that Britain planned to call a conference of European nations to formulate integrated plans for putting into effect Marshall's proposal for European recovery backed by United States financing.

The Foreign Secretary said: "Personally, I think we must proceed, as far as Europe is concerned, on a functional basis, with problems of coal, food and transport. In other words, we must direct our minds purely on a creative basis in order to bring back the productive capacity of Europe. But the problem of the world is not limited to Europe.

"Outside of European rehabilitation, there are tremendous problems of unbalanced exchanges between the Western Hemisphere and the rest of the world. No one can look forward to an economic or financial crisis with equanimity. The unbalanced situation caused by the two wars has created a problem which will take the best minds and the greatest good will and understanding to solve.

"While it is the first and most urgent problem to get Europe right, in getting it right there must be a wider and more comprehensive plan which will bring greater productivity and greater flow of trade exchanges throughout the whole world.

"The British government is studying this problem in both aspects, and I think the initiative will devolve upon us to direct and lead Europe back to a healthy state."

that the War Assets office in Detroit sold surplus aluminum at an "unconscionable discount" and gave "tips" to a buyer was made public.

F. H. Weitzel, assistant to the comptroller general, said the aluminum was sold to concerns "which, apparently, were set up for the sole purpose" of buying it and then disposing of it "at a large profit to themselves."

He testified at the hearing on the bill to provide funds for 12 independent government agencies in the year starting July 1.

A Sept. 10, 1946 report he placed in the record dealt first with the sale of 472,379 pounds of sheet aluminum to Stuart S. Voight, Flint, Mich., for $94,882, while it had a declared value of $157,412. It added that Voight sold it to concerns in Ohio, Kansas and elsewhere for $131,350, making a net profit of $36,468.

"Mr. Voight was not engaged in the aluminum business in any way other than through the instant purchases and sales," the report states.

Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn said the War Assets Administration has its "share" of corrupt employees and "we will always have it—human nature is so constituted that way." But he testified to the subcommittee he has "set up a sort of FBI" in his organization to run down every rumor of dishonesty.

backed out of the house followed by his father whom the boy begged not to hurt him after the father had threatened to kill him and his mother. Witnesses maintained that the father did shoot first at the son, and further shots were exchanged when the father rushed the son after first shooting at him.

Both men had been separated by the crowd that had gathered by the time police arrived. Both men were arrested and the father was rushed to Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital with bullet wounds in the abdomen and hip. The son, not wounded, was first placed in City jail, and on Sunday June 1 was transferred to County Jail.

At the close of the hearing Assistant State Attorney DeCottes instructed Sheriff Mero to arrest Siplin on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Bond was set at $100 by Judge Ware. Meanwhile, Siplin was released, pending the serving of the warrant by Sheriff Mero.

Bulgarian Issue

Hungary is seen again. There the Communists have managed to split and effectively destroy the Small Holders Party which stood in their way. In Bulgaria the same fate seems in store for the Petkov Agrarians, who held 86 seats out of a total opposition of about 100 (in a house of 465 members). The difference is that in Hungary it was a ruling majority party that was swept aside; in Bulgaria it was a relatively weak minority. The revolution already had proceeded much further in Bulgaria.

That was natural. Bulgaria lay much closer to the center of Communist power. It had a racial affinity to Russia. And it has been taken over by perhaps the most experienced and able of Moscow's proconsuls, old Georgi Dimitrov himself, onetime secretary general of the Third International. Bulgaria has become a show model of Communist methods. The country has been as neatly regimented along Soviet lines as any outside the Soviet Union itself.

There have been many signs that this purge was coming. None of the three chief opposition papers has been publishing since early May. The Agrarian organ ceased publication May 7 because of conflict between the editorial and mechanical staffs, an indication of Communist domination of labor organizations. In parliament government leaders, including Dimitrov himself, long have been threatening suppression of the opposition as "traitors," "foreign agents" or "international reactionaries."

As for the campaign in Western Europe, Pravda laid down the line in a series of three significant articles over the week-end. The Moscow Communist organ told the Socialists, Social Democrats and Laborites of the West it was "not too late to accept the hand held out by the Communists and defend with them the cause of democracy and peace." The appeal, with an implied threat, obviously was to wavering elements in the hope of inducing schisms that would drive the Left wings of these Leftist parties into the Communist camp. France and Italy probably were the chief targets. Such developments there, where the Communists already are formidable and left-of-center governments are fighting desperately to survive without Communist participation, could change the course of history in Western Europe.

Rotary Headquarters To Stay In Chicago

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12, (AP)—Rotary International winds up its four-day 38th Annual Convention with a general get-together today after voting by secret ballot to keep its international headquarters at Chicago, where it was first organized in 1905.

Members voted 1,862 to 1,230 to reject Denver's long-standing bid. The Denver Rotary Club has been maintaining an option on a $135,000 site in the hope headquarters would be moved there.

700 Ships Are Tied Up After Seamen Strike

Curran Says Over 11 Hundred Ships Will Be Affected Within Two Or Three Days

NEW YORK, June 16, (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach dispatched Assistant Secretary John W. Gibson here today to attempt to end a work stoppage of CIO seamen which the union estimated tied up 700 ships in United States ports in its first day.

Gibson, former head of the Michigan CIO, arranged to leave by plane for New York and said he expected to confer with both management and labor representatives tonight.

Federal Conciliators Fred Livingston and William N. Margolis, meanwhile, announced indefinite postponement of sessions with shipowners and representatives of the National Maritime Union, the American Communications Association and the East Coast Division of the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, predicted that if union demands were not met by owners, 1,150 ships would be affected in a few days by the "no contract, no work" dispute in which four other CIO unions are involved.

Although Curran did not detail the ports and the number of ships in each, he said 500 of the nearly 700 ships were in east coast ports.

More than 2,000 ships would be affected, Curran claimed, if current negotiations between the union and tanker companies failed. Tankers are not affected by the present stoppage.

Although no pickets showed up at ports the work stoppage ordered by Curran went into effect shortly after the expiration of contracts at midnight yesterday.

A West Coast CIO maritime Committee spokesman, however, said that "similar to the East Coast pattern as announced, the West Coast unions which are locked out will have their members remain on the jobs."

Pledges of mutual support by five CIO Maritime Unions indicated that a solid front of 200,000 CIO maritime workers would be involved in the stoppage.

The unions and their claimed

Tribunal Again Refuses Review Of Curley Case

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused for the second time to review the mail fraud conviction of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston.

The refusal apparently cleared the way for a renewal of Justice Department efforts to put the 72-year old mayor in jail to begin serving his sentence of six to eighteen months.

Curley, however, was reported ill in a Scituate, Mass. hospital. He was taken there last Friday suffering from what his physician described as hypertension induced by arterio-sclerosis.

The Boston executive has been a democratic leader in Massachusetts for half a century. He is serving his fourth term as mayor. Previously he was governor of Massachusetts and served four terms as a U. S. representative.

The mail fraud charges resulted from war-time operations of Engineers Group, Inc., of this city. The government charged the firm realized about $60,000 by falsely representing that it was able to obtain war contracts. In addition to the sentence Curley was fined $1,000.

Landis Reports On Plane Crash Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—Chairman Landis of the Civil Aeronautics Board said today that the Capital Airlines plane which crashed Friday night was descending through overcast in an effort to come into Washington "under the weather", an option given the pilot by airways traffic control.

Landis told a news conference that procedure preceding the accident which carried 50 persons to sudden death near the Virginia-West Virginia line was standard. It is "in the books" Landis added, through a recording device in the Washington airport control tower.

It is simply a hypothesis, the Cab chairman said, that the pilot miscalculated his position, during a letdown from 7,000 feet.

Britain Seeks Red Participation In Marshall Aid To Europe Plan

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—Britain announced today she was seeking to enlist Russian participation in the Aid-to-Europe project advanced by secretary of State Marshall, but Moscow already appeared reluctant to cooperate in any continental-wide pump-priming effort financed in large part by U. S. dollars. The British overtures, a foreign office spokesman said, will be made through Sir Maurice Peterson, British ambassador in Moscow.

MOSCOW, June 16, (AP) Pravda commented disparagingly today on Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for coordinated plans to spur European recovery. Foreign political observers said the commentary showed there was little likelihood that the Soviet Union would participate in such a project.

The Communist Party newspaper said Marshall's aid-for-Europe proposals, "despite their seeming novelty," merely extended the Truman Doctrine, which it called an attempt to "exert political pressure with the aid of dollars — a program of interference in the affairs of other states."

The article, signed by commentator Boris Leontiev, was the first reaction to Marshall's proposals to appear in the Soviet press.

"After carefully explaining that the policies of the United States are not directed against any country or doctrine," Leontiev said, "Marshall declared that any government which undertakes maneuvers aimed at obstructing the restoration of other countries cannot expect aid from the U. S.

"So that there should be no doubt which nations precisely come under this mysterious head.

Caldwell Vetoes Nine More Acts Of Legislature

Bill Creating Watch-Maker Board Is Rejected By Governor

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 16, (AP)—Governor Caldwell today vetoed nine more acts of the 1947 legislature, including one which would have created a state board of watchmaker examiners. The acts would have become laws without the governor's approval today, if he had not vetoed them.

The other measures vetoed would have:

Established new regulations and requirements for registration of birth certificates; granted homestead rights to war veterans in Escambia and Palm Beach counties; exempted nine counties from certain provisions of the cattle fever tick eradication law; created the occupation of public bookkeepers; reduced the mileage tax of commercial trucks; excluded Okeechobee county from the Everglades drainage district and cancelled all oil and mineral reservations held by trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund on lands within the city of Okeechobee.

Vetoing the watchmaker board bill, the governor said "it is not believed the regulation would be advantageous to the public or to the profession, from the governmental standpoint, the act would merely add another regulatory board to the long list of boards and would give the citizenry another opportunity to proclaim that democratic principles are being frittered away by further regimentation."

The tick eradication measure would have allowed owners of horses and mules in nine counties to wash, sponge and spray their animals instead of dipping them. The governor said he was advised that dipping is more effec-

4 Witnesses Will Be Called At Papy Trial

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 16, (AP) — State Attorney Orlun C. Parker, Jr., said today he plans to call only four witnesses at the bribery trial of former Rep. Bernie G. Papy of Key West on July 21.

Acting on orders of Circuit Judge W. May Walker, Parker furnished Papy's attorneys with the names of his witnesses and a bill of particulars setting forth the date, time and place in which Papy is charged with offering Reps. Bradley Odham of Sanford and Clarence M. Camp of Ocala cash bribes to vote against an anti-bookie bill.

Parker said he plans to call Odham, Camp, Speaker Thomas D. Beasley and Mrs. Lamar Bledsoe, chief clerk of the House. He said, however, an investigation is continuing for additional witnesses.

Rotarians Told Good And Bad Points Of City

Young Men Recently Returned Suggest Civic Improvement

Four Sanford young men who have recently returned to Sanford from tours of duty in the armed services and studies at various educational centers today told Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon at the Tourist Center some of the good and bad things about Sanford and made suggestions for the improvement of their home town. The program was arranged by Dr. C. W. Baker.

Billy Hutchison, who left Sanford four years ago and spent several years in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore and is now a student at the University of Florida, suggested that local business men get together and try to work out some plan of providing employment to college students during the summer months

Slight Pepper Damage Caused By Heavy Rains

Some damage to peppers is believed to have resulted from heavy rainfall, especially in the Samsula section, according to local shippers. Rainfall since June 5 has been 6.79 inches, according to H. F. Whitner, weatherman.

Normal rainfall for June is 7.48, and last year during June the total rainfall was 13.58 inches, an excess of 6.05 inches. In July, 1946, the rainfall was even heavier, 14.67 inches and the result was flooding in farm areas. Clearing of the Smith Canal by joint action of the Seminole County Farm Bureau and the County Commission, has proved a big help in this direction.

Following a dry period of several weeks there was a small shower on June 5 of .02 of an inch. On the 11th the rains started in earnest with .75 inch and 1.60 on the following day; on Saturday, 1.85 and Sunday, 1.53 and up to this morning, .74.

3 Jewish Terrorists Given Death Sentence

JERUSALEM, June 16, (AP)—A military court condemned three convicted Jewish terrorists to death as the United Nations Commission of Palestine opened its inquiry today amid an Arab general strike.

The Jews were accused of participating in the May 4 jail delivery which freed 251 prisoners from Acre prison and left 16 persons dead. Two other Jews tried with the condemned trio were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground organization which took responsibility for the prison break, was expected to appeal to the U. N. Commission in an effort to stay the sentences. Irgun repeatedly has threatened "blood for blood" retaliation against the British for death sentences against its members.

TRAFFIC SNARL

ST. LOUIS, June 16, (AP)—Automobile traffic jams described by police as the worst in this city's history developed today as public service company and union chieftains met again in an attempt to end a streetcar and bus strike now in its fourth day. All days off for police were cancelled for the duration of the transportation emergency.

Backward Seating In Airplanes Advocated

CHICAGO, June 16, (AP) — Backward seating of airplane passengers, for increased safety and better view, was advocated today by John B. Schwab, accommodation engineer of Trans-Canada Airlines.

In a prepared discussion of "passenger service requirements for North Atlantic operations" at the semi-annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Shwab anticipated backward seating in future aircraft and declared:

"This was the double advantage of affording passengers a better view and an added protection in the event of forced landing.

"With the spine and head supported throughout its length, the body can withstand terrific forces of declaration," he said. "It is possible to bring a body from 200 miles per hour to a full stop in nine feet without injury when so seated."

Tax Reduction Legislation Vetoed By Pres. Truman; G.O.P. Criticism Is Severe

Knutson Thinks Veto Is Part Of Discredited Spending Policy Of New Deal

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—Republican bigwigs in Congress and out hit back at President Truman's tax bill veto today with words leaving little doubt they expect it to be a 1948 presidential campaign issue. Reaction from the bill's backers was immediate and, for the most part, caustic.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), author of the measure and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, issued a statement saying "the President's suggesting that we wait for tax reduction until next year is nothing but cold-blooded politics." Knutson's obvious reference was to the fact that 1948 is a presidential election year.

He declared that by the veto the President demonstrated "a sad lack of understanding of the needs of our economy."

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, said in a statement that "Mr. Truman has committed his administration to continued support of the tax and tax, spend and spend, and elect and elect philosophy of the now discredited new deal."

"That philosophy was repudiated by the American people last November, and I am confident it will be repudiated again and even more emphatically in 1948."

House Republican Leader Halleck (Ind) issued a statement declaring that Mr. Truman "has thwarted the will of the people, as expressed through their recently elected representatives in Congress."

"I hope," he went on, "that democratic President Truman does not continue to disregard the will of the people by resorting to the veto power on major legislation passed by a Republican Congress, and thus try to hamstring Congress by making it necessary to have two-thirds majorities for all measures unwanted by the New Deal masters of the Democratic party."

Rep. Anderson (R-Minn) suggested on the House floor today that the Republicans take the lead now in paying war veterans' terminal leave bonds with the funds resulting from continuance of wartime levies.

Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, today termed President Truman's veto of the tax bill "a political gamble with the jobs and pocketbooks of the American people at stake."

In a statement, Bunting, here to address two conventions, asserted that "everyone's" stake in tax reduction -- fairly and squarely across the board -- has been whittled away, knocked to bits, and stacked up as kindling wood for next year's political bonfires.

Judge Refuses To Bar Wallace From Amphitheater Talk

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—Federal Justice James M. Proctor refused today to bar Henry A. Wallace from speaking at the government-owned Watergate Amphitheater here tonight.

The judge rejected a petition from the American Anti-Communist Association, headed by Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis), that he order Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug to deny Wallace use of the Watergate. Krug's department has jurisdiction over the Watergate, an outdoor theater in park lands near the Lincoln Memorial.

"These matters do not fall within the judicial realm," Justice Proctor commented in dismissing the petition.

O'Konski left the court building with a declaration to reporters that he would take the matter up in Congress.

"I am going to tell the membership of Congress that until our government takes a truely anti-Communist stand here at home, that we in Congress should refuse to appropriate any money to fight Communism abroad," he said.

Wallace, who is crusading against the Truman foreign policy, is expected to discuss his views on peace and perhaps also clarify his position in the 1948 presidential campaign.

Income Tax Bill Provisions

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—Here are the provisions of the Republican tax-cutting bill of which President Truman vetoed today:

1. Withholding against wages and salaries for tax purposes would be reduced July 1.

2. The tax cut on a yearly basis would be 30 per cent for persons with taxable income (after exemptions and deductions) of $1,000 or less. This would mean the 30 per cent cut would apply to single persons with total earning before exemptions and deductions, up to $1,056; married persons $2,222, married couples with one child $2,777; married couples with two children, $3,333.

3. Persons with taxable income between $1,000 and $1,400 would get a flat $52 to $57 annual tax reduction or a 20 per cent cut of their tax bill, whichever was the larger.

4. The tax reduction would be 20 per cent for taxable incomes above $1,400 and up to $137,000; 15 percent on taxable incomes from $137,000 to $302,000, and 10.5 per cent on any income above $302,000.

5. The measure would reduce the present ceiling of 85.5 per cent at which any income can be taxed, to 81 per cent in 1947 and 76.5 in 1948.

6. Persons over 65 years old would be given an extra personal exemption of $500, bringing their exemption to a total of $1,000.

Stassen Urges Rebuilding Of Ruhr By U.S.

Aid For Dwindling English Dollar Credit Listed As Priority

SWARTHMORE, Pa., June 16, (AP) — Presidential-aspirant Harold E. Stassen called on the United States today to rebuild the Ruhr "as a center of modern peoples' capitalism in Europe."

The former Republican governor from Minnesota, in a clear-cut statement of his economic policy, advocated redevelopment of the Ruhr "without socialization and without monopoly, with the workers sharing in the fruits of high production, with its owners and managers making a profit from high production."

In an address prepared for the 84th commencement exercises at Swarthmore College, Stassen also listed as "priority" aid for "the rapidly dwindling dollar credit" of England, "this sturdy isle, our friend and our ally."

"There is currently more danger from mistakes and errors of American world economic policy than in any other major question in this country," said Stassen, adding that the questions of "peace and plenty and freedom" hang in the balance on our economic policies.

He urged bipartisan support of a program in which the United States, which he said produces more than one-fourth of the world's goods and services, should lead the way towards "economic freedom of man, developed to the high degree through modern capitalism."

Only once did Stassen refer to Russia, where he spoke with Premier Josef Stalin last winter. The reference came when he spoke of the Ruhr development.

"Action in the Ruhr," he said,

U. S. Paper Supplies Reach Record Low

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—The American Newspaper Association said today reporting daily newspapers had on hand and in transit at the end of May the lowest supply of newsprint on record.

The overall average of 28 days' supply at the end of May compared with 32 days on that 1946 date, 43 at the end of May, 1945, and 36 days in 1941.

Dailies reporting to ANPA used 302,994 tons of newsprint in May, an increase of 15.9 percent over 261,484 in May, 1946, and 16.2 percent over 260,827 in that 1941 month.

Total consumption of newsprint for all types of uses was estimated at 415,960 tons for May and 1,956,127 tons for the first five months of 1947. Reporting newspapers used 1,427,978 tons in the first five 1947 months, representing an increase of 15.9 percent over the 1946 period and 16.6 percent over those 1941 months.

No Chance Is Seen For Overriding Of Presidential Veto; Bill Said Unsound

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—President Truman told Congress in his tax veto message today that "despite many gloomy predictions, there is no convincing evidence that a recession is imminent." He made the statement in discussing arguments that a tax reduction now would add to consumer purchasing power and help maintain employment.

NEW YORK, June 16, (AP)—Wall Street absorbed the news of the tax bill veto without noticeable shock today as the stock market resumed its recent recovery move.

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP)—President Truman vetoed today the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill, virtually killing any possibility of a cut in income taxes this year.

The republican-dominated Congress will vote on whether to pass the bill over the veto, but backers of the legislation conceded they saw no chance for success. It requires a two-thirds vote to enact a law over the President's disapproval. Leaders said that can be mustered in the House, which will vote tomorrow, but not in the Senate.

In a message to Congress, Mr. Truman said the bill "offers dubious, ill-apportioned, and risky benefits at the expense of a sound tax policy and is, from the standpoint of government finances, unsafe."

The President declared it offers "the wrong kind of tax reduction, at the wrong time." He added:

"Proposals for tax reduction must be examined in the light of sound and carefully related fiscal and economic policies. Unless they are consistent with the demands of such policies, they should not be approved."

It was the second time in history that a President has vetoed a tax bill — and the first time one providing a tax cut has been

Mann Praises Representatives To Boys State

Legislature Session Votes Against High School Fraternities

Sanford boys and councillors gave a good account of themselves at the "intensely interesting" session of Boys State at Tallahassee where 341 boys, 23 councillors and five staff members met last week under direction of the American Legion, it was reported today by State Adjutant A. Reid Mann who served as finance officer at the session.

In a Legislative session that lasted all day the boys among their main bills voted down having fraternities in high schools by a vote of 32 to 28. They approved a bill lowering the voting age to 18, said Adjt. Mann.

Five boys and three councillors from Sanford attended the session which is designed to give boys an insight into the practice of state government and its problems by electing their own governor and representatives. They formed 19 towns among the 341 boys present.

Robert Parks, representing the Rotary Club, missed being a state representative by one vote, and Kay Shoemaker, sponsored by the Jaycees, ran for governor. The boys, said Mrs. Mann, showed their sense of democracy by electing a Chinese boy, Ed Gong, as governor and a Greek boy, Peter Kalogridis of Winter Haven as secretary of state. These two will be sent to the National Boys Forum at Washington, Aug. 1-7.

One of the boys towns was named Mannville after A. Reid Mann.

Other Sanford boys present were Porter Lansing, Jr. of the Lions; Bobby Pullen of the Elks who ran for comptroller and Louis Reynolds representing Kiwanis and the Key Club of Seminole High School.

Work of Edward Marshall, Junior High School instructor in his capacity as senior councillor, was highly praised by Legion officials, said Mr. Mann. Ably assisting him was Simon Dingfelder and Francis Wilson. The Sanford group will be the guests of the Elks Club Thursday evening.

W. B. Richard, S 1-c, Visits California

William B. Richard, 20, seaman, first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney M. Richard of 1109 French Avenue recently visited San Francisco, Calif., while serving aboard the destroyer USS Russell.

The Russell, part of Task Force 81, participated in the Maritime Day celebration along with the battleship USS Iowa, four cruisers, 11 destroyers, and an aircraft carrier.

Before putting into San Francisco, the task force won on maneuvers off the coast of California.

Flood May Reach 40 Year Record Peak In Missouri

KANSAS CITY, June 16, (AP)—The latest flood threat on the Missouri River was centered today at St. Joseph where the "Big Muddy" reached a stage of 20.3 feet the highest water at that point since 1908.

Ralph Aldrich, river forecaster of the U. S. Weather Bureau here, said the river had a long flat crest from St. Joseph to Rulo, Neb., where the river has been almost stationary for the past 36 hours. The Rulo reading at 9 A. M. was 20.9 feet. Aldrich said he was advising St. Joseph to prepare for a crest of 20.5 feet.

The U. S. Army Engineers said they had received no early reports from St. Joseph, except that water was seeping through the levee protecting Rosecrans Air Field and was moving in on the road connecting the field with the city.

KEOSAUQUA, Ia., June 16, (AP)—The flood crest of the Des Moines River reached this little town early today, caused damage in the business district, and moved downstream toward the junction with the rising Mississippi near Keokuk. Throughout Iowa the flood crisis had eased at nearly all points.

At Ottumwa, 30 miles upstream from here, the industrial city's 32,000 residents rode out the brunt of the flood yesterday without panic and with no reported loss of life.

At Cedar Rapids in eastern Iowa, meanwhile, the Cedar River crested at 18.25 feet, highest since 1933, but did no major damage.

James Bryan has obtained a City permit for construction, now under way, of a 41 by 45 foot concrete block building at Park Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street at estimated cost of $13,000. The building will be used for restaurant purposes.

Locations Announced For Military, National Cemeteries Overseas

ATLANTA, June 16 (Special)—Locations of 14 permanent American Military Cemeteries and four National Cemeteries which the War Department plans to establish as final resting places overseas for members of the Armed Forces who died during the war outside the continental limits of the United States if next of kin request burial to be made overseas, was announced today in a War Department dispatch to the Atlanta General Depot. The locations were agreed to jointly by The Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

Temporary U. S. Military Cemeteries laid out during World War II but which will become permanent cemeteries are, U. S. Military at Cambridge, England 80 miles from London, U. S. Military Cemetery at Margraten Holland ten miles west of Aachen Germany, U. S. Military Cemetery at Hamm Luxembourg two and a half miles east of the City of Luxembourg, U. S. Military Cemetery at Henri Chapelle Belgium 18 miles northeast of Liege, U. S. Military Cemetery at Neuville-En-Cordez France nine miles southwest of Liege, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. Laurent France 20 miles northeast of St. Lo, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. James France 33 miles northeast of Rennes, U. S. Military Cemetery at Epinal France two and a half miles south of Epinal, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. Avold France 23 miles east of Metz, U. S. Military Cemetery at Draguignan France 27 miles west of Cannes, U. S. Military Cemetery at Nettuno Italy 32 miles south of Rome, U. S. Armed Forces Cemetery at Manila Philippine Islands.

In addition, Florence Italy and Tunis Tunisia will be cemetery locations although the exact sites are not yet chosen by the Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

The four National Cemeteries are to be established under the plans at Honolulu Hawaiian Islands, Guam in the Marianas, San Juan Puerto Rico and Juneau Alaska. These National Cemeteries will provide final resting places for any armed forces personnel or honorably discharged veterans who may wish to be buried in Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico or Alaska in addition to those who died during World War II.

American dead of World War II rest today in more than 150 temporary United States Military Cemeteries overseas. Next of kin of the deceased are now being askd by the War Department to state where they desire their loved ones buried. Options open to the next of kin provide for burial of the individual deceased member of the armed forces in a private cemetery in the United States, in a National Cemetery in the United States, in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas or in a cemetery in a foreign country which is the homeland of the deceased or of next of kin.

Action by Congress will be required before the permanent military Cemeteries or the New National cemeteries may be established they will be cared for by the American Battle Monuments Commission. The Office of the Quartermaster General has supervision only over all National Cemeteries in the United States and abroad.

Land for the new cemeteries may be purchased if Congress so directs, or may be acquired by outright gift from the country concerned.

Following World War I, eight permanent American Military Cemeteries were established in France, Belgium and England. A total of 30,907 World War I dead rest in these cemeteries.

Engineers State No Radical Changes Are Forthcoming In Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

French Lick, Ind., June 16 (AP)—Post-war automobile designing began where it left off at the time of Pearl Harbor and having gained virtually nothing from the automobile industry's experience, cannot present anything radically different in early forthcoming models.

That's the way the car designers, here for the midsummer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) sum up the new model prospects. They do not deny that changes will be little more than those that would evolve from one model year to another in normal times.

The SAE closed its five-day session here recently with technical discussions of diesel engine developments, aircraft power plants and unusual types of engines.

One somewhat unorthodox engine of the diesel type, combining the fuel injection method of the diesel with the traditional spark ignition of the gasoline unit, was described to the engineers by Allan M. Starr, of Piedmont, Calif. He said it operated economically on a wide variety of fuels and propelled a 3,400-pound vehicle 35 to 45 miles on one gallon of fuel at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Starr described his engine as having the flexibility of a gasoline power plant and the economy of a diesel.

The automotive industry's war production tasks, according to several of the engineers, taught a number of lessons in the efficient handling of materials but left little in the way of new devices or new principles engineering that could be successfully adopted to peacetime motorcar construction.

The industry, they declared, has found little or no peacetime passenger car use for magnesium and looks for relatively few new uses for aluminum or cast iron pistons of course, will go indefinitely, but wider use of the lighter material cannot be called a new adoption insofar as pistons are concerned.

Mrs. Peron Receives Spanish Decoration

MADRID, June 16, (AP)—Mrs. Juan Peron, attractive wife of the Argentine president, raised her arm yesterday in the falange salute after Generalissimo Francisco Franco decorated her with the Cross of Isabel the Catholic.

The 32-year old former actress, whose Argentine friends call her the South American Mrs. Roosevelt and whose critics declare her a meddler, spoke briefly to a huge crowd outside the national palace.

She compared what she called the "true distributive democracy" of Spain and Argentina to the "blase, deceptive democracy" of other countries which she did not name.

TEN ESSENTIALS FOR PROFITABLE FARMING ARE OUTLINED HERE

The pillars of profitable farming are pretty well known by good farmers and by those who study farming. The following 10 points deserve careful consideration all the time, and will be especially helpful during times when prices for farm products may not be as high as they have been during recent years.

1. High yields: High yields per acre and large production per animal always bring the most profits.

2. Production of food and feed. Food for its people and feed for its animals should be the first aim of any farm program, no matter what the kind of farm.

3. Distribution of labor. Productive work for as many days as possible in each week and each month will bring best results.

4. Distribution of income. Cash sales throughout the year give an assured income. Diversification will help to give better distribution of both labor and income.

5. Full use of land resources. Maximum productive use of every acre of land on the farm should be the goal.

6. Adequate capital. Farm operations should be planned to develop fully and most efficiently the system of farming followed.

7. Economy of operation. The highest possible returns per dollar of expense should be sought.

8. Wise buying and selling. Farm operations should be planned to provide for economy in purchases and maximum prices in sales. Adequate capital often will aid in this.

9. Adequate reserve. Emergencies are apt to arise at any time. An adequate reserve to meet emergencies is very desirable.

10. Records. A current record of all financial transactions and other important development in the operation of the farm should be kept.

Effective Treatment Found For Type Of Infantile Paralysis

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 16, (AP)—Discovery of several treatments for the most fatal kind of infantile paralysis, that both save lives and get the children well with very little crippling, was reported to the American Medical Association recently by Dr. A. B. Baker, of Minneapolis.

This former death-dealer is bulbar infantile paralysis, so named because its seat of destruction is in a bulb of gray matter, the size of a walnut, at the top of the spinal cord. This gray walnut is part of the brain.

The discovery was made in the infantile paralysis epidemic in Minnesota last summer. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis contributed $1,000,000 March of Dimes money for this piece of medical work.

The bulbar type in the past killed 80 percent of its victims. This was reduced to 30 percent in Minneapolis, despite the fact that the remedies were discovered during the outbreak, before some of the children could be treated with them.

Autopsies gave the clues. They revealed that instead of being one type of infantile paralysis as thought previously the bulbar kind is five different types.

In one type children choked to death. Autopsies showed this was because bulb nerves that control swallowing had stopped their work temporarily. Secretions that naturally gather in throats were doing the choking because the children could not swallow. The treatment for this was inserting temporarily a tube in the windpipe thus permitting breathing.

In Type Two, nerves controlling breathing went out of commission in the bulb. Patients could not breathe rapidly enough and died of asphyxia. Breathing pure oxygen remedied these cases. Type Three concerned bulb nerves controlling blood flow. Blood pressures would jump to 200 and then drop below 70 erratically and the child was likely to die in shock while the pressure was down. Very few have this type and no treatment for it was discovered.

Type Four affected nerves controlling the amount of oxygen reaching the brain. As the brain needs oxygen more than other tissues, these patients were mentally confused. Breathing pure oxygen supplied their oxygen-starved brains.

Type Five was a mixture of some of the others, plus paralysis of breathing muscles in the chest. For these an iron lung, with the other remedies added as needed, gave good results.

The discoveries were made by a team of doctors from the University of Minnesota comprising Maurice B. Visscher, A. B. Baker, R. Brown, John Adams, Alan Hemingway, R. Anthony and J. Elam.

3,296 Reported In Florida's Prisons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 16, (AP)—Florida's prison population jumped to 3,296, an increase of 110 during May, Chief Clerk S. L. Walters of the Prison Division reported today.

A total of 191 prisoners, including 181 new commitments, were received during the month and only 81 were lost through expiration of sentences, paroles and escapes. One prisoner died during the month.

Of the total prison population, 1,499 are white males, 47 white females, 1,640 negro males and 110 negro females.

Inquiry Asked Into U.S. Redeeming Red Printed Nazi Money

By EDWIN HAAKINSON

Three Republican senators, asserting they had been unable to get the full facts elsewhere, demanded a senate investigation into reports that millions of U. S. dollars may have to be used to redeem Russian-printed German invasion currency.

Each of the three, Senators Bridges, (NH), Ferguson, (Mich), and Knowland (Calif.), told a reporter in separate interviews that he had been unable to learn from either the War Department or Treasury how much American money is or will be involved.

All three said they had learned that the plants, from which the invasion money was printed, were given to Russian authorities by U. S. Officials.

Senator Knowland made public otday a letter from Secretary of War Patterson indicating that German banks in the American and British zones held some $20,000,000 worth of 1,000-mark notes.

Knowland, a member of the Senate's special War Investigating Committee, said that 1,000-mark notes were not issued by the Americna or British forces and, so "these must have reached American and British zones from Russia."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said "reports reacing me are that from $400,000,000 to $900,000,000 of United States funds have been or will be used to redeem this Russian printed currency," he added:

"I think it is past time that some Senate committee got all the facts for the public."

Occupation money was printed in this country prior to the western invasion of Europe and was used to pay American and British troops and for other purposes.

When the Americans and British finally met the Russian soldiers they were delighted to learn the Russians also had German marks, large amounts of them which they were anxious ot exchange for wrist watches and many similar items at black market prices.

The GIs promptly converted their gains into postal money orders or United States currency. As a result, the War Department put a new funds control system into effect.

Last April 21 War Department officials conceded that the Army had acquired a surplus of German currency. It said "the present holdings do not, however, exceed future contemplated expenditures," and added that a complete report would be made to Congress later. Senators say they had not seen the report to date.

Stassen Speech

"does not require any new agreements or concessions or accords from Russia."

The Minnesota Republican listed a six-point program to follow in this nation's economic future. This was:

1. "We must extend substantial aid from our curren production toward the rebuilding of the war-torn world for a period of a decade or more."

2. "We must limit our aid or suffer inflation and destruction of "the productivity of our own resilient free economy."

3. "We must export to Europe in proprotion with our own production, with the amount determined "as bipartisan matter with the best of counsel and advice of economists and other leaders."

4. "Since we cannot possibly fulfill all the world's needs, we must establish "priorities placed upon the necessity of each country rebuilding for itself."

5. "Modern capitalism is the best road for high production and better standards of living," and we must emphasize this belief.

6. We must realize that we can never be fully repaid in dollars but instead must reach agreements to be paid, perhaps, in "specialized goods, for the long-term access to raw materials which we will need."

Stassen sounded the "warning," however, that "if we sit back and wait for the nations of Europe to agree upon a plan, we will wait too long" and thus the United States must "exercise leadership."

Truman Vetoes Bill

vetoed. President Franklin D. Roosevelt vetoed a tax bill in 1944.

The bill President Truman vetoed provided for reductions ranging from 10.5 to 30 percent in individual income taxes, beginning July 1.

He told the Congress members the time for tax reduction "will come when general inflationary pressures have ceased and the structure of prices is on a more stable basis than now prevails."

"How long it will take for this point to be reached is impossible to predict," Mr. Truman said. "Clearly, it has not been reached as yet. Tax reduction now would add to, rather than correct, maladjustments in the economic structure."

The President also cited this nation's "great responsibilities for international relief and rehabilitation that have an important bearing on our efforts to secure lasting peace."

Here are the principal arguments President Truman makes against the tax reduction bill:

1. It is "from the standpoint of government finances, unsafe."

2. Tax reductions now would increase inflationary pressures.

3. "Tax reduction now would add to, rather tha ncorrect, maladjustments in the economic structure."

4. Any surplus of government income over expenses should be used to reduce the public debt, rather than for tax reduction.

5. The tax reductions the bill proposes are "neither fair nor equitable." A "good bill" would give "a greater portion of relief to the low income group."

6. If the bill were approved, these "inequities" would be "frozen" into the tax system and "the government could ill afford to make fair tax reductions at the proper time."

Caldwell Vetoes

tive than washing and spraying and cattlemen were fearful the act would endanger the tick eradication program.

Counties which would have been affected by the act are Highlands, Glades, Lee, Okeechobee, Hendry, Polk, Broward and Dade.

Caldwell vetoed an act requiring the Bureau of Vital Statistics to issue a birth certificate upon the affidavit of either parent of a child because it would make it easier for anyone to secure a birth certificate without any substantiating evidence which is frequently required to thoroughly establish the time and place of a person's birth."

Another act that required a hearing before a circuit judge for the registration of a person born outside Florida was vetoed because it "appears to be cumbersome, expensive and unnecessary."

The governor said the measure reducing the mileage tax on commercial trucks from three-fourths of one cent to one-half cent and increasing the Railroad Commission's share of the tax from 15 to 25 percent for administrative expense would cost the State Board of Administration "substantially over $100,000."

Caldwell said 18,339 acres of land was affected in Palm Beach county by the homestead measure which provide one of the principal sources of revenue for the State through the I. I. Board, and that much of the land already is under long-term leases.

He added he believed the act unconstitutional and that it did not provide adequate safeguards for establishing a feasible homestead system.

Meeting Of Balkan Pro-Red Army Chiefs Felt Greek Threat

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The gathering of Russian, Czech, Romanian, Bulgarian and Yugoslav military leaders in Belgrade means lightning in the skies over Greece.

Whether it is merely heat lightning, generated by the war of nerves, or whether it will bring the thunder of a real storm, remains to be seen.

But regardless of how we may rationalize against it, the nature and rapidity of Balkan developments leads inescapably to speculation whether world observers could be wrong in estimating how far Russia will carry any adventure which contains a threat of war.

If we accept the theory that Russia is merely exploiting her postwar position but is in no position to take real chances, then we will look merely for a tightening of Balkan cooperation, perhaps a federation. This would result in increased long-term pressure on Greece, but more as a part of the general situation in Europe than a direct and immediate threat.

But what if the Communists should attempt a decisive move before the report of the Balkans investigating commission comes before the U. N. security council?

Lack of mention of Albania in connection with the Belgrade conferences has no particular meaning, although her claims against Greece constitute one of the pivotal points in the dispute. Albania has little of even the fictional autonomy with which the Communists have chosen to invest their other Balkan holdings, and will respond immediately to any orders from Tito.

The situation is this.

Regular military supply lines for the Greek guerrillas have been set up in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania (which surround Greece except for the sea and her short border with Turkey). Regular training camps are in operation from which reinforcements are sent into Greece. Regular field hospitals just inside the Communist countries care for guerrilla wounded brought back from Greek battlefields. In other words, the guerrilla bands in Greece, although they may contain many real patriots, actually constitute a Communist expeditionary force.

Russia, then, is going to be terribly embarrassed before the security council. She will try to keep the fight to "no decision." But indications are that she will be backed into a corner, where she will either have to call off her dogs or defy the U. N. with a veto of the Balkan report calling for a commission to keep watch over the area.

This puts her in much the same position she was in over Iran. The chances are that the result will be similar. But one cannot help thinking what might happen, with America's money and Britain's soldiers in Greece, if the Belgrade conference should decree one last throw of the dice before the U. N. case comes up, if those supply lines from the Russian sphere began to pour vastly augmented forces into the guerrilla war.

Legion Anxiliary To Have Supper Tuesday

The monthly covered dish supper of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday night at the Legion Hut, it was announced today by Mrs. Seth Woodruff, vice president.

She also announced that during the past year over $550 had been donated to local benefits and almost that much for outside benefits. She declared that during the year the auxiliary had supplied gifts to Pratt General Hospital as well as to Bay Pines.

MENUES

Egg Custard

3 eggs
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne
⅛ teaspoon celery salt

Beat egg slightly and add rest of ingredients. Turn into small greased moulds and set in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for twenty-five to thirty minutes, or until set.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

4 tomatoes
Stale breadcrumbs
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
4 slices bacon
1½ tablespoons bacon fat
½ cup crumbs

Remove tops from tomatoes, scoop out pulp, drain and measure and add an equal amount of stale bread crumbs. Dice the bacon and cook until crisp. Add rest of ingredients and mix well. Fill tomatoes and cover with the half cup of crumbs combined with two tablespoons of hot bacon fat. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or until crumbs are brown.

Veal Chops with Mushroom Glaze

4 lion veal chops
Salad oil
Salt
½ pound mushrooms
1 cup water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
½ cup beef stock
½ teaspoon sugar
Mushroom liquor
Kitchen Bouquet
Salt

Cover stems and skins from mushrooms with water and cook until liquid is reduced to one half cup. Strain. Mix cornstarch with cold water. Add beef stock and cook, stirring constantly until smooth. Gradually add sugar and mushroom liquor. Add a few drops of Kitchen Bouquet to make a good brown color. Season with salt and cook until thick and clear. Trim chops and brush on each side with salad oil. Sprinkle with salt and broil ten minutes, turning occasionally. Spread with the glaze made from mushroom stems and the mushroom caps, which have been broiled, surrounding the chops. skins. Serve on hot platter with

Locations Announced For Military, National Cemeteries Overseas

ATLANTA, June 16 (Special)—Locations of 14 permanent American Military Cemeteries and four National Cemeteries which the War Department plans to establish as final resting places overseas for members of the Armed Forces who died during the war outside the continental limits of the United States if next of kin request burial to be made overseas, was announced today in a War Department dispatch to the Atlanta General Depot. The locations were agreed to jointly by The Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

Temporary U. S. Military Cemeteries laid out during World War II but which will become permanent cemeteries are, U. S. Military at Cambridge, England 50 miles from London, U. S. Military Cemetery at Margraten Holland ten miles west of Aachen Germany, U. S. Military Cemetery at Hamm Luxembourg two and a half miles east of the City of Luxembourg, U. S. Military Cemetery at Henri Chapelle Belgium 18 miles northeast of Liege, U. S. Military Cemetery at Neuville-En-Cordes France nine miles southwest of Liege, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. Laurent France 20 miles northeast of St. Lo, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. James France 33 miles northeast of Rennes, U. S. Military Cemetery at Epinal France two and a half miles south of Epinal, U. S. Military Cemetery at St. Avold France 23 miles east of Metz, U. S. Military Cemetery at Draguignan France 27 miles west of Cannes, U. S. Military Cemetery at Nettuno, Italy 32 miles south of Rome, U. S. Armed Forces Cemetery at Manila Philippine Islands.

In addition, Florence Italy and Tunis Tunisia will be cemetery locations although the exact sites are not yet chosen by the Quartermaster General, and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

The four National Cemeteries are to be established under the plans at Honolulu Hawaiian Islands, Guam in the Marianas, San Juan Puerto Rico and Juneau Alaska. These National Cemeteries will provide final resting places for any armed forces personnel or honorably discharged veterans who may wish to be buried in Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico or Alaska in addition to those who died during World War II.

American dead of World War II rest today in more than 150 temporary United States Military Cemeteries overseas. Next of kin of the deceased are now being asked by the War Department to state where they desire their loved ones buried. Options open to the next of kin provide for burial of the individual deceased member of the armed forces in a private cemetery in the United States, in a National Cemetery in the United States, in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas or in a cemetery in a foreign country which is the homeland of the deceased or of next of kin.

Action by Congress will be required before the permanent military Cemeteries or the New National cemeteries may be established they will be cared for by the American Battle Monuments Commission. The Office of the Quartermaster General has supervision only over all National Cemeteries in the United States and abroad.

Land for the new cemetaries may be purchased if Congress so directs, or may be acquired by outright gift from the country concerned.

Following World War I, eight permanent American Military Cemeteries were established in France, Belgium and England. A total of 30,907 World War I dead rest in these cemeteries.

Engineers State No Radical Changes Are Forthcoming In Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

French Lick, Ind., June 16(AP)—Post-war automobile designing began where it left off at the time of Pearl Harbor and having gained virtually nothing from the automobile industry's experience, cannot present anything radically different in early forthcoming models.

That's the way the car designers, here for the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) sum up the new model prospects. They do not deny that changes will be little more than those that would evolve from one model year to another in normal times.

The SAE closed its five-day session here recently with technical discussions of diesel engine developments, aircraft power plants and unusual types of engines.

One somewhat unorthodox engine of the diesel type, combining the fuel injection method of the diesel with the traditional spark ignition of the gasoline unit, was described to the engineers by Allan M. Starr, of Piedmont, Calif. He said it operated economically on a wide variety of fuels and propelled a 3,400-pound vehicle 35 to 45 miles on one gallon of fuel at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Starr described his engine as having the flexibility of a gasoline power plant and the economy of a diesel.

The automotive industry's war production tasks, according to several of the engineers, taught a number of lessons in the efficient handling of materials but left little in the way of new devices or new principles engineering that could be successfully adopted to peacetime motorcar construction.

The industry, they declared, has found little or no peacetime passenger car use for magnesium and looks for relatively few new uses for aluminum or cast iron pistons of course, will go indefinitely, but wider use of the lighter material cannot be called a new adoption insofar as pistons are concerned.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

IF WE ARE LOOKING ONLY A FEW SCORE OF YEARS AHEAD AT MOST WE MISS THE VAST PANORAMA OF ETERNITY, THERE IS WHERE OUR FUTURE LIES. CONSIDER THAT IN YOUR PROGRAM: And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life.—1 John 2:24-25.

Russia Sends Regrets for Killing of Swede — headline. Yes, so solly, please.

We see where they are going to build a huge newsprint mill up in Alabama. But we are afraid that won't help us any next week. It will be two years before it gets into production.

Senator Vandenberg wants to see how much money we've got in the bank before committing ourselves to any more aid to Europe. That is the difference between a Republican and a Democrat. Now, a Democrat wouldn't care.

Ben Cohen, a State Department counselor, reveals that it will probably only cost 15 or 20 billion dollars to feed Europe during the next three or four years, which is about what we figured when the Greco-Turkish aid bill was passed. But what we'd like to know is how much it is going to cost after the three or four years is over.

We have no objection to bringing in several hundred thousands of these European Displaced Persons to live among us as our next door neighbors, but we don't think they ought to be brought over until they have a place to stay. And incidentally, we think the Federal Housing Expediter, the one who has been expediting veterans housing, ought to be the one to locate them their apartments.

Much as we disagree with everything that Henry Wallace has been saying of late, we don't think he should be barred from Washington's Watergate Amphitheater tonight. Every time he makes a speech he helps to solidify the opposition to Communism in this country and he serves to convince those who believe in democracy that freedom is something which has to be worked for if it is to be preserved. By all means, let him talk.

The extent to which some left wing so-called "liberal" groups will go in appealing to prejudice when trying to serve their own selfish interests is shown by a letter received by us today from "The Committee for the Preservation of Southern Traditions." It asks us to wire our senators and representatives to uphold a possible veto of the Taft, Hartley Labor Bill on the grounds, mind you, that it contains an amendment which would abolish segregation of white and colored employees throughout the South.

What a bad example will do is shown by the action of the Boys' State legislature voting huge appropriations while defeating all tax bills. They probably got the idea from our State Legislature. But then, the State Legislature was simply following the example of the U. S. Congress which for 12 years has been spending money it didn't have. But the difference is that the federal government can and did borrow huge sums of money, but the State of Florida is prohibited by its own Constitution from going into debt.

Unhappy Coincidences

In Washington, officials are now admitting freely that they look upon the Communist Coup in Hungary as part of a wider drive by the Soviets to consolidate their hold over all Eastern Europe. Perhaps these excerpts from one day or so's foreign news dispatches show most clearly why they think that.

One Budapest factory group is reported to have listened attentively while the Hungarian premier, a Communist and virtual dictator of his country, boasted "that everything was put over perfectly before the United States could rub its eyes, a task that was carried out by the brave and iron-fisted Communist party."

Nikola Petkov, leader of the Agrarian opposition to Bulgaria's Communist-dominated government, was arrested in Sofia. He is quoted as saying that what was happening to him was merely a prolongation of events in Hungary.

In Athens, Constantine Tsaldaris, Greek government leader, announced discovery that an international brigade is being formed by the Communists in Yugoslavia. The intent is, he declared, to clear a Soviet path to the Aegean through Greek Thrace, to the Mediterranean through Turkey and the Dardanelles, and to the Adriatic through Albania. He feared a Third World War.

All of these dispatches appeared, in the American press within a few days of the third anniversary of the Allied landing in Normandy, first step in freeing Europe from the Nazis. In spite of the 99,000 white crosses which mark American graves there, and the millions of similar crosses over men of all aggression-hating countries throughout Europe, that aggression still thrives in another form.

Out-Verning Verne

In 1873 the French author, Jules Verne, published his book, "Around The World In Eighty Days," and the public read its absurd extravagences with delight. In 1947, between June 17 and July 1, a group of this nation's leading newspaper editors and publishers will undertake a globe-girdling stunt that makes poor Jules Verne look mild indeed.

The newspapermen's 18-day jaunt is to be made in a sleeper plane, one of Pan American World Airways' new Gold Plate Constellations. It will begin at New York and end in San Francisco after stops in Ireland, England, Turkey, India, China, Japan, Guam, Wake, the Philippines and Hawaii. Pan American's president, who bears the appropriate name of Trippe, will accompany the distinguished gentlemen of the press on this flight to celebrate the launching of the first world-circling service in the history of commercial aviation.

It will be interesting to read the dispatches sent back by these men. One wonders whether even their astute minds will be able to digest the quick-moving kaleidoscope of impressions to which they will be subjected as they visit in such rapid succession so many divergent national scenes.

And maybe the ghost of Jules Verne will help them in their task.

New Electoral Plan

How should the president be elected? A House subcommittee is considering a constitutional amendment by which the electoral vote of each state would be divided in proportion to the popular vote, instead of going solidly to the winner. This system would in 1944 have given Roosevelt 14 votes from California to Dewey's 11, and 12 votes in Ohio to Dewey's 14. The present method gave Roosevelt all California's 25 votes; and Dewey all of Ohio's 26.

There is a good deal to recommend the change. The minority in hopelessly one-party states would have an incentive to come out and vote. By making a strong showing the Democrats could pick up an electoral vote or two in Maine, and the Republicans in Alabama. The net result would correspond more closely to the popular will. Outlawed would be outcomes like that in 1888, when Cleveland polled 100,000 more popular votes than Harrison, but Harrison got an electoral majority and the presidency.

Also it would break up the practice of, choosing candidates only from large doubtful states, such as New York and Ohio. A good man, capable of getting enough votes throughout the country, would then be a wise choice even if he failed to carry New York.

Aid To Europe Plan

ing, the Secretary of State announced in the same speech the postponement of already granted credits to Hungary."

(Marshall made no mention of Hungary in his June 5 speech at Cambridge, Mass., in which he set forth the Aid-to-Europe program.)

Leontiev also saw in Marshall's proposals an effort "to convince the American people that 'dollar expansion' is dictated by a desire to prevent an approaching economic crisis in the United States."

"The granting of American loans to independent European nations," the commentator declared, "has not justified itself, in the view of Marshall. Therefore he recommends that the European debtors of America create some sort of system of collective responsibility for these European debtors of Wall Street.

"Europe is being told to initiate for itself a united, universal program of economic restoration, and the United States' role will be that of supporting this program. In other words, the program must be submitted to the Americans."

Leontiev summed up his remarks by declaring:

"The real meaning of Marshall's reservations, his public approval of the idea for a United States of Europe all indicate that the former political meaning of American policy has to be presented to the American people in an embellished form."

He asked if the "necessity of converting" the country to the policies of the administration were not "what is really behind the stream of anti-Soviet slander and the baiting of democratic states in Eastern Europe which has been organized recently in the U. S. A."

In another article published in Pravda under the heading "British Hypocrites and Hungarian Affairs," Leontiev rapped the British government for interesting itself in the situation in Hungary.

"We do not dispute the fact," he said, "that British state leaders have obtained sufficient experience in interfering in the internal affairs of other countries, others."

Service Men Attend Vocational School

Service men made up nearly one-third of the enrollment of the Sanford Vocational School during the past term it was announced today by Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, principal.

Total enrollment was 101 and of these 31 were service men and one a service woman. Thirteen service men received diplomas at Seminole High School. Two women and one man, who received vocational school training, also got diplomas at the High School. Forty-five men and 56 women attended the school.

In commercial subjects 12 men and 13 women were awarded certificates. All men receiving certificates were ex-service men. Forty-four students secured jobs as a result of their training of which 28 were permanent and 16 temporary.

Possible Result Of Rent Bill Veto Shown

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—If President Truman vetoes the rent control bill which Congress expects to send him this week there probably will be no federal ceilings at all after June 30, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today.

Sparkman is the ranking Senate Democrat on the House Senate conference committee which reached final word last week on legislation to extend rent controls through next Feb. 29. The committee compromise was listed tentatively for House action today.

SUPERFORTS PARADE

GIEBELSTADT, Germany, June 16, (AP)—A visiting squadron of U. S. Army fliers will parade their superfortresses tomorrow over several German cities, some within 20 miles or so of the Russian zone of Germany. The B-29s returned from England today and will go back to the United States June 26.

It is also known that tendencies toward such interference did not disappear after the end of the second World War.

"However, one cannot fail to wonder at the boldness exhibited in efforts to ascribe to the Soviet Union this British longing for interference in the affairs of

Wilson Stresses Opportunities In Livestock Industry

JACKSONVILLE, June 16 (Special)—"Continued high prices for meat products, and particularly for beef and pork, should center attention, more and more, on one of the greatest long-term opportunities facing Floridians," said William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets today. "Our advances in beef cattle production during recent years have been amazing, but there are still wide open opportunities for expansion along this line.

"I feel we may safely assume that today's prices will not continue for any lengthy period, yet it is also true that we can't see right now just how long they will be paid. However, when a decline does come, I feel sure that our Florida producers will be able to put livestock on the market at a profit fairly comparable with producers in other states which supply the bulk of the nation's meat supply. This would mean, therefore, that producers appear assured of prices somewhat in line with those now being paid for a considerable period in the immediate future, and a good permanent demand for their cattle and hogs.

"Florida's excellent grazing lands have supported substantial numbers of cattle through most of the State's history. In recent years, however, we have improved our production facilities in many areas by the planting of improved pasture grasses, and introduction of more and more pureblood stock. The feeding-out of livestock is also on the increase and I believe holds tremendous possibilities for adding to the profits of the producers.

"Commissioner Nathan Mayo of Florida's Department of Agriculture has long taken a very active interest in the State's livestock industry. Our State Markets system operates a number of auctions, handling cattle, hogs and other animals. We now have plans actively under way for the early development of a half-dozen showplaces for purebred cattle. These exhibition centers are expected to spur interest in the production of better animals.

"Sales on the Jay State Livestock Market last week totaled $7,667.50, the one-day auction handling 82 cattle and 150 hogs. The Arcadia State Livestock Market's sale ran up a total of $22,686.69, for the 557 cattle and 26 hogs which were sold.

Rotary Meet

where mere monetary gain would not be the principal objective but rather the training and practical experience needed to give full meaning to their educational studies.

Billy Crumley, another student at the State University, commended the many recent improvements which have been made in Sanford listing the radio station, the bus station, and active Jaycee organization and much new construction, and suggested that steps should be taken to clean up the water front, have more boat races and encourage new industries. Agriculture, he added, is the backbone of this community, but he insisted that other industries should be developed here and more recreational facilities provided.

Billy Brumley, who served two and one-half years in the Pacific in a PT boat squadron, said the first thing he noticed upon his return to Sanford was the large amount of new construction going on. He commended the new hospital and pointed out the large amount of the new and up-to-date equipment which it has. He also mentioned the new radio station and said that while he was away he was proud to tell people he was from Sanford and that whenever he said "Sanford, the Celery City," they knew what he was talking about.

Herman Brumley, new city recreational director, discussed the work which is being done here in providing recreation for younger boys and girls, and said that the job which has been given him this summer is a great help to him in his studies at Rollins since he is majoring in physical education. He urged the construction of a municipal swimming pool and said that with more recreational facilities Sanford would grow and the people here would have more fun.

Following an invitation from W. A. Leffler, the club voted to have a picnic at his camp on July 2. There will be no meeting of the club on June 30. President G. A. Speer announced a directors' meeting on Next Thursday at 4:30 o'clock at the office of the Florida Power and Light Co.

Maritime Strike

memberships are the NMU, 90,000; American Communications Association, 3,000; International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, 80,000; Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, 15,000; Marine Cooks and Stewards, 12,000.

Curran also made public a telegram from the AFL Seafarer's International union pledging "complete support" of the CIO seamen and promising that AFU men would refuse to work on ships that might be allocated by operators of struck lines to those not affected.

The stoppage resulted from demands by the NMU and the ACA for wage boosts of 20 and 15 percent respectively, plus other contract improvements and extension of the expired contract by the marine cooks. The Mebs and longshoremen on the West Coast have agreed on contract extensions but promised to follow the lead of the others in the event of a "lockout."

Headaches Are Serious

By W. V. BITTING
Touchton Drug Co.

A headache may derive from any one of 20 or more serious causes. Only a physician can correctly diagnose and prescribe the cure.

A headache is a pain and a pain is always a symptom of something. A sedative may alleviate, but the underlying cause is still there and may progress, unless the trouble is corrected.

Your doctor can detect the reason why you suffer from headaches. He will seek to remove the cause, thus relieving you from recurrent attacks and from the threat of a progressive malady.

Follow this advice exactly. Procure the most expertly compounded medication possible.

Order Of Eastern Star Has Meeting

The Seminole Chapter No. 2 O. E. S held its regular meeting in the Masonic Hall recently. Routine business was conducted by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Virginia Burney and an invitation was extended and accepted to hold Robert Morris picnic, August 27 in Oviedo Park in Oviedo. Invitations were read from Daytona Beach and New Smyrna to attend the official visit of Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Opal Bartow, on June 13 and 14 respectively. About 50 members and visitors were present.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—Contrary to Dorothy Parker's jape about guys never making passes at girls who wear glasses, the lady who wears spectacles indeed gets her neck tickled, as evidenced by the glamorous stature and whistleable triumphs of such myopic misses as Joan Crawford, who even won an Oscar despite her specs; Claudette Colbert, Joan Bennett, and other gals now make no plastic bones about the necessity of shell rims . . . The presence of specs didn't keep British fans from chosing Miss Dorothy Malone "America's most beautiful representative actress."

Joan Crawford even made glasses a plot and character point in "Humoresque." Lauren Bacall was wearing corrective lenses when she first met Humphrey Bogart, which apparently didn't keep Bogie from exhibiting an immediate amorous interest. Marilyn Maxwell wears 'em, and so does Greer Garson, Ann Sheridan, Alexis Smith and more glittering ladies of the screen and Broadway stage than you can shake a script at. The gals want to be able to read that script, and grab it if they think it's good. Yep—strange as it may seem—the gals in show business can read these days.

CUFF STUFF: Bert Lahr and Tuts Shor ain't talkin' . . . Neither are their wives . . . I walked by the Alvin Theater and asked Dave Posner, the venerable doorman, how he was . . . "Got a pain in my back but after all I'm 84," said the ever-cheery Dave . . . Ex-G. I. Billy Cahn says he's not discouraged by three flops in a row and will produce another Broadway musical costing $250,000.

Bert Wheeler drove back from California in four days with his wife, Patty . . . He won't play in "Harvey" during Frank Fay's annual vacation this year, even though the management wants him . . . "I didn't like the way they treated me last summer, said Bert, said to be Broadway's easiest-to-get-along-with-guy.

Al Geller, the shoe manufacturer, defied detectives at Belmont Park who insisted he was a bookmaker . . . He later ruefully pointed out seven losers out of seven, "and that's a lot of shoes," he said . . . Broadwayites are diverted by a young cafe owner who dresses just like Sinatra, even combs his forelock into a neat dangle, just like Frankie Boy's . . . "Heaven forbid she should get a crush like that on Jack Benny," quipped Fred Allen, "He'd start wearing a wig."

INGRID BERGMAN set a modern record for stage earnings in her recently closed "Joan of Lorraine." Ingrid was paid 15 per cent of the gross, which meant more than $150,000 was poured into her coffers during the comparatively brief run, which could have been extended a year or more except for previous and unavoidable Hollywood commitments . . . The play has been released for stock and amateur presentation, which means every provincial Duse will b having a chance at one of the toughest roles of the decades.

Pauline Hasty Tells Plans For Wedding

Miss Pauline Hasty today announced plans for her wedding to Harold Madden. The wedding will be an event of June 22 at 6:00 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. E. D. Brownlee officiating.

The bride will be given in marriage by her cousin, R. V. Hasty, of Gainesville. She will have as her only attendant her sister, Mrs. B. F. Griggs, Jr., of Daytona Beach.

Theron Madden will serve as his brother's best man and ushers will be Robert and Russell Hasty, brothers of the bride, of St. Cloud, and B. F. Griggs, Jr. of Daytona each, brother-in-law of the bride.

No invitations are being issued but all friends of the couple are invited.

Good Crowd Attends Baptist Bible School

The Vacation Bible School of the First Baptist Church opened this morning with a good attendance reported by Rev. W. P. Brooks, Jr., pastor of the church. There are four departments, Nursery, director, Miss Emma Joan Methvin; Beginner, director, Mrs. Fred Godwin; Primary, director, Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Jr. and Junior, directed by Mrs. A. J. Peterson. The school opens each morning at 9:30 A. M. and lasts two hours. It is open to all children from nursery age to 12 years.

Rebekah Lodge No. 43 Has Monthly Meet

The Seminole Rebekah Lodge No. 43 met in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Thursday night with Mrs. H. L. Moore presiding. The committees were appointed for entertaining Mrs. Norine Maassen, president of the State Rebekah Assembly, when she makes her official visit on June 26. At the close of the meeting a memorial program was conducted by Mrs. Fred Myers, district deputy president of district No. 10 following which the group sang "God Will Take Care Of You". About 14 members were present.

Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 29. (AP)

Some artists may sneer at the movies, but there is at least one long-hair who is accepting the Hollywood lush. He is pianist Arthur Rubinstein, who says films are now an art. "After all," the genial genius declared, "I am an artist, and could only enjoy working with art. If the movies were but an industry, I could not fit in. I am not an industrialist."

Rubinstein is currently doing his first acting chore for the movies in "Memory of Love." It is his fourth film chore. However, twice before, his ivory work has been featured on sound tracks and he was photographed at the piano in one film.

"Ah, but I am an actor now," he laughed. He demonstrated with a line which he had to deliver to Ilona Andrews: "Are you serious?" he gave it various deliveries. "All last night I practiced thy line with different intonations," he said. "I guess I'm not as good an actor as Hurbi. You know—Hurbi actually takes a role in his new picture and doesn't use his own name. I am jealous of him."

Hollywood sights and sounds . . . Spencer Tracy, who doesn't get out much but likes his baseball, rooting from his regular box at the Hollywood Ball Park . . . Doug Fairbanks, Jr., battling eight men in "The Exile" and wondering if he wouldn't prefer drawing-room comedies . . . New Yorker Edmond O'Brien learning to ride a horse on the U back lot for a western.

The dress extras parading into RKO at 9:00 A. M., attired in their tuxes and fourrals . . . Sue Donegan, the South's Cotton Queen, thrilled at meeting Frank Sinatra . . . Angela Lansbury telling about a marriage proposal from an Alaskan fur trapper . . . the long, grey lines of bicycles parked in studio racks, denoting the current inactivity on the lots . . . conductor Eugene Ormandy, here for a movie role, eating alone in the RKO commissary . . . Alan Ladd, appearing on the set of his present Western, "Whispering Smith," in street clothes, and Bob Preston shrieking in a high voice: "Oh, lookie, Alan Ladd in civvies!"

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—An ex-school teacher, short and on the plump side, but full of energy and high hopes for the people of her country, is the capital's next visitor to be feted and listened to with interest.

She is Madame Zoltan Tildy, wife of the President of Hungary, and this is her first visit to the United States. She came here, primarily as the guest of the Order of the Easter Star of New York and the American-Hungarian Reformed Church organization.

In Washington, she will stay at Blair House, the government's residence for distinguished visitors. She will be received by Mrs. Truman at the White House, and Aladar Szegedy-Maszak, the Hungarian Minister, is planning a reception and two dinner parties in her honor.

From Washington she will go to several other American cities such as Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Trenton, Chicago and, perhaps on out to the west coast.

She was born of a poor family, the daughter of a Protestant minister in Hungary. While preparing to become a teacher, she met and married Mr. Tildy who was studying for the ministry.

Tildy became actively interested in politics in the '30's. He became a leader of the Small Holders Party, which is moderately conservative and during the pre-war era, the only democratic opposition party.

When Hungary was proclaimed a republic on February 1, 1946, he was sworn in as the President. He led the Small Holders to victory over six other parties, including Socialists and Communists, in the first general elections in Soviet-occupied easter Europe since the end of the war.

Mrs. Tildy also became interested in politics in her efforts to gain more rights for women. For some time, only women of higher education and those having many children were permitted to vote. Hungarian women all now have equal suffrage.

Mr. Tildy being in opposition to the Nazis when the Germans invaded Hungary was condemned to die. He went into hiding. Mrs. Tildy was allowed to go free in the hope that her husband might be found. One of her two sons was arrested and badly mistreated by the Nazis.

Legion Anxiliary To Have Supper Tuesday

The monthly covered dish supper of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday night at the Legion Hut, it was announced today by Mrs. Seth Woodruff, vice president.

She also announced that during the past year over $550 had been donated to local benefits and almost that much for outside benefits. She declared that during the year the auxiliary had supplied gifts to Pratt General Hospital as well as to Bay Pines.

Meeting Of Balkan Pro-Red Army Chiefs Felt Greek Threat

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The gathering of Russian, Czech, Romanian, Bulgarian and Yugoslav military leaders in Belgrade means lightning in the skies over Greece.

Whether it is merely heat lightning, generated by the war of nerves, or whether it will bring the thunder of a real storm, remains to be seen.

But regardless of how we may rationalize against it, the nature and rapidity of Balkan developments leads inescapably to speculation whether world observers could be wrong in estimating now far Russia will carry her adventure which contains a threat of war.

If we accept the theory that Russia is merely exploiting her postwar position but is in no position to take real chances, then we will look merely for a tightening of Balkan cooperation, perhaps a federation. This would result in increased long-term pressure on Greece but more as a part of the general situation in Europe than a direct and immediate threat.

But what, if the Communists should attempt a decisive move before the report of the Balkans investigating commission comes before the U. N. security council?

Lack of mention of Albania in connection with the Belgrade conferences has no particular meaning, although her claims against Greece constitute one of the pivotal points in the dispute. Albania has little of even the fictional autonomy with which the Communists have chosen to invest their other Balkan holdings, and will respond immediately to any orders from Tito.

The situation is this.

Regular military supply lines for the Greek guerrillas have been set up in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania (which surround Greece except for the sea and her light border with Turkey). Regular training camps are in operation from which reinforcements are sent into Greece. Regular field hospitals just inside the Communist countries care for guerrilla wounded brought back from Greek battlefields. In other words, the guerrilla bands in Greece, although they may contain many real patriots, actually constitute a Communist expeditionary force.

Russia, then, is going to be terribly embarrassed before the security council. She will try to keep the fight to "the decision." But indications are that she will be backed into a corner where she will either have to call off her dogs or defy the U. N. with a veto of the Balkan report, calling for a commission to keep watch over the area.

This puts her in much the same position she was in over Iran. The chances are that the result will be similar. But one cannot help thinking what might happen, with America's money and Britain's soldiers in Greece, if the Belgrade conference should decree one last throw of the dice before the U. N. case comes up. If those supply lines from the Russian sphere began to pour vastly augmented forces into the guerrilla war.

MENUES

Egg Custard

4 eggs
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Beat egg slightly and add rest of ingredients. Turn into small greased moulds and set in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for twenty-five to thirty minutes, or until set.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

4 tomatoes
½ cup breadcrumbs
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
4 slices bacon
1½ tablespoons bacon fat
½ cup crumbs

Remove tops from tomatoes, scoop out pulp, drain and measure and add an equal amount of stale bread crumbs. Dice the bacon and cook until crisp. Add rest of ingredients and mix well. Fill tomatoes and cover with the half cup of crumbs combined with two tablespoons of hot bacon fat. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or until crumbs are brown.

Sanford Celery Feds To Entertain Islets Tonight

Goose Kettles Slated To Hurl Contest; Locals Drop Tilt Yesterday To I's

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

The Sanford Celery Feds are slated to entertain the Gainesville G-Men in a single contest at the Municipal Park tonight, if Jupiter Pluvious permits.

The local aggregation will play the first game since Sunday a week ago at the Municipal Park in the event that the showers allow the contest to be played.

During the past week, Sanford had tilts washed away with Palatka, DeLand and Daytona Beach, however a single tilt was played in the Azalea Bowl in Palatka and the rained out tilt was scheduled to be played in Sanford.

Big Goose Kettles, Fed knucklehaller, is scheduled to assume duties against the invaders tonight.

The Feds and Buddy Lake, Sanford moundsman, were treated roughly in an 8 to 1 contest of five innings duration at City Island Park yesterday. Glenn Garrett also worked on the mound for the Sanford aggregation.

Walley Gaddis, Islet hillman, allowed the Sanfordites but three bingles during the five inning tour of duty, when the tilt was called off because of rain.

Sanford will play Gainesville in the University City tomorrow and will meet the Leesburg Pirates in Leesburg Wednesday night. Leesburg returns to the Municipal Park on Thursday night.

Steve Denier, a trird baseman who has been playing recently at Danville, Va., arrived in Sanford yesterday in response to a telephone call from Manager Don Murray, and will be given a five day trial with the locals, it was announced by the Sanford skipper today.

Denier is a chunky lad from Brooklyn who attracted Murray's attention when he, too, was at Danville. "Steve was playing a whale of a game and was hitting over .300 when I last saw him work. He should be of great help to us," the manager stated.

Jim Blalock has been signed to a Fed contract after a five day trial period and Mayo Langston has been given his release, Murray also announced.

Florida Players Tops In Southern Meet

NEW ORLEANS, June 16 (AP)—A combination of California, and Florida, represented respectively by Frankie Parker of Los Angeles and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, won the doubles champion in the 62nd annual Southern Tennis Tournament here yesterday.

Parker and Mulloy, the top-seeded entry, beat Sam Match and Bob Curtis of Rise Institute, Houston, Tex., in the tourney finals 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

Parker won the singles title Saturday, in a five-set victory over Jack Teuro of New Orleans, a Tulane freshman.

Results of other finals matches yesterday, included:

Women's singles: Martha Barnett, Miami, defeated Jean Clark, Birmingham, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4.

Women's doubles: Miss. Clark and Nancy Morrison, Palm Beach, Fla., beat Lucy Mouledous and Gerry Waterhouse, New Orleans, 6-2, 7-5.

Mixed doubles: Miss Clark and Richard "Bud" Hart, Miami, won from Miss Barnett and Curtiss, 6-3, one set by agreement.

Snead Worn Out From Too Much Golf

BOSTON (AP)—Sammy Snead, 1946 British Open golf champion, from Hot Springs, Va., says he's "just plum worn out" from too much tournament golf.

"I haven't been playing well since I returned from South Africa," says the long-hitting Slammin' Sammy. "I've traveled so much this year that I'm just plumb worn out. I'll bet I've traveled close to 70,000 miles since the first of the year."

Louise Suggs Faces Uphill Battle For Western Crown

By CHICK HOSCH

ATLANTA, June 16 (AP)—Louise Suggs, the long-knocking atom from nearby Lithia Springs, faced an uphill battle today as she opened defense of her Women's Western Golf Championship.

Tough assignments, however, are not unknown to the shy little brunette, particularly in this championship affair which she won at Des Moines last year with a 2-up victory over Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

The Minneapolis redhead and a half-dozen other competitors equally as well known, were in the contenders' circle with Miss Suggs as qualifying over the Capital City Country Club course got underway this morning. The field numbered over 100.

Not entered, because of her appearance in the British Amateur, Mrs. Babe Zaharias, whom Miss Suggs eliminated in the Western's semi-finals last year before tangling with Miss Berg, one of the game's top pros.

Among the leading contenders, all capable of taking down medalist honors, shared last year by Misses Berg and Suggs, are Polly Riley of Fort Worth, the Trans-Mississippi Champion; Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, runnerup to Miss Suggs in the Southern Women's event last month; Mrs. Sam Israel of New Orleans; Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Eileen Stulb of Augusta, Helen Dettweiler of Indio, Calif.; Jean Perkins of Cleveland.

Kay Pearson of Houston; Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich.; Kathryn Hemphill and Hope Seignious of Greensboro, N. C.; Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio; Dot Kelly of Los Angeles; Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich.; Mrs. George Wilcox of Miami, Fla.; and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.

Par for the hilly layout of 6,340 yards is 76. Miss Suggs fired a 72 Saturday in the event's mixed foursome play. Match play starts Tuesday with 18 holes daily until the championship finals of 36 holes Saturday.

Here is the first photo of the wrecked DC-4 Capital Airlines plane which crashed on a mountain near Leesburg, Va. There appeared to be no hope that any of the 50 persons aboard the craft had survived. The plane, from the air, looked like it had exploded and scattered its parts over a wide area. At lower left and right are the torn wing sections. Photo by Washington Times-Herald.

SEEKS TRIPLE CROWN

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Dressen, New York Yankee coach, needs only to serve on a Stadium pennant winner to become the first man ever to be associated with three New York flag winners. Dressen played with the New York Giants of 1933, coached the Brooklyn Dodgers of 1941 and is with the Yanks now.

Olympic Committee Opens Important Session Today

STOCKHOLM, June 16 (AP)—The International Olympic Committee opened an important, week-long session here today, amid reports that Stockholm would join seven other cities in bidding for the 1952 Olympic games.

Final plans for the first post-war renewal of the International Games to be held next year in London are to be worked out during the meeting, with the selection of the 1952 site to be announced before the conference breaks up on Saturday.

Los Angeles, Detroit, Minneapolis, Philadelphia and Chicago have invitations ready to present to the body Thursday, along with Helsinki and Amsterdam, and their delegates are on the scene, attempting to line up support.

The Swedish capital appeared as a last-minute darkhorse candidate, when the influential newspaper Svenask Dagbladet said in an editorial: "It is reported that Stockholm, providing that Helsinki gets a dicisive no, intends to appear as an applicant for the games."

Leesburg Pirates Pace League Batting

The Leesburg Pirates, with five regulars hitting over the .333 mark paced the hitting department with a .288 team average when official averages were released from the league statistician's office over the weekend.

The Sanford Celery Feds are deep in the quagmire of the batting race with a team average of .247 for the lowest in the Florida State League.

Myril Hoag, Gainesville G-Man skipper, continued to show that he is the man to defeat for the individual hitting honors, increased his average to three points below the .400 mark during the past week. Doug Johnson, Leesburg Pirate left fielder, gave promise that he is a contender for leadership by increasing his average to .362, four points higher than last week.

The Feds are paced at the plate by Buddy Lake, who is hitting at a .307 clip. Lake is followed by Martin Zuba, with .302, Jerry Silverman with .283 and Dave Bride with .277.

Bill Stanton and Charlie Bissen were two of the league's outstanding hurlers. Stanton has won seven and dropped two tilts while Bissen has copped five and lost three contests.

New York Grid Rivals Set To Renew Feud With High Average

NEW YORK (AP)—The fierce rivalry between New York's teams in the rival National Football League and the All-America Conference will be renewed this fall as both teams continue to play home games in opposition to each other.

Three fall Sunday dates will find the rivals at home, less than a mile apart. On Sunday, Oct. 9, the New York Giants meet the Pittsburgh Steelers in the Polo Grounds while in Yankee Stadium the New York Yankees play the San Francisco 49ers.

On Sunday, Nov. 23, the Giants are at home with the Green Bay Packers while the Yankees play host to the Cleveland Browns.

YOUR NEW REGULAR ARMY WANTS YOU TO KNOW HOW VOLUNTEERS ARE SELECTED

OUT OF EVERY 100 VOLUNTEERS WHO APPLY

20.24% . . . fail to pass the mental tests
11.36% . . . . fail to pass the physical tests
6.42% . . . . fail for moral or sub-standard administrative reasons

TOTALS
38.02% . . . . . fail to pass
61.98% . . . . . are accepted

(Based on figures for January, 1947, when 35,420 men enlisted and 1702 extended their enlistments.)

Would it surprise you to know that only about 60 out of every 100 volunteers for the new Regular Army can measure up to today's requirements for a soldier?

Only the top 60% of American youth—mentally, morally and physically—can pass the rigid tests.

There are reasons for this which your Army wants you to know:

1 The men we send overseas must represent you to millions of people who are struggling towards democracy. They must be typical of our best.

2 The truly modern Army requires a far higher type of soldier than ever before. The wide use of scientific material and the broad program of research necessitate a superior man. Your Army must lead the world in the caliber of its men if it is to provide adequate defense in the atomic age.

These are reasons why Army enlistment standards today are higher than ever before—why your new Regular Army, although comparatively small in size—is performing its world-wide duties well.

In Japan, for example, ours is the smallest occupation force per capita in world history—yet there is no record of greater achievement in such a short space of time.

If you can measure up to these standards, you will find enlistment in the new Regular Army a good career. You will live and work with friends whom you will value always. You will have opportunity for travel and high adventure, and a chance to qualify for Officer Candidate Schools and Technical Schools. Above all, you will have the deep satisfaction of doing an important job for your country.

Ask at any U. S. Army Recruiting Station about the many opportunities open to men who volunteer for three years.

Differences Between U. S. - Argentina Are In Limelight Again

By NORMAN CARIGAN
AP News Foreign Analyst

The United States and Argentina are going to be friends again but just how friendly? This is the question that remains paramount in the wake of President Truman's patching up of U. S. difference with the Peron government yesterday.

These troubles centered around Argentine efforts to clean house of Nazi influences there. The White House indicated in a statement it is satisfied with Argentina's performance but wants to talk it over with the Latin American government s before saying so publicly. Diplomats say it is a cinch that when the formalities are over this particular U. S. Argentine problem will have been removed.

What they are concerned about now are these questions:

1. The longe-range U. S. Policy toward Argentina.

2. The fundamental American policy toward all the Latin American countries.

Both tie in together because they seem to be recurrent.

Oversimplified, the problem is: Shall the United States under the Good Neighbor Policy treat all the Latin American neighbors alike or be firm with those it considers to be bad neighbors?

Should the United States maintain "inter-American unity at all costs or play down this unity when the situation warrants"?

Now the question arises again. There is no clear indication yet what President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall will decide.

Those who have been clamoring most for a change in Argentine policy seem also to be advocating a close working relationship between the two countries.

Diplomats from nations bordering on Argentina express fears privately that if this happens their countries will be forced into Argentina's orbit. They say that up to now they have been depending on U. S. support to ward off that possibility.

Some Americans, meanwhile, are pressing strongly a friendly but "hand-offish" type of policy toward Argentina. The advantage of this, they argue, is that the U. S. then can step in whenever it figures Argentina is moving against American interests in South America.

Weaving is one of the earliest, if not the earliest, crafts practiced by primitive mankind.

Staff Chosen For Boy Scout Camp

ORLANDO, June 16, (Special) —Selection of the staff for the Central Florida Boy Scout Camp at Doe Lake has been completed, Boy Scout headquarters announced today. This very efficient group of men will be on hand the entire camp season to assist the Scoutmasters in their camping program. This first Doe Lake summer camp will open for its first week on June 15 and continue through July 20 with a sixth week if the demand requires it.

R. J. Burdick will be the camp director. Mr. Burdick is a teacher at the Memorial Junior High School, Orlando, and is experienced in all phases of the Scouting program as well as other types of boys' work.

John E. Abbott of Holly Hill will be program director. Mr. Abbott is a coach at the Mainland High School, Daytona Beach, a former Scout and has served in youth camps as counselor and director of athletics. Harry Britton will return to the Doe Lake staff as handicraft director, after a year's leave of absence.

The waterfront director is Jim Franklin, who will be serving for his third season, and he is qualified in every way for this important part of the camp.

Howard Gould of Orlando will serve as Commissary Officer at the camp. Howard has taken special training for this work and the meals will be planned on a scientific basis to insure every Scout the proper food.

Warren Grainge of Bowling Green, Ky., a former staff member, has been asked to return to the staff as First Aid man. An efficient junior staff is being carefully selected to round out the program.

The new Central Florida Council Camp at Doe Lake in the Ocala National Forest is operated by the Central Florida Council so that the troops of the Council can offer their Scouts a camping experience for a week or more during the summer season.

The trumpet is believed to have been invented around 1500.

AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES ARE THRIFTY
The buying procedure of the American housewife could well be an example of intelligent purchasing the country over. They are out to get the most for their money and "shop around" until they find the best buy—in quality and price. Does your family "shop around" when buying insurance? If you can buy the same article for less, wouldn't you consider, you had saved just that much money? That is exactly what we offer you—fire, windstorm, automobile and other kinds of property insurance equal in quality and dependability as you can buy anywhere—but at a saving in the price. Think of all the useful things you could buy, if you got back 1/5 of all the money you pay for insurance. How can we do this? Send for booklet "How to save money on insurance" and learn how many American families have been saving on the cost of their insurance for the past 195 years.

Union President Said To Have Attended Meeting With Communist Party Heads

NEW YORK, June 17, (AP)—The World-Telegram said today that Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO), held a secret conference yesterday with top officials of the Communist Party.

Present with Bridges at the meeting in the apartment of Murray Winocur, secretary of the CIO Maritime-Joint Policy Committee and one of the leaders of the current maritime stoppage, the World-Telegram said, were William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist Party; John Williamson, C. P. national labor secretary; Robert Thompson, New York state secretary, and Al Lannon, the party's national coordinator for the maritime industry.

The World-Telegram story, by Pulitzer prize winner Frederick Woltman, said that Foster, Williamson and Thompson left the building in which Winocur lives, shortly before Bridges' departure.

The story said they entered a chauffeur-driven automobile whose license plates were registered in the name of William E. Foster, the name under which the Communist chief earlier this year was issued a passport.

Bridges was the subject of (Continued on Page Eight)

Ruprecht Elected Head Of Infantile Paralysis Chapter

Dr. R. W. Ruprecht was elected chairman of the Seminole County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the annual meeting of the board held at the Tourist Center yesterday afternoon. Ned Smith, former chairman, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. George A. Speer was re-elected secretary, and H. W. Deane, treasurer. Rolland Dean was elected vice chairman. The board of directors was re-elected with Mrs. John Galloway as a new member. Randall Chase, who was commended for his work on the March of Dimes campaign this year by Mr. Smith, was elected to head the drive again next year.

Dr. Frank Quillman reported that so far this year there have been no cases of infantile paralysis in Seminole County and only four in the state. He was presided with about 400 at this time last year.

The treasurer's report showed that the local chapter had receipts of $2,113.75 and disbursements of $1,819.48. The operating deficit was taken care of out of cash on hand at the beginning of the year of $1,172.26, leaving a balance on hand at the present time of $585.78.

The March of Dimes campaign was successful in raising $3,114.54 of which $1,009.07 was contributed to the national fund. However, some $2,113.70 was spent by the local chapter to direct aid to infantile paralysis patients in Seminole County.

Truman Nominates Envoy To Argentina

WASHINGTON, June 17, (AP)—President Truman today nominated James Bruce, Maryland corporation executive, to be ambassador to Argentina, succeeding George Messersmith, who resigned.

Bruce, 54, is vice president of the National Dairy Products Corporation and a director of 14 corporations. He is a graduate of Princeton University and the University of Maryland. In World War One he was assistant military attache to Italy and representative of the Italian peace conference in Montenegro and Albania.

He is a resident of Eccleston, Md., but maintains offices in New York. He is married and has two daughters.

Florida Fashions Brings New Industry To Sanford

A new and expanding industry for Sanford of tremendous potentialities was revealed to City officials and representatives of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce this morning by Frank Shaines who said that he hopes to make Sanford the fashion center of America and explained that he is already shipping thousands of dresses weekly from this city to every state in the union and many foreign countries.

Under the firm name of Florida Fashions, Inc. the company began operations last September at 402 East First Street where more than 70 persons are now employed in the largest mail order business in this part of the state. All the materials produced exclusively in the South, garment manufacturers from a number of Southern states supply the more than 30 models which are sold under such trade names as "Florita," "Am-rita," "Whirligig" and "Honey-Belle."

A mailing list of over one hundred thousand names has already been built up through advertising in 80 metropolitan newspapers and 20 national magazines. Such publications as Life, Look, Country Gentlemen, True Confessions, Real Romances, Parade, New York Daily News, Chicago Tribune, Los Angeles Times, Baltimore Sun, Des Moines Register and the San Francisco Examiner have been used to secure over 125,000,000 insertions for a single month alone.

That Sanford is getting more publicity from this advertising than anything that has ever happened here is revealed by the fact of sample advertisements which contain such phrases as "Florida Fashions—Brings Florida Glamour to You—Sanford, Fla." That is the slogan of the company, and the letter head of its stationery as well as its advertisements invariably contain an outline of the state of Florida with a palm tree.

Following a tour of the organization's offices today in which they saw thousands of bolts and of dresses being prepared for the three daily mailings, Sanford civic leaders enjoyed a short fashion show in which various styles now being sold were displayed by Miss Emily Matthews, Miss Lillian Arenberg, Miss Jane Thigpen, and (Continued on Page Eight)

Red Premier Of Bulgaria Hits U.S. Criticism

Hope Is Expressed No Action Will Hurt Friendly Relations

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 17, (AP)—Dezso Sulyok, outspoken leader of the Anti-Communist Freedom Party, said today that, unless guaranteed freedom of assembly, he would schedule no more political addresses risking open brawls with the Reds.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 17, (AP)—Communist Premier Georgi Dimitrov took issue today with a United States criticism of Bulgaria but said he hoped no action would be undertaken which might hinder the establishment of normal and friendly relations between the two countries.

Dimitrov commented on a formal statement issued by the State Department in Washington June 11 with reference to the arrest in Sofia five days earlier of Nikola Petkov, leader of the opposition Agrarian Party, who was accused of plotting against the Bulgarian government.

He said he personally was "not informed" that all freedom supporting people outside Bulgaria had authorized the State Department to declare that they would place the present Bulgarian regime on trial. He said he hoped nobody was informed to that effect.

(The U. S. statement said that just as certainly as Petkov went on trial, so will the present Bulgarian regime be on trial in the minds of many Bulgarians and certainly in the opinion of all freedom-loving peoples outside Bulgaria.)

Dimitrov said the current Bulgarian administration was arrived at by and consciously supported by a large majority of the Bulgarian people.

"The hopes of some native, shortsighted people are that the arrest of Nikola Petkov will be followed by stormy protests and disturbances and even partisan activities against the fatherland (Continued on Page Three)

Jews Lay Claim For State To UN Group

JERUSALEM, June 17, (AP)—Moshe Shertok, head of the Jewish Agency, laid before the United Nations Security Commission today a "factual and statistical introduction to our claim for a Jewish state."

Enid Sandstrom, white-haired chief justice of Sweden and chairman of the commission, presided at the first public session, attended by 300 reporters and visitors having special cards.

George Symeonides, commission press officer, said Palestine authorities had assured him that normal censorship of Palestine newspapers would be lifted for coverage of the hearings.

Truman Calls Training Bill Vital To U.S.

Country's Pledge To Aid Free Nations Makes Plan Military Necessity

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17, (AP)—President Truman said today this country's pledge to help free nations resist the "encroachment of totalitarian pressures" makes universal training a "military necessity."

"We must remember above all," the Chief Executive asserted, "that these men would not be training in order to win war, but in order to prevent one."

The President came here by special train from Washington to receive his tenth honorary doctor of laws degree at a Princeton University bicentennial convocation in which similar honors were bestowed on 36 other outstanding leaders.

Peace-loving nations," Mr. Truman said in his prepared address, "can make only slow progress toward the attainment of a stable world, in which all peoples are free to work out their own destinies in their own way, unless their moral leadership is supported by strength.

"Weakness on our part would stir fear among small or weak-minded nations that we were giving up our world leadership. It would seem to them that we lacked the will to fulfill our pledge to aid free and independent nations to maintain their freedoms, or our commitments to aid in restoring war-torn economies.

"In such an atmosphere of uncertainty, these nations might not be able to resist the encroachment of totalitarian pressures. They might think it would be a bargain to go by default."

The President said universal training is "vital to the national welfare." He declared:

Clay Reports Youth Of Germany Are Not Becoming Democratic

BERLIN, June 17, (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today that Germany's youth had not absorbed many of the principles of democracy since V-E day, and blamed lack of good German leadership for the slow progress made.

Clay asserted in his report that some strides had been made towards democratization, but said that a prime requisite for the development of sound youth organizations is the former Reich was the re-awakening of certain moral and spiritual forces among German youth.

Also needed, he said, is development of a willingness to respect the youth movement along democratic and peaceful lines, reformed school systems, improved economic and political conditions in Germany and increased contacts of youth groups with the outside world.

In the American zone of Germany there are 2,299,507 youths between the ages of 10 and 18, Of this number only 890,416 are enrolled in youth groups, 40 per cent of them in religious groups and 31 per cent in sports organizations. Clay said. Those not enrolled in handicraft, cultural, labor union and miscellaneous groups.

The report disclosed that more emphasis has been placed on cultural and educational programs in the past six months in contrast to the concentration on athletic activities in 1945, and 250 army officers and 600 enlisted men now devote their full time to youth activities.

Rape Sentence Upheld By Supreme Court

TALLAHASSEE, June 17 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld the death sentences for rape of a 4-year-old white girl.

The court, in an opinion by Circuit Judge George Holt of Miami, ruled a confession by Malcolm was not obtained by force or threats, and if it was admitted at the trial were erroneous "the remaining testimony is overwhelming that it would be a harmless error."

Appellant received a fair trial in every respect; he was treated with every possible care and consideration; he had able counsel; every opportunity to present his defense in the trial was granted him," the court said.

Britain And France Start Organizing Aid To Europe Plan

PARIS, June 17, (AP)—President Vincent Auto said today France welcomed the initiative, "audacious" statement of U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, who has proposed American help in the economic rehabilitation of Europe.

"Light has just illuminated the path open by the foreign ministers," said France, who throughout the day has never ceased searching for the fraternal cooperation of the peoples in the economic and political field, is firmly resolved not to let this flame be extinguished."

The president spoke at a luncheon given by the foreign press association as top diplomats of Britain and France gathered here for the first of a series of international conferences on the suggestion that Europeans draw up a program to restore their continent without U. S. aid.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin flew to Paris from London for conversations with French Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault on means of implementing Marshall's plan. They planned to hold their first meeting at dinner tonight.

City-Wide DDT Fog Spraying Is Contemplated

Spraying of alleys with Southern Chemical Company's fogging machine using a DDT solution to rid the City of insect pests and promote public health may take place in the near future if the City Commission approves of said spraying at its meeting Monday evening, City Manager H. N. Sayer said this morning.

The City has on hand 55 gallons of concentrated DDT supplied by the State for this purpose, according to Dr. Frank H. Quillman, director of the Seminole County Health Unit, who has described the fog spraying machine as much more effective than the pump and spray outfit used last summer in alleys when the polio scare was at its height.

Dr. Quillman today urged that communities throughout the county use this method of getting rid of flies, mosquitoes, gnats and any vermin which carry disease germs. Persons who have their homes fog-sprayed can rid the premises of insects for six months, he declared. This can be done by arrangement with the chemical company.

Several months ago the City tested fog spraying on the Municipal Zoo, the Tourist Center building and the Public Library. The spraying machine is reported to be able to progress down alleys at up to five miles an hour.

Widow Of Nazi Leader Fined And Sent Home

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, June 17 (AP)—Mrs. Fritz Sauckel, widow of the German labor leader hanged as a war criminal, was convicted today of being a Nazi.

The German denazification court fined her 1,000 marks ($100) and ordered her to live henceforth with this admonition:

"You can break thrust out your sins by going home and educating your children in a democratic way."

She was the first of the widows of leading German war criminals to be tried.

A tractor was damaged by fire today shortly before noon at the Porter Lansing Garage, 413 West Thirteenth Street. Firemen upon arrival found that the blazing tractor had been hauled by a jeep out of the garage. Damage was estimated at about $40 by Fire Chief Mack Cleveland.

Palestine Commission Takes Off

READY TO TAKE OFF for the Holy Land, three members of the United Nations Committee on Palestine are pictured at LaGuardia Airport, New York. They are (l. to r.): Dr. Alfonso Garcia Robles of Mexico, the principal secretary; Dr. Emil Sandstrom of Sweden, the commission chairman and Dr. Victor Hoo, China, who is the personal representative of Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general. Sheriff Reports Busy Week-end With 3 Arrests

Lake Howell Resident Charged With Intent To Murder

Three white men were arrested during the week-end on warrants issued by Judge R. W. Ware; one for assaulting a 17 year old youth with intent to commit murder, and two on rape charges, it was reported today by Sheriff Percy Mirro.

Clarence Richards, who lives in a cabin near Lake Howell, was arrested last night and his bond was set at $50 on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder against a 17 year old youth, Billy Bamburg, also a resident of the Lake Howell district. The warrant charges that Richards struck, bruised and ill treated the youth. (Continued on Page Eight)

Witness At May Trial Stricken In Court

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Joseph H. Freeman, wartime Washington girl for the Garson munitions combine, collapsed today and was sent to a hospital "in very bad shape" after testifying at the May-Garson war fraud trial.

Austin Canfield, Freeman's attorney, told reporters Freeman suffered a "serious heart attack" and "is in very bad shape."

Freeman, after being allowed to leave the witness stand on a complaint that he was ill, suffered the heart attack a few moments later and was taken to a Casualty Hospital.

Freeman was a defendant in the war fraud trial but Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut directed his acquittal in federal court upon conclusion of the government's case several weeks ago.

Use Of Citrus For Foreign Relief Urged

WASHINGTON, June 17, (AP)—Florida, Texas and California citrus interests will attempt today to convince the Department of Agriculture their products should be used in foreign relief.

Robert C. Evans, general manager of the Florida Citrus Commission, said the industry feels especially that canned and processed citrus fruits should be used in relief supplies.

"Canned and processed fruits," he told a reporter, "are easy to handle, require little refrigeration and are nutritious."

The industry representatives were to meet late today with Sylvester H. Smith, director of the fruit and vegetable branch of the Production and Marketing Administration.

VEGETABLE MEETING

ORLANDO, June 17 (AP)—Vegetable producers of the nation must reconstruct price and merchandising methods to meet the watchful eye and curtailed budget of world housewives, E. A. Meyer, administrator of the Research and Marketing Act of 1946 for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told delegates to the fourth annual meeting of the Florida Vegetable Committee here today.

Payment Stopped On Buying Land For Glades Park

Watson Gets Circuit Court Order Holding State Funds

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 17, (AP)—Attorney General Tom Watson today obtained a circuit court order temporarily stopping payment of $2,000,000 to the U. S. Department of the Interior for purchase of private lands for the proposed Everglades National Park.

On petition by the attorney general, Circuit Judge W. Moss Walker signed an order restraining State Treasurer Ed Larson from paying out any funds on a warrant already drawn and sched- (Continued on Page Eight)

New Smyrna Beach Hit By Freak Wind Storm Yesterday

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, June 17, (AP)—A funnel shaped storm which struck here yesterday afternoon causing minor damage and injuries.

On the mainland there was no evidence of damage but on the beach side a roof was partly torn away, off the Sakeen an apartment house. Windows were broken out of the casino and several residences.

Spectators at the beach said they could see roofings, palm leaves, and other debris twisted through the air as the wind advances.

Several children walking to the beach were cut by flying glass. William Shafer, life saving corps captain, administered first aid. Other children injured on the beach were knocked flat when the twister hit them.

Mrs. Tilen Matthews, driving to the beach ahead of the wind, said she got there just in time to take to cover. A car turning a corner was overturned, spun around by the force of the blow.

Shafer said life rafts were blown to sea and beach signs torn up. Two water spouts could be seen as the twister advanced East over the ocean.

Ex-Convict Killed In Subway Gun Fight

NEW YORK, June 17, (AP)—A man said by police to have been a former inmate of Alcatraz, San Quentin and Folsom prisons was killed early today in a gun battle with a subway patrolman who recently won a gallantry medal.

Police identified the victim as Fernando Lacasse, about 40, of Boise, Idaho, who was wanted on parole violation by authorities in Phoenix, Calif.

John Keegge, the 25-year-old subway patrolman, told police that Lacasse stepped up behind him on a subway platform and with a drawn pistol in his hand said, "Don't move; I'm hot."

A train roared into the station. Lacasse turned his head to-ward it an instant, and Keegge ran for a change booth in the subway station. Lacasse fired four shots at him, all misses. Keegan then fired twice from the booth, one striking Lacasse in the head.

Tax Bill Veto Is Upheld In House By Narrow Margin

Democrats Applaud As Measure Killed; G.O.P. To Use As Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The House accepted today a joint congressional committee's recommendations on the terms of a measure to extend rent control until Feb. 29, 1948. The legislation now goes to the Senate.

Included in the bill is a controversial provision permitting a 15 per cent rise in rents when landlords and tenants "voluntarily get together in good faith" and agree to the boost in exchange for a lease through 1948.

WASHINGTON, June 17, (AP)—The House today upheld President Truman's veto of the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill, thus killing it finally and completely.

The vote was 268 to pass the bill over the veto and 137 against. Thus it was two votes short of the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a law over the President's disapproval.

When that count turned up on the roll call, Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana demanded and obtained a recount, but no votes were changed. Voting to override the veto were 233 Republicans and 35 Democrats.

Supporting the President were 134 Democrats, two Republicans — Carl Anderson of Minnesota and Hull of Wisconsin — and the (Continued on Page Three)

Giants To Send Millers Here For Spring Training

Approximately Fifty Players Will Stay At Mayfair Inn

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

The Minneapolis Millers of the American Association will maintain their Spring training headquarters in Sanford during 1948, Carl Hubbel, chief of the New York Giants farm system notified John Krider, vice president of the Sanford Baseball Association, yesterday evening.

Hubbel confirmed by wire an agreement reached between the Sanford Baseball Association and the Giant farm head earlier yesterday in a telephone conversation.

King Carl inspected the baseball facilities and talked over arrangements for the farm club to train at the Municipal Park. Arrangements were also completed to quarter approximately 50 men, coaches, sportswriters and trainers for the segregation at the Mayfair Inn.

The exact time of arrival for the American Association team will be announced at a later date, Hubbell stated.

Minneapolis held their Spring workouts in Ocala last year, and their sister club, the Jersey City entry in the International League, worked in Jacksonville.

Several years ago the Millers trained in Deland. The Volusia County city was considered for the site again this year, but upon convenient facilities in Sanford prompted the Giant heads to choose the local park and modern hotel facilities, it was reported.

Movement Begins To Draft Wallace For U. S. President

BERLIN, June 17, (AP)—Hundreds of newspapers here gave banner headlines today to Henry A. Wallace's suggestion that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin confer in Berlin.

Wallace speaks with the voice of reason," said the Soviet-licensed Nachi Expressz.

WASHINGTON, June 17, (AP)—A "Draft Wallace for President" movement began to take shape today as the former vice president awaited any official response to his call for a Truman-Stalin meeting to settle the East-West differences.

Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, who has said he will support Truman for the 1948 nomination, declined to comment on the proposal.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he believes Wallace "is making a big contribution to the cause of peace."

Senator Langer (R-ND) said he thinks Wallace's proposal is "a step in the right direction."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio
