Budget draft targets property owners for needed funds

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A property tax increase would be necessary to fund the proposed $453 million school budget if it is approved as presented. The Seminole County School Board will review the budget draft today at 4 p.m. and will vote to advertise the budget.

Superintendent Paul Hagery will present the budget to the board members who will review the proposal. The overall general operating budget for the schools is $233,939,440.

Public hearings on the budget will be conducted Aug. 2 and Sept. 8.

If the budget is approved as submitted, the tax rate would increase about 30-cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. The tax rate for the schools which is $10.043 now would increase to $10.343.

Property owners of a $100,000 home with a $25,000 homestead exemption who now pays $753 in taxes earmarked for schools would pay $775, an increase of about $22, according to budget coordinator Roah Khatri.

A growing number of students and keeping up with inflation are two components of the proposed increase. The budget calls for more teachers and counselors, and also reflects rising costs for utilities, insurance, and other expenses as well as an increase in salaries.

The legislature also authorized a discretionary 25-cent millage which local school boards may adopt raising the amount of money spent per student by $50. The increase would yield about See Schools, Page 5A

City, cop union mull smoking ban

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — City negotiations with representatives of the policemen's union resumed Wednesday with give and take on both sides on several secondary issues.

Negotiators with the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 140 and the city will meet again next month to discuss grievance and discipline procedures. No date has been set on the union's 7 percent pay increase demand for 1995 and subsequent 4 percent adjustments for the following two years.

Union attorney John Head of the Orlando firm Rumberger, Kirk and Caldwell agreed to the city's management rights clauses and prohibition against work stoppages or slow-downs. Such union tactics are prohibited in Florida for law enforcement and public safety officers.

But Head disagreed with a provision that would prohibit police officers from smoking cigarettes or using any tobacco products on or off duty. "Officers should be fired under the proposal. The city sought the clause of testing union members at any time. Union members are all police officers and non-supervisory sergeants and corporals."

Head said the city couldn't enforce the policy while union members are off-duty.

"Having a non-smoking policy is OK as long as it applies to the whole department," said Head. "We don't want a lieutenant smoking in front of an officer who can't."

"Lieutenants aren't in the bargaining unit," responded David Kornreich, the city's labor attorney. "They are not an issue."

Head will submit revised anti-smoking language.

The union also called for a revision to the city's proposed non-discrimination clause. City negotiators proposed wording that allowed the city to take any action necessary to effect equal employment opportunities and alternative actions. Head called changing the wording to "any lawful action" instead of "any action." Head also sought to add a provision granting employees the right to take any lawful employment actions without punishment.

Kornreich responded that the city can't lawfully prohibit federal discrimination complaints. The city will review the request, said Kornreich.

Veterans helping veterans

SANFORD — "Veterans helping veterans, that's what it's all about," said Albert Tounzen, commenting on a recent $5,000 donation from the local Disabled American Veterans Chapter 30, to the state chapter.

State DAV Commander Bill Hickman, from Bushnell, was on hand for the check presentation this past Sunday, at DAV headquarters, 3512, U.S. Highway 17-92, in Sanford.

The check represented the final donation for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Tounzen, publicity chairman of the local chapter, explained that the DAV by-laws stipulate that 51 percent of all monies accrued by individual chapters, be donated to the Veterans Services. The remainder is donated to various local community charities.

Among them, Tounzen said donations have been made in the past years to local missions, nursing homes, and a variety of other organizations, primarily based in the Sanford area.

Local funds are raised through the twice-weekly bingo games, and many other activities by chapter members. "This would be impossible to do without the great support

Recycling collections rebound

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County recycling collections rebounded in June following a May dip.

More than 8.2 million lbs. of garbage were offered for recycling during June, according to the county's monthly report. Only 7 million lbs. were collected during May. Residential recycling remained fairly constant at 2.2 million lbs. but residential yard waste collections increased from 2.9 million lbs. to 3.5 million lbs.

The county tracks recycling collections each month to monitor its progress to the state's 30 percent reduction goal.

More recyclable materials were processed at the county's new Small Materials Recovery Facility. A total of 400,000 lbs. of waste from businesses and apartments was processed through the machine. In May, during startup tests, 100,000 lbs. was processed.

In the unincorporated areas, 1.6 million lbs. of garbage was offered for recycling in curbside bins, up slightly from the 1.5 million lbs. Yard waste collections nearly doubled from 505,860 lbs. to 958,500 lbs.

In Sanford, overall recycling collections edged upwards from 670,220 lbs. to 711,700 lbs. See Recycle, Page 5A

Lake Mary budget ready, millage rate to be set

By MICK PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The fiscal year 1994/95 budget will be officially presented at tonight's Lake Mary City Commission meeting with no increase in millage proposed at this time.

Scheduled tonight are City Manager John Litton's annual budget message, and the tentative setting of the millage. The commission will also decide on dates for public hearings on the budget. The budget presentation however, has been scheduled at the very end of what appears to be a rather lengthy commission agenda.

Litton says he has balanced the proposed budget with a levy of 3.7648 mills, the same as that of the past four years. In his budget address, See Budget, Page 5A

Man exposes all in court

LAKELAND — When a bailiff told Jeremiah Johnson he couldn't go before the judge wearing shorts, he came back without them — or anything else.

"He was butt naked," a stunned Polk County Judge Michael Raiden said after Tuesday's courtroom display. "There is just no other way to put it. He was butt naked. I don't know if he had any shoes on or not."

The judge, proving justice is not always blind, found the 18-year-old in contempt of court and sentenced him to the maximum 179 days in jail.

"He was making a statement. I guess," Raiden said. "He said he was sorry. But I told him that wouldn't cut it."

Raiden said Johnson arrived in court early to answer a charge of driving without a license. Raiden hadn't noticed the man until the bailiff told Johnson that the courtroom dress code does not allow shorts.

The man left for momentarily and returned.

"I kind of heard this collective gasp," Raiden said. "I knew what I was looking at, and I knew where I was, but I just couldn't put two and two together. I'm not even sure I believe it yet."

Casino petitions thrown out

TALLAHASSEE — Election officials in two southwest Florida counties have thrown out about 13,600 petitions turned in on behalf of a drive to permit 47 casinos around the state.

"We have never encountered anything like this before," Collier County Elections Supervisor Mary Morgan said Wednesday.

Nearly 10,000 signatures in Collier and 3,600 in Lee have been ruled invalid so far.

Only 1,916 of 12,164 signatures in Collier appear to be authentic, Morgan said. Some 3,000 signatures in Lee have been verified, according to Mary Pat Lanman, second in command at that county's elections office.

"A small section of the signatures were traced over, a batch were duplicates and a large number were forged," Morgan said.

About 4,000 signatures belonged to people who were not registered voters, Morgan said.

Both counties also found some petitions that had signatures of dead people.

Randy Lewis, a spokesman for Proposition for Limited Casinos, said the petition drive would cooperate with elections officials and prosecutors in their effort to find the petition collectors who turned in the invalid signatures.

Man arrested was impersonator

WEST PALM BEACH — A man arrested in Georgia was apparently posing as the missing owner of a bird-breeding farm where more than 400 dead birds were found last month, investigators said.

Pictures of the man claiming to be Loxahatchee bird breeder Bhagwan "Moses" Lall were shown to Lall's family members this week, said Palm Beach County Sheriff's Sgt. Ken Deischer. "It's not their son," he said Wednesday.

Police in Richmond Hill, Ga., shipped Palm Beach County sheriff's detectives a photograph of the man they arrested on a charge of driving on a suspended license June 7. The man stopped in Georgia and fled after posting bond, leaving behind a van full of parrots and turtles.

Lall, 31, and his aunt, Lilawattie, were listed as missing after investigators found more than 400 birds worth more than $500,000 on their deserted farm June 15.

More than 300 other birds at the ranch were critically ill from lack of food and water.

LA teens travel to Key West

KEY WEST — In a program designed to keep the bell from tolling for high risk inner-city youth, 13 Los Angeles teenagers have got a trip out of their gang-ridden neighborhoods to celebrate Ernest Hemingway.

For the past year, the teens have been studying Hemingway in what began as a simple reading of "The Old Man and the Sea." That evolved into a theatrical production entitled "The Life and Times of Ernest Hemingway," featuring Hemingway's words and characters set to music and dance.

The group held a theatrical workshop for Key West youth Wednesday before staging an evening performance as part of this island community's annual Hemingway Days Festival.

"The setting is a classroom in which Hemingway is brought back to life as a spirit because of one student's interest in turning on others to Hemingway's work," said Philip Simms, who founded the Living Literature program.

"It's an appreciation of the legacy Hemingway left behind," said Simms, who also has the Hemingway role.

For many of the teen-agers, the trip to Key West is their first time out of Los Angeles.

Base planners may fight academy
Coalition wants base used for local needs

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO — Local officials and advocates for the homeless are mobilizing to fight a proposal to turn Orlando's Naval Training Center into a national academy for potential dropouts and homeless youth.

The plan to bring in as many as 25,000 children from across the nation was presented to the federal Department of Health and Human Services by an organization called Role Models America Inc., of Mitchellville, Md.

"Bringing the homeless youth from around the country to Orlando is outside the bounds of reasonableness," said Michael Poole, president of the Coalition for the Homeless of Central Florida.

"The coalition and the homeless network in town will work with the city to stop this," Poole said Tuesday.

The base, located on prime real estate adjoining the residential suburb of Winter Park, is scheduled to close within four years.

Under the pecking order of the base reuse process, the military and federal agencies get first crack at base facilities. Three uses for federal agencies already have been approved for the base, which in December will begin closing in stages.

Before state and local authorities get a chance, the bases are screened for use by the homeless. A federal law requires that bases be set aside for the homeless if a need in the area exists.

Poole said the need is clear in Central Florida, and the coalition wants to provide transitional housing and other programs at the Orlando base.

The Role Models' proposal may conflict with the coalition's plans and those of the Orlando Base Re-Use Commission, set up by the city.

The commission's executive director Herb Smetheram, said the city will be able to do little until the homeless issue is settled.

Role Models President Herbert Alexander outlined his proposal for a National Junior ROTC Academy in a letter of intent, which notifies officials that the group is planning a formal proposal.

The academy would take homeless and students in danger of dropping out of school, put them in uniform, introduce them to the Reserve Officers Training Corps and graduate them.

Colleton to be fired as U.S. Attorney

By MICHAEL... Associated Press writer

WASHINGTON — U.S. Attorney Larry Colleton is to be fired from his position as the top prosecutor for the Middle District of Florida because of friction arising from his conduct and management style, two Justice Department officials said.

If fired, Colleton would be the first U.S. attorney named by the Clinton administration to be forced out, said Julie Anbender, a department spokeswoman.

Officials prepared papers Wednesday to oust Colleton, said the two officials, who asked not to be identified by name. His ouster could be announced today or Friday, probably by Attorney General Janet Reno, the officials said.

As a presidential appointee, Colleton, the first black U.S. attorney in Florida, would technically have to be fired by President Clinton. The Orlando Sentinel, quoting unidentified sources, reported Wednesday Reno has decided to recommend Colleton's dismissal.

"The attorney general has not sent anything yet to the White House," said John Russell, another Justice spokesman.

Colleton and Reno met Monday to discuss a review of his conduct and management style, Anbender said. It was not immediately clear whether Colleton, whose district stretches from Jacksonville to Fort Myers, would be fired or forced to submit his resignation.

Colleton has been the subject of several investigations since he was videotaped grabbing WJKS-TV reporter Richard Rose by the throat and pushing him out of the way at a judicial conference near Jacksonville on May 6. Rose was attempting to question Colleton about personnel issues in his office.

Former scout leader guilty of sex crimes

By The Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH — A former Boy Scout leader accused of having sex with five boys at his Loxahatchee tree farm was convicted after two days of testimony by the boys, ages 11 to 17.

The verdicts announced Wednesday against Carmine Falco came after two days of testimony by the boys, ages 11 to 17.

The jury of four men and two women found Falco guilty of six counts of capital sexual battery, 10 counts of sexual activity with a child and one count of arranging a sexual performance by a child. He will be sentenced in September.

Falco, 46, will receive a minimum of six life sentences.

"Justice has been done, that's for sure," said 17-year-old D.J., the oldest of the victims. "I can go on with my life."

The boys said they met Falco after responding to an ad for "students" to work at his Loxahatchee tree farm. None of the boys was a Boy Scout, but Falco had worked with a Wellington troop in 1988 and was a Scout leader in Dade County in the early 1980s. In 1982, Dade prosecutors suspected him of molesting some boys in his troop, court documents show, but he was never charged in Dade County.

In Loxahatchee, he seduced the boys with marijuana, pornographic movies and vodka.

In addition to the boys' testimony, jurors saw videotapes that Falco made of himself having sex with the boys. Falco stared blankly ahead as the videotapes were played and most of the parents left the courtroom.

The boys were not present, although all were required to watch the tapes, totaling nearly four hours, to authenticate them for the trial.

"I asked them if they wanted me to watch with them, and they all said no," said Assistant State Attorney Robert Johnson.

Falco did not testify, and his attorney, Jack Fleischman, called no witnesses in Falco's defense.

Area worth bragging about

Let's face facts. Only a few movies and TV programs these days take place in the future. The rest are either tales of the past, or set in the present.

This is a good reason why Sanford has been selected as an ideal location for filming and video taping for the various movies and programs. Anything in the future would be done on a science-fiction set in a studio. For present or past settings however, our area would be a goldmine.

Not all filmings involve hoards of local people hired as extras. We had that situation several years ago when people flocked by the hundreds at an extra call held at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building. The movie was "My Girl," and it was very successful. Another film, "Passenger 57," was filmed at the Central Florida Regional Airport.

There have been others.

Some, such as "Fortune Hunter," currently being shot in Sanford for a Fox network TV series, bring their own crew and a limited number of actors.

Yet we benefit. No one can work on such matters anywhere without spending money in the area where they are filming.

Possibly of even more importance, the finished product will give people across the nation a look at Sanford and surrounding areas. If something produced here becomes a hit, people will flock to the area to see locations where certain segments were shot.

Most anyone who has seen "My Girl" will say how they recognized various streets in Sanford's historic district, and part of the downtown area.

The executive director of the Sanford chamber, Dave Farr, says other movies and TV programs are considering Sanford, including "Thunder in Paradise."

From time to time, there may be occasions when filming requires minor traffic redirection, but it isn't for any length of time, and we can endure it.

We commend the continuing efforts in attracting movies and TV production to Sanford.

Every community has one or more things about which to brag. Orlando, Atlanta, the Cape area have their share. If our area is to include movie settings, it's worth bragging about.

Clinton a prisoner of black caucus

The congressional black caucus has been showing its muscles this year, and they are impressive. On one major issue after another — Haiti, the crime bill, health care — the tail (i.e., the black caucus) is wagging the dog (the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives).

The congressional black caucus is the coalition of black Democrats in the House (congressman Gary Franks, the only black Republican, doesn't participate). They total 39, but several are too independent to be reliable; congressman Kwesi Mfume, the chairman of the caucus, can usually count on about 25 solid votes for any piece of political blackmail he wants to pull off.

With the Democrats holding 257 seats in the House, any threat by those 25 to withhold their support from a measure favored by the Democratic leadership or the president brings the Democratic margin perilously close to the 218 needed to pass it.

The danger of the black caucus, therefore, is not that it is black, but that it is a caucus. There are, to be sure, other special-interest caucuses in the House — the Hispanic caucus, the women's caucus, etc. But none has shown the cohesion, the discipline or the determination displayed by the black caucus.

At the moment, the black caucus is grimly holding President Clinton to a pledge he made last year to insure the caucus' support for his budget (which, you will recall, passed by just one vote); namely, to restore President Jean-Bertrand Aristide to power in Haiti, whence he had been ousted by a military junta.

Mr. Clinton has tried, at one time or another, just about every conceivable policy toward Haiti except denying his pledge (which is plainly impossible) or invading the country. He now seems gloomily prepared to invade, and his spokesmen are doing their best to pretend there is some valid diplomatic excuse for such an action.

Historically this nation has never asked its soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines to lay down their lives, if necessary, unless some "vital interest" of the United States was at stake. Predictably, Mr. Clinton's spokesmen (specifically, black former congressman William Gray, whom he appointed to oversee our policy on Haiti in a desperate attempt to appease the black caucus) have sworn that Haiti is absolutely crawling with American vital interests. In truth, there is none whatever.

But the new White House chief of staff, Leon

The chairman of the caucus can usually count on about 25 solid votes for any piece of political blackmail he wants to pull off.

Panetta, speaking on "Meet the Press" on July 17, laid down a rule that makes Mr. Gray look positively cautious. Reminding the audience that Haiti's junta had seized power without the slightest democratic justification, he thereupon proclaimed the Panetta Doctrine:

"This country has always taken the position, in that situation, that we are not going to tolerate that kind of leadership in a country, that we are going to try to restore democracy."

Really? In Cuba? In North Korea? In China? In Iraq? The Founders declared that America was "the friend of freedom everywhere, but the defender only of its own." You are going to be a busy chief of staff, Mr. Panetta!

To appease the black caucus, young Americans are shortly going to be asked to risk their lives to pay off Mr. Clinton's debt to Kwesi Mfume & Co. To his credit, Mr. Clinton is apparently at least unhappy about the necessity. When the black caucus tried to insist on writing into his crime bill a provision for racial quotas in executions (the "Racial Justice Act"), Mr. Clinton, evidently calculating that he had the votes to pass the bill without them, told them to go fish. But at last report negotiations between Messrs. Clinton and Mfume are under way again.

The only way to keep the tail from wagging the Democratic dog is to elect a Republican dog this November.

NAACP soiled by embracing Farrakhan

If I say "civil rights," what do you think of? I'll bet at least half of you thought of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. In its 85-year history, the NAACP has promoted the cause of black Americans like no other organization. It won the struggle for school desegregation and for strong civil rights laws. It has stood for equality and common sense and has been a moral refuge for all people, black or white, who loathe the racism of any kind.

The times, they are a-changing. Last year, the mantle of leadership was passed to a younger generation. The Rev. Benjamin Chavis, 46, was named executive director and he quickly let it be known the NAACP's long tradition of shunning radicals was coming to a close.

Chavis intended to broaden the group's appeal, he said. He told Newsweek he would court "gangsta rap" musicians ("I have connections with Public Enemy," he said, referring to an anti-Semitic rap group). He also said he was a "close friend" of Sister Souljah, the rapper who told the Washington Post in 1992 that assaults on whites during the Los Angeles riots were justified. "If black people kill black people every day," she said, "why not have a week and kill white people."

Chavis also indicated he would seek association with black leaders whom some might consider radical. And who did he choose to make his point? If I said "black bigot," who would you think of? Probably Louis Farrakhan, leader of the Nation of Islam.

Chavis not only recognized Farrakhan as a legitimate leader. Chavis invited Farrakhan to a black "leadership summit" meeting and hugged him enthusiastically and referred to him as "his holiness, a prophet, a freedom fighter."

This is the same Louis Farrakhan who once described Judaism as a "gutter religion." This is the same Louis Farrakhan who said in 1992: "The God who taught me calls the white man the skunk of the planet earth. He is so wicked and so filthy that God calls him the skunk of the planet." This is the same Louis Farrakhan whose spokesman, Khalid Abdul Muhammad, last year described Jews as "hook-nosed, bagel-eatin', lox-eatin'" frauds and attacked "that old, no-good Pope," adding: "Somebody ought to raise that dress up and see what's really under there."

Farrakhan passed the ensuing furor off as the work of Jews who were "trying to use my brother Khalid's words against me to divide the house." When he finally removed Muhammad, he "rebuked" him with these words: "I stand by the truths that he spoke but I must condemn in the strongest terms the manner in which those truths were represented."

Now Farrakhan has been embraced by the mainstream NAACP, and I'd like someone to explain to me the difference between a white racist and a black racist. I'd like to know what Ben Chavis would do if a group of prominent Irish-Americans called a "leadership summit" and invited David Duke.

The times, they are a-changing.

GUEST COLUMNIST

First Amendment and religion

I found it. I found it! It took several years but, by golly, I finally found it. What is "it?" "It" is a special limited inaugural edition, dated Jan. 20, 1989, of the Constitution of the United States. It contains the Preamble, Articles I through X (the Bill of Rights) and onwards to Amendment XXVI which ratified what and when and was published by the U.S. Government Printing Office, 1988.

It is very interesting to note that the first 10 amendments (Bill of Rights) were ratified Dec. 15, 1791 and that, my friends, is a whole big bunch of years ago. Amendments XI was ratified Feb. 7, 1795, almost 200 years ago with the XXVI Amendment being ratified July 1, 1971. Holy smoke — that's almost like yesterday.

Why am I dredging up the Constitution now? Well, for starters, to clarify what it says and more to the point — what it doesn't say. And what it doesn't say would fill volumes. We will dig into some of this, "it's unconstitutional" bull and see what the Constitution really says.

Perhaps with enough effort we can debunk much of the hue and cry that is constantly flung at us, primarily by the "anti" group(s) when they incessantly cry "You can't do that — it's unconstitutional." For example, let's examine the oft-stated misquote of the First Amendment: The separation of church and state.

Let's see exactly how the First Amendment reads — as printed in the Constitution and published by the U.S. Printing Office, 1988.

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." There you have it. All 45 words of it: Forty five extremely clear and concise words and not one lousy peep about "separation of church and state."

What that First Amendment really says, in part, is that Congress will keep its grubby little paws off the creation, regulation, and free practice of "your" chosen religion. There's a lot more in the First (Amendment) as you have just read but that's it for religion. All the rest of the "anti garbage" comes from — hold onto your hats, folks — liberal and frequently totally idiotic "court decisions," edicts and the like" issued sometimes by one — count 'em — one judge and sometimes by a simple majority — five out of nine judges.

SEMINOLE OPINION

It's totally awesome to this old codger that one or even five "annointed or elected" human beings feel they possess such superhuman powers and wisdom (?) that enables them to decide how some 250 to 260,000,000 other citizens of this oft screwed-up country of ours must think, feel, speak and react to our ever changing conditions of life. Gawd! The weight must be unbearable.

So, my good friends, when some idiot belches in your face, "You can't do that, it's unconstitutional," the odds are a 'zillion to one it's not the Constitution that is behind the cry — it's some overexpanded court decision or judicial edict. Chew on that one for awhile. More on this is in the offing.

Administration helps kill plan to help disabled marry, work

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Barbara Faye Waxman and Daniel Fiduccia want to marry. But because they are disabled, a twist in federal law keeps them apart.

Until recently, it looked like Congress was about to change the rules to make it easier for the California couple — and other severely disabled Americans — to work and have families without giving up federal health and welfare benefits.

But the Clinton administration intervened to oppose the provisions, saying Waxman's problems are better addressed through comprehensive health care reform than "tinkering" with federal disability programs.

House and Senate negotiators went along with the administration Wednesday, killing the measure to help Waxman and Fiduccia when they agreed to compromise legislation that would make Social Security an independent agency.

The bill now goes to the House and Senate floors for a final vote, and President Clinton is expected to sign it.

"I feel really betrayed by an administration that represented itself to be supportive of the independence, the full participation of disabled women and men," Waxman said.

The 39-year-old reproductive rights specialist has spinal muscular atrophy. She uses an electric wheelchair and a voice-activated computer on her job at the Los Angeles Regional Family Planning Council.

Her salary is low enough that the federal government pays the $38,000 annual costs of two ventilators and the personal attendants she needs to stay alive and go to work.

If she were to marry Fiduccia, a 38-year-old legal affairs consultant in San Jose, Calif., who survived cancer as a child and now has limited mobility, she would lose her health care benefits if he earned more than $256 a month.

But, Fiduccia says, they wouldn't make nearly enough to pay their bills — and without her portable ventilators she would be dead within two days.

Each makes less than $40,000 a year, while their medical bills combined top $50,000. What is left over, he said, wouldn't cover taxes, food, rent and other necessities, and they'd actually be in the hole.

Earlier this year, the House had voted to raise the income threshold, which varies from state to state and case to case, for Waxman and other couples in their situation as part of the Social Security bill.

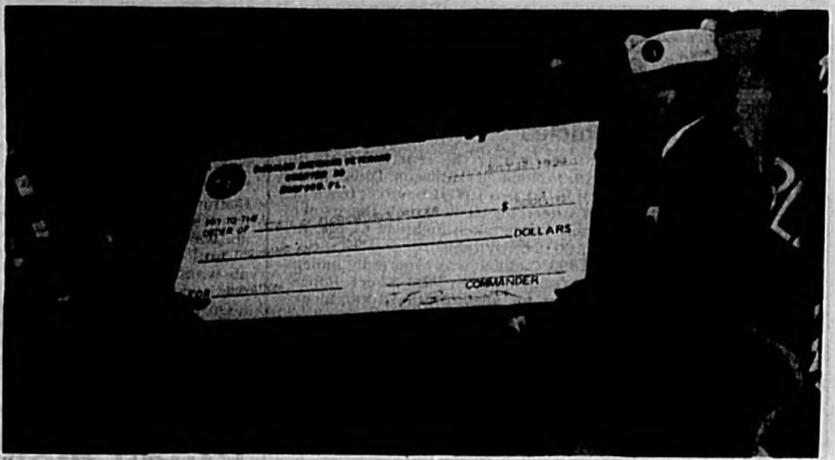

But Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala pressed House and Senate negotiators working on the final version of the legislation to drop the provision and others that would have helped the disabled return to work and accept certain academic grants without losing federal benefits.

Her spokesman, Victor Zonana, said the problems facing the disabled are better addressed through health reform than "piecemeal."

Zonana said that Waxman, because of "unfairness in the system, is being given a very cruel choice, whether to marry or get health insurance. But rather than tinker with a broken system, we want to bring comprehensive health insurance to all Americans."

But Waxman, Fiduccia and other disabled Americans see no reason to wait for health reform to reshape disability policies that discourage them from pursuing a career, education, marriage and independent living.

They and their advocates in Congress also note that both the Congressional Budget Office and an independent panel set up by the Social Security Administration say the changes would have a negligible impact.

Giving the $5,000 was apparently not easy. "This was a poor year financially," Tounzen explained, "owing to competition from a commercial bingo operation. However, this past year, DAV Chapter 30 made donations in excess of $12,000, which shows our members are working hard on the goals and projects of the DAV."

Chapter 30 has approximately 1,200 members at the present time.

Budget

he plans to urge the city to consider setting the tentative millage higher, for the purpose of future discussion should new programs or suggestions be brought forward.

"In considering this," Litton writes, "remember that one tenth of a mill is worth approximately $50,000. You can always reduce the millage prior to final reading in September, but it is a very difficult and expensive process should you decide to go the other way."

The proposed rolled back millage calculated by the County Appraiser's office is 3.8519 mills. The amount is the millage needed to raise the same amount of ad valorem taxes this year, as was raised last year.

Litton has determined that one mill for the City of Lake Mary, will represent $605,578 in this coming fiscal year, as compared to $481,967 in last year's budget.

With some properties having increases in assessments, and new taxable property being developed, the city expects to receive approximately $23,811 more, if the millage rate remains where it has been for the past several years.

Under the proposed millage, a home in Lake Mary appraised at $75,000, with a $25,000 homestead exemption, would pay $188.24 in property taxes next year.

A home valued at $100,000, with the $25,000 exemption, would pay $282.36.

For the $75,000 value home, should the rolled back rate be adopted, property taxes would be decreased by approximately $5.60.

The city has held several extensive budget hearings in the past few weeks.

Litton says the city is currently in excellent financial condition, although the new budget was difficult to balance because of a $124,000 amount being taken out to reduce the Sun Drive debt. He cautions that similar amounts will be required for the two following year budgets, with money to come out of the General Fund. He does suggest that the city should ultimately recover a significant portion of the money, but not for several years.

The Sun Drive problem involved expenses incurred in road work by the city, which were originally expected to be repaid by property owners. The matter however, has been a subject of controversy for many months.

The budget presentation also includes some projections for what Litton calls the "Horizon years," through the year 2000.

Litton suggests that a review of the years to come, "...demonstrates a potential need to increase ad valorem taxes beginning in 1996, should the revenue stream not expand or exceed the built-in inflationary considerations, so long as the commission wants to maintain at least the same level of services it now provides."

Tonight's Lake Mary City Commission meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 North Country Club Road.

Prior to the regular meeting, a special proposed fiscal year budget workshop will be held beginning at 5:30, also in the commission room.

Kornreich was also reluctant to agree to the union request of issuing each employee an itemized uniform and supply inventory.

Lodge president Darrell Brewer said reflecting vests and traffic wand flashlights were not issued to every officer and some have narrowly escaped injury as a result. Also, some officers were issued batons and other supplies while others were not.

Kornreich refused to consider each of the 38 items, but agreed to provide a counter proposal.

The city also agreed to begin making payroll deductions for union dues as soon as Head provides account information and other details. When Head objected to a list of deduction fees, including 15 cents per paycheck for each union member, the city dropped all fees but a first-time start-up fee to enroll new members.

Nurse's ingenuity solves mystery

By CLIFF EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — For weeks, Jane Doe lay comatose in a hospital bed after being hit by a truck. Doctors, police and the media fruitlessly tried to find out who she was.

But for one imaginative nurse, all it took to solve the mystery was a song.

On Tuesday, Loyola University Medical Center nurse Cheryl Wolfinger decided to try singing "The Nifty Fifties," a nursery rhyme that teaches the names of the 50 states. She got a reaction from the heavily sedated patient when Arizona came up.

Wolfinger began naming all the cities she knew in Arizona, and the woman, who has been drifting in and out of a coma since her June 28 accident, responded when Scottsdale was mentioned.

Then a doctor removed a breathing tube and got the victim to mouth a phone number, apparently of her former-in-laws.

By Wednesday, they had a name. "She's Peggy Scott," said Jerry Kaelin, a hospital chaplain who spoke to her for a few minutes each day.

The woman, who is in her mid-thirties, was hit by a semi while crossing a street after stepping off a bus. She suffered severe head and internal injuries and broke her left leg.

But police could not identify her. She wore no jewelry, carried no wallet and had no tattoos, scars or birthmarks. Her belongings consisted of an empty, crumpled pack of Marlboro cigarettes, a white book of matches and three pennies.

A fingerprint check came up blank. Dozens of phone calls from people seeking missing loved ones turned up no leads. People, some from neighboring states, who came to room 4811 at the hospital in suburban Maywood also left disappointed.

"This is unusual because her clothes and hygiene lead us to believe she wasn't homeless and she was young enough so that people would miss her," said Chicago Police Sgt. Bill Kaupert.

Kaelin said a cousin was heading to Chicago to make a positive identification.

The woman remains in critical but stable condition, and hospital officials believe her prognosis is good.

"This has really grabbed the staff," said Kaelin. "Here's somebody who was alone. She not only had the aloneness of a respiration machine and sedation, but no one seemed to care."

Study disputes claims that vitamins protect against colon cancer

By DANIEL G. HANEY
AP Science Writer

BOSTON — A new study of vitamins and cancer casts more doubt on the popular idea that extra doses of the supplements offer a shortcut to good health.

The researchers tested whether people who were at high risk of colon cancer could reduce it by taking so-called antioxidant vitamins, which have been widely touted as a way to prevent malignancy.

They tested 664 men and women who had already been treated for colorectal adenomas, the polyps that precede cancer. Among the 751 who completed follow-up tests, they found no sign that the vitamins — beta carotene and vitamins C and E — stopped the people from getting more of these colon growths.

"A great deal of money is being spent to market the concept that taking additional vitamins will stop cancer. This particular study does not suggest that," said one of the researchers, Dr. John A. Collier of the Lahey Clinic in Burlington, Mass.

The study was published in the New England Journal of Medicine. Last April, the same journal carried a study showing that vitamin E and beta carotene, which is the vegetable form of vitamin A, failed to protect smokers from lung cancer. In fact, that study reached the surprising conclusion that beta carotene was associated with an increased risk of cancer.

The vitamins seemed to be an especially promising way to attack colon cancer, although earlier, smaller studies produced conflicting results.

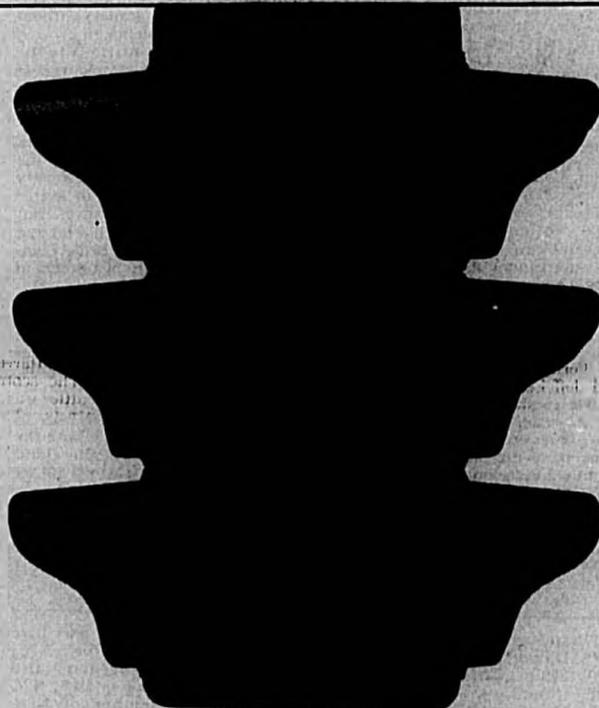

People who eat lots of fruits and vegetables are less likely to get this cancer.

O.J.'s defense on the attack

By LINDA DEUTSCH
AP Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES — O.J. Simpson thinks authorities aren't looking hard enough for the "real killer" — and he's putting up $500,000 to get the ball rolling.

Simpson, accused of murdering his ex-wife and her friend, is mounting his own investigation — complete with a claim that he was railroaded, his own squad of detectives, a nationwide toll-free number and the $500,000 reward.

"O.J. wants to confirm to the public that he is innocent of all charges in this matter and that he is most eager to get to trial to prove his innocence," his business attorney, LeRoy Taft, said Wednesday.

Taft said the reward is for information that would exonerate ate Simpson and convict "the real killer or killers."

Lead defense lawyer Robert Shapiro contended in court papers that authorities have ignored evidence pointing to Simpson's innocence.

The papers cite a series of obscene, threatening phone calls to Nicole Brown Simpson in 1992 that police determined were not made by Simpson. They also cite a report that police heard Simpson's 8-year-old daughter — who was asleep inside her mother's condo when the bodies were found outside — say, "I heard Mommy's best friend's voice and heard Mommy."

The reward bolsters the claim that police have botched the case, said Peter Arenella, a law professor at the University of California, Los Angeles.

FSU's Collins suspended

TALLAHASSEE — Florida State University basketball player James Collins has been suspended for two exhibition games because he played in a charity event this summer. The NCAA accepted the school's recommendation of a two-game suspension for the sophomore guard from Jacksonville. While all proceeds for the event went to charity, the two games constituted outside competition not allowed under NCAA rules. Collins will miss the exhibition contests with Athletics in Action on Nov. 11 and with the Croatian National Team a week later. But he will be eligible to play in all regular season games.

Duo shares Florida PGA lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS — Former champion Ron McCann of Ocoee and Jeff LEONARD of Tampa matched 8-under-par 64s to share the first round lead in the Florida PGA Open. McCann, the 1992 winner, birdied five of the first six holes, and Leonard had four birdies on each nine, both on the 6,680-yard Estate course at the PGA National Resort & Spa. David Canipe of Longwood trails by one stroke heading into the second round, with a 7-under-par 65 on the 6,726-yard Hatg course. Bill Butner of Gulfport is fourth at 68. Low on the 6,787-yard Champion course with 70s were Mel Callendar of Seminole, Greg Cerulli of Port St. Lucie, Jim Miller of Jacksonville and Victor Tortorici of Stuart. In the senior division for players 50 and older, 60-year-old Jim King of Pompano Beach ended the first round low with 66 on the Estate. Every one in the field of 330 plays each course once through Friday. After a 54-hole cut, the final round of the $55,000 tournament is scheduled Saturday on the Champion layout.

Marlins break losing skid

CINCINNATI — Gary Sheffield hit the first pinch-homer in Florida history, a two-run shot in the eighth inning that rallied the Marlins to an 8-7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Sheffield, out of the starting lineup to rest, bounced his franchise-record 21st homer off the top of the wall in center field to put the Marlins ahead 7-6 in the eighth. He also hit into a run-scoring forceout in the ninth to snap the Marlins' five-game losing streak. Bob Natal opened the eighth with a single off Jeff Brantley and Sheffield hit the third pitch for his seventh homer this season against the Reds. It was the first homer by a Marlins pinch-hitter in 333 at-bats and moved Sheffield ahead of Orestes Destrade for the Florida season mark.

O'Cubs split

In the opener, Orlando scored five runs in the second inning, highlighted by Kieschnick's homer, and scored three in the seventh inning. Tim's Team, Young Guns tied in Power V-ball

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The deadlock continues. Tim's Team looked like it might be on the verge of losing its share of the lead in the Sanford Recreation Department Summer Co-Ed Power Volleyball League with the Young Guns when it was upset by the Bad Apples in its first match of the evening at the Sanford Middle School Gymnasium Wednesday night.

The Bad Apples prevailed in the match with Tim's Team by the scores of 15-13, 9-15 and 15-12, while the Young Guns were easily handling the Unknowns in two games, 15-9, 15-3.

But Tim's Team refused to let that setback bother it as it came back to bounce the Unknowns in two straight games by identical 15-8 scores, then knocked off the Young Guns in three tough games, 15-13, 10-15, 15-13, to preserve the tie after four weeks in the 10-week season.

The Bad Apples nearly pulled off another upset as they took the Young Guns to extra points in the third game of their match before falling. The scores, in favor of the Young Guns, were 15-12, 12-15, 16-14.

The other match of the night found the Bad Apples edging the Unknowns in three games, 15-12, 15-17 and 15-8.

The Bad Apples, Tim's Team and the Young Guns all finished the night with 2-1 records, while the Unknowns went winless despite a good performance.

The standings have Tim's Team and the Young Guns tied with 9-3 records, while the Bad Apples have evened their season mark at 8-8. The Unknowns are still looking for that elusive first victory.

The league plays every Wednesday night at the Sanford Middle School Gymnasium located behind the school off 18th street. Action starts at 6:30 p.m. and is usually over by 9 p.m. There is no admission charge and fans are encouraged to attend.

White Sox rumble to another easy victory

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It has been a perfect year for the White Sox teams sponsored by Nobles Construction.

Following the lead of their 'little brothers' in going 16-0 in capturing the city championship in the Babe Ruth Baseball League, the 16-18 year old squad turned in its best performance to date to run its record to 4-0 in the initial season of the Sanford Recreation Department Senior Baseball League.

Wednesday evening at Zinn Beck Field, nine of the 10 batters in the White Sox' line-up had a hit and all 10 players scored a run as the Sox clobbered the Metro Sewer Red Sox 19-2 in just three innings. Even the batter who did not have a hit for the White Sox still had a perfect day as he walked three times.

The other team played Wednesday, the Club's Painting Good News Gang, scored three runs in the fifth inning and held off the Aviation Blade Services Marlins, 4-3, at Sanford Memorial Stadium to move into second place.

The White Sox (4-0) hold a full two-game lead over the Royals who improved to 2-2 on the season. The Marlins and Red Sox are both 1-3.

In a departure from the normal schedule, the next action for the senior's will be this Friday (July 22). At Zinn Beck Field, the White Sox will take on the Royals and inside Sanford Memorial Stadium, the Marlins will play the Red Sox. Both games are set for a 6:45 p.m. start.

The White Sox, who hold a 49-13 scoring edge, took control quickly as all 10 batters scored in the first inning before the Red Sox could record an out. All told, the White Sox sent 15 batters to the plate and scored 12 runs on 10 hits.

Contributing to the White Sox' 16 hit attack were Cedric Williams (3-for-3, triple, three runs, four RBI), Marcus Johnson (2-for-2, two doubles, three runs, two RBI).

Pacing the Red Sox were Greg Stafford (double, two RBI), Cliff Branch and Mike Hawkins (both 1-for-1) and Donnie Harrison and Albert Harris (one run each).

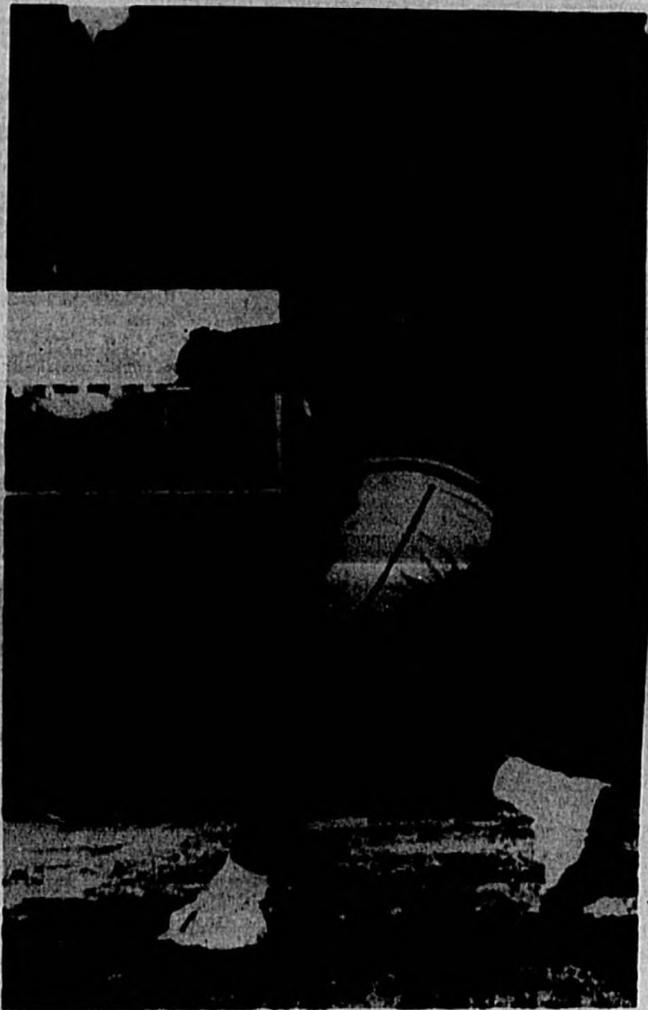

The score in the Royals-Marlins battle was 0-0 through three innings. The Royals broke the drought on an RBI single by Jeremiah Cline in the top of the first inning, then pushed the lead to 4-0 in the fifth inning on a two-run single by Cline and an RBI single by David Yrretagoyena.

The Marlins came back with single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings. In the seventh, Chris Denman led off with a walk and stole second and third before scoring on an error on the catcher as Anton Grooms reached base.

Grooms got to second but was out in a run down. Fred Badke walked and got to third on a wild pitch, but remained there as the final two outs were recorded to end the game.

Doing the damage for the Royals were Cline (2-for-4, three RBI), Yrretagoyena (2-for-3, RBI), Jason Compton (1-for-2, run), Tommy West (1-for-3), Kai Goodwin (two runs) and Brad Brunley (run).

Bomber battle headlines New Smyrna action

By PAUL SANSULA
 Special to the Herald

SANSULA — Melbourne's Gary Frosh held off a double charge by Bobby Stevens and Chuck Vola to win the Bomber headliner Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Frosh, who drives the Tropic Machine/M & L Auto Repair Chevrolet Chevelle, took the lead on lap six and for the remainder of the race had a rear view mirror full of Stevens and Vola.

"Man they really raced me hard tonight," said the 41-year old Frosh, who has been racing for about a year and a half. "I have to tell you something about this car. It took us about seven weeks of hard work to get it race ready. Now every week it keeps getting better and better."

Frosh, who picked up his 14th feature win of the season, has an ongoing battle with Stevens for top two finishes. Stevens has 11 feature wins and eight seconds, while Frosh has nine second place finishes to go with his 14 wins.

"If Bobby (Stevens) didn't have to race Chuck (Vola) for second we would have had a real shoot-out on our hands," said Frosh. "A few months ago I only had to worry about Bobby. Our class has gotten so competitive now that on any given night 50-percent of the cars are

Rogers pushes win streak to 12 at VCS

By BILL SIEBERT
Special to the Herald

BARBERVILLE - David Rogers was perfect through 10 NASCAR Winston Racing Series events going into last weekend, the only competitor in the Eastern Seaboard Region undefeated through the 1994 season.

Saturday night kept Rogers on track for that perfect record as the 1991 NASCAR Winston Racing Series Sunbelt Region champion won twice to increase his streak to a dozen, putting him over halfway to claiming more than $31,000 for the regional crown and a good shot at the $100,000 national title.

Rogers, from Orlando, ran to the front of the pack at the end of both of the Twin-20's, a pair of 20-lap features for the Late Models on the half-mile asphalt oval at Volusia County Speedway. He is now just eight races short of winning his way to a perfect WRS season.

Rogers led Guy Thomas, Ronnie Roach,

Class of 1984 reunites

Seminole grads gather to reacquaint, reminisce

By SUE BIGNONI-MONR
Special to the Herald

Seminole High School Class of 1984 held their 10-year reunion July 15-17. Everyone polled said what a tremendous success it was. It was as close to a family as a reunion could ever get.

The reunion started Friday night at the Sheraton Hotel in Maitland. The former students all met in the Azalea Room, which was decorated in orange and black. The dance music consisted of hits from the '80s and hors d'oeuvres were served throughout the night. Approximately 200 people attended Friday night.

Saturday night was in the ballroom and was a semiformal affair. The hall was decorated in orange and black and there were photographs from the class's high school years all around the room. Each student was given a memory book that informed them of what their fellow students were doing. At each place setting were champagne glasses with "SHS 84-94" written on them as well as matchbooks. The students and their dates were treated to a full course meal. After dinner there was an awards presentation. The following awards were given out:

- Most children: Three-way tie between Karen Flake, Kim Claxton-Polk and Jeanette Lawson-Maxwell
- Longest married: Kim Claxton-Polk, 11 years
- Shortest married: Tim and Bridget Dycus, 1 week
- High school sweethearts now married: David Linton and Judy Andrews
- Highest completed education: Lila Baker-Jaber, attorney

Teens offended by parents' yearbook comments

DEAR READERS: "Savannah Parents" wrote to express their disapproval of the X-rated remarks their son's classmates had written in his yearbook, citing wisecracks and offensive comments. I received a variety of reader reactions:

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Savannah Parents," who disapproved of the X-rated comments written in their son's yearbook:

I am a junior in high school and have bought a yearbook each year. I, too, have had classmates write X-rated stuff in my yearbook, but it was meant for my eyes — not my parents'.

What's done has been done, but in the future, I'd let my parents see my yearbook first, then have my classmates sign it.

KEATHEE CARNES, GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: I recently graduated from eighth grade, and I can understand how these parents might not have appreciated some of the comments written in their child's yearbook, but the book belongs to their child — not to them. Maybe he wanted to remember his friends the way they were. Perhaps that would include some off-color jokes, but the signatures and comments should be private memories. The parents said the comments ruined the whole yearbook. Well, the comments were not meant for them.

TALIA SPOTEN
DEAR ABBY: I just got done reading the letter signed "Savannah Parents." They said their son's yearbook was ruined by some off-color language.

A few years ago, there was one particular student who wrote the rudest and grossest comments — covering two whole pages in my yearbook. When my parents

What you call "cursing" wisecracks and off-color jokes are inside jokes and inside teen-age stuff. I am 15 years old, and when I have kids, I'm not going to look in their yearbooks!

MIDDLE SCHOOLER IN VIRGINIA

DEAR ABBY: I have a question for "Savannah Parents," who were ticked off at the X-rated comments written in their son's yearbook: Parents, what were you doing looking in your son's yearbook in the first place?

As a teen-age girl, I find it absolutely aggravating that my parents "just have to" look through my yearbook.

If my friends feel like writing X-rated comments in my yearbook, then that's what they'll do! High school is the time for these things ... what should be in your son's

Treating attention deficit disorder

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 8-1/2-year-old grandson has symptoms indicating attention deficit disorder. His doctor has him on Ritalin. Is this appropriate therapy? What negative effects might he suffer if he remains on this drug for a number of years?

their Ritalin to eager colleagues who want a "party drug." Also, I'm concerned that there is no scientific method to diagnose ADD. Some patients are convinced they have the disorder, merely because they say they have it.

DEAR READER: Attention deficit disorder is claimed, by some authorities, to be an undiagnosed epidemic in the United States today. The cause is unknown.

Finally, I am dismayed by estimates that up to 10 percent of school children have ADD, and I worry about the long-term consequences -- largely unknown -- of Ritalin therapy in such a large group of youngsters.

The syndrome consists of inattention, impulsive behavior and difficulty learning that may or may not be associated with hyperactivity. Children with the disorder may manifest jitteriness, easy distractibility, difficulty taking turns, a tendency to shift from one uncompleted task to another, excessive talking, difficulty playing quietly, a pattern of interrupting others, a reluctance to listen to instructions, and problems sustaining attention in work and play.

There is no test for ADD; rather, the diagnosis is made by the child's behavior and attitude. ADD usually persists into adulthood and, in fact, may not be diagnosed until a person is past his or her teens.

Treatment with stimulant drugs, such as Ritalin, is often successful but may be associated with side effects, such as insomnia, depression, headache, loss of appetite, reduction of growth, and elevated blood pressure. Ritalin may be dangerous and can be readily abused, especially when "snorted" as an "upper."

In my experience as a school physician, I believe that ADD is over-diagnosed and over-treated. Unfortunately, some parents, who have unrealistically high expectations about their children's academic potentials, are inclined to latch onto Ritalin therapy and insist that their youngsters receive it. In turn, the children will sell some of

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

What does the word "punch" mean to you? To a pugilist it is a means to an end: the end of his opponent's resistance. (Why do so many people inflict physical pain on others, human or animal?) An Englishman might think of the humorous Punch magazine, sadly now deceased. One of its former editors, Malcolm Muggeridge, defended his tenure by writing: "Good taste and humor are a contradiction in terms, like a chaste whore." But to a bridge player "punch" is forcing declarer to ruff and, hopefully, to lose trump control -- as in today's deal.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Friday, July 23, 1994

In the year ahead, several important objectives will be achievable, provided you don't take matters for granted. Even if something is handed to you, there could still be lots of work required.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If your financial affairs appear to be complex and jumbled at present, look around you. Someone with whom you're closely involved might be a contributor. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today you might rely more heavily on your feelings and intuition than on your logic and practicality. What you perceive intuitively could be erroneous, so move carefully.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might not be moderate, disciplined or prudent today in your social involvements. Guard against overindulgence or displays of behavior that could raise eyebrows.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be very careful you don't do anything that could reflect unfavorably on your honor or reputation. Today's blemishes could be difficult to remove.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't try to defend positions today that are not defensible. You could have everything to lose and nothing to gain by taking a futile stand.
