

ATTACK REPUBLICANS ON FOUR-POWER TREATY IN THE SENATE YESTERDAY

Ceased Firing and De- cided to Resume Today IS UP FOR VOTE

JOHNSON AND BORAH LEADERS IN BIG SPRING OFFENSIVE AGAINST ALLIES

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The first issue in the senate fight over ratification of the four power Pacific treaty decided today when the vote was taken on amendment proposed by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas. Unanimous consent was given for a vote on the amendment at four o'clock this afternoon. Amendment provides rights of nations both in and out of four power group are to be respected and all nations whether signatory to treaty or not will be invited to any conference held to consider controversies affecting insular interests in Pacific or any far eastern question.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Opponents of the four power Pacific treaty loosened another series of broadsides against the pact yesterday in the Senate but slackened their onslaught just before adjournment to accept a unanimous consent agreement for a vote today on the first of the proposed amendments.

Senators Johnson, of California, and Borah of Idaho, both Republicans, took the lead in the all day attack, the former declaring ratification of the treaty would be a national "surrender" under threat of danger from the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and the latter asserting that the proposed four power arrangement would transfer to the Pacific the old balance-of-power system that has dominated Europe for centuries.

A question as to the authorship of the treaty and its supplemental agreements again was raised during the debate, Mr. Borah asserting that despite Secretary Hughes' letter accepting responsibility for the final draft there seemed to be "the most conclusive proof that somebody else wrote the treaty."

The amendment on which it was agreed to vote at 4 p. m. today was proposed by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, and will be the rat issue of the four power treaty fight to come to a roll call. As modified yesterday by Mr. Robinson, it provides that the rights of nations both in and out of the four power group to be respected and that non-signatories as well as signatory nations shall be invited to any conference held to consider controversies affecting their insular interests in the Pacific "or any far eastern questions."

Administration leaders declared last night they had sufficient votes to defeat the amendment. Senator Robinson made a short speech yesterday favoring its adoption, in the interest, he said, of fair play for Russia, China, and other non-signatory nations, and Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, argued against it on the ground that it would impose blanket obligations going even beyond the League of Nations covenant.

Senator Johnson's address of more than two hours was directed largely against the declaration of the treaty's supporters that its chief benefit lay in the provision abrogating the Anglo-Japanese alliance. If solemn assurances of Great Britain and Japan regarding the purposes of the alliance were to be credited, he said, then it contained no menace to the United States, while if these assurances were to be regarded as false, then this Government should not go into partnership with nations which had practiced the deceptions.

FORD WOULD LOSE MONEY ON SHOALS

EXPERT SAYS THAT THE PLANT WILL NOT PRODUCE FERTILIZER.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Charles L. Parsons, consulting chemist and former technical advisor to the Government on nitrate fixation, testified yesterday before the House military committee that Henry Ford, any other person, or company, would "lose their last penny" before they ever produced commercial fertilizers at nitrate plant No. 2, at Muscle Shoals, Ala. The plant, which has cost the Government about $60,000,000, the witness said, was designed to be operated only by the cyanid process of nitrate fixation, an obsolete method, and was worthless as a fertilizer producer.

The cyanid was condemned by Mr. Parsons as obsolete and economically impossible, having been superseded, he declared, by the Haber improved methods. It was his conviction he added, that the Muscle Shoals plant could not be re-designed to produce commercial fertilizers. This judgment was based, he explained, on a thorough investigation of the cyanid plants in Europe, many of which were being closed down by bankrupt operators, while others already had gone out of business because they could not compete with establishments using the Haber improvements.

As to the future use of the plant at Muscle Shoals, Mr. Parsons recommended that it be kept in a standby condition for emergency use in war time and declared that was its only present value insofar as its worth as a fertilizer factory was concerned.

Contrary to reports, Mr. Parsons declared nitrate plant No. 1, designed to operate by the Haber process, had been a successful experiment and could be altered for $1,000,000 or $1,500,000 and used successfully in the production of nitrates and fertilizer compounds. Mr. Ford's whole fortune would be dissipated, the witness added, if he attempted to manufacture fertilizers at plant No. 2 at a profit, applying the cyanid process or any other to which the establishment might be converted.

The cyanid and Haber method were so different, Mr. Parsons explained that it would be impossible ever to apply the latter to plant No. 2 without removing it from the ground.

It was the opinion of the witness that no individual or company would ever attempt fertilizer production on a commercial scale by leasing plant No. 2. He urged the committee to "make sure" that Mr. Ford would produce cheaper fertilizers for the farmers before congress accepted the proposal for purchase and lease of the Muscle Shoals properties, or that of any other bidder who contemplated supplying the Nation's agricultural needs with cheaper soil foods produced at the $60,000,000 plant.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Chairman Fordney said the bill would be reported out as soon as Mellon, Crissinger and Harding had been heard from and that he didn't think the measure would be amended any further.

JACKSONVILLE COMPANY AGREES TO GIVE $1.65 GAS TO CITY'S PEOPLE

JACKSONVILLE, March 14.—The Jacksonville Gas Company will comply with the city commission's recent order to lower its gas rate from $1.85 to $1.65 per cubic thousand feet, effective March 15, it was announced late yesterday by W. E. Hoyt, vice-president and general manager of the utility.

Mr. Hoyt stated he thought the charge fixed by the commission to be unjust, but was mindful of the expense of litigation, and his company, too, desired to maintain its cordial relations with the consumer.

The matter has been subject of much controversy for several months.

BOND ISSUE IN APRIL FOR BETTER ROADS IS MOST IMPORTANT

Voters of County Must Register and Pay Their Poll Tax Now

The Board of County Commissioners at their meeting last Tuesday decided to call an election on the 11th day of April for the purpose of voting for $100,000 worth of bonds for the repairing and building the roads in Seminole county that are badly needed at this time. On account of the time of the election and the fact that so many citizens wait to pay their poll tax in April when they pay their real and personal taxes it behooves all those who intend to vote in the bonding election to pay their poll taxes now and if they are not registered to register at once. If there are any readers of the Herald who have not seen the roads specified in the notice as published the following will give them the desired information. A glance over the roads as specified will show a most comprehensive plan and one that should receive the support and the endorsement of every tax payer in the county for it means better roads, more roads and the maintenance of those already built:

CAPITAL REMOVAL MEETING AT OCALA WELL ATTENDED

NEXT MEETING WILL BE AT OR- LANDO ON APRIL 5TH

OCALA, Fla., March 14.—Several hundred delegates from throughout Peninsula Florida at a meeting here yesterday took the initial steps towards concerted efforts for the removal of the state capitol by effecting a temporary organization and appointing committees to work out a permanent organization which will be effected at a meeting to be held in Orlando on April 5.

The meeting here yesterday, called by the Palatka chamber of commerce, was characterized by the business-like manner in which it was conducted and the lack of oratory. The session lasted only three hours.

A committee on committees was named and charged with the task of delegating to other committees the work incident to the organization. The various committees, it was announced, will be announced at a meeting of the committee on committees at Lakeland, March 18.

The majority of the meeting supported a declaration by Circuit Judge W. S. Bullock, one of the speakers, that capital removal was sought rather than state division.

The meeting was called to order at 2 p. m., and after the opening preliminaries R. F. Rogers, of Ocala, was elected chairman. Judge Bullock, in the opening address, declared Peninsula Florida is not being given its right by the legislature. The law making body, he said, in effect, imposes taxation without giving in return representation.

Mr. Rogers followed Judge Bullock and urged that the first work of the association to be obtained fair apportionment. In his opinion it was not just for small counties like "Madison, Jefferson, and Leon," to have representation in the legislature equal with Duval, Hillsborough and Orange. Less than 300,000 people west of the Suwanee river, he asserted, have more influence at Tallahassee than more than 700,000 east and south. Mr. Rogers recited what he described as the constant refusal of the legislature to reapportion the state.

Secretary Hart, of the Palatka Chamber of Commerce, declared his city wanted an organization absolutely free of sectionalism, one that will work for the good not only of Peninsula Florida but the entire state. Mr. Hart suggested the organization of a permanent association.

Goode M. Guerry, publisher of the Palatka News, at this juncture urged that the matter of a new site for the capitol be made secondary to the major question of capitol removal. It would be best to secure a change, he asserted, and then select the new location.

The question of a temporary organization was then put to the meeting and was carried unanimously.

R. F. Rogers, of Ocala, was named temporary chairman, and J. W. Hart, of Palatka, temporary secretary.

The committee on committees which will have the task of the apportioning the organization work was named as follows: T. J. Appleyard, Jr., chairman; R. B. Atkinson, Miami; N. P. Yowell, Orlando; W. T. Gary, Ocala, and J. W. Walton, Palatka.

The Lakeland delegation also sought the next meeting of the embryo association, but when the matter was put to a vote Orlando was chosen.

Senator W. A. Russell, in a brief talk, discussed the reapportionment amendment to be voted on next November.

The meeting extended its thanks to the Palatka civic body for taking the step which has thus far gone farther than any capitol removal agitation since the question first became a bone of contention.

Outstanding in the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting was that of the Orlando delegation. Headed by a brass band they appeared more than one hundred strong.

South African Rebellion Will Soon Be Ex- tinguished

R. R. IS DYNAMITED

DUTCH BURGHERS ARE MAT- RIALLY ASSISTING THE BRITISH FORCES

LONDON, March 14.—The Government forces are closing in on the Revolutionists, from the east and west, according to late advices from South Africa. The main centers of resistance now is at Fordsburg and Joppe towns, where government forces are opposed by heavily armed Rebels. The main railroad line was dynamited near the Transvaal border, and the locomotive was derailed but there were no casualties.

A Reuters correspondent declares the Dutch Burgers are materially assisting the British forces in their operations against the Revolutionists.

LONDON, March 14.—(By the Associated Press).—Latest advices from Johannesburg tend to show that the situation, which last week was extremely grave, with many hundreds of casualties on all sides in the fighting, is now well controlled by formidable forces of the government which were devoted to the task of suppression after the proclamation of martial law. The prompt quelling of the disorders was largely due to the free employment of bombing airplanes to disperse the rebels and drop food and ammunition to besieged loyalists.

Johannesburg, which on Saturday was invested on three sides, is at the present time quite safe. Krugersdorp, the western limit of the fighting, has been captured by the troops.

General Smuts, the South African premier, after a perilous automobile tour in the battle area being shot at and having a narrow escape, has himself taken personal charge of the situation at Johannesburg. He expresses the opinion that peaceful conditions soon will be re-established.

The fighting has been accompanied by the most exciting incidents, airplane engagements, aviators escaping after great risks and daring and galantry on the part of besieged police and troops. In some cases loyal forces have been hemmed in for two or three days before airplane relief enabled them to fight their way out.

JOHANNESBURG, March 14.—

Government forces captured Brakpan, entering the town late yesterday. The Brakpan is a coal mining center twenty miles east of here and has been a revolutionary stronghold. Commanders at Fordsburg, five miles west of here were notified by the government that they must evacuate their positions by eleven o'clock this morning or be subjected to bombardment.

INCOME FIGURES ARE SMASHING
ALL TRADITION

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Interesting bits of information relating to American incomes included in the Treasury Department's report covering returns for the calendar year 1919, which has just been made public.

Contrary to popular opinion, the largest percentage of returns according to population was NOT from the wealthy industrial centers, but from Alaska and the District of Columbia. The territory's showing—17.17 per cent—was explained by the number of individuals on a rating their own business, while that of the District of Columbia 13.40 per cent—was believed to have resulted from the high ratio of government employees with salaries of more than $1,000 a year.

The southern agricultural states invariably were far down the list, Mississippi citizens making returns comprising only 1.33 per cent of the total population; North Carolina 1.45 per cent, and Alabama 1.74. New York led in total returns with more than 6,000,000.

An analysis made by the Treasury of the sources of income showed that those in the $1,000—$2,000 class obtained 7 per cent of their personal revenue from wages and salaries, 3.8 per cent from rents and royalties, 1.4 per cent from dividends and 4.7 from interest on investments. This was contrasted with the taxpayer with an income of one million dollars who drew only 1.34 per cent from salaries, 23 per cent from sale of real estate, stocks, etc., 0 per cent from dividends royalties, 38 per cent from dividends and 11 per cent from interest on payments.

Deduction permitted by the government also showed a wide variance amounting to 7.47 per cent for incomes between $1,000 and $2,000, and 20.43 per cent for income of $2,000,000 and over.

Agriculture and related industries comprised more than 31 per cent of those making returns, "trade," 26 per cent and public service, 22.

Corporations reporting "no net income" totaled 110,564, the aggregate deficit in this class being $995,000,000. Seventy-one per cent of the firms engaged in mining and quarrying declared they had made NO profit in 1919, against 46 per cent in agriculture and related lines, and 13 per cent in textiles.

Interesting changes in the financial status of certain taxpayers were noted in the report. One group of 661 each who reported incomes of under $100,000 in 1914 was reorganized in 1919 so that only 169 remained in that bracket, 189 returned incomes of up to $300,000, 205 up to $1,000,000 and 8 over that figure.

On the other hand 57 selected taxpayers who paid on incomes of $1,000,000 and over in 1914, dwindled to 23 in 1919, 8 of those "lost" having dropped back to the $100,000 class.

Again we are called upon to say that the weather is perfect. Just think of it being 80 down here in this desert of Florida while the beautiful green fields of the northern states are covered with a mantle of beautiful snow. It is certainly tough on poor Florida people to be compelled to live in this sort of climate the year round. But somehow or other we manage to survive and get a few grits and a little "hawg ment" to go with our greens and by the way we have plenty of greens, and we seem to go right on living in spite of the alligators and snakes and sulphur water. And speaking of sulphur water it is curious how it makes people knock down telegraph poles with the face of an auto. Yes, and then again yes. We think so, yes.

HERE'S A DEMOCRAT AS OCALA STAR SEES IT.

Some time ago The News, very innocently, asked several gentlemen of the press supposed to be versed in political doctrines of all parties, what, to their mind, constituted the principles which the state executive committee adjured electors to cuddle before they pushed a ballot in the box. Jamin, of The Ocala Star, has come out into the open. He says: "We suppose the state committee meant what it said by its resolution. We don't pay much attention to the state committee's resolutions. The last honest and courageous resolution we remember its making was the one repudiated by the combination of socialists, prohibitionists, Republicans, bigots and misguided Democrats who elected Catts in 1916. Since then the state committee has had better sense than to make a resolution with any character in it. The principles of democracy as we understand them are representative government and government for government only, white supremacy, state rights, total separation of church and state, always support the nominee and to the victor belongs the spoils. Now, then, will you be Goode?"—Ocala Star.

VOTING MORE THAN CASTING BALLOT.

Almost any one, privileged under the law to do so, can cast a ballot at a polling place in a national, state, or local election. But it requires brains to vote intelligently. Voting is more than casting a ballot, expressing a choice for this or that candidate. It begins before the election. It means particularly in the choosing of candidates. This applies to all voters, and not to only those who make a profession of politics, those who do the thinking for others entitled to vote, which includes the choosing of candidates, or nominees, and some portion of the work necessary for the nomination of the most promising, in point of capability and efficiency, from among those who "announce" for office.

The farmers' vote is regarded of immense importance throughout the country. Its importance ought to be realized by the farmers themselves. The most important feature is the degree of intelligence that accompanies the farmers' vote. To that is added more general appreciation of the need for careful choosing of those who are to hold public offices, make the laws and administer them and to attend to the thousand and one duties pertaining to official positions.

Quite recently the Pennsylvania Farmer—which, as its name indicates, is a journal devoted to agricultural industry and the well-being of those engaged therein—had this to say with reference to "Farmers in Politics:"

It will be the duty of the voters this year to select many state and national officials. The importance of choosing the right people is probably greater this year than ever before. Voters should take a personal and collective interest in the nomination of men and women upon whom they can rely to carry forward the developments of our institutions and at the same time practice the utmost economy. The question of heavy taxes is one which must be considered as of foremost importance in these days of lessened income. However, the primary institutions of rural life—the highways, the public schools and other necessary institutions—should not be made less effective nor their development retarded. Progress can continue without an increase of taxes if a more rigid economy is practiced through the elimination of unnecessary expense.

What is said in the foregoing paragraph applies equally in Florida as in Pennsylvania. Here, as in the Keystone state, we have our cherished, our invaluable institutions, all of which need careful attention no less than the purely public business. It goes without need of elited proof to say that incompetent men or women can not efficiently represent the people and transact their public business as it should be transacted. Then it follows that the selection of those to perform public duties needs to be made with the utmost of care in order that only those best qualified are nominated for and elected to office.

The time to choose the right people for official places is now and not a day or two before election. It is too late then to make more than a choice between those who have been placed in nomination, with or without the consent of the voters generally. This work of choosing candidates cannot with safety be delegated to the few or even be permitted to be done without individual concern and participation. It is a favorite expression that "the people are supreme," but they are not when they fall in doing their whole duty and doing it well. Choosing the right people for public offices is one of the most important of the duties of citizenship.—Times-Union.

PRIVATE OFFICES ARE PASSING INTO HISTORY

The private office is becoming a thing of the past. It used to be the sign "Private" on a man's door meant he was more or less protected from the disturbing influences of the world; he could lean back in his chair, smoke a companionable pipe and really think about the problems of his business. But those good old days are passing along with the Virginia reel and the old black mammy—and indeed, "We remember with a sigh the days that are no more!"

UNCLE HANK

A pair of tight-fittin' trousers makes some fellers feel bigger than they really are.

The office of today is the loafing place of your friends, and the more private the office the better your friends like it. Book agents take special delight in invading it. Salesmen glide past its portals with a cleverness that is developed only after years of practice. Even beggars have learned the secrets of entrance.

Speaking of the poor workingman, the day laborer who goes out with pick and shovel and digs ditches is in luck! Passersby never think of stopping and firing a barrage of questions at him; he can figure what he is going to be doing two or three or four hours hence; the suspense of labor is one of the last of his troubles. When the whistle blows, even though the ditch is not completed, the day laborer forgets his worries and marches off home to enjoy a well-earned meal.

The real poor working man is the business man who has to always figure on how much time he is going to be forced to waste in his office on his friends and others—not in a business way, but in this modern curse called "dropping in."

The droppers-in are millstones about the economic neck of the country!

The office man doesn't know what the next minute holds; there may be business and a dropper-in—and it is nerve wrecking trying to attend to one and be hospitable to the other at the same time.

It is the rankest form of selfishness that will cause a person to take slices of another person's time, especially in a business way, without giving something worth while in return. After all, the only incomparable asset we have is time, for once passed it is gone forever, and it would be a happier world all the way 'round if the private office staged a comeback and slammed its door in the face of that growing herd of nuisances who "just dropped in!"—Jacksonville Metropolitan.

To Whom It May Concern: That I, Edward M. Gallagher, Rutland (Vt.) Herald.

Saw a nut on a motorcycle the other day that looked like it came from Noah's Ark. It had everything on it for noise making: that could possibly hang on and rattle and with the exhaust wide open and every one of his two cylinders working he rushed down the street making a noise like a locomotive stalled on the Mt. Dora hill. He should "get the hook."

George Won't Do It

"George Goolsby says he would just as soon kiss his job press with the red ink fountain as some of the carmined lips the flappers wear," whereat the Leesburg Commercial states that it "knew poor Goolsby well when he would no more have stopped because lips were like red cherries than he would pass a bird fancier's window without stopping," and advises George that "if you have to turn down any, just put them on ice until we get down there next time." Whereupon the Florida Chief comments: "Huh! Gilbert, don't you know left hand advertising pays these days. He is simply bidding, the old scamp." Well, the days of promiscuous osculations have past for us, but, in order to help out one of the fraternity who appears to have gotten in hot water, we suggest that if Editor Goolsby gets any bladders that he please do not "put them on ice," but send them over here and, in due season, we will return 'em as they were—minus the carmine. Now, don't breathe a word of this outside the sanctum—there are those who might place a wrong construction on our offer. It's only in a pinch, that we thus over-ride our scruples, believe us!

Palatka Now Owns Two Water Plants; Will Merge Them

PALATKA, March 14.—By a deal just consummated here the city of Palatka has acquired the water plant, good will, mains and all real estate of the Palatka Waterworks Co., owned by a syndicate of Boston capitalists. This makes two water plants that the city now has.

The two plants will be merged with one pumping station to furnish two kinds of water to the people of Palatka, one soft water from a spring and the other hard water, or strongly mineral, from deep wells. Two stand pipes will be maintained just as they are now, but connections will be made between the mains so that in the event of fire emergencies both supplies can be used.

The purchase of the old plant which was constructed here something over thirty years ago, ends a fight that has extended over a period of nearly a quarter of a century. The fight began long before the city's plant, was constructed ten or twelve years ago, Dr. E. S. Crill, at that time a leading Palatka and former state treasurer, led the fight and was largely instrumental in building the city's independent plant. Several times efforts have been made to get together with the owners of the plant for the purpose of acquiring for the city, but each time the negotiations fell through, until about eighteen months ago when another campaign was started and a price of $85,000, plus the inventory of supplies on hand was agreed upon and the deal went through. Bonds were voted to pay the purchase price.

There will be no change in the rates charged for the two waters. The old, or soft water, is slightly higher in cost than the city water and both have their preferences. At the earliest possible moment the city's plant will be moved to the site of the old water company's plant so that there will be but one overhead in operation.

Coal Miners' Strike Is Almost Certainly, Arbitration Failed

Miners Hold Out For Existing Wage Scale and Nothing Less

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Little hope for the averting of a strike in the unionized bituminous coal fields on April 1 was held out yesterday in those official circles which are most concerned with the repeated government attempts to bring about an adjustment of wage agreement differences. Mine operators it was declared, were continuing in their refusal to enter conferences with the United Mine Workers looking to the creation of a new wage contract for the central competitive field, notwithstanding representations made to them by Secretary of Labor Davis, who holds that existing contracts require them at least to enter negotiations regardless of whether such negotiations are carried to completion.

The United Mine Workers of America, the general union organization, was declared to be entirely willing to enter a conference, although insisting upon maintenance of existing wage scales, which were adopted in 1920. The employers are demanding reductions amounting to 20 per cent or more.

It was indicated in official circles yesterday that the government would go further at present but would await the development of the threatened strike. The decree of possible government intervention later, it was said by high officials, would be determined by the degree to which the strike, if it developed might affect adversely the public welfare.

Statistics assembled for the labor department indicate that 65,000,000 tons of coal are now in storage, approximately a ten weeks' supply for the entire country, that this amount is rapidly being augmented and that non-union production is tending to increase. Local agreements between the union and operators are also expected to go into effect on or before April 1, which would insure maintenance of further operations.

Secretary Davis was said to be maintaining a policy of hands off with reference to the anthracite situation, on the ground that operators and miners were now conferring, and that prospects were at least hopeful that wage contracts would be made. Officials declared there was no reason to believe that a coal strike would spread to other industries.

SOUTH FLORIDA REPRESENTATIVES KILLED THE REAPPORTIONMENT BILL

The press of the Southern part of Florida seems bent on attributing to the representatives and senators from West Florida, in the Florida legislature, an unjust and unfair legislation as re-apportionment, claiming that West Florida will never give South Florida a square deal in the legislature.

In order that the public may know that these charges are made by those papers without the knowledge of the writer, the writer has looked into the re-apportionment question and has followed house bill No. 1 of the 1921 session of the legislature until same was indefinitely postponed on the motion of a South Florida representative. This house bill No. 1 was a bill to amend an Act to apportion the representation of the state of Florida to the senate of the state of Florida, and to apportion the representation of the state of Florida in the house of representatives of the state of Florida.

It will be recognized as one on which Attorney General Rivers H. Sanford, before the legislature convened, prepared and which was endorsed by the press of the state as being fair, and was recognized as a good reapportionment measure.

This bill was introduced in the house of representatives by Mr. Ellis of Alachua county on April 7, the first bill introduced in the house. The bill was referred to the committee on reapportionment. On April 8th the measure was reported favorably by a unanimous vote of the committee. This report was made by S. D. Harris of Pinellas and recommended that the bill be passed. On the same day, Mr. Harris moved that 200 copies of this bill be printed, which was agreed to. The measure rested until April 16th when Mr. Harris, of Pinellas, moved that house bill No. 1 be made a special order for the following Monday at 4:15 p. m. A roll call being demanded there were 29 yeas and 80 nays. The motion being lost nothing more was heard of the bill until Wednesday, April 20th, when the measure was taken up and read a second time in full. Mr. Futch of Lake, moved that this bill be made a continuing order for Friday morning, April 20th. Pending consideration of this motion the house adjourned. When this order was reached the following morning, Mr. Perry, of Lee, moved as a substitute that the further consideration of house Bill No. 1 be indefinitely postponed, which substitute was accepted by Mr. Futch. The question then recurred on the motion to indefinitely postpone consideration of house bill No. 1. Pending action on this motion the house recessed until 3 o'clock that afternoon.

At three o'clock the house was called to order by the speaker, and upon roll call 78 members answered to their names. The consideration of house bill No. 1 to be indefinitely postponed was resumed. The speaker ruled that the substitute offered by Mr. Perry to the original motion of Mr. Futch and which substitute was accepted by Mr. Futch and became his motion, was not a proper substitute, and accordingly the question before the house at the time was the original motion of Mr. Futch, namely, that said house bill No. 1 be made a continuing order for Friday, April 20th at 10 o'clock a. m. Whereupon Mr. Futch withdrew that motion and made a motion that the measure be indefinitely postponed, be now put, which was agreed to.

A roll call being demanded the vote on the motion to indefinitely postpone resulted in 41 yeas and 34 nays. Among those voting to indefinitely postpone which always means death these nine South Florida representatives recognized, as being from South Florida. Had these nine voted against the postponement of the measure the vote would have been 48 against and 33 for. The names of these nine South Florida representatives can be found recorded on page 688 of the house journal of the 1921 session of the legislature.—Tallahassee Democrat.

THAT COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Last week a correspondent in the Gazette, in a negligible endorsement of the commission-manager form of government for Kissimmee said: "Meantime it is well to reflect that neither council nor manager can create income." While this may sound well from an argumentative point of view it must be conceded to be rediculously wrong—because that is one of the chief duties of the councilmanic body; and it would be one of the duties of the commission and the manager, in collusion, to continue the practice. Doubtless the writer intended to convey to the people that neither body could create the impossible—or the inordinate; that the people governed would stand only for a certain amount of what might be termed by radicals as oppression.

If Kissimmee can devise a good charter—one which from its very fairness and straightforwardness will merit the approval of the majority of the people—there is not the slightest doubt the measure would carry—PROVIDED that three commissioners could be selected who would be broad above all personalities; who would not presume to get work thru that was especially valuable to them and of but little benefit to the masses; who would have the temerity to stand up against friend and foe alike, look them square in the eye and declare that the movement was good for all and not for a select few.

If Kissimmee is to grow as it should; as have grown other communities with far less advantages; it will have to get out of the class that is wholly for itself. It will have to adopt the Rotary spirit. It will have to do away with electing men to certain offices because they have merely a "personal axe to grind"—and after that is ground to a fine edge the city may go to the devil for all he cares. Now blood needs to be added in a fair ratio to those who have been striving to "run the city."

Some avow that it is useless for the comparatively new-comer to try to get into office; that the older heads know the better what is needed; and that everything will be the better to make no radical change; but those who study the matter with care will admit that only by blood-infusion can oftentimes the life of the patient be preserved. The older the generality of people become the more solidly do they become "set in their ways" and the more difficult it becomes to introduce new plans. There is a constant necessity for change in the management of a city—until such a time as the best shall have been found and proven; and it is for this reason alone, if for no other, that newer and more up-to-date plans should be tried.

Not only is it possible for a commission of three working in accord, and having the experience of a manager who is an expert in his lines, to "create income"—but it is possible to expend that income with greater effect; and that is an item of no small value. Right there is where the manager comes into play. Under a careful and able manager each one hundred cents may be made to do more than a dollar's worth of betterment. Cases have been known where on certain jobs fifty cents have done one hundred cents' worth improvement.

Let there be some steps taken soon to select a committee to take charge of such a matter—and have it done soon enough that none shall remain ignorant of what the bill may call for.—Kissimmee Gazette.

CONTROL CHICKEN LICE FOR SETTING HENS SEVERAL GOOD REMEDIES

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, March 14.—The question of whether a setting hen should be criticized for leaving a lice infested nest, is pointedly put to poultry raisers by the Agricultural News Service of the University of Florida. Answering its question in the negative, the publication quotes Professor J. R. Watson, of the Florida Experiment Station, as to how lice can be eradicated.

Sodium fluoride is probably the best remedy, according to Professor Watson, who continues:

"It is most economically applied to fowls by the pinch method; that is, a pinch of the powder is dusted on the head, one under each wing, one on each thigh, one around the vent, one around the breast, and two on the back."

Another excellent remedy, the professor says, is one part of mercurial ointment and one or two parts of vaseline. These should be mixed thoroughly and a bit the size of a pearl, rubbed on the fowl under the wings and about the vent.

It is not necessary, or even desirable the professor states, to rub the entire body of the fowl. Lice are of a roving disposition and in their search of new fields to conquer, they will sooner or later, come to the poison, according to the professor.

Professor Watson says further: "One important condition in controlling chicken lice is to give the fowls abundant opportunity to dust themselves. For this purpose, dust, air-slack lime, ashes, or any light, dusty material is suitable. Fresh, very slightly damp earth in which to scratch or dust should always be available."

"Of the several kinds of lice that commonly attack chickens, one crawls over the skin, especially under the wings and on the posterior part of the body, but seldom gets onto the feathers. Another is particularly a feather mite and is somewhat smaller than the body louse. Another common louse that is very injurious to young chickens, attacks the head and is called the head louse. It is best controlled, perhaps, by liberally greasing the head with lard.

"Chicken mites, sucking parasites, may be killed by applying plenty of flowers of sulphur on the fowls and about the house. Mites bite and suck blood, while lice crawl and annoy."

REVIVAL OF DISCUSSION ON STATE DIVISION IN COMING CAMPAIGN

Legal Authorities Say There Are Few Precedents to Go By

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, March 13.—Revival of discussion in Central and South Florida of a proposal to divide the state, which arose recently with the renewal of the capital removal campaign, has attracted the attention of legal records and an inquiry here as to just what steps would be necessary to create another state from a part of one already in existence.

Legal authorities declare that inasmuch as the division of states has been little indulged in, there exists very scant precedent upon which to base an opinion as to the proper course to be pursued should such a step be undertaken. Section 3 of Article 2, of the Constitution of the United States provides that "no new States shall be admitted by the Congress into this Union, but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as the Congress."

The exact meaning of the language contained in this section, it is said, never has been judicially determined, although the Supreme Court of the United States did uphold the validity of the statehood of West Virginia, (Virginia, West Virginia, 78 United States Reports; 11 Wall page 39.) Legal opinion, holds, therefore, that it may be assumed it is possible for a new state to be established, comprised of territory which theretofore has been a part of one state, or a part of two or more states, or a part of one state. It also may be assumed, it is said, that in the event the proposed new state bordered upon the high seas that it might be found possible to include within the proposed new state territory which was not included within and did not form a part of the original state. Assuming then that conditions are such that a new state might be formed without conflicting with the Federal constitution and that only one existing state would be affected by the creation of

EARLY VOTE OR LATE HOUSE IS LODGE'S TERMS

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 13.—Senate consideration of the four power pacific treaty is expected to reach the stage of action during the coming week. Believing that virtually every senator has made up his mind how he will vote, those in charge of the treaty will begin today an aggressive effort to bring the debate to a conclusion. The Republican leader, hopes to secure a unanimous agreement setting a time to begin roll calls on the proposed reservation and if he fails he is prepared to hold the senate in session until late hours so that the storm of oratory over the treaty may spend itself as soon as possible.

The opponents of ratification are not expected to assent readily to such unanimous consent agreement as Mr. Lodge suggests, although they declare they have no intention of unduly prolonging the debate. They have given notice that any attempt to "force" results will be followed by the adoption of vigorous measures by the past week has kept at least one eye on observers on the senate floor constantly to observe developments and shut off any move for premature action.

In spite of this situation the administration senators are hopeful that voting on reservations will begin within a few days, and some believe that an optimistic opinion holds that a final roll call on ratification may be possible by the end of the week.

They assert that the pledges given to make it certain that more than the necessary two-thirds have decided to vote for ratification with the "no alliance" reservation of the foreign relations committee and they declare that a majority would like to clear the way for the other arms conference treaties and general legislation.

Senator Pomeroy, Democrat, Ohio, who favors ratification with reservations and Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, an opponent of the treaty, may also address the senate today or tomorrow.

Over Sunday conferences served to stiffen the lines on both sides but apparently effected little change in the general situation. The group of Republicans who would like to see unqualified ratification were said to be still reluctant to follow Mr. Lodge in his support of the "no alliance" reservation, although there appeared to be little doubt in the minds of the admini-

PLANT PUREBRED SEED FOR BIGGER YIELDS

The value of purebred livestock seems pretty well implanted in the minds of all American farmers and in the practices of the better type of farmers, so much so that there is little danger of a return to the predominance of the old scrub hog, cow, horse or chicken.

Yes, we have heard purebred pig and purebred calf and purebred cow and purebred "biddle" from the time when we went barefooted and ate out of a spoon, but how often have we heard about purebred corn or purebred other kinds of seed? May it be said that it is just as important that the farmer secure the best seed to be had as it is for him to secure the best livestock. "Purebred" eventually, why not now? applied as properly to the seed of farm crops as it does to farm animals.

The planting time, for general field crops, is near. Seed should be on hand or readily available. But it is not too late to get purebred seed—the best seed. If you didn't save your own purebred seed or haven't them already, there are many reputable seed houses throughout the country, and the nearest one to you can be reached in a few days by mail.

However, in buying seed, it is just as necessary that you make sure of the reputation of the dealer and of the quality of the seed as you do when you buy purebred livestock. First, make sure that the seedman makes it his strong point not to sell poor seed. Second, be sure he makes no mistake in the seed he sells you—make him make sure of it.

Plant only sound purebred seed—start the crop right—make bigger yields.
