stained glass while his lovely wife does fetching hand crafted children molded lovingly out of clay.

We have so many good painters bringing beauty to canvas and paper.

We have those just beginning to study art learning the joys of clouds drifting softly across the sky or the beauty of a delicate flower, interesting portraits.

A Senior citizen paints lovely water colors.

There are photographers in our club, some who have won many prizes with their work.

This is my president's message, I approached the writing of it with much trepidation, I do better with a paint brush than words but as I write I find it easy to talk about my club.

I hope our visitors to the Fall for Art Show will love our area, read our local newspaper, it represents our lives our hopes our everything.

Judge Says Winter Springs Case 'Difficult'

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

"This is the most difficult case from a legal standpoint I ever had to deal with," said Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffer. Leffer said he would be delaying his decision on a three-way lawsuit pitting a land development company against a group of Winter Springs citizens, leaving the city caught in the middle.

On one side is the "appealing" argument that citizens have the right to bring about a citywide vote on issues. On the other side is case law and the wording of state and city statutes which offer a landowner the protection from changes in zoning without the process. Leffer was called on Wednesday to hear a motion for a summary judgment in the suit by Florida and Corp. against the ad hoc Citizens' Rights Committee and the city of Winter Springs.

The suit came about when a parcel of land set for development by Florida Land objected to a decision in July by the Winter Springs City Council to allow the firm to build more homes than originally called for when the city created a comprehensive land use zoning system.

The homeowners formed the Citizens' Rights Committee led by J.C. Mitchell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Winter Park.

Committee members began gathering the signatures of more than 15 percent of the city's voters in order to place a vote on the city council's decision on the November ballot.

They succeeded, but Florida Land brought suit, claiming the signatures had been gathered using a cover letter which distorted the facts in the issue.

Florida land brought suit against the committee for the alleged distortions and against the city council, charging the city charter allowing citizens to override a zoning decision is unconstitutional.

While council members say they are still in favor of the zoning change they awarded Florida Land, they have been spending thousands of dollars defending themselves.

Leffer filed an injunction against the suit, trying to keep the city charter intact, they say. City attorney Wallace Stalhammer filed the city more than $1,000 for time spent on the case in September.

However the Citizens' Rights Committee is now accusing the council of not backing the city charter and asking for monthly donations from residents to fund its end of the legal battle.

Following two hours of arguments by Stalhammer and Florida Land attorney Ernest Bradick, Leffer said he would have to spend time reading all the cases presented by both sides.

Leffer said an injunction against the city, which will allow the vote to be held on election day if no final decision is reached, although the results of that vote would be invalid if a final decision went against the committee.

As presently written, a yes vote on the rezoning resolution will be a vote to back Florida Land.

Lake Mary Councilmen Approve Budget Of $698,000

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary citizens left the city council chambers Thursday night shaking their heads about the complexities of state law, but not as angry with city officials about a proposed tax increase.

The council passed on first reading an ordinance setting a $698,183 budget for fiscal 1980-81. It also adopted a resolution setting a tax rate of $1.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation on real property, up from the $2.84 cent tax rate levied in 1979-1980.

The city will be advertising that it proposes to raise property tax revenues by 12 percent.

The council will hold another public hearing on the budget and tax rate on Oct. 22. At that time, it is probable the same budget will be approved.

The tax rate may be different, perhaps lower, but not higher. The increase in the property tax rate is $4 percent.

Mayor Walter Sorenson and the city council attempted to explain to a packed audience of citizens Thursday night that all the inconsistencies in what they were being told have been brought about by a law, called Truth in Millage (TRIM) passed by the Legislature during a 1980 session. Adding to the confusion was the approval of the voters Tuesday of a new homestead exemption rate.

Mayor Walt Sorenson attempted to explain, the city doesn't know what its tax base is and doesn't know what to base a tax rate upon. The $4.50 rate is little more than a guess. Yet the city, under the law, is required to set a proposed rate.

The actual tax base, minus the new homestead exemption, won't be available to the city until Oct. 22 from the county property appraiser, he said. This will give the city one day before its Oct. 23 public hearing to determine what rate is necessary to fund the budget.

The rate can be less than the one set Thursday night, but cannot be more, he said.

On the advertisement concerning the increase in taxes, he explained, the law requires that the city advertise an increase, not from the amount levied last year, but from a rate determined by the county property appraiser to bring in the same income as last year. The certified "rollback" millage set by the appraiser is $1.99.

All those citizens in the audience confused by the apparent inconsistencies were misled by Sorenson to come to city hall for a detailed explanation.

"I'll talk to you or any of the staff will," Sorenson said, adding that individual councilmen would also be happy to explain personally.

At the same time, Sorenson said, the new budget contains allocations for a down-payment on a new pump fire truck for the fire department to retain the city's reduced fire insurance rates. It also contains replacement of some of the police department patrol cars, and provides for a full-time grader operator to better maintain city road networks.

The council set a 7 p.m. time for the Oct. 23 council meeting.

U.S. Nets 2 Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Two Americans shared the 1980 Nobel Prize for medicine with a Frenchman today for genetic discoveries that dramatically increased the success of tissue and kidney transplants.

The award to George Snell, 78, of Bar Harbor, Me., and Baruj Benacerraf, 59, of Boston, Mass., a naturalized American from Venezuela, were the second and third won by Americans in two days.

Creslaw Milos, also a naturalized American who fled Poland in 1960, won the $215,000 prize for literature Thursday.

Jean Dausset, 63, who works at the Laboratoire d'Immuno Hematologie at the University of Paris, was cited along with the two Americans for the genetic research.

"I did not expect to be discussing that this morning," Benacerraf said early today at his home in Boston. "I have been working on analyzing the immune system — how you become capable of defending yourself against foreign invaders."

Technically, the Karolinska Institute awarded the three scientists the prize for their discoveries concerning genetically determined structures on the cell surface that regulate immunological reactions.

Specifically, their discoveries contributed to the growing of tissue transplants and the transfer of kidneys.

Snell, who was born in Haverhill, Mass., works at the Jackson Laboratory in Bar Harbor. He was receiving phone calls of congratulation at his home in Maine.

Benacerraf was born in Caracas, but has been an American citizen since 1943, works at the Department of Pathology at Harvard Medical School in Boston.

Snell was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1928 and received a Master of Science degree from Harvard in 1929 and his doctorate two years later.

The Nobel citation said the three scientists' work in genetics helped to deepen the understanding of cell interaction and enabled the field of tissue transplantation to grow.

"It's also helped to explain why some cancer cells are eliminated from the body while others grow into tumors," he helped establish the rules of transplantability.

The Institute said that Dausset's work opened the way to studies on the rules of transplantation in man and made it possible to type both the donor and recipient in kidney transplants and thereby increase chances for successful kidney transfers.

Benacerraf's work helped explain why some individuals are able to mobilize strong immune responses to infection while others are not.

It said the work by the scientists also helped in the investigations of disputed paternity.

Even if the motor should fail, it would function as a regular hang glider.

And although at least one firm requires dealers to give an eight-hour pilot training course to people who buy microblights, most flyers contend the craft are so easy to manage they can be flown properly without instruction.

The industry's main thrust is sport, but the aircraft has commercial applications, such as cattle wrangling, and even military interest.

"It's the day when it will be a common means of transportation," Miss Trefethen says.

The daughter of a racing pilot mother and a test pilot father, she got her private pilot's license at 16. She competed as a hang glider flier for years. Almost 100, she holds of setting a world skateboard speed record in 1978, moments before her board left the course and smashed her into a utility pole.

Injuries left her without full mobility of her right arm, and she had to give up hang gliding because she can no longer haul a 60-pound glider or run and jump off cliffs for takeoff.

"The microblight is perfect for me. I can put it on top of my car and take it to a field and assemble it in about 30 minutes," she said.
