THE REICHSTAG DENOUNCES ALLIES ACTION

IN KEEPING SUCH LARGE FORCE OF MEN ALONG THE RHINE.

DRILLED WITH WOODEN GUNS, ROPE HARNESS, HOME-MADE PHONES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—That artillery troops for the American army in the world war were forced to drill with "improvised wooden guns, rope harness and other expedients," because of lack of equipment is officially revealed today in the annual report of Maj. Gen. Wm. J. Snow, chief of field artillery to Secretary Baker. "Large quantities of guns, howitzers, ammunition and other artillery materials are on hand, left over from the war," the report said, and the country, thus, for the first time in half a century, has on hand sufficient stocks of artillery to equip a large size army. Should war unfortunately break out within the next few years, we would be spared the spectacle of artillery drilling with improvised wooden guns, home-made telephones, that characterized the first year of the present war.

Demobilization difficulties made it almost impossible to carry on regular peace time training of the artillery during the year, Gen. Snow reported, but he said an effort was made to keep two regiments trained and recruited up to strength for possible border duty. The signal corps is now engaged in developing combination radio telegraph sets for artillery firing, aerial observation and similar work, the report said. Similar sets for range finding and for reporting targets were to be evolved.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITION IN FLORIDA FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 23

Temperature.—The week averaged 2 degrees to 8 degrees cooler than the normal, and light to heavy frost occurred over northern and north-central portions of the section on several days.

Precipitation.—Rain on the last day of the previous week was followed by fair weather; and much sunshine featured the week, except in the extreme south, where cloudiness continued during much of the time. There was no rain in much of the section, which was favorable for all work.

Condition of Crops.—The rains of the previous week left the soil in good condition except that some low lands were still too wet at the beginning of the current week. The planting of oats was resumed, and those above ground made progress. The cool weather was especially favorable for the maturing of citrus fruits, but the frost did slight damage to tender truck, and the cool nights delayed the growth of recently set plants. The setting out of celery, lettuce, and was active in central and northern counties. The harvesting of sweet potatoes and syrup making continued in all divisions. The shipment of citrus fruits increased; some hay was saved and moderate quantities of beans and other truck were in market. Ranges are in fair to good condition in the peninsula.

FLORIDA FARMERS VISIT FAIR

FARMERS FROM ALL OVER THE STATE IN JACKSONVILLE THIS WEEK.

With several addresses by prominent Floridians active in farming and cattle raising, Wednesday afternoon, and hundreds of farmers participating in Farmers' Day celebration, the sixth day of the Florida State Fair and Exposition promises to be a huge success.

Another banner day for attendance at the fair is anticipated by fair officials. Special attractions and demonstrations of farm machinery that will interest farmers make the fair officials believe that all during the afternoon and night the grounds will be invaded by farmers from all over the state.

In the field on the west side of the grounds preparations were made in the morning for the farm tractor demonstrations to be held late in the afternoon. A number of newly-invented machines were carried to the fields Wednesday morning and put in shape for the exhibition, arranged especially for farmers.

W. A. McRae, commissioner of agriculture, principal speaker for the occasion opened the afternoon's feature with an address on new methods of farming compared with the old devices. A huge audience, standing in the middle of the fair grounds heard Commissioner McRae's address.

He stated that the amount produced per hand in the United States is greater than in any other country and that the farmers of America should be congratulated upon their phenomenal success in reaping huge crops. "Intensive farming has its undesirable features," Commissioner McRae stated, "and wherever it is practiced extensively there is an ignorant peasantry."

An address on farm organization was scheduled to be made later during the afternoon by Prof. T. J. Brooks.

L. M. Rhodes, commissioner of the state marketing bureau, with headquarters in Jacksonville, will deliver an address on marketing and Prof. P. H. Rolfs will talk on the College of Agriculture and the Extension Division.

Dr. C. M. Nighbert will talk on the United States bureau of animal industry, to be followed by an address by Mrs. Sarah Patridge, on co-operation extension work in home economics. The activities of the Florida live stock sanitation board will be stressed by R. M. Storrs.

Final awards in the county agricultural building will be made Thursday morning and work of judging the various booths and selecting them for final competition were made Wednesday morning. Selections in the best displays of citrus booths were also made Wednesday.

Prizes have been awarded in every live stock class at the fair and a number of Florida firms and individual cattle dealers won the majority of the prizes donated by the fair officials and private stock concerns. The final awards will be made Wednesday afternoon by B. K. Hanaford, general manager and secretary of the fair association.

William P. Douglas, of the Duval county board of public instruction, and a well-known chicken fancier, won several awards Wednesday for his exhibits placed in the association building.

2-WAY OR TILTED HEADLAMPS O. K. IN WASHINGTON

Everywhere the 2-Way headlamps, with which all recent Lexington Minute Man Six cars are equipped, are gaining recognition as an ideal solution of the glare menace.

The latest announcement of interest is contained in an opinion by Attorney General L. L. Thompson of the state of Washington who, in writing the secretary of state, J. Grant Hinkle, holds that the 2-Way, or tilted reflector, lamps comply with the requirements of the new vehicle act of the state of Washington.

Mr. Thompson, in his letter, says: "We are in receipt of your letter in which you ask for our opinion as to the construction of that part of the motor vehicle act governing the headlamps to be displayed upon motor vehicles. You state that your department has always held that it was not necessary that a headlamp on a motor vehicle be equipped with any particular kind of lens but that the same might be equipped with a plain glass lens, providing that the light was deflected in such a manner that the beam therefrom, when measured 75 feet or more ahead of the lamp, did not rise above 42 inches from the level surface on which the vehicle stands."

The attorney general then cites that particular section of the law which governs headlamp equipment and adds:

"This section was obviously enacted to accomplish two results; First, to prevent the use of lights that failed to illuminate the highway for the driver of the vehicle using such lights, and, second, to prevent the use of glaring lights dangerous to other users of the highways.

The B. & O. Motor Co., are the local agents for the Lexington cars.

YACHTSMEN SEEK AN INLAND ROUTE

OCALA, Nov. 24.—Plans for the establishment of an inland route for power boats under 40 feet in length, by way of the Oklawaha river, Silver Springs and the Withlacoochee river to the Gulf, were discussed with the board of trade and transportation men here by Fred "Good Roads" Smith, of Bridgeton, N. J., and St. Petersburg, who is en route to his winter home by automobile from New Jersey.

The plan as outlined provides for a 40 mile "portage" by motor truck, from Silver Springs to a point on the Withlacoochee.

Mr. Smith is a yachting enthusiast and a member of the St. Petersburg Yacht Club. He believes that some day there should be a ship canal across Florida, to make it unnecessary for the boats to round the Florida keys on their journeys from the Atlantic to the Gulf, but there is now an inland waterways route which will bring small motor boats from New England to Silver Springs and the portage has been proved feasible, as a 28-foot yacht was recently transported from Silver Springs to Port Inglis on the Gulf, by motor truck.

HOW GEOGRAPHY SHAPES ITALY'S DESTINY

Italy's peculiar geographic position always has been one of the chief sources of the country's remarkable individuality—an individuality marked by its political and economic course since the armistice was signed. Arthur Stanley Higgs, writing to the National Geographic society in this regard, says:

"From the beginning Nature set Italy apart. Every boundary is perfectly clear. The historic sea enfolds it to the south, east and west. On the north the terrific Alps sweep around it in a great semicircle from Mediterranean to Adriatic, closing the circuit. To be sure, from the time of Augustus the boundary of each side of northern Italy has been juggled, now to the east, now to the west, by politics; but the physical boundary is still definitely there. So thoroughly did the ancient chroniclers recognize these natural limits that long before the name of Italy had any political significance or entitle the writers applied it to the country thus inclosed. The peninsula, with its tremendous Apennine backbone, makes a huge boot which thrusts out practically into the center of the great midland sea.

Necessarily, then, Italy was exposed to attack and invasion from three sides. Indeed, it was the invading, or rather colonizing, Greek who combined with the aborigine to form the population that stocked the peninsula. Taken in a smaller way, geographical site or position exercised no less distinct an effect upon some of the foremost Italian cities; and in shaping their affairs and men it also influenced the entire world.

"After forming this basin—northern Italy—the Apennines sweep southward in a rugged backbone which determines the whole internal geography of the country—as definitely as the Alps do its outline northward.

"In central Italy, west of the mountains, the valleys of the Arno and the Tiber—the only streams of importance—give the keynote to any geographic study of the region. Over on the eastern coast no rivers of importance can exist, because the mountains there approach too close to the sea, though the tortuous, mostly dry beds of the 'torrents' bear every light.

"In this connection it is interesting to note that nowhere is the peninsula more than 150 miles wide, and generally not more than 100, while down in Calabria the width dwindles in two places to 35 and 20 miles respectively. One of the most inspiring views in the whole length of the country also displays this narrowness strikingly when, on a clear day, from the Gran Sasso, the highest point in the bleak Abruzzi range, central Italy, at nearly 10,000 feet, one may look not only eastward over the Adriatic to far Dalmatia's rocky shores, but also westward over the mountain and moor, city and sandy coast, to the dim and misty blue of the Tyrrhenian sea. In volcanic southern Italy, likewise barred of any great waterways, the Apennines break up into groups of hills and peaks, not usually so lofty as farther northward.

"As in the case of Japan, the surrounding sea makes a vast difference in the Italian climate. Judged by its position alone, the peninsula should be about the hottest part of Europe—it is only 90 miles from the southern shore of Sicily to Africa. But the wild seas and the ever snow-capped mountains temper the heat, and the regional peculiarities are such that we find Turin, for instance, colder in winter than Copenhagen, and Milan as warm in summer as Naples."

A VOLCANIC BARNUM AND BAILEY

Young America will drop anything to run to a fire. In some parts of the world—Hawaii, for example—one also drops everything to run to a volcano eruption, unless he already is too close for comfort. Then he runs from it.

Have you ever wondered what a volcano, in action, looks like? Here is a description, not by a scientist, but by a young Washington woman who went to Hawaii to live just before Mauna Loa's terrific eruption last year:

"It seems as if Hawaii, though small, must have just so much attention, and so ever so often she explosively projects herself into the arena of the world's happenings," wrote Mrs. Shirley Foster Allen. "Not content with her share in the 'Big Show' in Europe, she decided to stage a first-class side show all her own—and the two volcanoes, Mauna Loa and Kilauea, have certainly done their best to make it the 'biggest show on earth.'"

"Just a word about the geography of the place. In the first place so many people seem to think the word 'Honolulu' embraces all there is to the islands; and in the second place, the general conception seems to be that the volcano is located in Honolulu's back yard, as it were, and that we Honoluluans take our daily exercise by running up to the crater every morning before breakfast. Honolulu is located on the island of Oahu, third island in size in the group, while the volcano, or rather volcanoes, are located on Hawaii, the largest and youngest island, with an area of more than 4,000 square miles, which lies nearly 200 miles southeast of Oahu.

"The first indication of volcanic activity was the presence of a peculiar cauliflower-shaped cloud hanging over the mountain. Three days later, on September 29, the whole heavens were lit up with an apricot glow when, from a huge vent in the mountain's side, a flood of molten lava was belched forth. Spreading out into a great shallow stream, it came roaring down the mountain slope, burning forests, carrying huge trees and immense boulders on its surface—sweeping everything before it. With a speed varying from one to twenty miles an hour, according to the country it was passing over, it broadened out until it was nearly a mile in width. After wiping out the government belt road, razing telephone poles and destroying a vast amount of property, the red-hot lava tumbled over a high precipice and plunged hissing into the sea.

"A number of excursions were made in October from Honolulu, and, in approaching the flow from the sea in the early evening, the glow from the lava was visible for many miles before Alikea was reached.

"Drifting within 200 yards of the point where the liquid rock was rushing into the sea, the scene stretching before one was awe-inspiring. Slowly the smoky haze, from the burning forests, which hung over the source 20 miles away, lifted and the river of fire stood out in its full glory, holding one speechless and spellbound. Leaping from pall to valley, rushing uphill and roaring down, the fiery flood thundered down the mountain slope, carrying on its bosom rocks as big as houses that were tossed about as if they were mere pebbles. As the stream of blazing lava neared the coastline, it appeared to gather more speed, taking a final plunge over a 100-foot cliff at a terrific rate, and looking for all the world like a fiery Niagara. As the red-hot lava came in contact with the water, great columns of steam and gas, like huge water-spouts, were forced hundreds of feet into the air. Huge boulders, hurled into space, exploded with thunderous reports into auras of red and green lights, while flashes of what looked like lightning added to the chaos."

GO TO JAIL IF NECESSARY BUT CUT PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Declaring he understood that federal agents are already going over Kansas, Iowa and other states trying to get evidence necessary to indictment of men who are asking farmers to hold their crops, Charles S. Barnett, president of the National Farmers' Union, through a statement issued today appealed to members of his organization to stand together and not sell their products at present "ruinously low prices."

"Show that you have the moral courage to go to jail if necessary," Mr. Barnett advised members of the Farmers' Union. "The words seems to have been passed around that farmers were to be taught a lesson—they were getting troublesome."

The farmers' answer to claim of over-production, Mr. Barnett said, should be "We will simply lessen production." This was "no idle threat," he said, adding "From every part of the country comes the promise that this policy should be adhered to until the country wakes up to the fact that it must either go on short rations or pay you wages high enough to live on."

Rev. E. Lee Smith, of Orlando, filled his regular appointment here at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

One of the most enjoyable parties of the season was the one given by Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Mann to their Sunday school classes last Thursday evening. Mr. Mann teaches the boys' intermediate class and Mrs. Mann teaches the girls' intermediate. The evening was very pleasantly spent in playing games and characters. Dainty refreshments, consisting of a delicious fruit salad and cake were served. The boys and girls heartily expressed their appreciation to their teachers for a most enjoyable evening.

WORLD'S FAMOUS SHOWS

Will Be in Sanford for One Week. The World's Famous Shows will open Saturday at noon at the "13" Club Park on the lake front near the court house. Read the following press note about them from the Brunswick Banner:

"The World Famous Shows arrived in town from Charleston, S. C., where they exhibited for nine days—the cars were placed at the Pelican siding at Arco and the local transfer men, with the staff of the show employees, were hauling show paraphernalia from 10 o'clock Monday until 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. It is understood from reports where the show was investigated that the above named shows carry the type of shows, riding devices and concessions above the ordinary scope and much credit should be given to the officers and members of the Atlantic Athletic Association for their good choice in securing an organization of this type.

The ball grounds at Arco are now transformed into a traveling Coney Island where the young and old will be entertained daily. Taxis and bus lines combined with the trolley service will help bring the crowd to and from the carnival nightly.

The shows consist of 10 paid attractions which will be open from 7 to 11 o'clock nightly.

"One of the feature shows is an attraction known as 'Birdland,' presenting Samuel Harrison, 'the boy with the brains of Colomon,' Dean's 'Temple of Mystery,' presenting Azra 'the flying lady.'"

Thanksgiving.

And most glorious weather.

Birds of all kinds will suffer today.

And as ever the turkey is the national bird of America.

Although he is roosting mighty high this year and hard to get.

We prayed for a turkey and received a chicken which is good enough at that.

And Sanford lettuce is reposing on the tables of the people farther north and bringing them a breath of Florida's green fields while they are having snows and blizzards.

And tomorrow after we have taken a day of rest, let us all get together on that big idea of making a greater city here. We should do more whooping up and make more noise and have more meetings and do more building and make more plans for the spring campaign. Now is the time to make hay while the sun shines.

There are some very valuable vacant lots in many sections of Sanford. Just why they are vacant no one knows but they are in the very heart of the residence section and they are not working. If the owners do not intend to build on them they should sell them and let some other fellow build for there are plenty wanting to build if they could just get the lot they want. The man who holds a vacant lot today in Sanford is holding the city back regardless of what his plans may be or what he intends to do in the future. We need houses more than anything else and there are many people here who are anxious to build and who will pay the price for a lot centrally located.

SOME FACTS FOR THE FOOD STRIKERS TO CONSIDER

According to the Monthly Crop Reporter issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the production of cereal crops in 1920 is greater than that of 1919, and the world should not only be in no danger of starvation but there should be a reduction of the prices at which food is obtainable. If there is suffering in far eastern countries it is owing to the difficulty of getting food to the people, and not to any general scarcity.

From all countries from which statistics are available, the crops of wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye amount to an aggregate of 8,740,000,000 bushels, or 6 per cent above the crops of 1919. The countries normally producing two-thirds of the world's wheat crop report the 1920 crop is 2,430,000,000 bushels, or 2 per cent above the crop of 1919. Oats gain 11 per cent in countries producing two-fifths of the world's crop; corn gains 10 per cent in the countries which produce three-quarters of the crop; barley loses 8 per cent and rye gains 5 per cent.

Viewed from another angle, the world's wheat crop has gained more than the population has from 1919 to 1920. Rice is one of the great food staples of the eastern and Asiatic world, and the production shows the extraordinary gain of 37 per cent over er 1919. In pounds, the 1920 production is put at 151,000,000,000. The United States, British India and Egypt ordinarily produce from 80 to 85 per cent of the world's cotton, and this year the crop of these three countries is estimated at 16 per cent larger than that of 1919. Russia has cut a large figure in the grain business in normal years, but owing to the activities of the bolsheviks, nothing is known of the grain situation in that country this year. If the stories of privation and suffering which come from that stricken land are correct, she will have none to export even if she has the opportunity, which is doubtful.

PERKINS & BRITT PUT ON ANOTHER ONE

Perkins & Britt, the store that is different, are putting on or putting over another one of their successful sales and this one that is different from the rest will start Saturday at nine o'clock. They have slashed the prices on every article in their store which means suits, hats and caps, underwear, shoes, hosiery, etc. They will also give away many fine prizes including a cedar chest, reed rocker, hand bag, parlor lamp, umbrella, gold pieces, etc.

There will be something doing every day of the sale and you are asked to come to Sanford if you live out of town and to come to the store if you live in town and take in this sale. It will be a knock down and drag out of old High Cost of Living and you should be there early Saturday morning. See the page advertisement in this issue and watch the Herald for future announcements.

Mr. Brooks is a member of the Board of Governors conducting the affairs of the Florida Greeters of which E. C. Shreve, Jr., or the Valdez is president.

Mr. Shreve has called a meeting of the Board to be held in the Windle Hotel, Jacksonville, at 10 a. m. Saturday, November 27th, for the purpose of acting on a score of applications for membership.

Next month the Georgia Charter will be reorganized and Mr. Shreve has been assigned that duty by the National President, George D. Worthington, Manager of the Hotel Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Shreve previous to coming to Sanford was associated with Mr. Worthington at Harrisburg.

BEAN GETS SOFT SNAP

George W. Bean, of Tampa, Republican national committeeman from Florida, may be the commissioner of internal revenue under the Harding administration, if rumor in Washington political circles indicate anything.

According to telegraphic advices received Tuesday from The Metropolitan Bureau in Washington, Mr. Bean has been virtually decided on for a "soft" job in Washington, under President Harding and the belief is that it will be commissioner of internal revenue, which berth usually goes to a Southerner during Republican administration. In the past Republican administrations, however, the position has not carried with it the responsibility that it does in this day of income tax and excess profit taxes, etc.

Summary of the Floating Small

Arranged for Herald Readers

Mrs. C. E. Henry and Mrs. Fred Walsma were among the Sanford ladies visiting Orlando yesterday.

Mrs. A. R. Key and mother and Mrs. A. D. Key and Mrs. W. D. Holden were in Orlando yesterday visiting friends.

Mrs. J. B. Lawson, Mrs. Henry Purden and little daughter, Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Blount and Mrs. E. J. Holly spent a few hours in Orlando yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Commons are in the city today visiting friends and report their fine place at Stone Island as being in first class shape after their four months visit to their old home in Indiana.

Many parties left Sanford this morning on boat and by auto to spend the day in the woods and on the rivers and lakes. There is more good hunting and fishing around Sanford than any other part of the state.

The many friends of E. R. Wiggins are glad to have him back in Sanford again with the Market Bureau that he handles so successfully each season. He and his family will be the guests of the Gables for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warde, Harry Reed and Miss Fern Ward made a trip to Daytona Beach yesterday, spending a most delightful day among friends and showing Mr. Reed the finest ocean he ever saw even though he has been living in California.

The Seminole Hotel has installed a big electric sign that can be seen from two ways on Park avenue calling attention to the fact that the Seminole is ready to take the travellers in and give them what they want. The Seminole is now one of the best lighted places in the city.

The many Sanford friends of Misses Coral Lee Tillis and Ruth Gillen are glad to have them home for Thanksgiving. These two Sanford girls are graduates of the Sanford High School Class of 1920 and are now teaching school, Cora Lee at Eau Gallie and Ruth at Cocoa.

Melville's Comedians are drawing large crowds in the tent theatre on the lake front each night. They have a good company and are putting on first class plays. Good vaudeville and specialties are given each night between acts and are proving general favorites among the people of this city.

Miss Fern Ward attended the Ashes-Bridges wedding at DeLand this morning. Miss Bridges known as "Billie" Bridges is well known here among the summer colony at Daytona Beach where both bride and groom reside. Rev. Clarence Ferran, of the DeLand Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

Hon. Forest Lake is home for Thanksgiving from his duties as chairman of the State Road Department which take him to every part of the state. Mr. Lake says that everything is looking bright in the state and the road situation is clearing up with a good chance to get all the roads needed in due time.

The Sanford hotels and restaurants are advertising Thanksgiving dinners today cheaper than any other city in this part of the state. And the dinners served in this city will also compare favorably with those of any other city. This is a talking point that every citizen of Sanford should not overlook. We have some of the best hotels and restaurants in Florida or any other state.

The Herald force worked today while everyone was taking a vacation but we just hate to have the subscribers miss even one copy of the daily paper. We do not guarantee, however, to print a paper on Christmas for it comes on Saturday and offers too much in the way of a two day holiday. And we will give thanks today if the delivery boys can be able to get away from the dinner table long enough to carry the paper.

O. B. Sinn has purchased the residence formerly occupied by Mr. Munson and owned by M. M. Stewart. This sale was made by J. E. Spurling.

Friends of Mr. A. D. Shoemaker and family will be pleased to know they are planning to be permanent residents of Sanford. Mr. Shoemaker has just purchased the splendid home of E. J. Rivers, on Sanford Heights formerly owned by C. H. Dingee. This transaction was made by J. E. Spurling.

BERT HUMPHRIES WILL PITCH FOR ORLANDO NEXT YEAR

V. M. Gerrard officially announced this morning that Bert Humphries had signed with the Orlando Club for next season and would head a staff of star twirlers which would bring the pennant to this city when the final game was played.

There has been persistent rumors on the streets for some time to the effect that Humphries would play with Orlando, but no official confirmation could be had. It was also said Tampa was making a strong bid for the "wizzard" with the horsehide; however the official announcement by Mr. Gerrard, this morning, set all doubts at rest.

Bert has pitched since he first signed up with Orlando for the 1918-1919 season 47 games and lost but three. His record for the past two years shows he has pitched an average of seven games a month, besides participating as "relief" pitcher in many others, which shows he still has the pep and stamina required of a star.

Bert formerly played with the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati and Philadelphia, and came to Florida some years ago to retire. However, he could not remain away from the national game, when urged by his friends here to help Orlando defend the pennant with which club he signed up the first season of the league. He was with Tampa last year and helped her win the tag; his signing with Orlando for next season is a distinct loss to the Smokers and a gain for Orlando.

Mr. Gerrard reports within a few days several other players will be announced, among which will be the manager for next season.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

TO PREVENT DESERTERS FROM SHIPS ENTERING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Enactment of legislation designed to prevent the desertion from ships in American waters and the coming to this country of foreigners, as stowaways will be asked of congress by Representative Johnson of Washington, the chairman of the committee on Immigration, who said there had been a rapid increase in the number of stowaways at Atlantic and Pacific ports. The committee will go to Ellis Island today to consider the stowaway and desertion problem at the port of New York. Word reached the committee yesterday that 54 members of the crew of the steamer Guldejemal had recently deserted that vessel when she arrived at New York from Constantinople and Gibraltar.
