$125,000 of the taxpayer's money to discredit our organization.

CHS Events
KINDERGARTEN, Aug. 17—(P)—C. W. McCowley, chairman of the Kindergarten Party, announced that Saturday the next he would conduct the national Townsend organization and set up an independent club "free from outside interference."

The group had an enrollment of 60 members. McCowley said he had been named president of the independent club and Albert Warden was elected secretary. The independent club, the president said, was organized to advance the cause of Dr. P. E. Townsend, Gerald Smith, Father Coughlin and William Lemke.

The letter also said, McCowley stated, that "We go on record as opposed to the present system of government of the Townsend organization, because it is dictatorial, undemocratic and autocratic."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 17.—Approximately 5,000 Floridians met 70 years old are expected to begin receiving old-age security pensions Oct. 1.

The payments, to be based on individual needs, will average from $25 to $100 a month each and will amount to an expenditure of about $1,000,000 a year.

The federal government and Florida's 67 counties will foot the bill, the national social security board matching all funds appropriated by each county. The state board of social welfare will administer the joint account and investigate all applications for aid.

Persons who are in need and who are over 70 years old may apply for the pensions at district offices of the state social welfare board.

Announcement that the pension plan will go into effect Oct. 1 was made today by Governor Van Hise, state secretary of the fund.

After taking action to disband the club, McCowley stated, the club was notified to disband headquarters with the statement that the "reason for disbanding is that the club has repudiated the present leadership and is opposed to the third party political activities of Dr. P. E. Townsend, Gerald Smith, Father Coughlin and William Lemke."

The letter also said, McCowley stated, that "We go on record as opposed to the present system of government of the Townsend organization, because it is dictatorial, undemocratic and autocratic."

BATTLES ON THREE FRONTS SPREAD DEATH

San Sebastian was sealed when rebels launched a new offensive to gain an outlet to the sea. The defenders of San Sebastian warned they would execute the rebels and dynamite the city rather than surrender. The insurgents flouted the warning and opened land and air attacks on Irun and San Sebastian. Rebel naval forces were ready to participate.

Neutral observers credited the rebels with taking the offensive in the second month of the war, leaving the government on the defensive and facing difficulties of organization, supply and control of ardent but undisciplined and inexperienced fighters.

Greatly increased bloodshed was threatened because the Foreign Legion and Moors from Morocco, coming in on Madrid from the south, went into battle against the rebels. The capture of Badajoz made possible a junction of northern and southern forces and enabled Gen. Francisco Franco, supreme rebel commander, to proceed to Burgos, seat of the provisional government, from Seville.

The Madrid government, breaking a long silence on the military situation, announced it had emerged victorious after taking the offensive on both northern and southern fronts.

While Europe negotiated fruitlessly for an international non-intervention pact, Italy's foreign minister suggested joint American efforts to arbitrate between Spanish loyalists and insurgents.

In London labor demonstrators at Trafalgar Square vociferously demanded British support of the Madrid government and adopted militant resolutions condemning Spanish fascists.

In Barcelona the autonomous Catalan government put industry on a war footing and made all factory workers subject to mobilization.

Loyalist warships off Tarifa bombarded and silenced newly emplaced rebel coast artillery batteries.

Confiscate Industries
MADRID, Aug. 17.—(P)—The Spanish government, its troops and its police, today launched a bloody battle against Fascist rebels. Saturday night ordered new socialization of industry and sought to halt flight of capital that might reach rebel hands.

The huge oil, tobacco and other industries were confiscated by labor organizations and given over to workers to operate under state control.

A government decree forbade buying, selling or lending of securities and banned any transfer of real estate. The decree was applied to Spaniards both within and without Spain.

The objective was to prevent members of the one-time nobility and rebels from liquidating their holdings for cash that might be used to purchase arms.

The new step toward socialization was another in the program of the liberal government that originally was the cause of the rebellion.

President Manuel Azana proclaimed a liberal regime for workers and peasants when he took office in April. Many leaders of the army, who favored a fascist army; monarchists who sought the return of former King Alfonso; industrialists who wished a highly capitalistic state, formed the opposition.

Many 'Ho' Seen In Formation Of U. S. Labor Party

and high wages, is labor likely to jump overboard politically?

These questionings could be prolonged indefinitely without exhausting all of the possible combinations of circumstances which might affect 1940.

There are, however, several aspects of the case which do not involve conjecture. Certain solid facts are inescapable.

The first of these is that maximum results scarcely could be expected of a labor party unless labor were united behind it. Today labor is anything but united. A very large percentage is unorganized, and manifestly out of sympathy with that percentage which is organized. And the organized section is split in the bitterest schism in its history.

The Washington meeting at which the idea of a 1940 independent party was most prominently projected was a meeting of one part of the organized part of labor. It was a conference of labor's non-partisan league, which is pledged to the re-election of President Roosevelt. Its leadership was made up largely, but not entirely, of union officials who had not been suspended by the American Federation of Labor.

While this meeting was in progress, another union official was taking charge of a labor committee designed to promote the candidacy of Governor Landon, and officials of the federation itself were reiterating an attitude of neutrality.

Another solid fact is that no party based on the interests of any single class—even when that class was united—has ever gone far or lived long in American political history.

Sensing this, perhaps, most of the leaders at the Washington conference spoke of a "liberal" party. But the inference was very plain that such a party would be organized in the interest of labor, and would be dominated by labor. The distinction, as it was outlined by the labor leaders themselves, was one of name rather than purpose.

If the definition were expanded, however, new uncertainties would arise. Is it to be supposed that a new labor party, organized by labor, could exist as an alternative such existing groups as the Farmer-Labor party, the La Follette progressive party, and the Lemke-Coughlin-Townsend union party?

Which leads up to perhaps the solid fact of all: that the organization of an effective political party always has proved exceedingly difficult under the most favorable of conditions, and always has failed when the elements involved were at loggerheads among themselves.

Theodore Roosevelt tried it and failed. The elder Robert M. La Follette tried it and failed, even though he had the endorsement of the Federation of Labor. John F.

Lookouts Take Nightcap To Break Even With G-Men

Score 8 To 1 Win In Final After Losing First, 6 To 0

Fadgett Hurts Two Hit Ball In Opener But Lookouts Go On Hitting Rampage In Final Game

By JIMMY CHAPMAN
Displaying a sharp reversion of form, the Lookouts wrested the nightcap of their twin-bill from the Gainesville G-Men here Saturday afternoon by an 8 to 1 score. After dropping the opener 6 to 0, the locals put on their slugging caps to paste out eight big ones in the twilight contest, two of them doubles and one a triple.

Ernie Fadgett, ace hurler of the G-Men, pitched hitless and scoreless ball in the opener until the eighth, when Clary dropped a pop single just over second base for the first Lookout hit. The look, Gainesville slinger heavily missed the Hall of Fame by that hit, together with Mallico's line single over short in the ninth.

The G-Men garnered nine blows off Medler in the first game to score six runs, but most of the G-Men's tallies came unearned, as the Lookouts committed five miscues to help them along.

"Cuban Lion" Torres, leading pitcher of the Lookouts' staff, practically had the terrible slugger handcuffed in the twilight contest, limiting them to 4 measly singles, two of them of the infield variety. Not satisfied with his mound accomplishments, the "dark one" pounded out a single and triple to lead the local boys at the plate.

Our scrappy Lookouts kept the G-Men's outfielders running all full speed during the latter game with a barrage of line drives and long flys to the outer garden. Even Fadgett, who came back in the second game to re-serve Gunthrop in the fourth frame, was unable to stop their spree.

Joe Blatraf promised the fans a win in the final game, when he was presented with a wrist watch between games, as a token of the fans' appreciation of his work this season. The day was "all right" for "Doc" Huntley, lead-speaking dentist from Orlando and an ardent Lookout fan, paid tribute to the scrappy catcher, who in turn attempted to answer in thanks, but became practically speechless before the microphone.

A brief resume of the two games follows:

Final Game
Gainesville opened the scoring in the first frame, when with two out, Pitman walked, advanced on Medler's err of Davis' throw to first to catch Beach, and stole home as a part of a double steal, with Beach going to second. Bluff then fanned to end the inning.

A good scoring chance was missed by the Lookouts in the second inning, when Overstreet made first on Bevell's error, and Blatraf walked sending Overstreet to second, but "Shorty" Mallico in an attempted sacrifice hit directly to the pitcher who rattled Overstreet at third. Duncan and Medler were then retired in quick order.

The G-Men drew second blood in their half of the third, scoring another run on Buck's double. Adair's infield hit, and Beach's fly to left. Two more runs were tallied by the Gainesville sluggers in the fifth on two hits and an error, and they pushed across two more in the sixth on two errors and two hits.

No more scores were made by either team from that point, with both outfits playing lam-um baseball in the field.

Buck and Bevell led the G-Men in hitting for the first game, each gathering two hits off Medler's offerings. Buck also pulled the only sensational fielding play of that game, when he made a leaping catch of Medler's line drive between first and second and doubled Duncan off first. Padgett, of course, was the real hero of the win, with his superb pitching, limiting the Lookouts to only two weak singles.

Second Game
The Lookouts began right away to make up for lost time in the nightcap, when they tallied twice in the first frame. Clary started off by making first on Pitman's bad throw of his grounder to first, advanced to second on Langston's infield out, but was almost caught sleeping, straggling off the bag by several feet only to gain safety by a daring dive for the breakstone bar, after a hot chase between third and second, later advancing to third on a passed ball. Davis then walked and Clary scored on a double steal, making a beautiful slide into home. Overstreet accounted for the second run of the inning, when he singled to left scoring Davis from second.

The fifth saw the Lookouts score four runs on five hits, when Torres, singled, Clary laid down a bunt for a hit. Langston lined a hit through the pitcher's box. Davis doubled over the center-fielder's head, Clary was purposely passed, and Overstreet singled. They were retired when Padgett went in to relieve Gunthrop and after Overstreet had singled caused Blatraf to hit into a double play, with a run coming in. Mallico fled out to Buck to retire the side.

Apparently unsatisfied with their lead, the Celeryboys scored twice more in the sixth, on Duncan's walk, Torres' triple, and Clary's long fly to deep left, which Adair took over his shoulder on a backward run.

The G-Men entered their only run of the last game in the sixth on two walks, a sacrifice, and a long fly to right.

In the second contest batting honors were divided by Torres, with a triple and a single, Overstreet with two singles, and Davis with a single and a double. "Breeches" Clary, who milled a shortstop for the Lookouts, was the real hero of the day, with two stolen bases to his credit and plenty of fast and careful running of the sacks. The neat breeched lad also played errorless ball all afternoon and garnered one hit in each game.

Islanders Score 1 To 0 Victory Over Azaleans

Brown Gives Up Only Four Blows In Tilt At Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Aug. 17.—A sparkling four-hit performance by the Islanders secured a 1 to 0 victory over Palatka's Azaleans here yesterday afternoon. Brown struck out six and walked none. The Islanders played errorless ball. Bill Gould roned in a fine performance for the Azaleans, giving up only nine blows, but three of the hits were bunched in the fifth frame to give the Islanders the victory. Gould struck out seven and walked two. Andersen started the fifth with a fluke infield single. He went to second on a single by Dillingham and scored as Davis singled to left field.

Lookouts Initiated Slaughter Week Yesterday By First Of 7 Twin-Bills

"Slaughter Week" was begun yesterday afternoon by the Lookouts, when they met the Gainesville G-Men in the first of a full week of doubleheaders, ending Saturday. Today the boys meet the DeLand Reds in another twin-bill affair on the local park, beginning at 2:30 P. M.

With only five pitchers in which to stand the grueling week of doubleheaders, the Lookouts were looking around in his outfield, planning to pull in possibly Overstreet to bolster the pitching staff for the week.

Should the Geery City team gain 10 wins of the 14 games, it is practically sure that it will then be in the running for fourth position. Hoosting only four and one-half games out of the coveted position at present, with the DeLand Reds now holding down the place, the Lookouts might, by dropping the Reds in their four contests this week, become a pennant contender.

Joe Louis Is On Spot In Fight With Sharkey Tuesday

Brown Bomber Must Make Comeback To Gain Top Position In Heavyweight Picture Once More

Saints Gain Win In Fourth Place Fight With Reds

Veale Gets Shutout As Mater Pulls Five Fast Twin-Killings

ST. AUGUSTINE, Aug. 17.—Falling five snappy double plays in the first six innings the St. Augustine Saints rallied around Frank Veale's shutout during here yesterday to bag a 4 to 0 decision from the DeLand Reds.

The visitors touched Veale's deliveries for nine safe knocks and were a constant threat but four double plays in the first four innings and another twin-killing in the sixth ruined whatever chances the DeLand crew had of overcoming an early St. Augustine lead.

Off Jake Bush the Saints made seven hits count with Hoot Gibson, the hitting star. His double and single drove home two of the four runs.

Singles by McGowan and Zupane and George Andrews' double down the right field line gave St. Augustine a 1 to 0 lead in the opening canto. Dikriken's error on Emerson's hop to second, a double by Gibson, and Fitzgerald's bouncer off Dikriken's glove accounted for two more Saint runs in the fifth frame.

After a shaky start Veale settled down to hurl excellent ball and stemmed a late rally by the Reds. He just regarded the Falcon singled with two away but Finch Hitter McMullen was an easy out.

Despite two errors the Saints gave Veale brilliant support with Rabbit Bonner figuring in three double plays and handling 11 chances at short. Bubba Dikriken and Jack Bolling featured which Schmeing blasted him two singles each.

For another thing, they've been sending him to school over at Pompton Lakes, N. J., where his training, Jack Blackburn, his trainer, and Paul Salvatore, one of the best boxers among the heavies, have been showing him how to dodge such rights as those with which Schmeing blasted him.

These boxing lessons are getting results.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Right on the spot. That's where the Brown Bombing Joe Louis finds himself this week.

The young Detroit heavyweight, toast of the flak world only a few short months ago, can either make or break himself in his 10-round bout with Boston Jack Sharkey at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

By decisively turning back the two-fisted threat of the sailor man, Joe can partially atone for the walloping Max Schmeling gave him two months ago and once more place himself in the running for world championship honors.

Failin, he will be unceremoniously tossed into the boxing bonfire in the wake of the hulks of Primo Carnera, Maxie Baer and others who hit the comeback trail and flopped.

In more ways than one, the fight will be the big test of Louis' short but spectacular ring career.

Hailed as a super-fighter after 27 straight conquests, all but four of them decided by vicious knock-out punches, Joe found himself against a fighter who wasn't afraid to throw a few right hand blows, and faded out of the picture, the victim of the most startling upset since James J. Braddock toppled the heavyweight crown from the curly head of Beer a year ago.

Joe believes the Schmeling rout taught him a lesson and he's going in against Sharkey to show the fans he still packs a load of dynamite in each brown fist. He promises he'll not be caught napping by right hand punches again. "For one thing, he no longer believes he's invincible. He's stopped believing all he reads about himself and he's training seriously for the first time since he belted old Carnera back among the heavies. He no longer regards the Schmeling double as just a "joke" out.

These boxing lessons are getting results.

Olympics Close With Impressive Military Display

Overflow Crowd Sets 16-Day Carnival Attendance Record

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(AP)—After the gorgeous, sun-kissed closing equestrian contests before an overflow crowd of 120,000, the Olympic games ended impressively last night under floodlights with the ceremonious extinguishing of the Olympic flame amid soft shadows of a perfect summer night.

It was an eye-filling, spectacular day and a soul-stirring, unforgettable night for the immense throng of sport-lovers among whom were Reichsbanner Adolf Hitler and the members of his cabinet.

An ecstatic moment for Japanese came near the close when a stentorian voice resounded under the great peaked dome of brightness formed by converging beams of searchlights.

"I call the youth of the world to Tokyo," it said as thousands of foreigners in the great throng were thoughtfully silent as the Olympic bell tolled the end of the eleven Olympiad, but Germans were aroused to a frenzy of patriotic emotion.

Ohs and ahs of amazement arose as a battery of searchlights swung pencils of light against the summer sky, forming a lofty dome to the accompaniment of band music, flag bearers of the nations marched into the stadium and formed a line in front of Chancellor Hitler's loge. The Stars and Stripes were carried by Alfred Jochim, Union City, N. J. gymnast.

The flags were dipped in front of Hitler—except the American and Brazilian banners—as Count Henri Baillet Latour of Belgium, president of the International Olympic Committee, spoke the closing address after which a long line of white uniformed girls advanced and hung wreaths on the tips of the flags.

Then a voice resounded: "Lower the flag."

Amid singing and a great chorus of booming cannon, the Olympic flag was hauled down and the flags of the nations departed. The Olympic banner was carried to the center of the field by five men in white. The flame, which for a fortnight had been burning in the middle of the marathon gate, was extinguished.

Experts Say Food Prices Due For Rise

Change Already Has Affected Poultry Products; Expect Meat Increase Soon

Commission Hears Research Groups

Tugwell Asserts "We Want To Fortify Plains For Drought"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Experts "guessed" that it won't be long before the housewife lays out from eleven to twelve dollars for the same basket of food she now buys for ten dollars.

Government and private experts, admitting that exact estimates are impossible, nevertheless forecast an upward revision of family grocery budgets. They explained that when the scorching sun shriveled crops in recent months, the dollar's food-purchasing power went into a dive.

It already has affected milk, butter, and eggs in some places and eventually will reach meats, they said. Experts said their "best guesses" are based upon what happened after the drought two years ago.

Consumer purchasing powers, which were on the upgrade after the 1934 drought and which have been rapidly eroding since, also play a vital part in food prices, said.

Crop and conservation experts of the U. S. Forest Dept. told the President's drought commission that dry weather on the great plains "can be whipped."

The drought commission received the views of research groups after a breakfast round table conference at which Dr. Sanford G. Tugwell asserted "all this talk about depopulation of the Great Plains is foolish. We don't want to depopulate the country; we want to fortify it to withstand drought."

The experts were composed of two groups, one representing five Western states and the other federal agencies of the Amarillo soil conservation division.

"Based upon ample scientific and practical observations, it is recognized that fundamentally the natural conditions in the area are capable of supporting a permanently prosperous agricultural industry," said the report by the regional conservation service.

"The productive potentialities are capable of retaining the existing indebtedness," it added.

Cabinet Officer's Son Hailed Into Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A dispute between a cabinet officer and a Massachusetts policeman headed for court yesterday after Secretary Ickes termed "rotty contemptible" the arrest of his adopted son, Robert H. Ickes, on charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Renewing criticism of Police Sergeant Charles J. Harold, who arrested young Ickes at Winchester, Mass., last week, the interior secretary said "a lawyer has been retained and we'll meet the charges in court."

At Woburn, Mass., Sergeant Harold earlier yesterday denied Ickes' previous assertion that the arrest was "unfair political persecution."

Training Period Is Described By Reserve Officer

Lt. Michael Recounts Experience Had At U. S. Military Post

The 328th Infantry was accorded one of the greatest honors ever given to a southern military regiment when it was allowed to take its two-week summer training period at Ft. Benning, Ga., the largest military post in the entire United States and the home of the world's finest infantry school.

Lt. J. G. Michael, a member of the reserve regiment, stated today. Lt. Michael returned Sunday from the gruelling period of training, and was full of enthusiasm over his trip, because he and his regiment had been afforded the opportunity of witnessing what was apparently the first real military maneuvers ever held before a reserve regiment.

The maneuvers were held at Ft. Benning for the benefit of next year's graduating class of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, which was also undergoing a tense training period at the military post.

According to Mr. Michael, his regiment was unusually fortunate in being allowed to witness the military maneuvers, for there were air demonstrations of all kinds, with 45 planes from government air fields being used. Also included in the mimic warfare were tank demonstrations, which were for the benefit of the cadets.

Over 500 of the youthful cadets were entraining at the post, where they received instructions in the latest forms of military science and tactics. "Usually one thinks of the West Point cadet as a well dressed, stately sort of a soldier," Mr. Michael went on to say, "but during their stay at the post there were no dress parades, nor did the boys go around in their fancy military costumes, for they were always in working togs and receiving instructions which they were expected to carry out."

One of the most interesting and entertaining moments of the training period, was described by Mr. Michael as happening one night, following a long trek full of demonstrations, when Col. E. C. B. Danforth, Jr., executive officer of the 328th, described Sergeant Alvin C. York's thrilling, single-handed capture of 104 Germans during the World War. Sergeant York was said to be the outstanding hero of the entire War. Danforth was his commanding officer.

All in all, Lt. Michael said that the entertaining features of the training period offset the unpleasant duties which every officer and every enlisted man must go through.

WPA Official Tells Rotary Of WPA Work

State Gets 30 Million More From Government Than It Pays Out In Taxes

The State of Florida has received $30,000,000 more from the federal government in the form of WPA allotments and relief funds during the past 12 months than it has paid into the federal treasury by way of taxation, said Arnold Mickler, WPA representative from Orlando, who addressed the local Rotary Club today at the regular weekly luncheon at the Mayfair Hotel.

Seminole County alone has been benefited by numerous projects listed as streets, sewers, the airport, the agricultural experimental station, the armory, the swimming pool at Oviedo, and numerous similar undertakings, Mr. Mickler continued, to the extent of $170,000 during the past year.

Mr. Mickler further explained that there are at present some 4,000 destitute persons working on various relief projects in the Central Florida district which embraces nine counties in the central part of the state. As only one person in each family is allowed to work on a WPA project, Mr. Mickler explained, this means that no less than 4,000 families, or probably 20,000 persons, are directly supported by the WPA.

Further pointing out the tremendous benefit which this large expenditure of money is to local merchants, and other business and professional men as well, Mr. Mickler stated that it would be an unthinkable hardship to turn these unemployed persons back to the local communities for support. The WPA was undertaken in the beginning, Mr. Mickler said, as a relief program, but it is essentially a "work program," "do-or-die," he declared, "is now a thing of the past."

The type of projects which are given first consideration by the WPA, Mr. Mickler said, include some thirty or more, now progressing in Florida, such as roads, bridges, canals, airports, drainage projects, armories, and various kinds of artists and musicians projects. "It is just as important for artists and musicians to eat," Mr. Mickler said, "as for anyone else."

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Mickler paid tribute to R. L. Glenn, who was also a great of the Rotarians, and who is chairman of the local Planning Board. "Mr. Glenn has been doing an unusually good job," Mr. Mickler stated, "in the selection of projects for Seminole County."

Sanford Youth Describes Visit To Shark Island

Jack Russell Returns Home After Interesting Experience

Jack Russell, Sanford youth who has been spending the summer at Tortugas Island in the Florida Keys collecting material for the State Museum and Science Department of the University of Florida, returned to this city Saturday afternoon with a number of interesting experiences to his credit and many specimens for his collection.

While on Tortugas, which is sometimes called Shark Island because of the many sharks that abound in waters around it, Russell slept in Fort Jefferson, the cell next to where Dr. Samuel Mudd was once imprisoned. Those who saw the recent movie picture, "Prisoner of Shark Island" are familiar with the background of the island and will remember that Dr. Mudd was sentenced there for supposedly having helped John Wilkes Booth, slayer of Abraham Lincoln, make his escape.

During his seven weeks' stay on the island, Mr. Russell obtained over 50 varieties of shells and approximately 200 varieties of insects, getting many specimens of each variety. He also banded a number of birds and did a lot of bird research work on Reddy and Sooty Terns for the Florida Audubon Society.

"The Florida keys," Mr. Russell said, "may be considered the richest collecting ground for marine life in this part of the world. While I was on Tortugas 15 or 20 doctors were there doing research work for the Carnegie Institute of Washington, D. C. The island is frequented by small yachts, mostly from the North, and during the recent hurricane a number of them were in port seeking shelter from the high sea."

"Out beyond the reef," he continued, "one can catch large fish of all kinds just as fast as the line can be thrown out. The fish I caught ranged anywhere from 5 to 25 pounds each, and sea turtles." (Continued on Page Two)

New Feed Store Owner Praises City And People

Says Sanford Offers Unique Attractions To New Residents

Proof that persons seeking business affiliations in this state are readily attracted to Sanford and Seminole County, is evidenced in the case of P. P. Campbell, new owner and manager of Campbell's Security Feed and Seed Company on West First Street.

Mr. Campbell, a native of Caldwell, Tenn., where for the past twenty years he has operated a store for the Aluminum Company of America, was attracted to this city by its beautiful location, and good business qualities, after an inspection tour which carried him to all sections of the state and into all cities of any size on the east and west coasts.

Coming to Florida first because of ill health, which he believed could be cured by the warm air and sunshine of this state, the new resident was pleased with the state at large, and especially so with Sanford and Seminole County. After a hurried trip back to Tennessee, he returned to the "Sunshine State" in hopes of finding a suitable business location.

Because he has been a lifelong friend of R. A. Norton, president of the Security Mills, which supplies the Security Feed stores with their goods, he was afforded an opportunity to make a good investment with the company in this state (on the advice of Mr. Norton), coupled with his pleasant survey of the city and county.

Mr. Campbell decided to make his business location and home here. Noticeable factors in this city's favor as seen by Mr. Campbell are listed as being, the fact that food prices here are in line with the prices further north, the unusual congeniality and easy going manner of the people of this city, and the decided advantages which Sanford and Seminole County have over other Central Florida cities, both in agriculture production and distribution of products.

Since his arrival here, Mr. Campbell has decided to make this his permanent home, and is presently looking over several houses, one of which he is considering purchasing. The new resident is at present residing at 115 French Avenue, where and his wife have an apartment.

400 Americans Stay In Spain Despite Risk

More Than 750 Have Been Taken From Fight Zone By Air Railroads Or Ships

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Americans were reported last night to be moving out of Spain by air, rail and sea, but the state department estimated that from 300 to 400 were still disregarding its repeated warnings to leave.

Even in Madrid, where Americans were warned Friday that they remained at their own risk, officials reported 163 staying, including 49 being given refuge at the embassy. Others were scattered throughout the country.

Most of those who have refused to leave have done so for family or business reasons, the state department has been advised.

Reports reaching Washington during the day of additional evacuations, brought to approximately 750 the total number of Americans who have been taken from the danger zone.

Prominent on today's list was Mrs. Petronila Gallardo, daughter of Col. David McKay, of Tampa. She was flown from Madrid to Marseille, France by airplane. American Consul Hurley at Marseille reported her safe arrival there but gave no further details. Mrs. Gallardo had been ill in Spain for several months.

Reassuring advice concerning J. A. Ambler, an American mining engineer, of San Antonio, Tex., who for a time has been in a precarious situation near Huelva, also were received. He was reported by the Rio Tinto Mining corporation at London to have arrived safely at Huelva after being held as a hostage for several days along with other foreign members of the mining company's staff at their mines.

Ambler was reported to be proceeding to Gibraltar.

Sanford Negro Is Arrested In New Smyrna For Theft

Nat Cherry, Sanford negro who has been an employee of the Dixie Beer Sales Company, was arrested in New Smyrna by police officers there for dealing a new '36 Ford truck last night belonging to the company for which he worked.

J. D. Pettes, his employer, was stopping at a local hotel and asked Cherry to put the truck in a garage for the night, but this morning neither Cherry nor the truck could be found. Mr. Pettes immediately notified Sheriff J. E. McMillan, who issued a warrant for the negro, and asked police in neighborhood towns to be on the lookout for the truck and negro.

New Smyrna police had soon located Cherry and put him in jail, where he will await further action on the part of the beer company.

The negro said he did not know why he stole the truck, which was half loaded with beer, and did not know what he would have done with it if he had not been caught, but that he had merely acted on the impulse of the moment.

County 4-H Club Girls Learn How To Prepare Food

Are Studying Intensive Home Demonstration Program

Seminole County 4-H Club girls this summer have been learning how to make somebody a good wife some day.

In the group are 112 girls who have been carrying on an intensive program of food preparation during the last few months. Meetings are held twice each month and the girls study nutrition, adequate diets, menu planning, and table service under the capable guidance of Miss Ruth Trattenberger, county home demonstration agent.

He said "any reasonable regulations" made by county school boards will be approved by the state board of health and added: "It may be well for some counties to ask teachers and children who come from the areas recently affected by infantile paralysis to wait two weeks before entering classrooms, but there is no general danger of an epidemic in Florida."
