Criminal justice for all?

County's law enforcement problems mirror nation's

By NICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

How likely are you to be a victim of crime? The American Bar Association (ABA) Division of Public Affairs has just released a new report on crime across the nation, entitled, The American Criminal Justice System. The document poses 17 questions and attempts to answer them on the national level.

Related Editorial, Page 4A

Several questions however, pose interesting responses. To compare national information with local information, the Sanford Herald questioned Chief Deputy Sheriff Steve Harriett who is also the former Sanford police chief. Harriett based some of his responses on his 23 years in law enforcement.

The following questions were asked:

QUESTION - Is the crime rate in America increasing?

● ABA - No. Every report indicates that crime is decreasing. The Bureau of Justice statistics announced in September, 1996 that the number of violent crimes fell more than nine percent in 1996, dropping from 10.9 million in 1994 to 9.9 million in 1996. FBI statistics also show that the crime rate per 100,000 persons dropped by four percent from 1994 to 1996, with the rates for murder, forcible rape and robbery showing the SANFORD - Richard Hittel was unaware that he would be driving in a replica Winston Cup race car for his birthday.

Actually, Hittel's birthday was February 16, the opening day of the Daytona 500, but his racing experience occurred March 15. But anytime on a race track would be good for Hittel. "I can eat, sleep and breathe racing," the Sanford resident said. For his 50th birthday, Hittel was treated by his wife, Wanda, his daughters, Paula and Tammy and his bosses at Enterprise Management in Altamonte Springs, Tom Wallen and Paul Gaborny, to a drive around the track at Sanford Mayor Larry Dale as good ole boy, choir boy and attired boy.

His honor opts to suit himself

In the 3 1/2 months he has been mayor of Sanford, the honorable Larry Dale has made roughly 5,999 appearances.

He has exhausted a bevy of Sanford Herald photographers trying to capture his every move for posterity.

On one occasion - perhaps two - the mayor has worn a coat and tie.

The mayor tells us that he has been dressed down by some who do not like his choice of clothes.

"I'm not a coat and tie type," he says. "I'm in the construction business...that's how I earn a living for my family. This job doesn't relate to fancy dressing. I'm a hands on guy. I'm in mud and dirt much of the day."

Dale says he doesn't feel the need to dress up to give an employee-of-the-month award or when he takes off from his construction job to do informal mayoral chores.

Wednesday, he was sartorially splendid for an appearance at a fashion show by the Sanford Women's Club.

The mayor reminds us he was gaily dressed as a Charles Dickens character in the city's Christmas Parade.

Try topping that, Rudolph Giuliani.

Hear the ancient tribal rhythms

By SHARI BROOKS
Herald Staff Writer

Listen for the sounds of animals, wind swirling, water running, the spirits speaking to the soul through instruments such as drums, clappers, rattles, flutes, steel drums, guitars and the didgeridoo. This is "Ancient Tribal Rhythms."

Coming to L&L Acres Ranch in Lake Mary, Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4, "Ancient Tribal Rhythms" is a multi-cultural music and art festival, a unique opportunity to "interact and celebrate with our indigenous cultures."

Musicians, dancers, singers, crafts, demonstrators and food vendors have all been chosen to represent the cultures of Africa, Latin America, Australia, South America, Asia, the Caribbean and Native America.

SANFORD - Too many car crashes have prompted the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to recommend changes at the intersection at 25th Street and Laurel Avenue, east of U.S. Highway 17-92 (French Avenue).

The FDOT reportedly became involved at the request of Seminole County Traffic Engineering, following 10 collisions at that intersection during the 11 month period ending Oct. 29, 1996.

Being proposed is a concrete traffic separator on 25th Street starting at French Avenue, toward the east to a point 125 feet east of Laurel Avenue. It will force motorists both north and south bound on Laurel to turn right only.

Likewise, westbound traffic on 25th Street would be unable to turn left onto Laurel, the street which

Here's the plan for county's community meetings: You count

By RAGE WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - In a perfect scenario, citizens of Seminole County will soon begin looking outward in the same direction - eager to contribute to a plan and call to action.

"The key," says County Commissioner Grant Maloy, "is not being overwhelmed or intimidated, but to focus on what's most important in our own lives and in those of our neighbors."

"Is your concern about roads?" Maloy asked. "Schools? Libraries? Ambulance service? Trash removal? Is the quality of life in this county the best it can be? What's it going to be like in five years? Twenty years?"

It frustrates Maloy that people remain oblivious - or too busy - to help draw up the plan for Seminole County's future. The last comprehensive plan, drawn six years ago, needs to be updated and expanded this summer.

Much has changed here since 1991: ● Population has grown from 301,965 to 344,750.

● Employment has increased from 125,792 to 162,179.

● More than 12,500 houses and 4,800 apartments have been built.

● There's been an accelerated growth of 45-64 year-olds, less growth of 25-44 year-olds.

● There's increased criticism leveled at government planners by citizens demanding value for their dollar.

Yet how many of these angry citizens will show up in the next few months at 18 planning meetings held at six different sites? County Commissioner Win Adams shrugged his shoulders Friday, saying, "We'll be lucky to get a five-percent response."

To make the county plan work, it'll take more than that, said Francis Chandler, the county planning director.

"We've sent notification to all the homeowners and condominium associations, to property man-

Citizens protest sewer connections too late

By David G. Walker
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - About a dozen local residents turned out for the regular Longwood City Commission meeting, Monday, April 21 to voice concerns about the city's implementation of state-mandated sewer connections.

The commission adopted an ordinance on April 7 that requires residents to hook up to city sewer lines within 18 months of notification that such lines are available. Residents will be required to pay between $1,000 and $4,000 to connect. The ordinance states that the amount of that residents take to make sewer connection, with those connecting sooner paying the lower fee. The ordinance was passed in response to a Florida statute which requires even those with functional septic tanks to connect to sewer lines once they become available.

Other residents spoke out against an ordinance which would repeal a moratorium on billboards within city limits. The ban has been in effect for eight years. Moratoriums of an excessive length of time are subject to challenge in court, and there was speculation on the part of City Attorney Richard Taylor that eight years might be construed by some as excessive. Outdoor advertising companies, and some local business owners would like to see the ban lifted.

The city has been working on a comprehensive land development code for the past year, a section of which deals with billboard placement. While some members of the commission were in favor of implementing that section immediately, Mayor Bill Winston argued that there were still bugs to be worked out and that it would be unwise to rush ahead without being sure of the possible consequences. After some discussion, the commission tabled the issue until May 19 to allow time to finish reviewing the new land development code. The May 19 meeting will be held at the hearing on the matter.

An ordinance clarifying residents' responsibilities in regard to maintenance of sewer lines on their property was also passed. The ordinance was adopted in response to repeated complaints by Richard Harris, who claims his home was flooded with sewage due to blockage of sewer lines on city property. Harris feels the city is responsible for the damage to his home and has asked the commission to intervene on his behalf as the city's insurance carrier. Gallagher Bassett Services Inc., has denied the claim. Senior Claim Representative Ivan Encarnacion stated in a letter to Harris that the city is not responsible for the damage because, "the blockage occurred in the lateral on your neighbor's (Wayne Bott's) property."

The new ordinance states that residents are responsible for maintaining all plumbing on their property and all pipe leading and connecting to city sewer lines. Harris expressed his dissatisfaction with the wording of the new ordinance, stating that it was still too vague.

The commission also passed an ordinance which sets forth city policy on future street paving, including related sewer, drainage, sidewalk and driveway issues. The new ordinance changes the way streets are chosen for paving. Up until now, residents on dirt streets had to petition the city for paving. The new regulation states that the city will decide which streets are paved, based on the city's long term growth plans. Residents of streets being paved will share the cost of paving, drainage and sidewalks among themselves. The city will pay the cost of installing the main sewer line. If a majority of homeowners on the street wish to avoid having their street paved, they may petition the city to exempt them. The commission, however, is under no obligation to honor the request.

The commission also:

- accepted an agreement between the city and the International Union of Operating Engineers
- accepted an agreement between the city and the Central Florida Police Benevolent Association
- accepted an agreement between the city and the Longwood Professional Firefighters Association
- approved the non-union step pay plan
- scheduled a public hearing for May 5 to discuss amending the Compassionate Leave bank rules
- scheduled a public hearing for May 5 regarding the reorganization of various city departments

The next meeting of the commission will be a community affairs meeting on Monday, April 28 at 7 p.m.

So much going on this weekend

Today is So
NICK PFERFAUF
Staff Writer

Looking over today in history for this Saturday and Sunday, there are many events being observed across the nation and in various parts of the world. To report on all of them would require more page space than allowed. Therefore, let's just look at some of the bigger events.

A disaster occurred eleven years ago which people still talk about. On April 26, 1968, an explosion occurred at the Charaboy atomic power station at Piquette, in the Ukraine. The fire burned for days sending radioactive material into the atmosphere. Over 100,000 people were evacuated in a 300-square-mile area around the power station. It was three months before a death toll of 31 was reported. Thousands were exposed to dangerous levels of radiation, and an estimated 1,000 cancer cases in nations downwind of the disaster were reported.

Saturday, April 26 is Confederate Memorial Day, but only in two states, Florida and Georgia.

One of the first naval actions of the Spanish-American war was reported on April 27, 1898 when U.S. Naval forces bombarded the Cuban village of Matanzas. While they say it was a brutal bombardment, only one death was reported: a mule.

"Remember the Matanzas Mule" became a slogan of the war, similar to the way other slogans, "Remember the Alamo" was used in 1836.

Federal troops attacked Montgomery Ward on April 26, 1944. Troops raided the main office in Chicago after the company refused to obey President Roosevelt's order to recognize a CIO union after the union had won an election. Chairman Sewell Avery was physically removed from his office.

Saturday they're having a boat race in Carbondale, Ill. Boats, made of cardboard, will be competing for the coveted "Titanic Award."

Sunday is Orthodox Easter Sunday.

And the only national observance for this coming week I can find in my resource material is that April 27 through May 3 is National Lingerie Week.

In historic birthdays, Hiram Lyman Grant was born on April 27, 1822. He listed the name Hiram, used his middle name, and in order to connect himself with the United States, used the middle initial of "S" to become U.S. Grant, civil war general and eventually the 18th president.

John James Audubon was born on April 26, 1785. Next day Rudolf Hess was born April 26, 1894; historian and author Edward Gibbon (History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire) was born on April 27, 1737; animator Walter Lantz was born April 27, 1900; Samuel Finley Breese Morse (Morse Code) was born April 27, 1791.

In this weekend's birthdays, Saturday, Carol Burnett turns 61; singer Bobby Rydell is 66. Sunday, singer Shenna Easton turns 36 and Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., turns 70.

Local stars shine at Epcot music fest

By Debra Gorman
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Local fourth and fifth graders from Pine Crest Elementary were recently thrilled and ecstatic to receive the honor of performing at Epcot.

Amid the celebration of the 4th Annual Epcot International Flower and Garden Festival the youth excitedly sang and spoke in sign language.

The song festival was a part of Epcot's Elementary Music Showcase with programs Tuesday through Sunday. More than 100 elementary school musical groups will be featured this year.

The performances took place at the Showcase Plaza just a few hundred steps from Epcot's large Spaceship Earth.

Under the direction of Michelle Morrison and assistant Amy Copeland, the Pine Crest students thrilled the crowds which gathered to hear the melodies and tunes.

Many eyes filled with tears as the children gave a moving performance.

The Panther Performers is comprised of 103 students of various races and backgrounds.

The Panther Performers sang recently for cheering audiences at Epcot Center recently.

Songs such as "Together... We're Not That Different..." complete with puzzle pieces held by various students and fit together by the end of the song spelling the title. "Only World We've Got" and "Change the World" signed by the performers, made cheers and whistles fill the audience.

Two directors and 20 chaperones accompanied the group to a holding area before and after the performances. They were then allowed to visit the theme park and enjoy an afternoon of fun, games, sounds and fun for their hard work.

The group will also perform at Hamilton Elementary in the future and have performed in the past at the Longwood Nursing Home and at the School Board's Educational Support Center for a "standing room only" crowd.

Students commented with statements like, "It was so cool to sing there," "Wow, we were sang at Epcot," "It was the greatest performance ever," and "I want to sing at Disney now."

Richard Petty's Racing Experience at the Walt Disney World Speedway.
"It was the experience of a lifetime," Hittel said. Hittel said that the attendants at the speedway were very helpful and courteous. His instructor took the lead as they drove around the track at a leisurely 121.5 miles per hour. The fastest that is allowable for the experience is 125 miles per hour. The cost of this -- as Hittel put it -- too short trip is $100.
Ironically, the experience for Hittel was a dream come true and it happened at the Magic Kingdom. Hittel, who wanted to meet "The King" Richard Petty, was satisfied that he could actually drive a race car for three laps. "I would have rather gone 30 or 40 laps," Hittel said. "I would never get tired of it." Hittel has been a fan of racing since he was 14 and he and his father would watch Junior Johnson and Richard Petty tear up the pavement.
Hittel says that Wanda jokes that instead of being a "football widow" she is a "racing widow". It's not hard to find Hittel when he is out. With those sunglasses and the cowboy hat and don't forget the mustache, he bears a striking resemblance to the late, great, legendary race car driver, Dale Earnhardt.

Jane Doe arrested

Altamonte Springs police arrested two females Thursday as the result of a traffic stop in Altamonte Springs. According to the arrest reports, the two reportedly refused to give officers any identification or information. The 1990 Nissan pickup truck they were driving was found to have been stolen in Polk County on April 14. Each was arrested and booked as Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2, and charged with obstruction by a disguised person and grand theft auto.

Drug arrest

Stanley D. Franklin, 33, 2321 Sipes Avenue, Midway, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Wednesday. Officers said they saw him walking near Right Way and SR-48, and stopped to question him. A subsequent search revealed drug related items in his possession. Franklin was arrested on charges of possession of over 20 grams of cannabis, and possession with intent to distribute within 1,000 feet of a school (Midway Elementary School).

Youth arrested

Andrew S. Lingard, 17, of 9 Castle Brewer Court, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday as the result of a traffic stop. Officers said after he stopped, he attempted to flee on foot. Following a chase, he was eventually apprehended at 10th Street and Mulberry Avenue, and charged with resisting an officer without violence and driving with a suspended license. He was also found to be wanted on two warrants, for failing to appear on charges of possession of cocaine, and grand theft.

HRS statistics, included with the arrest report, indicated that Lingard had been arrested 22 times for various crimes, between May 8, 1992 and Aug. 7, 1996.

He was taken to the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center pending a further investigation.

Retail theft

Santiago Mateo Jr., 31, of Orlando, was arrested by Sanford police at the Seminole Towne Center Thursday. Officers said he took several items, with a total estimated value of over $300, from a store without attempting to pay. He was charged with retail theft.

Recovered vehicles

● A 1993 Dodge, reported stolen in Orlando, was located by Sanford police Thursday in the parking lot of Bridgewater Apartments, 500 W. Airport Blvd.

● A 1991 Ford, reported stolen from a Geneva resident, was located by Sanford police Thursday in the parking lot of Seapointe Apartments in Sanford.

Open Your Heart and Home To Pet From Animal Shelter

DEAR ABBY: This year the Pet Adoption '97 — that life-saving spring weekend when animal organizations join together to find a home for each and every pet in shelters throughout the world — will take place May 3 and 4. Once again, North Shore Animal League and the Iams Co. are sponsoring this international event in shelters and humane societies throughout the United States, Canada, England and South Africa.

All participating shelters and North Shore Animal League's most famous adoptees — Smokey and her kittens — (see this urgent plea to animal lovers everywhere: Visit your local Adoption shelter on May 3 or 4, and adopt a loving dog, cat, puppy or kitten. You'll receive a free home starter kit, which includes pet food as well as literature on responsible pet ownership. But best of all, you'll get a lifetime of companionship and unconditional love from a cute and cuddly furry friend.

For the name of a shelter near you, call the Adoption hotline: 1-800-888-4387, Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. EDT. You can also visit us at www.iamsonline.com.

NORTH SHORE
ANIMAL LEAGUE,
PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y.

DEAR MIKE: The Pet Adoption is a worthy program, but I must issue a word of caution: Beware! Before you rush out to adopt that adorable little pet who is guaranteed to give you boundless love, please take a moment to be sure you are ready to make a commitment that will last for many years.

Pets are wonderful, but they require proper care and attention, and many require training to be the pleasurable companions you may be seeking. If you are ready for this responsibility, get to the shelter early and select the pet who was born to be loved by you!

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and happily married to a 35-year-old man who has had a previous

ADVISE
I have been married for two years and we are completely happy with each other. However, the problem is I want a child of my own and he does not.

When we were dating, we often discussed it, and he would say that he has two and that's all he needs, although he might consider more in the future. Well, Abby, it's the future now, and I am ready to take on the responsibility of a child. Now he tells me that he wants to get himself "fixed" because he has decided not to have more children. I don't think it's fair to me, being young and healthy and wanting to have at least one child of my own.

I love him dearly, but this has put a big damper on our marriage, and I am not sure how to handle this. Please help.

UNSURE IN FLORIDA
DEAR UNSURE: Consider this: A man who says he wants no more children and is considering getting himself "fixed" to ensure that he will have no more in a year, certainly has the foresight. True, he did promise to consider it, but it is obvious that he wants no more children. I recommend counseling for both of you. If he refuses to get counseling — go without him.

● QUESTION — In their racial bias in the criminal justice system?
● ABA — According to a 1994 report from the ABA's Criminal Justice section, minorities who are arrested are imprisoned more than non-minority arrestees, and comprise more than half of the state prison population (on a nationwide average). The latest statistics reveal that African Americans are arrested and incarcerated for drug use at a much higher rate than can be accounted for by their rate of drug use. On any given day, an estimated one in three young African American men between the ages of 20 and 29 is in prison, on probation or on parole.

● HARRIETT — I can't say the statistics nationwide are wrong. For us in Seminole County, we arrest people because they commit crimes.
● QUESTION — What has been the impact of "three strikes" laws on crime and the criminal justice system?
● ABA — The impact is unclear. The only research is from California, because that is the only state that is making frequent use of the law. In the 23 states and the federal government where the laws have been enacted, they are much narrower than in California, and in many cases, prosecutors have not extensively applied the three-strikes legislation.

● HARRIETT — We don't have that law. But if we had, and if it were followed consistently, I have no doubt it would absolutely have an impact on crime locally. Our figures show that (locally) only 10 percent of the people are committing 80 percent of the crimes, and as such, it is understandable that most of them are repeat violators. Across the nation, it is estimated that total justice expenditures were over $74 billion in 1990, with over three-quarters for police protection and corrections. Locally, city and county budgets clearly show that the largest amount of tax expenditures go for law enforcement.

● QUESTION — Which populations are most victimized by crime?
● ABA — Statistics by age groups show the largest number of victims of all crimes are between 16 and 19 years of age. Second, and not too far below the chart are persons age 12 to 15 years of age. The national rate, per 100,000 citizens, is 125.9 crimes for age 16-19 and 117.4 for persons age 12 to 15. The lowest numbers in violence is for persons 65 and over, at 5.1 persons per 100,000 population. For personal thefts however, the numbers for 65 and over were higher than for persons age 50 to 64.

Along racial lines, for all crimes, the numbers per 100,000 persons was 82 for whites, 65 for blacks, 53 for non-Hispanic, and 63 for Hispanic.
● HARRIETT — As far as we are concerned, crime is no respecter of gender, race or economic level. We have found one connection however. There is more violence, domestic related, when the people involved know each other. We have found that crime flourishes when a community is unable to maintain order. Let a community collapse and crime will begin to skyrocket.

● QUESTION — What impact do handguns have on America's crime problem?
● ABA — The U.S. has the most heavily armed citizenry in the world. It is estimated that some $23 million guns are available to the general public. It has also been estimated that 150 million rounds of ammunition are available.

Between 1995 and 1996, the age-adjusted rate of firearm homicides in the U.S. increased 56 percent. Among 15 to 19 year olds, firearm homicides increased 312 percent in the same period.

● HARRIETT — It is becoming more evident that more people are using weapons in the commission of crimes than I have seen in my 25 years of law enforcement service. I certainly believe handguns have more presence today. One of the main

Threatened by crime

In today's page-1 report on national crime statistics, the American Bar Association (ABA) is quoted as saying that one of the reasons crime appears to be growing is the increase in reporting. The ABA said network news coverage of murder stories has more than quadrupled from 1980 to 1986.

The same is true for local television stations as well as here in the pages of the Sanford Herald.

Just a brief background search in Sanford Herald newspapers 20 years ago shows how crime reporting has grown. On April 26, 1977, the Herald reported one motel robbery, a residential burglary in which $13,634 in cash and firearms had been stolen, and a grocery store burglary.

On April 27, 1977, there was a brief report on a check cashing fraud, $4,000 in art objects stolen in Longwood, and the theft of a "Duck Crossing" sign from Wekiva River Road.

There were no arrests reported except in major crime stories, and on these two days, there were none.

Today, our crime reports were unusually short. There were seven arrests reported and two stolen vehicles recovered. Normally, the crime reports show one or two dozen arrests for various crimes, as well as a number of incidents including robberies, burglaries and vehicle thefts.

Some people are constantly urging the Herald to stop this column. They say that we are only telling everyone what a crime-ridden community we have.

These people apparently are reverting back to the days of the early Roman and British Empire when it was customary to kill any messenger who brought bad news to the king. Rather than being concerned about stopping crime, they want us to stop our daily crime reports. But doing so will not solve the crime problems in our cities, county or state.

We have said this before, and will, no doubt, say it again. The need is to have stronger laws and stiffer sentences which can be supported, including the "three strikes you're out" rule. Law officers agree, if we can only eliminate those career criminals who break the law time after time after time, we will be eliminating a large percentage of our crime problem.

Sobering memory of a senior prom

While attending the Lake Mary City Commission meeting on April 17, I heard Mayor David Meaker read a proclamation regarding "From Promise Day." I've heard of such projects in the past, but this time, it set me thinking.

The promise was to be signed by as many Lake Mary High School seniors as possible. Included in the wording, it pledges, "So, whether or not I go to the prom, I promise not to use alcohol or other drugs. This is a promise I take seriously. It's one I intend to keep for my sake and the sake of my friends and family. I'm signing it. I mean it. I'm keeping it."

A great deal of water has passed under the St. Johns River bridge since I graduated from high school, but as most of us, I'll never forget that time in my life.

I graduated from a rural school in an agricultural community. There were only 52 in the class, 26 boys and 26 girls.

Approximately two weeks after our Senior Prom, it was graduation time. When we stepped up onto the stage in our school's gym to receive our diplomas, there were 26 boys, 25 girls, and two grieving parents.

NICK PAPPAS

struck a large tree. They said she was killed instantly.

There were also repercussions for the other students involved in the drinking session, but no need to go into that.

Louise was a good student, friendly, involved in the glee club and active in her church. No one expected she would leave us in that way, and at the age of only 17.

She apparently had one evening during which she made a bad choice. Did she take a drink on her own or did others persuade her? We'll never know.

My point is, that special events such as the prom, often make people really want to let loose and swing. So be it. Have a good time. But the need is for caution and clear thinking. There is a lot coming up in the future that you won't want to miss. Now is not the time to take a chance which could fail, and bring your life to a halt.

Whether or not you signed that "From Promise Day" pledge, play it cool. Avoid alcohol and drugs. Don't force any more grieving parents to accept a diploma posthumously.

Turning a difficult situation around

By now we have all heard about actor Christopher Reeves' near fatal horseback riding accident last year. Reeves played Superman in many movies and sequels. His accident left him both quadriplegic and a spokesman for the disabled. Mr. Reeves' accident has brought out some important issues.

The media focus on this gentleman and his tremendous ordeal so far, admirably so, has concentrated on Mr. Reeves turning a difficult situation around. Every day, disabled people are challenged by both life and all of it's problems and their condition. Still many of us find the inner strength to work, raise families and help our communities.

While Mr. Reeves' story is both miraculous and amazing, his story is one of many. Yet these stories never get told. Like most of us, they survive in anonymity. They might not have played Superman, but they truly are super men and women.

How does being born disabled differ from being disabled from an accident or serious illness? Surely both situations have points of interest. Being disabled from birth, you have no idea of what it's like not to be disabled.

This can be profoundly different from getting disabled later on through illness or an accident. Though once you had control of your body, now it does not do what you tell it to do. If we are lucky, we all experience this gradually through the normal aging process.

As we get older (especially for us over 40) we all move slower when we walk. Or while going to the eye doctor for our yearly visit, discover that the prescription on our glasses is stronger. Well, we can not even imagine any of these conditions happening to us all at once, many times more severe.

When interviewed recently on a TV talk show, Mr. Reeves explained that the lives of the disabled can be helped dramatically, simply by more money. Money that can go into research for many disabling conditions such as MS, Spinal Cord injuries and others. Money can also be used to help disabled people buy special equipment such as the air blowing device Mr. Reeves uses.

All of the items above are just points of interest. The differences, if you will, of the disabled as well as how public perceptions can and do change with a major emphasis on a disabled person like Mr. Reeves. It is a fact that visibility of the disabled is heightened because of cases like Mr. Reeves. Mr. Reeves has also given us encouragement on "Turning a Difficult Situation Around".

If you agree or disagree with anything in this "Special People" column, please let us know. Also, if you have a non-profit group or organization (related to the disabled), and have a fundraiser or special event coming up, let us know about it. Please include the name, address and phone number of the group or organization as well as the time, place and contact person for the event.

No homework? What a great idea!

Okay mom and dad, tell me what you think about these ideas? Ask your kids...give me some feedback! We'll pass it on to the School Board! I think we should do away with homework! Bah! Bah!, (sigh) 1,2,3,4, what are we for...NO HOMEWORK...YEAH! Who likes that word? Don't look at me, I didn't. No sir, not me, never did! Bad word, at least for your K through 12 students. The exception should be to earn special credits or for other reasons not directly related to the grading system. To be used to improve a grade on a voluntary basis by the student.

All of us would like to be able to leave work behind at 5 p.m. and spend the evening with our families. Many of us haven't been able to, and we don't like it. In the meantime, we're all preaching family values. I think that homework and the number of hours spent in school just doesn't make sense.

Many of your school board members ran on a strong family value platform. Well, why do they continue these ridiculous school policies that are DIRECTLY in opposition to that concept? To be honest, I don't think that it has been brought to their attention, in this manner, and I feel strongly that now that the matter is being proposed that we'll find support. How many of you have thought about this contradiction?

My suggestion to the school system, and employers, is that we adults have some heavy duty responsibilities at home as well as on the job and that both can reap the benefits by this proposal. They need to support this concept and so does the Florida Legislature. What does a student do when they leave school so early? Why are they going to school so early? Do you really think most of them really have a good breakfast, considering the time they must get up in order to catch a school bus? Do you think that perhaps this could be a problem for them in being able to learn?

We need to create the opportunity to have parents and children together part of the day. I'm suggesting that there should be changes made. If we do away with homework then teachers won't have to correct, or grade it in the evenings and they too can spend time with their families.

Now, in order to do this we have to change the length of time in school and we need to allow for various other school activities. All of which have been accomplished in the past and still can be. At present, children are getting up at various times, as early as 5 o'clock to get ready, or leave for school.

Think about this, Seminole County

Ernest Natton II is a veteran member of numerous government boards and is a civic activist in the interest of good government.

This needs to be changed, considering they leave to come home from school very early and generally one day a week around 1 o'clock. What do they do at home long before their parents, not even considering lack of supervision.

I would suggest that we do away with homework, extend the school day to 3:30, or later, and more in line with their parents working hours, that school start no sooner than 8 in the morning. I think the school year should be extended. I also believe that we ought to have a fairly uniform school vacation period throughout the nation to accommodate the many families that are now living in various parts of the country so that we also can spend more time with grandparents and other relatives during the summer months.

Now, let me tell you who is most likely to oppose these ideas. Anyone that supported all the multi-million dollar failures, in the past, dreamed up by people with a poor sense of humor. People who fly to California to see what has failed there and then use it here! The same kind of people that supported the POD system that has cost us untold millions. The same ones that allowed schools to fall apart, don't know what's going on, waste millions, then retire with big pensions that we have to pay for when, in fact, they should be paying us back. The same people who believe it is better to have more children in classes than better grades. The same people who can't come up with a good or original idea, concept, answer, whatever, and spend a ton of money on consultants. School Systems are in serious trouble all over this country. If there is a prayer in saving the public school system we better hurry folks. I think we've lost our way. We need to do some serious rethinking.

I don't want to pay taxes on building that our children are spending four hours in. Sorry, but if that's going to be the case, send me the vouchers.

I'm beginning to wonder why we need any of these people in public positions if they cannot resolve problems without asking somebody else to study the issue and tell them what to do!

In the meantime, more and more parents are sitting on the sidelines watching, whether it's a school or government issue, because they are fed up, nobody listens.

This is a very workable proposal. The truth is...it's now new. Somehow, we parents let the schools create this ridiculous situation we are now in. If we extend the time spent in school we can do away with homework. This kind of proposal will probably not be embraced by some school officials. The truth is it worked for many years and it needs to be addressed again with one major change...No Homework!

Dear School Board Members, Think about it! Let's start with no homework, extended time in school, and then go from there.

Come on, you know you hated homework and you got a lot of your answers the next day from friends, etc. You know that it wasn't homework that made you succeed. Sometimes you did your homework and sometimes you didn't. All of you very successful people out there help me! Speak up!

It's a bad idea that needs to go away. You know more time in school is better. Come on...confess! Yes indeed, the kids will be better prepared for college and homework when that time comes...ugh!

Punishing the children for sins of the fathers

Exodus Chapter 34, verse 7

"Yet He does not leave the guilty unpunished. He punishes the children and their children for the sins of the fathers to the third and fourth generation."

Is the U.S. Justice Department—notably one northern attorney by the name of Michael O'Connor—punishing Seminole County children because of the sins of their parents? Is this Old Testament mandate appropriate for today's society? When the Justice Department intervened in the way the Seminole County School Board provided educational opportunities for children in 1970 there were 83,883 citizens in Seminole County. There are now 329,031. Yet one man—Michael O'Connor—an attorney now assigned to the Clinton White House, still feels that some 246,000 of you newcomers should have your children and your children's children punished for the sins of a few misguided people a long time ago.

The consent decree so vehemently opposed at a recent school board meeting by several hundred vocal Wilson Elementary parents requires that some—not all—just some, schools have racial quotas. This quota must be achieved by whatever method it takes to achieve them—busing, superior educational opportunities, etc. To meet the numbers arti-cially created by Mr. O'Connor, some parents and children will pay a price. How?

Some parents will have no community connection with their children's schools because of where their children are told to attend school. In a time where parental involvement is sadly lacking in many homes, the U.S. Justice Department efforts in Seminole County would seem to be intent on destroying what ever is left—black or white.

Children will have fewer opportunities to develop social skills through long term before and after school interaction with classmates. The days of kids playing together all day are gone—now they will have 30 second sound bites, 30 minute friendships and 2 hour bus rides. Negative peer influence will increase.

Health, safety and welfare issues will abound. Who's child will die in a school bus accident while driving past a neighborhood school? Who's child will catch a communicable disease and suffer because a parent can't, or won't, travel across town to pick up their contagious child? Who's child will be kidnapped, raped and murdered because a parent was delayed in traffic and a predator saw a chance to abduct from the school ground?

Who's child will not receive an adequate education because money that could be spent on teachers will be spent on bus drivers and bus monitors? Who's child will fail to learn in one part of the county because resources are being spent to create "super-schools" in another part of the county? Who's child will not have the opportunity to use a computer because budget dollars are spent for school buses, tires, fuel and repairs? Who's child will drop out of school—becoming forever mired in endless cycles of poverty, drug and child abuse—because administrative costs skyrocket with the implementation of consent decree demands?

The issue is not black and white, Mr. O'Connor, or whoever your replacement is. It is about education—teaching all children so that they can achieve the American dream. It is about breaking society's walls down by allowing our children to achieve more than we could—or did. It is about capitalism—teaching our children to work to better their lives—not communism where only the government knows best.

It is my hope, Mr. Replacement U.S. Attorney, that you will see the mistakes that Mr. O'Connor made with his demands and be intelligent and compassionate enough to offer corrections that will allow the Seminole County School Board to concentrate on the education of children rather than to be forcibly required to participate in the continued destruction of family life and neighborhood values. Like other areas of the country, hold us to the task of teaching all children to the absolute utmost of their capability. Don't continue to play God and wreak Old Testament vengeance against our children for the sins of their fathers.

A wonderful dad and Police Department morale

We the daughters of Commander Doug Bishop of the Sanford Police Department, feel compelled to write this letter on his behalf. Our father has been with the Police Department for 28 years and is the senior person within the whole department. He has dedicated his life and love to his profession of law enforcement and the Sanford Police Department, and has achieved the rank of Commander by being honest, hard working, and committed to the department and the citizens of the city. He has also worked within each area of the department in a command level position.

We feel that he has been treated unfairly in the recent past, through the direction of Ralph Russell and Joe Dillard, each promoting less senior commanders to the position of Deputy Chief. When then Deputy Chief Joe Dillard was attending the FBI Academy, Commander Bishop was appointed as the acting Deputy Chief for that period of time. His duties while in that position consisted of adopting the Chief in managing all personnel within the department. While in this position, many officers commented on how smoothly the department was run and the morale was up. As soon as Dillard returned, the morale dropped back down.

It is really sad that three people, Ralph Russell, Joe Dillard and Dennis Whitmore, can drive an agency into the ground and cost the citizens of Sanford, endless dollars in law suits, investigations, consulting fees and attorney fees.

The City Commissioners, the Mayor and the City Manager are well aware of the problems by now and it's time to take action instead of just burying their heads in the sand to avoid problems.

It's time for the powers that be to wake up and take control of the problem before more people end up like Cpl. Sharon Shearer. In the last few weeks, we have noticed our father's health has been failing due largely to continuous stress imposed on him from the Administration. He's had numerous anxiety attacks and has been transported to the Emergency Room and the doctor by Rescue.

It is time for the City Commission to wake up and see the writing on the wall before any more of the good officers end up like Sharon.

Three issues in Cpl. Shearer's death

After reading M.L. Davidson's letter in last weekend's paper, I felt compelled to comment. Mr. Davidson covered quite a few issues in her letter, however, most of the statements made are irrelevant to the issues at hand. The issues are not how much, if any, kindness or compassion Renee Keith and/or her husband, Aaron Keith showed his mother. I would hope any family member would take care of an ailing loved one in time of need. The history of Roberta Keith's illness and living conditions are, as the writer said, family business. Further, the history of Ricky Shearer's military service, as well as, his disagreements with, and attempts to get elected to the City Commission are irrelevant.

As I see it there are three basic issues: (1) Sharon Shearer. The type of officer she was, the type of person she was, and what she did and why she did it; (2) whether or not Renee Keith committed a felony involving fraud with her mother-in-law's credit cards and how much her husband, Aaron Keith, knew about it; and (3) what Chief Joe Dillard did or didn't do regarding the two previous issues.

Let me say right off that my daughter was Sharon Shearer's stepdaughter. Yes, that makes me Ricky Shearer's former wife. But as I said before, none of this is about Ricky Shearer. It is about Sharon. For 15 years, Sharon was a major part of my daughter's life. Sharon and I were not extremely close, but I often said that if the circumstances were different, we probably would have been really good friends. Sharon, as I knew her, and as my daughter loved her, was a good person. I believe she played a significant role in my daughter's upbringing. She taught my daughter that right is right and wrong is wrong. She taught her that the law is to be respected and that police officers are good guys. She demanded that she be responsible for her actions, but by the same token, so you messed up, that help and forgiveness were also there. She gave to my daughter as she gave to her job. With commitment, true love, and the spirit that you should always do the right thing.

About three weeks after the news broke about what Sharon did, I saw her in the community finishing up a call. I pulled over behind her squad car and waited for her to finish. When I asked her how she was doing she said she was hanging in there, but admitted that it was very hard waiting to see what Chief Dillard's decision would be. We talked a bit about the facts and she told me that she understood that by giving her husband the report, she broke a rule. She told me that when she did it, she did not realize she broke a rule and that she understood why she would face discipline for this action. She accepted that and was ready for it, but she felt that it did not warrant her dismissal. She said she was willing to face suspension or demotion if that was the determination. We talked further about the facts of the case as they had been reported. She said to me, "they broke the law. It's not right that we arrest people for less than what they did, and not only did it go uninvestigated, but Aaron Keith continues to be a police officer and was even promoted." Sharon expressed to me how she felt this was bad for the department, and that Aaron Keith's mother had expressed concerns for her safety. She also told me that if she had to do it all over again, she would mail the papers herself, but that most definitely she would do it again.

I am proud to have known Sharon. I think every citizen of this community, however they view her death, should hope in their hearts that they can be one-half of the person, police officer, mother, stepmother, wife, daughter, sister, aunt, or friend that Sharon Shearer was to those of us lucky enough to know her.

As to the second issue, what Renee and Aaron Keith did or didn't do, this is something, as least as far as Renee Keith is concerned, that will be handled by the courts. But M.L. Davidson, as well as the Keiths need to remember that Sharon did not get to Aaron Keith's mother and talk her into pressing charges. It was only after Mrs. Keith did so, and nothing was done, that Sharon felt the need to be sure that the mother's complaint was adequately investigated. Hopefully, this is what all good police officers would do.

And, finally, the third issue—the actions of Chief Dillard. As a regular citizen, until this matter started hitting the newspaper, I did not know anything about it. I knew there was unrest in the police department, but as a third-generation Sanfordite, I thought it was nothing new. But I did not, as I know most citizens still don't, grasp the intensity and the level of the unrest. I sat in the CCU waiting room for five days during Sharon's illness and, ultimately, her death. I saw the continuous stream of uniformed officers, deputies, highway patrolmen, Sanford police office personnel, one city commissioner, and friends and family, and I heard the comments and felt the extreme emotion from all of these people.

I know that the outpouring of love and support greatly comforted her family and friends, and I am especially appreciative of the support from Sharon's comrades to my daughter, but the anger, bitterness, and feeling of betrayal that the Sanford police officers voiced among themselves was heartbreaking. I cannot imagine going to a job each day where, not only do you put your life on the line for citizens like Renee Keith and M.L. Davidson, but your own administration, the people who are supposed to encourage you and support you, leaves you feeling as if somehow the battle is not between the officers and the criminals, but between the officers and their own administration.

And the sentiment was 100% from each and every one of them. These were officers, corporals, sergeants, commanders, dispatchers, undercover agents, every single one of them. At this point, whether or not Chief Dillard was going to fire Sharon, which I know Sharon believed he would, is totally irrelevant and his damage control statements that he wasn't are now falling on deaf ears. It no longer matters. What matters is what he is going to do now. I would ask Chief Dillard to show my daughter that the stepmother she loved did not die in vain. I would ask him, for the moment, to rescind the promotion of Aaron Keith and to have a different department investigate just exactly what Aaron Keith did or did not know about the felonies of which his wife is accused. Next, I would ask that he stand up for the people who work for him. There were an awful lot of people who came through that waiting room that need a leader that they can respect, someone that they can feel really cares about the man or woman on the street, and who can finally lead Sanford out of the days of the "good old boy" network. If you cannot do that, perhaps someone else could.

And, finally, to officers Claudia Webber, Robin Bernosky, and Terry Murray, don't give up! You know Sharon never would. Be proud, be strong. Sharon told me, "they're not going to beat me" so don't let them beat you.

Thank you for continuing to set the good examples that Sharon showed my daughter, we both love you. And to all the wonderful police department personnel I met in these days, keep your heads up. The community needs you and we care about you.

All of her friends and family lost a dear loved one which is a tragedy. But this community lost an honest, hard-working, loyal, ethical dedicated police officer. How sad.

Sincerely, Gayle M. Loughlin

Kindness of people

There are still a lot of good people in Sanford. I'd like to relate a story I heard this week.

Gail Smith, a State Farm Insurance agent here in Sanford, told me that on Wednesday (4-23-87), she was driving around the streets of Sanford after the storm and observed a house on Farrest Drive that had a large tree fallen on it. Gail went up to the house to see if everyone inside was OK and found an elderly lady who was alone. Gail asked the woman who her insurance was with, at which time the lady told Gail "Allstate". Gail went back to her State Farm office and called the Allstate agent and got the ball rolling to get the tree removed and the house repaired.

This may sound like a small gesture, but it is exemplary of the fact that in a time of corrupt government, business and self-serving people, there are still individuals who are kind hearted. It is refreshing to see people like Gail Smith.

We need a pool

I am a parent of a Seminole High School student. I am very saddened by your recent editorial about Seminole High School getting a pool. You have presented many negative views. I would like to think that a person in your position would always want what is good for the people that support your paper. It would be a wonderful thing if the Sanford Herald would help find a way for the students and people of Sanford and Seminole High School to have a pool.

There are many good reasons for a pool; but one thing I am sure of is that if enough people work together in a positive way, the chances are very good that we can have a pool and not burden the citizens of Sanford.

Maybe you could come up with some ideas to help the students and people of the community, next time.

Sincerely yours,
Daniel S. Bishop

Trash paper money

Illegal drugs, robberies, fencing of stolen goods, prostitution, extortion, muggings, tax evasion, counterfeiting and many other activities like these are for the almighty dollar, bucks, legal tender, loot, untraceable riches.

Would it be possible to do away with paper money? Keep only the coins up through the Susan B for the small transactions that could not be made with checks, automatic fund transfers, cash direct cards, debit cards, credit cards or any system of transferring money by way of a computer record.

Even some of the fast food restaurants now accept plastic money. If that was the only kind of money they took in, there would be many young people still alive. A drug addict could not get a fix with credit card receipts.

If all toll road fees were paid by E-Pass there would be no money in the toll booths for thieves.

How many jobs would want a record made of their trysts with a call girl?

Would a drug dealer accept a credit card for drugs? I think not.

Would a fence write a check for stolen goods? Hardly.

The IRS could track any transaction for minor home repairs by jack leg contractors, yard maintenance work, yard sales, flea market sales, etc. that are now cash transactions.

It would not be very profitable for a counterfeiter to make coins.

Instead of using billions of our taxes for drug interdiction just do away with the paper money that is the underlying cause.

"No one should feel unimportant," Maloy said. "Even if you may not have an opinion that you want to voice, come to the first meetings and just listen to what's happening. Sometimes, people come up with ideas they didn't expect they had in them. Being there gets them involved. If nothing else, they come out more informed."

The first round of meetings (all begin at 7 p.m.) are on May 6 at Geneva Elementary School and May 8 at the American Automobile Association in Heathrow. These meetings come under the heading: The Community Speaks Out - Issues and priorities.

Chandler said that at least two county planners will attend each meeting, listening to input by citizens, answering questions and bringing back information that will be used in the second round of meetings that focus on finding solutions, innovations and partnerships.

Maloy suggested Friday that schoolboard officials, principals and teachers see to it that students are made aware of the county planning process. "They're the very reason for the plans we are making," he said.

Tribal

"With all the people that I've worked with, all the indigenous people, it's all the same," says festival organizer Jan Blue. "It's that 4/4 rhythm. It's that tribal beat. That's why we've called it 'Ancient Tribal Rhythms,' because it starts out with the most basic of all tribal instruments. That little sound, either the clapstick, or a rattle, or the drum, or the flute and then builds. So this representation of sound is going to start out with the most ancient of instruments, like the didgeridoo and flutes and things and move right up to modern day synthesizers and rock and roll music."

The dream of Chuluota-resident Blue, the festival is organized to raise funds to complete her educational film "Living in a Modern World."

Blue says when she decided to put the festival together, "all of a sudden all of these people started coming out of nowhere, people that I had never met, but they all had the same like minds."

Blue, her husband, Dan, and son, Ryan have traveled extensively in the past seven years, doing seminars and pow-wows. They have been working on a film for a year and a half. The focus of the film is to help teach children respect for themselves by using traditional values taught to Native American children.

"I was not involved in a lot of my native heritage," says Blue.

"When I was growing up my dad taught me about herbs." She became pregnant with her son after being married seven years. "My dad had died the year before and unfortunately we never got to meet my son. It was something that always really bothered me that my son would never know what his grandfather was or who he was, because I really wasn't involved with our people." Blue's people are Western Band Cherokee. Her full-blooded grandfather was born in Oklahoma, in the Cherokee strip, and her full-blooded father was born in North Carolina. Blue is half Cherokee and half French-German.

Headlining the music presentations at the festival will be "Cecil Road," from Titusville, Hawk Henries, an Algonquin flute maker and player, and Kim Keyser, who will perform her original composition, "Sacred River."

Complimenting the music will be art, featuring Dinoh (Navaho) artist Rex A. Begaye and foods such as yellow rice, corn, ahiah kabob, Native American tacos and fry bread.

This family-oriented event will include plenty of activities for the children, such as sand art, pottery, face painting and crafts demonstrations.

Admission to "Ancient Tribal Rhythms" is $7 for adults, $3 for children 7 and up, seniors and veterans. Children under 6 are free. Entry is available to the festival that runs 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. both days.

NEIGHBORHOOD IN ACTION MATCHING GRANT PROGRAM

Does your community need money for neighborhood improvements? Seminole County's Community Development Office in an effort to promote community activism and volunteerism is proud to announce the availability of matching grants up to $5000.00. Eligible organizations must be able to match any requested amounts and show that the proposed capital improvements will benefit low and moderate income individuals or neighborhoods. Applications will be accepted by the Seminole County Community Development Office May 12, 1997. Proposals must describe a collaborative project for the capital improvement of the community. If you want to request the procedures to apply or if you have any questions, please call Anthony Pelt, Senior Planner, Seminole County Community Development Office at (407) 321-1130 extension 7394.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING Seminole County, Florida VOLUSIA/SEMINOLE HOME CONSORTIUM (southern sector)

CITIZEN PARTICIPATION - CONSOLIDATED PLAN PROCESS

Seminole County is the recipient of federal grant funds through a number of programs administered by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These include the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, the HOME housing grant program (Volusia and Seminole counties formed a consortium in 1991 to qualify for this program), and the Emergency Shelter Grants (ESG) Program. These programs are designed primarily to assist the County's low and moderate income residents. In order to streamline the administration of these programs, HUD has consolidated all of the local planning and citizen participation requirements of these various federal programs into a single administrative process: "The Consolidated Plan".

Anticipated Grant Amounts:

CDBG	$2,885,000
HOME	$785,094
ESG	$71,000
TOTAL	$3,521,094

Range of Activities: The County can undertake a wide range of activities under these programs if they benefit low/moderate income people or areas where the majority of the people living there are low/moderate income.

Proposed Funding Recommendation: The purpose of this public meeting will be to make final recommendation on the submitted proposals that have requested 1997-1998 Community Development Block Grant funding. May 8, 1997, at 6:00 p.m. at the Seminole County Services Building, Room 1088, BCC Chambers.

ACCESS 3SM

The home equity line that gives you 100% of the credit you deserve.

Borrow up to 100% of your home equity with our new Access 3SM Equity Line.

No Closing Costs

The equity in your home could be the answer to your financial needs. And now with the Access 3 Equity Line, you can borrow up to 100% of your equity. That's greater purchasing power when you need it, for the things that you need most. Like cars, home improvements, bill consolidation, or college tuition.

And the Access 3 Equity Line has three different loan options that let you choose how loans from your line are structured including a revolving line of credit, interest only and a fixed rate/term option. That way, you can choose the right loan to fit your specific need. And Access 3 Equity Line is easy to access with checks and a special MasterCard[®]. Plus, in most cases, you may be able to deduct the interest from your taxes.

With no closing costs and competitive rates, the Access 3 Equity Line lets you get the most out of your home equity. Visit a SunTrust office today or call us at 1-800-2 SWITCH (273-4824).

Congrats to Sentinel Seminole staffers

We're thrilled that the Orlando Sentinel has given its in-house award for innovation to its Seminole County staffers. We are puzzled why ex-Herald sports editor Gary Taylor - and now a Sentinel stalwart - was not pictured or mentioned. What's the slant, anyway?

Oviedo Fire Department ready for the long haul

The parties present at Friday's Emergency Care/Ambulance service pre-proposal vendors conference at the Seminole County Services Building were: Larry Schenk, the county fire chief; Life-Fleet Atlantic, Rural Metro, and the Oviedo Fire Department.

The Oviedo Department, the only Seminole County city not participating in the present First Response System, is eager to bid for county-wide ambulance service.

The county's Board of Commissioners will award a contract after RFP proposals are received in June. There's a major controversy over the issue, with many citizens upset that the county's First Response System may be scrapped should a private company get the new contract.

Here's the latest dirt on your county volunteers

The 300 or so Seminole County employees who volunteered to clean up five different communities - Johnson Hill, Jamestown, Winwood, Midway and Lockhart - are to be commended.

Know how much trash these good folks gathered? Sixty tons.

They shoveled, edged, raked, mowed, towed and cut down trees.

Commissioner Grant Maloy insists he saw a county attorney working.

Sheriff Don Eslinger brought over some inmates who pitched in despite the thoughts they may have had about a clean getaway.

Cheryl Crandall, an aide to deputy county manager Cindy Coto, said several private companies were a big help, too: Winn Dixie, Albertsons, Goodings, Fossett Groundworks, Disposal, Waste Management, B.F.I., Jennings Environmental, and Sure Sanitation.

cept for Saidee Williams, secretary. Approximately 500 students were in grades 9-12.

Senior class officers were Simon Dingfelder, president; Bill Ludwig, vice president; Myra Southward, secretary; Clarence Grantham, treasurer; Lillian Boyle, chaplain. Sponsors were Rebecca Stevens and Mae Fort.

The class motto was "The difficult can be accomplished in an instant; the impossible takes a little longer". Colors were red and white with red and white roses as the flowers.

There are 110 seniors pictured in the Salmagundi; I don't know how many actually graduated.

During their junior year, this class sponsored all the dances after the football games, produced the play "Campus Quarantine" and the Junior-Senior Banquet at the Mayfair Hotel was acclaimed a big success.

The Class of 1947 sponsored "The Sister Kenney Fund" for two years; the proceeds went to furnish a hospital room in memory of classmate Pat Anderson. This would have been the hospital located at the former Naval Air Station.

The senior play was entitled "A Case of Springtime" and starred George Chapman, Jack Moye, Joyce Goodspeed, Lillian Boyle, and Bill Ludwig.

Outstanding seniors of this class were Simon Dingfelder, Jean Sayer, Caroline Lee, Bill Ludwig, Harold Kastner, Myra Southward, Jean Boteler, Willis Anderson, Clarence Grantham, Lillian Boyle, Lolo Lee, and Jan Jenkinson.

School Activities 1946-1947 Harold Kastner was president of the student council and officers serving with him were Lillian Moran, Bette Shannon, and Gwynn Reel. This group initiated a point system regulating officers and honors held by students.

Homecoming activities were sponsored by the student council with an outstanding parade held downtown complete with pep rally afterwards. SHS beat Leesburg that night 38-7. Homecoming sponsors were Georgia Hutchins and Francis Temple, Helen Slaughter and Jack Moye.

Coach Fred Oanas was director of the Celery Crate, ably assisted by his wife, Bea. The PTA took an active interest and helped provide more activities and entertainment. Jean Sayer was president of the Crate and Johnny Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

Audrey Toll was editor of the Celery Crate helped by associate editors Bette Shannon and Georgia Hutchins. A new typewriter was an envied possession of the staff and they were proud of their first edition as they had been involved in the entire process. In addition to writing the articles, they inked and cranked the mimeograph machine - and then assembled the papers. The later editions were printed.

Editor of the Salmagundi was Simon Dingfelder with Jean Sayer as associate editor and Spencer Harden, business manager. It was dedicated to Hermon Morris who had been the Class of 1947's principal in both junior and senior high schools.

provides a rear access to the Walgreen's Store parking lot.

FDOT said property owners surrounding the intersection have already been informed of the proposal, and are awaiting any comments.

Regarding the 10 vehicular accidents at that intersection last year, Fred D. Ferrell, FDOT traffic engineer estimated that six of them could have been prevented through the use of a traffic separator. The 10 collisions resulted in no fatalities, but there were eight injuries and $29,650 in property damage. More than half occurred during peak traffic hours of 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Being proposed is a four-foot high traffic separator. Existing lane widths along 25th Street at that point may have to be reduced slightly to handle the seven foot wide separator. FDOT says it is not expected to restrict access to surrounding facilities such as Walgreens and the Seminole County Teachers Federal Credit Union building on the north side of French.

Although the proposal reportedly does not require any action on the part of the city, it is listed on the agenda of Monday night's work session for discussion.

The work session is slated to begin at 8:30 p.m., with the regular Sanford City Commission meeting to follow at 7 p.m., in the Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Avenue.

SHS runners take aim on another title

SANFORD — Some teams enter a season hoping, maybe even expecting, to bring home a district title.

Then there's Seminole High School for whom a district and a conference championship is almost an afterthought.

The Tribe boys' track team did the expected last Wednesday, winning its 12 Seminole Athletic Conference in the past 14 years. Districts begin next week in Sanford, but that's no problem.

Since coach Ken Brauman took over 14 years ago, the Seminoles have 14 titles.

This is clearly a team where winning is expected. Just ask the graduates from Brauman's teams that continue to return for meets. Some of those returnees are still in Sanford. Then, there are the ones who are winning national titles and all-America honors at colleges across the country.

They formed the foundation for a program that doesn't know how to lose, even in a season when someone in the SAC just may have a chance at the title.

Take last season, a young Seminole team looked to be as vulnerable as it had in years. While critics were looking at a third-place finish, Seminole improved throughout the season, running more on heart than talent.

In the end, it wasn't quite good enough as the Tribe finished in second, one point from the top.

As usual, districts were a laugh as no one gave Seminole a scare.

This season, most of the group returned, still mostly underclassmen.

Same team, different results.

Again, the critics said third; the Noles said first.

That's how it turned out last week and that's how it will turn out when the Seminoles go through the regionals or districts.

What's next for the Tribe?

Let's see. The 4x800 relay team of Tony Martin, Willie Lawson, Jeremiah Mitchell and James Swain are ranked number one in the state.

In fact, they are the second-ranked team out of every class in the state.

Bobby Williams, who measures nearly 50 feet in the triple jump is top-ranked in Class 5-A and third overall in the state.

Lawson is third in the state for 800 meters, not bad for a guy who started the season with a broken jaw and had to train on a liquid diet.

There are more, but you get the picture. All Seminole has to do is finish in the top-four in the districts to move onto states, to be run in Gainesville next month.

The Seminole track times aren't even the most impressive part of the team. Everyone on the team remained academically eligible, no surprise, since the Tribe has lost only one varsity athlete to grades all year in any sport.

How about the pressure to duplicate the success?

Seminole runners hear about it when they see the legends that preceded them in the grandstands before and during each meet. Brauman said the ex-Seminoles love to impress the current Seminoles with tales of the past.

How believable is it?

"They all lie," Brauman said.

Keep an eye on the Tribe at districts Thursday. They'll be the ones talking to the Seminoles in the year 2003 when the Noles are looking for their 20th straight district title.

Diamond districts

Tourneys in Lake Mary, Longwood, Kissimmee

By DEAN BENTON
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — It's time to put up or shut up. District tournaments for the high school spring sports get underway this week, with baseball and softball kicking off the schedule on Monday.

Both of Seminole High School's teams will be traveling to the Kissimmee area for their respective Class 5A-District 6 Tournaments.

The baseball team of head coach Mike Powers, which plays Lake Mary at Alumni Field at 1 p.m. today (Saturday), is the Number two seed and will play No. 7 St. Cloud in the final game of the day at 7 p.m. at Ocoola County Stadium, the spring home of the Houston Astros near Highway 192 and the Florida Turnpike.

In other Monday games, No. 4 Ocoola plays No. 5 Titusville at 1 p.m. and No. 3 Satellite plays No. 6 Gateway at 4 p.m.

If Seminole wins they would play the winner of the Satellite-Gateway game at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, while top-seeded Merritt Island would play the winner of the Ocoola-Titusville game at 7 p.m. The championship game will be at 7 p.m. on Friday.

The SHS softball team of David Rogers is the Number three seed in the West and will take on No. 2 East seed Merritt Island at 6 p.m. at the Ocoola County Softball Complex just off Silver Star Road North of Kissimmee. Also playing at 6 p.m. will be No. 1 (East) Satellite vs. No. 4 (West) Gateway and No. 3 (East) Titusville against No.

2 (West) Ocoola.

The semifinals will be Wednesday, also at 6 p.m., with the Seminole-Merritt Island winner playing top-seeded St. Cloud and the Satellite-Gateway winner playing the Ocoola-Titusville winner. The championship game is set for 7 p.m. on Friday.

The semifinals and finale of the Class 6A-District 4 Tournaments will be played at Lake Mary High School with the first round play-in games at Lyman High School.

On Monday, at Lyman, No. 4 Lyman takes on No. 5 Lake Howell at 6 p.m. in baseball, and on Tuesday, No. 4 Lyman takes on No. 5 Lake Brantley in softball at 4 p.m.

On Wednesday at Lake Mary, in baseball, No. 1 Lake Brantley plays the Lyman-Lake Howell winner at 5 p.m., with No. 3 Lake Mary and No. 2 Oviedo playing at 6 p.m. The championship game will be at 7 p.m. on Friday.

In softball, on Wednesday, No. 3 Oviedo plays No. 2 Lake Howell at 5 p.m. and the Lyman-Lake Brantley winner plays No. 1 Lake Mary at 7:30 p.m. The championship game will be at 7 p.m. on Friday.

The big day in all of the tournaments will be on Wednesday as whoever wins that day will qualify for the regionals next week.

Whoever wins on Friday will be the district champions and will play at home against a runner-up from another district next week, while Friday's loser's will travel to a different district winner's field next week.

Oviedo claims 20th victory

By TONY BOGGS
Herald correspondent

OVIDEO — It only took 28 games and nearly the entire season, but the Oviedo High School baseball coach Kenne Brown was finally able to use Friday night what he expected would be his starting lineup this season.

Faced by Jeremy Frost's 3-for-3 effort at the plate, the Lions registered their 20th win of the season by holding off the Melbourne-Florida Air Academy Falcons, 6-5, at Miller Field.

The contest capped Oviedo's regular season triumph. "It took all season, but we finally got this lineup on the field," said Brown. "I wish it would have happened sooner so that they could develop a little rhythm, but at least it happened before the district tournament."

Friday night marked the first time this year that Frost, Dave Devito, and Ben Knapp — the Nos. 3, 5, and 6 hitters in the Lion lineup — were in the game and at one of their primary positions.

Knapp, who was the designated hitter Friday, missed the first few weeks of the season because of Oviedo's run at the Class 6A state basketball title. Devito was out until mid March because of academic ineligibility. And, just when they joined the team, Frost went down with a badly sprained ankle.

with a .529 average when he sprained his ankle, caught for the first time in a month Friday. His first-inning double was his first hit in a month.

"We're not a one-man team," said Brown. "We've won 20 games this season because every player on our team has stepped up and contributed. We've had another this season. But having Jeremy back and Ben in the lineup at the same time does make us more competitive."

Brown went on to say that the absence of these players has allowed other Lions — specifically, junior first baseman Lawrence Pultz and freshman third baseman Justin Holmes — to develop.

Now, with the projected primary hitting order intact and the additional contributions of Pultz, Holmes, and Trey Bentwell (who has played five positions so far this year), Brown has a considerable number of options.

On Friday, for example, Devito started at first base. In the sixth inning, he moved to the pitcher's mound and Pultz came off the bench to play first. Earlier in the game...

Cardinals turn offensive against Marlins

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Ramone Raines had a monster game and Donovan Daniels and Levi Raines Jr. combined on a one-hitter as the Knights of Columbus Cardinals blitzed the Dean, Rangers, Morgan & Lawton Marlins 17-1 in Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball League action at Zinn Beck Field Friday afternoon.

The game started slowly, with the Cardinals only scoring one run in the first inning.

But the winner's hit high gear from then on, scoring six runs in the second inning and five runs in each of the third and fourth innings. The game was stopped with two out in the top of the fifth inning by the run rule after Ramone Raines ripped a two-run inside-the-park home run.

Providing the offense for the Cardinals were Ramone Raines

(home run, double, single, four runs, three RBI), Donovan Daniels (double, single, three runs), Levi Raines Jr. (triple, two runs, RBI), Doug Teixeira and Aaron Richardson (one single, two runs scored and two RBI each), William Peterson (single, two runs, RBI), Willie Bennett (single, RBI), William Kirby (single, run) and Thomas Fodris (run).

Lazarus Mitchell singled and scored the Marlins' run, while Darrell White drove in the run.

The standings in the Babe Ruth League are: National Division — Moose Lodge Pirates (9-0), Knights of Columbus Cardinals (8-2), Rotary Club Expos (3-6), DeLeon Appraisal Braves (1-7) and Dean, Morgan, Morgan and Lawton Marlins (1-8) American Division — Nokes Cubs

Hard work and discipline. For most college students, these two features are learned right after the first test.

For Lake Mary High School graduate, Jody DeBruin, these were learned way before he entered his first college class.

"High school might not have been as fun for Jody as he would have liked," his father, Ian DeBruin said, "because he was away half the time playing soccer. But all of his hard work has really paid off."

DeBruin was awarded a full scholarship to Clemson University, based half on grades and half on soccer.

"Jody was offered opportunities to play at UCLA, Notre Dame, and Clemson," DeBruin's father said. "But he looked at the place and the program, and decided that Clemson would offer him the most challenge. They have a high profile program and Jody has gotten the opportunity to play against and with tough players."

At Lake Mary, DeBruin was a four year varsity player. In 1994, his senior year, he was the Florida and Southeast Regional player of the year and a National High School Player of the Year finalist. In addition, DeBruin was a two time NSCAA All-American and a two time Florida All-American. DeBruin also played on two US under 20 National teams.

And not much has changed since he entered college.

A three year letterman on the Clemson soccer team, DeBruin was honored this year at the "President's Athletic Honor Ball Dinner" for being a superior athlete while maintaining a 3.56 grade point average in a communications major.

"In order to be a part of the Clemson program," assistant Clemson soccer coach, Shawn Murphy explained, "We stress

Childrens toys are adult keepers

SANFORD — In 1983, the Kenner Company produced a plastic Michael Jordan figurine that stood less than four inches tall and cost 95¢.

Today, the same Starting Lineup figurine is worth $150.

Well, it's worth $150 if you didn't take it out of its original wrapper.

Perhaps you've seen Kenner Starting Lineup figurines at the area toy stores. They cost $7.99 or so, but the selection isn't too good. That's because collectors, investors and dealers have gobbled up most of them.

The first Kenners were baseball, but now there are plastic figurines for all the team sports including soccer.

The Kenner figurines of Hall of Famers Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews pictured with this column were issued in 1989, and called Baseball Greats. They were purchased at Toys 'R Us for $9.99. They are worth $85 according to the Kenner Guide in the June issue of Sports Cards Magazine.

It's amazing - perhaps frightening - the way collectors are flipping over Kenner figurines. If anyone bought the entire 134-piece set of 1989 baseball figurines their $900-plus investment is now worth $3,300. The biggest jump is a Cal Ripken that now commands $400. But it has to be unopened - fresh in the package.

An even goofier price is $770 for a 1988 Karl Malone basketball figurine or how about $600 for a 1990 Greg Maddux baseball figurine?

The Kenner mania is matched by that of collectors for bobbin' head dolls that came over from Japan in 1980. They cost $2 apiece. Today, they're worth as much as $1,700. That's the price for a Roberto Clemente bobbin' head doll made in 1982.

Some bobbin' head dolls represented actual star players - Mickey Mantle, Willie Mays, Roger Maris - others were team players. And there were white bobbin' heads and black bobbin' heads. The black bobbin' heads are the big deal today. A black Washington Redskin bobbin' head can go for as much as $2,000.

A Houston Colt .45s doll can sell for as much as $1,900.

Who buys these things? You would be surprised. Doctors. Attorneys. Athletes.

Originally, the bobbin' head dolls and the Kenner figurines were targeted for children. And most of the kids that had these collectibles played with them as they would any other toy. It's rare to see a bobbin' head doll from the 1980s that has had a good deal of wear. Some for many of the early Kenners.

The key to buying Kenner Starting Lineup figurines today is to get them at toy stores the second they go on the shelves. Some may find the $7.99 price repulsive. And imagine their surprise to see the same Kenners going for twice that at sports card shows or at collectors shops.

Athletes aren't the only greedy players in the sports field today. Far from it.

PLASTIC POWER. These Starting Lineup figurines sold originally for 99¢. That was in 1989. They now go for $85.

Women off to state convention

Members of Florida Federation of Women's Clubs are taking Orlando by storm this weekend at the annual state convention being held at the Clarion Hotel.

The FFWC is comprised of 14 districts with about 28,000 members.

Among the dignitaries attending the confab are former governor of Florida and now U.S. Sen. Bob Graham (D-Fla.) and Faye Disinger, from Springfield, Pa., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The GFWC is the largest organization for women in the world with over 1 million members.

Delegates representing the Sanford Woman's Club are: Ruth Gaines, president; Betty Jack first vice president-elect; Libby Frevatt and Jeanette Padgett, Jean Meiss, past president, will arrive Sunday afternoon to assist with the activities.

Jeanette will be in state competition and will model a suit she created that won best of show in recent district competition. Also, blue ribbon winners in the District VII arts and crafts show will be up for state recognition.

Watch these Sanford women go!

ANNIVERSARY OPEN HOUSE

Congratulations to Helen and Jim Barry who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 27.

The couple will be honored at open house beginning at 2 p.m., at 177 Lakeside Circle, Indian Lake, Sanford. All friends and relatives are cordially invited.

'SEA STORIES' WAIVED

Sanforders are being asked to sharpen their pencils and their wit to write a "Sea Story" about the former Sanford Naval Air Station.

In conjunction with the Annual Session of NAS Sanford to be held in June, the Fleet Reserve is planning a journal of these stories regarding the station.

If you have a story to tell, please send it to the Fleet Reserve, 2345 SE 45, Sanford, 32771, call Andy Eaton, 322-7811 for phone and drop it off at "The Fleet." Deadline is June 15.

For information, call Carolyn Whittaker, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, Fleet Reserve Association, 304-778-0227.

ATTORNEY INDICATED

Ray E. Dalton Jr., a former Sanford resident, has become a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers. The induction ceremony took place during the recent spring meeting of the College in Rye Beach with 875 in attendance.

Dalton is a partner in the Orlando firm of Hartman, Dalton, Dillinger, Wilson and King.

'Fashion Flair' sparks church spring luncheon

By DORIS BETHORN

SANFORD — Spring was in the air at a "Fashion Flair" Tuesday at Central Baptist Church in Sanford. Spring luncheon decorated the fashion show area and delicate springtime butterflies and dainty pastel flowers were imprinted on the colorful programs.

According to Mary Pugh, chairman and fashion coordinator. "It (fashion show) went off just wonderful. It was great...best one I ever had."

Before moving to Sanford 2000-25 years ago, Pugh was a milliner at a large department store in Durham, N.C. where she also did the millinery buying and served as a model.

SANFORD — In spite of torrential rains, gusty winds and repeated tornado warnings, 180 patrons attending the fashion show and luncheon Wednesday at the Sanford Woman's Club were enthralled with signs of spring inside the quiet clubhouse. Nobody seemed to be aware that a severe storm was raging outside.

Club president Ruth Gaines greeted the guests as they arrived (carrying water-soaked umbrellas) and welcomed them to the cheery clubhouse. Tables began to fill up at 11 a.m. and by 11:15, nearly all the patrons had arrived and were served lunch promptly. Club members served salad plates of Chicken Salad Hawaiian in a fresh pineapple shell, Imperial Rice Salad, and Marinated Green Beans with Mocha Mousse for dessert.

Gaines introduced DeLoree Lash, fashion chairman, who in turned introduced Dara Trujillo, fashion coordinator for Gayfers, as "Fashions for Me" got under way. This event will benefit the club's educational projects.

Trujillo explained to the audience that this is the year for color — vibrant, rich colors — popular animal prints and appears everywhere. She explained how accessories enhance outfits for style and versatility and showed how to tie a fetching bow with a print scarf worn by model Betty Jack.

After-five shoes, such as gold and silver, once worn only for festive evening occasions, are acceptable with day wear, Trujillo said. Clothes, also once considered evening wear, appear more casual and day wear fashions of 1987, the commentator said.

The models included: Collette Colgrove, Betty Jack, Theresa Fransa, Jean Fowler, Gail McCord, Emy Sokol, Thelma Smith, Dot Anthony, Jean Clontz and Shirley Schiller.

Escorting the models from the stage to the auditorium was Sanford Mayor Larry Dale. The only other gentleman present was Attorney Phil Logan.

Each model strutted her stuff across the stage and showed three outfits — a pantsuit, a dress and formal wear. The pants included long pants and attractive short cuts as well as several tailored outfits. Fabrics ranged from corduroy "which said" wear to "luxurious" silk.

This is the season of "the dress," Trujillo said. Bright and colorful dresses were shown with soft accents. See Club, Page 48

Great music, vendors to highlight Musicfest

The "Big Boss" of Atlanta, Ga. will arrive to participate in Musicfest '87.

Musicfest '87 is the Central Florida's largest gospel music festival. This gospel-inspirational music festival is scheduled for Saturday, May 2, 8:45 am to 4:00 pm in Fort Mellon Park, downtown Sanford, overlooking beautiful Lake Monroe.

Contemporary and traditional gospel recording artists, praise dancers, gospel-jazz, rappers and local church choirs will be featured.

In addition to great singing, vendors will carry the latest in fashions, jewelry, arts, crafts and clothing. Food vendors will cook up barbecued ribs, tasty seafood and a variety of cultural cuisine's.

The 1986 Music Fest attracted more than 2,000 people. This year's event, says chairman Charles Jackson, is expected to draw a greater number.

Festival goers are encouraged to bring folding chairs and blankets to relax under the shade trees. In case of rain, the festival will be held inside the Sanford Civic Center which is adjacent to the park. All proceeds will benefit the Sanford/Central Florida Mentally Ill.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS More than $8,000 in scholarships have been awarded to needy students in the Central Florida area in the past two years.

The festival presented by the Sanford/Central Florida Mentally Ill's Guild gives special thanks to the sponsors: [List of sponsors] See Church, Page 48

Woman's club learns about herbs

The guest speaker for April's Lake Mary Women's Club meeting brought some very aromatic items with her. The speaker was Kathy Krasnoff and the items were herbs. Kathy belongs to the Sanford Women's Club and is a Master Gardener for Seminole County. Besides the herbs, Kathy brought a little game with her. She challenged club members to match the herbs names with the correct plant. They also

LAKELAND MARY
MARY POWELL

The women also learned a great deal about herbs. Basil grows very well in Central Florida and is a wonderful herb to use in cooking. Sweet basil is very good in Italian food. Other basil, such as red ruffled basil, make excellent homemade vinegars. Basil's meaning is love, best wishes and hatred. The contradictions to its meaning are only made clear when you put basil with another plant. Putting basil with lavender is a good thing. Putting basil with pennyroyal isn't very nice.

Mint also grows very well in Florida. Too well, actually. That's why Kathy suggests growing mint in a pot instead of in your yard. Mint will actually take over in many places. And the great thing about mint is its variety. Orange bergamot mint, spearmint, peppermint, chocolate mint, English mint and pineapple mint are just some of the varieties you can grow yourself. Mint means warmth of feeling.

Rosemary means remembrance. Whether it works or not. Greek and Roman scholars used to wear rosemary when they were studying. It probably wouldn't hurt any student to give it a try. Especially since rosemary grows so well in Central Florida. Traditional sage does not grow well here, but several varieties do, including pineapple sage. And as an added benefit, pineapple sage attracts butterflies. And if you're really adventurous, eat a flower. Sage is in the salvia family and all salvia blossoms are edible as long as they haven't been sprayed with an insecticide. Anise hyssop also attracts butterflies and its flowers are edible as well. Pennyroyal means flee away. This unusual meaning comes from its usage before the advent of the modern mattress. Homemade mattresses were stuffed with cloth, branches and herbs. Pennyroyal was used to keep the fleas away. And it actually works. Perhaps not as well as chemical pest control, but as you grow pennyroyal in your yard, you can rub the leaves on your dog and the fleas will jump off. Lavender, which means devotion, was also used in potpourris and to keep bugs away. People love the smell, but bugs don't.

Not many farmers have kept up the tradition, but farmers used to always have an area set aside for planting thyme. Why? Because the prevailing theory was, if you planted thyme, the fairies would leave the rest of your crops alone. Thyme was also used as a preservative. Thyme has an antioxidant.

Scented geranium and southern tarragon also grow very well in Central Florida and make an excellent addition to any herb garden. In club news, the members are getting ready for the District Meeting on May 8, which the club is hosting at Timacuan. The club also installed new member Norma Smith. Norma was sponsored by Pat Fox.

Jane Bistline, Keith Riordan exchange vows

WINTER PARK — Jane Marie Bistline became the bride of Keith Edward Riordan March 15, 1987, on the terrace of Winter Park Civic Center. Pat Reed-Reimer performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bistline of Longwood. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Riordan of Summerville, N.J.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an original Christie white silk tulle designer gown, fashioned along the shoulders. The lavishly embroidered bodice featured all-over ruffles, top sleeves, butterfly bow in the back accented the sleeve which cascaded into a full-length train embellished with seed pearls. She carried an arrangement of stephanotis interspersed with dendrobium orchids with a French twist handle and greenery.

Patricia Stephan, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a long forest green, full skirt with a light green halter top and carried a bouquet of white and cream roses and greenery showered with burgundy and hunter green braided ribbons.

Bridemaids were Ellie O'Dell, Sue Reed, and Addie Stephan and Katie Stephan, nieces to the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Chris O'Dell served the bridegroom as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Bill Riordan, Stephen Riordan and Michael Reed.

Kristen Yocum was the flower girl and ring bearer were Kyle Riordan and Tyler Riordan, nephews of the bridegroom.

A reception followed at the civic center. Mrs. Rabun Bistline, the bride's sister-in-law, registered the guests in the bride's book. Vocalist was Beverly Fritchard and Terri Adams was the pianist.

The newlyweds are making their home in Longwood where the bridegroom is employed as an auto body technician and the bride is office manager at a doctor's office and is also a fitness instructor.

Working with wood comes naturally

By SHARON WATSON
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — John Green has lived in Sanford all his life and worked in the carpentry trade. His career choice has now blossomed into his hobby — woodworking.

For over 38 years Green enjoyed his carpentry but woodworking, including making ornamental birdhouses, quilt racks, picnic tables, decks, wheelbarrows for plants and various plaques, quickly replaced building houses and framing homes. With the help of family members, Green displays colorful wood pieces as gifts or to brighten a loved one's day.

"I built flower boxes for my daughter, Carol," he said. "I made a magazine rack for my daughter, Junitta. My daughter, Carol, helps with the painting and staining and my daughter-in-law also helps to paint. They also painted on the little plaques that I made for the bird houses. They wrote saying like, 'welcome birds, tweet-tweet and welcome.'"

He added, "One plaque I really love my wife bought for me," he said. "It hangs on my wood-working shop door. It says, 'Gone to Scotty's.'"

Green stated that he has kept patterns of the wheelbarrows and desks he has created. "My daughter, Carol, buys me the magazines, 'Country Sampler,' from the store," he said. "It gives me other ideas and has a lot of craft ideas too. She brings it to me about once a month. Other people also bring me things to make. I made a lot of Christmas gifts for people."

Band and radial arm saws were among some of the equipment Green cited that he uses for his craft. "A bench type and plunge router" as well as two other routers are also used.

John Green is surrounded by some of his woodwork art including several bird houses.

Three different drills measuring 1/2, 3/8 and 1/4 inch drills are other necessities, not to mention a large belt sander mounted on a table and a small belt sander. According to Green a drill press and vice also "come in handy with all kinds of little hand tools."

Largest of the items that Green has built was "a display for my daughter-in-law for her Christmas things." He said, "I built it like a step ladder, up one side and down the other. The steps were 12 inches wide and 18 inches long. It was about four feet tall and four feet in length and 20 inches in width."

Preparing cedar for "the small stuff," Green said, "I have school for letting their troop meet there. They discovered that the school's clinic was in urgent need of some supplies. The clinic was down to one working thermometer. (Well, two of the thermometers worked, but one of them only worked in Celsius. Conversion was a little too time consuming.) So Troop 441 presented the clinic with a basket of gifts.

In the basket were digital thermometers, thermometer covers and lots of Band-Aids.

BOOBS TO HOLD YARD SALE

Several Lake Mary Girl Scout troops are getting together to hold a giant yard sale and car wash. The purpose for the event is to raise money. The individual troops will be raising money for themselves, but they will also be putting in money for a Starquest Service Unit Uniform Fund. Girl Scouting is open to all girls and is made affordable for all girls. Girls who cannot afford dues and such can get scoutership money from Citrus Council. This scoutership money does not, however, pay for uniforms. Several leaders have paid for uniforms out of their own pocket so that girls could have them. This fund would enable needy girls to get funds from the service unit for their uniforms. The service unit is also collecting uniforms to recycle when possible.

The yard sale/car wash will be held on Saturday, May 3, at Lake Mary Elementary School beginning at 8 a.m. There will be toys, clothes, baked goods and much more.

Seriously-Ill children's dreams to fly come true

LONGWOOD - On Saturday, April 26, from 9:00 am to 4:00 pm, the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Central Florida hosted an "Air Fair" in conjunction with Showalter Flying Services, Experimental Aircraft Association, and the Orlando Executive Airport. The event was developed as a special embellishment for the families of the 112 seriously ill children that the foundation has granted wishes for since opening their doors in December of 1984.

The highlight of the "Air Fair" for each of the wish kids is the opportunity to experience the thrill of flying in a small aircraft over the area theme parks or, weather permitting, a ride in a tethered hot air balloon.

The sole purpose of the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Central Florida is to fulfill the favorite wish of any Central Florida child between the ages of 2-1/2 and 18 who has a diagnosed life-threatening illness. In addition to granting wishes, the organization keeps the children involved by hosting themed parties and providing other unique opportunities.

"Once a child becomes part of our Make-A-Wish family, they are given many special opportunities, that they may never have otherwise," says Executive Director, Robert Kinney. "In addition to giving them something to look forward to, these events also provide our children with a chance to socialize with other children who face many of the same obstacles and experiences."

Gatherings such as the "Air Fair" are made possible by in-kind donations from the community, and are completely volunteer driven.

IN BRIEF

Staying calm

LONGWOOD — Living Rationally, Inc. will present a program on self-discipline and emotional control on Sunday, April 27 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The program on how to stay calm and productive under pressure will be conducted by Harry Steinmeyer III, LCSW.

The program is designed to teach participants how to change bad habits, how to face irrational fears with renewed courage and confidence, how to improve relationships at home and at work, how to handle arguments rationally and productively, how to stay composed even when you feel overwhelmed and how to lead a more peaceful, happier life.

The powerful system, organizer says, is based on some of the most effective tools in modern psychology.

Tickets for the event are $49 in advance and $55 at the door. Headquarters for Living Rationally are located at 465 W. Warren Ave., Longwood.

For more information or to reserve a seat, call 262-4623.

Family Caregiver series

WINTER PARK — As part of the Family Caregiver series, the Greater Orlando Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association will host an educational meeting intended to provide information to family caregivers in order to help them better understand the changes often associated with Alzheimer's Disease and develop techniques and resources for dealing with the changes.

This meeting will be held at the Miller Center for Older Adult Services in Winter Park at 7 p.m. in May 1, 1997.

Topics will be Medications and Personal Care Techniques. Registration is required.

To register or for more information, call 629-1997.

Community lecture

ORLANDO — The Florida Heart Institute at Florida Hospital will offer a free community lecture on Thursday, May 15 at 7 p.m.

The class will be at the YMCA-Downtown, 433 N. Mills Ave. in Orlando.

Lynn Macksey, RN, will talk about "The Living Will." Living Will packets will be distributed to attendees of this lecture.

To register, call 321-4083 during business hours.

Welcome PAT

Valuemark Behavioral Healthcare Systems of Florida has announced the kickoff of their mobile Psychiatric Assessment Team (PAT).

PAT is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week as a community service in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties.

Regardless of insurance or any method of payment, PAT will assess an individual's clinical needs.

PAT is staffed with highly-trained clinicians available on site within one hour.

The Psychiatric Assessment Team performs a general mental health assessment to provide referrals based on the most appropriate and least restrictive level of care necessary.

To access PAT or for more information, call Jordan Factor at 1-800-645-4702.

What's the secret to a very long life?

By VICKI DeBORRAN
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Violetta Witherspoon doesn't make any big deal about her birthday.

She shrugged off her most recent passage into another year and with a toss of her head asked if it really was her birthday.

Others, however, think that it is a big deal. Witherspoon, you see, turned 103 on her last birthday on April 25.

The centenarian lives at Healthcare and Rehab of Sanford (formerly Hill Haven Health Care Center).

Her daughter, Emily Oliver, who is a youthful 82, also lives at the center. Mother and daughter don't share living quarters, but they meet daily in the community room or in the dining room for a meal.

Witherspoon said she has no secret for living so long, but indicated that she thinks the fact that she doesn't drink alcohol and that she smokes a pipe might have something to do with her long life.

She didn't indicate what magical concoction she puts in her pipe.

Witherspoon is confined to a wheelchair, as is her daughter, but she has a fairly active mind.

Nurses Aid Anette Ware said Witherspoon loves to talk. She will go on for hours about things that she has done. Witherspoon said,

"She loves to talk sometimes." Ware said.

Ware said the staff and residents at the nursing home love Witherspoon for her ready smile and her pleasant disposition.

This weekend, her grandchildren and great-grandchildren are planning to take her out for a birthday celebration. The staff of Healthcare and Rehab hosted a quiet party at the nursing home on her birthday.

Witherspoon is not the oldest resident at the nursing home. Another woman who lives there is 104 years old.

Oliver smiles as she talks with her mother and teases with her that she's not as old as she's telling everyone.

"I'm only 80," she tells her mother. "How could you be 103?"

Witherspoon says nothing. She just shakes her head.

"I'm 103. They just told me I was," she laughs.

Business

IN BRIEF

BDC expanding

The Business Development Corporation (BDC) of Northeast Florida, Inc., has received approval from the U.S. Small Business Administration for permanent expansion into Seminole, Volusia and Lake Counties. The approval was effective March 20.

BDC is one of 10 certified development companies providing financing to Florida businesses under the SBA 504 loan program.

In February, 1996, SBA approved BDC's temporary expansion into Volusia County. Since then it has had nine loans approved, closed, or now under construction for total loans of $2.1 million, representing $4.8 million in total project costs.

New building

● ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Olympia Homes has completed its newest model The Emory, at its community of Easton Park in Seminole County, off the Alafaya Trail and Chapman Road area in Seminole County.

The Emory has 1,581 square feet of living area and is priced at $111,900. There are 61 homesites in the community, but only 24 still remain.

● LAKE MARY — Matland-based Farmer & Baker Architects, Inc. designed the 120,000 square foot Buntch Office Complex, Phase II in Lake Mary. Construction is scheduled to begin on June 1.

● DeBARY — Glen Abbey Country and Golf Estates in DeBary, plans to open its newest gated neighborhood in July if expected state and local approvals are forthcoming. Developer Sandra Lowe said Saxon Park will offer 400 heavily wooded homesites with two, three and four bedroom homes priced around $150,000.

People

● ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Cambridge Homes of Altamonte Springs has named Burt Sick as sales associate for the community of Chelsea Place in northern Seminole County. Sick was formerly affiliated with Bovis Homes.

● HEATHROW — Stirling International Realty of Heathrow has named Marlene Solomon as sales executive. Solomon has 12 years of real estate experience. Stirling has also promoted Tim Burns to Director of the New Homes Division. He has over 20 years experience in banking, construction and real estate administration.

● LAKE MARY — Higgins & Heath, Inc./Better Homes and Gardens, has added 15 new associates to its general sales division during the first quarter, including six local residents.

The six were identified as Allan Norris, Joanne Eves, Pam Collins and Shirley Holden-Grieco, all of Lake Mary; Stephanie Sousa of Winter Springs, and Jan Kolata of Deltona. All but Norris will be working out of the company's Heathrow/Lake Mary office on Lake Emma Road. Norris will be in the Altamonte Springs office.

LONGWOOD — Frank Filippelli, president of Southern Realty Enterprises, Inc., Longwood, has announced that his company was judged a winner in the RELO Advertising and Promotion Contest, held in conjunction with the 27th annual conference of RELO/The Independent Real Estate Network, in Orlando.

The award-winning entries were in the Sellers Listing Presentation and Sales Agents Recruiting categories.

New resort planned for east coast of Fla.

By NICK PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

Creation of a new oceanfront golf resort and residential village, Ocean Hammock, has been announced. It is to be located on the ocean between St. Augustine and Daytona Beach, as part of Palm Coast. It will be developed and managed by Lowe Enterprises of Los Angeles.

Consisting of nearly two and a half miles of beachfront, it will include an 18-hole oceanfront Jack Nicklaus Signature golf course, an inn and conference center, beach club & spa, tennis facilities and nature preserves. The total resort is to encompass nearly 900 acres when complete.

Ocean Hammock is said to be the only large, oceanfront resort begun in the state during the last decade and occupies one of the last large coastal parcels left to develop.

Cost of construction is said to be over $15 million.

Commenting about the golf course, Jack Nicklaus said, "We are attempting to design and build a course that could have the visual impact of Pebble Beach. We want the drama of this course to be an unforgettable experience."

Prices for the ocean view villas will range upward in price from $160,000, with oceanfront homes at $382,500.

Car rental firms fight state law

From staff reports

Car and truck rental firms that conduct business in Florida are reportedly banding together to oppose what they consider the state's antiquated vicarious liability law.

The coalition, which includes the nation's top eight vehicle rental companies and many independent car rental operators, is backing a bill sponsored by Sen. Locke Burt, R-Ormond Beach.

In Florida, the owner of a rental car or truck is liable without monetary limit, for accidents that result solely from the driver's negligence (where the vehicle rental company is totally without fault), even if an unauthorized driver is operating the rental vehicle.

Burt's bill would remove vicarious liability for adult occupants of a rental vehicle, and limit liability for those who are not occupants but are injured as a result of an accident caused by a rented vehicle up to $100,000 per person and $300,000 per incident of bodily injury, and $50,000 for property damage.

Rental companies remain fully liable for any negligence or intentional misconduct on the part of the rental company or its employees.

Florida's current vicarious liability law stems from a 1990 state court case that defined an automobile as a "dangerous instrumentality" and holds the owner liable for the acts of the person borrowing the car.

The bill to amend Florida's vicarious law is SB-1778. The companion House bill is HB-1091, sponsored by Rep. Mark Flanagan, R-Bradenton.

Wonder if it tastes like chicken?

Reminiscent of the old days when farmers would purposely misspell words on signs in order to attract the attention of folks looking to buy butter or eggs, the Big Dip on French Avenue in Sanford, has also attracted attention with its sign indicating a possible African delicacy (tender Kona).

In the year ahead you might become involved in an exciting endeavor which could put strains on your creativity. Do not let the scope of the enterprise intimidate you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Something you agreed to do for a friend might be a bit more complicated to carry out than you anticipated. Don't use this as a reason to renege on your commitment. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and $45 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) A channel that is usually available to you might be closed today, but don't waste time worrying about it. There is more than one route to your objective.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Someone whose assistance on whom you've been counting may let you down today. However, you may discover you really didn't need this person anyway.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) You might not be able to fulfill all of your assignments today, yet you'll be forgiven by associates if what you do is a sample of your best work.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Acquaintances might disappoint you today, but loved ones won't. This can prove a valuable lesson as to where your loyalties should be anchored.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Racist tendencies today to reward the undeserving while ignoring someone with whom you are truly indebted, just because she or he isn't present.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) An important objective can be achieved today, but you might first have to brush away some small debris you've been neglecting recently.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) Your need for instant gratification could upset your domestic budget today, so take care to keep your priorities straight.

Capricorn (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) If others don't do things the way you'd like them to today, do not attempt to force their comwith people who aren't as ethical as you are. Do not be taken in by their glib tongue. Aries (March 21-April 19) Serious matters should not be treated in a cavalier fashion today, as this could result in the loss of a loved one's respect.

He ruffs like a butterfly

By Phillip Alder

P.G. Weddhouse pointed out that in being, the right cross-counter is distinctly one of those things it is more blessed to give than to receive. There are a few deals that result in a bust between the declarer and one defender. Each leads to a defensive play — makes great plays — with one eventually emerging unbleeded and triumphant. The pugilists in this deal were Van Richard (South) and Ed Chapin (West), playing in the John's Island Club, Vero Beach, Fla., with their wives, Jan and Ellen, respectively. How should the play go in three no-trump after West leads the heart queen? North's sequence of Stayman, then three no-trump over three hearts, showed four spades. Declarer saw seven top tricks: one spade, two hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. So, four club tricks would see him home. Clearly, there was no problem if the five missing clubs were splitting 3-2. Evidently, the contract was in trouble if East had queen-fourth. But what if West had queen-fourth? One play, after winning the first trick (you don't want to risk a spade switch), is to duck a club immediately. Richard, though, cashed the club king first, planning to duck the second club. However, when he led the second club, Chapin played his queen. If ever anyone looked like a man who had started with a favorable queen-duck, Ed Chapin was that man. But Van Richard wasn't going to risk his contract for a meager over-trick. He called for a low club from the dummy and got home safely.
