Makes Known Plans On Heels Of Legisla- tion Designed For Assisting Farmers

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in a message yesterday urging Congress to enact immediate legislation for agriculture relief, said:
"At the same time that you and I are joining in emergency action to bring order to our banks and to make our regular expenditures balance our income, I deem it of equal importance to take other and simultaneous steps without waiting for a later meeting of Congress."
"One of these is of definite constructive importance to our economic recovery. It relates to agriculture and seeks to increase the purchasing power of our farmers and the consumption of articles manufactured in our industrial centers and at the same time greatly to relieve the pressure of farm mortgages and to increase the asset value of farm loans made by our banking institutions."
"Deep study and the joint counsel of many points of view have produced a measure which offers great promise of good results. I tell you frankly, it is a new and untrod path but with equal frankness that an unprecedented condition calls for the trial of new means to rescue agriculture."
"If a fair administrative trial of it is made and it does not produce the hoped for results I shall be the first to acknowledge it and advise you."
"The proposed legislation is necessary now for the wait for another month or six weeks the effect on the prices of this year's crops will be wholly lost."
"Furthermore, by action at this time the United States will be in a better position to discuss terms affecting world crop surpluses at the proposed world economic conference."

HOUSE, SENATE ARE SPLIT ON BEER MEASURE

Differences Develop Between 2 Branches Over Alcoholic Con- tent To Be Allowed

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—House Democratic leaders decided today to send the beer legislation to conference with the Senate to adjust differences between the two branches on alcoholic content. The House bill allowed 3.2 percent alcoholic content and the Senate bill limiting it to 3.05.
Democratic leader Byrnes said proponents of the bill desired that the House disavow the Senate amendments.
Chairman Donoghue of the Ways and Means Committee said Representative Cullen of New York and McCannock, Massachusetts, Democratic sponsors of the measure, favored a 3.2 percent alcoholic content.
The matter will have to be put to the House which apparently is ready to differ with the Senate.
The Senate last night assured the nation's thirty that so far as the federal law goes, beer of at least 3.05 alcoholic content will be legal in early April.
Acting with the dispatch that has come to characterize Congress in these Rooseveltian days, the Senate adopted the House beer bill after reducing the alcoholic limitation from 3.2 percent and sent the measure back to the other branch for consideration of amendments.
The Senate's final vote of 43 to 30 cut across party lines as do all votes involving the prohibition law. Thirty-one Democrats and 12 Republicans supported the bill, while 14 Democrats and 17 Republicans opposed it.
Little more than six hours of debate was required to reach the vote. It was heard by crowded galleries that included for a few minutes Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President.
She heard the bill denounced by friends of prohibition as "nullification" of the Constitution and defended by its advocates as a (Continued On Page Two)

Posses Are Seeking Negro Gun Wielder

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Posses from several North Florida and South Georgia cities conducted a widespread search today for the negro who shot and wounded two persons after a series of robberies here and at Bainbridge, Ga. The negro, known here only as "Red," shot and wounded Deputy Joe Campbell, Tallahassee, when Campbell attempted to arrest him for questioning regarding thefts. The negro recently also shot and wounded another negro whom he attempted to rob.

OFFICIAL DATA GIVEN OUT ON QUAKE DAMAGE

Report Of Red Cross Reveals Extent Of Destruction Done By Severe Shocks

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 17.—(AP)—The Red Cross said yesterday a preliminary survey indicates 2100 homes were ruined and 23,000 damaged in the entire area stricken by Friday's earthquake which resulted in at least 110 deaths and property loss upward of $50,000,000.
This is the first official estimate of the extent of damage exclusively to homes.
The Red Cross renewed its appeal for contributions to funds for immediate relief of the homeless.
Drafting of a stringent ordinance providing that all future construction in Los Angeles county shall be "earthquake proof", particularly in the case of school buildings, was ordered yesterday in a resolution unanimously voted by the county board of supervisors.
Thousands of persons still were camped in parks. Other thousands have returned to practically undamaged homes from which they fled for safety during the series of more than forty earth shocks.
A slight tremor was felt at 9:33 A. M. yesterday, the first noticeable one since early Wednesday.
Showers from heavily overcast skies were added last night to troubles of earthquake "refugees."
More than 5000 persons are still being cared for in camps in Long Beach parks. Many thousands others have been left homeless because of lack of fuel in their homes.
As yet, the estimated 100 bus cars were moved into this area as makeshift shelter for those not accommodated by tents.
"Store bought" articles are still on the merchants' shelves due to the lack of farm produce about given way to the wire fence, a reigning some of its popularity, and rail splitters may be seen beside country roads.
Housewives are contributing to the movement by reviving the ancient ash hopper system of making soap. They are having the handyman make them furniture including such things as dining tables and kitchen cabinets and lining their own toy wagons and sleds. There has been only a slight revival of spinning and weaving which once occupied the best efforts of the women folks. The old molasses mill never lost its popularity, but this picturesque mule drawn machine was a little more active last fall.

On a unanimous approving vote of the 300 members of the movement and friends gathered at the chamber of commerce, Mayor E. Y. Way announced the decision of the commission to grant the request of the governing board for the appropriation.
A total of $10,000 was asked, the $2,500 being included in the commissioners' grant but to be turned over to the governing board only after a specific program for its use has been developed.
A concerted advertising program in Miami and St. Petersburg papers is also recommended, Miami and St. Petersburg papers having most successfully drawn tourists from each other by advertising in papers of the other city.
Sub-committees are to be appointed, booths at the three strategic traffic points, Lakeland, Indian River City and Melbourne to be constructed with free orange juice and information on Orlando in be furnished by a competent man in charge.

Arrest Of Six British Subjects Brings On Second Big Crisis In As Many Months

LONDON, Mar. 17.—(AP)—A break in diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Soviet Russia was anticipated today in both business and political circles.
It was the second crisis in the affairs of the two countries within five months. This time the arrest of six British subjects, employee in Moscow, was considered likely to cause the recall of the British ambassador.
An embargo on Russian goods also was viewed as a possibility to take effect when the present trade agreement with the two countries expires Apr. 16.
Meanwhile, the hope of world disarmament and relief from threatening tension, on the frontier of European conflict turned toward Rome as final preparations were made for a British-Italian conference this week-end.
Dirigible "Akron" Flies Over Sanford On Its Way North
Red sides glistering in a Florida sun that beat down with midsummer, the United States Navy's "Akron" passed over the city to provide countless residents with one of the most thrilling sights ever coming to Sanford.
Farmers south of the city were the first to notice her arrival, and within a few minutes after she was sighted, telephones in every part of the city were kept ringing as friends called friends to spread the news that the "Akron" was passing over.
The craft appeared in the East, and was heading northward. To the First Street spectator, she was apparently in the vicinity of the Osteen Bridge, not far from the earth, moving slowly and lazily in the quiet air.
Fully half an hour after it had passed over the City it was still visible in the direction of Daytona Beach. Those who motored to the lakefront to watch it pass, reported that it appeared to turn sharply to the right after it had crossed the lake, probably at or near the airplane base on the DeLad-New Smyrna highway.
After it turned, it appeared headed directly east, and in that position was visible for a long time.

COTTON, WHEAT HOUSE APPROVES KEEP COUNTRY'S SENATE CHANGES MARKETS BOILING TO ECONOMY BILL

Violent Upsurges Are Recorded As Stocks Cool Off A Little

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—(AP)—A violent upsurge in cotton and wheat kept the nation's big markets boiling again yesterday.
Stocks cooled off a little, but the bond market almost duplicated Wednesday's sweeping advance of proportions unprecedented in a recent memory.
Mounting financial confidence and high hopes it would lead to early business recovery were evident in the large scale buying, both of securities and raw staples.
Wheat in the Chicago pit, in the first day of trading since Mar. 3, quickly mounted the extreme limit permitted for a single day, of 5 cents a bushel, and corn shot up all it was allowed, 3 cents.
Resumption of trading in the New York cotton exchange found the floor thronged with traders, and prices boomed to $3.50 to $5 a bale, although they later subsided, to close with net gains of $2.85 to $3.
The advance in wheat prices alone, it was estimated, had added some $50,000,000 to potential for purchase based on the Mar. 17 estimate of wheat still in the farmers' hands.
It was a day of general advances in raw materials. Wool futures at New York closed 1/4 cent higher, at 1.10 in 1/8 as a result. Prices in futures markets for such staples as raw silk, coffee, pig iron, rubber were all 1 to 1 1/2 cents a pound.
Raw sugar, recent strong spot, however, slipped back a little. Hops, nutmeg, cocoa and other commodities advanced.
Raw silver for immediate delivery advanced 3/4 of a cent to $39.14 cents an ounce, and the futures market made some further small gains.
Trading in the stock market was quiet during the early hours to the faintest rise in months. Heavy profit taking kept the market in check, but in several instances, the gains of the previous day were extended by $1 to $4 a share.
Trading reached such proportions in the morning that the stoker was unable to cope with it, and fell several minutes in arrears. The turnover of 3,201,000 shares was the largest since last September.
The pace quickened in the bond market, too, with a turnover of $14,883,000, a new value, against $12,585,000 Wednesday. Many issues rose $10 to $50 or more per bond of $1000 par value, with U. S. government issues again showing striking gains.

Chief Executive Now Has Full Power To Cut Federal Costs

Man Is Killed In Skid Occurring On Orlando Highway

Shedding off the Sanford-Orlando highway near Farm Park last night while attempting to pass an automobile that had veered down to turn off the main highway, James R. Harris, young Orlando barber, received injuries so serious that he died at the Florida Sanitarium at Winter Park two hours after the accident which also demolished his Studebaker automobile.
According to a story told by Morris Hinchaw, of Fern Park, driver of a Chevrolet coach which was proceeding south toward Farm Park, he had slowed down about 50 yards to a standstill to let traffic pass following him past. He was preparing to turn into a sandy trail leading off to the right.
Harris, also driving south and probably very close to Hinchaw's car, swung his car to the left in an effort to go around the Chevrolet. The road was slippery from a rain which had fallen earlier in the evening. Hinchaw said that the Harris automobile skidded, turned over twice and came to a stop in a ditch on the left-hand side of the road going south. The Harris car lay completely demolished in the direction from which the car had come.
Harris was pulled from the wreck by a lift-truck, who was messenger in Harris' car, Hinchaw, and Paul Dowe of Orlando. He was taken to the Florida Sanitarium, where he died shortly after being admitted.
Harris' home is in Sanford. Hinchaw's home is in the City of Sanford.

Gross Deposits Of Bank Show Advance Of 275 Thousands

Gross deposits approximating $275,000.
Gold and gold currency turned in totaling nearly $15,000.
Actual currency deposited totaling nearly $10,000.
Net increase in deposits amounting to about $137,000.
These are a few of the figures attending the record breaking volume of business transacted at the new First National Bank Wednesday and Thursday of this week, or since the resumption of normal business.
As a result, letters, bookkeepers, and bank officials have been working early and late tabulating and extending figures against the accounts of the bank's customers, and handling the numerous details that accompany the operation of a bank in Sanford during the early and vegetable marketing and harvesting season.
Today's business, while heavy for Friday, was more nearly normal than Wednesday and yesterday when all records for transactions, deposits, and general business activities were broken.
Continual improvement is being noted in the condition of Dick Vernay, young Sanford man whose skull was fractured in an airplane accident at the Municipal Airport last Sunday afternoon. A reportedly sprained right hand is responding in treatment as are numerous cuts and abrasions. Visitors are not allowed in his room, however, owing to the absolute need for quiet and rest which accompanies treatment for injuries such as he sustained.

SPIRIT OF CHEER GRIPPING SOUTH AS PRICES RISE

Business Men, Farm- ers Note With Joy Upturn Of Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 17.—A spirit of good cheer gripped the Southland last night as business leaders and farmers noted with joy the rising tide of cotton prices on the principal markets of the world.
From every quarter of the South came reassuring tidings that the long hoped for business revival was definitely at hand.
The spark was fired with the reopening of the New Orleans and New York Cotton Exchanges, the barometer, which tell the farmer how much his product is worth.
In the New Orleans exchange prices soared to gains of $5 a bale in the wildest trading in months. The close was about a dollar under the highest of the day. Corresponding gains were made on the New York exchange.
Before exchanges suspended business for the duration of the bank holiday, buyers of the South were plunged in deep despair. Prices had dropped to their lowest level in months. Farm mortgage sales swept the land. The planting season was on and they had little or no cash with which to buy seed. It was a dreary outlook, one that seemed to hold little hope for improvement.
Yesterday, however, all that had changed. There was good cheer throughout Dixie as news of sensational advances spread from city to hamlet and then to the farmers themselves. Small town merchants reported business picking up. Cotton farmers took advantage of the price increase and sold stored cotton. They went about their planting with a new spirit. City dry goods stores showed a tremendous increase in volume of business.
Fifteen minutes before the opening of the New Orleans exchange traders swarmed around the ring, and the galleries were filled with spectators. As the bell sounded for commencement of business, there arose all at once the shouts of 50 or more traders. Within a few minutes cotton was $5 a bale higher than it had been prior to the enforced holiday.
Citrus Evening Class To Meet In Longwood

Johnson, vocational agriculture teacher at Seminole High School that the Evening Class for Commercial Citrus Growers which has been meeting at the local school for the past few weeks, will in the future meet at Lyman School at Longwood on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.
Mr. Johnson will lead in discussions at Lyman School next Monday night, and the subject will be "Cover crops and cultivation." A review of the several discussions on fertilizer that have been staged during recent meetings also will be given. All growers are invited to attend.

Baseball Fans Of City Are Invited To Attend Meeting

By PETER SCHAAL.
Baseball fans of this city this morning were extended a special invitation to attend the Central Florida Baseball League re-organization meeting that is to be held in the Town Hall at Orange City at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

League President J. T. Hogan of that town, who will preside and lead in the discussion, extended the invitation this morning during a short visit here in which he expressed the belief that Sanford will be one of the league mainstays this year as in 1932 although the team's organization had not yet been fully effected.

He again said that the meeting promises to be filled with action and that every detail relating to the operation of the league under new rules and regulations will be thoroughly explained.

"We expect to have representation from many Central Florida clubs," he said, "and it will be necessary to go into a detailed discussion of every rule and regulation so that the league's incoming teams will know exactly what is expected of them. Every person attending the meeting is urged and expected to offer advice and suggestions that are for the betterment of the league."

President Hogan was again heard to say that the league will be a success "because the public wants good baseball at low cost. He said that the league will make ready to give it baseball that is the equal of that played in any organized Class D league. "We're going to maintain our statewide reputation of having the fastest semi-pro league in Florida," he said.

Local fans were meeting at the City Hall this afternoon to decide upon the fate of the Sanford club. It is understood that Jack Bentley, former New York Giant hurler who expects to make Sanford his future home, is interested in taking over the local club. He is known to be a major league baseball scout, and fans here predict that if he does assume the reins that some stellar baseball may be expected.

A HANES UNDERSHIRT gives another the raspberry. Because even though HANES costs only twenty-five cents, it hasn't any respect for shirts that shrivel in the wash-tub. HANES is elastic-knit. Wallace said he "hoped" for action by Congress before the end of this week.

The proposal of the farm leaders one or more of several farm relief would give Wallace authority to select methods.

"It looks like the processors' tax will be used as the method of raising funds for financing the program which may include leasing of lands now engaged in surplus production," Wallace said.

Lake Mary Will Be Scene Of Play By P. T. A. Friday

By sheer coincidence, groups representing the Lake Mary and Benson Springs Parent-Teachers organizations have for the past two weeks, unknown to each other, been rehearsing the same play "Where's Grandma?" a three act comedy which both groups have decided to stage on the same evening.

The Lake Mary P.T.A. play group will perform its rendition of the play at the Lake Mary school house tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock, while at the same hour the Benson Springs school house will be the scene of the play.

The members of the two casts, upon learning that they were planning to give the same play, joined forces on Wednesday night for a dress rehearsal at Benson Springs. The Lake Mary group went through the first and third acts, while the Benson Springs group staged the second act.

The cast which will be seen at Lake Mary tomorrow night is as follows: Gretchen, Miss Lillian Thornley; Bob, Earl Toney; Jack, Bob's brother, Cecil Singsfield; Lucy, Jack's sweetheart, Mrs. J. Lee Harmon; Arline Truesdale, Miss Ethel Hyottaline; Carol, Miss Elma Cochran; Grandma, Mrs. Elmer Hyottaline; Dahlia, Mrs. H. M. Cochran; Midnight, J. D. Evans. The play is coached by Mrs. H. M. Cochran.

Broad Powers For Agriculture Head Seen As Probable

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace said yesterday that President Roosevelt had "approved in principle" the plan of farm organization leaders to delegate to Wallace broad emergency power to deal with the farm problem.

Wallace said the first draft of a proposed bill was submitted to the President and that it was being redrawn to eliminate certain provisions and change others in line with Roosevelt's suggestions.

Swollen Rivers In Pennsylvania Area Cause Big Damage

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Battered craft were strewn along the banks of rain-swollen rivers today as the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio churned seaward at flood stage.

Counting their losses at several hundred thousand dollars, rivermen stood guard over their vessels and watched the Allegheny and Monongahela fuse their muddy overflow at "The Point," where they unite to form the Ohio. West Virginia cities reported the Ohio was "rising steadily."

Three derrick boats were sunk in the Monongahela at Pittsburgh, the steamboat P. M. Pfeil was smashed to bits, and two towboats damaged. A barge rammed the Pennsylvania railroad's Fort Wayne bridge, moving part of it four inches.

The river level was exceeding slightly at "The Point," today where the tide stood more than three feet above flood stage.

Approximately 1000 school children were dismissed today after water backed up in the basement of two school buildings, damaging heating equipment. Property owners along Pittsburgh's riverfronts, where water gushed into cellars, reported considerable damage.

Farley May Effect Cut In 3-Cent Stamp

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—An intensive effort to wipe out the postal deficit, which may possibly include restoration of the two-cent stamp rate, was promoted yesterday by Postmaster General Farley. He told newspapermen he was having a survey made to assemble all the facts relative to the two and three-cent letter rates, and he will have his decision on that score ready in the public mind against the three-cent stamp, he added.

"If I find it will help the country and the patrons of the mail service to re-establish the two-cent stamp I will so recommend to Congress immediately."

BIBLE VERBS FOR TODAY

A LOVE FEAST: Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred there-with. Proverbs 15:17.

The banking holiday sort of get a temporary quietus on mortgage moratoriums.

Evidently the stock market came back from its holiday feeling like a million dollars.

With this season not yet over, Miami is already predicting that next season will be the best on record.

Some of the Legion boys are more concerned over the prospects of Germany's return to Kaiserism than over their pension cuts.

As yet no Republican has dared to say that Wednesday's rise in stocks was caused by a pool of Democrats manipulating the market.

Statistics show that railroad accidents are much fewer—Miami News. They probably will be, at least, since the bankruptcy bill passed.

The City of West Palm Beach is enjoying a millage levy of .028. There will be no real estate boom in that city as long as such a millage as that obtains.

Postmaster Farley is figuring on reducing the price of postage stamps from three cents to two cents where it ought to remain. The government is beginning to find out that there is such a thing as raising the price and taking in less money.

Amendments to the beer bill may succeed in legalizing 3.05 percent wine as well as beer. Wine of such low alcoholic content might taste more like grapejuice than anything else, but who is going to determine whether the percentage is actually 3.05 or 3.4, or in fact ten?

The chairman of the State Road Department attempts to excuse enormous expenditures by the statement that new road and bridge construction is being financed not by the state but by the federal government. Well in that case, ask it to 'em! What do we care about Uncle Sam's expenses!

Adolph Hitler may be good for Germany, a claim which he has yet to prove, but he is certainly not good for Europe. Since he became chancellor a few weeks ago, Europe has resembled a powder keg just waiting for somebody to set it off. A good load indeed in one of these disarmament meetings may be all that's necessary to start another World War.

How business suffered in New York City during the banking holiday is shown by the following figures: candy, soda and restaurant establishments dropped fifty percent under the preceding week. Department stores dropped 25 percent. Book stores were off thirty percent. Book stores dropped 60 percent. Moving picture theaters, forty percent. And hotels, 50 percent. And the "upcoming week" was not a boom week by any means.

While complimenting Secretary Woodin for his willingness to receive "die" and "adieu" from treasury officials of the former administration during the banking crisis which occurred when the newly appointed secretary could not possibly have been familiar with the details of the "die" office, a New York newspaper says of him: "Since knowing what one does not know is about the highest of all wisdom, the Woodin proved the wisdom of the 'die' office."

A Job For The Legislature

When the Legislature meets early next month, there are three matters which should be faced by it immediately and decisively. Provision should be made for the people of this state to act upon the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. An opportunity should be given for the people to decide on repeal of the Nineteenth Article of the Constitution of the State of Florida in order to determine whether Florida as a state shall be wet or dry. And pending such action by the voters, state dry laws should be so modified as to conform with the modification of the Volstead law as expressed in the bill which passed the Senate yesterday.

It is, of course, a moot question whether beer or wine of any alcoholic content whatever could be legally manufactured in Florida under its present constitution. There is a slight difference in the wording of the state prohibition amendment and the federal prohibition amendment which might prohibit beer under the former and permit it under the latter. The Nineteenth Article prohibits the manufacture, and so forth, of "all alcoholic beverages," while the Eighteenth Amendment prohibits only "intoxicating beverages."

Now while it might well be argued that 3.05 percent beer is not intoxicating, though even this of course depends upon how much is drunk, it would certainly be very difficult to prove that a beer which contains 3.05 percent alcohol is non-alcoholic, or in other words, does not contain any alcohol. However this may be, the entire prohibition question is fraught with inconsistencies and irregularities, and the assertion by such a body as the state Legislature that an alcoholic beverage is non-alcoholic would not be exactly unprecedented.

It is quite evident that the rest of the country is going to have not only wines and beers, but also wines and beers of almost any alcoholic content which does not offend local prejudices. Federal appropriations for enforcement undoubtedly will be withdrawn except for the protection of "dry" states, and we doubt if there will be anyone in authority to determine whether a particular bottle of Burgundy is 3.05 percent alcohol, or ten percent. Furthermore, in many places, New York for instance, hard liquors will be served as publicly as before prohibition.

Under such circumstances Florida is apt to suffer if it does not keep pace, backward or forward, as you will, with other states which are determined to see an end to prohibition. Florida's biggest industry is its tourist business, and it would be difficult to prove that this business will not be seriously hurt if California, for instance, immediately provides visitors with all they want to drink at reasonable rates and in decent places, while Florida continues to depend upon the questionable stuff and exorbitant prices of the bootlegger.

So let the Legislature modify the dry laws. Before the Supreme Court could decide a test case, the Constitution will probably be amended.

All Aboard For Liechtenstein

Imagine a country that has no unemployment, no taxation, complete autonomy, a standing army of one man, and a citizenship composed of 10,000 happy persons who pursue an agricultural existence amid the splendor of Alpine scenery and an atmosphere of the middle ages, contrasted in spots with Twentieth Century modernity, and you have part of the picture of the romance-laden principality of Liechtenstein.

Once a unit of the Holy Roman Empire, the tiny country of sixty square miles is situated on the borders of Switzerland and Austria. The Vienna-Paris express rumbles across its terrain and many a traveler gazes at the countryside without knowing that he is viewing an amazing paradox among the commonwealth of nations.

On one hand you find the beautiful townlet of Vaduz, the capital city, looking as if it might have stepped out of Albrecht Durer's sketch book, and not far away nestles a modern colony of beautifully built "suntrap" houses where live many retired captains of industry seeking to avoid the cares of life in France, Germany, Italy, and Austria.

Above the capital city, a medieval fortress, grim and forbidding frowns down on triangular-roofed houses, a group of parliament buildings and a diminutive palace that wouldn't be out of place in the public squares of Paris or Vienna.

The life of the people is simple. There is no jazz dancing, no stories of gangsters, and few radios; but there are cool wine gardens, glee singers who roam about the mountain sides singing in chorus, and a general atmosphere of peace and good will. At the same time Liechtenstein is in the very heart of European civilization. An hour's ride in almost any direction will bring you to a famous capital or a great city.

It is pleasant in these times of perplexing difficulties to contemplate the virtues of a place like Liechtenstein, where living is easy, worries are few, and the smell of antiquity mingles with the romance and charm of a country that appears to have come from the pages of a fairy book.

GERMANY UNDER THE SWASTIKA

President von Hindenburg's decree, authorizing the display of the old German colors on all but military and naval buildings and giving the Nazi Hakenkreuz, or Swastika, a place of equal honor, will be widely interpreted as a depressing omen. It makes the survival of the Republic seem precarious, condones Nazi intolerance and puts cutting edges on the mutual antipathies of Germany's liberals and reactionaries. Forty-eight percent of the German people remain vigorously opposed to the ruling faction to whose agenda the President has now given recognition as a symbol of Germany's aspirations. The number of that country's well-wishers who are still in the hysterical response of a disgraced bourgeoisie to a display of absurd medieval prejudices is, however, very small indeed. If the world is long left to construe the decree as a sign that President von Hindenburg has been converted to Hitlerism and is now supporting the Swastika, it is not surprising that the reactionaries, who have been the mainstay of the President's government, are in a state of panic.

THE STUBBORN CHILD

ROOSEVELT TO ASK POWER TO HELP JOBLESS

The measure authorizes a processing tax to provide funds to pay benefits to farmers in return for acreage reduction; a tax on warehouse stock and compensatory duties on imports to prevent their entry at prices below domestic foods. The compensatory duty would consist of application of the tax levied on American processors plus existing tariffs.

Secretary Wallace, in whose hands the job of administering the act would be placed, said that if passed he would aim to bring about this year a 20 percent reduction in acreage of all crops covered by the act. He is given wide latitude in fixing tax rates, and he said that "in no case is the consumer going to be gouged."

The bill, long and complicated, was described by the President as one "which offers great promise of good results." He urged quick action not only to make the plan effective for this year's crop, planting of which already has begun in the South, but to place this country "in a better position to discuss problems affecting world crop surpluses at the proposed world economic conference."

At that time the President said he will seek a world-wide wheat production curtailment agreement.

The average prices of farm products during the pre-war period, 1900-1914, is set as the goal.

von Hindenburg himself would have Germany accept the Nazi apotheosis as the consummation of the nation's hopes that confidence in the aged field marshal as a brake upon the exuberant follies and truculent excesses of the Nazis begins to falter.

Fortunately there is some little hint in the wording of the decree, reserving a final decision on the use of flags and prohibiting the display of the Hakenkreuz over military establishments, which suggests that the President may be extending liberties to the victorious Harsburg allies, as part of a public test of their inclination to use or abuse their power. These liberties he may revoke if their abuse brings about a revulsion of popular feeling against the "national revolution." Until further events put their own interpretation on this sensational measure, however, it will continue to breed in all nations serious doubts of the firmness of the German President's grip on the long tether that he has given the reactionaries, and no little anxiety about Germany's domestic peace.

As the roll was called Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, and Long, Democrat, Louisiana, sat side by side and smiled at each other as they cast differing votes. Mrs. Caraway shouted an emphatic "no" when her name was called; and a few moments later, Long who aided her in her campaign for reelection, voiced an equally firm "aye."

The bill will permit manufacture and sale of beer and wine of 3.05 percent by weight, or 2.8 by volume in states where local laws do not prohibit it. There are about 25 of these.

Senators Borah, Republican Idaho, and Shepard, Democrat, Texas, long ardent defenders of the dry laws, led the attack on the constitutionality of the measure.

The mild-mannered Texan, who sponsored the 18th Amendment, said it would bring "untold waste and ruin to this Republic"; and Borah warned it would not prevent return of the saloon, which he branded as "the most hideous institution with which civilized society ever had to deal."

Senators Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, and Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, also spoke against the measure. Walsh explained that most of the amendments were clarifying in language while a few were vital. These were, briefly, to prevent interference in veterans' insurance suits pending in the courts; to leave to the discretion of the executive whether to make hospitalization available to non-service connected disability cases; to bar removal from the rolls of any veterans suffering actual service-connected disabilities, allowing no Spanish-American veteran over 62 years old to be removed from pension rolls, and to provide domiciliary care for tubercular or neuro-psychiatric veterans not traceable to war services. The President, however, was empowered to reduce the rates of pensions.

Various estimates of the reductions in savings were given on the amendments. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader, placed them at $10,000,000. Chairman McDuffie placed them at $25,000,000.

The House applauded when Representative Woodrum, Democrat, Virginia, a member of the committee, read a statement by Louis A. Johnston, commander of the American Legion, in which he said the Legion had faith in the President and urged loyalty and support from the members.

32 SETS RECORD FOR GOLD DUG IN FIELDS OF WORLD

More Of Metal Was Taken Out Of Earth Than Ever Before

GENEVA, Mar. 17. — More gold was dug out of the ground in 1932 than in any other year in history, incomplete figures received by League of Nations experts indicated today.

The experts said that when final figures are available, it was believed they will show nearly $500,000,000 in new gold was mined the last year.

They said that the increased worth of gold—due to the fall in wholesale commodity prices—has made gold mining more profitable than at any time of which there is record, including the famous "gold rush" days of the last century.

Mines in South Africa, which normally produce about 55 percent of the world's gold, increased their output by about 10 percent last year, it was estimated at the League.

In the United States, the 200,000 unemployed were reported to be panning gold successfully in the Rocky Mountains.

last year, it was estimated at the League. Reports from Soviet Russia indicated a greater gold production there than at any time since the World War.

There were reports of extensive gold deposits discovered in Siberia. New deposits also are reported in Northern South America. The extent of the new fields is not known.

Canada, Australia and Sweden have reported increased gold production in 1932. In Australia, the gold mining industry was so busy that it received a new lease of life by the rise in gold prices. Mines once unprofitable are now being developed into paying propositions.

In Sweden, a process originally financed by the late Ivar Kreuger, "match king," has been found to separate gold from a low-priced ore containing a high percentage of arsenic. Originally, the enterprise sought the arsenic as a main product and the gold as a by-product. Now that gold is more valuable again, it has become the principal product and arsenic a secondary consideration.

Reports to the League say that vast gold fields have been found in the Kenya colony, in Africa, and a new "gold rush" was anticipated.

Parole System In Carolina Seen As Two-Way Benefit

RALEIGH, N. C.—The proposed parole system offered by George R. Pou, superintendent of the North Carolina State Prison here would, in his opinion, effect a saving to the state of at least $30,000 during the first year of its operation, but the major benefits, he believes, would be those that would accrue to released prisoners by enabling them to get a new start.

The system's operation would cost the state nothing. It has been brought to the attention of members of the general assembly, now sitting in Raleigh, with a view to obtaining the formal approval of the state's lawmaking body. However, it could be put into effect even without the enactment of any new laws, Mr. Pou thinks.

In made of operation, his program has the appearance of simplicity itself, with no involving features. Any prisoner having served one-half of the sentence imposed by the court will receive a blank application for parole.

GARDEN NOTES

By Mrs. W. E. WATSON The Third Annual Flower Show is about to come off at which time the Garden Club will present its exhibits of fine bloom and at the same time present its first exhibit of fruit and vegetable bowls for table decoration. This added attraction is in line with the larger shows all over the country and fills a need when flowers are for several reasons not obtainable, either through lack of bloom or for the novelty, or using our many native fruits and vegetables for our eye enjoyment and at the same time practicing an economy.

Fruit can so often in this manner be used for the last course at a meal, each one selecting the fruit wished right from the center piece.

The list of chairmen for the varied entries has been published in the paper and by giving a call any question will be gladly answered to those wishing to make an entry. The Flower Show is open to anyone and everyone, and the list of entries is broad enough that nearly everyone in the county could enter, with classes for roses, sweet peas, all annuals, perennials, lilies, bulbous blooms, flowering shrubs, vines, trees, potted plants of all types, cacti and succulents, rare blooms, and cut flower arrangements of mixed flowers, or any kind of bloom. Do bring your best efforts and enjoy with all an splendid show that will give credit to your community that is fast being called "The City of Flowers."

There will be tables arranged and marked on the porch of the garden club building.

Dangers Seen In Extensive Back To Land Efforts

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C.—The back-to-the-land movement, now becoming general in many sections, may, unless wisely managed, serve only to aggravate the economic status of many people, in the opinion of D. W. Watkins, agricultural extension economist, who asserts it requires time, equipment, labor and some money to grow even foodstuffs, and warns that in the meantime disaster may befall people on the farm as well as in cities.

"One fallacy held by many city residents is that anybody can farm, but as a matter of fact farming is today a difficult and complex business," he continued. "The chances for a family without proper equipment or experience to make even food and feed supplies is remote; and for making money it is well to take a look at the fact that farmers received only 51 percent of pre-war prices for farm commodities in January, 1933, and paid 105 percent of pre-war for things they bought."

BIBLE VERSES FOR TODAY

A LOVE YEAST: Better is a slender of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and heaved there.

The banking holiday sort of put a temporary quietus on mortgage foreclosures.

Evidently the stock market came back from its holiday feeling like a million dollars.

With this season not yet over, Miami is already predicting that next season will be the best on record.

Some of the Legion boys are more concerned over the prospects of Germany's return to Kaiserism than over their pension cuts.

As yet no Republican has dared to say that Wednesday's rise in stocks was caused by a pool of Democrats manipulating the markets.

Statistics show that railroad accidents are much fewer—Miami News. They probably will be, at least, since the bankruptcy bill passed.

The City of West Palm Beach is enjoying a millage levy of 25. There will be no real estate boom in that city as long as such a millage as that obtains.

Postmaster Farley is figuring on reducing the price of postage stamps from three cents to two cents where it ought to remain. The government is beginning to find out that there is such a thing as raising the price and taking in less money.

Amendments to the beer bill may succeed in legalizing 3.05 percent wine as well as beer. Wine of such low alcoholic content might taste more like grape-juice than anything else, but who is going to determine whether the percentage is actually 3.05 or 3.4, or in fact ten?

The chairman of the State Road Department attempts to excuse enormous expenditures with the statement that new road and bridge construction is being financed not by the state but by the federal government. Well in that case, soak it to 'em! What do we care about Uncle Sam's expenses!

Adolph Hitler may be good for Germany, a claim which he has yet to prove, but he is certainly not good for Europe. Since he became chancellor a few weeks ago, Europe has resembled a powder keg just waiting for somebody to set it off. A good deal of sense in one of these disarmament meetings may be all that's necessary to start another World War.

How business suffered in New York City during the banking holiday is shown by the following figures: candy, soda and retail light establishments dropped, fifty percent under the preceding week. Department stores dropped all general lines some ways of thirty percent. Book stores dropped on average. Medicine dropped the same forty percent. And hotels, at present, and the "wedding week" was not a boom week by any means.

While communiting Secretary Woodin for his intention to resign, the chief of the treasury administration during the banking trials which occurred when the newly appointed secretary could possibly have been familiar with the details of the new office.

A Job For The Legislature

When the Legislature meets early next month, there are three matters which should be faced by it immediately and decisively. Provision should be made for the people of this state to act upon the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It is, of course, a moot question whether beer or wine of any alcoholic content whatever could be legally manufactured in Florida under its present constitution.

Now while it might well be argued that 3.05 percent beer is not intoxicating, though even this of course depends upon how much is drunk, it would certainly be very difficult to prove that a beer which contains 3.05 percent alcohol is non-alcoholic, or in other words, does not contain any alcohol.

It is quite evident that the rest of the country is going to have not only wines and beers, but also wines and beers of almost any alcoholic content which does not offend local prejudices.

Under such circumstances Florida is apt to suffer if it does not keep pace, backward or forward, as you will, with other states which are determined to see an end to prohibition.

All Aboard For Liechtenstein

Imagine a country that has no unemployment, no taxation, complete autonomy, a standing army of one man, and a citizenship composed of 10,000 happy persons who pursue an agricultural existence amid the splendor of Alpine scenery and an atmosphere of the middle ages, contrasted in spots with Twentieth Century modernity, and you have part of the picture of the romance-laden principality of Liechtenstein.

Once a unit of the Holy Roman Empire, the tiny country of sixty square miles is situated on the borders of Switzerland and Austria. The Vienna-Paris express rumbles across its terrain and many a traveler gazes at the countryside without knowing that he is viewing an amazing paradox among the commonwealth of nations.

The life of the people is simple. There is no jazz dancing, no stories of gangsters, and few radios; but there are cool wine gardens, glee singers who roam about the mountain sides singing in chorus, and a general atmosphere of peace and good will.

It is pleasant in these times of perplexing difficulties to contemplate the virtues of a place like Liechtenstein, where living is easy, worries are few, and the smell of antiquity mingles with the romance and charm of a country that appears to have come from the pages of a fairy book.

GERMANY UNDER THE SWASTIKA

President von Hindenburg's decree, authorizing the display of the old German colors on all but military and naval buildings and giving the Nazi Hakenkreuz, or Swastika, a place of equal honor, will be widely interpreted as a depressing omen.

THE STUBBORN CHILD

The measure authorizes a processing tax to provide funds to pay benefits to farmers in return for acreage reduction; a tax on warehouse stock and compensatory duties on imports to prevent their entry at prices below domestic goods.

The bill, long and complicated, was described by the President as one "which offers great promise of good results." He urged quick action not only to make the plan effective for this year's crop, planting of which already has begun in the South, but to place this country "in a better position to discuss problems affecting world crop surpluses at the proposed world economic conference."

At that time the President has said he will seek a world-wide wheat production curtailment agreement.

The average prices of farm products during the pre-war period, 1909-1914, is set as the goal.

von Hindenburg himself would have Germany accept the Nazi apotheosis as the consummation of the nation's hopes that confidence in the aged field marshal as a brake upon the exuberant follies and truculent excesses of the Nazis begins to falter.

As the roll was called Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, and Long, Democrat, Louisiana, sat side by side and smiled at each other as they cast differing votes.

The mild-mannered Texan, who sponsored the 18th Amendment, said it would bring "untold waste and ruin to this Republic"; and Borah warned it would prevent return of the saloons, which he branded as "the most hideous institution with which civilized society ever had to deal."

Duffie explained that most of the amendments were clarifying of language while a few were vital. These were, briefly, to prevent interference in veterans' insurance suits pending in the courts; to leave to the discretion of the executive whether to make hospitalization available to non-severely connected disability cases; to bar removal from the rolls of any veterans suffering actual service-connected disabilities, allowing no Spanish-American veteran over 62 years old to be removed from pension rolls, and to provide domiciliary care for tubercular or neuro-psychiatric veterans not traceable to war services.

Authority given the President is the broadest Congress has ever conferred upon the executive branch of government. Besides providing for sweeping reductions in veterans' pensions, it cuts salaries of congressmen from $10,000 to $8,500, and permits the President to reduce salaries up to 15 percent.

As the second administration proposal, the measure was proposed to Congress last Friday, jammed through the House Saturday, and passed by the Senate Wednesday night.

32 SETS RECORD FOR GOLD DUG IN FIELDS OF WORLD

More Of Metal Was Taken Out Of Earth Than Ever Before

GENEVA, Mar. 17. — More gold was dug out of the ground in 1932 than in any other year in history, incomplete figures received by League of Nations experts indicated today.

The experts said that when final figures are available, it was believed they will show nearly $500,000,000 in new gold was mined the past year.

They said that the increased worth of gold—due to the fall in wholesale commodity prices—has made gold mining more profitable than at any time of which there is record, including the famous "gold rush" days of the last century.

Mines in South Africa, which normally produce about 85 percent of the world's gold, increased their output by about 10 percent.

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, said he was voting against the bill because he regarded 3.3 percent beer as intoxicating.

Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, announced he had voted for submission of the 18th Amendment but had "taken an oath to support the Constitution", adding: "I do not feel that I can say where the line of alcoholic demarcation is. I do not feel I could vote under my oath for a beverage that might violate the Constitution."

Senator Borah, Republican Idaho, and Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, long ardent defenders of the dry laws, led the attack on the constitutionality of the measure.

The bill will permit manufacture and sale of beer and wine of 3.05 percent by weight, or 3.8 by volume in states where local laws do not prohibit it. There are about 25 of these.

Senators Borah, Republican Idaho, and Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, long ardent defenders of the dry laws, led the attack on the constitutionality of the measure.

last year, it was estimated at the League. Reports from Soviet Russia indicated a greater gold production there than at any time since the World War.

There were reports of extensive gold deposits discovered in Siberia. New deposits also are reported in Northern South America. The extent of the new fields is not known.

Canada, Australia and Sweden have reported increased gold production in 1932. In Australia, the gold mining industry was down until it received a new lease on life by the rise in gold prices.

In Sweden, a process originally financed by the late Ivar Kreuger, "match king," has been found to separate gold from a low-priced ore containing a high percentage of arsenic. Originally, the enterprise sought the arsenic as a main product, and the gold as a by-product. Now that gold is more valuable again, it has become the principal product and arsenic a secondary consideration.

Reports to the League say that vast gold fields have been found in the Kenya colony, in Africa, and a new "gold rush" was anticipated.

In the United States, about 200,000 unemployed were reported to be panning gold successfully in the Rocky Mountains.
