Robbed For 2nd Time In A Week

Thugs Add Kidnapping, Beating To Cabbie's Woes

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A week ago, Yellow Cab driver Mary Jo Carroll lost $40 of her own money to a gun-toting bandit. Early this morning, she was robbed again, but this time she said she was also kidnapped and beaten.

Ms. Carroll, of Orlando, told Seminole County sheriff's investigators that she picked up a customer at the Why Not Lounge in the Holiday Inn on Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, around 1 a.m. She said the man brandished a chrome-plated revolver and told her, "Don't ask any questions, just drive." Ms. Carroll told deputies that she drove through Apopka, Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Oviedo and Casselberry before the gunman ordered her to stop at a construction site on Dike Road in Casselberry.

There, Ms. Carroll said, her white abductor was joined by a black man who entered the cab, a sheriff's report said.

Ms. Carroll said the men robbed her of an undisclosed amount of cash and drove off in a car that the second suspect had apparently driven to the scene.

A security guard at the construction site called the sheriff's department and Ms. Carroll was transported to Winter Park Hospital for examination.

Sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said hospital personnel found no injuries that required treatment.

On Jan. 11, Ms. Carroll was robbed of $40 of her own money by a gunman who approached her car while she was parked at Butler Plaza, Casselberry, at about 1 p.m., according to a sheriff's report.

In that case, the bandit was also driven from the scene by a second suspect who remained in his car while the bandit robbed Ms. Carroll, the report said.

Civic Leaders Listen, Support Drug Battle

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

With 282 civic and business leaders aboard, leaders of Sanford C.A.N. (Chemical Awareness Network) navigated their way through an evening of speeches and information Tuesday during a dining and drug-education cruise aboard the Star of Sanford.

The three-hour evening excursion, attended by elected officials and noted business leaders in Seminole County, was a conscious-raising effort by Sanford C.A.N., an organization formed in December to combat drug and alcohol abuse among local youths.

And the publicity chairman for C.A.N. says he hopes the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. Jan. 31 at the Sanford Civic Center, will bring some 5,000 people to hear how the group plans to combat drug and alcohol abuse here. An invitation to the rally was given along with a rose to every woman who attended the cruise.

The message of the evening Tuesday to the captive audience was there is a substance-abuse problem in Seminole County and that something can be done about it if the community leaders unite in their effort to combat youth-level abuse and educate parents.

Among the speakers addressing the august assemblage were Circuit Court Judge Dominick J. Salfi, state representatives Fran Carlton, D-Orlando; Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs; and Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood; Seminole County school drug counselor C. Tom Roll, Sgt. William Bernosky of the Sanford Police Department, C. A. "Tony" Liberatore, publicity chairman of Sanford C.A.N., and a 16-year-old former drug addict and alcoholic from Seminole County.

The community leaders were told a definite problem of substance-abuse exists within Seminole County on the streets, in the schools, and at home.

Roll introduced the listeners to abuse facts gleaned during a survey of Seminole County school children.

Among sixth grade county students, 34 percent had drunk an alcoholic beverage. Four percent of them had used marijuana. The figures escalate per grade for each substance with 75 percent of the high school students drinking an alcoholic beverage within two weeks of the survey and 55 percent of them using marijuana.

The cold statistics were impassioned by the 16-year-old ex-addict who told the passengers he started taking drugs when he was 12 years old. He said he developed a habit that not only got him arrested while at school but forced him to steal from his friends and parents.

The boy said in his four years of buying and selling drugs in the schoolyard he had used alcohol, marijuana, quaaludes, amphetamines, psychedelic drugs, and cocaine. He said he also saw opium and hashish abused by school kids.

He said his involvement with drugs began in a simple way. He was in a gifted student program at school and was having problems talking to his parents.

Sanford motorcycle patrolman Aaron Keith presents a rose to Karen Hamlet of Longwood as she boards the ship. Ms. Hamlet joined the cruise as a representative of a parent-teacher-student drug awareness group at Rock Lake Middle School. Every woman on the excursion was given a rose, donated by Collins Florist, Sanford, and Lake Mary Florist, Lake Mary.

He said he noticed kids who took drugs did not seem to have any problem.

"That was what I wanted," he said.

He said throughout his plunge into drug abuse, which saw a drop in his grades and suspensions from school, no one placed restrictions or controls upon him until he appeared before Circuit Court Judge Salfi.

Salfi told the attentive audience — who gave him a standing ovation — that was a time when he knew little about drugs and the effect it was having in the community. Then, he said, a drug problem arose in his own family. The problem forced him, as a parent, to learn how patterns of family life and pressure can cause a child to turn to drugs.

He explained how the problem seeps into the home and how the parent has to become educated in abuse to help solve the problem.

Salfi said he believes strongly that the

Murder Trial Set To Begin

A 55-year-old Sanford woman is scheduled to go on trial for second degree murder Thursday in the September shooting death of a man at a Sanford rooming house.

Louise Rice, of 308 E. 5th St., is charged in the death of Don N. Atkins, 30, of apartment 4, 409 Palmetto Ave., Sanford. She is also charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

According to police reports, Atkins was killed when a woman entered his apartment at about 10:45 p.m. Sept. 8 and pointed a .22-caliber pistol at Atkins and Katrina Sanders, who was also present in the room.

The woman threatened to shoot the pair and then fired one shot which struck Atkins in the forehead. The woman then fled, according to Sanford police detective Donnie L. Anderson.

Atkins died a week later at the Central Florida Regional Hospital from the wound. An autopsy showed the cause of death to be massive lacerations to the brain caused by a small caliber bullet which entered through the left forehead, according to Dr. Sara Irrgang, assistant medical examiner for Seminole County.

Miss Sanders, who shared the room with Atkins, was not harmed. She called the police and officers arrested a suspect a short time later near the scene of the shooting.

Miss Rice, who was originally charged with attempted murder, was released from the Seminole County jail Sept. 9 after posting a $10,000 bond.

New Wells Expected On Line By Feb. 11

Sanford's four new wells at Hidden Lake Park are scheduled to be in operation by Feb. 11 if state agencies continue expediting the permitting process. And the city will know within the next three weeks whether its six down EDB-contaminated wells at the Mayfair Golf Course can be rehabilitated.

In the meantime, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said today the city's water supply from eight wells at a field on U.S. Highway 17-92, two irrigation wells near Mayfair and the single Mayfair well operating remain free of the pesticide, ethylene dibromide, suspected of being a cancer-causing agent.

Testing has shown that capacity can be increased at the single operating well at Mayfair — Well 5 — and new pumps are to be installed there to boost capacity from 750 gallons per minute to 1,500 gallons.

Work was held up early this week on drilling the third well at Hidden Lake after vandals over the weekend smashed windows and gauges and attempted to stuff oil and paper into the well rig there. By Tuesday, the Meredith Corp. of Orlando, contractors drilling the wells,

Cautious Optimism For Longwood Bailiff

Provenzano Indicted In Courthouse Shootings

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A grand jury has indicted Thomas Provenzano on charges of killing a bailiff and wounding two other men during a wild shooting spree last week at the Orange County Courthouse.

Doctors, meanwhile, said they were "cautiously optimistic" Bailiff Harry Dalton, 53, of Longwood, now has been given a 50-50 chance of surviving a gunshot wound to the head. Dalton remained in serious condition today at Florida Hospital.

Provenzano, 34, was indicted Tuesday on one count of first-degree murder in the death of Bailiff Arnie Wilkerson, 60, and two counts of assault with intent to commit first-degree murder in the shootings of Dalton and corrections officer Mark Parker, 19. His bond was set at $450,000.

Parker, who was shot in the back during the rampage, was listed in serious but stable condition at another city hospital but is paralyzed. Doctors said Parker has only partial feeling in his arms.

Provenzano walked into the courthouse on Jan. 19 to face charges of resisting arrest. Police said he then whipped out a revolver, a shotgun and an assault rifle and opened fire in a courtroom and adjoining hallways.

Provenzano was shot and wounded by another bailiff but not before the three court security employees had been felled.

Defense attorney Linda Gloeckner charged Tuesday that because of publicity surrounding the shootings, grand jurors could not be impartial in the case and that Provenzano was being railroaded.

"The grand jury system is supposed to be some kind of mediating board between the wrath of the public and someone being charged with a crime,"

Ms. Gloeckner said. "When was the last time you saw a murder indictment requested within seven days of the incident?"

State Attorney Robert Eagan said he called the grand jury into service a week after the shooting because the case "calls for immediate attention."

Eagan compared the case to the 1968 shooting of presidential candidate Robert Kennedy at a crowded California hotel.

"We did not have any great mystery to solve about who did it," Eagan said. "But the evidence is the same today as it will be six months from today."

Two Gunmen Slay President Of American University In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Gunmen killed Dr. Malcolm H. Kerr, president of the American University of Beirut, as he stepped off the elevator near his office today, officials said. A pro-Iranian terrorist group claimed responsibility and also threatened to kill a kidnapped Saudi diplomat.

A caller saying he represented the Islamic Jihad (Holy War) Organization, the group that bombed the Marine headquarters, claimed responsibility for Tuesday's kidnapping of Hussein Farraj, the Saudi Arabian consul in Beirut. The caller said Farraj would be executed.

"Kerr was the victim of the American presence in Lebanon," the Jihad caller told the French News Agency. "We pledge that there will no longer be a single American or Frenchman on this (Lebanese) soil."

"Our organization assassinated Kerr and the body of the Saudi Arabian consul will soon be thrown out," the caller said.

The Islamic Jihad has claimed responsibility for numerous attacks on American and French peace-keeping troops, including the Oct 23 suicide bombings of the U.S. Marine headquarters at the Beirut airport, which killed 241 Americans, and at the French headquarters, which killed 58 French.

Kerr, 52, a U.S. citizen born in Beirut, was killed by gunmen who surprised him as he stepped off the elevator outside his campus office, state-run Beirut Radio said quoting a preliminary police report. The report said there were two killers.

Kerr, a political scientist and educator, was the replacement for acting President David Dodge, who was kidnapped in July 1982 and held for a year in Iran before being released.

Police said Kerr was killed shortly after 9 a.m. local time but his body was not immediately found. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the adjoining American University Hospital, where he was born.

Dr. Ahmed Harati, a Lebanese government medical examiner, said Kerr was hit by a single bullet that "entered the heart and came out from the left side of the head passing through the left ear."

"There were no signs of gun-powder burns because the gun was equipped with a silencer and the bullet was fired from a very close range," the medical examiner told Beirut Radio.

"There also were no signs of any struggle, indicating that Kerr was taken by surprise," he said.

A university official, who declined to be identified, said the gunmen were "apparently carrying silencer-equipped guns as no one heard any shooting."

Minutes after Kerr's body was discovered, Lebanese troops were rushed to the scene and all nearby gates were locked — keeping students and employees inside.

Married with four children, Kerr was appointed to his position in March 1982 after an academic career that included teaching political science at the University of California in Los Angeles.

Farraj was kidnapped Tuesday in broad daylight from a busy Beirut street by 10 gunmen.

Collision Course

Accident victim Raymond Gerry, 12, of 129 Hays Drive, Sanford, is checked out by Frank Culbreth, Sanford Fire Department emergency medical technician, and Laura Drew, Herndon Ambulance paramedic, after being struck by a car on 20th Street half a block west of U.S. Highway 17-92 on his way to Sanford Middle School. The son of Barbara Gerry, he was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital where he was treated for a scraped knee and released. In the background, Sanford police officers Richard Poovey and Andy Collazo interview the driver of the car, Barbara Chambers, 33, of 1401 Valencia Court East, Sanford. She was not charged because the boy ran into the path of her car, police said.

IN BRIEF

Lucky The Turtle Gets Bionic Flippers

ISLAMORADA (UPI) — Lucky, the sea turtle who lost her front legs to a hungry shark, splashed her way into medical history with a $200,000 pair of bionic flippers that should enable her to return to the ocean.

Dr. Patrick Barry, the orthopedic surgeon who led the operating team that fitted Lucky Tuesday with a pair of man-made rubber flippers during a three-hour operation, called the unprecedented procedure "an outrageous success."

Lucky will stay in the holding tank for two or three weeks, then will be turned loose in a larger pond, Barry said. If the new flippers perform as expected, Lucky will be tagged and returned to the Atlantic Ocean on Valentine's Day.

'Light' Sentence Protested

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The parents of an infant killed by a babysitter plan to see a lawyer in hopes of stiffening the 30-month prison term given the 25-year-old woman.

Stephen and Mary Sakellarios of Tallahassee said they believe the sentence is too light, especially considering that armed robbers get a three-year minimum term.

In a plea bargain arrangement, Donna Marie Cattler pleaded no contest to a charge of third-degree murder. She was sentenced by Leon County Circuit Judge J. Lewis Hall to a maximum 30 months in prison and 10 years probation. Mrs. Cattler, who also had worked at a daycare center, was accused of killing Daniel Sakellarios, 7 months, last May by banging his head on a table because the infant would not stop crying.

Falwell Won't Run

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A bid for political office would be "out of the question" for the Rev. Jerry Falwell, but the Moral Majority leader has predicted the organization will play a key role in this year's elections.

Falwell said he believes he has been called by God to be a minister and he "has no plans" to change that.

He said the Moral Majority proved in 1983 it was a force to be reckoned with, and said it will continue to exert that influence on candidates and on their stands on issues in the upcoming elections.

Hollywood To Fight Back

Film Industry Wants Congress' Help On Videotaping Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled that Americans are not breaking the law by videotaping television programs at home, but the entertainment industry vows to press Congress for changes in copyright laws that would give them royalties on taped shows.

The justices ruled 5-4 Tuesday that Americans may use videotape recorders for to tape and show movies and television programs at home.

The decision was a victory for the $3 billion-a-year recorder industry and for the estimated 9 million Americans who record TV shows at home, but Hollywood producers will begin lobbying Congress to rewrite federal copyright laws that would ensure them royalties on shows taped at home.

"The future of creative entertainment for the benefit of the American family is at stake," said Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

But sentiment in Congress to expand protection for television producers appeared far from unanimous.

House assistant Democratic leader Thomas Foley of Washington said he would fight any legislation to reverse the thrust of the decision.

Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., who sponsored a bill last year to exempt home taping from current copyright law, warned that those trying to change the law in Congress will have to fight charges of being anti-consumer.

But Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who has introduced a bill require royalties for Hollywood producers for home taping, called the decision a "disadvantage to the little guy. Most people cannot afford a Betamax."

Jack Wayman, vice president of an electronic industries association group, predicted the decision would boost recorder sales.

Kenji Tamiya, president of Sony Corp. of America, said in New York the high court's ruling is "an important victory for consumers in their fight to be able to use videotape recorders in the privacy of their homes. We are extremely gratified by the outcome."

The court's decision Tuesday was on a suit filed by Walt Disney Productions and Universal Studios against Sony, which manufactures the Betamax videotape recorder.

The court ruling held that present copyright law does not bar home recording of shows and movies from television for personal use.

"One may search the Copyright Act in vain for any sign that the elected representatives of the millions of people who watch television every day have made it unlawful to copy a program for later viewing at home, or have enacted a flat prohibition against the sale of machines that make such copying possible," Justice John Paul Stevens wrote for the majority.

But he said Congress may "take a fresh look at this new technology" and revise the law to compensate television producers and performers for losses resulting from videotaping.

Stevens, in a key finding, called videotaping for personal viewing a "fair use" exempt from the copyright laws.

"Any individual may reproduce a copyrighted work for a 'fair use'; the copyright owner does not possess the exclusive right to such a use," Stevens wrote.

Policman Faces Trial Today In Overtown Ghetto Shooting

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban-born policeman Luis Alvarez goes on trial today for the 1982 shooting death of a young black man that triggered three days of bloody racial violence in Miami's Overtown ghetto.

Alvarez, 33, is charged with manslaughter for the Dec. 28, 1982, death of Nevell Johnson Jr., 20, a popular messenger for a Dade County agency. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison.

Circuit Judge David M. Gersten planned to rule on several pending motions before starting what is expected to be the difficult job of seating a panel of 50 prospective jurors.

One issue to be resolved by Gersten today is whether the faces of prospective jurors should be photographed by news cameras that are allowed in Florida courtrooms.

Defense attorney Roy Black tried earlier to get the trial moved.

"This is the case that caused a riot," Black told Gersten. "When these people (jurors) get up here, it's going to be in their minds that there could be a riot if this guy is acquitted."

The judge refused, saying his court "will not tolerate threats or intimidation or the spectre of riots."

Extraordinary courthouse security precautions have been ordered for the racially sensitive trial and special police teams are ready to deal with any disturbances that may erupt.

Two people died, 26 were injured and scores were arrested in the violence that followed the fatal shooting of Johnson at a video game parlor.

Police investigators reported Alvarez was off his beat when he entered the Overtown parlor. Alvarez, however, told detectives he was instructing a rookie policeman when he entered the parlor and spotted a handgun Johnson had tucked into his waistband.

Alvarez said he drew his service revolver and was taking the gun from Johnson when the youth suddenly jerked around, causing his police revolver to fire accidentally.

Police groups have raised an estimated $50,000 for Alvarez's defense.

Nutrients Killing Florida Lakes

By United Press International

Florida biologists are draining dying lakes from Tallahassee to Lakeland in an effort to keep them from succumbing to sewage and their own nutrient-rich mud.

The biologists hope wind and the sun will dry the lake bottoms. The process, known as a drawdown, is intended to improve sport fishing, plant growth and water quality in lakes choking from an overabundance of nutrients.

The craters will be filled back up with water once the bottoms have thoroughly dried, but state wildlife biologists are not sure the drawdowns will save the lakes.

Verne Williams, lake restoration coordinator for the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, said authorities are conducting drawdowns at several lakes under various conditions to determine if the process works.

Game commission officials tout an experimental drawdown at Lake Tohopekaliga in Osceola County 12 years ago as an example of how the process can be beneficial.

Lowering the water level at Lake Tohopekaliga was "a success beyond our wildest dreams," Williams said. He said the number of fish in the 23,000-acre lake doubled as a result.

Drawdowns are under way at Lake Griffin, a 9,100-acre lake near Leesburg, the 11,000-acre Lake Talquin near Tallahassee and the 100-acre Lake Hunter near Lakeland.

Lake Hunter is one of more than 12 endangered lakes in Lakeland. Williams said the lake was "seven feet of water on top of 10 feet of mud" before a drawdown was done.

A drawdown is scheduled for this spring at the 500-acre Juniper Lake in DeFuniak Springs. The process has been tried on about 12 other lakes in Florida over the last 12 years, with varying degrees of success, Williams said.

"We've had our share of mistakes, since we first began. But the only alternative is to do nothing, and we've decided that's not an acceptable alternative," he said.

Rising Above The Parochialism

Does the Marine Corps need its own specially designed, approved and manufactured screwdriver, different from the Army's?

We don't know whether they do or not, but no doubt, if commonality were ordered by the secretary of defense, there are some Marine Corps officers who would consider it a reflection upon their honor, integrity and dedication to the corps if they did not insist upon having their own screwdriver for their own mission as a matter of service pride.

The General Accounting Office has just made a report to Congress which calls for joint major-system acquisition by the military services "an elusive strategy."

The subject is of greater interest when we realize that any money saved by joint purchase of weapons systems will be money not added to the national debt, now soaring past the $1.5 trillion mark.

The main GAO finding is that there has never been a successful joint acquisition (planned as such from the start) of a major, high-cost weapons system if success is defined by substantial commonality, reasonable satisfaction of the military services and actual documentable savings.

But the newest big weapons system, the cruise missile, which is now being deployed, may come closer to success than any previous effort. It is being deployed by the Navy and the Air Force. In several variants, there is so far 17 percent commonality in airframes, 73 percent commonality in guidance components, 85 percent in engines and 100 percent in radar altimeters.

It may be too early to tell, but the cruise missile program is deemed a developmental success.

Be it noted that the services aren't particularly happy about that. "Cruise missiles were more or less pressed on the services, who saw them as threats to their central missions and to their funding priorities," the report says.

The need for strong, supraservice, top-down military leadership in this country has never been more obvious. The job of integrating the military services, begun under President Truman, has been left unfinished. No one is suggesting abandonment of separate service identities, missions, traditions or loyalties. But, somewhere at the top, there must be a cadre of professional military people who can speak for the national interest, which transcends the interests of separate services, especially in such matters as weapons procurement.

At present, the only professional military man who by law must rise above parochialism is the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Air Force Gen. David C. Jones, who retired from that post in 1982, says the chairman of the Joint Chiefs needs a supra-service military umple. "A host of top defense executives, military leaders and expert observers have been speaking out, especially over the past year or so about reforming the JCS," the GAO report says.

The president, the Pentagon, Congress and the country need more detached and forthright advice from our military professionals.

Brunei Is Alone

We welcome Brunei as the world's newest nation, soon to become the 158th sovereign nation in the United Nations, with equal rights in the General Assembly.

Where's Brunei? It's way out there in the Pacific, on the island of Borneo. It's nestled in between the Malaysian states of Sarawak and Sabah, overlooking the southern reaches of the South China Sea.

On New Year's Day, Brunei received independence, ending a 96-year history as a British protectorate. Its ruler is Sultan Muda Hassanah Bolkiah. Appearing on state-owned television, he assigned himself three Cabinet posts — prime minister, home affairs minister and finance minister.

Brunei enters the world of nations with a big plus. Financially, Brunei is in excellent shape. Its income from oil, natural gas, rubber and hardwoods is more than $4 billion a year, the equivalent of $20,000 for each of the new nation's 205,000 citizens.

That makes it one of the world's richest nations, as well as one of the world's smallest. A British Army unit, the 6th Gurkha Rifles, will be on hand for a few years to help guard Brunei's wealth. That's good, but there will be many envious eyes and grasping hands. It's risky for a Third World nation to be rich. In addition to his other duties, perhaps the sultan should make himself defense minister.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Ciao, Zhao!"

By Deane Jordan

The scene is a familiar story line. A man is being held by the police and is using his traditional one phone call to contact his lawyer.

While the lawyer call is not a right, the accused would be better advised to call his attorney if he knew what the word lawyer meant. Attorney, which is a Latin word meaning to commit-business to another, is far from lawyer which is from the Anglo-Saxon word, lean, meaning to lie.

Many of the words encountered on the police-court beat have not changed in meaning for 2,000 years, others bear little resemblance to their former use.

Today, when arrested — Latin for stop — people are charged with either a felony or a misdemeanor. A felony carries a penalty of one year or more in jail. A misdemeanor carries a jail term of one year or less.

Felony has been a nasty word for several hundred years. It is from Middle English, felonie, derived from the Latin felo, a rebel or traitor. At one time, felon also meant a very painful infection near the nail of a finger or toe.

Misdemeanor, as a word, has been on trial far longer than felony.

The minor offense was demener in Middle English and Old French. Its meaning was to drive. It is derived from the low Latin word minare to drive as a herd of animals with threatening cries. It comes from the Latin word minari, to threaten.

Drug, which has a close aging French cousin as drogue, and in Italian, Spanish and Portuguese, droga originally was Dutch — droog — and meant any dry substance, as in herbs. Paraphernalia, whose possession along with drugs is illegal in Florida, is far from its original meaning in the Greek word parapherna. It was the property, besides a dowery, that a woman brought with her when she married. If her husband died before she, her parapherna was hers to keep and was not passed on to offspring.

In the courtroom — Latin for garden, hortus, from the Greek hortus, an enclosure, a feeding place — the verdict is guilty or not guilty. Newspapers use innocent often so as not to lose the word "not" during the mechanical process of production.

Verdict is a combination of Old French and Latin to mean a true saying and is found in the legal system today as voir dire, the jury selection, to say the truth. Innocent is a combination from the Latin word nocere and is to mean not to do wrong to. Guilty is gilt in Middle English and gyft in Anglo-Saxon, an offense, a false. It is found in the word gilt, as in gilt-edged meaning a false covering, such as gold plating.

Police is from the Latin politia a descendant of the Greek politia. It means the government of a city, as in metropolis, which is mother city. (Note the word politics and the Russian word for their collective leadership, the politburo.) Assault is from two Latin words meaning to leap, Battery, also from Latin, is to beat. While the spelling of jail has changed — It was at one time caeva then caveola, galole, gaol, the British spelling and lastly jail — it stills means the same as it did in Cicero's day, a prison. (Cave is not from cavea but from the Greek word kyeln, meaning pregnant) Murder is from the Latin word mortis, death, and is visible in mortician.

Sheriff, a common word in the days of early England, is from scir-gerfa, an Anglo-Saxon combination for a squire and a reeve, a rope or an overseer-administrator. It is close to the Arab word Sheriff meaning lofty or noble. Bailiff is from the Latin bajulus, a guardian or administrator.

The one word on the police-court beat that perhaps has changed the most is curfew, which most cities have, meaning those under a certain age must not be outside after a certain time unaccompanied or, during a period of social unrest, a forced desertion of the streets at dark.

Curfew, transmuted many times, was a common Middle English term meaning the time the town bell rang telling the people in their all-wood homes to put their fires out and go to bed. It is from two Latin words, cooperire and focus, literally, to cover the fire.

In Praise Of Millard Fillmore

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Despite our surfeit of national holidays and anniversaries, one important day is often overlooked: Jan. 7 — the day on which, 184 years ago, Millard Fillmore was born in central New York state.

Fillmore was our 13th president — and, say many historians, our most obscure one. But to his fans and admirers (and I'm one of them), there's much to remember him for, especially as we begin another presidential election year.

In the coming months, politicians and their media experts will spend tens of millions of dollars to tell us how good, bright and right they are for the offices they seek. As we're bombarded with these election-year pleas, we would do well to remember Millard Fillmore.

Fillmore brought to the White House a humility that probably hasn't been seen there since. He was born on a farm and received only a limited primary school education. He quit school before his 12th birthday to work on the farm, and he later became an apprentice in the cloth trade.

In his late teens, Fillmore met a schoolteacher who began to tutor him; he then began to "read the law," as law study was called in those days, with a local county judge. Around 1820, his family moved to Buffalo, where he continued his legal studies and was admitted to the bar in 1823. Three years later he married his former tutor, Abigail Powers, and settled in Buffalo to practice law.

In a way, Fillmore became the Gerald Ford of his century. In 1833 he was elected to Congress, where he served for 10 years. He was a member of the Whig Party and a leader of its anti-slavery wing. In 1844 he tried to run for the vice presidency, but was defeated. He then narrowly lost a bid to become governor of New York. Fillmore was elected New York state comptroller in 1847; the next year, he was given a place on Zachary Taylor's presidential ticket.

In 1849, Fillmore was elected vice president — the post he really wanted. But Taylor contracted typhus and died, and Fillmore was suddenly thrust into the presidency, which he had never really sought.

As Fillmore assumed office, it seemed that a war between the slave states and non-slave states would break out at any moment, but Fillmore was able to push through what became known as the Compromise of 1850. This only postponed the war a decade, but at the time it was a brave political act, since it pleased neither slave owners nor abolitionists.

With the slavery question quieted for the time being, Fillmore turned his attention to foreign affairs. He re-established good relations with many Latin American countries.

Pentagon Planning Record Budget

WASHINGTON — Is Cap Weinberger planning to bankrupt the country?

The defense secretary would deny such a suggestion, of course. But unless Budget Director David Stockman or Congress stops them, Weinberger and the other profligate Pentagon poobahs will spend the nation right into the poorhouse.

Their own secret "wish list" doesn't include solid gold Cadillacs — yet. But some of their budget proposals are just about as extravagant.

My associate Donald Goldberg has obtained copies of the military's dreamy proposals. They're classified "Secret," and were intended strictly for internal use. Neither the White House nor Congress has seen the documents. Here are some of the most outrageous elements of the Pentagon's planned raid on the Treasury over the next five years: — Weinberger wanted a $322.4 billion

FARMING WORLD

More Scientists Needed

By Sonja Hillgren
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientific underpinnings of the broad and highly technological American agricultural sector are threatened by an increasing shortage of scientists and professionals trained to work in agriculture.

Shortages are especially acute for people with masters or doctoral degrees in agricultural business management, agricultural engineering, animal sciences, food sciences and plant sciences.

Also areas facing manpower shortages include soil sciences, forest engineering, forest product utilization and veterinary medicine specialties such as regulatory medicine and pathology.

A warning about current and growing future shortages was issued in July 1980 by an Agriculture Department study that concluded average annual demand for college-educated graduates in food and agricultural sciences would exceed available supply by about 15 percent. Some people think the study may have understated the shortfall.

The problem persists, and today Agriculture Secretary John Block is convening a forum for discussion of strategies for "preventing a potential critical shortage" of leadership in the agricultural sciences.

The meeting at the National Academy of Sciences will mark the first time leaders of industry, higher education and government meet to discuss the issue.

Frank Press, president of the academy; Education Secretary Terrell Bell; Assistant Agriculture Secretary Orville Bentley; George Keyworth, director of the president's Office of Science and Technology Policy; A. Max Lennon, vice president and dean at Ohio State University; and Dale Wolf of the Du Pont Co. will be among the speakers at the forum.

Block and Bentley are hoping representatives of agricultural industries will tell them about the kinds of people they will need to hire in the future, Bentley said.

They do not expect the discussions to call for more governmental spending but are hoping to get promises of private funds for programs such as more internships, scholarships, exchange visits of scientists between the private and public sectors and opportunities for graduate students to work in laboratories of private firms.

The issue is important to the entire nation because agricultural and food businesses provide about 20 percent of the nation's gross national product and 20-25 percent of the nation's jobs.

Millions of Americans have indeed left the nation's farms over the past 50 years, but the children and grandchildren of these people often work in businesses that supply a technologically sophisticated agriculture.

Major problems facing the agricultural education include a decline in scientific literacy by students entering colleges and universities and a decline in the college-age population. Enrollments in colleges of agriculture have fallen by 15 percent during the past four years.

Large numbers of agricultural scientists and educators who began their careers shortly after World War II will retire during the next decade and replacements are simply unavailable.

Danger Is Still There...

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Almost five years after this country's worst accident involving a nuclear power plant, radiation levels inside that facility remain so high that people exposed to them would face almost certain death.

One of the least publicized but most disturbing aspects of the March 28, 1979 accident — the extensive release of lethal radiation at the Three Mile Island generating station in central Pennsylvania — is detailed in a report, recently issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Citing the lack of documented evidence of significant releases of radiation outside the TMI plant, the nuclear power industry has persisted in its claim that the accident actually demonstrated the safety of its technology.

But the new NRC study and a series of other little-noticed reports issued earlier confirm that the only safeguard at TMI Unit 2 that worked properly was a 4-foot, thick reinforced concrete shell which served as the reactor's containment building.

Without that containment structure, massive amounts of radiation almost certainly would have been released into the atmosphere because of the failure of the supposedly sophisticated and foolproof safety systems inside the building.

Radiation dosage rates are measured in units known as rems, an acronym for roentgen equivalent in man. (A roentgen is the standard unit for measuring radioactive emissions.)

The NRC has established 0.5 rems annually per person as the maximum level for public safety, although those who work in the nuclear power industry can legally be exposed to five or 12 rems (depending upon previous accumulation) per year.

Exposure to an atmosphere where the dosage rate is 100 rems per hour can produce irreversible damage to human blood cells and intestinal systems. At a level of 200 rems per hour, heroic medical efforts are required to sustain life.

At least half of those exposed to levels of 200 to 500 rems per hour can be expected to die. At levels of 1,000 rems per hour and higher, radiation attacks the central nervous system and produces almost certain death.

At the time of the accident, Harold R. Denton, director of the NRC's office of nuclear reactor regulation, estimated that radiation exposure rates inside the containment vessel were "on the order of 30,000 rems per hour."

A radiation monitor at the top of the building's dome indicated that the dosage rate was more than 10,000 rems per hour within a few hours after the TMI Unit 2 reactor became unstable.

Dealing With The Pressures Of A Career And Raising A Family

By Ruth Youngblood

BEVERLY, Mass. (UPI) — The first day Laura Sampson spent alone with her newborn son was so fraught with unexpected loneliness the anguished mother was reduced to tears.

With no role models to offer guidance and nothing in her education and work experience to offer solace, Mrs. Sampson's rosy vision of an easy transition from career woman to motherhood was shattered.

In desperation she telephoned a hospital and learned she wasn't alone.

A group of women who postponed childbearing until their careers were established had banded together, providing therapy for themselves while helping others pioneer a new self-image without turning into "supermoms."

Each week psychologist Judy Klein and other mothers trying to make a personally rewarding adjustment to their domestic roles share fears and confidences they cannot discuss with anyone else.

The decision to return to work and leave an infant in the care of another or tend to the baby and learn to enjoy it is up to the individual, but the choice is eased by a positive support group anxious to give the newcomer encouragement.

"This is uncharted territory," Ms. Klein said. "Whether we return to work full or part-time, or wait, there are no real models on how to integrate our self-concept as a working woman and as a mother. We're struggling with problems our mothers never faced."

All of the group participants, including Ms. Klein, postponed their first child until career, personal and financial problems were resolved. Delighted with the prospect of the baby they were finally able to have, each hoped to be a full-time mother, returning to work when their progeny was sufficiently grown.

None anticipated the sense of isolation and feelings of inadequacy accompanying their child's arrival.

"I'll never forget that first day alone with Joshua," said Mrs. Sampson. "I kept thinking, 'What am I going to do?'"

"There was no one to talk with who could understand my negative feelings," she said, "and I had a tremendous need to relate to other people. I felt like screaming."

It was only when Mrs. Sampson was referred to the support group that she was able to evaluate her problem and decide to return to her position as a research dietician when her baby was four months old.

Once the anguish dissipated in the relaxed atmosphere of the evening get-togethers, Mrs. Sampson, with her husband's support, was able to find a competent sitter.

Although her speedy return to work generated overt criticism from more traditionally inclined acquaintances, Mrs. Sampson is confident Joshua, now 13 months old, is getting excellent care with a doting sitter and loving parents who appreciate and make the most of their time with him.

The loneliness, inadequacy and guilt Mrs. Sampson experienced is becoming an all too familiar experience for working women suddenly back in the home, no matter how ardent their intentions, said Ms. Klein.

"These people were never particularly lonely before, but when you're used to being around others at work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and then you're a mother, who do you talk to from 9 to 5?"

"The woman becomes further isolated in her relationship with friends," she said, "especially if they don't have young children. If they do, competition or different philosophies on child rearing tend to interfere."

Then there are altered relationships with husbands to contend with. Wives who split financial responsibilities with their spouses suddenly find themselves dependent, Ms. Klein said.

"They're home taking care of the child — which they chose to do — but now they're doing all the laundry, cleaning, cooking and housework too," she said. "Chores that were once split all fall into the mother's domain" unless there is some renegotiation between the husband and wife.

"Particularly demoralizing is the pressure to be a supermom," she said. "Juggling 10 different roles and always emerging lovely."

"The media, advertising and even our peers make it clear there's no prestige in being a mother," Ms. Klein said. "While women who worked had something to show for it like a paycheck, they can't see a tangible accomplishment in a pile of clean laundry."

Resolving the frustrations and subsequent guilt that comes with feeling so negative isn't easy, but the input from non-judgmental women wrestling with the same problems goes a long way.

The evening sessions, scheduled when the fathers are available for baby-sitting, are therapeutic for Ms. Klein as well as the other mothers.

Ms. Klein became aware of just how disorienting the transition from a work to a home environment can be with the birth of her son Jessie when she was 33.

"I was eager to become a mother, and felt very strongly that I should stay home with the baby," she recalled, but soon realized "there was something different about first time mothers over 30, used to their own identity and financial independence."

"It's frustrating moving into more traditional roles, finding oneself acting like one's mother when we thought we had come so far away," she said.

Finding ample numbers of classes and meetings aimed at prenatal and child care but nothing for women like herself, Ms. Klein was convinced there was a definite need for a support group providing an opportunity for communication between older mothers used to a career.

After years of counseling children with learning disabilities and delinquents, she was anxious to channel her training into a new dimension.

"I really wanted to work with a healthy population going through a transition that could use the support," she said.

Placing information about the group she was starting in the offices of pediatricians and hospitals, Ms. Klein found the response so great she formed more groups and plans new ones for mothers expecting their second child and couples debating a first.

Beach Manufacturing

Sand, dredged from the floor of the Lake Monroe harbor and piled here at the marina, will be moved in about six weeks to the beach area around the hotel and marina area. As part of the improvement of the harbor and beach undertaken by the city of Sanford, the beach is to be covered first with a manufactured erosion control material and then with the sand, according to City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles.

The children of Sanford

The children of Sanford are the City's future leaders, and Barnett Bank wants to keep them safe.

One year ago, Barnett Bank first opened its doors to the city of Sanford and our office has been growing ever since. Total deposits are now over $3 million and in the past 6 months commercial business has increased over 770%. Yet we never would have been able to develop so quickly without the help of the community's residents and businesses. Your support has been greatly appreciated. We would like to express our thanks for this warm reception by offering a means to help protect our city's future leaders.

We recognize that today's children will be Sanford's future leaders. Barnett wants to help protect these valuable young citizens by providing them with a safe place to play. For every new account opened at our Sanford Office during the month of January, Barnett Bank will donate $10 towards the purchase of new playground equipment for the Clifford W. McKibbin Jr. Memorial Park.

If you would like to help provide the children of Sanford with a safe place to play, open an account at our Sanford office today, and we'll donate $10 towards protecting our future leaders... It's our way of saying Thank-you Sanford, and to ensure that the city will continue to prosper.

IN BRIEF

Captain Linked To Murder Of Americans May Go Free

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — A Salvadoran army captain believed to be the head of the death squad that killed two American AFL-CIO land reform advisers will be released from jail today if no new charges are filed against him, a judge said.

Capt. Eduardo Avila was reportedly one of the rightist death squad leaders on a list Vice President George Bush gave to the Salvadoran government last month, calling for a crackdown on the paramilitary bands in exchange for further U.S. aid.

Michael Hammer and Mark Pearlman, land reform advisers for the international arm of the AFL-CIO, were shot to death Jan. 4, 1981, in a dining room at the Sheraton hotel in San Salvador.

The only way Avila's release could be blocked is if a judge presented new charges today, or the police chief added time to the captain's sentence for misconduct in jail.

Elections May Be Canceled

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua's minister of defense said the 1985 presidential elections announced just days ago may be canceled because of a new, U.S.-backed rebel offensive against the Marxist Sandinistas.

Council of State President Carlos Nunez announced Sunday that elections would be held in 1985 for president, vice president and a 90-member constituent assembly.

Defense Minister Humberto Ortega said the United States, Honduras and the rebels — estimated to have an army of 7,000 soldiers — are collaborating in a new attack against the Sandinista government called "Plan Sierra."

The Reagan administration reportedly has pumped more than $25 million in covert military aid into the rebel cause.

McCartney Busted Again

LONDON (UPI) — Linda McCartney, wife of ex-Beatle Paul McCartney, was arrested for possessing marijuana only hours after the couple paid a fine in Barbados for the same charge — but Paul says it wasn't his wife's fault.

"All our bags were thoroughly searched by police in Barbados after we were busted there. They told us they were clean but they obviously didn't do a thorough job," an indignant McCartney said late Tuesday by phone from his farm near Rye.

Scotland Yard said Mrs. McCartney, 41, was arrested for possessing herbal cannabis after arriving at Heathrow airport Tuesday from Bridgeport, Barbados, with her husband and four children.

The marijuana — herbal cannabis is the least potent type of marijuana — was found in an empty 35-gram film canister in her handbag, airport officials said.

Food Prices To Skyrocket

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The price of such staples as ham, chicken and butter will shoot up as much as 30 percent Jan. 30, a government spokesman said, depressing Polish living standards even further.

The long-awaited food price hikes will average 10 percent and add more than 3 percent to the average cost-of-living for Poles, Chief government spokesman Jerzy Urban said Tuesday.

The increases follow four months of "consultation" with the public and the new government-controlled trade union groups that replaced the banned independent Solidarity organization.

Most Poles have complained the hikes were too steep.

Soviets Deploy Missiles In E. Germany To Counter U.S. Cruise And Pershing-2s

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has begun the deployment of nuclear weapons in East Germany to counter the new U.S.-made cruise and Pershing-2 missiles in Western Europe, the Soviet army newspaper said today.

The missiles are controlled by Soviet personnel in agreement with the East German government, the army newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) said in a dispatch from a correspondent who visited a missile unit.

President Yuri Andropov warned in November the Soviet Union would install nuclear weapons in both East Germany and Czechoslovakia once the deployment of the American weapons began.

NATO began installing Pershing and cruise missiles in West Germany and Britain last month to counter Soviet SS-20 missiles aimed at Western Europe.

The army newspaper mentioned only one Soviet missile unit. It did not say if any others are in place or give details of the weapons though Western diplomats said they were likely to be the medium-range SS-20s.

Krasnaya Zvezda described the missiles only as "tactical weapons of an enhanced range." The Washington Post said today that "tactical weapons" could describe the new SS-22 missile, which from East Germany could hit targets in Scandinavia, all of West Germany and parts of Britain.

A Western diplomat said the missile announcement was one more sign the Soviet Union does not intend to be easily persuaded to return to the Geneva arms negotiations with the United States. The Soviets left the talks in November to protest the new U.S. missiles in Europe.

But while Moscow claims it is the first time nuclear weapons are being installed in Eastern Europe, Western analysts said they have long been in place in Warsaw Pact countries.

The newspaper did not say when the Soviet missile deployment began or where in East Germany they were stationed.

"The unit has been deployed on agreement with the East German government in the framework of one of the Soviet Union's reply measures to the deployment of U.S. Pershing and cruise missiles in Europe," the newspaper said.

"Much of what is needed for the life and combat training of the Soviet missile unit has already been prepared," the report said.

"Residential quarters and amenity services have been equipped, the necessary training base has been set up. Much assistance was given in this by German friends," it said.

The announcement came as Secretary of State George Shultz prepared to meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the Stockholm conference on European security today for discussions expected to focus on the stalled superpower arms talks.

"We call it 'Coalition-21' and plan to collect 290,000 signatures.

"We feel we'll get the figure and that it will pass. We feel confident we'll get it," she said.

Carlton said she attended the information cruise, donated by the Star of Sanford, because "there are some people in Sanford C.A.N. who are no doubt movers and doers in the community. We need to make things happen."

Sgt. Bernosky, who with Phil Goldstick, president of Sanford C.A.N., helped start the organization, said the key to taking a step towards solving the drug and alcohol problem was to increase the "awareness of chemical dependency."

"The problem knows no color, no gender, striking rich and poor. We have to ask why are lives being destroyed. We must admit there is a problem. There is a world of denial in our school and community, and most critical of all, in our families.

"Please listen to what we are going to say to you. No longer can we say let the other guy do it for us," Bernosky said.

Circuit Court Judge Dominick Salfi tells the group how he became aware of the drug abuse problem and ways to combat it.

Dr. George Gazda, a research psychologist with the University of Georgia who has worked with the Seminole County School System, said he was excited about the manner in which Sanford C.A.N. brought the community leaders together to review the problem.

Gazda said there appears to be more public interest in Seminole County about the drug problem than in other communities he knows. Gazda said the effort by Sanford C.A.N. and the Chemical People, a national group sponsored by First Lady Nancy Reagan, which had a national program on television in the fall, is the first significant movement towards combating drug problems he has seen since the drug culture of the 1960s.

Edward Sargent, a representative from the Orlando Naval Training Center and a drug and alcohol counselor, said substance abuse is at epidemic proportions and that if it were an epidemic in the classical sense, the World Health Organization would be putting its resources behind the problem.

Sargent, who said he was impressed by the cruise's participation, questioned the policy of having an open bar on an excursion designed to inform community leaders about drug and alcohol abuse, a point agreed upon by Roll.

Liberatore told the passengers that it was not by chance that they were in attendance and were hand-picked from the community because they were leaders. He said their support was needed to solve the problem.

"If we don't solve it, who in the hell is? It is about time we the parents, the residents, the citizen and taxpayer take something into our own hands.

"I can't bow my head to the people here representing the state. We need your talent and your brains," Liberatore said.

He also told the assemblage that beyond moral support, the Sanford C.A.N. needs their financial support.

"Yes, I will be looking for some money from you," Liberatore said adding that there are also several opportunities to obtain federal grants to support the group's efforts.

During the evening, pledge cards were distributed among the passengers with more than 150 turned in offering support to the group, said Sara Graff, assistant to the vice president of Sanford C.A.N.

Graff said while she had not yet seen the pledge cards to determine the types of support offered, Liberatore told her the pledges were of both time and money.

Thomas Stevenson, vice president of Paulucci Enterprises, said the multi-national conglomerate was "committed to any civic endeavor such as this. It is something that has to go nationwide. We hope to bring our resources to the matter, any help we can give them."

Stevenson said it was too early in the activities of Sanford C.A.N. to determine specifically how Paulucci Enterprises would help.

State attorney Douglas Cheshire, whose office must prosecute dozens of drug dealers each year, said his office was committed to the organization and its effort to halt the youth drug problem.

Cheshire, like other speakers, had his comments broadcast through speakers on the vessel and his image projected by video to a screen on a lower deck.

Liberatore, who previously mentioned he became involved in Sanford C.A.N. for personal reasons including the drug-related deaths of two sisters, said he was going to take a secondary role in the organization with the initial effort of the group now history.

had repaired the rig and were back in operation, Knowles said.

Work is also well underway "slip-casing" the least contaminated of the six wells to seal in the well and seal off the EDB infiltration. The well's depth is also being increased from 425 feet to 535 feet. While a new casing was being installed, records were kept of the velocity of the water and gamma ray examinations of the strata.

Because of the new casing, Knowles said the capacity of the well is expected to be reduced from 677 gallons per minute to 500. The work is expected to be completed by Jan. 27. Samples of the water then will be tested at a state laboratory to determine if the casing has eliminated the EDB infiltration.

If the method works in ridding Well 5 of EDB, the same method will be used on the other five contaminated wells, Knowles said.

If the new casing doesn't work, the city will have to search for another new well site, sink two additional wells there and run a new transmission line to the Mayfair water plant.

"If we can restore the Mayfair wells, it will save a lot of money," Knowles said.

The first two new wells drilled to a depth of 300 feet are cased and drilling is underway on the third. All the work on the four new wells is expected to be completed by Feb. 4, Knowles said, and if the state continues expediting the permitting process, all four should be on line by Feb. 11.

Transmission lines from the Hidden Lake site are now being installed. Early next week, Florida Power & Light Co. is scheduled to begin installing power lines to the site, Knowles said.

"Al Montgomery, the new manager of the FP&L office in Sanford, has promised full cooperation in getting the power to the wells as quickly as possible," Knowles said.

"After these four new wells are on line, we will be less dependent on the two irrigation wells," Knowles said.

Treadmill Test Valuable In Identifying Potential Victims Of Heart Attacks

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH (UPI) — A simple treadmill test can determine which heart-attack patients can return to work and which are in danger of a second attack, a Stanford doctor says.

Patients with a normal response to exercise testing on a treadmill three weeks after heart attacks have less than a 2 percent chance of dying within the first year after their seizure, Dr. Robert DeBusk said.

Those patients could resume normal activity, including work, three to five weeks after their heart attacks if their personal physicians approved, he said.

Patients whose hearts showed abnormalities in the treadmill test had a 10 percent chance of dying within a year, DeBusk said. Those incapable of taking the test had even greater chances of dying and might benefit from surgery, he said.

"With this procedure, we're able to identify three-quarters of the people destined to have a reinfarction (another heart attack)," DeBusk told a science writers' seminar in remarks released Tuesday.

In a treadmill test, the patient walks on a belt moving at an increasing pace until he can go no further.

The treadmill was better than such sophisticated techniques as thallium myocardial perfusion scintigraphy, which measures blood flow to the heart muscle, he said.

The Stanford team that studied the treadmill test began a study in July to see how patients fare when they return to work only a few weeks after a heart attack.

Information from treadmill testing could help personal physicians judge more accurately how soon patients can resume usual activities such as sports and sex, and it can also reassure patients and their spouses or partners, he said.

Treadmill information can also help patients save money by determining who needs further surgery after a heart attack.

Heart Attack

Diet-Drug Combination Key To Prevention

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $150 million federal study hailed as a landmark shows for the first time that lowering blood cholesterol could help prevent heart attacks and death due to coronary disease in millions of people.

The study of 3,806 middle-age men with high blood cholesterol also showed those who took a cholesterol-lowering drug suffered 24 percent fewer cardiac deaths and 19 percent fewer heart attacks than those who tried to lower cholesterol through diet alone.

The men who took the drug also suffered less angina — chest pain that signals heart disease — needed fewer coronary bypass operations and hit the danger level on exercise tests less often.

In addition, the 10-year study demonstrated the incidence of coronary heart disease is related to the degree of cholesterol-lowering. High-risk men cut their chances of having a heart attack in half by lowering blood cholesterol levels by 25 percent, the researchers said.

Cholesterol forms much of the fatty substance that clogs coronary arteries, setting the stage for heart attacks.

"The key message from the study is this: The investigators estimate that if all Americans would reduce their blood cholesterol levels by 25 percent, this would eventually lead to a 50 percent reduction in the incidence of coronary heart disease," said Dr. Antonio Gotto, president of the American Heart Association.

Gotto hailed the study, to be published in Friday's Journal of the American Medical Association, as a landmark.

Dr. Basil Rifkind of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, who directed the study, called it the "first study to demonstrate conclusively that the risk of coronary heart disease can be reduced by lowering blood cholesterol."

Rifkind said although the study concentrated on men age 35 to 59, women and younger men identified by their doctors as having a high risk of heart attack or disease could benefit from the same program.

Heart attacks and related heart ailments are responsible for more deaths in the United States than any other disease, killing half a million people each year. About 680,000 suffer heart attacks annually, and 5.4 million have coronary disease.

It is estimated one in 10 men aged 35 to 59 have high blood cholesterol levels.

Cholesterol which forms part of cell surfaces and is involved in their reproduction, is a substance necessary to life. Studies have shown, however, too much cholesterol in the blood is linked to increased risk of heart disease.

Rifkind said no one had shown conclusively that lowering cholesterol levels would reduce the risk of heart disease until this latest study.

The drug used in the study was cholestyramine, which lowers blood cholesterol by changing the way food is processed in the intestinal tract. It is already on the market and available for prescription.

Its drawbacks were that it had to be taken several times a day, ideally six, mixed with water or orange juice. Some men in the drug group took fewer packets and some took none. The diet group took a placebo.

Side effects included constipation and bloating, but most could be eliminated with treatment, the doctors said.

Police Stockpile High-Tech Weaponry For The Olympics

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police preparing for the Olympic Games are stockpiling a cache of anti-terrorist hardware — some of it seemingly out of a "James Bond" movie — including silencer-equipped submachine guns, aerial and underwater surveillance devices and a robot.

Police already have spent $454,936 for the equipment and have placed orders for items worth $149,268, according to city administrative office figures obtained by the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

The department gets to keep the gear once the Games are over.

Among the acquisitions are a $61,091 bomb-disposal robot; five $650 sets of "photo binoculars" that take pictures with 35mm film; five sets of wireless underwater communication equipment costing $8,211, and a $4,100 British "electronic detection apparatus" that can detect impressions left by writing after the original copy is gone.

"Police are being charged with an ever-wider array of social problems to deal with," Michael T. Klare, an author and member of the Institute for Policy Studies, said in Washington. "It's partly how society views the role of police. Now I sense there's going to be a new upsurge in buying this stuff."

He suggested the public might have reason to be intimidated by the sophisticated equipment.

"It gives police a greatly enhanced potential for surveillance of everyone," Klare said. "That's more Big Brother, there's no getting around it."

But police spokesman William Booth said Klare's premise is "foolish."

"I think that it's foolish for anyone to assume or suggest that the police are just waiting with baited breath for high technology to give them the tools with which they can thwart the Constitution and the laws of the land," Booth said.

Booth said the department is using the Games as an opportunity to acquire "the kinds of equipment we've needed for some time. Now we have this golden opportunity."

Booth declined to speculate on specific scenarios in which the sophisticated gear or the silencer-equipped machine guns could be used.

The money comes from the city's Olympic Trust Fund, created in 1978 to help pay for expenses connected with the Games, said George Wolfberg of the city administrative office. As of December, he said, the fund contained $11.8 million, most of it from hotel and ticket taxes.

Rights Commission Narrows Its Role

HUNT VALLEY, Md. (UPI) — The new U.S. Civil Rights Commission wasted no time in pointing itself down a more conservative path, voting at its first meeting to condemn quotas and adopt a narrower watchdog role.

"We have given the public... a view of the new commission and how it may operate," Chairman Clarence Pendleton said Tuesday at the close of the commission's two-day meeting. "There will be, in a sense, a new direction."

But not everyone liked what they saw.

"I despair for women and minorities especially in this country," said liberal commissioner Mary Berry, whom President Reagan tried to fire last year and who balked at much of the commission's redirection.

In Washington, leaders of the congressional black, Hispanic and women's caucuses asked 11 House committees and 33 subcommittees with jurisdiction over the panel to "take immediate oversight and investigative action" on its efforts to redefine and narrow its search for discrimination.

"The Reagan administration fully intends to eliminate civil rights monitoring and turn the commission into an arm of the White House political apparatus," they said.

The commission was reorganized by Congress last year after a bitter fight over Reagan's attempt to fire and replace a majority of members then sitting on the 26-year-old advisory agency, which oversees the nation's civil rights practices.

Despite the reorganization, however, civil rights groups charge Reagan succeeded in stacking the eight-member panel with those more in tune with his philosophies, including opposition to quotas and forced busing.

At its meeting, the commission adopted a resolution declaring itself independent of the White House but it also issued, on a 6-2 vote, a statement reversing the civil rights commission's 3-year-old policy condoning quotas.

The statement instead deplores quotas that give groups of women or minorities preference over "innocent third parties" in hiring, promotions or other benefits simply because others of their sex or race were discriminated against.

"Preferential treatment based on race, color, gender, national origin or religion" should be not condoned "at the expense of innocent individuals."

The commission staked out its position in a case involving a court-approved quota system in Detroit that promotes black and white policemen in equal numbers to remedy past discrimination against blacks.

The administration, through the Justice Department, tried unsuccessfully to get the Supreme Court to condemn the Detroit quotas.

Hospital Argues Against Quadriplegic's Plea To Die

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Doctors who would allow quadriplegic Elizabeth Bouvia to commit suicide would be committing a crime and could be imprisoned, lawyers for Riverside General Hospital have told the California Supreme Court.

They asked the high court Tuesday to allow the county hospital to continue force-feeding the 26-year-old cerebral palsy victim who has asked that she be allowed to starve herself to death.

"Killing of the petitioner would be neither excusable nor justifiable," Deputy County Counsel Barbara Milliken said in papers filed with the state's highest court.

If the court does not allow the force-feeding to continue, the result would be criminal homicide, Ms. Milliken said. "No court has recognized the right to commit suicide or to compel others to assist that suicide."

Hospital officials, who last month threatened to discharge Mrs. Bouvia, said they will care for her until she finds somewhere else to go. But the woman so far has refused more than 100 plans to move to convalescent centers, Ms. Milliken said.

The state Supreme Court is considering Mrs. Bouvia's request to starve herself in Riverside General Hospital.

Nader Claims Federal Waste Probe Is A Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission that sought out waste and inefficiency in government went too far in recommending cutbacks in health and safety programs that could cost lives, consumer activist Ralph Nader charges.

The President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control closed out 18 months of investigation of waste last week, publishing the final report in a series that stretched through 23,000 pages.

Its chairman, J. Peter Grace, said the group used $75 million worth of donated time and $3.3 million in business contributions to issue 47 reports on what it considered unnecessary government spending.

However, the recommendations include abolishing many government programs and services Americans have come to take for granted.

"Many of the Grace commission recommendations deprive the American consumer and worker of their government's protection in the health and safety area and preserve the goodies that the corporations are getting from the government," Nader said.

"The recommendations would reshape the government away from helping the vast majority of the American people and in the direction of further enriching the rich and empowering the powerful."

Besides, Nader said, the donated time and expenses were being charged off against taxes as business expenses, an indirect subsidy from government.

If all of the commission's nearly 2,500 recommendations were carried out the savings over three years would be $424.4 billion. That would accumulate by the end of the century to savings of $10.5 trillion, Grace said.

Grace, whose zeal for shrinking government has kept him on the speechmaking circuit for years, said his volunteer executives would now fan out across the country, carrying a simple message: "If you're paying your taxes, 'Hiya, sucker.'"

Grace said individual income taxes only cover the cost of interest on the national debt. One-third of all income taxes is wasted and an amount equivalent to another third is never collected from people who reported that it was due, Grace said.

Nader said no one could argue with the managerial efficiencies recommended by the commission. But the specific recommendations went far beyond the group's mandate and extend to policy, he said.

"One of their recommendations is to weaken the meat and poultry inspection system," he said. "Another is to eliminate federal regulation of oil pipeline rates."

"We really have here a case where business executives from the food, oil, shipping and many other industries are recommending things that advance their own economic interests," he said.

Most Women Like Their Feet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most young women are unhappy with their bodies, but think their feet are neat.

Glamour magazine's Body-Image Survey of 33,000 of its readers — primarily between the ages of 18 and 35 — showed that 75 percent considered themselves to be too fat.

Fifty percent of the women use diet pills to lose weight and 25 percent have resorted to self-induced vomiting to keep their figures.

The part of their bodies women found most pleasing was their feet — with 81 percent expressing satisfaction. Calves were mentioned by 77 percent while breasts were selected by 71 percent.

Thighs, stomachs and hips were the body parts women were most ashamed of, the poll found.

But although two thirds of the women considered

Latin America Subject Of UCF Lecture Series

Joanne Omang, who reports on Central America for The Washington Post, is the first of three distinguished series lecturers appearing at the University of Central Florida this month and next.

The three-part series on Latin America 1984, is free and open to the public. It is sponsored by the S&H Foundation Leadership Program and UCF.

Omang's topic, "The News Media and Central America," will be presented tonight at 8 at the UCF music rehearsal hall.

She will be followed on Feb. 1 by Dr. Melvin Burke, professor of economics at the University of Maine, who will speak on "Latin America and the Debt Crisis..." Dr. Burke also is an economic consultant for Latin American economic and developmental problems.

The final speaker in the S&H series, Dr. Robert S. Leiken, will appear Feb. 15. The Senior Associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and Senior Fellow at Georgetown's Center for strategic and International studies will view "The Kissinger Report and the Future of Central America."

The series is presented by UCF as part of the internationalization of its liberal arts area and the 1984 initiation of a Latin American Studies program in the college of Arts and Sciences.

Amid Bombs, Bullets

School Occasional In Wartorn Beirut

By Jack Redden
 BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — With the shells screaming overhead and sniper fire blocking the only stairway out of the school, the teachers had no choice but to lower their seven and eight-year-old students down the side of the building on a rope.

Bullets through the windows, shrapnel through the doors — a teacher in Beirut has many problems that her western counterpart has never dreamed of.

"They stay in their classroom until they are told to implement the security plan," Gaby Shamaa explained, using the kind of unemotional language that somehow makes the nine years of Lebanese warfare seem almost normal.

Nazareth, the school where she teaches mathematics, had been open for only 10 days since the beginning of September and was supposed to stay open through the Christmas holidays to make up the lost time.

A 3,000-pound bomb aimed at French peacekeepers ended that plan three days before Christmas. The explosion down the hill from the school shattered its windows and ripped open the doors.

"It's simple," said Sister Veronica Carthy. "Everything we did before has to be repaired again."

The hardships of closing down the schools tend to alternate between the Christian eastern side of Beirut and the mainly Moslem west. When one side of the city is closed by attacks, the other often is enjoying a period of peace.

While students in west Beirut have enjoyed almost uninterrupted classes, schools in east Beirut have been open only a few days since last fall.

Public schools in the Christian east, which make up about half of the total school system, have been jammed with refugees instead of students since the war broke out between warring militias last fall in the mountains east and southeast of the capital.

The years of experience in operating a school system during wartime have made the emergency procedures very efficient. There was even a bit of foresight. Schools built since 1967, the year of Israel's major victory over its Arab neighbors, have had to include bomb shelters.

"First we find out where the shelling is," said Sister Carthy. "Then we give the alert and take the children into the shelter."

In the case of Nazareth school, there are no real shelters and children take refuge in the lower floor, a former cistern, until the shooting stops and parents can arrive to escort them home.

Sister Carthy, nervous after years of attacks and given to sleeping in a more secure room near the chapel during shelling, says it is worse now with the threat of bombings and shelling from the mountains.

"Perhaps the people doing the firing before were nice," said the middle aged Roman Catholic nun. "They only shelled in the evening."

Women Planning Pregnancy After 30 Need To Shape Up, Obstetrician Says

By Sharon Rutenberg
 UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women over 30, who delay childbirth to pursue a career, should start getting in shape before they plan to become pregnant, an obstetrician says.

The best biological time to become pregnant is in the 20s, said Dr. Atef Moawad, chief of obstetrics at the University of Chicago Medical Center.

Moawad said more women these days are postponing childbearing until after age 30 when they are "more mature, more settled, more psychologically and emotionally able to raise kids and cope with kids b."

Of the dangers of pregnancy for the over-30 woman, he said, "It's not a matter of being risky or not risky anymore. We understand the risks and we can do something about it now ... People are doing it more because see that it can be done safely."

Chromosomal abnormalities increase with age but can be diagnosed by pre-natal tests such as amniocentesis or ultrasound.

He said older women should be screened for hypertension, diabetes and plaque in artery walls, all of which increase with age. These risks can be overcome if detected before pregnancy or in the early stages, Moawad said.

The cardiovascular system and blood vessels also must be examined before and throughout pregnancy.

"In essence, a healthy woman doesn't have to worry about her age as much anymore," he said.

Moawad said he would prefer to see an athletic 40-year-old pregnant woman than a 20-year-old obese pregnant woman who does not exercise or have toned muscles, is not taking care of herself and whose eating habits are bad.

A woman thinking about pregnancy after age 30 — and even 35 and 40 — should be actively doing something about it, Moawad said.

"She has to exercise, improve her physical condition, just like she's going for a race. This is a condition which taxes the physiology, especially the cardiovascular system."

Before becoming pregnant, a woman should consult with her physician and work for six months to reach optimal condition, he said. She should attain a proper diet, appropriate weight and good muscle tone.

"Most of the people who delay pregnancy are professionals and are sort of super-achievers," he said. "A doctor or someone has to lay it on the line."

"The lack of sleep and unwholesome life of a very high-strung, busy professional is not very good for the pregnancy. Some adjustments have to be made."

"We know if people stand on their feet and are strained, no matter what age, that's not very good for the circulation of the baby in the womb."

He said support by the husband, family and a person close to her at work is important.

"Work's fine — but not to the point of exhaustion. It's not good for pregnancy. In general, she should not get tired or exhausted."

A woman has more difficulty becoming pregnant as she ages. Many say they will postpone pregnancy and just assume they will become pregnant in a certain year.

"Well, some women will be disappointed because it's not going to happen just like that," Moawad said.

Some working couples find it difficult to get together at the right time.

"Some of my patients say, 'We have been trying for six months.' You find out they really hardly meet and they meet in the wrong times because their schedules cannot be adjusted," Moawad said.

"They're both professionals and their minds are elsewhere. They're hardly concentrating on the subject of relaxing."

Raiders Land 6-10 Nigerian; Battle Florida Junior Tonight

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Things are looking up for coach Bill Payne and his Seminole Community College Raiders — boy are they looking up.

Payne announced Tuesday the signing of 6-10 Nigerian Korede "Alexander" Soyobo. Soyobo is quick to point out Soyobo is no Akem "The Dream" Alajuwon, but the SCC coach is happy with his find and will painstakingly develop him over the next two years.

Soyobo began classes at SCC during the second semester, so he will be eligible for competition when the Raiders open their 1984-85 season. The 21-year-old freshman was channeled to SCC via the University of Kentucky.

Two of Payne's friends, Leonard Hamilton and Jim Hatfield, are assistants for Joe B. Hall, Hall's son, Joe B. Jr., discovered Soyobo while on a trip to Lagos, the capital of Nigeria.

"But when he walked into the University of Kentucky practice, there were five guys taller than him," said Payne. "He wasn't ready for that. Hamilton called me and I said we'd be very happy to take him."

Soyobo has a long way to go, Payne said. "But you can't teach them to go," said Bill. "We're making him (assistant coach) Dean Smith's project. When we break to practice, Dean takes him over to the side."

"Alexander is a great kid. He works very hard and shoots well from eight to nine feet. He just hasn't playing any basketball and that's what we're going to teach him," Payne added.

Basketball

Payton cashed in 18 of 19 free throws — several which came down the stretch — on his way to a career-high 30 points to hold off the Scots. It was just Daytona's fifth loss in 19 games. The Scots had upset second-ranked Lake City earlier this year.

Tolbert, a standout for Orlando Oak Ridge last year, provided the impetus for two second-half spurts which took the wind out of Daytona's sails. Tolbert hit six straight points early in the second half for a 16-point SCC lead, then came back with five more for a 17-point spread with nine minutes to play.

"We're getting a lot more good out of our new lineup," said Payne about the quintet of Payton, Tolbert, Lenny Grace, Bernard Merthle and Luis Phelps. "The kids are playing harder and Tolbert has taken some of the pressure off Payton. Jimmy's been able to shoot more instead of worrying about running the offense."

A change defensively, too, has helped SCC mold a 12-8 mark along with 2-1 in the division. "We played predominately 1-3-1 and 2-3 zone against Daytona," said Payne. "We had just been putting the other team at the foul line too much."

"We'd like to be more aggressive and play man-to-man, but you can't send them to the foul line 40 times a night and hope to win."

SCC is 7-4 at home and 5-4 away from home. Payne said he hopes to finish .500 in the Mid-Florida Conference and then win the post-season tournament to gain a berth in the state tournament.

The winner of the conference automatically qualifies. Payne thinks that will be Lake City, which is 2-1. The loss was at Daytona. Florida Junior (2-1) and Daytona (1-1) are the other challengers along with Payne's

Bill Payne
...things looking up

1-1 Raiders.

Tonight, the Raiders journey to Palatka for a game with Florida Junior. The man to stop for FJC is William Davis, a 6-1 sophomore guard who is averaging 17 points per game. "They've also got two 6-5 guys from Thomasville, Ga. who jump by kangaroos," said Payne.

After tonight's game, the Raider will return home Saturday to host arch-rival Valencia at 7:30. There is no charge for admission.

Williams' Jumper At Buzzer Stops Seabreeze Sweep

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH — With the Seminole girls' and boys' varsity basketball teams coming into this snowbird retreat with 29 victories between them, one could assume that they would leave Seabreeze High with 30 or 31.

Assumptions, however, went by the seaside Tuesday night. The Lady Sand Crabs put the bite on 6-2 Dieldre Hillery, holding her to a season-low three points, while carving out a 55-50 overtime victory over the Lady Seminoles.

Basketball

The boys weren't much better. They ran into a sticky man-to-man, full-court press in the second half and an incessant attack on the offensive boards by the aggressive Sand Crabs en route to a 70-56 setback.

"Their press just killed us," said Seminole coach Chris Marlette. "We were not taking our time on it. We got the ball inbound too quickly, then the guards didn't do a good job of breaking it."

All was not lost, though. When it came down to the clutch shot, there was nobody cooler than sophomore Daryl Williams. The 5-7 guard swished an 18-footer at the buzzer to lift the Seminole junior varsity to a pulsating 50-49 victory to salvage the middle game of this Five Star Conference triple-header.

"That one will make the long ride home a lot more fun," said coach John McNamara about Williams' game-winning shot. "We needed this one after all the close ones that got away."

The victory improved the JV's mark to 7-5 overall and 6-4 in the Five Star. Although Williams tossed in the big one, he had a lot of help from sophomore Alvin Jones, who had an NBA night on the boards. Jones yanked down a career-high 20 rebounds and came up with five steals.

Williams finished with 21 points along with 10 assists. Hill finished with 13 points and 10 board while Dexter Franklin chipped in three points and handed out seven assists.

The JVs play Lake Mary Friday night at 6:30.

While the JV victory will not have much bearing on the conference race, the twin losses suffered by the varsity probably will.

"This was a big one," extolled Seabreeze coach Joe Pigotte Jr. after his Crabs had spanked the Seminoles. "I don't think you can lose more than three and win the conference."

And three losses is exactly where Sanford's boys stand right now. They have won six, so there are still nine games to play in the conference race. Spruce Creek ripped Lake Howell Tuesday to improve to 8-1. Mainland is also 8-1. Seabreeze is 7-2. Lake Mary fell to 5-4 with its loss to DeLand.

"Slim," was how Marlette described the Tribe title hopes. "We still have a possibility, but Spruce Creek and Mainland both have to lose twice."

Neither team started like a conference contender Tuesday. Both opened in man defenses and forced shots. Seabreeze took a 7-6 lead before Tribe coach Chris Marlette yanked point guard Bruce Franklin in favor of senior Steve Grey with 3:21 to play in the first.

Grey fed James Rouse for one bucket, combined with Willie Mitchell for a steal and then hit him for a breakaway basket for a 10-7 lead. Mitchell then fired one in from the wing for a 12-7 edge with 1:40 to go.

The Tribe took advantage of seven Seabreeze turnovers in the quarter but missed two more opportunities to score when Grey missed a wide-open 17-footer and Mitchell couldn't break free for the last shot.

Still, when the Crabs didn't score for the first two minutes of the second quarter, Rouse and Franklin popped in buckets for a 19-11 edge. Mitchell, who led the Tribe with 23 points, got hot midway through the quarter as the "Noles went up 25-15 on a Tommy Stiffley jumper with just 1:47 left to intermission.

Then the Tribe tried to slow things down — and got stuck. Darryl Robinson hit a quick basket, Pat Johnson scored off a steal and 6-5 Greg Jenkins picked off an inbound pass and scored again.

The beginning of the end came when Pat Johnson tossed in a 22-foot bank shot as the buzzer went off to pull the Crabs within 25-23 at halftime.

The Crabs took immediate control in the second half, outscoring the Tribe, 20-8, en route to a 43-33 edge. A nice baseline move by Sanford's Jimmy Gilchrist cut the margin to six, but Seminole would get no closer than nine the final eight minutes.

SEMINOLE (88) — Mitchell 23, Rouse 12, Gilchrist 4, Gordon 8, Grey 6, Franklin 7, Stiffley 2, Holloman 8, Alexander 6. Totals: 25 & 13-34.

SEABREEZE (70) — T. Johnson 10, P. Johnson 18, Robinson 20, Parks 4, Jenkins 8, White 8, Gould 2. Totals: 37 & 21-70.

Halftime — Seminole 23, Seabreeze 23. Fouls — Seminole 22, Seabreeze 17. Fouled out — Gordon, Technicals — none.

While the loss pretty much put the final nail into any conference championship chances for the boys, the setback suffered by coach Ron Merthie's girls only slightly slows their run for the championship.

"Now we got to play. But I knew that all along," said Merthie. "There are too many good teams in this conference. We don't have the cushion now. We don't have the luxury of losing another game and still winning it."

The Lady Seminoles are 9-1 and lead 8-2 Lake Howell by a game. DeLand, which knocked off Lake Mary Tuesday, is third at 7-3. Lake Mary falls to 6-4.

Gordon Overwhelms Lady Rams

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's Lady Rams did everything they could Tuesday night, but they just couldn't stop DeLand's Bridgette Gordon.

Gordon, despite being harassed by two or more defenders most of the night, poured in a game-high 34 points to lead DeLand's Lady Bulldogs to a 57-46 victory over the Lady Rams in Five Star Conference action at Lake Mary High.

"None of her shots were easy ones," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said of Gordon. "We had people in her face all night, but she still made her shots. We might have been so worried about Gordon that we didn't do the things on defense that we wanted to."

Tuesday's loss marked the second time this season DeLand has beaten the Lady Rams. The Bulldogs also pulled ahead of Lake Mary and into sole possession of third place in the conference race. DeLand stands at 12-4 overall and 7-3 in the conference while Lake Mary fell to 11-5 overall and 6-4 in the conference and also had its winning streak snapped at six.

the conference Thursday when it goes up against conference leading Sanford Seminole at Seminole High. Seminole was upset by Daytona Beach Seabreeze Tuesday and stands at 9-1 in the conference.

Although Gordon started and finished hot, Lake Mary's Peggy Glass matched her basket for basket in the first half as Lake Mary took a five-point lead, 28-23, at halftime. Gordon had 14 of her 34 points in the first half while Glass had 12 of her 16 points.

Gordon continued to sizzle in the third quarter, pumping in 11 points, as DeLand outscored Lake Mary, 17-8, to take a four-point lead, 40-38, into the fourth. DeLand built a 10-point lead, 48-38, with 4:30 remaining on a jumper by Gordon, but Lake Mary fought back to within four points, 48-44, on a layup by Laura Glass.

Not long after that though, Laura Glass was whistled for her fifth foul and Moore was slapped with a technical after arguing the call. Debbie Knight hit both technical free throws and Gordon hit the front end of a one-and-one to put the Lady Bulldogs back up by seven, 51-50, with 1:34 remaining.

Knight came back to hit a layup with 1:14 remaining to put DeLand up by nine, 53-44, and Robyn Swartz then delivered the knockout punch as she came up with a steal and raced down court for a layup and an 11-point DeLand lead, 55-44, with 1:04 remaining.

Behind Gordon for DeLand, Knight tossed in nine points and Nikk, Williams added eight. Peggy Glass turned in a fine performance for the Lady Rams with 16 points and nine rebounds. Andrea Fenning added eight points for Lake Mary while Laura Glass chipped in with six points and six rebounds. Kim Averill handed out a game-high seven assists and Lisa Gregory dished out five assists.

DELAND (57) — Corr 2, Gordon 34, Knight 9, Swartz 6, Williams 8. Totals: 249-1537.

LAKE MARY (46) — Averill 4, Fenning 8, L. Glass 6, P. Glass 16, Gregory 6, C. Hall 0, L. Hall 2, Patterson 2. Totals: 222-344.

Halftime — Lake Mary 28, DeLand 23. Fouls — Lake Mary 17, DeLand 6. Fouled out — L. Glass, Technicals — DeLand coach Cos. Lake Mary coach Moore, Gordon.

Careless Lake Mary Hands DeLand 60-58 5-Star Victory

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

After being behind for most of the game to DeLand's Bulldogs, Lake Mary's Rams started to surge in the fourth quarter and looked in good shape when Darryl Merthie dropped in a pair of layups to give the Rams a three-point lead, 58-55, with 53 seconds left to play.

But, the Rams managed to snatch defeat out of the jaws of victory Tuesday night as some careless play down the stretch enabled DeLand to pull out a 60-58 victory in Five Star Conference action at Lake Mary High.

"We gave it away," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "We had the lead and tried to spread it out. I guess we shouldn't have done that."

After Merthie gave the Rams their three-point lead, DeLand's Kevin Weickel came back to hit a jumper to pull the Bulldogs within one, 58-57, with 40 seconds remaining. Lake Mary then came down and tried to run some time off the clock, but the Rams committed one of three costly turnovers in the last minute to give the Bulldogs new life with 25 seconds remaining.

DeLand came down the court and called a timeout with 17 seconds remaining to set up a last shot. The Bulldogs got the ball to Weickel who tried to drive for a layup, but he was fouled by Lake Mary's Fred Miller with seven seconds left.

Weickel canned both free throws to give DeLand a 59-58 lead, but it still wasn't over. Lake Mary had seven seconds, a lifetime according to Al McGuire, to work for a last shot. But, as they did their last two times down the floor, the Rams committed another turnover and Randy Anderson hit one of two free throws with two seconds left to ice the victory for DeLand.

The loss dropped Lake Mary to 8-6 overall and 5-4 in the conference while DeLand improved to 6-9 overall and 4-5 in the conference. Lake Mary will try to regroup as it prepares for round three of its rivalry with Seminole to be played Friday night at Seminole High.

"We can't play like we did tonight against Seminole," Richardson said. "We did well in spots tonight but there's still room for improvement."

Anderson led the way for DeLand with a game-high 21 points and 16 rebounds. He was joined in double figures by Weickel with 16 points and Greg Gilmore with 13.

Merthie had one of his best games this season with 19 points and seven rebounds. Miller added 12 points for the Rams and Billy Dunn and Ray Hartsfield tossed in eight apiece. Donald Grayson led Lake Mary underneath with eight rebounds.

DeLand took advantage of Anderson's strength inside to build a five-point lead, 22-17, after one quarter. DeLand continued to roll in the second quarter as the Bulldogs took a nine-point lead, 28-19, on a 22-foot jumper by Stanley Collins. DeLand coach John Zeoll pulled Collins out after he swished his jumper and told him it was out of his range.

Lake Mary then went on to outscore DeLand, 11-8, the remainder of the second quarter to

Well-Placed Approach, Proper Advance Puts Odds In Your Favor

Most of us spend the vast majority of our practice time working on our backcourt game. We work long and hard hours learning to hit deep and consistent forehands and backhands from deep in our court.

This is fine and everybody who plays the game seriously realizes that they cannot ever get to a very high level if they do not develop a good ground game. It is unfortunate though that many, many players develop a superb backcourt game but never take advantage of their opponents short ball and come to net behind a good approach.

If you have good groundstrokes it will be to your great advantage to learn how and where to hit approach shots off both the forehand and backhand side. It is a great weapon and can turn the tide of many close matches in your favor.

The following is a description of the approach shot — how to hit it and where to direct your shot. Also included is where you should go after you hit the approach shot or what position you should take at net.

An approach shot is a shot that you hit to your opponents court and then come to the net behind it. It should happen as a result of your opponent hitting you a short ball — one that brings you to or just behind the mid-court area.

You should not attempt to approach from your own backcourt because it will give your opponent much too much time to pass you. When you get the short ball you should run up to a position that is actually more behind the ball than to the side of it.

You will have to hit most of your approach

Larry Castle
SCC Tennis Instructor

shots while you are still moving forward. This type of timing really must be practiced a lot in order for you to perfect it. Most of your approach shots should be hit with underspin or sidespin.

The forehand approach seems to work better and is more simply performed if sidespin is used. This gives you maximum control of your shot and also is running away from a righthander's backhand when you approach down the line — the backhand is more effective when you hit the ball with underspin. The ball stays lower and will somewhat skid if hit properly.

It is acceptable to approach with topspin if the ball is at or above the height of the net when you hit it but most experts agree that sidespin or underspin are the most effective.

Be patient in your baseline rallies. Keep the ball in play and deep until your opponent hits you the short ball, then come in, hit the approach shot and come on to net. The fact that you have come to net puts a lot of pressure on your opponent. He knows that he has to do something special now to win the point. A well-placed approach shot and a proper advancement to net puts the odds vastly in your favor in winning the point.

The approach shot should be hit down the line most of the time. If you hit your approach shot cross court you leave your opponent the easy down the line passing shot. You have a far better angle to cover the net and put more pressure on your opponent by hitting your shot down the line, and closing the net. You should close the net, directly in line with your approach shot.

After hitting the approach, run on in until you see your opponent swing forward. You then stop in your volley position, intently watch the ball, and volley to the open court.

If you are serious about tennis and play a lot of matches you will want to add the approach shot to your game. It's a great weapon.

Patriots Ride Workhorse Hodges Past Greyhounds

By Lou Stefano
Herald Sports Writer

In a game that saw more bodies hitting the ground than you'll see on Super Sunday and balls slipping through hands like they were doctored with slippery elm, Lake Brantley defeated Lyman 66-59 Tuesday night in Five Star Conference basketball at Lake Brantley High School.

The Patriots (4-11) literally raced to a 21-8 first quarter lead as they scored 12 of those points on fast breaks and four more on offensive rebounds by 6-7 junior center Greg Courtney.

"We just got the ball out," said Brantley coach Bob Peterson. "They (Lyman) were crashing the boards and we were getting pretty good rebounding position."

"They would crash with five people in the lane and we just busted out. In fact, we should have had a couple more if we would have looked up the floor," added the coach.

Lake Brantley's Austin Hodges scored eight of his game-high 24 points in the first quarter. "He's just really a workhorse," said Peterson about his 6-1 senior. "He's not pretty, nothing fancy but he just doesn't let up." Six of his first eight points were on fast breaks and another two came off an offensive rebound. Brantley had 13 offensive rebounds on the game, many that were turned into points.

Lyman's Rick Neal scored all six of his points in the second quarter as Lyman charged back, outscoring the Patriots, 18-12, to put the halftime deficit at 33-26.

In the second quarter Lyman changed tactics and Lake Brantley changed the efficiency of its play. "We asked our kids to press because we knew they put five people on the press. Then we started dropping one of our guards back, and stopped hanging around the ball," said Lyman coach Tom Lawrence.

While Lyman played better defense, the Patriots had trouble on offense as they developed a case of the bobbles. "We haven't turned the ball over like that in a month," said Peterson. "We got off to the early lead and that syndrome got to us; we wanted to put the ball in the hole a little too quickly."

Lyman started to trap Brantley's outlet pass and forced turnovers that allowed the Greyhounds to stay close.

Lake Brantley upped its lead in the third quarter to 13 points as Leroy Brown worked his way to four points by grabbing two important rebounds. But Lyman whittled the lead down to five at 44-39 when James Stewart asserted himself, scoring six points during the stretch.

That would be the pattern for the rest of the game as Brantley would get up by as many as 12 points and Lyman would knock it back down to five.

"That was the difference between them hitting free throws and we weren't," said Lawrence. "We'd get within six, and foul, and they would hit the free throws to get it up to eight and we would go down and miss and they would score to up it to 10."

For the game the Patriots hit 20 of 31 free throws with most of the misses coming in the first half.

Lake Brantley also won the junior varsity game, thrashing Lyman, 57-26. The Lyman JV played without Al Unroe and T.J. Scaletta, who were promoted to the varsity.

Jeff McClain and David Hardwick each had 12 points for the winners. Brad Simpson had 8 points in the losing effort.

ORLANDO — Oviedo's Mike Schwab returned from a twisted ankle injury with 24 points Tuesday night, but the Jones Tigers had too much firepower for the Lions, posting a 94-67 victory at Jones High School in District 3A-8 basketball action.

"We just couldn't stay with them," said coach Dale Phillips. "Their transition game was too much. We could play with them halfcourt, but when they got going, it was all over."

Schwab, who has been bothered by several injuries this year, started slowly, missing his first five shots. But while his touch was, he did a good job of getting the ball inside to senior Darrin Reichle. The 6-5 center muscled in 14 first-half

Meyers, Sanders Kick Rams By Blue Darters

Jerry Meyers and Andre Sanders kicked home two goals each Tuesday night as the Lake Mary Rams throttled Apopka, 7-0, in Five Star Conference soccer at Apopka High School.

The victory improves the Rams' ledger to 11-4 overall and 3-2 in the conference. Coach Larry McCorkle's squad hosts powerful Boone Saturday with junior varsity action beginning at 12 noon and varsity play at 2 p.m.

Meyers got the Rams rolling 21 minutes into the first half when he beat the fullback with a nice move, then whistled a shot past the keeper for a 1-0 edge. The goal was unassisted.

Sander got a breakaway 15 minutes later for a 2-0 lead. "He just outran everybody," said McCorkle about his talented junior.

The advantage grew to 3-0 with just 24 seconds left in the half when Sanders intercepted an Apopka pass near the net and booted it in.

Meyers turned in the best shot of the night for a 4-0 lead early in the second half when he took a pass from Marcus Siebmann and drilled a rocket from 23 feet for the score.

Prep Soccer

"Jerry really boomed it," said McCorkle. "For a little guy, I didn't know he had that much power."

Siebmann came back with a goal of his own next. Snessing, a shot just over the keeper for a 5-0 lead. Sanders had the assist.

Tom Misuraca and Tony Fiorentino added the finishing touches. Misuraca threaded his goal past a cluster of players in front of the Apopka net while Fiorentino tallied with two minutes to play on an assist from Eric Zimmerman for a 7-0 final.

The Rams' JV also won, taking a 6-0 verdict as Louis Rosen and Mark Eskin each tallied two goals.

In the only other boys' game Tuesday, coach Norm Wight's Lake Howell Silver Hawks were upended by Boone, 3-1, at Boone High School in Orlando.

Mike Serino, however, remained hot with the Hawks' lone goal.

Lady Raiders Hit Boards, Still Tumble To CFCC

OCALA — Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders dominated the backboards Tuesday night against Central Florida Community College, but they didn't dominate the game. Despite a massive rebounding edge, the Lady Raiders dropped a 76-65 decision at Central Florida in Division II basketball. Valerie Roessler tossed in 13 points and pulled down 18 boards, Kim Ross also had 13 markers and 12 rebounds while Evelyn Smith totaled 11 points and 11 caroms. "We rebounded them terribly," said SCC coach Ileana Gallagher. "We just couldn't find the basket." SCC, 8-12, plays Brevard in Cocoa on Thursday.

Lyman Frosh Drop Oviedo

Lyman's Greyhounds placed four players in double figures Tuesday while racing past the Oviedo Lions, 83-70, in freshman basketball at Milwee Middle School. Robert Thomas tossed in 17 points for coach Rich Balezantis' squad while Oscar Wilder added 21, Ricky Demming 12 and Sean Hester 10. Cary Justice had a game-high 28 points for Oviedo and Randy Ferguson chipped in 23. Lyman, 8-4, hosts Bishop Moore Thursday at 4:30 p.m. at Milwee.

Mariners Select Jones

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Seattle Mariners and New York Yankees have no doubts they got the right man with their first picks in Tuesday's winter free agent amateur draft. The Mariners used the first pick in the regular phase of the draft to select Calvin Jones, a 20-year old right-handed pitcher from Chaffey Junior College in Alta Loma, Calif.

Gators Stun 'Cats, 69-57

So much for Florida vacations. The University of Kentucky, coming off its first loss last week at Auburn, had every right to expect better things Tuesday night at Florida. After all, the Gators were the toads of the Southeastern Conference last year, losing 13 of 18 games.

But before a school and state record crowd of 12,074 at O'Connell Center in Gainesville, the Gators took one healthy bite out of country's No. 3 team with a 69-57 victory. "This is a big, big victory for all of us," said Florida coach Norm Sloan. "It was a convincing win and I loved it."

Kentucky, which dropped to 12-2, folded up on defense and got little support underneath. Its two big men, San Bowie and Melvin Turpin, had just 4 points apiece.

"Maybe we thought it was going to be easy," said Kentucky coach Joe Hall. "But now we have to regroup."

Eugene McDowell scored 16 points on 8-of-9 shooting for Florida as the Gators beat the Wildcats for the first time since 1979. Ronnie Williams added 15, Vernon Delancy 14 (5-of-5 shooting), and Andrew Moten 13. Jim Maaster had 18 points and Kenny Walker 15 for Kentucky.

"I knew we could go down to the wire with them," said Williams, whose team is 7-6. "But I didn't think we could win by this much."

Kentucky trailed 34-18 at the half and had to take to the outside with Florida's zone shutting off the middle. The Wildcats cut it to 52-41 with 5:39 left but came no closer.

"They are great, players but we just took it to them," McDowell said.

In other Top 20 games, No. 7 Maryland defeated Clemson 85-72 and No. 13 ripped Duke 97-66.

At College Park, Md., Ben Coleman scored 21 points and grabbed 18 rebounds, and Adrian Branch scored 22 points to carry Maryland, 12-2, in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. Clemson, which had its four-game winning streak broken, had its top scorer, Vincent Hamilton, limited to 5 points.

At Greensboro, N.C., Lee Garber scored 16 points and guards Danny Young and Delaney Rudd had 15 each as Wake Forest hiked its record to 12-2 in an ACC contest.

Lake Howell is back in action Friday night against Lyman at Milwee Middle School.

The outcome was never in doubt for Spruce Creek which bolted to an 18-point lead, 38-20, at halftime. Efram Brooks was the lone Silver Hawks to reach double figures as he connected for 18 points.

Seminoles, sprinting to a 33-16 lead as the Tribe continually missed from outside and the Lady Crabs clogged Hillery in the middle with three players.

Seminole regrouped somewhat to trail by 35-24 and halftime and then went on a 10-1 blitz in the third quarter to pull within 36-34 going into the final eight minutes.

With the score tied at 44 all, super sub Andell Smith rolled a shot off the rim in the final seconds and the game went into overtime. In the extra session, Seabreeze outscored the Tribe, 11-6, to coast to the victory.

Mona Benton tossed in 22 points for the 'Noles, handed out three assists and made three steals. Maxine Campbell added nine and Gene Siallworth chipped in eight. Hillery had 10 rebounds.

Seminole, 15-4, hosts Lake Mary Thursday at 8 p.m. JV action gets underway at 6:15 p.m.

Renegade Raiders Laugh Off $1,000 Fines

Super Bowl

TAMPA (UPI) — The renegade Los Angeles Raiders are at it again.

Less than 24 hours after hitting town for Super Bowl XVIII, seven players — including star quarterback Jim Plunkett — were fined $1,000 each for being late for a 7 a.m. EST team meeting.

"Seven guys were out last night and it cost them," said linebacker Ted Hendricks. "They were all laughing about it — upholding the Raiders' tradition and everything."

Coach Tom Flores said the fines were a "private" matter. "There were a few late for the meeting this morning," confirmed Flores. "It was an early meeting. It would have been 4 a.m. California time."

Rookie defensive end Greg Townsend said he was one of those fined and Plunkett, cornerback Ted Watts and defensive lineman Johnny Robinson were among the others.

"Last night, Coach Flores said fines would start at $1,000," said Townsend. "I just overslept and didn't wake up until one of the coaches called me on the phone. I was pretty nervous about the whole thing until I found out Plunkett was in the same boat."

The Raiders got a look at Tampa Stadium, site for Sunday's 4:30 p.m. EST battle with Washington, during a media session Tuesday, taking the field a half hour after the defending Super Bowl champions departed.

Flores said the team will do much of its serious work today and Thursday, going over "the meat of our game plan," and then "we'll taper off again."

Despite his early-morning misadventure, Plunkett appeared relaxed at the media session and said the game will be mistakes.

"These are the two best teams in football," added Allen, who came back to rush for 1,014 yards. "They are both very physical. It's no secret what is going to go on out there. It's going to be very physical."

Allen was not around when the Raiders won Super Bowl XV 27-10 over Philadelphia but he said the veterans had prepared him for the week's activities.

"They are a pretty loose bunch of guys," he said with a grin. "They are having fun. But when it comes time to play, they will."

All-Pro linebacker Rod Martin, a veteran of the win over the Eagles, said the secret to beating Washington is slowing down John Riggins.

"You have to contain Riggins more than stop him," said Martin. "You have to tackle Riggins as best you can. You've got to have help. It's hard for one man to stop that big guy."

Monk All 'Hyped Up'

No one is enjoying the hype leading up to Super Bowl XVIII more than Art Monk.

Last year, when the Washington Redskins sneaked into the Rose Bowl and grabbed the Super Bowl title from the Miami Dolphins, 27-17, Monk could only sit and watch. A broken bone in his right foot had the Redskins' wide receiver on the sidelines.

Sunday, however, he will join running mate Charlie Brown in a day-long donnybrook with the Los Angeles Raiders' outstanding secondary.

"Last year was a very frustrating day for me, knowing that I should be out there contributing, but having to just sit back and watch," Monk admitted Tuesday. "But with our guys winning, it helped me a lot."

"It was very disappointing, not to be able to use my skills and the things I had learned what we shoot for in the NFL, the Super Bowl, and I couldn't take part. Now, when I'm old and gray, I can tell my grandchildren I played in the Super Bowl."

Monk even likes all the media attention the players receive during the two week between the conference championship games and the Super Bowl game. He strolls through the motel lobby, chatting with reporters and fans, thoroughly enjoying himself.

"You guys (the media) put more into all of this than the players," said "You think it's a distraction, but it really isn't, at least not to me. I'm able to put the hype out of my mind when it's time for meetings or practice."

Monk even laughs at the talk of the intimidation battle shaping up between the two Super Bowl foes.

In their first meeting, when the Redskins came from behind for a 37-35 win in Washington, the first quarter took nearly an hour. Each team was penalized eight times that day.

"There'll probably a lot of pushing and shoving beco one on either team wants to back down," said Monk. "No one wants to make anything bad happen. You don't want that stuff to get out of hand and take away from what we're trying to do — win the football game."

Monk let his feelings show this season when, after a long off-season rehabilitation program on his foot, he suffered a knee injury in the second preseason game.

Cook Of The Week

Retiree's Kitchen Center Of Sharing Food With Others

By Karen Warner
Herald Correspondent

Myra DeVine has had a love for cooking as long as she can remember. Growing up as the youngest of eight brothers and sisters, she can remember always sitting by her mother's side asking to help stir everything from cookies to cakes.

"We always had a house full of hungry folks when I was growing up in southeastern Oklahoma," she says. "Mother was always fixing us delicious homemade snacks, because back in those days you didn't buy storebought cookies. Everything was made from scratch."

As she grew up, Myra's love for cooking was carried into her high school years where she won several awards in district competition in her home economics class. During her 15-year career as a legal secretary, and three years as bookkeeper and treasurer for the City of Lake Mary where she presently lives, Myra's love for cooking continued.

Presently retired, Myra spends most of her time doing what she loves best, cooking for people. Her time is spent baking not only cakes and cookies, but in preparing full course meals for friends or neighbors during times of illness or death. With her genuine gift for caring, softspoken Myra shows up when folks are in need with casseroles, vegetables and salads.

In simplifying her food preparation time, Myra has come up with many recipes she makes in her new Osterizer Kitchen Center. "It saves me time to let the machine do the cutting and chopping, but it can be done by hand." Two of Myra's most loved recipes are ones handed down from her mother, Italian Potatoes and Jam Cake.

CHICKEN ALMOND CASSEROLE

Saute in 2 tablespoons Crisco:
1 lb. pork sausage (Webber's mild preferred)
1 small stalk chopped celery
1 large chopped onion
1 chopped green pepper
Add:
2 cups uncooked rice
3 pkgs. Lipton's chicken noodle soup
1/2 lb. blanched (or silvered) almonds
2 teaspoons salt
9 cups water
Cover and cook in 350° oven for 2 hours.

ITALIAN POTATOES

Boil 6 medium-sized potatoes; peel and dice.
Chop 1 green pepper fine
Grate 5 oz. Cheddar cheese
Make 2 cups thin white sauce (add one-half of the green pepper and cheese while white sauce is thickening) Spread diced potatoes in a greased casserole, cover with white sauce, then spread remaining green pepper and cheese over (the top). Bake about 1 hour in 325° oven (or until golden brown).

WALDORF-ASTORIA CAKE

1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 oz. red food coloring
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
2 1/2 cups cake flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Frosting

1 cup milk
2 tablespoon flour
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cake: Put vinegar over soda and set aside. Cream butter and sugar; add eggs. Make a paste of cocoa and food coloring. Add buttermilk and cake flour alternately. Add vinegar and soda; add vanilla. Pour in two greased and floured 9" (or 8") cake pans. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes. When cool, cut layers in half and frost.

Frosting: Cook milk and flour until thickened. Let cool thoroughly. Beat butter and sugar until fluffy. Add milk and beat until creamy. Add vanilla.
Note: Myra says she would suggest doubling the frosting recipe.

GLAZED FRESH APPLE COOKIES

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup currants
1/4 cup apple juice or milk
1 egg
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups apple pieces
1 cup nuts

Heat oven to 400°. Grease cookie sheets well. Sift flour and baking soda into a mixing bowl, add currants and set aside. Put apple juice, egg, shortening, salt and spices and sugar into blender container, cover and process at BLEND until smooth. Stop blender and add apples, cover and process 2 cycles at GRIND. Add nuts, cover and process 1 cycle at GRIND. Empty into flour mixture and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto cookie sheets. Bake 10 to 12 minutes until lightly browned. While hot, spread with Vanilla Glaze. Yield: 3 to 4 dozen.

LEMONADE COOKIES

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 eggs
1 cup soft butter

Myra DeVine starts a batch of Lemonade Cookies

1 cup sugar
1 6-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
Heat oven to 400°. Sift flour and baking soda together into a mixing bowl. Put eggs, butter, sugar and 1/2 cup lemonade concentrate into blender container, cover and process at BLEND. Use rubber spatula to aid in processing if necessary. Pour into sifted ingredients and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls 2" apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake cookies about 8 minutes or until lightly browned around the edges. Brush hot cookies lightly with remaining lemonade concentrate; sprinkle with sugar. Remove cookies to cooling rack. Yield: about 4 dozen.

JAM CAKE

3 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup butter
3 cups flour
1 cup blackberry jam
1 cup buttermilk combined with 1 teaspoon soda, 1 dessert spoon all spice, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg.

Cream sugar & butter, add eggs & jam. Sift flour & spices three times, & add to first mixture, alternately with milk. Bake in layers at 375°.

FILLING FOR JAM CAKE

2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sugar
Juice of 2 oranges
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup chopped figs or dates
1/2 cup raisins or crystallized fruits
1 cup chopped citron (drained fig preserves or watermelon rind preserves may be used)
2 tablespoons candied orange and lemon peel
1/2 cup coconut

Mix eggs, sugar and orange juice thoroughly and cook in double boiler until thick. While thick and warm, add pecans, figs, citron, orange and lemon peel, coconut and raisins. Mix well and spread between layers of cake and on top.

Interior Decorating Courses

Two short courses in Interior Decorating (Housing and Home Decoration) will be offered at Seminole Community College.

The day class will be held on Tuesdays, 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon, beginning Jan. 31. The evening class will be held on Thursday, from 7 to 10:00 p.m. beginning Feb. 2. The cost of each 8-week course is $10.00.

This is a beginning class where the student will learn some basic skills of a decorator. Furniture groupings and arrangements, color coordination and selections, drawing at 1/4" scale, and period furniture styles are some of the items to be covered.

Register at the admissions office in the administration building. For more information call 323-1450; from Orlando 843-7001, Extension 228.

Red Cross Offers Babysitting Class

The Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross will be holding its first Babysitting Course in Seminole County for children 11 years and older, starting Thursday, Feb. 2.

This course covers babysitting responsibilities, basic child care, child growth and development, selecting toys and games, supervising children, accident prevention, emergency actions and feeding children.

For information, those interested, may call 831-3000. Enrollment is limited.

IN BRIEF

Grady Kimsey Named To State Art Panels

Secretary of State George Firestone announced the appointment of 45 panel members, including Grady Kimsey of Sanford, who will review arts grant applications for 1984-85.

The panels, representing various arts disciplines, will recommend funding to the Florida Arts Council, an advisory body to the Department of State. After further review, the Council forwards its recommendations to the Secretary of State for final determination.

Kimsey, an instructor at Seminole Community College, will serve on the Artists-in-Education Panel.

Firestone said all the panelists are either practicing artists, arts-related professionals or persons with current or prior active involvement in specific artistic disciplines.

Coffee For Volunteers

Seminole County men and women 60 years of age and older who are interested in enriching their lives by helping others are invited to a coffee to learn about the volunteer assignments available through the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

An informational coffee will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 10:00 a.m. at the Seminole Agricultural Center Auditorium, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

A slide presentation on the RSVP program will be shown and the benefits of participation in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program will be explained.

For directions or additional information, please call the RSVP office, 834-6550.

Dickey On Honor Roll

Kevin G. Dickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan A. Dickey of Sanford, has earned a place on the honor roll during the fall term at Cardigan Mountain School, Canaan, N.H.

He is one of 183 students at the boarding school for boys in grades six through nine which is located near Hanover and Dartmouth College.

One of the purposes of the school, according to headmaster Norman C. Wakely is "to give its students a running start in their march toward secondary school and college."

Fashions For Scholarship

The Seminole County Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its second annual scholarship brunch and fashion show, "Hearts on Parade" on Saturday, Feb. 4, at 10:30 a.m. at the Quality Inn North.

Pappagallo's of Longwood will provide fashions for the show.

The public is invited and tickets may be purchased for $10.00 each by calling 323-6617 or 831-0066.

All proceeds from this event will be applied to the Seminole County AAUW scholarship fund. This scholarship is awarded annually to a local woman who wishes to start or continue her college education.

Pickens On Dean's List

Lisa J. Pickens, a freshman from Sanford, has been named to the Dean's List at Carson Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn., for the fall semester of 1983, according to academic dean, Dr. Roy A. Dobyns.

To be named to the Dean's List a student must compile a 3.5 grade point average or better. Carson-Newman uses a standard of 4.0 as its top grade average.

Southern Ballet's Birthday

Returning from a successful state tour of 11 sold-out performances, Southern Ballet Theatre presents its 10th anniversary gala on Jan. 31 at 8 p.m. at Bob Carr Performing Arts Center. The program will be premiering two new pieces: "Save The Last Dance For Me" by Kip Watson and "Happy Birthday" by Barbara Riggins plus other dance favorites. The public is invited. Call 628-09133 for ticket information.

Hubbard To Lead Seminar

Beth Hubbard, director of consumer education and promotion for Burda Patterns, will present two training seminars at Church of the Good Shepherd, 331 Lake Ave., Maitland. The seminars will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 30. Reservations are requested by phoning 831-6488.

The topics of discussion will include: The difference between European and American fit, taking proper body measurements, customizing and adjusting commercial patterns and a discussion on the advantages of the European method of sewing and fitting.

Ms. Hubbard, of Atlanta, Ga., graduated from the University of Alabama with a degree in clothing, textiles and design.

Buckle Up For Safety

DEAR ABBY: "Worried Sick" expressed concern because her sister never bothered to tell her children to buckle up their seat belts. The sister dismisses it by saying, "If anything happens to them, it will be God's will."

Dear Abby

I'm sending you an article I clipped from "Aiee" magazine. It really shook some sense into me, and now I religiously buckle my children into their seat belts before I turn the key.

CHILD SAFETY SEATS

This recent letter to Dear Abby made our point about child restraints better than we ever could.

"Dear Abby: Here in New York, the state legislature recently passed a law requiring all car passengers 4 years old and under to be strapped into approved safety seats. There is a $25 fine for parents who have not equipped their cars as yet, and that $25 goes toward the purchase of a seat. I can't believe all the grumbling and complaining about this law.

"We moved here four years ago, leaving behind in Ohio a deep, dark secret we never mention here. Six years ago I was driving my 6-month-old daughter, unbelted, sitting in her carrier beside me. Five blocks from home, I was broadsided by a truck.

"My car flipped over twice, and my precious baby girl was tossed around inside like a pinkpong ball. She died 72 hours later of massive head injuries. (I was told it was a blessing — that she would have been a vegetable had she lived.)

"Going home to an empty nursery drove me crazy with guilt. I had always been so careful. I had padded her crib, made sure she had only the safest toys, guarded her with my life and loved her with all my heart. If I had only known what I know now, she would have ridden home from the hospital as a newborn baby in a safety seat instead of in my arms.

"We buried the truth with Tina and moved here to escape the memories. No one here knows we ever had a child. My husband finds it too hard to talk about. Since I can't tell the story, I beg you to do it for me. If it saves only one child's life, Tina's death will not have been in vain. — Learned Too Late"

ALSO WORRIED

DEAR ABBY: In a lot of states it's the law that all children have to be buckled into safety belts when they're riding in a car. There are also TV commercials to remind adults to "buckle up."

If everyone is so concerned about safety in automobiles, how come there are no safety belts on school buses?

If safety belts save lives, why not save more lives by putting safety belts in all public vehicles, like the city buses, too?

B.P. IN AVILLA, IND.

DEAR B.P.: Good question.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman (age 46) who would play cards in her home the same evening one of her parents was buried? Also, what do you think of the guests who played with her? Thank you.

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAMES: It isn't possible to make a fair judgment without knowing what was in that woman's heart. And the same goes for the guests who played with her.

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Medieval Fair

The clash of ancient weaponry will mark the arrival March 8 of the 9th annual Medieval Fair to be held on the grounds of the Ringling Museums in Sarasota. While the music of Gallic harps, pipers and madrigal singers fills the spring air, stately ladies in wimple and farthingale will feast on tarts and baby dragon wings while knights in armor vie for their attention. Mollly merchants will sell long ago wonders such as customized chain mail and castle banners. Artisans will demonstrate centuries-old crafts while jousting on horseback and a human chess match will thrill spectators. Fair hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Tickets are $5 for adults, $1 for children ages 6 to 12 with children under 6 free. The fair ends March 11.

'Classic Egg Dishes' From Appetizers To Desserts

The Florida Poultry Federation has compiled a cookbook of recipes featuring eggs. For information on the book, "Classic Egg Dishes," write to the federation, 5415 Mariner St., #105, Tampa, 33609.

The colorful illustrated cookbook also features hints on how to successfully use eggs in cooking.

Some of the recipes from the book are as follows:

CHEESE PUFFS

About 3½ dozen appetizers
These miniature cream pulls are said to have become popular as appetizers during Prohibition. At that time, the quality of the drinks might be uncertain, but these puffs, with various fillings, always drew raves. They still make a hit at parties.
1 cup water
½ cup butter
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup (3 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped chives
Crabmeat Filling
In medium saucepan bring water and butter to boil, stirring until butter melts. Remove from heat. Add flour and salt, stirring vigorously until mixture forms ball, 1 to 2 minutes. Add cheese and chives, stirring until cheese melts. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Drop batter by slightly rounded tablespoons onto greased cookie sheets, allowing 2-inch space between each.
Bake in preheated 400°F. oven until lightly browned, 18 to 20 minutes. For firmer cream pulls, pierce side of each with tip of sharp knife. Bake 5 minutes longer.
Cool on wire racks. Cut off tips and fill each with 2 tablespoons Crabmeat Filling. Replace tops. Chill before serving, if desired.
Crabmeat Filling:
6 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
1 can (6½ to 7½ oz.) crabmeat, drained and finely chopped
1 cup finely chopped celery
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
Mix all ingredients thoroughly.

PICKLED EGGS

12 appetizers
2 cups white vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 medium onion, sliced and separated into rings
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spice
12 hard-cooked eggs
In medium saucepan combine all ingredients except eggs. Simmer over low heat, uncovered, until onion is tender, about 10 minutes.
Arrange eggs in each of two 1-quart jars with tight-fitting lids. Pour 1 cup vinegar mixture over eggs in each jar. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight to blend flavors. Eggs may be stored in refrigerator up to 2 weeks.

TOM AND JERRY

4 servings
2 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ to ½ teaspoon ground allspice
¼ cup (2 oz.) light rum
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
1½ cups hot milk
Nutmeg
In small mixing bowl beat egg yolks, sugar and allspice at high speed until thick, about 5 minutes. Blend in rum.
Wash and dry beaters. In small mixing bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar at high speed until stiff but not dry, just until whites no longer slip when bowl is tilted. Fold yolks into whites. Pour ½ cup mixture into each of four preheated 8-ounce mugs. Fill each with ½ cup hot milk. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Serve immediately.

EGG FLIP

1 serving
3 tablespoons (1½ oz.) brandy
3 tablespoons half and half or light cream
1 egg
1 teaspoon confectioners' sugar
3 to 4 ice cubes
Nutmeg
Measure all ingredients except nutmeg into blender or shaker container. Cover. Blend or shake until well blended. Strain into 6-ounce wine or whiskey sour glass. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Serve immediately.

CAESAR SALAD

4 to 6 servings
This popular salad, like so many other classics, owes its birthright to that greatest of all mothers, necessity. Caesar Cardini, a restaurateur in Tijuana, Mexico in the 1920s, found himself with a crowd of unexpected patrons and an almost empty pantry. Empty, except for a case of romaine, eggs and some less than fresh bread. Using creativity and showmanship, he created the salad that now bears his name.

1 clove garlic, peeled and sliced
½ cup olive oil
1 cup French bread cubes, crust removed
1 large head romaine lettuce, washed and drained
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Salt and pepper to taste
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Combine garlic and olive oil in jar with tight-fitting lid. Let stand several hours or overnight. Remove garlic.
In medium fry pan, cook bread cubes in 2 tablespoons garlic oil until golden brown on all sides. Set aside.

Tear romaine into bite-size pieces and place in large salad bowl.
To remaining garlic oil, add vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, salt and pepper. Shake well. Pour over lettuce. Sprinkle with cheese. Toss until lettuce is coated.
Break egg over center of salad. Pour lemon juice directly over egg. Toss well. Sprinkle with bread cubes. Toss lightly. Serve immediately on chilled dinner plates.

* 1 cup packaged croutons may be substituted for French bread cubes. Omit cooking cubes in garlic oil mixture.

EGG CREAM

2 servings
This drink evolved around the turn of the century on New York's lower east side. It was considered especially good for children, as it contains milk and eggs. Grownups like it too, and sometimes add a touch of spirits.
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons (1½ oz.) coffee liqueur, optional
2 tablespoons chocolate syrup
1 cup club soda, divided
Measure all ingredients except club soda into blender container. Cover and blend 20 seconds. Divide mixture between two 12-ounce glasses. Pour ½ cup club soda into each glass, stirring briskly to create a head of foam. Serve immediately.

BOILED DRESSING

About 1 cup
Before the days of modern food processing, every young cook learned to make this dressing. Today it is made from preference rather than necessity.
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
½ cup milk

 1/4 cup white vinegar
 2 tablespoons butter
 In small saucepan mix together flour, sugar, salt, mustard and cayenne. Blend in egg yolks and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. 10 to 15 minutes. Add vinegar and butter, stirring until butter is melted. Cool. Store tightly covered, in refrigerator.

GREEN GODDESS DRESSING
About 2 cups
 Green Goddess Salad Dressing originated more than 30 years ago in San Francisco. It was named for the play starring George Arliss and first served to him on opening night.

1 to 1 1/4 cups mayonnaise
 1/2 cup sour cream
 4 large sprigs parsley, snipped
 2 green onions with tops minced
 2 tablespoons lemon juice or wine vinegar
 1/2 clove garlic, crushed and minced
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash pepper

gredients. Chill thoroughly.

To prepare in blender: Place all ingredients except sour cream in blender container. Blend at high speed just until parsley and onions are finely chopped. (If necessary, turn off blender occasionally and clean sides with rubber spatula.) Add sour cream. Blend at medium speed just until combined. Chill thoroughly.

MONTE CRISTO
2 to 3 servings
 Alexander Dumas immortalized the Count of Monte Cristo. But the name took on new personality when this combination found its way onto modern restaurant menus

 6 slices bread
 2 slices (1 oz. each) cooked ham
 2 slices (1 oz. each) cooked chicken or turkey
 2 slices (1 oz. each) Swiss or brick cheese
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Oil for deep frying*
 Confectioners' sugar, optional
 Strawberry jam, currant jelly or sour cream, optional

On each of two slices bread, place 1 slice each ham and chicken. Top each with second slice bread, 1 slice cheese and remaining bread. Secure each sandwich with 4

Beat eggs, milk and salt with fork until blended. Dip sandwiches in egg milk mixture, turning to coat evenly. Fry in preheated 375°F. deep fat, turning as necessary, until golden brown on all sides, 1 to 2 minutes. Remove with slotted spoon or tongs. Drain on absorbent paper. Remove picks.
 Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Serve with strawberry jam, currant jelly or sour cream, if desired.

*Sandwiches also may be sauteed in 2 tablespoons butter in large fry pan over medium heat, turning as necessary until golden brown on all sides.

FRENCH OR PLAIN OMELET
1 serving
 Many a cook's reputation has been founded on an omelet. It takes a certain knack, but a perfect omelet provides a sense of accomplishment far beyond the work required. The directions below will help you develop the omelet-making skill — it's really easy!

2 eggs
 2 tablespoons water
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Dash pepper
 1 tablespoon butter
 Mix eggs, water, salt and pepper with fork. Heat butter in 8-inch omelet pan or fry pan over medium high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Mixture should set at edges at once. With pancake turner turned over, carefully push cooked portions toward center so uncooked portions flow to bottom. Tilt pan as necessary so uncooked eggs can flow. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and sliding freely. While top is still moist and creamy-looking, fill, if desired. With pancake turner fold in half or roll, turning out onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist.

Evening Herald-Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Jan. 18, 1984—7B

Variations: Omelets can be flavored with just hot variety of herbs and spices. Mix in 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon per omelet.
 Omelets can hold almost any leftover food. For each omelet, fill with 1/2 to 1/3 cup of any of the following:
 Shredded or sliced Cheddar, Swiss, Mozzarella, Gouda, Provolone, Muenster or other firm cheese
 Cottage, ricotta or cream cheese
 Cooked, drained and crumbled sausage, bacon or ground beef
 Flaked canned or cooked fish

Sauteed sliced mushrooms
 Sauteed chopped onions or green pepper
 Drained, cooked, chopped, diced or sliced vegetables
 Drained, canned or chopped or sliced fresh fruit
 Chopped nuts
 Jelly, jam or preserves

CRABMEAT CREPES MORNAI
4 to 6 servings
 Crepes are the thin, feathery pancakes attributed to Thomas Jefferson's French chef, Etienne Lemaire. They are as much at home with main dish as dessert fillings. Here they are filled with a crabmeat mixture and topped with rich Mornay Sauce.

1 package (6 oz.) frozen crabmeat, thawed OR 1 can (7 1/2 oz.) crabmeat
 6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
 1 cup chopped celery
 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 12 Crepes
 Mornay Sauce

Grated Parmesan cheese, optional
 Drain crabmeat, reserving liquid, and flake. Mix crabmeat with eggs, celery, cheese, mayonnaise, mustard and salt. Place about 1/2 cup mixture across center of each 7 1/2-inch crepe (use about 1/4 cup on each 6 1/2-inch crepe). Roll up. Place filled crepes in greased 13x9-inch baking dish. Pour Mornay Sauce over crepes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Bake in preheated 350°F. oven until hot and bubbly, about 30 minutes. Serve hot.

Mornay sauce:
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
 1 1/4 cup liquid (reserved crabmeat liquid plus milk)
 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese

1 to 2 tablespoons sauterne, white wine or lemon juice, optional
 In medium saucepan melt butter. Blend in flour. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium-high heat until smooth and bubbly. Stir in liquid all at once. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in Swiss cheese until melted. Stir in sauterne, if desired.

Basic crepes: Twelve 7 1/2-inch crepes OR Sixteen 6 1/2-inch crepes
 3 eggs
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup water
 3 tablespoons butter, melted
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Melted butter

In mixing bowl combine eggs, milk, water and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Beat with mixer, rotary beater or wire whisk until well blended. Add flour and salt. Beat until smooth.

Heat 8 to 10-inch omelet or crepe pan over medium-high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Brush pan lightly with melted butter. For each crepe, pour in just enough batter (about 2 tablespoons for 8-inch pan OR scant 1/4 cup for 10-inch pan) to cover bottom of pan, tipping and tilting pan to move batter quickly over bottom. Cook until lightly browned on bottom and dry on top. Remove from pan or, if desired, turn and brown other side. Brush pan lightly with melted butter as needed to prevent sticking. Stack crepes between layers of waxed paper until ready to fill.

Birthday Celebration

Mrs. Ronald Nathan's fifth graders give a choral reading during a program, "A Man for all the People," celebrating the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday. It was held Thursday at the Goldsboro Elementary School cafeteria. Dr. Levester Tubbs, vice president of student affairs at the University of Central Florida was guest speaker for the occasion, which involved the entire student body.

Popping Good Show

Arthur Baus of the Historic Florida Militia fires a flintlock musket in preparation for a demonstration at Seminole Community College. Baus will show the Revolutionary War-era weapon January 20 at 9 a.m. in room L-232 and at 9:30 a.m. in the college amphitheatre. Uniforms and equipment of the 18th century will be shown. The demonstration is for Lucinda Coulter's Western Civilization class, but visitors are welcome.

Drug Offers Hope In Stroke Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A substance that counteracts blood clotting may become the first effective way to treat stroke and prevent resulting brain damage and paralysis, a Houston neurologist said today.

Treatment with prostacyclin, a natural substance first described in 1976 by three researchers who later won the Nobel prize, allowed one 33-year-old paralyzed stroke victim to move his immobilized right side and talk again, Dr. Frank Yatsu said.

The substance still is being tested in patients and is not available to the public, he said, but it could eventually offer hope to stroke patients who otherwise would be forced to lead restricted lives.

"There is no good, reliable, predictable treatment for stroke," Yatsu told an American Heart Association science writers' seminar in remarks released today. "The use of prostacyclin has at least opened the door."

The American Heart Association has estimated 500,000 Americans suffer strokes each year. In 1981, the latest year for which statistics are available, more than 164,000 died. Others suffered effects ranging from weakness to paralysis.

Blood clotting normally occurs on a blood vessel wall. Naturally occurring prostacyclin prevents the clotting ingredients from sticking to the inside.

In many strokes, the clotting occurs on the inside of a crucial neck or cerebral artery, blocking blood flow to the brain.

In a study of 12 stroke victims at the University of Texas Health Science Center, Yatsu said, six benefited from doses of prostacyclin and six did not.

The "most dramatic" recovery was a man who was paralyzed on his right side and unable to talk, the neurologist said.

Yatsu, professor and chairman of the center's neurology department, said investigators in Poland studied 10 patients and found all recovered when treatment was administered three to five days after a stroke that had left them severely weakened.

Heart Disease Still No. 1 Killer

DALLAS (UPI) — More than a half-million Americans will die of heart attacks this year and heart disease will cost the nation $64.4 billion, the American Heart Association said in its annual report.

The "Heart Facts 1984" report said that despite advances in research and treatment, cardiovascular disease remains the nation's No. 1 killer, well ahead of cancer and accidents.

The report said 42.7 million Americans suffer from some form of heart disease.

An estimated 550,000 Americans will die of heart attacks in 1984, the association said, and another million will survive heart attacks. The cost to the nation from heart disease, in straight cash, would reach an estimated $64.4 billion in 1984, including $12.4 billion in lost output due to disability, the report said.

The association said that in 1981 — the latest complete sampling — heart disease and related ailments killed 989,610 people, far more than the 422,720 who died of cancer and the 102,130 who died of accidents, the No. 3 killer.

"In 1981, nearly 1 million American deaths were attributed to cardiovascular diseases," the association said. "That's almost as many deaths as were caused by cancer, accidents, pneumonia, influenza and all other causes combined."

High blood pressure remains "rampant," the report said, afflicting 37.3 million Americans, or nearly one out of every four adults.

The association said high blood pressure was blamed for many deaths and much of the disability resulting from stroke, which strikes about 500,000 people a year, killing 164,300 in 1981.

Though the association predicted that "as many as 1.5 million Americans may have a heart attack in 1984, and about 550,000 of them will die," the report said about 4.6 million Americans had either survived heart attacks or suffered related chest pains.

The AHA recommended such preventive measures as quitting smoking, paying attention to diet and eliminating stress from daily routine.

No Time Limit On Pursuit Of Tax Cheaters

High Court Weighs Evidence Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court soon will decide whether to carve out an exception to the exclusionary rule, which bans use of illegally obtained evidence, by ignoring mistakes made in good faith by police investigators.

The justices heard arguments Tuesday on law enforcement officials that the strict rule hinders crime fighters by preventing use of critical evidence obtained by officers who unwittingly violated the law.

The administration long has urged the nation's highest court to relax the court-made rule of evidence, which prosecutors charge lets the guilty go free on technicalities.

The so-called "good faith" exception, however, has been denied by those who contend it would reward illegal conduct by police, allowing them to search illegally for evidence and plead ignorance of the law as an excuse.

The court looked into the issue last session but was unable to reach a decision. It is expected to settle the issue in two cases — from Massachusetts and California — by early summer.

In other action, the court:

- Ruled 5-4 that use of home video recorders to tape television programs for later use does not violate copyright laws. The ruling is a victory for the $3.5-billion-a-year recorder industry, freeing it from the threat of millions of dollars in fines and royalties.
- Ruled the Internal Revenue Service is under no time constraint in investigating or penalizing tax cheaters who filed fraudulent returns but later come clean by filing amended returns.
- Unanimously ruled the Labor Department did not need a warrant before requesting wage and hour statements from businesses under investigation, reversing a lower court ruling that said a North Dakota motel could refuse to turn over information about their employees.

The justices heard arguments on two exclusionary rule cases Tuesday involving searches made by police who thought they had valid search warrants but later saw the warrants declared invalid.

Massachusetts Assistant Attorney General Barbara Smith called the exclusionary rule "inflexible" and "mechanistic" and argued it should not apply to officers who acted "in reasonable good faith" when they execute search warrants.

She was backed by U.S. Solicitor General Rex Lee who said, "We pay a price for technical rulings that our citizens are unable to understand or respect."

But lawyer Barry Tarlow, arguing in favor of the rule in a California drug case, said less than 1 percent of all criminal cases in California are affected by the rule, rejecting claims it had a major impact on fighting crime.

In the California case, an appeals court ruled a judge who issued a warrant to search the Burbank home of Alberto Leon did not have sufficient "probable cause" to believe a crime had occurred and the evidence should have been suppressed.

The Massachusetts case involved the murder conviction of Osborne Sheppard, found guilty of murdering his girlfriend. His conviction was overturned on appeal because police who searched his home did not have the proper warrant.

Dim Sum

A Touch Of Heart To Entertaining

Dim Sum, the light subtle and elegant snack food of China is becoming a favorite treat among people who enjoy fine food. Literally translated, "dim" means dot and "sum" means heart. "Heart dots" or "touch of heart" have come to mean endearing small things to eat that tide you over between meals.

Dim Sum is well suited for any type entertaining because Chinese cooking is fast, economical, nutritious and especially pretty.

Skewered chunks of bratwurst or knockwurst and vegetables are permeated with a flavorful marinade, then grilled and glazed for Chinese Barbecue with American Fare. Fried Won Tons contain chopped smoked sausage blended with oriental vegetables and spices.

A special Chinese "sticky" rice, called glutinous rice, is used to coat Pearl Balls, a savory mixture of fresh pork sausage, black mushrooms, ginger root, water chestnuts and sesame-seed oil, among many other ingredients.

Congee is a thickened rice soup of almost porridge consistency. In China, Congee is an all-purpose dish that is often served at all meals and as a mid-day snack. Having a neutral taste, it responds to almost any flavoring such as vegetables, shrimp, sausage or ham.

For serving convenience, The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council recommends preparing Dim Sum recipes ahead of time and reheating them before guests arrive. Or, you may wish to invite party nibblers into the kitchen to help you prepare these oriental morsels.

CHINESE BARBECUE WITH AMERICAN FARE
2 pounds fully cooked bratwurst and/or knockwurst, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
10 broccoli florets, steamed until tender-crisp
5 fresh mushrooms, medium

MARINADE:
2 tablespoons dark soy sauce
2 tablespoons light soy sauce
2 tablespoons brown bean paste
2 tablespoons ketchup
2 tablespoons hoisin sauce
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon garlic, minced
1 teaspoon five spice powder

GLAZE:
3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon Chinese sesame-seed oil

Prepare Ahead: Combine all ingredients of marinade. Place bratwurst pieces in small bowl; cover with marinade. Stir to coat all pieces. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Just before serving, thread wooden skewers with marinated meat pieces, broccoli florets and halved mushrooms, alternating vegetables with meat. Place skewers on a hibachi or charcoal grill and cook on each side about 5 minutes, basting with glaze occasionally. Serve with Chinese hot mustard or plum sauce. Yield: 6-8 dinner servings or 20 appetizers.

SAUSAGE FRIED WON TONS
35 wonton wrappers
1 egg, lightly beaten

FILLING:
12 ounces smoked sausage, finely chopped
8 water chestnuts, minced
4 Chinese dried black mushrooms, soaked in warm water for 30 minutes, drained, stems removed and caps chopped fine

5 green onions, minced (white part only)
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon Chinese sesame-seed oil
1 teaspoon dry sherry or white wine
2 teaspoons fresh ginger, peeled and minced

Combine ingredients for filling in a bowl. Heat wok or large skillet over high heat. Add 2 tablespoons oil and continue to heat 30 seconds. Add filling mixture. Stir to blend and cook over low heat for 1 minute. Set aside to cool.

Place 1/2 teaspoon of the sausage mixture in the center of each wonton wrapper. Moisten the wrapper edges with egg. Bring one corner up over filling to opposite corner, forming a triangle. Press edges together. Then bring the two bottom corners of the triangle forward toward the center to meet and slightly overlap, creating a frame around the mound of filling. Moisten with egg and pinch the ends together. Place finished won tons on a plate and cover with a towel until ready to cook.

Heat 3 cups of oil to 350 degrees. Fry won tons, a few at a time, until golden brown and crisp. Remove and drain on paper towels. Serve with Chinese hot mustard and sweet-and-sour sauce.

ALTERNATIVE FILLING:
Place a cocktail wiener in the center of a wonton wrapper. Top with 1/2 teaspoon mustard, barbecue sauce or sweet-and-sour sauce. Seal and fry as described above.

PEARL BALLS
1 cup glutinous rice*
8 dried Chinese black mushrooms, 1-2 inches in diameter
1 pound fresh pork sausage
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons dry, white wine
2 teaspoons Chinese sesame-seed oil
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon five-spice powder
2 tablespoons peeled and finely chopped fresh ginger root
1 teaspoon sugar
2 scallions, finely chopped (including green tops)
6 water chestnuts, drained and finely chopped
1 clove of garlic, finely minced (or 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder)

Prepare Ahead:
Cover rice with 2 cups of cold water and soak 6 hours or overnight. Drain rice and let dry on cloth towel.

Soak mushrooms in 1 cup warm water for 30 minutes until spongy. Drain. Remove mushroom stems and chop the caps fine. Mix together all ingredients except glutinous rice. Shape 1 tablespoon meat mixture into a ball. Roll meatballs in rice until well coated, pressing down firmly as you roll so that the rice grains adhere to the meat. Continue this process until all of the meat mixture is used.

Place meatballs in steamer or on steaming rack of wok and steam over water for 35 minutes. Serve at once with Chinese hot mustard or sweet-and-sour sauce. Makes 30-40 balls.

Notes: Pearl Balls may be prepared a day in advance. Before serving, simply steam for 20 minutes, refrigerate, then steam for another 20 minutes or until heated through.

Pearl Balls can be kept warm in a steamer for 10-15 minutes with the heat turned off. They may also be served cold.

CONGEE WITH HAM
1/2 cup long grain rice
1/4 cup glutinous rice
4 1/2 cups water
4 cups chicken broth
Rinse rice 3 times in cold water. Drain. In a 4-quart saucepan, add rice, water and chicken broth. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to simmer. Cover saucepan partially and cook 1 to 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally to prevent rice from sticking on bottom. Cook until rice thickens almost to the consistency of porridge.

Then, add and combine:
4 cups lettuce, cut into 1/2-inch by 4-inch pieces
1 pound cooked ham, julienne
2 teaspoons light soy sauce
1 slice fresh ginger
3 scallions, sliced fine (white part only)
* 1 carrot, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch thick, round slices

While stirring constantly, bring to a rapid boil and then remove from heat. Serve hot. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.
*For a decorative effect, try making carrot flowers. Simply clean and peel skin off one medium-sized carrot. Cut V-shaped grooves lengthwise, spaced equally around the carrot and remove. Then slice grooved carrot into 1/2-inch-thick pinwheels.

Notes: Congee can be prepared in quantity and reheated, adding more liquid if necessary.

Congee will keep for months when frozen. To keep ginger root fresh for 6 months, peel down two sides of root and place in airtight jar filled with sherry.

Men In The Kitchen

The Name Of The Game Is Delicious

Game cookery was man's first culinary adventure. The bubbling cauldron over an open fire filled with the day's catch was probably our first banquet with the successful hunter — as provider of food, the hero of the tribe — celebrated as the guest of honor.

Today, agricultural science has brought succulent and tender game right into the supermarket, yet the feeling that duck, rabbit and undomesticated birds are exotic dishes and deserve special attention persists. And although the basic techniques are universal, recipes are the cause of heated arguments. From one modern-day hunter-chef comes this secret ingredient: orange juice. Citrus adds its piquancy to the meat and enhances the delicate game flavor. With oranges from Florida readily available in the market, Rabbit Stew and Dad's Duck are recipes for everyone to enjoy.

In Rabbit Stew, the rabbit is marinated overnight in a heavenly concoction of red wine and orange juice, pungent with thyme, allspice, cinnamon, salt and pepper. Come cooking time, the rabbit is browned in oil, drained and covered with the marinade and simmered for 45 minutes. Potatoes, carrots, turnips and small onions are added and simmered until tender. Rabbit stew is a robust dish with a sophisticated sauce that deserves a special place in your list of favorite dishes.

Dad's Duck takes all the mystery out of preparing that rich, dark-meated bird. All it takes is a skillet and a little patience.

RABBIT STEW

- 1 rabbit (about 2 pounds), cut in 8 pieces
- 1 cup Florida orange juice
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 medium potatoes, pared and sliced 1/4-inch thick
- 2 large turnips, pared and cut in wedges
- 2 medium carrots, cut in 1-inch pieces

2 tablespoons chopped, fresh parsley
Wash rabbit. Place in large plastic bag or marinator. Combine orange juice, wine, onion, salt, thyme, pepper, allspice and cinnamon; pour over rabbit. Refrigerate overnight. Remove rabbit from marinade; reserve marinade. Pat rabbit dry. Dip rabbit in flour. In large saucetop or kettle heat oil; brown rabbit on all sides. Drain off fat. Pour marinade over rabbit; bring to a boil. Cover. Reduce heat. Simmer 45 minutes. Toss potatoes, turnips, carrots and onions with remaining flour; add to saucetop. Cover. Simmer 45 minutes longer, until rabbit and vegetables are tender. Remove to serving platter; sprinkle with chopped parsley. Yield: 4 servings.

DAD'S DUCK

- 1 duck (5 pounds), cut in quarters
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 3/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced

1/2 cup Florida orange juice
1/2 cup dry white wine
3 Florida oranges
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf rosemary
1/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Wash and dry duck; prick skin with point of knife. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge duck in flour mixture. In large skillet heat oil; brown duck on all sides. Remove from skillet; set aside. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons fat. In same skillet saute onion and garlic until tender. Add orange juice, wine, thyme and rosemary; mix well. Slice 1 orange and add to skillet. Return duck to skillet; bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat. Cover. Simmer 1 1/2 hours or until duck is tender. Meanwhile, peel and section remaining 2 oranges; set aside. Remove duck to serving platter; keep warm. Skim fat from pan juices and discard. (You should have about 1 cup liquid remaining in pan.) Stir in sour cream. Do not boil. Spoon sauce over duck; garnish with orange sections and chopped parsley. Yield: 4 servings.

Rabbit is marinated overnight in red wine, orange juice and spices and simmered slowly for a mouth-watering flavor.

Dates Star In Variety Of Salads

Serve this colorful and nutritious fruit plate any time of the year, and you will always get an enthusiastic reception. Sun Giant dates are the star, combining so beautifully with pineapple, apples, strawberries and any fruit in season, along with cheese and a variety of stuffings. Curry flavored cream cheese, nuts, water chestnuts, jicama, slivers of apple or celery or perhaps crisp crumbled bacon all make interesting stuffings.

Nice to know that this colorful, appetizing fruit plate is loaded with nutrition! Sun Giant dates are noted for providing significant amounts of iron, potassium and niacin, as well as being low in fat and sodium. And each of these luscious tidbits contains only 22 calories. Combine with other fruits and cheese and balance your nutritional needs. Don't forget that fresh fruits are a significant source of much needed fiber, too.

In making your fruit plate in advance, don't forget to dip such fruits as apples, peaches, pears and bananas in lemon water to keep them from darkening. Arrange fruit on your platter, cover with foil or film until serving time. Pass your favorite fruit salad dressing or try one of ours.

PIQUANT CREAM DRESSING

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon or lime juice
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup toasted almonds, finely chopped

In bowl, lightly blend ingredients. Allow dressing to stand one hour in refrigerator to blend flavors. Makes 1 3/4 cups dressing.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen lemonade concentrate thawed
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate thawed

- 1 cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash cayenne pepper

Blend all ingredients in blender or shake vigorously in a tightly covered jar. Keeps well refrigerated. Shake before serving. Makes 2 cups.

A Topsy-Turvy Fettucini Bake

Show a different side to your cooking creativity with Upside Down Fettucini Bake, a recipe from the Kraft Kitchens.

Prepared in an oven-proof skillet, this recipe lends delicious Italian flavor with sausage, onion, tomatoes and oregano leaves mixed with Kraft natural, low moisture part-skim mozzarella cheese and grated parmesan cheese. These ingredients are then topped with a cooked fettucini noodle mixture and baked.

After baking, you simply invert the skillet onto a serving platter and, in effect, actually have a pasta dish topped with a tomato sauce.

UPSIDE DOWN FETTUCINI BAKE

- 1/2 lb. Italian sausage, casing removed
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 16-oz. can dried tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon oregano leaves
- 1/4 cup (2 oz.) shredded natural low moisture part-skim mozzarella cheese
- 1/4 cup (1 oz.) grated parmesan cheese

- 8 ozs. hot cooked fettucini noodles
- 1/4 cup (1 oz.) grated parmesan cheese
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Brown meat in 10-inch oven-proof skillet; drain. Add onion; cook until tender. Stir in tomatoes and oregano; bring to boil. Simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in mozzarella cheese. Sprinkle parmesan cheese over tomato mixture.

Toss noodles with combined remaining ingredients. Spread noodle mixture over parmesan cheese. Bake at 350° for 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle with additional parmesan cheese, if desired. Cut into wedges. 6 servings.

Variation: Substitute 1/2 lb. ground beef and 1/2 teaspoon salt for Italian sausage.

Microwave Magic

Sandwich And Soup For Lunch

A change of pace for lunch could well be a low calorie sandwich and a bowl of soup. Recipes for soup are usually for four or six servings. A recipe would provide enough soup for several days lunch. Even if you are dieting, a soup and sandwich lunch need not be calorie heavy. If you deprived yourself on a diet, you are more apt to go off the diet; therefore, eat, but eat calorie wise.

This split pea soup has 82 calories in one serving.

MICROWAVE SPLIT PEA SOUP

- 4 cups hot water
 - 1 cup green split peas
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup thinly sliced carrots
 - 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
 - 1 tablespoon parsley flakes
 - 1/2 teaspoon marjoram leaves
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- In a 3-quart casserole, combine all ingredients. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 8-10 minutes or until boiling. Stir. Reduce power to 50%. Microwave, covered, for 20-30 minutes or until peas are very soft. Remove 1 cup of soup, mash thoroughly and return to the soup mixture.

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

Increase power for 100% and microwave, uncovered, for 10-15 minutes. Soup should be slightly thickened.

This zucchini filling is tasty, colorful, and low in calories.

VEGETABLE PITA SANDWICH

- 1 cup shredded zucchini
 - 1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
 - 1 cup chopped tomato
 - 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
 - 4 small pita bread
- In a medium mixing bowl, combine zucchini and mushrooms. Microwave on 100% power for 2-3 minutes or until mushrooms are tender. Drain excess liquid. Stir in tomato, seasoning and cheese. Split open one end of pocket bread. Place one-fourth of the filling in each. Each pita sandwich has 114 calories.

VEGGIE MELT SANDWICH

- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
 - 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 2 slices firm bread, toasted
 - 2 thin sliced red onion
 - 2 thin sliced tomatoes
 - 1/2 cup alfalfa sprouts
 - 1 slice low fat American cheese, cut into 8 strips
- Combine mayonnaise and mustard. Spread half of mixture on each slice of toast. Top each with 1 slice of onion and tomato, then 1/4 cup of alfalfa sprouts. Arrange 4 strips of cheese over each sandwich. Place on paper towel lined plate. Microwave at 50% power for 1 1/2-2 1/2 minutes, or until cheese melts. If you use low calorie mayonnaise, which has only 40 calories per tablespoon, this sandwich has only 118 calories.

This cheese sandwich is just a little different. It needs to be prepared a day ahead of time.

BAKED CHEESE SANDWICH

- 8 sliced firm white bread
 - 4 slices low fat American cheese
 - 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 cup skim milk
 - 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1 teaspoon parsley flakes
 - 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- In a 8x8-inch baking dish, place 4 slices of bread. Top each slice with a slice of cheese and the remaining bread. In a 2-cup measure, blend remaining ingredients. Pour over sandwiches. Place plastic wrap directly on sandwich. Refrigerate for 8 hours or overnight.
- Microwave, uncovered, at 50% power for six minutes. Rotate the sandwich 1/2 turn. Microwave 6-10 minutes longer, or until sandwiches are set.
- This sandwich has 285 calories per serving.

Cherry Sauce Makes Chicken A Party Dish

Less-expensive chicken makes good party dishes. It is prepared in many styles and dressed up with special sauces. Here, chicken cutlets are topped with a cherry sauce few guests can resist. The dish will be less than a dollar per person.

CHICKEN CUTLETS WITH CHERRIES

- 2 whole chicken cutlets, split (about 1 pound)
 - 1/4 cup seasoned bread crumbs
 - 2 tablespoons melted margarine
 - 1 cup canned chicken broth
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 2 tablespoons unsweetened canned crushed pineapple with juice
 - 1/4 cup whole red maraschino cherries
- Dampen chicken, with water. Roll in bread crumbs. Place in baking pan. Drizzle margarine over all. Bake in a moderate 350-degree oven about 80 minutes or until tender.
- Meanwhile, in saucepan, combine chicken broth and cornstarch; stir to blend. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture bubbles and thickens. Add pineapple and cherries; heat through. Serve cutlets with sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

CHERRY CHICKEN SALAD

- 2 cups cubed cooked chicken
 - 1 cup whole red maraschino cherries
 - 1 cup sliced celery
 - 1 can (8 1/2-ounce) unsweetened pineapple chunks, drained
 - 1/2 cup plain yogurt
 - 1 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup
- In medium bowl, combine chicken, cherries, celery and pineapple.
- In small bowl, combine yogurt and cherry syrup. Pour over chicken mixture. Toss to coat well. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 3 cups, enough for 4 servings.

Tasty Torte Made From Cake Mix

Impress your guests with an elegant Eight Layer Mocha Torte. It is easily made from one cake mix and a delicious homemade frosting.

The ease of its preparation lies in the baking pans. For each pan, two sheets of heavy duty aluminum foil are shaped to an exact size. Baked in these pans, the cake rises to just the right thickness.

EIGHT LAYER MOCHA TORTE

- 1 package (18.25 oz.) yellow cake mix
- 4 cups (1 lb.) powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup strong coffee
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Walnut halves

1. Make two Torte cake pans. For each pan, stack two 14x18-inch sheets of aluminum wrap. Fold in all edges 1 inch. Fold again forming 1-inch sides and miter corners against side of pan. Pans will be 10x14-inches in size. Place pans on large cookie sheets for support.

2. Preheat oven and prepare cake mix according to package directions. Pour half of batter (2 cups) into each Torte cake pan. Bake 20 minutes or until tested done. Cool completely.

3. Fold down sides of each pan. Cut each cake in half crosswise and lengthwise. Remove each section of cake with a large spatula. Stack layers and trim to the same size.

4. For frosting, combine sugar, cocoa and salt. Beat in coffee, butter and vanilla until smooth. Frost between each cake layer, top and sides. Garnish with walnut halves. Serve on foil-covered cardboard.

Makes: 8 to 10 servings.
