What to do with Magnolia Square?

By Liane Edixon Herald Staff

SANFORD - The downtown Community Redevelopment Agency is looking for direction from the Historic Preservation Board on what to do with Magnolia Square.

Renovations began on the square recently that included tearing out trees to replace with Blanchard Magnolias, ripping up the bricks, rerunning electrical lines; and redesigning the landscape of the new trees and greenery.

Now, all that is left to do is placing benches and trash receptacles into the square. Those items were ordered and will be in the square sometime in September.

Meanwhile, CRA member Jeff Triplett announced on Wednesday that he still wasn't happy with the

"I have to be honest. I don't like it. It still looks like a basketball court to me," Triplett said.

Renovations are currently running $525 over budget, but Bob Parsell said that the city staff had another recommendation.

That recommendation, which was canopytype sails that would provide more shade to the tune of approximately $30,000, was shot down because CRA members felt it wasn't consistent with the historical feel downtown provides.

The CRA decided that trellises with some type of vine growing through it such as Confederate Jasmine might be a rice touch that would help cool down the square in the summer months.

The CRA will ask the Historic Preservation Board for suggestions.

State dismisses murder charges

By Steve Paradis Herald Staff

SANFORD — Marcus Sheppard, 25, walked out of the Seminole County jail a free man Thursday afternoon vowing to learn from his mistakes that cost him and another man 18 months in jail on first-degree murder charges.

Representatives of the State Attorney Office, Sanford Police Department and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement held an early evening news conference Wednesday to say they dropped the murder charges.

Officials said Wednesday they still believe Sheppard and Clifton Lee Mulkey, 28, were involved in the 2001 shooting death of Milton

Meeting seeks ideas for CRA

By Liane Edixon Herald Staff

SANFORD - The Downtown Community Redevelopment Agency will have a town hall meeting Monday, Aug. 29, at 6 p.m. to discuss special projects and promotions for its 2005-2006 fiscal year budget.

District 1 Commissioner Art Woodruff suggested to CRA members that in consideration of the upcoming budget planning and due to the rearrangements of some of the city's boards, the CRA should have a "widely advertised" town half meeting.

"You might hear things you hadn't thought of," Woodruff

CRA Chairman Bob Parsell submitted a proposed budget. The CRA will have $752,000 in ad valorem revenue with $20,000 in estimated interest, giving the agency about $772,000 in total for the 2005-2006 budget year.

The CRA has already committed some of those dollars for hiring an executive director ($30,000); operating expenses ($20,000); First Street loan payments ($232,000); Fort Mellon Park ($66,667); and facade grants ($20,000).

"These are things we're already committed to," Parsell said.

With the remaining $403,333 the CRA is hoping to spend about $24,000 on promotions such as Alive After Five and a spring art festival.

Man in Hillsborough jail charged with Lake Mary bank robbery

By Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — There has been an arrest in the July 27 robbery of the Wachovia Bank, located at 4005 W. Lake Mary Blvd., in Lake Mary.

A warrant was served on Wednesday, on Robert G. Jameson, 36, who was being held in the Hillsborough County Jail.

Jameson was arrested Aug. 1 in Hillsborough County in a stolen vehicle. During his arrest, a piece of paper, which appeared to be a bank robbery note, fell out his pocket. The note was threatening and went into specific information.

Hillsborough County investigators checked "Fraud Net", a law enforcement database, to see if there were any recent bank robberies where a note, with similar script, was used. They saw the Seminole County case,

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Makes you want to hurl: A new champion has claimed the crown of downtown's worst landlord. That title was held by Sara Jacobson. The Downtown Diva was the long-reigning champ and most recently defended her title by retroactively reinstating a cost of living increase she had promised to waive for Mike Barr, the owner of the Sanford Book Shoppe. Barr was later given a 5-day eviction notice.

But just when you thought the champ would retire with the gaudy title belt, along comes a young challenger to shake up the establishment. In this case it's two young challengers, Denise * and Virgil Hurley. The Hurleys own the building where Divine Deli was located. Most Herald readers will remember that the deli closed June 30 because the owner, Drew Fischer, 42, was suddenly diagnosed with stage two squamous cell carcinoma. Closing the family business is never easy, especially when you have a wife and three young boys to raise, but fighting cancer is not a part-time job. The Fischers had no other choice but to close.

Drew has already begun radiation and chemotherapy treatments. On Monday he'll begin another five days of chemo. I've never had chemo, but it's got to be better than what the Hurleys are putting Drew and his family through.

The deli closed, but Drew did not remove his coolers, oven and other equipment. He was assured by the Hurleys that given his medical circumstances they would work with him. And they appeared to be doing so early on. Within days of the deli closing, Volcano's Coffee Bar in Longwood contacted the Hurleys about moving into the space. Not only that, officials from Volcano's indicated they would buy Drew's equipment for their business. It seemed like a win-win-win for everyone, so naturally Drew made no arrangements to remove the equipment.

The Hurleys and Volcano's couldn't come to an agreement on the lease and the deal fell through. Since Volcano's wasn't purchasing his equipment, Drew found another buyer. Problem is, the Hurleys won't allow the Fischers to remove the equipment because they claim they are owed about $6,500, including $1,100 for rent in July. The remaining expenditures the Hurley's are claiming are for "damage," cleaning, or dubious charges for such things like $812.50 for correspondence with the Fischers, $25 to drop off a letter at the Fischers' house or $60 for 12 pages of faxes.

None of these charges were at issue when it looked like Volcano's would move into the deli's space. With no tenants, it looks like the Hurleys are trying to put the screws on a young family who, through no fault of their own, are literally facing a life-and-death bat-

It's obvious from reading Virgil Hurley's response to the Fischer's attorney he's preparing for his own battle.

"Please direct (the Fischers) to settle this as we have set forth ... or we will have to total up the thee's (sic) and thou's (sic) and we will prevail in small claims court," Virgil Hurley writes.

He latter adds: "Do you know how much small claims courts love it when you rattle off your multiplictous business name and speak in legaleze (sic)? I haven't lost in small claims court."

Good for you, Virgil. Just realize most decent people think you're a acting like a jackass. You may win in court - then again, defeat comes to the proud when they least expect it.

If it does, you and Denise can always take solace in your new crown — worst landlords in downtown.

Showing him the money: Speaking of hardheaded people, former Sanford city manager Al Grieshaber has a new employer. Grieshaber was named interim city manager of Indian Rocks Beach near Tampa.

He'll earn $8,000 a month in salary and housing allowance, as well as a $400 a month car allowance, use of a city vehicle, cell phone and pre-paid E-pass for the toll roads.

Grieshaber proposed the salary and benefits but tried to snooker even more out of the Indian Rocks commission when he asked that the salary be "net" after taxes. The commission balked and one even suggested reducing the salary.

Grieshaber continues to draw about$10,000 a month plus benefits from the city of Sanford. He'll do so through the end of November.

Approximately $100,000 was suggested by Parsell to be used as a contingency construction fund, with another $30,000 in a general contingency fund.

If those suggestions are used in the budget, the CRA would have about $249,333 that could be used for other downtown projects, with $50,000 in reserves that were carried over from the 2004-2005 fiscal year.

CRA member Jeff Triplett said he would like to see the next year's budget set up in a more organized fashion so that the CRA wasn't getting hit up for "nickel and dime стар".

"We should speak to everyone at one time so we know exactly where we are," he said.

Parsell said: "I don't know if it's that easy."

Triplett continued by saving that the CRA is "notorious" for handing out $20,000 here and $30,000 there.

"We know what they are. Let's put them on paper and be done with it," Triplett said. Planning and Community Development Director Russ Gibson told Triplett and the other members that the executive director, who will come on board soon, could help the CRA with a more refined budget.

Very eloquently put and you didn't even say the word crap," Triplett joked.

CRA member Robert Kuhn said that the CRA needed to set up an emergency fund for construction, of dilapidated buildings in the downtown

The CRA had asked for legal advice at last month's meeting due to a few unsafe buildings downtown that may need repairs.

Mayor Linda Kuhn had informed the CRA that in Florida Statute 163.370, the CRA has the power to carry out plans for a program of voluntary or compulsory repair and rehabilitation of buildings.

At Wednesday's meeting, the CRA concluded and approved that the city commission will be asked to take action on the buildings downtown that are currently threatening the safety of the public and other building owners.

Mayor Kuhn told the CRA that they don't want to lose the city's historical structures.

"I think you have the ability to create a revolving fund to help building owners," she

Kuhn said that the city has building owners who either won't fix the problem or who can't financially fix the prob-

"The problem is the teeth of it," Triplett said. "Do we fine them?

CRA member Charles Rowe said that it could be an administrative warrant to include pictures of the building. Because of the public safety issue, he asked?

CRA member Robert Kuhn said, "We don't have time. We have a responsibility to act on these."

A motion was made and approved to advise the city to take action on the buildings immediately for the protection of the city of Sanford.

In other news, the CRA: Listened to a presentation by downtown building and business owner Virgil Hurley on Alive After Five. Hurley was asked at last month's meeting to find out from downtown businesses if they are interested in continuing the event. Hurley told CRA members Wednesday that the overwhelming response was yes. In fact, he suggested that participating businesses would be interested in contributing $50 in real dollars or in services of some kind to the event.

He has also received donation money from local businesses to keep the event

"We have a lot of people who want to participate," Hurley said.

Hurley said he has had inquiries from the Central Florida Zoological Park, the Sanford Flower Shop and oth-

Hurley suggested opening up the event to spread out through downtown and not just limited to Magnolia Square.

Other suggestions were making each month a different them, such as "pumpkins" in October or "turkey art" in November.

Another suggestion was moving the event from Thursday to Friday. Hurley said he looked into other towns who have similar events and Friday events seem to be the way to go.

To make it a destination for the night," Hurley said.

The event is also looking to use coupons that are date specific, which would be given out in Magnolia Square.

Other features for the event Hurley suggested were: evites: reusable directional signs out on French Avenue; broadcasts; and alley art and mural projects.

"We may be able to double or triple the turnout," Hurley told the CRA.

CRA member Triplett said that this is one of the events he likes, because it is continuous.

"I like it Virgil. If I were you, I'd be there on the 29th," Triplett said.

cent of the surveys have been returned and 5.7 percent have been tabulated.

CRA member Charles Rowe wanted to know where geographically the surveys came in from. Gibson explained that they weren't focused on where they came in from, but that they could determine somewhat by what billing area the surveys came from.

"There is the opportunity to get some limited information on that," Gibson said.

The conclusions to date, are that Fort Mellon Park is not visited on a regular basis, but is mostly visited on the weekends. There is also no seasonal preference on when people visit the park.

There was a greater emphasis on activities and special events as opposed to specific amenities.

OPINION

No driver's license required

This is the second column on my recent trip to Italy. As I said last week, this is not to entice anyone to make a similar vacation trip; only to report on what I saw that I thought might be of interest to my readers.

This is the first time I have included a photo in my column. This is a vehicle I saw

Locals call them "Drunk Cars". Pfeifauf never did learn the manufacturer because there were no decals or letters indicating the brand. As I was told, any time a motorist anywhere in Italy is cited for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI), his or her driver's license is taken away. They could, however, continue to drive by operating one of these vehicles, and apparently most folks did. The vehicles do not require the driver to have a license, and as a result, they were legal. Drivers from age 14 up, (too young to have a license), could legally drive them on the streets and highways.

Phote by Hick Pletfaul

This Roman vehicle is only as long as most of our cars are wide.

these were small cars - with only one seat. No, they weren't modified golf carts; they were real automobiles, with a real engine in them. Parking in the cities of Italy, to my observance, was more difficult than in any other area I have seen. There was simply no place to park, and very few parking lots. But the folks who drove these cars had easier parking. The cars are so short, they could go between two parked vehicles, sideways, without sticking out into traffic. They were as short as the average car was wide. And that's saying a lot, because almost all of the other vehicles were small in size. Most of them could seat only four people, and in them, the back seat As the photo indicates, was usually cramped. The only cars capable of carrying six or more persons were considered busses.

My SUV, capable of carrying seven people if I put the seats down, would be considered extremely large. In fact, I saw hardly any SUV's anywhere. Likewise, in nine days of travel, I saw only one fullsized pickup truck, and that was an old American truck at a construction site.

Guessing the transportation, I would estimate about one-third of the people were in cars, one third on motorcycles and one third on motor scooters. Oh yes, I heard practically no horns being blown. You either get out of the way or get hit by one of them.

A far as large trucks, I did not see any semi rigs or other trucks which had their engine under a hood. They were all COE's (Cab over Engine) riga, even 18-wheelers or doublewides. I thought this was unusual and I don't know why there were no trucks like we see them on the highways.

Finally, I would like to report on Venice, one of several cities I visited. I probably should have read up on Venice before the trip, but I thought I knew enough about it: a city with a bunch of canals running between the buildings. WRONG! These are 100 separate islands, connected with bridges, and all buildings are on stilts. In fact, they are building a new Hilton Hotel on one of the islands, and they told us the hotel would be mounted on over ONE MIL-LION stilts. WOW!

There were only two islands where cars were permitted, and they had to be transported by barge. The rest of the islands had only bikes or foot transportation. There were millions of boats, gondolas, ferryboats, motorized barges, and most any other type of watercraft one could imagine. Yes, we rode in a gondola, but the oarsman didn't sing. And they didn't push the craft, these were oars which they rowed while standing on a small 4 by 4 foot platform. They said it took three years of training for anyone to become a gondola oarsman.

I can see why.

Justice for all uniess you

To the Editor:

Since the introduction of democracy in this country, two of the most distinguishable rights that derive from it are freedom and justice for all, or is it?

Throughout the years of my life, barring the unfortunate opportunity to observe and feel the machinery of justice, I've come to the conclusion that yes, there is freedom for all, but only justice for some in our country.

Our judicial system was crafted by our Founding Fathers as a tool, with the purpose to be exercised as a blind mechanism without discrimination. It is not so. More and more, I have seen with my own eyes, that justice definitely is not blind, but does open its eyes only to those who have the economic means to buy it.

In our judicial system, our lawyers all go through the same academic rigor and when they become qualified to use the system, some turn into private practice lawyers. Others turn into lawyers working for our public defense system.

Why is it that when a private practice lawyer brings a case into court, he gets all the undivided attention for his client, but when a public defender lawyer comes to court, he or she is looked at as a second rate professional, and his client as a second-class citizen. It's because he or she doesn't have the financial stability of others. There are people like me who are incarcerated (so far 10 months for driving with suspended license) on a traffic violation. while others that have private lawyers and have committed crimes that range from child molestation to rape and to other violent crimes, that are free on house arrest or probation.

Discrimination doesn't just involve race, sex or religion, but also financial status. We are being punished for being poor. Something has to change.

MOISSANITE, A Classic Tale of Beauty & Brains CHARLES & COL VARD

Moissanite is an incredible near-colorless jewel with nearly 21/2 times more fire than diamond and it delivers quality, beauty and value like no other gemstone.

Born From a Star

Discovered by French Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Henri Moissan, Moissanite can trace its origins to particles derived from meteors fallen from space. Moissanite, also known as silicon carbide, is a naturally occurring mineral found in limited quantities. The rarity of large natural Moissanite crystals prohibits their use in jewelry making. Only recently, through the power of advanced technology Charles & Colvard, is this gift from the stars available to you.

In a Category of its Own

The visual characteristics of Charles & Colvard created Moissanite make it a unique jeweiry category. High dispersion ("fire") and refractive index ("brilliance") give Moissanite more dazzling sparkle than any other gem, including diamond, yet it's priced at only a fraction of the cost.

Stetson's Corner The man behind the swan

On the northwest corner of Old Mims Road and Snowhill. Road, a graceful white swan "swims" on Horse Pond. I was privileged to meet the woman behind the man behind the swan. Mrs. Treva ·Rucker speaks quietly and lovingly

Karen Phillips Delbert Blain Rucker, "The Swan Man", who passed away June 23 after losing battle his with prostate cancer. "He was a sweetheart, he still is," she says. "He always wanted

swan on that pond." The swan was born of a chicken, well chicken wire actually, and paper mache mixed on Treva's stove. With help from their daughter from Oklahoma City, it took around three months to form and paint it, and in July 2004 the swan atop its platform embarked on its maiden voyage to the center of Horse Pond. Asked how the other birds and wildlife react, Treva replied, "I think they're a little afraid of it." Treva's husband always loved working with his hands and he was good at it. A true American folk artist, he coaxed beautiful artwork from natural metals. A crucifix, a cowboy, a coal miner, a moonshiner, even a fish made of pennies (with a dime in its eye) are amazing creations made by this West Virginia native. He "saw" things that the rest of us do not and formed them into art.

DB and the swan had their ups and downs-a heart attack and open-heart surgery slowed him down a bit as did the cancer treatments. During the fall of 2004, the swan sank during the hurricanes, was fished out of Horse Pond, and was missing from the pond for a while. But in January 2005, it reappeared lovely as ever.

Treva recalls with a smile how she takes phone calls from grandchildren. "We're a quiet the subject line), or with a fax to people wanting to know family," said Treva. Quiet but 407-349-2800. Thanks!

"where can they get a swan like that?" or " how much would you sell that swan for?" The swan's gender is a mystery, although a family friend, dubbed it "Lucy". This remarkable couple grew up and fell in love as teenagers in West Virginia. "People said we were young, it wouldn't last, but we fooled them," said Treva. They were married in 1942 and lived in West Virginia, Baltimore, Chicago, Vero Beach, and Titusville. DB worked for The Martin Company in Baltimore and served for 3 years in the Navy during WWII, repairing aircraft as an Aviation Metalsmith First Class. In 1957 Ruckers moved to Titusville and DB worked for Pan American Airlines at Cape Kennedy as a master welder and machinist for the plumbing division. Geneva became their home in 1965 and he retired in 1972, but DB was not one to stay idle. With all his business and machinery experience, he started Ruckers Plumbing in Sanford, which he ran successfully for 12 years.

The Ruckers were married for over 63 years (they did fool 'em) and raised an all-American family- 3 children, 7 grandchildren and 6 greatbusy. Their daughter in Oklahoma has taught school for almost 30 years at a local university, while grandson Joe is a well known country singer in Nashville, who grew up singing with father Jerry, also a singer and song writer. Granddaughter writes a local newspaper column and is also a talented artist. Delbert Blain Rucker was a man who loved his family, his faith, and his fishing. He was a husband, friend, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, soldier, welder, businessman, and creator-so much more than the Swan Man. Geneva lost Del Rucker a few weeks ago, and he will continue to be missed by the community of friends, colleagues, customers, and family, all who understood what a very special man he

We are glad that a lovely part of his legacy stays with us, floating on the ole swimmin' hole now called Horse Pond.

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-221-7002, via e-mail at karenmcp@bellsouth.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in murder.

Roundtree's parents had helped by canvassing the neighborhood. Posters in the neighborhood announced a reward for information.

According to police reports three men came forward, Anthony Ferley, Lateric Dixon and Marcus Sheppard.

Sheppard told police he was inside Roundtree's home on Feb. 22, 2001. Initially, he said he left before the murder took place, but just after arriving at a hotel on Lee Road in Orlando. he was told Roundtree had been killed.

Three days later, according to an arrest report, Sheppard said Mulkey approached some Sanford apartments with another black man. Sheppard said Mulkey handed something wrapped in a peach-colored sheet to Anthony Hawkins, Mulkey's brother. According to Sheppard, Mulkey said he killed someone on Third Street.

Sheppard even said Mulkey and Roundtree had previously fought over a girl. Then he said a man who he knew as "Killer" said he was there when Roundtree was shot. Killer supposedly said that the plan was to rob Roundtree, but Mulkey murdered him.

Ferley and Dixon also told police that Mulkey claimed to have idlied Roundtree because of the problem with the girlfriend.

Police interviewed Ferley again five days later on Dec. 28, 2003. Ferley said Mulkey came to the house earlier and threatened to kill him and anyone else at the residence.

Ferley reported that Mulkey said Sheppard had told him that Ferley, Dixon and another man had gone to the Lake Mary Police Department saying that Mulkey had killed Roundtree.

Mulkey is still in jail on a charge of tampering with a witness, but his attorney said his family was trying to help him pay the $3,000 bond.

On Dec. 29, 2003, investigators interviewed Sheppard again. Sheppard told The Herald that he had become a paid informant of the police and earned about $700.

Mulkey was arrested later that day. Police interviewed Sheppard again on Dec. 31. Before his arrest two days earli-er, Mulkey had approached Sheppard about snitching and grabbed him before leaving. Sheppard's girlfriend Shaval Miller told police someone had been yelling.

Nearly a month later on Jan. 23, 2004, Sheppard said he had been part of the robbery plan this case go," Collison said.

Sanford Deputy Chief Darrell Presley said at the news conference Wednesday that the situation was frustrating.

"We've spent a lot of time on this," he said. He still believes Mulkey and Sheppard are involved in the murder.

"We do want a successful prosecution," Pressley said. 'We owe that to the (Roundtree) family."

Carter said he personally spoke with Roundtree's parents, who said they understood the reasoning for releasing the men. He said he would get with Sanford police and the FDLE to set a new course. They would re-interview witnesses and find new ones. Lt. Chris Collison told reporters that they are attempting to locate witnesses who have gone into hiding. The witnesses' families are helping to get them to talk to police.

Gibson leaves Lake Mary

By Dean Smith Herald Staff

LAKE MARY — Another veteran Lake Mary High School coach has decided now is the time to move on.

Following the lead of former football coach Greg Stanton, who returned to his high school alma mater in Jacksonville, and boys soccer coach Larry McCorkle, who retired, longtime boys and girls track and cross country Mike Gibson is heading to Virginia. But what was supposed to be a retirement has turned into a step up for Gibson. Gibson, who prepped at Seminole High School, returned to the county following college and started the cross country program at Lake Brantley High School, were he stayed for eight years before moving over to the then new Lake Mary High School, where he became a fixture for the past 24 seasons.

But after his son graduated from Seminole High in 2004, Gibson and his wife felt that 32 years of teaching was enough. It was his wife's idea to move to Virginia because their daughter and new grandchild were living there and the Gibson's decided to have a home built in the Blue Ridge Mountain area. But later, the opportunity for

Mike to start another program at a new high school came about Gibson was back in the business of running with a "I will be both the boys and girls cross country coach at

Hidden Valley High School in Roanoke," said Gibson by phone recently. "We will be known as the Titans and I have already had t-shirts printed up with new sayings." Gibson and his wife were packing up their belongings in Lake Mary in preparation for the move to Virginia and they hoped to be in the new house

FCSL honors its best at annual awards banquet

From Staff Reports

The Florida Collegiate Summer League held its first annual Awards Banquet on Sunday, July 24th, to highlight the end of another successful season. The race for first place in the league came right down to the wire, with Winter Park narrowly edging Zephyrhills and Daytona Beach for the top spot in the regular season and No. 3 seed Zephyrhills nipping No. 4 seed Sanford, 2-1, in the League Championship Game played Sunday, July 31st at Tropicana Field in downtown St. Petersburg right after the hometown Tampa Bay Devil Rays beat the Kansas City Royals.

The Awards Banquet featured seven league awards named after FCSL's honorary league advisors.

The Chipper Jones Most Valuable Player Award went to Zephyrhills' Lee Cruz, who was first or second in almost every offensive category with a .437 batting average, seven home runs, 32 RBI, 63 total bases and a .724 slugging

The Frank Viola Most Valuable Pitcher Award went to Winter Park 's Ty Pryor, who had a league best ERA of 0.56 to go along with a 4-0 record. Amazingly, he allowed only 14 hits while striking out 42 batters in 32 innings pitched.

The Dante Bichette Batting Champ was given to the player with the highest batting average in the league, and this year it was Winter Haven 's Brantly Clay, who narrowly won the title by batting .437.

This year's Strike Out Leader was Sanford's Drew Shetrone, who displayed his dominance on the mound by striking out 55 batters in only 41 innings pitched.

The Relief Pitcher of the year went to Daytona Beach 's Dominic Petracca, the former Seminole High School and Daytona Beach Community College star and is now the closer for UCF, who had a 5-0 record and two saves to go with his 0.67 ERA.

The Tim Raines Sr. Base Stealing Champ was Winter Park's Corey Whiting, who stole 20 bases in 22 attempts on the 30 game season.

The David Eckstein Sportsmanship Award, for the player who demonstrates his respect for the game in his play on the field and his respect for others by his demeanor off the field,

The Chipper Jones Most Valuable Player Award went to Zephyrhills first baseman Lee Cruz (No. 16, above), who was first or second in the Florida Collegiate Summer League statistics almost every offensive category with a 437 batting average, seven home runs. 32 RBI, 63 total bases and a 724 slugging percentage.

Continued from Page 1B in Hardy by this week (August 5th) because Mike has to be fingerprinted, etc., to get his teacher's certificate in Virginia in time for the opening day of school on August 15th.

"The house is still in the latter stages of being finished," added Gibson in late July. "I hope they get it done by the time I have to go up, because I don't want to have to live in a hotel or rent an apartment."

Gibson will be a very busy man as Virginia also has an indoor track season to along with the traditional, for Florida, cross country and outdoor track seasons.

He will also be the boys and girls coach for those programs, but he will have plenty of help as he will have two assistants for indoor track and as many as three for the outdoor season. * "I talked to the new Principal up there and he left it up to me as to what I wanted to do," said Gibson. "I told him I would feel more comfortable being in charge of the whole program and that was fine with him. And then he told me about the assistant coaches. I don't know if I will know how to act with that much help."

Gibson feels he has left the Lake Mary program in good shape for new coach Luther Davis, who Gibson said he has a lot of confidence in.

And not much will change to begin with as Davis will be in charge for the first time when the popular Lake Mary Summertime Cross Country Run that annually kicks off the Cross Country season is run on Saturday, August 27th.

The race will be run at the Lake Mary Cross Country Course (located behind Lake Mary High School) with the day beginning at 7 a.m. with Late Registration. Racing begins at 7:45 a.m.

The race is not an official high school event and no team may run under a school name, although the event is geared for the 13-to-18 age groups.

Age groups are 10-and-Under, 11-to-12, 13-to-18, 19-to-29, 30to-39, 40-to-49, and 50-and-Over. All seven Age Groups have both Male and Female divisions.

All first place finishers in each 5K race age group (except 13-to-18, both male and female) receive medals with ribbons going to the second through 10th place finishers.

There will be separate 5K races for the 13-to-18 boys and 13-to-18 girls with medals going to first through 20th place finishers and ribbons going to 21stthrough-75th place.

The cost to enter is $4 per person prior to Monday, August 22nd and $8 on the morning of the race.

The race day time schedule is as follows:

*7 a.m. _ Late Registration. * 7:45 a.m. _ 5K run, 19-and-Over and 12-and-Under (both male and female). * 8:30 a.m. _ 14-to-18 Girls
