Seminole Action '76 To Have 'Florida On My Mind' Showing

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

The state's new 14-minute color film "Florida on My Mind" — created especially for the upcoming Bicentennial — will be shown at a local meeting of Seminole's Action '76 committee, April 17.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be held at Bicentennial headquarters in the Greater Sanford Chamber Building and is open to Action '76 members and all those who want to become involved in the celebration and projects.

The newly-produced film depicts a birthday party theme, featuring "gifts" Floridians have planned for America's 200th anniversary. Local projects are included along with those sponsored statewide by the Commission, such as a traveling exhibit, the Bicentennial Trail and Florida's Action '76 program.

In addition to the free showing at the Seminole headquarters, the film will also be distributed to commercial movie theatres, television stations and schools throughout the state and the nation to reach the greatest audience possible.

Action '76 chairman Jack Horner has also asked State Executive Bicentennial Director Don Pride to speak at the upcoming meeting. "Either Pride or a — including the successful Pioneer Days recently held in Ft. Mellon Park — will be discussed along with the upcoming April 26 Bicentennial Jamboree. The Jamboree, planned for the Sanford Civic Center, is described by Horner as a "real red, white, and blue, patriotic thing."

The Norwood Singers from Jacksonville, nationally recognized singers of patriotic songs, will be there along with the Seminole High School Band. The District Lions Clubs will sponsor the Jamboree in conjunction with Action '76, Horner said.

Speaking of the upcoming meeting at Action '76 headquarters, Horner said the gathering will be a real "fun thing." "We're still looking for volunteers to man the Bicentennial office here. They don't have to have any special skills, just an interest in the Bicentennial."

Horner also says they welcome any additional active participation in the Action '76 committee in proposing projects, or other forms of participation. Horner said he particularly welcomes the involvement of senior citizens groups, as they "are among the most patriotic groups in this country. They're seen what the country has gone through," Horner declares.

Approval Expected Tuesday

School Recount Goes To Cabinet

An aide to State Senator John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, said today an appeal for a recount at Rosewald Elementary school will be made to the Florida Cabinet next Tuesday.

But, Vogt promised to file a general bill in an effort to change the law and regain the funds. Then Turlington had second thoughts about his initial decision and decided to ask the cabinet for a change in state regulations.

The change would allow a recount at any individual school if a variance of 25 per cent can be shown. The five per cent district wide discrepancy regulation will remain the same.

SEN. JOHN VOGT

Lay's initial request was rejected because a Rosenwald recount wouldn't have met the five per cent district wide ruling.

Now, Asst. School Supt. Roger Harris says the 25 per cent variance at any one school will fit the bill for Seminole and allow the county to regroup its funds.

The new regulations were drawn up in Woodrow Darden's office. Darden is the chief of secondary and elementary school education in the entire state.

Indications are, a Vogt aide said the amended regulation — if all goes well — will go into effect about May 20.

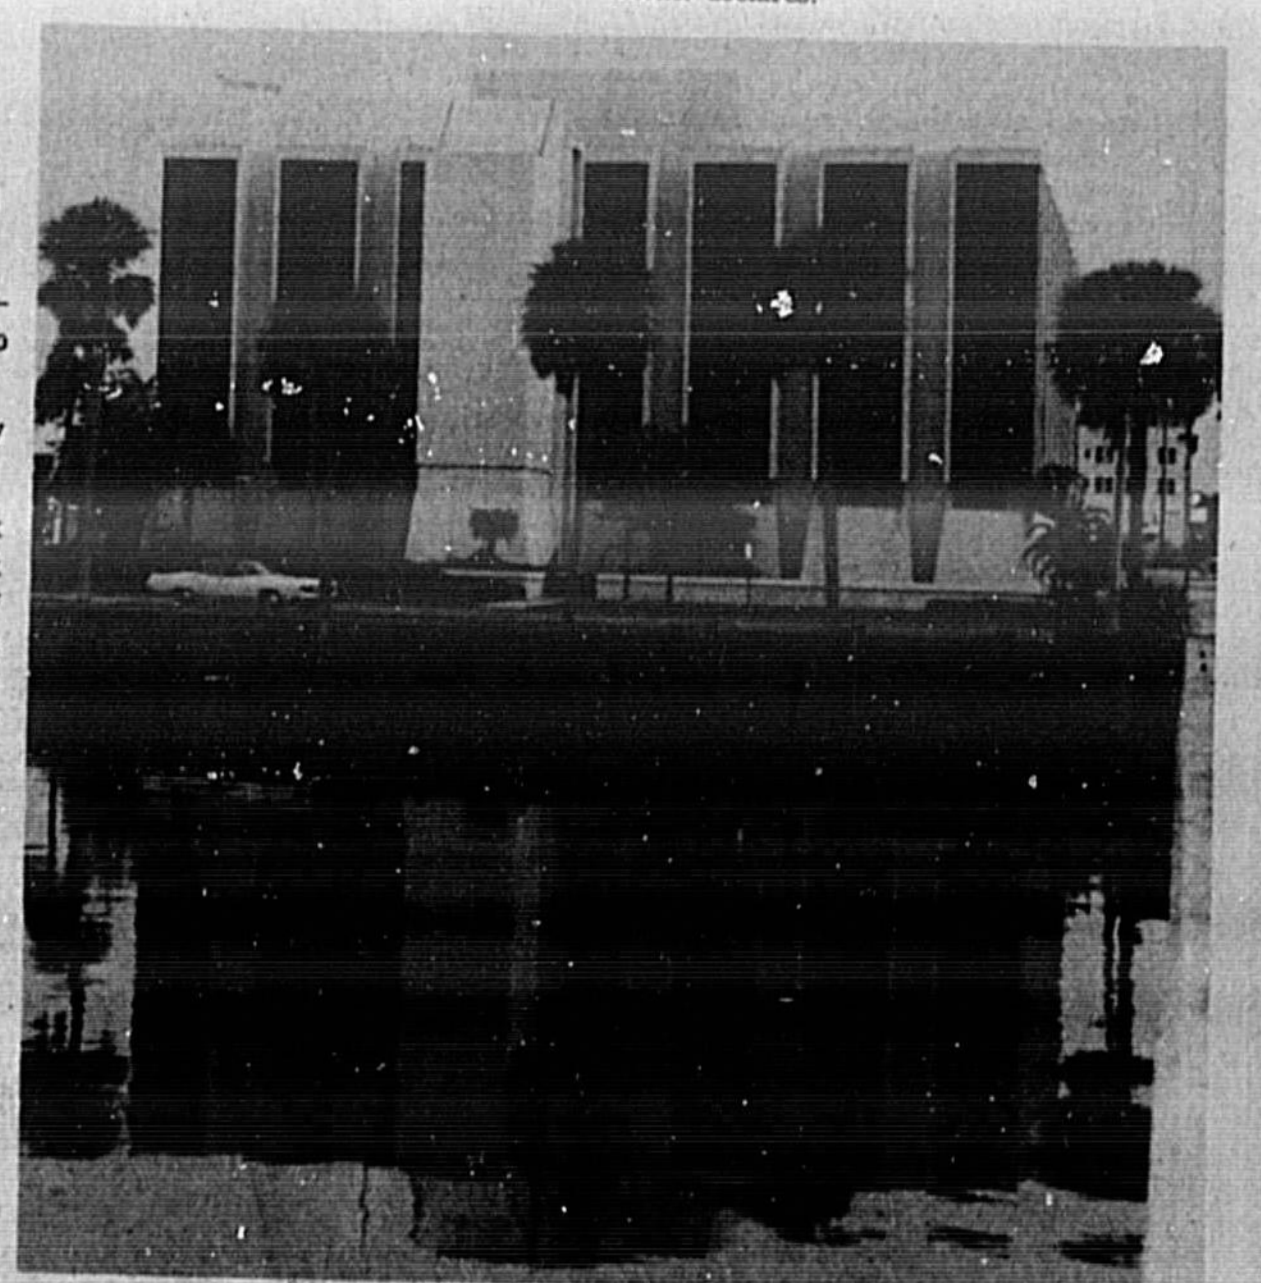

"It looks like it won't be any problem," the aide said.

The issue arose after a black boycott at Rosewald kept some 211 black students out of classes during the time the state makes its full time equivalent (FTE) count for funding purposes.

Darden has instructed Seminole school officials to make a recount. But Harris already had that done — and that FTE recount was sent to Tallahassee on Monday.

The recount Harris ordered was in participation of a bill filed by Vogt, who is head of the county's legislative delegation.

Other delegation members had indicated support for Vogt's proposal, which became unnecessary, due to Turlington's decision to seek a change through the cabinet.

Chamber Industrial Group Supports 'Action Orlando'

By MICK LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

The Industrial '25' Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce this morning formally endorsed the 'Action Orlando' program as a $1,000 donation to the promotional campaign was approved.

The donation, secured from individual pledges of $100, will signify the '25' Committee as a contributing member of the 'Action Orlando' program.

The public relations campaign is aimed towards attracting industry and families to the tri-county area of Seminole, Orange and Osceola. Clifford McKibbin, chairman of the finance subcommittee, said the individual donations from Sanford businessmen would be collected this week.

In other action a computer analysis committee made a report on the top priority listings for industries compatible for locating a plant in Seminole County.

The lists, provided by the Department of Commerce, were screened and a primary and secondary list of 20 industry groupings was cited as the most attractive industries to be sought for locating in the county.

Also, an international or special list with four industry groupings was included in the report.

John Krider, chairman of the '25' Committee, instructed Jim Ryan, chairman of the subcommittee, to break down the industry categories and produce at next week's meeting the names of the top five companies on the primary list located in Florida.

Meanwhile, Tom Hunt, chairman of a second subcommittee, will seek suggestions from area advertising agencies on ways of directing the committee's intentions of attracting industry.

When Ryan reports to the full committee with the names of the industries, the individual companies will be selected as targets for the ads.

The top 10 industries listed include radio and television transmitting; signaling and detection equipment; manifold business parts; motorcycles, bicycles and parts; orthopedic, prosthetic and surgical appliances and supplies; air conditioning and warm air heating equipment and commercial and industrial refrigeration equipment.

Criteria for selecting the industry groupings included number of employees, gross dollar volume, tourism, customers requirements, and the number of skilled labor.

Also on the primary list are engineering, laboratory, scientific and research instruments and associated equipment; perfumes, cosmetics and other toilet preparations; valves and pipe fittings; telephone and telegraph apparatus and lawn garden equipment.

Criteria for selecting the industry groupings included number of employees, gross dollar volume, tourism, customers requirements,

and the number of skilled labor.

Policeman 'Suspended', Then Reinstated Cop 'Nap' Stirs Casselberry Hassle

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry police sergeant was placed on "indefinite compulsory leave" after a lieutenant found him asleep in the city's newest police cruiser on March 20, The Herald has learned.

The officer, Robert Adams, said today he felt the city's punishment "was somewhat severe" and so the 34-year-old veteran of four years on the Casselberry force took his case to an attorney.

But Adams said Collier's report "indicated" he had been asleep for a longer period of time.

At first Karcher placed Adams on "indefinite compulsory leave," but later reversed that decision and decided to allow Adams to return to work on Friday — with his sergeant's stripes intact.

Adams said his attorney, Dale Anstine, has met with City Atty. Ken McIntosh and the entire matter has been resolved, but no final decision has been officially announced as to the extent of Adams' punishment. However, Karcher said today the sergeant won't be busted to a lower grade. Karcher also said Adams will be paid for the period he was off work. Because of "unusual circumstances," Karcher said he couldn't have been off the job "more than a minute or two" and that he was sitting in the car "and just dozed off."

The "unusual circumstances" involve a clash between the Police Bill of Rights and the city's civil service ordinances.

Karcher said under the bill of rights, Adams, if a decision had been made to reduce his rank, would have been entitled to a hearing before a three-man panel, which would have made a recommendation to the chief.

But under civil service, the board hands down a ruling, which, Karcher says, "is a law."

At any rate, Adams said his attorney would take the matter to court if a "bust" was involved. City officials backed off, and Karcher said today he will officially inform Adams of the final decision.

That decision, which already has been reached, was made by Karcher, Adams' attorney, McIntosh and the city administration.

Adams says the entire fiasco would have been avoided if the 1975 model police cruiser hadn't run low on gas.

That's what he was doing back at the station around 6 a.m. when he dozed off — getting unleaded gasoline for the cruiser in order to comply with federal pollution requirements for new autos, according to Adams.

Wholesale Prices Dip Once More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices declined in March for the fourth consecutive month, dropping six-tenths of a percent as agricultural prices fell sharply while industrial goods rose only slightly, the government reported today.

The report from the Labor Department provided further indication of an easing in the nation's inflationary rate. Although the declines at wholesale have not been fully reflected at the retail level, administration economists predict consumers can expect further relief in the coming months.

The six-tenths of a percent decline in wholesale prices last month followed a drop of eight-tenths in February.

Trappers Pulled Out Of Mississippi's Pathway

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers is hastening Mississippi River trappers and fishermen to higher ground as it prepares to meet river crests higher than 1973 flood levels. The crest is moving rapidly down the river toward New Orleans. Unless the corps opens one of its spillways to divert some of the water, the Mississippi will crest at 19.3 feet April 19, well above the 18.6 high water mark recorded in 1973 after the spillways were opened.

Vietnamese Needs Analyzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford administration decisions on the amount of additional military aid to South Vietnam probably will depend on how effectively the Saigon government establishes a new defense perimeter. Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said, "Any question of the putting in of additional equipment into Vietnam would be based upon what we perceive to be the present needs of the situation, reflecting the possibility of a stabilizing of a defense perimeter north of Saigon."

Recession Hits Dump

NEW YORK (AP) — The recession has come to roost in that last reflection of American society: the garbage dump. Cities across the country, contending in recent years with increasing mountains of trash, have suddenly found the amount of garbage they must collect is decreasing, and some officials blame the recession. "People are wasting less because they have less," was New York Environmental Protection Administrator Robert Low's explanation.

War Orphans Arrive

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Their eyes wide with wonder and showing no ill effects from a 25-hour dash across the Pacific from endangered Saigon, 55 Vietnamese orphans have arrived to a new life in the United States. A World Airways DC8 carrying the orphans touched down at Oakland International Airport at about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. Most of the children, including some fathered by American servicemen, have already been adopted.

Judge Adds 10 Years Probation Oviedo Man Gets 20 Years In Robbery

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
An 18-year-old Oviedo man has been sentenced to 20 years in prison for the January armed robbery of a grocery store. In addition, Circuit Court Judge Clarence T. Johnson Jr. yesterday meted 10 years probation to John Henry Mobley Jr. on a second charge of possession of a sawed-off shotgun. Mobley had pleaded no contest to the charges, part of a three-count grand jury indictment.

Action Reports

* Courts
The state attorney's office dropped the third charge of use of a firearm in commission of a felony when Mobley pleaded to the other two counts in mid-February. Mobley was arrested by police the day after Jet's Grocery at Oviedo was robbed. He had faced up to a life in prison sentence on the robbery conviction. Judge Johnson reminded Mobley of this when he sentenced him and told him, "This crime could have easily resulted in murder."

* Police
"You're young and I want you to have some hope for the future," Johnson said, before sentencing Mobley to the 20-year prison term for the robbery. He also adjudicated Mobley guilty on the sawed-off shotgun charge and ordered him to serve 10 years probation on that count to begin the day of completion of the robbery sentence. "I'm sorry for what I did. I've learned my lesson."

Salesman Robbed In Bank Car Lot

Allamonte Springs Police are searching for a young white man in Wednesday's holdup of a salesman in a bank parking lot. Police say Donald Irving of Orlando was in his car in the parking lot of the Pan American Bank about 3:40 p.m. when he was approached by a gunman who demanded "Give me the money." Irvin a representative of Literature Sales, handed over $1,000 to the robber. The gunman was described as about six feet tall, 150 pounds, and in his early 20s. Sanford police have charged a 24-year-old housewife with aggravated assault in the week-end slaying of a 16-year-old girl with a razor knife. Sheriff's deputies today were investigating the theft of items valued at $1,695 from the residence of John F. Yamnitz, 318 Springwood Village, Longwood. Officers reported Yamnitz's apartment was entered and a shotgun, pistol, two sets of golf clubs, a tape deck, radio and portable color television were taken. Nancy B. Davis, of 2040 N. U.S. 17-92, Maitland, told Deputy S. A. Walters that a three-foot-high mermald statue, valued at $250, was stolen from her yard yesterday. James E. Lamb, of Orlando, reported his 18-foot boat trailer, valued at $350, was stolen yesterday from the public boat ramp on SR 46 east of Sanford at the St. Johns River. Allamonte Springs Police yesterday arrested a 60-year-old Orlando chauffeur for reckless driving, driving under the influence (DWI) and improper lane changing. Fred A. Maschmeier was given a breathalyzer test at the Allamonte Police station and later released on his own recognizance because he is a diabetic, police said. Richard Frederick Fania, who was stopped by Patrolman Norman C. Floyd Jr. for speeding, was later charged with possession of marijuana after Floyd said he found a quantity of green, leafy substance in Frania's van. Frania, 25, of Allamonte Springs, was released on $117 bond.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Death Set To Request Shavin Penalty Decision

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A man who killed two of his children and maimed two others should die in Florida's electric chair, says Atty. Gen. Robert Shavin. Shavin was to appear before the state Supreme Court today as it hears arguments on whether to uphold the death penalty for Ernest John Dobbert, Jr. Dobbert, 41, was convicted a year ago of beating, choking and abusing his son Rieder Scott, 7, and daughter Kelly Elizabeth, 9, until they died three years ago in Jacksonville. The bodies were never found. But another child, Ernest John III, now 12, testified at the trial about the beatings. He and another sister, Honor, now 8, were so severely maimed that they were sent to child care centers in Wisconsin, where the Dobberts lived before moving to Florida.

Gibbs Dies In Melbourne

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Memorial services are scheduled for Saturday for Col. Asa B. Gibbs, first commander of the nation's space center. Gibbs died Tuesday in nearby Melbourne. He was 62. Gibbs, who held several high posts with the U.S. Air Force and NASA, was contacted responsible for restoring the title Cape Canaveral to the historic area named by the Spanish in 1564. He retired from NASA in 1963 and later led a campaign to drop the Cape Kennedy name that was adopted in 1964 at the suggestion of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Utility Aid No Issue

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Governmental aid to struggling utilities would not lead to a federal takeover of the firms, says Public Service Commissioner William T. Mayo. "I don't believe the federal government or any state government can afford to take over, much less meet our growth requirements with the taxpayer dollars available to government," Mayo said Wednesday in a speech for the New York Society of Security Analysts. Mayo has urged that the cost of electricity be lowered by revised utility taxes and by laws to allow tax-exempt bond financing of private utility construction.

State Finds Loophole On Testimony

Bank Deal 'Like Gold On Streets'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Getting in on the start of the Palm Beach Mall Bank was "like picking up gold on the streets," says bank chairman William K. DeVeer. DeVeer offered this description of the bank at West Palm Beach while testifying Wednesday at the federal extortion-conspiracy trial of former state Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson Jr. The government claims Dickinson refused to grant charters to three banks, including DeVeer's bank, until Dickinson and his friends were included in the operations of the institutions. DeVeer's testimony brought into focus a battle between powerful financial interests for control of the shopping mall bank that was an instant success when it opened in October 1969. The witness admitted he represented Lykes Financial Corp. of New Orleans, but objected when a defense attorney asked if he was "fronting" for Lykes

Builders Tell Of Payoffs To Gurney

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Three builders have testified to making payoffs to an ex-fund raiser for former Sen. Edward Gurney. One claimed he was threatened with a long jail term if he mentioned Gurney's name in connection with the payoffs. The builders, all from South Florida, testified Wednesday in the bribery-conspiracy trial of Gurney and four co-defendants. Curtis Kendall, a West Palm Beach homebuilder who was to return to the stand today, told the jury that he paid fund-raiser Larry Williams about $40,000 as "party contributions" in 1971. In return, he said, he received Federal Housing Administration commitments to build low-income, subsidized housing. "I made the payments knowing I would not get FHA commitments and continue the project if I didn't," Kendall testified. Gurney, longtime aides James Groat and Joseph Bastien, and former FHA officers K. Wayne Swiger and Ralph Kontz are charged with conspiracy to build a $233,000 slush fund from builder payoffs by peddling Gurney's influence in FHA projects and mortgage commitments. The builders said they had been getting FHA commitments until Feb. 1, 1971, when they were told the allocations were frozen. Williams made contact with them soon afterwards, they said. Williams was hired as a fund raiser in January 1971. Kendall said he felt he didn't have any alternative but to pay Williams' asking price of $200 per house. Williams told him there was "a new party in power now and they tended to deal with their friends," Kendall testified. Earlier, builder John Priestes said he gave Williams $80,000 in 1971. After federal investigators began probing dealings with the FHA in early 1973, Priestes said, he asked Williams for help. "He seemed more scared than before," Priestes testified. Miami Beach builder Irving Rubin testified that he gave Williams $30,000 for 200 FHA commitments in 1971 and early 1972, then later hired Williams for a public relations job at which he worked during the first half of 1973. Kendall and Rubin are unindicted co-conspirators and Priestes served time in jail after pleading guilty to charges growing out of the investigation.

Doctors: Sanders Not Same Man

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Defense psychiatrists say Robert Scott Sanders is not the same man now that he was in 1967 when he was accused by Walter Wheeler of the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Trust Fund (ITT) of deliberately thwarting state law in releasing Sanders, and urged new controls on the agency, HRS Secretary O.J. Keller said. At the same time, the Gadsden County grand jury accused the department of Health and Rehabilitative Services of deliberately thwarting state law in releasing Sanders, and urged new controls on the agency, HRS Secretary O.J. Keller said. At the hearing, Dr. Merien Eckwall of Tallahassee, a defense psychiatrist who examined Sanders immediately after the 1967 killings and again last month, described Sanders as "entirely different" now, and was amazed at his progress.

Secretary Of Commerce Approves Expansion

Secretary of Commerce Frederick B. Dent approved the expansion of the boundaries of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission to include 42 counties in eastern Virginia and 39 counties in northern Florida. The previous boundaries included the 159 coastal counties of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. Secretary Dent's decision to expand the boundaries was based upon the unanimous request of North Carolina Governor James Holshouser, South Carolina Governor James Edwards, Georgia Governor George Busbee, Virginia Governor Mills Godwin, and Florida Governor Reubin Askew. Jack Hawke, the Federal Chairman of the Coastal Plains Regional Commission, said the expansion will "enable the newly designated counties in Florida and Virginia to benefit from the Commission's grant programs and planning activities which constitute a cooperative and integrated approach to economic development." The expanded five state region is composed of 240 counties which are contiguous and possess similar social, economic, geographical and cultural characteristics. The population is in excess of 9.5 million people. Also, this week, commission approved the transfer of $1,548 in funds in the Sheriff's Department after Sheriff John Poik told the Board that it was "redundant" that his men be equipped with air packs to handle any future jail fires. Poik's request came in the wake of eight jail fires in the last 10 days, including one major blaze in which six inmates were treated for smoke inhalation. Before giving approval to the transfer of funds, non-smoking Commissioner Kwiatkowski asked Poik about restricting smoking altogether in the jails, but was told that all jails allow smoking by the inmates. The four air packs, mounted on the backs of fire fighters, allow men to breath fresh oxygen in the midst of a heavy smoke fire. The principal of the packs is similar to that used in tanks by SCUBA divers.

Regional Planning Council Appointments Opposed

Appointments to the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council Advisory Board were made this week by Seminole County Commissioners. Ed Evans, current president of the Prairie Lake Homeowners Association, was nominated by Commissioner Dick Williams as opposed. Williams said that Evans represents the "philosophy that is being concentrated in the realtor and developer sector of the county. I feel we need broader philosophies," Williams declared. Evans is a general contractor who has developed, among other things, the Longwood Village Shopping Center. "That sounds funny coming from another developer," Hattaway later said of Williams' criticism of development. Gary Nelson was nominated by Kwiatkowski as an alternate delegate and was promptly opposed by Williams. "If my information is correct, Nelson is employed by another member of the Council and a concentration of one business on the council is not wise," Williams said. Commissioner John Kimbrough was not present. Nelson is employed by architect Keith Reeves, who is also a Council member. Kwiatkowski also successfully nominated Ray Malby, who was recommended to the county by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, as an alternate delegate. A request from Lamar Williams, wife of commissioner Dick Williams, to continue her term on the Board after two years of activities there was rejected by the majority of the board. Also, this week, Commissioner Hattaway nominated SEEDCO member Horace Orey as a member of the Seminole County Manpower Board.

River Meet May Get 'Hot' Tonight

headwaters near the State Park off of SR 434 up to SR 46 would be termed "Scenic" — this would become effective when all of the cabins are removed from the islands. A stretch of the river near Wekiva River Haven Camp north to the St. Johns would be named "Wild," since no development has yet to blight that area. The remainder of the river, between SR 46 north to the Wekiva River Haven would probably not be eligible for either designation since development along that sector is already well established. According to John Squires of the DNR, the delay in designating any parts of the river is due to a "lack of a fulltime staff" to handle paper work. Another delay in the designations, according to Rep. Vince Fechel, Jr., was caused by technical errors in the draft of a legal judgment concerning the right of the ITT to order the camps removal along the river. Fechel said that "My own feelings on the Wekiva are such that my conscience would weigh very heavily on me in the future if I did not do all in my power to protect this scenic and beautiful river for the generations ahead of us." Ross McVoy, Counsel for the ITT said that without the testimony of many of the cabin owners the state probably would not have won the case involving the ITT rights.

Builders Discuss Sanford Land Plan

A special work session to discuss Sanford's Comprehensive Land Plan Report has been called for 6:30 tonight by the city's Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z). The work session will precede the regular 8 p.m. meeting of the commission. The land plan, a required part of the Seminole County Land Planning Act, will be reviewed by the board in order that a recommendation of adoption be made to City Commission. The plan, prepared by the city's building and planning staff, outlines the future growth of the city and the predicted modifications to the city departments which the increased population will demand. During the regular meeting, the P&Z board will consider a change to the Zoning Ordinance which will relax restrictions on insurance coverage for damaged structures. In other discussion: — The board will consider a use plan for a parking lot and fence at 110 W. 3rd St. for the SCL Credit Union. — Consider a conditional use for a home occupation as a tile layer at Castle Brewer Court. — Consider a conditional use for a home occupational as a sign painter and screen printing at 908 Magnolia Ave.

The High Price Of Foreign Aid

We do not want America to return to the isolationism of the 1930s. But neither do we want any more of the hyperbolic excesses of recent years during which we deluded ourselves that American intervention was all that could point a nation toward good and right.

President Ford has beseeched Congress for continuing support of governments in South Vietnam and Cambodia. It is support that a majority of Americans and their Congress appear to regard with little sense of commitment.

With those requests facing Congressional cuts or disapproval, the President has now issued a warning against what he calls the "new isolationism." He says, quite rightly, that foreign aid is part of the price that America must pay to help achieve the kind of world we want.

But Americans have a right to decide what kind of foreign aid they will proffer, and to whom. It does not hurt to ask again what level of foreign aid leads us toward our goals.

We should go farther and re-evaluate the dubious foreign policies of our past decade or two. If that leads to some disinvestment in the internal affairs of our nations, we should not equate that with isolationism.

We are paying for our mistakes abroad in many ways. The recent events on the battlefields of South Vietnam are a tragic example. Despite the disappointments there, we must honor a commitment made to that nation at the time of the Paris peace accord.

And the ill fate of our intrusions in Southeast Asia must not be allowed to overshadow the credibility of our commitments elsewhere, as to NATO. We can manage that if we admit to the world that we have made mistakes, but make it clear that we are continuing to honor longstanding commitments.

With our armed intervention and with the revelation of covert CIA infiltration, we have provided Third World nations with alibis for their own failings.

For a long time to come, the United States will be whipping by. Already, such governments routinely blame us for fomenting their own internal problems, because to do so sets up an angry chorus around the world and distracts world opinion from Third World weaknesses.

This should not drive us to isolationism. But it is common sense to share our dwindling resources with those who are fair with us. Our idealism wavers in the face of angry antagonism. One does not go on feeding the hand that bites one. No American leader should expect his own people to make sacrifices that are not asked of other nations who share in our largesse.

President Ford should not make the danger of some "new isolationism" a euphemism to lead us into the perpetuation of bankrupt policies.

Lobbyists Light

Lobbying, the traditional effort of means by which private organizations or individuals attempt to influence legislation, is not an evil thing.

It can be undertaken on behalf of the consumer and taxpayer as well as special interests. Ideally, lobbying is an educational process that keeps our lawmakers aware and informed.

When conducted in secret, however, lobbying is a tool for corruption and manipulation. Any activity that can affect the price of food, heating bills or safety should be meritorious enough to bear public scrutiny.

Congress this year will consider several bills aimed at strengthening the 20-year-old law that now regulates lobbying. It is imperative that the 1946 act be bolstered with enforcement powers, a clear definition of those covered by its provisions and a comprehensive accounting of lobbying expenditures.

Several states have acknowledged the role of the lobbyist in government with stiff regulatory measures.

There is no justification for Congress to drag its feet in assuring similar public protection at the national level.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — It's difficult to determine whether Graham Martin, the American ambassador to South Vietnam, is working for the United States or for Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu's government.

The ascetic Martin, whose diplomatic outbursts have become legendary, has been in constant hot water with Congress for his staunch defense of the Thieu regime.

One of his cables to the State Department, for example, suggested it would be the "height of folly" to give an "honest and detailed answer" to questions from Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., about foreign aid.

We have now obtained Martin's cables on the issue of political prisoners. He received instructions, which went out to embassies around the world, to determine whether local leaders had been jailed for "political purposes."

Characteristically, Martin accepted as gospel the South Vietnamese government's denials that it held any political prisoners. Yet the State Department specifically instructed him not to do his job for government for the prisoner information.

Cabled Martin: "The GVN (Government of Vietnam) has for over a year been the target of a well coordinated campaign to tar it with the political prisoner brush."

Around The Clock

Let's all wish the Good Sheriff 'Bon Voyage' and hope he does well at school, too!

Sheriff John Polk will be leaving this Saturday to attend the prestigious FBI National Academy School at Quantico, Va., for an 11-week course in law enforcement.

To give you an idea of how difficult it is to gain an invitation to attend this specialized training, Polk has been waiting for two years since first submitting his application.

The only other Seminole County law enforcement officer to have attended this FBI school is Polk's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell. Harrell had his application on file for five years!

The FBI picks up all the tabs for the 249 others who will be attending this same class with Polk. There are three other classes at various times throughout the year, each with 200 students.

It has been rumored the folks in Washington are considering reducing the classes again to only one time a year, which would make applicants wait those long periods of time again before being accepted.

Polk said he will not be at the school continuously for the 11 weeks — returning to keep a close personal touch on the Seminole situation, at least on weekends.

While at the school, Polk said the FBI concentrates on such items as fire arms, budgeting, law — all aspects of law enforcement.

Before an individual can make application to attend this school, they must have been in law enforcement for at least five years and be in a supervisory capacity.

Polk is fortunate in not only being able to attend a special school, but while he's away he also has capable administrators and deputies to continue doing the good job credited to the Seminole County Sheriff's Dept.

Come back with nothing but A's on your report card, Sheriff.

"I do not regret having braved public opinion, when I knew it was wrong and was sure it would be merciless." — Horace Greeley, American journalist.

Bing Crosby tells this story: His friend, Father Kelly, was an avid golfer. One day on his golfing course he had a most difficult shot to make. "I guess I'll just have to swing and pray," he said to Kelly. Kelly exclaimed, "Well, I guess the Lord didn't 'wear me.'" "Maybe so," said the caddy, "but in our church we keep our heads down when we pray!"

New Crime Weapon: Citizens

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If Patlie Heart had been wanted by police officers of early America, the possibility of finding her would not be as difficult as now. By necessity and legal permission, the citizens of the day were expected to be part of the law enforcement process. Thus, it was not uncommon, say, for a farmer to march in a desperado at the point of a pitchfork.

The concept of team spirit in these matters has, however, long since died. The growing government has assumed virtually all control in matters of domestic security, the private citizen is left with almost no responsibility. Actually, the citizen is increasingly condemned for those hints of self defense he does retain. Vigilantism is a dirty word, private gun ownership is vile to some; not infrequently will men and women strike back against criminals only to be charged with assault themselves.

No doubt the arguments for centralized law enforcement are good. No advanced society has found adequate alternatives. The farmer with a rifle in the 1700s may have been the only hope for law and order within hundreds of miles. But now there are 40,000 police agencies in the country, plus 15-million laws to back them up. Each are the complexities of the system including its lawpinner into the political intelligence wastelands, that the farmer and his plow are, in most instances, merely a drag on sophistication.

Albeit, the sophistication America has achieved with centralized security is not doing the job. The nation has more police than ever before (2.1 public officers for every 1,000 people and three times as many private security guards), and is spending more money than ever for their effectiveness. New York City budgets some $6 million annually just to protect its schools — but for what? Not security.

The U.S. crime rate has doubled in the last five years and some studies indicate there may be as many as 30 million new crimes committed yearly now. The way our crime has been kept, only two of 10 known offenses are currently being cleared by arrests.

It is undeniable that one reason for the defeat is that the good fellows in the battle are fighting with legally imposed handicaps. Big city police, for example, no longer having the right of sudden search, are often powerless to prevent crimes they know will happen. Yet does this mean cops should be allowed free roams? Of course not.

Escapes in the hands of police is as deadly as it is in the hands of thugs — one recalls with anger the Dallas cop who arrested and handcuffed a 12-year-old boy and then shot him dead during interrogation.

So what we have here, or at least have had in recent times, is a situation where private citizens give more and more of the domestic enforcement responsibility to public agencies increasingly unable to carry out the mandate. Only the outlaws have profited, and the cops and the citizens have fallen into mutual despair.

Letter To The Editor

New College Needed

Editor, The Herald.

We've been spending our winters in Sarasota and, as a result of doing some volunteer work at New College, as well as taking advantage of the many musical events and lectures open to the public, I've come to know this institution's students, faculty and administration rather well.

Do you Floridians realize what a priceless jewel you have in New College for your specially talented young people who need, and should be encouraged to attend, a very small college where they can get highly individualized attention and where the emphasis is on competence and real mastery rather than the accumulation of credits and grades?

At New College, each student is responsible for the design of his own education and the technique involves a joint search for learning by exciting teachers and these special students. As a result I understand New College was ranked fifth among American colleges in percentages of students winning Woodrow Wilson Scholarships.

The college has been rated among the top 35 institutions in the country in terms of "getting in" and "staying in." It's the only such institution in Florida to make the list.

Recently, New College, like all small private institutions, has been hit hard by inflation and rather than make a New College education the province of the very rich — and rather than diminish its quality, it has developed a unique arrangement with the State of Florida in which the state acquired their campus. New College would be continued as a college within the University of South Florida with the same program, and the same highly qualified faculty and students.

To do this, New College has agreed to seek private funds to underwrite the extra cost of the New College education over the normal state funding allowance. For the first time, your "special" Floridians no longer have to go out of state or to pay excessive tuition to attend a college of this type.

The Trustees of New College have set up a Foundation to obtain these extra funds which will keep the present methods and faculty in existence. They're seeking additional financial help from foundations, and other sources who support innovative education. We have made our financial pledge because we really believe in the type of education New College stands for. Since the greatest advantages now accrue to Floridians themselves, I'd think individuals and businesses in Florida, who are the ones who will benefit most, will also want to make financial contributions to the New College Foundation.

All kinds of campgrounds, resorts, scenic attractions, "theme" parks and other recreational parks will not only promote the government's environmental message but, through royalty payments to the government and through sale of Johnny Horizon products, will help support and expand the Johnny Horizon program.

Back came the side with word that Martin hadn't even bothered to make any arrangements.

The Saigon embassy has assured the State Department, by telegram, meanwhile, that denunciation of the Thieu regime in print "is solid evidence that Saigon press continues to exercise very substantial measure of press freedom."

WIDOW VS. COMPUTER: An 88-year-old widow, who was about to lose all her property in a battle with an Internal Revenue Service computer, has appealed to us for help.

The computer insists that Mrs. Helen M. Loan, one of the original settlers of Lake Soap, Wash., owes a tax debt that, in fact, she has paid.

It started out as a tax debt that, in fact, she has paid by check on Oct. 16, 1974. But the IRS computer refused to take notice of the check and continued to dun her. Each time, penalties were added until the debt reached $29,104.79.

Finally, a cryptic notice warned that the IRS would confiscate her property and life savings "with no further notice to you" unless she paid up within 10 days.

An IRS spokesman, Dick Whitman, admitted an error had been made and attributed the foul-up to "misdirected correspondence." He assured us that he "will do something to resolve this problem immediately."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Saigon Reports Fighting Slight, Retreats Halted

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Little fighting and no more government retreats were reported in South Vietnam today. It appeared that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong might be busy digesting their enormous territorial gains of the past month. Five North Vietnamese infantry divisions, estimated to number up to 50,000 men, were poised 40 to 50 miles to the northwest and northeast of Saigon. But no movement toward the capital was detected.

Cambodian Forces Routed

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Rouge drove hundreds of government troops into disorderly retreat eight miles northwest of Phnom Penh and made probing attacks on three isolated government towns, field reports said today. The insurgents overran several government positions in a night attack and advanced about a mile along a one-mile front. A government battalion of about 200 men was rushed to the area but was reported stopped by Khmer Rouge resistance. The U.S. Embassy began evacuating "nonessential" members of its staff and persons working for American firms and voluntary agencies.

Iraqi Rebels Crushed

HALABCHA, Iraq (AP) — Kurdish defectors guided Iraqi columns through their minefields as the Baghdad government's troops took control of the last rebel enclave adjoining Iran. Field commanders said the Iraqi army would withdraw in about two weeks when the Kurdish Autonomous Council establishes its civilian administration in the mountain towns and villages.

Defense Key To American Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford administration decisions on the amount of additional military aid to South Vietnam probably will depend on how effectively the Saigon government establishes a new defense perimeter. Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger indicated this Wednesday when he predicted that South Vietnam's armed forces, jolted by the headquarters of recent weeks, will face a "very severe test" from North Vietnamese troops, perhaps within 30 days.

He said the abandonment of two-thirds of South Vietnam to Communist forces was "a defeat of historic and tragic proportions for the Saigon government to this point."

"Any question of the putting in of additional equipment into Vietnam would be based upon what we perceive to be the present needs of the situation, reflecting the possibility of a stabilizing of a defense perimeter north of Saigon," Schlesinger said.

He told newsmen that "the over-all strategy with regard to aid will be reviewed by the administration" when Gen. Fred C. Weyand, the Army chief of staff, returns this weekend from a fact-finding mission to South Vietnam.

The defense secretary made it plain he believes that the key question in trying to assess whether or not remaining government forces can make a stand "is the morale of those forces and how they will perform when and if the test comes."

Meanwhile, there were these developments: —Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said "it is really too late to do anything" to stop the Communist offensive in South Vietnam. Officials in the state and defense departments privately expressed surprise at the vice president's statement and Rockefeller later said that it isn't too late for the South Vietnamese to salvage their situation "if they regroup and hold the line."

—President Ford maintained his silence on developments in Indochina but White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the President does not plan to use U.S. air power to help South Vietnam.

"The law forbids it, the President's inclination is against it, and he has no plans to do it," Nessen said.

—Fifty-seven South Vietnamese orphans arrived early today in Oakland, Calif., after being flown from Saigon by World Airways. The State Department said 2,000 more children will arrive in the next several days. Meanwhile, government officials were studying the possibility of a massive evacuation of Vietnamese who would be in jeopardy if the Communists take over Saigon.

—The Pentagon is rushing some artillery and lesser equipment to Vietnam in a quick operation designed to help the South Vietnamese re-equip troops evacuated from the North. Some radio sets and artillery fire-control equipment are being taken from National Guard stocks in 10 states, officials said.

—Schlesinger said the value of U.S. arms and ammunition lost in the South Vietnamese retreat will total at least $600 million and could go to $1 billion.

Saigon's Citizens Saddened, Bitter

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The sound of gunfire, exploding grenades and artillery echoed through the streets of Saigon, but no one took any notice.

"It's only government propaganda," a Vietnamese reassured a nervous foreigner and pointed to loudspeakers tied to lamp posts in Lam Don Square.

The speakers blare continuous exhortations to the population to resist the Communists and boast with sound effects of government forces heroically defending Hue and Da Nang.

Everyone knows the army hasn't fought, that Hue, Da Nang and a dozen other cities have been lost, and that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are pushing closer to the capital. "We have nowhere to go now," said Mai-Linh, a beautiful young girl, with a shrug. "Where can we go? I am frightened, but what can I do? I have bought rice and dried fish and when the VC come I will lock the doors and wait."

Although there have been some signs of fright and flight, most of Saigon's 3½ million people seem to be facing up to the inevitable.

Their greatest fear seems not to be the North Vietnamese and Viet Communist forces less than 50 miles away. It's that armed, defeated, embittered government troops will run amok in the city.

Law and order may disintegrate as it did in Hue, Da Nang and Nha Trang. Government officials and army officers may desert, leaving anarchy behind them.

At the moment there is little to show on the surface that Saigon is mortally threatened. But prices are short, and going up in price. Tea is hard to get. So is coffee. Tea and coffee came from the Central Highlands town of Ban Me Thuot, which fell more than two weeks ago.

Avocados, once a plentiful delicacy from Dalat, are now hard to find. The highway to Dalat was cut several weeks ago.

The bakeries are still running, but the ordinary French menu is still available, but the quantity is decreasing. The North Vietnamese and not Saigon's government are now enjoying Nha Trang's famous lobsters.

It is still possible to eat well in the French style at such restaurants as Ramancho's. But the waiters hustle you through your meal to get the bill paid by 9:30 p.m.; curfew is at 10 p.m.

The open-air terrace at the Continental Palace Hotel, better known as the Continental Shelf, remains a favorite Sunday drinking place.

The nightly array of pimps, prostitutes, beggars,urchins, crippled war veterans and newspaper vendors still prowls the sidewalk alongside the down drinking place.

But there are signs that the war is closing.

New bunkers and pillboxes are being constructed on street corners, notably near the presidential palace.

The traditionally superstitious Vietnamese are patronizing soothsayers, pagodas and churches in increasing numbers.

BARGAIN SECTION

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Thursday, April 3, 1975—10

State Commerce Secretary 'Tells It Like It Is'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Commerce Secretary Ed Trombetta says he's a little like a one-armed economist. Trombetta, recently appointed to his position by Gov. Reubin Askew, took responsibility last week for releasing monthly unemployment statistics away from Employment Security Director John Wesley White and assigned it to himself.

The impact of the change was obvious. In his first unemployment press release, Trombetta had to point out that the rate and number of jobless workers continued to climb — but he stressed positive signs such as unprecedented tourism.

Then, a few hours later, Trombetta issued an even more positive release on economic signs contrary to the gloomy picture presented by Florida unemployment rates exceeding the national level and rising steadily.

"What I said last week is an accurate reflection of what's going on in this state," Trombetta said.

He said President Harry Truman once wished he had a one-armed economist. Trombetta said Truman was irritated by economists who said on the one hand such-and-such was true, but on the other hand ...

A one-armed economist would only see things on the one hand — presumably the good side.

"I don't want to create anything other than the most accurate reflection," Trombetta said. "We don't want to make things look better than they are, but if we're making things gloomier than they are, that's bad also."

Trombetta said he will continue to issue unemployment figures, at least until employment improves considerably. "When the unemployment rate drops to four per cent, then Gov. Askew will issue the press release," he joked.

Beverly Dozier, unsuccessful candidate for secretary of state last fall, says happiness is working for the state at $6,000 a year less than her old salary as director of the Division of Cultural Affairs.

Mrs. Dozier has been hired at a salary of $12,400 to run the communications program for the State Manpower Services Council. She earned $19,000 before she quit the cultural affairs position last year.

"You can't believe how much I missed state government," said the veteran state employee.

Mrs. Dozier made it to last year's Democratic runoff, where she was eliminated by Secretary of State Bruce Smithey. She said she hasn't decided whether to run for office again in the future.

"I really don't know," Mrs. Dozier said. "A lot of people want me to run again. There isn't a day goes by that somebody doesn't say something about it to me."

When George Kennedy of Palm Bay read an Associated Press story about Natural Resources Director Harmon Shields' plan to build aqueduct piping water south from North Florida's bountiful rivers, he saw an opportunity to solve two of the state's pressing problems at once.

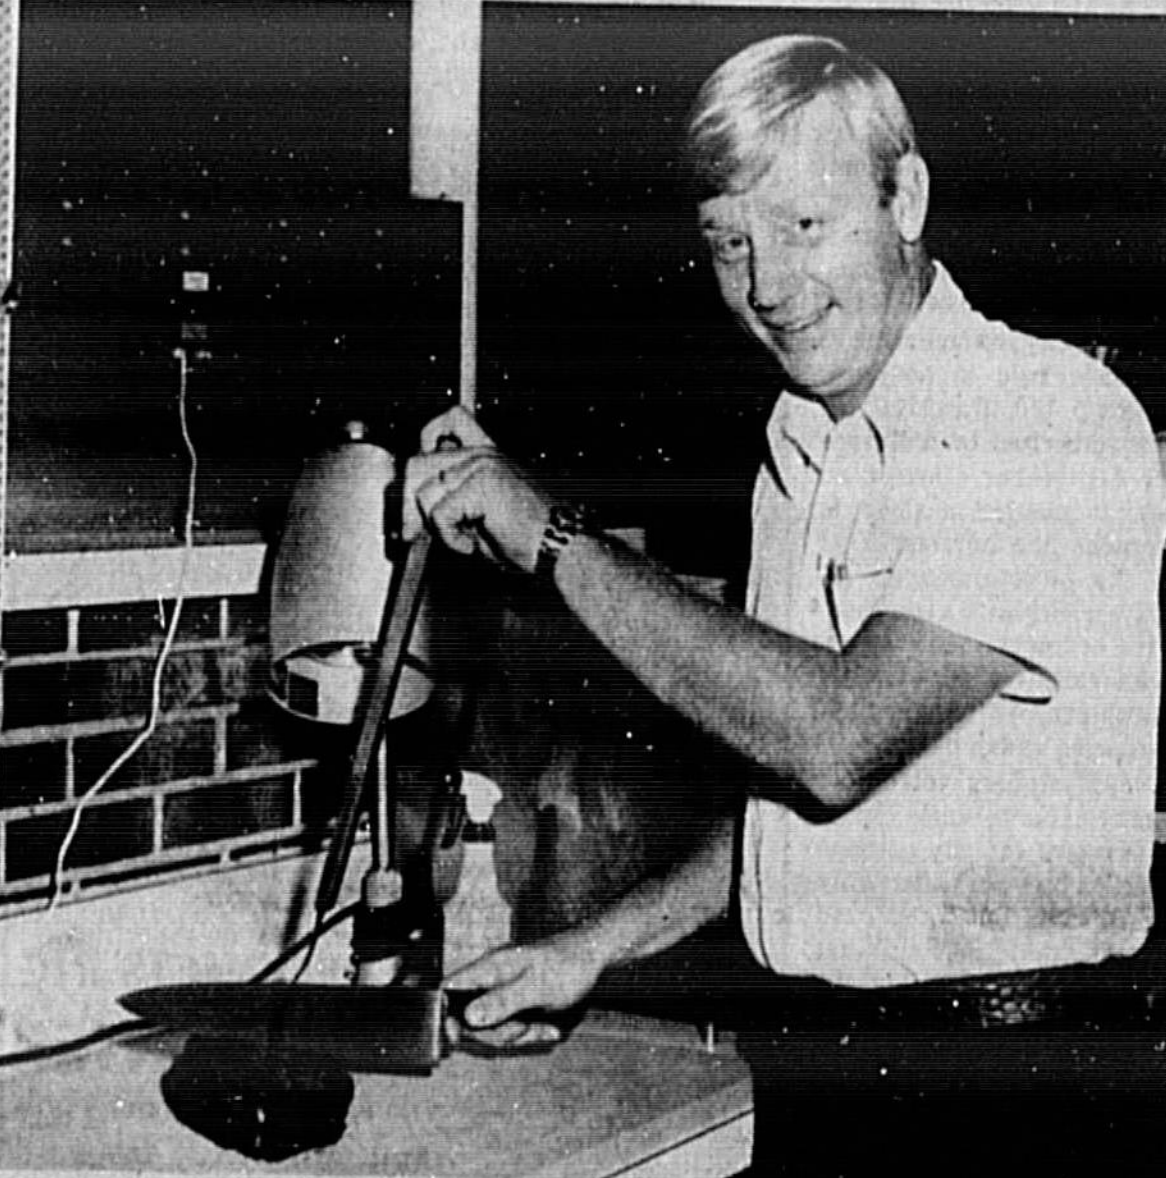

"Your far-sighted aqueduct proposal was noted in the newspaper, and I was wondering if you would let me hang my trousers on them," Kennedy wrote Shields.

"When fresh water is needed the most, so is a fast transit system," Kennedy said. "The aqueduct system could provide both right-of-way and supporting structures for a fast transit network with a great savings to the ecology and our natural resources. Both must come in time, so why not combine them?"

Members of the House Appropriations subcommittee investigating a $90,000 Department of Health and Rehabilitation Services office lease were growing more and more irritated last week at the inability of HRS officials to explain the lease to the satisfaction of the lawmakers.

And state employee Stan Derzypolaki didn't help matters when he explained why he quit his job as space coordinator for HRS. He said he quit because his boss objected when he allowed a group of lower-ranking employees cramped for space to move into quarters reserved for top administrators.

Fruit Scarcity Revealed

ORLANDO — Florida currently has 26 per cent fewer grapefruit to sell than a year ago, United Growers said in an update on a short and vanishing crop.

Gen. Mgr. Wilson McGee of the Orlando-based grower organization said a 20 per cent upsurge in fresh grapefruit sales through the comparative March 23rd week period had left the state with only 28 per cent of its crop remaining for certified use in all forms.

"There are indications continued fruit drop and lighter-than-expected pickouts will further cut crop size even though fresh fruit packers and processing plants will try for the last box of fruit."

McGee said "scarcity and increased costs demand" an immediate wholesale $4.75 price for canned single strength grapefruit juice. He pointed out production of this household staple lags 12 per cent behind last season with "no way" processors can even hope to approach the 28.7 million case pack of 1973-74.

"Very soon our carefully husbanded inventory will cascade away at unrealistically low prices with replacement depending solely on the uncertainties of a new and unpredictable crop subject to all weather hazards from freeze to hurricane."

The United spokesman pointed out fruit scarcity had forced early use of small 56 sizes and grapefruit grading below U.S. No. 1 in outer skin appearance that did not affect superb internal quality.

He said some industry spokesmen were even considering shipping seedly Duncan grapefruit to meet fresh market demand a dwindling seedless supply can not fill. Because of their larger size and seeds, Duncans are usually reserved for sectioning and juice.

Business Economists Looking For Change

NEW YORK (AP) — In the view of business economists, the economy soon will begin to show signs of reversing its course, and might by year-end be retracing the route it took on the way down.

It is difficult to comprehend the extent to which in recent weeks this attitude seems to have developed, and there is little doubt that two major reasons underlie it.

1. Economists copy from each other. The most difficult and dangerous forecast of all is to say when a major economic turn is going to take place. You may be 95 per cent certain, but still find it too dangerous to forecast.

2. Economists find it much easier to come out with optimistic forecasts when the news already is turning pleasant.

The stock market is up, consumer confidence is beginning to rise, the Federal Reserve seems in a cooperative mood, the trade balance is showing black ink, interest rates are falling, price increases are moderating.

The biggest factor, however, is that the economists think that massive government intervention almost certainly will propel marketplace activity ahead, even though there is a great deal of speculation about the possibility of rising prices again in 1976.

The forecaster therefore has encouragement from the news. The environment is more conducive to accepting a bright outlook.

Whatever a consensus has developed or is developing, the turnaround will occur in the third or fourth quarter.

The chief economist for a well-known international research and consulting firm tells of attempting to sell his services to a Wall Street outfit. The best excuse he heard to converse in another room.

Through the wall partition the economist soon heard a muted conversation that was ended abruptly when one of the parties exploded: "What, another economist calling for a fourth-quarter turnaround. Tell him no."

The big danger in any forecast, no matter how many others quickly follow, is security in numbers.

They often amount to guesses — and they often amount to guesses — and they often amount to guesses — and they often amount to guesses.

Last year many economists assumed that the United States would have a trouble-free growing and harvest season, failing to take into account the dangers of flood, frost, disease, drought and other disasters.

At the recent stockholders meeting, two new directors were elected to the Board of ComBank-Apopka, Charles G. Jaeb, president of B.J.P. Inc., and owner and manager of Liggett Miracle Drug, Apopka; and Gary A. Rue, president of ComBank-Apopka.

Charles Jaeb earned his degree in pharmacy from North Dakota State University and attended St. Louis College of Pharmacy for post-graduate work in toxicology and physiology. He is a director of the Apopka Chamber of Commerce and past-president of the Sertoma Club. He is also a member of Rho Chi and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities.

Jaeb, his wife, Kathleen, and daughters, Julie and Jill, reside in Maitland.

Gary Rue was elected president of ComBank-Apopka in February, 1975. He joined ComBank-Casselberry in 1968 and was serving as vice president, commercial loans, when transferred to ComBank-Apopka as executive vice president.

Rue, his wife, Mary, and family also reside in Maitland. Directors reelected for the year are: E.G. Banks, Brewster F. Bray, Norton A. Giff, Foley A. Hoely, John H. Land, Philip H. Shears and John H. Talton.

ComBank-Apopka is a member of ComBank's Corporation, a Winter Park based multi-bank holding company.

Exotic White Amur Not Answer For Lakes Clean-up

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — City officials here are not sure what the solution is to ridding lakes of white amur, but they believe the exotic white amur is not the answer.

Stanley M. Sherwen, a city property owner, recommended this week that the city stock Lake Orienta with the white fish.

Noting the lake is choked with hydrilla and other aquatic weeds which could prove dangerous to water skiers, Sherwen said the amur is known for its ability to consume vast quantities of these plants. If the fish became a problem, they could be caught and removed, Sherwen said.

Mayor Norman Floyd said not enough is known of the fish as yet, adding it is claimed the white amur eats more than twice its own weight daily. "It could end up as big as a whale," Floyd said.

Commissioner Cal DeVony has contacted a state agency botanist for a recommendation on how to get rid of the weeds.

The immediate question at this point, according to Floyd, is not how to rid the lakes of aquatic weeds, but rather who has jurisdiction to do it.

"I sympathize with the people (whose homes border the affected lakes), but the city does not have a leg to stand on to do anything about it," the mayor said.

On Advance Sewer Fee Attorney Demanding Refund Of $30,000

ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — The city's acceptance two years ago of some $300,000 in advance sewer connection fee payments from land developers continue to plague this municipal government.

In court currently with one builder-developer who is attempting to recover fees for unused sewer connections and with its main sewer plant operating at capacity, a Coral Gables attorney representing another land developer has demanded a hearing before the city commission on its refusal to refund some $30,000.

Benjamin Tepper, whose client abandoned plans to build a high-rise apartment-office complex on SR 436, asked Mayor Norman Floyd in a letter this week for legal justification for the city's position.

BRING TOTAL COMFORT LIVING TO YOUR HOME

HEATING & COOLING PRODUCTS
"Total Comfort" requirements differ for every individual and area. But only through a ducted air distribution system can all these needs be fulfilled.
Floyd indicated he will schedule the workshop session with Tepper.
Commissioners asked City Attorney Joe Davis to determine the meaning of the words "composite additive" after receiving a $31,000 cost estimate from the Seaboard Coastline Railroad for an automatic railroad crossing signal and its installation at the Spring Oaks Boulevard — Trilby Bend spur.
Some $3,000 in the estimate was designated for "composite additive."
Floyd said this crossing signal is far down on the priority list and it is unlikely it will be installed in the near future even if the city paid the costs outlined.
And Commissioner Cal DeVony said he believed the railroad's report that it has already used elsewhere the old signal removed from another SR 436 crossing "to be a lie."
The old signal, about one mile from the Spring Oaks Boulevard crossing, was replaced with a larger signal when SR 436 was widened.
With seven persons in the audience, including four citizens, Police Chief Justus East and two members of the press, the commission formally changed its regular Tuesday meeting times from 6:30 p.m. to 4:30 beginning next week.
Commissioners approved placing a street light on Gregory Court as petitioned by 18 property owners. The petitioners cited recent vandalism and break-ins in that Charter Oaks area.
An ordinance was adopted annexing 31 streets and roads surrounded by city territory.

Jobless Protest Illegal Aliens

NEW YORK — (LENS) — With unemployment running at over 10 per cent in New York City and the entire state of New Jersey, a considerable stir has arisen over illegal immigrants in the area. The construction workers' union has protested that illegal aliens are robbing them of jobs, while other critics charge that they are a drain on welfare agencies.

New Jersey's Representative Peter Rodino, the powerful chairman of the Judiciary committee of the House of Representatives, has proposed legislation that would compel employers to check on the status of their workers, with escalating penalties for those who knowingly hire illegal aliens. His bill has drawn increasing support from trade unions and patriotic groups, which bandy about scare figures of the numbers of illegal immigrants and the jobs that they are taking from American citizens.

The furor over alien immigration stems largely from the mounting ranks of the jobless in the New York metropolitan area. But ever since the passage of the immigration act of 1965, which abolished quotas but set an overall limit of 120,000 immigrants a year from the Western hemisphere, the number of illegal entrants has been rising.

The main reason is that to be admitted legally means an immigrant must have a specific job to go to. Immigration, legal and illegal, has also been stimulated by cheap air travel, and the rising population and

America's Birthday Being Commercialized
WASHINGTON — (LENS) — The Bicentennial has been a hot potato ever since 1966 when President Johnson set up the Bicentennial Commission, whose job it was to decide how the birthday party should be run. After seven years and considerable expense, the commission was finally disbanded, having achieved virtually nothing, and in its

Vegetable Summary
Cabbage — Trading this week is moderate. The volume shipped last week from Florida declined to 633 carlot equivalents compared to 723 carlots March 16-22. The volume shipped this week is expected at near the same level then will decrease as some growers in the Hastings area start potato harvest. The price for Cabbage is lower at mostly $2.50 per crate F.O.B.

Carrots — Volume shipped from Florida last week was 61 carlots compared to 62 carlots March 16-22. Little change in volume is expected this week. The price is lower at $5.00 per 40-lb. film bags F.O.B.

Celery — Volume from Central Florida was fairly light with an increase expected next week. Trading is moderate at lower prices, $2.50 to $3.75 per crate F.O.B. depending on size.
Radishes — Volume from this area is moderate. Trading is moderate at unchanged prices $1.50 per carton 30-40 oz. film bags F.O.B.
Some growers have started harvest of the spring crop of mixed types of Lettuce and Endive and Escarole while others in Central Florida are expected to start the spring crop next week. Quality is generally good.
A good volume of Squash is now being shipped from Central Florida.

Stroke Victim Can Fly

DEAR DR. LAMB—I hope you can help me with an important problem that I have. Last year on my way to work I had a stroke. This left me with a bad left leg and arm.

Dr. Lamb

It's important that I go to California and the plane trip is five and a half hours. I've consulted three doctors and I have had more or less normal pressure for the past several months. I had don't know what to do so I had to take such a long trip. Another tells me it is okay if I stretch my legs every half hour since the plane is pressurized. I just don't know what to do so I hope you will please give me your opinion. I'm 65.

DEAR READER—Blood from the rectum is often the first sign. That is why you should see a doctor who specializes in this. The doctor you told you the colon was pressurized was right on that score. Commercial aircraft maintain an altitude below 7,000 feet. When you are sitting still that is not enough

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A rubber bridge player would waste no time with today's hand. He would be delighted with his club slam. After drawing trumps he would concede a diamond trick and go on to the next rubber after scoring 1,370 points.

A duplicate player would not risk his slam, but would undoubtedly give himself a chance to score an overtrick that would be worth an extra match point or two.

He would rise with the ace of spades at trick one. Then he would draw trumps with three leads while leaving the five spot.

Wekiva Shacks 'Must Go' Cabin Owners Refuse To Comply

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer

State and County environmental officials did some fancy back peddling last night after "owners" of cabins along the Wekiva River said they would not voluntarily remove their structures even though they are "trespassing" on state property.

Instead of establishing a time frame for the removal of the camps — an Internal Improvement Trust Fund (IIT) representative Walt Wheeler had planned prior to the meeting — a second meeting was scheduled for next week when such specifics can be made. At that time, camp occupants will either have to officially ask for state permission to remain, or be ordered to tear down the camps.

Last night's meeting which drew a full house in the Seminole County Commission chambers in the courthouse, was composed mainly of camp owners who were determined to keep their structures in the face of a recent court order empowering the IIT to charge the camp occupants with trespassing.

IIT owns all lands below the mean water mark, which would include the many islands scattered along the 25-mile meandering river. Of the 70 camps that now exist on the islands and shoreline, only 10-12 would be exempt from state-ownership, according to Don Gurtstein who represented the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) at last night's meeting. Gurtstein estimated only 40 of the camps are actually occupied, while the rest are abandoned.

Although environmental officials, including Wheeler, Seminole County Pollution Control Director Langley Adair, and Gurtstein were "trying to clear the air" at last night's meeting, they accomplished little more than to delay the decision on removal of the camps until next Thursday.

Camp occupants were particularly concerned over IIT's plan to move them from the islands, since the decision in the recent court suit (Ferguson vs. Pound) that so empowered the agency was strongly supported by the Association in an effort to keep big developers off the river.

Harriet Mixon, president of the Camp Owners Association, told Adair her group would pick representatives to meet with state officials next week. Adair said the camp occupants will have to decide then whether they want to apply to the state for leases to the land they illegally occupy, or to just give up their structures.

Although all camp occupants are officially "squatters," many have lived on the islands for 20 to 30 years long before the state ever began to firm up its approach to handling such occupation of property. Several camp occupants last night declared they had tried to buy the property and even tried to pay taxes on their land, but their offers were refused.

After three hours of discussion about proposed river designations, Adair offered the

Knowles Hints City May Sue Over Double Taxation

By MICK LOCHRIDGE Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission may be taken to court over its stand that double taxation is nonexistent in the county, Sanford City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles said yesterday.

"Indications seem to point now that the issue may go to court," said Knowles, who is awaiting a reply from County Commission to the City of Sanford's request that the county provide a breakdown of the county budget to determine if county taxpayers in incorporated areas are receiving equal treatment as taxpayers in the unincorporated areas.

But the City of Altamonte Springs, which made a similar request of the county last week received a reply from the county that double taxation does not exist in the county.

Knowles said he is expecting a similar reply. Knowles' expectation that the issue may be taken to court, is in conjunction with Sanford and Altamonte Springs supporting the Florida League of Cities' amendment to state law to permit cities to take the issue to court.

Under state law, the County Commission is granted 90-days to reply to a municipality's request on double taxation.

The county took the full 90 days to respond to the request from Altamonte Springs.

Sanford City Commissioners also have requested a County-City Study group be established to provide guidelines for the breakdown of the county budget.

"We have asked the county to sit down and study the matter, but the commissioners won't," Knowles said.

"We may have to get an outside party (the courts) and tell them that something is wrong here."

County Commissioners and Sanford City Commissioners will meet in Sanford City Hall April 21 to hash out problems between the two governmental bodies. Although no agenda has been established, it is expected that double taxation will be discussed.

The Sanford City Commission passed a resolution last month telling county commissioners, "The County Taxpayers in the incorporated areas are not receiving equitable services from the county government as compared with residents in the unincorporated areas and that tax revenue is collected from the incorporated area taxpayers and is being used disproportionately to provide benefits solely for those in the unincorporated areas."

Vietnamese Airlift Plane Crashes; Orphans Killed

By MIKE SHANAHAN Associated Press Writer

An airlift of 2,000 Vietnamese orphans ordered by President Ford began in tragedy today, as a giant U.S. Air Force C-5A cargo plane carrying the first group to new homes in the United States crashed shortly after takeoff from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base.

In Washington, the State Department agency handling the airlift declared the crash would not affect continuation of the effort. William A. Flatt, spokesman for the Agency for International Development, said: "The flights will continue."

But Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis.,

urged temporary grounding of all C-5s.

"The C5 has never performed up to specifications," Aspin said in a statement. "Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger's posture statement for this year indicates that the planes have been developing wing fatigue much faster than anticipated. Until we find out whether the wing explosion which caused the crash had anything to do with the problem, the C5s should be grounded."

Witnesses said the left wing of the plane caught fire as it crash-landed. The pilot, who survived, later said the crash was due to decompression problems caused by a malfunction in the rear loading door.

Platt said the question of whether other C5s might be used would be up to the military officials in charge of the airlift. He said notification of next of kin would be handled by the various agencies involved.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon said possibly 100 of the 243 children and 10 to 15 adults among the 43 relief workers and 10 crewmen aboard the aircraft survived the crash.

"I'm really stunned," said Jill Schlapel, a volunteer worker for the Friends of All Children, which along with two other Colorado based agencies was sponsoring the flight of orphans out of South Vietnam. "It's a tragic thing."

DUMP STILL ON FIRE

Altamonte Springs firemen said this morning they still had two pumps at a 12 to 15 acre fire at the Earl Liefier Pk., a trash dump west of Douglas Ave., and south of Lorraine St., and are going to let the blaze burn itself out. County fire units joined Altamonte units last night when the fire, of undetermined origin, billowed a thick smoke over the western part of the city near Interstate Four. Above, firemen protected the perimeter of the fire area last night. (Herald Photo by Gordon Williamson)

Hospitals Deny Patient Decline

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

One Sanford area hospital administrator today called a report that hospitals are treating 10 to 20 per cent fewer patients than usual because of the recession "a bunch of crap."

"You can't believe all those private surveys. That's a bunch of crap," Seminole Memorial Hospital administrator Bob Bessner said of the report.

A private research firm says chiefs believe the Sanford PD and emergency cases for March at Florida Hospital North, said that facility "is busier than we've ever been. We had more emergency cases for March than the main hospital."

Bradley agreed that the reduction in demand has been felt most sharply by suburban hospitals, the study says, while big city teaching hospitals are as full as ever.

Among those avoiding hospitals, the study says, are those people who are laid off and have lost their group insurance plans.

"During a recession, people think long and hard before they go into a hospital and take on a serious debt unless it's an emergency," Hughes said.

Warning On Calls Issued

A rash of telephone solicitations claiming they're being made on behalf of a police benevolent association has brought a plea from the Sanford Police Dept., to report such calls to their office, at 323-5881.

Chief Ben Butler said the callers give indication they represent the Sanford PD and will offer a bumper sticker and "certain privileges" if the caller makes a contribution.

Butler said the Sanford PD is not connected with that organization, and only schedules two local fund-raising events annually — a country and western show in mid-Summer, and the Policemen's Ball.

Warning On Calls Issued

According to some of the local businesses which have been contacted, the callers are using a telephone prefix of 831. If the persons called are interested in contributing, they may call back on that number and are promised additional information will be forwarded through the mails. The police said the "information" usually consists of an invoice, and nothing more.

Sanford police said they have checked with police departments in Casselberry and Altamonte Springs and were informed the phone solicitors do not represent them, either.
