

Sisters Tussle, Plead With Knife-Wielding Robber

"It was a nightmare! I just knew he was going to slash me and kill me. My life was doomed. Then I started praying" ... I mean to tell you I was pleading the blood and he turned me a-lose."

That's how 60-year-old Flora Whitten of Sanford described part of the ordeal Tuesday afternoon when a man wielding a knife robbed her sister Ann Gracey at the florist they co-operate, Country Attie Florist, 1018 S. French Ave.

Mrs. Whitten said the robbery occurred about 3:22 p.m. just as the two women were about to close their shop to visit another sister in Apopka who is dying of cancer.

Mrs. Whitten gave this account of the incident:

A man came into the florist shop to ask about prices for some flowers, then left, saying he'd be back later. A few minutes later, as Mrs. Gracey, 53, was locking the cash register and both women were preparing to leave, another man came in and asked about ordering a half dozen roses he said he wanted delivered to a club on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs.

Mrs. Whitten said she took the man's order, then telephoned a florist in the south end of the county to place the order because the Sanford florists don't deliver to Altamonte Springs. She said the man left the shop, then returned a few minutes later.

"I had just finished placing his order, when he walked over to Ann who was behind the counter. Before I knew what was happening, I saw him with a knife in his hand — one of our knives. He apparently plucked it up from the counter and I just knew he was going to slash Ann. Then Ann turned when he said something to her. We don't know what he said, it's all a blank to Ann. Then he grabbed her and the two of them struggled. After a bit, he pushed my sister to the floor. They kept struggling, and I don't know how she did it, but she managed to get free and she got up and ran toward the door. But about half way there, the man, who had run after her, grabbed her again and pushed her to the floor again. That's when I ran over to them. I had been hemmed in up to that point. When I got over to them, my sister managed to get free again and ran out of the shop yelling for help.

"That's when the man held the knife to me and pushed me to the back of the store. Lord, I just knew I was going to be slashed and that I was going to die. I prayed. I prayed so hard and knew if I was going to survive, the Lord would have to intervene. I pleaded the blood. My praying must have scared him, because he turned me a-lose."

"When he did, I ran out of the store and my sister and I were screamin' and yellin' for someone to call the police. I think the man tried getting out the back way, but Ann has that secured and he couldn't get out except through the front door."

Teen Suspect May Be Home For Christmas

A 15-year-old Winter Park girl charged with the murder of a new-born infant in October is expected to be freed from the Seminole County jail before Christmas.

Stephanie Morgan, of Dentle St., had her bond set at $4,500 Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr., according to her Public Defender, John Galluzzo.

Morgan, who has been held in the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center, was not released on bond as of early today though Galluzzo said he expected her to be freed within the next few days.

She is scheduled to be tried as an adult Jan. 11 on a charge of second-degree murder. If convicted, she could receive up to life in prison.

The Oviedo High School student was indicted Nov. 8 in the death of a new-born male infant after a baby was found behind her parent's residence wrapped in a towel, placed in a paper sack, and put in a plastic bag, according to police reports.

According to court records, there were three adults in Morgan's home at the time she reportedly gave birth though she did not seek aid.

According to Assistant Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. Sara Irgang, the infant was born alive and died of asphyxiation.

Flea Market Serenade

Bernard LeFever, 49, serenades shoppers at Sanford Village Flea Market. LeFever said he has been playing his accordion at the market for two years, but not to attract customers to his booth. He plays to entertain the shoppers and the vendors. LeFever's accordion — "It's not for sale", he said.

College Tests

Seminole Students Top State, National Averages

Seminole County Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores reflecting results of tests taken last spring by high school seniors, although down one point from last year's 916, were still higher than the state and national average.

Andrew Bracken, director of secondary education for the Seminole County schools, said the average SAT score in the district was 915 compared to a state average of 887, southeast average of 861 and national average of 893.

Seminole High School students had the highest scores in the county with an average of 977. They were followed by Lyman with 929, Lake Brantley, 915, Lake Howell, 910 and Oviedo, 858.

The tests were in two parts, verbal and math. Broken down, the SAT scores were county — 435 verbal, 480 math, state — 423 verbal, 464 math, southeast — 412 verbal, 449 math, and national — 425 verbal, 468 math.

Results by local schools were as follows: Lake Brantley — 435 verbal, 508 math, Lake Howell — 430 verbal, 480 math, Lyman — 444 verbal, 484 math, Oviedo — 409 verbal, 449 math, Seminole — 469 verbal, 508 math.

Bracken said students were not required to take the tests. They are primarily used for college entrance application and results depend on who took them and how many took them.

At Seminole High, for instance, 59 students took the tests compared to 385 at Lake Brantley.

"Lake Brantley has about 400 more students, but four or five times as many students take the test there than at Seminole High," Bracken explained.

"The smaller the number of students taking the test, the less indicative of the school as a whole, it's hard to compare schools where the numbers vary."

"We can do a lot better than we did," said Bracken. "One school had rather low scores, and we will have

'We can do a lot better than we did. One school had rather low scores and we will have to take a hard look at their program.'

Secondary Education Director

to take a hard look at their program."

He said there are no scores for Lake Mary High School because the school had no senior class in the 1982-83 school year when the tests were given.

Bracken said most colleges in the east have in the past accepted students based the SAT test scores, but a lot more are now using the American College Testing (ACT) program scores.

ACT scores have been used in the midwest and west for a long time, he said. They are based on learned knowledge and achievement, whereas the SAT test measures ability.

The ACT tests include math, English, social studies and science, and the score is a composite of knowledge on these subjects.

The average ACT score for 1983 for Seminole students taking the test is 18.7 compared to state score of 18.6, southeast score of 17.1, national, 18.4. The 1982 ACT score for Seminole County high school students was 19.3, while the scores for state, region and nation were the same as this year.

Broken down by schools the results of ACT testing were as follows: Lake Brantley, 20.5 (up from 19.8 in 1982), Lake Howell, 17.5 (down from 18.2), Lyman, 18.4 (down from 19.5), Oviedo, 19.9 (no score was given for 1982 because only 32 students took the test), Seminole High, 17.1 (up from 16.8).

Jewelry Thieves Prompt Increased Patrols

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Jewelry-snatching thieves are apparently operating in a predominantly black section of Altamonte Springs, prompting the Seminole County Sheriff's Department to increase patrols in the area.

The latest in a string of similar thefts occurred Tuesday when three young bandits stopped a motorist at North and Marker streets and ripped the gold chains from the necks of the driver and a passenger in the car.

Faye L. Whitehurst, 18, of 2153 Linden Road, Winter Park, told deputies she stopped at 12:20 p.m. Tuesday when three boys stepped in front of her car. One of the suspects hit Ms. Whitehurst on the left side of her head and jerked a gold chain valued at $40 from her neck.

At the same time, a second suspect reached into the passenger's side window and ripped a $40 gold necklace from the neck of Elizabeth M. Robbins, 21, of 13 Carriage Circle Casselberry.

According to a deputy's report, the three suspects ran to a light brown, two-door Toyota and fled. Ms. Whitehurst said the getaway car had been parked behind her car.

The bandits were described as #1 5-foot-10, heavy and wearing a green shirt; #2 5-foot-4, 120 pounds, with loose curly hair and wearing a red shirt; #3 5-foot-8, medium build, and wearing a brown jacket. All were about 17 years-old, the report said.

Sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said that a rash of incidents of this type occurred in the North and Marker streets area earlier this year. He added that the latest theft may also be related to a Sunday robbery in which two 15-year-old boys were stripped of their jewelry and clothes by two bandits who threatened them with a gun and knife.

The boys from Altamonte Springs and Winter Park were walking on North Street near Jackson Street, Altamonte Springs, at 11:45 a.m. when two men drove up and jumped out of an old Chevrolet, brandished their weapons and took two gold chains, a gold watch, a gold ring with diamonds and rubies, gold initials, a jacket, two pair of tennis shoes, two pair of pants and one pair of brown underwear, deputies said.

Leman advised motorists and pedestrians to avoid the North-Marker Street area, adding that patrols in the area will be increased. A special patrol had been stationed in the area several months ago, but was pulled back when the problem appeared to have been solved, he said.

Leman said a motorist who is confronted by someone who steps in front of his car should make sure his windows are rolled up, the doors are locked and then proceed with caution.

Sunday Christmas Mixes Office Days

Since Christmas falls on Sunday this year, some government offices will be closed on Friday and Monday, while others will be only closed on Monday.

City halls in Sanford, Altamonte Springs, and Oviedo will be closed both days, while state and federal offices, Seminole County Courthouse and annexes, and city halls in Lake Mary, Longwood, Casselberry, and Winter Springs, will be closed only Monday.

Post offices will close at noon Saturday and will not reopen until Tuesday.

Banks will be closed on Monday. There will be no refuse collection in Sanford Friday or Monday, Friday's pick-ups will be made on Tuesday and Monday's on Wednesday. In Altamonte Springs, there will be no refuse collection on Friday or Monday and the next regular pick up will be on the scheduled days.

Florida Public Utilities Co. and Flo Gas Corp. will be closed on Friday and Monday.

Home Gutted

Engulfed by smoke, a Sanford firefighter battles a late night fire that destroyed a residence at 1109 Mangouline Avenue. According to Sanford Assistant Fire Chief Tom Hickson, the fire gutted the building owned by Bobby Jackson, of 107 High Street, Lake Mary. As of press time, the cause of the blaze was under investigation and no further information was available.

Cheaper Gas, Groceries Keep Inflation Steady

By Denis G. Gullino

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose a moderate 0.3 percent in November, with cheaper gasoline and less expensive groceries keeping 1983's inflation rate about the same as last year's, the government said today.

Gasoline prices dropped 0.8 percent, the second consecutive monthly decline, and the broad category of foods purchased for consumption at home dropped 0.1 percent, keeping the year's inflation rate through November at an annual 3.8 percent.

Last year ended with an inflation rate of 3.9 percent.

Leading analysts say that when changes made in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index this year are taken into account, consumers are actually enjoying slower rises in retail prices, by about 1 percent, than in 1982.

December's price figures, due next month, are not expected to spoil the happy year-end inflation picture.

The November increase in prices was the smallest since June and less than October's 0.4 percent change.

The Consumer Price Index for November was 303.1, equivalent to a cost of $303.10 for the government's sample "market basket" of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

The most dramatic slowdown in November prices were for foods, which analysts during the summer drought expected would show a surge this late in the year. But the drought damage was short lived.

Meat prices were down 0.2 percent.

In a separate economic report today, the Commerce Department projected the fourth quarter's gross national product to be expanding at a 1.5 percent annual rate, less than the 6 percent expected within the administration.

The projection showed inflation throughout the economy, not just for consumers, to have risen to a 4 percent annual rate from October through December, from the third quarter's 3.6 percent rate.

Housing costs in the latest consumer prices measurement were up 0.5 percent, clothing costs, including services, up 0.1 percent.

Hospital Says It Will Force-Feed Quadriplegic

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — The doctors and lawyers trying to save quadriplegic Elizabeth Bouvia, who wants to starve to death, say they will force-feed her despite a judge's refusal to condone the action.

The legal and medical staff of Riverside General Hospital met Tuesday afternoon after Superior Court Judge John Hews left it up to them whether to force-feed Mrs. Bouvia.

Mrs. Bouvia, 26, lost her bid last week to have the judge order the hospital to provide her painkillers and hygienic care while she starved herself to death and has now begun a potentially fatal fast.

Plane, Snow Broom Collide

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (UPI) — An Ozark Airlines jetliner carrying 82 people skidded while landing on an icy runway and slammed into a misplaced airport snow sweeper, killing the driver. The passengers and crew evacuated the plane safely.

A fireman at Joe Foss Field said the DC-9 skidded 2,000 feet before coming to a stop in a snowbank Tuesday. The 77 passengers and five crew members slid to safety on emergency chutes.

The collision spun the plane 180 degrees and sheared off its right wing. Fuel poured out from the severed wing and ignited, causing a flash fire that left the fuselage of the plane blackened by flames, said fireman Cliff McConnell.

Reagan Won't Say When Marines Will Return

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, recognizing public opinion is turning against the use of U.S. Marines as peace-keepers in the Middle East " tinderbox," says they will come home as quickly as possible.

But he gave no indication when that would be, and in an impromptu give-and-take with reporters after his formal news conference, he dismissed any suggestion that a decision would be based on his prospects for re-election.

Lebanon dominated Reggan's 21st formal session with reporters. Despite the somber topic, the president was unruffled and articulate through the 35-minute news conference Tuesday night marked by expressions of Christmas-season good will.

On Lebanon, Reagan took pains to back away from the impression he left last week when he said the Marines could be withdrawn if there was a "complete collapse" of the fragile Beirut government of Amin Gemayel.

"I guess I tried to give a hypothetical answer to that and maybe a bad choice of words," he said. "I don't foresee this," he added, confessing, "I wasn't trying to send anyone a message or anything."

Asked if the public would put up with continuing American deaths in Lebanon, Reagan responded: "Well, I can understand the public opinion, because they're hearing great attacks from a number of sources on our presence there."

Reagan said the Marines "do have a purpose and a mission there. And there has been a result from this and progress made." A recent ABC-Washington Post poll showed a one-month jump from 39 percent to 48 percent of the public favoring withdrawal of the Marines.

Trial In Travel Agency Fraud Case Delayed

The trial of an Orlando man charged with defrauding an Altamonte Springs travel agency scheduled to begin this week has been changed to the Jan. 9 Seminole Circuit Court trial docket.

Richard Allen Stewart, 31, of 724 Putnam Ave., has been accused of pilfering $1,220 worth of money and airline tickets from the Regency Travel Agency, 945 E. Altamonte Drive. His trial was to start this week but has been rescheduled to the early January docket.

According to the Aug. 5 arrest report, Stewart, while working as a sales agent for Regency Travel, was accused of accepting payment for travel services in the name of RAS Enterprises but did not give the money to Regency Travel. The alleged theft by fraud occurred between November 1982 and March, according to court documents.

Stewart, who is free on bond, will appear before Circuit Judge Domintek J. Salvi.

HOUSE BREAK-INS

Patricia Ann Pinder, 24, of 110 Harris Ave., Altamonte Springs, reported that she was awakened by a burglar at about 3:20 a.m. Monday. She said that when she entered her living room, she saw a man run from her home carrying a television set worth $306.

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy's report said the house had been entered through a utility room door that had been pried open. The thief fled through a sliding glass door in the living room.

Brian Lee Fansler, 25, of 1660 Sepler Drive, Sanford, reported that someone pried open the side door of his house around 11:45 p.m. Sunday and took $100 in coins, two knives, a man's class ring worth $200, and two handguns valued at $265.

John E. Taft, 35, of 612 Fellowship Drive, Fern Park, reported that someone entered his home between 11:30 a.m. and 11:45 p.m. Sunday and took a woman's diamond ring, a pair of diamond and gold earrings and two gold cigarette lighters. The value of the items missing and how the thief entered the home had not been determined, a report said.

TACKLE LURE THIEF

Four men staying at the Holiday Inn, 530 N. Palmetto Ave., Lake Monroe, Sanford, had their fishing tackle stolen between 9 p.m. Saturday and 5 a.m. Sunday. Michael Basford, of 3673 Foxcroft Road, Jacksonville, told police someone removed $300 worth of fishing tackle from his boat in the motel's south parking lot.

According to the report, three other men in the fishing party also lost equipment. They were: Vernon W. Bryant, 221 Sara Drive Jacksonville, who lost $1,000 worth of fishing reels; Jerry Tolbert Morrow, 273 Hollis Drive, Orange Park, who lost $400 worth of tackle; and, Bill Biggers, 231 Dillion Drive, Orange Park, who set his fishing gear loss at $600.

RIG RIPPED OFF

A chrome-stealing thief stripped a tractor-trailer rig while it was at a Sanford truck stop Friday and Saturday.

According to a Sanford police report, between 4:40 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday, the tractor of a tractor-trailer rig had two chrome splash guards, two chrome hood locks, four chrome hub caps, 40 chrome bolts, and a paddle lock stolen. The value of the items stolen from the rig, owned by Charles Duff Gross, 206 Bradshaw Dr., Sanford, was set at $376, according to the report.

INSIDE JOB

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy and the owner of Dun-Rite Trailers, Casselberry, entered that business to turn off a burglar alarm and saw a man escape through a rear window.

At 1:04 a.m. Sunday, Douglas W. Luckey, 28, of 1179 Hiawatha Drive, Union Park, was found hiding in bushes behind the business. He was arrested and charged with burglary. He was released from the Seminole County jail without bond on Sunday and is scheduled for a court appearance on Jan. 1.

The business owner said Luckey is one of his employees, a report said.

STEREO STOLEN

Pearl Allen, 69, of 4421 Sunset Lane, Oviedo, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that someone broke into a car parked at her home and removed a stereo and speakers valued at $478 between Dec. 1 and 19.

Israel Bombs Pro-Iranian Guerrilla Base In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli warplanes attacked a pro-Iranian guerrilla base used as a training ground for terrorists attacking Israeli soldiers and the multinational peace-keeping force, the military command in Tel Aviv said.

The attack came as a Saudi envoy outlined a new peace plan for warring Lebanon, and new fighting erupted between the army and anti-government troops despite the declaration of three cease-fires in a single day.

Rafic Hariri, Saudi Arabian mastermind of the Sept. 26 truce that temporarily ended bloody battles between the army and the Syrian-backed Druze in the Shouf mountains, was expected to meet today with Lebanon's various warring factions, state-run Beirut radio reported.

A Lebanese government spokesman said Hariri had new proposals for the deployment of the Lebanese army in the Druze-controlled Shouf mountains and in the Moslem Shiite southern suburbs.

Government Tailed Aquino

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Despite earlier denials, the Philippine government monitored the movements of assassinated opposition leader Benigno Aquino during his nine-day journey from exile in the United States, officials disclosed today.

The revelation by special prosecutors investigating the Aug. 21 murder at Manila International Airport tended to support opposition claims that military men knew where and when Aquino's plane would arrive and may have set up his assassination.

Special prosecutor Andres Narvasa revealed the new evidence during testimony this morning by Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile before a five-member panel investigating Aquino's killing.

Enrile denied involvement and said he was unaware the government had monitored Aquino.

KAL Debris Returned

NEVELSK, Soviet Union (UPI) — The Soviet Union turned over to Western officials five crates of wreckage from the downed South Korean jetliner, but no personal effects or human remains of the 269 people killed in the tragedy.

A Japanese Maritime Safety Agency spokesman said none of the objects would help identify the passengers of the airliner.

Santa Job

It's Not Just 'Ho Ho Ho' For Retired Postmaster

By Cindy McAfee

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (UPI) — Tulips and a red fur-trimmed suit are serious business for retired Postmaster John Dudney.

His 200-bulb tulip beds have won him two of his neighborhood's coveted "Most Beautiful Lawn" prizes.

His 38-year-old Santa act has won him the hearts of children throughout the Kentucky and Virginia coalfields.

Dudney is the star of the show when the Santa Special train rolls through the mountains at Thanksgiving time every year, leaving candy and toys behind to put some sparkle into what might be dull Christmases in coal country.

He is the jolly 78-year-old elf on the rear platform of the train who waves and wishes wide-eyed children a "Merry Christmas" as he rolls past cabins with old refrigerators on their porches and along rivers studded with rusting cars.

Despite his arthritis and advancing years, Dudney keeps doing his good deed each holiday season although the laugh is slower in coming and he sits a good part of the trip now.

"As long as I can do the job and they want me, I'll do the job," he said.

His only stipulation: "I don't play Santa Claus anywhere else. My own church would keep me busy all the time."

Dudney is a crusty man who peers out over a healthy belly through thick reading glasses. That belly — and a foot that fit a Santa boot — first got him the job as stand-in Santa in 1947 when the regular Kris Kringle had to leave town during Thanksgiving and would miss the trip. One of Dudney's good friends — A.B. Coleman — managed the Special and convinced him to go along as an elf.

Dudney stood in for Santa No. 1, Joe Higgins, in 1947. When Higgins died two years later, Dudney took over the Santa job and the material his predecessor had just bought for a new Santa suit.

"I've taken care of that suit," Dudney said proudly. "It's imported Scottish serge wool and original rabbit fur."

"Very few people until last year knew who Santa Claus was," said the elderly man who favors bright plaid pants, adding that children used to go to watch the train leave and "figure the fat boy with the satchel was Santa."

"But we all had big bellies so it was rather confusing," he added.

The Special began in 1946 as a "thank-you-for-shopping-with-us" gesture from the Kingsport merchants to their coalfield customers.

"There's always a dollar mark behind everything. They thought it would be a good advertising deal — Southwest Virginia brought in a lot of trade," Dudney said. "If you get down to the nitty-gritty — it was a pretty good sales tactic."

It caught on and is now a tradition in the hills and hollows. It also is a national attention-getter for the upper East Tennessee City of Kingsport.

This year held another first for Dudney. The Kingsport Chamber of Commerce — which sponsors the train — provided him with a relief Santa for the first three hours of the seven-hour trip. But he took over when the bigger crowds began gathering in the middle of Southwest Virginia and rode as usual in Kingsport's Christmas Parade at the end of the trip.

He remembers when the Special was just the ordinary steam-engine passenger train that ran into Kingsport from Shelbyville, Ky. That engine "never brought the train in more than three or four minutes late" even though it slowed in 42 mining hamlets for Santa to toss gifts and goodies from the platform.

"The first trip "was a little bit sad," he said, remembering one stop at a snow-covered coal town where a bare-footed, crippled boy was being carried by his brother. The train of merchants took up a collection for the child.

"There were several pretty good sights like that to see along the way," he said. "We particularly watch for kids who you know have nothing and throw in their direction."

Snoops And Polygraphs

The president's heavy-handed attempt to make tens of thousands of federal employees subject to lie-detector tests in the course of leak investigations was in trouble even before the U.S. Office of Technology Assessment finished its comprehensive review of sharp criticism both from conservatives and liberals. Congress attached a rider to the Defense Appropriation Act prohibiting such polygraph use at least until April of next year. Now that OTA has finished its assessment, there is more reason than ever to hope that this massive invasion of privacy will be permanently abandoned.

OTA did not conduct its own polygraph studies. But in reviewing and evaluating the hundreds of studies that have been done, the OTA review left no doubt that, as OTA put it, "there is very little research or scientific evidence to establish polygraph validity in screening situations, whether they be pre-employment, pre-clearance, periodic or aperiodic, random or 'dragnet.' Substantial research beyond what is currently available or planned would have to be conducted in order to fully assess the scientific validity of ... the administration polygraph proposals."

The conclusion isn't new — it's been made in many other reviews and studies — nor does OTA suggest that the polygraph is without merit "as an adjunct to typical criminal investigations of specific incidents." But as a respected arm of Congress, OTA does make a powerful statistical case of how in widespread screening only a small margin of error — a margin smaller than that which can be expected, according to most existing studies — will produce many "false positives." People identified as lying who, in fact, are only nervous.

Significantly, OTA also reports that the CIA and the National Security Agency, the intelligence agencies which now use the polygraph, appear to employ it more to elicit information (meaning that they use it to intimidate subjects into volunteering information) than to screen out liars. The NSA has acknowledged that "the polygraph examinations results that are most important to NSA security adjudicators are the data provided by the individual during the pretest or post-test phase of the examination."

That, of course, is perfectly legitimate in the dirtier sectors of espionage and counter-espionage. It's not legitimate as a device any federal bureaucrat can use on any subordinate with a security clearance to determine who has been saying or doing things the supervisor doesn't like. As many people in private industry have discovered to their dismay, once an examination is under way, there is never any guarantee what questions will be asked or in what way privacy will be invaded. There is a message here not only with respect to the 112,000 federal employees Ronald Reagan wants to make eligible for this sort of snooping but for the estimated 1 million other Americans who are polygraph-tested by their employers every year.

Readiness Problem

The Navy acknowledges that only four or five of its 14 aircraft carriers can go into sustained operations at any one time.

The reason is that there are not enough spare parts, fuel, ammunition and other items to go around. Carriers now find it necessary to use a practice called "cross decking" to keep on station. They transfer needed items from ship to ship while at sea.

The government's General Accounting Office says in a report that, for the past three years, the Navy has spent too much money building toward its goal of a 600-ship fleet and not enough to keep its existing vessels at the proper state of readiness.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, chairman of the Government Operations panel, said there's reason for concern. He said funds for new ships and aircraft have increased 99 percent while readiness allocations have increased only 17 percent.

The GAO report also said that less than 60 percent of the Navy's tactical aircraft are ready for combat on any given day. Minimum requirements call for 70 percent to be combat ready.

Navy Secretary John F. Lehman objects to the findings of the report. He said the situation is much better than when he took office three years ago.

We hope so. A vast array of major naval vessels unready for combat is of little use.

We want our Navy vessels in shape before they ship out to sea. It is more important to maintain and supply the ships and aircraft we already have than to go out and buy new ones.

BERRY'S WORLD

"No two are exactly alike. They each have names and adoption papers. This here's Linda Mae."

Do you have an employee 55 or older who has earned some special recognition for the outstanding job they are still doing? Why not nominate him (or her) for the "You're Still Ticking" awards being co-sponsored by the Department of Labor and Employment Security Job Service of Florida and Timex Corporation?

This state-wide award will recognize the talents, skills and experience of older workers, who are currently holding paid positions with Florida employers. All occupational areas will be considered.

Nominations are being accepted now from employers and they must be received by Jan. 3. Nomination forms are available from the local Job Service Office. Completed forms should be sent to Job Service of Florida, 200 S. French Ave., Sanford, Fl. 32771 (Attn. Jim Dietrich).

Last year's winners ranged in age from 65 to 83. The 1984 awards will be presented to six winners and one of the six will be the grand prize winner (the oldest most productive worker still on the job) to be announced at the National Employ the Older Worker Week Seminar on March 9 at Sea World, Orlando.

Each winner will receive watches and home computers from Timex, free lodging for two nights from Quality Inn Orlando, B.F. Skinner's new book, "Enjoy Old Age" and reimbursement for transportation to Orlando.

In addition the grand prize winner will receive two round-trip tickets to any U.S. or Caribbean destination to which Eastern Air Lines flies and Ford Motor Co. will provide a 1984 LTD Crown Victoria on loan for one year.

Productivity and value of the employee are the key considerations. Emphasis will be placed on current productivity as well as past achievements.

The Parent Resource Center of Seminole Community College is offering a fun/fant/Toddler Enrichment Lab Jan. 10-April 12, 1984. Mothers and their babies (up to 36 months) are invited to attend the lab which stresses effective and positive parenting attitudes. There will be guest speakers on topics of interest to new parents. Mothers and babies meet together three times a week on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon. The Wednesday morning class features a special kindergarten session.

Tuition is $32. Students may enter until the class is full. For information call 323-1450 Ext. 117. To register go to the SCC Admissions Office in the Administration Building.

Medicare information, help in filling forms and help in finding what is happening with your claims is available to senior citizens each Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon in the Casselberry Senior Center, 200 N. Lake Triplet Drive. Ellen and Elliot Hesse and Emil Grohs are the new volunteers, who have taken special classes in understanding Medicare forms and Social Security requirements. They come on alternate weeks. No appointments are necessary, but it is helpful to call so that they can tell you what information to bring with you, according to Valerie Barber, center manager.

Real Public Opinion

In a fascinating article in Policy Review, Dr. Russell Kirk refers to the "disparity between popular convictions and the attitudes of quasi-intellectual Manhattan." It is very important to make a distinction between the two.

All too often, popular convictions are described in terms of what is popular on television or what passes for truth in the pages of the major metropolitan media such as The New York Times and the Washington Post. Such material is not necessarily the stuff of popular convictions. It is the opinion of a small number of manipulators of information. The American people don't need television networks to tell them what is reality or what they should think, or even what someone said. For years, the networks have had the annoying habit of recapping what was said in presidential addresses — whether of Jimmy Carter or of Ronald Reagan. In so doing, they engage in selective interpretation and attempt to fashion public opinion.

This process of opinion-molding, or attempted opinion-molding, is one of the most disturbing phenomena in our country today. Special pleading and one-sided presentations are the tools of many influential television journalists. They form a significant part of a substantial class of opinion-makers whom no one has elected but whose influence is almost all-pervasive.

Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick addressed this situation in a recent interview with The Times of London. Mrs. Kirkpatrick noted that "We know well enough that the publication of textbooks and the control of the media are in the hands of a relatively small number of people who decide without public accountability what should be said in textbooks, shown on the television screens, and advertised through the length and breadth of 50 American states. These people are unelected. They are, in the technical, political scientist's sense of the word, irresponsible, because they are accountable to no one for the use of this enormous power. In this technical sense, the media constitute the largest concentration of irresponsible power in the contemporary United States."

The local newspaper, of course, is accountable to a community opinion. National journals, such as the new USA Today newspaper, are not similarly accountable. Television stations, even when locally owned, are dependent on the networks for news and the opinion that passes for news. The power of the major media, principally television, is often used to disrupt the morale and cohesion of the nation, as was the case during the war in Vietnam and now in regards to the communist attempt to dominate Central America.

Congress has never made a serious attempt to relate the anti-trust laws to this form of irresponsible power. In the absence of that, the only available constraint on this power is heightened public understanding of the problem and the threat. The comments of Dr. Kirk and Ambassador Kirkpatrick need to be widely disseminated.

Walesa Wants U.S. Sanctions Lifted

WASHINGTON — Nobel Peace Prize winner Lech Walesa has sent an urgent appeal to President Reagan: Lift the economic sanctions against Poland. The sanctions were imposed on the communist military regime in retaliation for suppressing Solidarity, the free labor movement, which Walesa heads.

On the face of it, this is a surprising request from the leader of the suppressed labor movement. Why would he join his persecutors in seeking an end to the sanctions? Walesa has a reason that won't please the Polish regime.

He wants to demonstrate to the Polish people that the country's economic troubles are caused by the communist government's mismanagement and not, as the regime claims, by the sanctions imposed by the United States and other Western nations.

In other words, Walesa believes that lifting the sanctions will deprive the Matter Of Conscience

It sounds like a story from the '60s. The hero is the kind of young man mothers want their sons to become.

He's 23, a surfer, a rock-climbing hobbyist and an outdoorsman. He led his class in primary school and attended one of the best high schools in the country. Soon, he'll graduate from college with a science degree.

He's also facing two years in prison. His crime: refusing to enter his country's army.

But this isn't the United States at the height of the Vietnam War. It's South Africa in 1983, and the young man is one of a small — but growing — number of whites who've actively demonstrated against the role the South African military plays in upholding apartheid at home and expanding it in Namibia.

Most young men like Brett Myrdal — more than a 1,000 — chose to leave the country rather than join South Africa's military. But Myrdal made a different choice. In a country where a white minority exercises absolute control over a non-white majority, Myrdal has cast his lot against the pigmentocracy.

All white South African males must register at 16. Brett registered, but his compulsory military service was deferred until this year because of his continuing education.

In July 1983, he was called up to begin two years service with the Medical Service Corps. He refused to enroll and told the army he would not serve.

"Whites have a role in this country," Brett is quoted in Africa News. "Either they are going to be a part of the [white supremacist] system or they are going to unite for a free and just South Africa. It is immoral to fight against our own people."

Other young men have refused military service, but most have based their actions on religious belief. Now, some are arguing that they cannot fight in a war they consider unjust. One of these, 22-year-old Peter Hathorn, was sentenced to two years in jail in March.

The Committee on South African War Resistance estimates there are over 1,000 white South African war resisters in Britain alone. One white youth has received asylum in the United States after proving — as petitioners must — that he had a "well founded" fear of persecution in his country.

Beyond surface similarities, there is little comparison between the war protesters in America in the 1960s and those in South Africa today.

The white minority government enjoys police-state powers and does not hesitate to use them against anyone — white, colored, Asian or black — who threatens, however peacefully, the rigid system of racial separation and white dominance. Also, there is little support for draft resisters among the white population.

When the South African parliament — an all-white body — recently debated tougher measures against "political objectors" like Brett Myrdal, the opposition party "officially" opposed the strictness of the punishment and the principle. But one opposition leader said, in referring to objectors, "When I hear of this sickening stuff, I feel the easiest way would be to stick them up against the wall as they did in the good old days."

Gen. Magnus Malan, South Africa's defense minister, stated the government's position succinctly: "We can never allow national servicemen to be given a free choice as to whether or not they want to do military duty."

South Africa had no compulsory service during the second world war. Pieter Botha was one of those who didn't serve. "You could join or not, as you pleased, and I preferred not," Botha said recently. "What of it?"

Botha is South Africa's prime minister today, head of the government that is prosecuting Brett Myrdal, who has no such choice.

ROBERT WALTERS

Young Drunk Drivers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Life expectancy has improved significantly throughout most of the 20th century for U.S. citizens in every age group except one — those ranging in age from 15 to 24.

The single leading cause of death in that age group is motor vehicle accidents in which the youthful drivers have been drinking liquor, beer or wine.

There are approximately 25,000 annual traffic fatalities in which alcohol is a factor — and a disproportionately high 8,500 of those who die are under age 25.

The statistics are irrefutable, the evidence is overwhelming and the conclusion is inescapable: Allowing young men and women to drink and drive is the equivalent of sending them on suicide missions that not only result in their deaths but also jeopardize the lives of countless other drivers, passengers and pedestrians.

"Alcohol-impaired driving is nothing short of a national scandal," says James E. Burnett Jr., chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. "Drunk driving is... the most pervasive form of lawlessness in this country."

People of all ages are guilty of driving while intoxicated, but the problem is clearly most severe among the young who lack experience in handling two tasks — driving and drinking — which require a considerable measure of maturity, judgment and restraint.

The results: Those under 25 account for slightly less than 22 percent of all licensed drivers but are involved in 36 percent of all highway accidents and are the victims in 34 percent of all fatal crashes.

"Statistically," says Diane K. Steed, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, "the rate of alcohol-involved fatal accidents for drivers under 21 is almost three times the rate for drivers between the ages of 25 and 45."

Although a nationwide public opinion poll conducted by the Gallup Organization one year ago found that 58 percent of those surveyed who were between the ages of 18 and 21 favored a minimum drinking age of 21, many young people in that age group insist they have a "right" to drink.

They cite the fact that in many states 18 is considered the age of majority when people are legally allowed to vote, marry, enter into binding contracts and serve on juries. None of those activities, however, poses the terrifying threat of death on an epidemic scale.

Equally specious is the argument that if young men can be drafted into armed services and be required to risk their lives for their country at 18, they're also entitled to drink at that age.

The armed forces subject recruits to months of intensive training so they'll know how to handle themselves and their weapons safely. Compared with that, drivers' education is cursory — and drinking training is non-existent.

Nevertheless, many states thoughtlessly lowered the drinking age to 18 in the years immediately following the 1971 ratification of the 26th Amendment to the Constitution, which reduced the legal voting age to 18.

imaginable among industrialized countries in the post-World War II period."

In the past two years, he noted, the average Pole's standard of living has dropped 30 percent, and worse is to come in 1984. A third of all Poles, he said, are already living below the "official so-called minimum social standard of living" (which is itself only slightly above the minimum level necessary to maintain biological survival).

Yet "under the current circumstances, the Polish government is not held accountable" because of the sanctions alibi, Walesa complained.

Walesa wants future economic aid to be channeled directly to the Polish people. The old process of extending loans to the government is inefficient, he said, and "not only overburdens the present generation ... but it also will oppress our heirs."

Fortress America: Legacy Of Terrorism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — From the rubble of bombed embassies in Beirut and Kuwait to the White House grounds and around the city, the symbols of America are under assault.

The primary threat is no longer from assassination squads and raging mobs that sack and burn embassies. Millions of dollars have been spent to protect ambassadors and secure 256 embassies and diplomatic posts against these assaults.

The terrorism that has plagued the Middle East for centuries has reached America's shores, refined with high yield explosives and the zeal of Islamic radicals eager to sacrifice their lives in suicide missions.

It is a threat the government is racing to deter, at home and abroad.

The cost is seen in security measures that are perhaps forever changing the Washington scene and are more appropriate for a nation at war.

The cost is in restricted access to American diplomatic posts, a tilt toward the method of the Soviet Union — structures built to be impregnable against terrorists crashing into the grounds in explosives-laden trucks.

"Embassies by their nature must be accessible to the public and cannot be made into armed fortresses," State Department spokesman Alan Romberg said. "This limits the types of protective measures that can be taken."

But around Washington and America's foreign outposts, security administrators have imposed immediate restrictions while planning more permanent measures:

—The State Department has sent cables to all its posts with advice on laying pipes and setting up gates to slow or stop a speeding truck.

—Concrete barriers, some 3 feet high and 20 feet long, block entrances to the State Department and around the White House, replacing the temporary ramparts of cars, vans and trucks.

—The only recent attack on a building in Washington was the Capitol, where a time bomb detonated in a corridor near the Senate on Nov. 7 but caused no injuries. Metal detectors screen for visitors explosives and traffic is restricted around the east parking lot. There is consideration about a fence around the Capitol grounds.

—Increased security measures were ordered at the White House in the 1970s, including reinforced gates and fences. Visitors must pass through metal detectors. But the threat can come from above. Now the grounds are protected by surface-to-air missiles that can quickly destroy a diving airplane loaded with explosives.

—At the Pentagon, guards were doubled at the entrances, briefcases and handbags checked, and police cars positioned at access roads. No one may enter the building without a pass bearing the individual's photograph — a measure ordered after a bomb exploded in a fourth-floor washroom in 1972 during the Vietnam war.

—Intelligence is a key factor in thwarting an attack and FBI Director William Webster acknowledges a terrorist attack was stopped by early detection.

"We interdicted a terrorist plot in a public facility in which many, many people might have been killed," Webster said, refusing to give further details.

—As the state of the art in explosives advances, matched with radicals willing to die in their cause, the government must improve its defenses. Many embassies around the world are located on busy streets or are easily visible, tempting targets for terrorists with missiles. This may change.

Since the seizure of the embassy in Tehran, Iran, in 1979 and the burning of the embassies in Libya and Pakistan, security measures were improved to include storing information in computers controlled by Washington instead of cabinets and vaults.

Now officials are looking at the location of the embassy itself for "the longer term," an official said. "In some places we are considering the construction of or relocation of embassies."

Periodontal Disease

95% of all adults are affected. Any disease having this ratio had better be well understood. Hence, the reason for this letter.

Periodontal disease is a chronic inflammatory disease that affects the gum tissue, ligaments and bone around the teeth. It causes weakening and ultimate destruction of these tissues which protect and support the teeth and hold them in place. Pyorrhea is an older, outdated term for this disease.

It starts with gum inflammation. If the problem is not corrected the inflammation gradually extends below the gum line. Now the fibers connecting each tooth to its bony socket are affected. As time goes on, the bone will also become involved as the inflammation extends deeper into the fiber area.

What causes it? Bacterial plaque! Plaque, simply defined, is an organized colony of bacteria which causes inflammation and ultimately the breakdown of the gum tissue and bone. Of course, there are also other causative factors which contribute to periodontal breakdown. Examples are missing teeth, food impactions, poor occlusion, etc. Bacterial plaque, however, is the primary cause of periodontal disease.

What are the symptoms?

1. Bleeding gums
2. Excessive formation of calculus deposits
3. Drifting or shifting of any teeth - including fanning of the front teeth.
4. Loosening of any teeth
5. Any swelling in the gingival (gum) area, possibly indicating the presence of an abscess.

Mondale Leads Glenn In Presidential Polls

By United Press International
Former Vice President Walter Mondale leads Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, 47 percent to 19 percent in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, the latest Gallup poll shows.

In Iowa, the first caucus state, the Des Moines Register poll made Mondale a solid favorite while showing that Glenn, D-Ohio, has lost ground to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

The Register's poll said Mondale was favored in the February Democratic caucuses by 43 percent of the 1,001 Iowa Democrats polled Nov. 27-Dec. 6, Glenn by 20 percent and Cranston by 9 percent.

In the Gallup poll, civil rights activist Jesse Jackson and former Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., were tied for third place with 7 percent each. Cranston and former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew had 3 percent each; Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., 2 percent; and Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., 1 percent.

When Democratic poll participants were given a choice between Mondale and Glenn, Mondale was favored 64 percent to 29 percent.

With the other candidates listed, Mondale led Glenn 47 percent to 19 percent among Democrats — up from 34 to 23 percent in late October, the poll said.

The Gallup poll was based on personal interviews taken Nov. 18-21 with 1,504 adults. There were 621 Democrats and 422 Independents.

The Iowa findings represent a loss of 7 percent for Glenn and an equal gain for Cranston since October. During the same period, Mondale has held more or less steady in the range of 40 percent.

The position of the five other candidates remains virtually unchanged from the October poll.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Judge Tells Defendant To Marry Girlfriend

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A man convicted of cocaine possession must marry his pregnant girlfriend to satisfy the judge in the case.

When Circuit Judge Arthur Egan pronounced the sentence on out-of-work lawn maintenance man Duane Keith Brady Monday, he noticed Brady's pregnant girlfriend was in the courtroom along with the couple's two children.

Franza imposed a special condition of probation requiring Brady to marry the woman.

"I did it for the sake of the wife and the kids. They wanted it. He was willing, and, of course, the girl beamed," Franza said. "The best reason was for the kids."

"I figured that at least I would be creating a family unit. That's what we need in this country, more family units."

Cuban Clinic Crackdown

MIAMI (UPI) — Three state agencies are joining in a crackdown on doctors who practice medicine illegally at unauthorized Cuban clinics in Miami, authorities have confirmed.

"This is a serious problem and we are going to respond," said Fred Roche, chief of the Department of Professional Regulation. "We can identify those clinics where doctors are not licensed and are acting illegally and we'll take action."

It was estimated 200,000 to 300,000 Dade County residents rely on the clinics, known as "quintas," for health care.

In October, The Miami News identified 21 clinics operated by 15 corporations that offer medical care in return for monthly payments from members, similar to health insurance premiums.

The clinics are not licensed, nor are they regulated under the state's 10-year-old law governing health maintenance organizations (HMOs). Many of the doctors who work in them are not licensed either.

No Santa In Paddy Wagon

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The driver of a police paddy wagon has been ordered to wear his regulation police uniform — instead of his Santa Claus suit — when he picks up offenders during the holiday season.

Officer Don Kramer caused something of a sensation last Christmas when he donned a red suit and white beard. He offered a hearty Merry Christmas to Miami Beach vagrants as he picked them up and drove them to jail.

EDB Found In Food Corn, Wheat Products Ordered Off Grocery Shelves

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — About 26 corn and wheat products from some of the nation's best-known food companies have been ordered off grocery shelves because they contain excessive amounts of a cancer-causing chemical, state agriculture officials said.

The chemical, ethylene dibromide, has been found to cause cancer in laboratory animals. EDB is used as a pesticide to control nematodes around citrus groves and as a post-harvest fumigant for various crops.

The Environmental Protection Agency has not set a tolerance for certain foods processed from EDB-treated grains. However, state Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner has adopted the 1 part per billion guideline recommended by state health officer Stephen King.

On Tuesday, Conner ordered department inspectors to place stop sale orders on all product lots identified as containing more than one part per billion of EDB. He also said consumers with products bearing the affected lot numbers should return the product to the place of purchase.

The announcement was Conner's third since Dec. 9, when he said EDB had been found in certain products produced by Martha White of Nashville, Tenn., and R.H. Hammond of Hialeah. He expanded the list last week and included certain products from Olde Tyme Foods of Dallas.

Conner said the latest findings resulted from a series of tests department scientists conducted on more than 45 food product samples this weekend.

He said the products involved six companies, Arnett's Milling Co. of Tifton, Ga.; General Mills of Minneapolis; Monterey Canning of San Mateo, Calif.; Pillsbury of Minneapolis; Proctor and Gamble of Cincinnati; Quaker Oats of Chicago; and Martha White.

Both the EPA and the state of Florida have banned EDB as a soil fumigant.

...Sisters

"After a few minutes, he came running out of the store and ran off. I think the man who came in before him was in on it. My sister Ann got bruises on her back, her arms, her knees. This is just awful! We couldn't even go to Apopka to see our dying sister after that. We had to call someone to have them tell her we wouldn't be over. That's terrible! She was feeling quite ill, too."

"The man couldn't open the cash register, but he did take Ann's billfold from her purse with money and credit cards, but he didn't get the money she had put in an envelope that was still inside her purse."

"When we went into the shop after he left, we found his shoe. He must have lost it during the struggle with Ann."

Sanford police today are looking for the man who robbed the women. A suspect is described as a black male, between 20 and 25 years old, six-foot tall, 175 pounds and was last seen wearing a green and white pullover, a baseball cap and sneakers.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Sub-zero temperatures spread from the Rockies to New England today, filling up shelters for the homeless and making it almost too cold for utilities to make heat. Up to 3 more inches of snow buried the already white Plains. At least 41 deaths from Washington to Mississippi have been blamed on the record cold. Winter officially starts at 5:30 a.m. Thursday. Today's coldest temperatures were in eastern Wyoming, with Casper 32 degrees below zero. In the East, Watertown, N.Y. was 21-below today. As much as 3 inches of fresh snow fell late Tuesday and early today in Iowa. Heavy snow also was reported in Kansas and Nebraska, adding to a snowpack that reached 10 inches Tuesday. Winter storm warnings for more snow and freezing rain were in effect for southeastern Nebraska and in Arkansas and southeastern Missouri. Winter storm watches were posted today in southeastern Oklahoma and in Illinois, Wisconsin and eastern Minnesota through Thursday. Nearly 25 record low temperatures were set Tuesday from the Great Lakes and the Upper Mississippi Valley to the Texas Plains. Average mean temperatures for the day were about 50 degrees below normal, the National Weather Service said. The falling temperatures heightened the anxieties of those caring for the homeless.

66 Graduate SCC Police Training School

More than five dozen reserve and auxiliary law enforcement officers from central Florida graduated recently from the Seminole Community College Police Training School. Seminole County Sheriff John E. Polk was guest speaker during ceremonies honoring the 66 graduates. To graduate from the three-month, basic recruit course, the student must attend 320 hours of classroom work held Monday through Thursday, 3:30 to 10:30 p.m. The officer hopefuls spend five weekends learning how to shoot a firearm. The students also study constitutional law, criminal law and laws regarding the use of a firearm. Upon graduation, the students can be certified in the state of Florida as full-time law enforcement officers.

John Govorukh, left, Winter Springs police chief, gives firearms awards to Timothy Black, center, of the Sanford Police Department, and Kenneth Gast from the DeLand Police Department.

No Grand Jury Set To Probe Alleged Threats At School

State Attorney Douglas Cheshire's office has no intention of calling the grand jury into session in the near future concerning a purported threat against the lives of two Seminole High School students, a spokesman said today.

The threat had been reported to the Seminole County School Board by Merle Parker of Sanford, who heads the non-profit corporation, "War on Drugs Inc."

Parker said there would be a grand jury investigation.

"We have no knowledge about any incident involving two high school girls," said Sandy Maisak, secretary to Seminole County's chief assistant state attorney Ralph Eriksson.

"I've checked with both the juvenile division and the chief assistant and there are no plans to bring in the grand jury at anytime in the future," Ms. Maisak said.

Parker told the School Board two Seminole High School girls were threatened with death if they revealed any information concerning one or more Seminole County adult employee's trafficking in drugs.

Parker said he would not or could not name the students involved.

He also said that a grand jury investigation is being conducted or will be conducted in the matter.

Ms. Maisak said today Cheshire's office has no knowledge of the purported incident. She added, however, if a grand jury probe were to be held, the subject of it would not be revealed in advance.

Meanwhile, the report of the alleged incident has been turned over by School Superintendent Robert Hughes to Seminole High School principal, Wayne Epps.

And Epps said Tuesday his hands are tied, since neither the names nor descriptions of the students have been given to him.

"If we had even a description of the students we could perhaps identify them and offer them help with the problem," Epps said, "but we have been given no information other than a copy of a letter Parker wrote to Hughes."

Epps said Seminole High School takes very seriously threats of any kind made to a student.

"We never allow any student to threaten another for any reason. We always deal with a student making a threat and put an end to it. We would rather handle it before it becomes a problem," he said.

Normal practice is to investigate when a threat is made and to have a conference with both sets of parents. Epps said, "We have never had a death threat against any of our students to my knowledge," he said.

Dolls, Bears And Worms

Toy Sales Booming

By Don Mullen
United Press International

Toys are playing Jingle Bells on cash registers this season and the Cabbage Patch kids aren't the only stars. Bears that care, worms that glow and cars that talk are pulling anxious elders into stores.

A survey around the country showed that dolls of just about every shape and size are top sellers.

The demand stretched from the ageless Barbie and G.I. Joe to Baby Skates, who does her bit without batteries, and all the "Star Wars" and "Masters of the Universe" good guys and bad guys.

There was even a hot-selling Mr. Potato.

"Have you ever seen a character on TV who wears earrings yet is still manly?" said Washington, D.C. clerk Michael McKinney, in trying to explain the popularity of the mean "A Team" character with the Mohawk haircut.

The Talking Knight 2000, a replica of "Kit," the fantasy auto on the TV show "Knight Rider," was another top seller.

Preschoolers could look forward to Alfie 2, a computer toy, and stockings full of the old standbys — Legos, toy trucks and cars, wooden trains and puzzles.

"Some of our biggest items are old faithfuls like Mr. Potato Head and Cootie," said assistant store manager Roni Helford in Woodfield, Ill.

If any stores had a Cabbage Patch doll, they were mum about it. The other 1983 super stars were the many pastel varieties of Care Bears, with their designer belly buttons, and the soft and fuzzy Gloworm that lights up when its stomach is pressed.

Many stores reported popular toys sold out, and some manufacturers said they had made their last shipments.

"Cabbage Patch? Oh, gosh. Nobody can find them, they're gone," said an Albuquerque store clerk. "Care Bear? They're gone. Big Foot (a toy truck)? Those are all gone, too."

Penny Richman, spokeswoman for the Toy Manufacturers of America, said most stores order their toys at the New York shows months before the holiday season opens.

But Coleco Industries, the firm that produced the Cabbage Patch dolls, reported Santa's Hong Kong elves are still turning out thousands of the poochy-faced creatures and planeloads of them were winging westward.

"We're shipping 200,000 a week," Coleco spokeswoman Barbara Wruck said. "By December 31st, we will have shipped and sold in excess of 2.5 million."

Some stores reported electronic games had taken a back seat to traditional toys.

"In the last two or three years, people have been spending big bucks on electronic games," said Des Moines, Iowa, store manager Dick Pitts, adding that this year he believes they are "going on the shelf."

One of the best selling board games around the country is Trivial Pursuit, a quiz game with thousands of trivia questions.

"Nothing is close to Trivial Pursuit — we sell dozens and dozens daily," said Chicago game store manager Lori Guttentag.

G.I. Joe, the bane of anti-war and anti-violence groups, who has been fighting his way into boys' hearts for a generation, was holding his own with dozens of pieces of miniature fighting equipment to choose from.

"Peers have a lot to say about it," said suburban Philadelphia store clerk Richard Ryan. "You overhear in the aisles kids pointing to 'the dolls,' saying, 'Mike got this, Joey got that.'"

Administration Pulls Back On U.S. 'Tilt' Toward Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz was openly irritated this week when he faced a small cyclone of criticism from Tunisian and Moroccan leaders about what had been described as the new policy of U.S.-Israeli "strategic cooperation."

In his irritation, Shultz blamed the press for "misreporting" the new relationship. He also suggested that the Tunisian and Moroccan leaders had misunderstood the situation.

But he did something even more important as well. The administration has taken measures to roll back on the strong evident "tilt" toward Israel in the Middle East and left the way open to roll back even more.

One senior State Department official even denied to reporters aboard Shultz's plane that there ever was such a thing as "strategic cooperation" between the United States and Israel. He suggested reporters made it up in sort of a mass trance.

However, reporters aboard the plane pointed out that they didn't invent the phrase. It was used by Undersecretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger during his recent trip to Israel, which set the stage for Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's trip to Washington in November.

Shultz carefully avoided the use of that phrase, and used a milder description — "political and military cooperation."

He then took pains to minimize the measures that had been announced with so much pride, warmth and fanfare at the White House during the Shamir visit and which had caused Shamir to leave Washington in such a glow of good spirit.

—On the trade concessions that Israel will get when selling goods to the United States, which could amount to millions of dollars in tariff benefits, Shultz said this is something he always favored for all countries, and it was no special favor to Israel.

He pointed out that the United States simply matched the same trade concessions that the European Community already had given Israel.

—On the new plan to give, rather than lend, $2.6 billion in U.S. aid to Israel, Shultz said that other countries also had requested the same favor. As soon as he returned to Washington, it was announced that the United States was thinking about granting the same kind of concessionary aid terms to Egypt, and that other countries such as Honduras and South Korea soon may get the same kindly treatment.

The reason is that old loans are coming due and countries like Israel and Egypt are using up new U.S. assistance paying off old U.S. loans. As a result the aid program is losing its political effectiveness and had simply become an elaborate way of recycling American money overseas.

In other words, as Shultz and other administration officials described the new economic relationship with Israel, it was no big deal.

Even the U.S.-Israeli political and military relationships were played down since Shultz returned from North Africa where — in his words — he got "an earful" of criticism about the partnership.

Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Dam pointed out that the idea of joint U.S.-Israeli military exercises is not unique and, in a Voice of America interview, he pointed out that the United States had engaged in similar Middle East exercises with the military forces of Morocco, Oman, and Egypt.

Faith In Japanese Autos Up

DETROIT (UPI) — The last five years saw American and Japanese cars switch places in buyers' perceptions of their dependability and minimal need for repair, a study shows.

In this year's Consumer Satisfaction Index by the Power Newsletter of Westlake Village, Calif., 30 percent of the respondents said Japanese cars were good to excellent. European cars came in second with 25 percent and American autos ranked third with 24 percent.

In 1979, 28 percent of respondents gave American autos a good-excellent rating. The Europeans came in second that year with 21 percent and the Japanese ranked last with 19 percent.

The survey results found car buyers in the youngest age group — 25 to 34 — have the highest opinion of Japanese autos' dependability but all age groups ranked them first.

In the youngest group, 39 percent gave Japanese cars a top rating, with 34 percent favoring European autos and 21 percent giving American cars a good-excellent rating.

Middle-aged car buyers — those in the 35 to 49 age group — also gave the nod to Japanese autos with 33 percent granting the top rating. European autos came in second with 29 percent and American cars third with 21 percent.

Among older buyers aged 50 to 59, 26 percent gave Japanese cars the top rating. American cars came in second with 24 percent and European products got a 22 percent good-excellent rating.

The greater the income, the more favorable dependability rating received by Japanese cars, the survey found.

Among car buyers with incomes of $30,000-$39,000, 34 percent gave Japanese autos the top rating. This increased to 41 percent among those earning $40,000-$49,000, and reached 44 percent among the $50,000-plus income group.

European cars received the top rating of 27 percent of the $30,000-$39,000 group, 35 percent of the $40,000-$49,000 group and 34 percent of the $50,000-plus income group.

American autos received a good-excellent dependability rating from 22 percent of those in the $30,000-$39,000 group, 19 percent of those in the $40,000-$49,000 group and 18 percent of those in the top income group.

'Tis The Season For Charity At Sanford Season's Restaurant

The management and employees of Seasons restaurant at 2565 S. French Ave., Sanford, are doing everything they can to brighten the holidays for the family which they have adopted.

Teresa Bruce, restaurant assistant manager, said the mother is trying to make it on her own, but it is rough, going as a single parent with three children. She said the woman has a job which pays her minimum wage, making her ineligible for welfare or food stamps.

The mother has two boys, 4 and 8 years, and a girl, 7. The oldest boy has cerebral palsy. When asked what he would like for Christmas, his only request was for a wallet to put pictures in, said Ms. Bruce.

The restaurant is providing the family with two meals a day for two months and has set up a collection box for donations. More than $100 has been contributed so far and the money will be given to the mother prior to Christmas. Several of the employees have also brought in Christmas gifts for the children.

"The little girl had a birthday recently and we gave her a birthday party at the restaurant complete with birthday cake," said Ms. Bruce. "I slipped out the back and went out and bought her a present. I got her an outfit — just blue jeans and a top — but she was so happy. She said 'This is the best birthday I ever had.' It made me cry."

Ms. Bruce said anyone wishing to help the family out may bring donations to Seasons. — Jane Casselberry

Change In Game Not Hampered By Age Or Ability

Every player playing the game, regardless of his level, can become more successful by changing or adding to his game.

Even some of the top pros have added to their games in recent years. Chris Evert-Lloyd has developed a solid overhead smash; in the past Chris would often let the lob drop and hit a groundstroke rather than try to hit the smash. Chris has also developed a good net game which before was not part of her game.

Bjorn Borg worked hard on his serve during his early years and developed a serve that was a strong weapon, and not just something to start the point with. Martina Navratilova added a topspin backhand to her game, thus allowing her to pass off the backhand side.

Perhaps the most dramatic change took place with world-class Australian pro, Paul McNamee. Long a great doubles player, McNamee changed from a one-handed backhand slice to a two-handed topspin backhand. This was after he had been playing the game for many, many years. He has become a superior singles player ever since and his ranking has vastly improved.

The age or ability should not be a factor in whether or not to change, it can be done at 15 or 50 at the beginner level or the professional level.

If you are ready to change your game you must remember that it will take a lot of hours on the practice court and perhaps some time with your local pro. Don't expect quick results and try not to become frustrated.

Most people actually play worse when they are making changes and this is the reason a lot give up on trying to change and go back to their old game. You must be patient and give yourself time to develop a new stroke or improve an old one.

You must remember that no matter who is helping you and how many times your pros show you how to execute a stroke it is ultimately up to you to put in the long hours practicing it, if you don't work on it the stroke will never develop.

There are several additions or changes that might make you a better player — some may be a change you need to make. The most common are players who need changes in their serve. Perhaps you need to change the toss, or the grip. If your serve has good pace and good direction and depth then leave it alone. If it's not dependable then you need to change.

Can you hit a deep sliced second serve? Can you come in behind your first and second serve (especially in doubles)? If not, then you need work in this area.

How's your footwork? If you are sluggish on the court and can't seem to get to the ball you should learn some good quickness and footwork drills and work on them.

Learn to play the net. Many good baseline players have weak volleys. Practice net play. Learn to make deep and crisp volleys. Practice net play enough that you lose your fear of being at net.

Is your backhand a weak shot? If so, you will want to switch to the two-hander. Most of the top baseline players in the world use the two-hander.

If you have only a sliced backhand you should definitely work on a top-spin backhand. You just can't pass effectively without it. The same holds true for the forehand.

Learn a disguised lob and a good drop shot. Is your overhead weak? Maybe a grip change is what you need — then lots of practice.

Not all changes are physical. Many players need mental and emotional changes in the way they go about playing the game. Use your head, don't play the same way on every surface — learn to play in the wind, sun or hot weather.

Knowing what your weaknesses are and what needs added or improved is the first step. Get some help and then go out and practice, practice, practice. In time your game will improve greatly.

Seminole, Lake Mary To Meet Again

Tribe Butchers Mt. Dora, Rams Rout Oviedo In Outlook Tourney

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Sanford Seminole coach Willie Richardson and Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson must be wondering if the traditional holiday might be arriving three days early, Thursday (the 22nd). After the Seminoles butchered Mount Dora and the Rams hammered Oviedo Tuesday night in the opening round of the Oviedo Outlook Tournament, the two cross-town rivals will soon be meeting for the second time this month.

Marlette and his Tribe will be out to avenge a loss to the Rams on Dec. 5 while Richardson and the Rams are gunning for two straight over the Seminoles. Both teams have today off to prepare for Thursday night's battle which tips off at 7 at Seminole Community College.

"We'll definitely be ready," Marlette said of Thursday's rematch. "The kids really played well tonight (Tuesday) and I hope we can continue it Thursday."

"It might be pretty scary Thursday night," Richardson said. "They (Seminole) are really going to be jacked up for us."

In first round action tonight, Lake Brantley goes up against Lake Howell at 7 and Stuart South Fork goes up against Lyman, the defending Oviedo Outlook champions, in tonight's second game.

Tuesday night's first game saw Lake Mary roll to a 20-8 lead after one quarter and the Rams romped to a 84-38 victory over Oviedo's Lions. Fred "Slamma Jamma" Miller and Billy Dunn were deadly from the outside Tuesday as Miller poured in a game-high 22 points, while playing only three quarters, and Dunn tossed in 20. Andre Gray added nine points for the Rams while Darryl Merthle and Albert Flores netted eight each.

Oviedo Outlook

"We needed a win like this," Richardson said. "We took advantage of Oviedo's weaknesses. We're capable of playing with anyone if we can keep exploiting their weaknesses."

Steve Cohen was the only Oviedo player in double figures as he tossed in 12 points. Oviedo was without 6-6 center Mike Schwab who is out with an injury and the Lions lost another key inside player Tuesday as 6-5 center-forward Darrin Reichle was sidelined with a broken finger.

The Rams hit on 10 of 16 shots from the floor in the first quarter and Oviedo hit only 2 of 7 and also committed 10 turnovers as Lake Mary took a 12-point lead, 20-8, into the second. Oviedo cut the lead under 10 in the second quarter, but Miller and Dunn closed the first half with a flurry and the Rams took a 36-21 lead at halftime. Oviedo made only 5 of 21 shots from the floor in the first half while Lake Mary hit 17 of 31.

Lake Mary blew the game wide open at the beginning of the third quarter by reeling off 12 straight points to take a 48-21 lead. By the time the third quarter was over, the game was history as Lake Mary took a 58-29 lead into the final period which saw both teams flood the floor with reserves.

Lyman Favored To Win Oviedo Girls Tourney

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds will be the favorite in the first annual Oviedo Girls Christmas Tournament which gets under way tonight at 5:30 at Seminole Community College with host Oviedo going up against Orlando Colonial. Lyman will play its first round game Thursday night at 5:30 against Orlando Boone with the two winners meeting in the championship game Friday night at 7.

Quickness is the key for the Lady Greyhounds who have compiled a 4-2 record thus far. Host of Lyman's starters are capable of averaging in double figures including guards Valerie Jackson and Kim Gorum, both seniors, and forwards Kim Forsyth, only a sophomore, and senior Kim Lemon.

Jackson is one of the best shooting guards in Central Florida and she is among the leaders for the Greyhounds in scoring, assists and steals. Gorum was the assists leader last season, but she has been called upon to do more scoring this season and has responded well. In her last outing, against Daytona Beach Mainland, Gorum poured in a season-high 24 points.

Lemon, who missed half the season last year, is proving she will be a key for the Lady Greyhounds this season. Lyman lost 5-11 center Vikki McMurrer to graduation and Lemon is being counted on to take up the slack underneath. Forsyth has really come along well for Lyman after being moved up from the junior varsity team last year in Lemon's absence. Only a sophomore, Forsyth gives the Lady Greyhounds something to build around for the future and she continues to improve with the more experience she gets.

VALERIE JACKSON

Lyman's biggest competition of the three teams in the tournament will be Oviedo's Lady Lions. The fate of the Lions in the tournament lies in the hands of senior Fayette Robinson the leading rebounder and second-leading scorer in the county last year. Robinson has been hampered by an injury suffered during volleyball season and she hasn't been at 100 percent in any of the Lady Lions' games thus far.

While Robinson is the leader, the Lions have a lot more talent with sophomore guards Stephanie Nelson and Natalie Barth and junior forwards Mary Lokers and Brenda Redway. Nelson and Barth haven't reached their potential yet, but look for Oviedo to start rolling when they do. Lokers has performed well inside with Robinson coming back from her injury.

Boone and Colonial, out of the Metro Conference, are two of the weaker 4A teams around, so look for those two teams to be playing in the consolation game while Oviedo and Lyman should be meeting in the finals.

Jones Upends Seminole JV

The Orlando Jones junior varsity overcame a 10-point halftime deficit and rallied to a 58-55 victory over Sanford Seminole's JV in the opening round of the Lake Mary Boys JV Christmas Tournament Tuesday night at Lake Mary High.

In today's action, Jones goes up against Lyman at 2 p.m. while Lake Brantley, a 53-33 winner over Orlando

JV Basketball

Boone Tuesday, takes on host Lake Mary at 4. The two winners in today's game meet in the championship Thursday at 5 p.m. Tonight's losers meet in the third place game Thursday at 3 while Boone and Seminole meet in the consolation game Thursday at 1.

Behind the clutch play of Robert Hill and Darryl Williams, Seminole led by as much as 15 points and took a 10-point lead, 36-26, at halftime. Jones began trimming down the lead in the third quarter but Seminole still led by five, 44-39, going into the fourth. But, Jones came on to outscore the JV Tribe, 19-9, in the fourth quarter to grab the victory.

Hill led the way for Seminole with 21 points. Williams added 16 and Jerry Parker and Mike Wright tossed in seven each. Chris Hicks led Jones with 22 points while Chris Quinn added 16.

In Tuesday's second game, Lake Brantley's JV Patriots ran up a 13-point lead at the half and went on to rout Boone's Braves by 20. Jeff Hardwick led Lake Brantley with 20 points while John Kent tossed in 13 for Boone. — Chris Flister

Wildcats Crawl Past Cincy, 24-11

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati coach Tony Yates knew the only hope his team had of beating No. 1 Kentucky was to play a slow, deliberate game and wait for good shots.

He must have wanted to win very, very badly. As Kentucky partisans in sold-out Riverfront Coliseum chanted "Boring, Boring," the Bearcats slowed the game to a crawl, but still wound up on the short end of the 24-11 final score Tuesday.

Nevertheless, Yates was pleased with his team's tenacity, if not their flash.

"We have a game plan applicable to our opponents. Our players played the plan out," he said. "Staying with them for so long gives our players confidence."

As expected, Kentucky's "twin towers," Sam Bowie and Melvin Turpin, led all scorers. What was unusual is that they did it with a mere six points each. Mark Dorris was high man for Cincinnati, with five.

The game boosted Kentucky's record to 6-0, while Cincinnati fell to 1-7.

It was a game in which pass completions would have been a more fitting statistic than field goals made. Cincinnati players ran three or four minutes at a time off the clock by passing the ball between them.

Patriots And Hawks — It's A Natural Match

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It's only natural that Lake Howell and Lake Brantley should meet on the basketball court tonight at 7 in the Oviedo Outlook Christmas Tournament at Seminole Community College.

Both are 1-6 for the season and starving for a victory. The famine has reached gigantic proportions. Neither has won a game since Lake Brantley's Tipoff Tournament when the Patriots and the Silver Hawks both whipped winless Wymore Tech.

Lake Howell has lost six straight. Lake Brantley has lost five. Tonight's matchup is, indeed, perfect. Brantley coach Bob Peterson and Howell coach Greg Robinson just hope it doesn't end in a tie.

"We need a victory bad," said Robinson. "It will give our players the confidence they need. We need to win one now and not later."

Robinson felt his Silver Hawks may have earned a moral victory last Friday when they lost, 49-40, to 10th-ranked Seminole. Lake Howell slowed the game down and surrounded Sanford's Willie Mitchell as if he was the Alamo.

The Hawks were within two points in the fourth quarter, but couldn't get the big basket to pull even. On three occasions, they missed easy shots after breaking open under the basket.

Junior Crockett Bohannon, a 6-2 forward, has been Lake Howell's most consistent player. He is a rugged rebounder who averages 10 points per game. He has hit 30 of 56 shots for 54 percent.

Helping Bohannon inside is 6-0 junior Keith Woodridge, who leads Howell in rebounds with 5.2 a game. He is also a top free throw shooter with 20 of 28 from the line. Senior Allen Banyascki completes the front line with Jeron Evans also seeing a lot of playing time.

Guard Scott Anderson and Hayward Beasley complete the lineup, but Lake Howell's best player — Efrem Brooks — will also see a lot of playing time. "Efrem has been injury-prone lately," said Robinson about his 12.5-points-per-game scorer. "He just can't seem to get over the flu."

Peterson is impressed with Bohannon, Brooks and Banyascki. "Bohannon is really tough on the boards and Brooks is a streaky shooter. When he gets hot, look out," said Peterson. "Banyascki is a very scrappy player. He's a battler on the boards."

Peterson knows Lake Howell is desperate, like his Patriots. "They're hungry," he said.

A battle, Robinson feels, will be decided by rebounds. "We have to rebound with them," he said. "They're a pretty good outside shooting team, but we have to rebound and be quicker."

Peterson probably won't buy the "pretty good" tag. His team is shooting just 35.4 percent from the floor. "We just can't put it in the hole," said Peterson.

The Patriots have one other major malady — they foul too much. The opposition has shot 256 free throws while Brantley has attempted just 157. "Our defense isn't bad, we're just put people on the foul line too much. They have 65 more free throws made than us."

Brantley's big gun is Eric Trombo. The senior swingman has made 54 of 136 shots and 26 of 38 free throws for 131 points and an 18.7 average, which is the best in the county.

After Trombo, though, the Patriots next best scorer is Dennis Groseclose with a 7.7

average. The junior guard is hitting just 28.8 percent of his shot, however, and Peterson hopes he will turn it around pretty soon.

Austin Hodges (5.6 ppg) and "Bad Leroy" Brown (6.0) join the revolving starting lineup along with 6-4 junior Rex Black (4.0 and 26 boards), Mike Garriques, Mike Evans, Todd Hill and 6-8 Greg Courtney.

Another team looking for its second victory — coach Tom Lawrence's Lyman Greyhounds — will play tonight's second game (8:30) against South Fork from Stuart.

"I don't know anything about them," said Lawrence about tonight's foe. "But I know Martin County has got a heckuva program, so I hope all the good kids go to Martin County."

Lawrence's hopes, nevertheless, may be futile. South Fork, a 3A school, is 6-0 on the season, and tournament director Dale Phillips said, "They're loaded."

"We've been getting good play from our guards (Greg Pilot and Laverche Nelson), but our big people haven't done the job. We need somebody to take the ball inside and score."

Lawrence feels that somebody will be 6-3 junior center James

Bob Peterson

Stewart. "I figure any day now James Stewart is going to blossom for us and we'll be all right."

Pilot is one of the best all-around players in the county. He is averaging 13 points per game and has 14 assists. The 6-1 senior is also hitting 51 percent (31 of 61) from the field.

Nelson (8.6 points) has been a bit erratic, but has shown he's capable of putting it in the hole by hitting four jumpers in a row against Seminole.

Lyman's second steadiest player is sophomore Rick Neal, brother of former Lyman sharpshooter Marcus Neal, a husky six-footer, has a nice perimeter shooting touch and is adept at working inside, too. He is averaging nine points a game.

Move Over Christmas For Orange Bowl Festival

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

After Christmas, then what? Football fans have the answer - the Orange Bowl Festival. Time has earned it an international reputation as "South Florida's ultimate celebration and a great winter carnival of events."

But to Orange Bowl members and their wives, Orange Bowl is a way of life. And where do you find the good life that you don't also find the good food?

And now the Orange Bowl wives bring you 600 recipes that have been gathered and kitchen-tested.

Since the Orange Bowl Committee was organized in 1935, annually, open houses are held when food runs rampant, from chili and mashed turnips to steaks and shrimp.

So many pleasant memories involve food. Through the years, prominent people have participated in the Orange Bowl Festival. They have ben wined and dined and have experienced the regional taste sensations that are as memorable as any touchdown scored.

Festival participants have become a part of the Orange Bowl scene and have gone home wishing they could experience more of the exciting adventure that is Orange Bowl.

And this year will be no different when Miami plays Nebraska in the Orange Bowl on Monday, Jan. 2, at 8 p.m.

The colorful orange cookbook with distinctive gold lettering was published this year. It features recipes gathered from former players, coaches, athletic directors, Orange Bowl Committee members, their spouses and others who have been connected with the annual Orange Bowl Festival over the past 49 years.

The public may purchase the cookbook for $19.95 (Florida residents add $1 tax) plus $2.00 for postage and handling. Orders with payment should be sent to Cookbook, Orange Bowl Committee, P.O. Box 350748, Miami 33135. Checks should be payable to the Orange Bowl Committee.

The Table of Contents reads as follows: Kickoff appetizers, Waterboys (beverages), Cheerleaders (accompaniments), Staff (breads), Scrimmages (salads), Training Table (vegetables, rice, pasta, grits), Big Plays (meat, lamb, pork, veal) and Wishbone, (poultry).

Also: Fair Catch (seafood), Shotgun (game), Points After (desserts), Quick Kicks and Scrambles (quick meals, eggs and cheese), Weight Room (lo-cal), Spanish Accents, Orange Bowl Specials and Locker Room (men only).

Here's a sampling of the 600 exciting recipes.

SPINACH SURPRISE DIP

- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese
- 1 cup mayonnaise

- 1 red onion, finely chopped
- 1 package chopped, frozen spinach, thawed and drained
- 1 can water chestnuts, drained and finely chopped
- 1 green pepper, finely chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- Lemon pepper

Mix all together and chill overnight. Grinish with parsley and cherry tomatoes and serve with crackers or potato chips.

CONCH CHOWDER

- 1 pound bacon, diced
- 3 pounds of ground conch
- 1 pound potatoes, finely chopped
- 5 medium onions, minced
- 2 green peppers, minced
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons Maggi seasoning base
- 4 stalks celery, finely chopped
- 4 carrots, finely chopped
- 1 can peeled tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons cumin
- 1 tablespoon oregano
- 1 tablespoon pepper
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons Accent
- 4 quarts water
- 1/4 cup white wine

In a large skillet, cook bacon until fat is barely rendered. Add conch and vegetables and cook until golden. Remove to a large kettle. Add spices and canned tomatoes with water; cook 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Add wine and heat.

GOURMET PINK SAUCE FOR SEAFOOD

- 1/4 teaspoon salt or more to taste
 - 1 teaspoon rosemary
 - 1/2 cup prepared horseradish
 - 3/4 cup pink applesauce
 - 1 cup sour cream
- Mix together well and let stand about 1 hour or overnight for best flavor.

JIFFY HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

- 1/4 cup sour cream
 - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/2 teaspoon mustard
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- Combine ingredients and warm on low burner. Stir until smooth. Do not let boil. Makes 1/2 cup.

EVERGLADES HUSH PUPPIES

- 2 cups corn meal

- 1 cup flour
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 rounded tablespoons baking powder
- 4 eggs
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 13-ounce can evaporated milk

In a medium bowl, stir all ingredients together and drop by teaspoonsful into hot oil and fry until golden. Makes 10 servings.

Martha Linder (P. Scott Linder, Orange Bowl State Director)

ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE

- 2 cans green asparagus, drained
- 2 4-ounce cans mushrooms, drained
- 1 16-ounce can green peas, drained
- 1 can water chestnuts, drained and thinly sliced
- 1 can mushroom soup
- Cayenne pepper (use generously)
- 2 cups grated Cheddar cheese

- 6 pieces white bread
 - 1/2 cup butter, melted
- Butter a large casserole. Layer the asparagus, mushrooms, peas and water chestnuts in it. Combine cayenne with soup and pour over casserole. Sprinkle cheese on top. Break bread into very small pieces. Toss in the melted butter and place on top of cheese. Bake at 325° for 45 minutes until bubbly and brown. Serves 8.

ORANGE FROST

- 1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
 - 1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
 - 2 cups milk
 - 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream
 - Dash of cinnamon and nutmeg (optional)
- In the bowl of an electric mixer, blender container or food processor bowl, combine the 1 pint ice cream and orange juice concentrate; continue beating or blending while gradually adding milk. Taste. If desired, add cinnamon and nutmeg. Pour into glasses and top with scoop of the 1/2 pint ice cream. Serves 4.

Entertaining On Moment's Notice

Many of us are caught between a rock and a hard place when it comes to impromptu entertaining. When friends pop over we want things to be extra special. That includes the foods we serve. Yet, when there's no advance warning it's hard to always be prepared.

It's easy to entertain on a moment's notice with help from a new line of gourmet dips being introduced in this area. Made with real sour cream and a variety of fresh ingredients, Breakstone's gourmet dips provide a homemade flavor while offering the convenience of a ready-to-serve product. Each of the five flavors is packaged in an 8-oz. plastic cup with an inner foil seal and resealable lid.

Gourmet dips can be dressed up to fit any occasion. Add some spice to an evening get-together with jalapeno cheddar dip served in an avocado half with chips. For nibbles with a fresh approach, choose a variety of colorful vegetables such as pea pods, cherry tomatoes, radish roses and cauliflower-ets as dippers for a green pepper filled with toasted onion dip. A loaf of bread comes alive with a flavor of mushroom & herb dip in each bite. To round out the five-flavored gourmet dip line there are also bacon & onion and Chesapeake clam dips.

There's no need for guesswork now when folks drop in unexpectedly. With gourmet dips on hand, you're always ready.

Impromptu entertaining gets a lot of help with convenience gourmet dips. Toasted onion dip fills a green pepper and uses a variety of colorful vegetables as dippers.

Refresh Holiday Leftovers

Turkey sandwiches and reheated vegetables can leave family and friends cold after a festive holiday meal. You've spent enough time in the kitchen already this week, so the makers of Dannon Yogurt have come up with easy ideas which will put that sparkle back into your post-holiday meals.

TURKEY ITALIAN

- 1 8-ounce package spaghetti, cooked and drained
- 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 cups chicken broth or bouillon
- 1 8-ounce container Dannon Plain Yogurt
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 3 tablespoons sherry
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 cups cubed cooked turkey
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

- Preheat oven to 375°.
- Saute mushrooms in 2 tablespoons butter in large skillet until tender.
- Combine mushrooms and spaghetti in large buttered casserole.
- Melt 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan; blend in flour. Add chicken broth; stir until thickened.
- Remove from heat; add yogurt, sugar, sherry, salt, pepper, nutmeg and turkey. Pour over spaghetti mixture.
- Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.
- Bake 20 to 25 minutes until heated thoroughly and lightly browned.

HAWAIIAN SWEET POTATOES

- 2 medium cooked, peeled sweet potatoes
 - 1 cup Dannon Pina Colada Yogurt
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - Salt to taste
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - ¼ cup flaked coconut
- Preheat oven to 400°.
 - Mash until smooth the sweet potatoes together with the yogurt, 1 tablespoon of butter and sugar.
 - Turn into a buttered 9-inch pie plate.
 - Bake for 30 minutes or until lightly browned.
 - While the potatoes are cooling, melt the remaining butter in a heavy skillet over moderate heat.
 - Add the coconut and stir until browned.
 - Sprinkle over the sweet potatoes and serve hot. Super with pork or poultry.

MERRY BERRY MOLD

- 3 8-ounce cups Dannon Mixed Berries Yogurt
 - 1 8-ounce cup Dannon Vanilla Yogurt
 - 1 envelope Knox Unflavored Gelatine
 - ¼ cup cold water
 - 1 16-ounce can whole berry cranberry sauce
- Soften gelatine in water. Heat in a saucepan over low heat, stirring until completely dissolved.
 - Add ½ cup cranberry sauce and bring the mixture to a near boil.
 - Remove from heat and chill for 5 minutes.
 - Stir the fruit up from the bottom of the containers of Dannon Mixed Berries Yogurt.
 - Beat the yogurt thoroughly with the gelatine mixture.
 - Pour mixture into a lightly oiled, one-quart mold. Chill until firm.
 - Unmold and top each serving with a dollop of Dannon Vanilla Yogurt and a spoonful of the remaining cranberry sauce.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

- 3 slices bacon
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup green peppers, stemmed, seeded and diced
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
- 2 cups turkey broth
- 3 cups cut-up, cooked turkey
- 1 (9 ounce) package frozen peas, cooked
- 1 small jar pimentos, chopped
- ½ pound spaghetti, cooked as label directs

Butter
¼ cup toasted, silvered almonds
Parmesan cheese.

Cook bacon until crisp. Remove from pan, crumble and reserve. Add onion and green pepper and cook until soft, but not brown. Remove onions from pan with slotted spoon and add mushrooms to remaining fat. Saute until tender. Remove mushrooms with slotted spoon.

Add flour to fat; cook and stir until thick and bubbly. Remove from heat.

Add salt, celery salt, pepper and broth and cook, stirring gently, until smooth. Add crumbled bacon, peas, turkey and pimentos. Reheat sauce while you cook the spaghetti.

When the spaghetti is done, drain and lightly butter it and spread it evenly over the bottom of a shallow, buttered casserole (a paella pan is ideal). Cover evenly with turkey mixture, sprinkle first with the almonds, and generously with Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler until cheese is slightly toasted. Serves eight.

Microwave Magic

Gifts With Love From Your Oven

The recipes in this column will represent a potpourri of microwave foods that can be used throughout the next few weeks as you entertain guests or perhaps as gifts that you give to neighbors and friends. Each of the preparations are simplified and speeded by the use of the microwave oven.

MICROWAVE CHEESE BALL

- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup chopped green onion
- 1 teaspoon butter
- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
- 2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 package (4 oz.) blue cheese - crumbled
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimento
- 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans

In a small bowl, combine green pepper, onion, and butter. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 30-45 seconds or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Place cream cheese in a large bowl. Reduce power to 50% power. Microwave 1-1/2 minutes or until softened. Stir in vegetables and remaining ingredients except pecans, shape into ball, wrap in plastic wrap. Chill for 2-3 hours. Unwrap, roll in pecans. Serve with crackers.

FRESH ZUCCHINI DIP

- 1 1/2 cups shredded zucchini
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 3/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash of cayenne

Place shredded zucchini in paper towels and pierce to remove excess moisture. In a 1-quart casserole, combine onion, green pepper, and butter. Microwave at 100% power for 1-2 minutes. Stir in zucchini and remaining ingredients. Chill for 2 hours. Serve with chips or vegetable sticks.

These tasty nuts are good to have for an open-house or to package in an attractive container and give as a gift.

HERBED NUTS

- 1/2 cup butter
 - 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
 - 3/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon cayenne
 - 2 cans (12 oz. each) mixed nuts
- Place butter in a 3-quart casserole. Microwave at 100% power for 45-60 seconds. Mix in remaining ingredients except nuts. Then add nuts stirring to coat. Microwave at 100% power for 7-10 minutes or until butter is absorbed. Stir several times during cooking. Spread on paper towels to dry. Store in tightly covered containers.

This pickled sausage is just a little different than the usual cocktail nibbles.

GERMAN SAUSAGE TIDBITS

- 3/4 cup sugar
 - 1 teaspoon pickling spice
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon peppercorn
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1/2 cup cider vinegar
 - 1 pound knockwurst of ring bologna
 - 1 1/2 cups peeled onions or chunks of white onions
- In a 2-quart casserole mix sugar, pickling spice, salt, peppercorn, water and vinegar. Cover. Microwave at 100% power for 1-3 minutes or until boiling.

Cut knockwurst lengthwise in half, then cut into 1/2-inch pieces. Add knockwurst and onions to sugar-vinegar mixture. Cover. Refrigerate for several days. Stir occasionally. Remove knockwurst and onions from the brine to a serving dish. Serve with cocktail picks.

A new 8-week class in microwave cooking will begin at Seminole Community College on Tuesday, January 3.

Best wishes for a happy and safe holiday. See you in the new year!

Microwave Makes Dough Art A Breeze

Mix the enthusiasm of children, the convenience of your microwave oven, and the growing popularity of dough art and you have a recipe for holiday ornaments that will capture the warmth and spirit of the Yule season for years to come.

The mixture works especially well when the children involved are between the ages of 6 and 12 and work with adult supervision, according to Janet K. Felmeth, director of the White-Westinghouse Appliance Company Home Economics Institute.

"Holiday dough art is easy, inexpensive and convenient because all the supplies you need are probably in your kitchen. All that is required for the dough is salt, flour and water. And you can glaze by applying a coat of varnish or shellac, or by spraying or brushing with acrylic," Ms. Felmeth said.

"The children will also be using such other kitchen supplies as a rolling pin, cookie cutters, jar lids, salt shaker, dried vegetables, pasta, food coloring and colored sugars. And ribbons, dried flowers, cake decorations or beads can be attached with white glue."

Ms. Felmeth pointed out that the speed of the microwave oven reduces drying time to minutes. This is an important factor, she stressed, because the project moves along quickly and is suitable to the short attention span of children.

"Another plus is the fact that the microwave oven is safe for children because it remains cool. The ornaments may get hot, but not hot enough to cause burns," she said.

To make the basic dough art, you will need 1/2 cup salt, 3/4 cup warm water and 2 cups of unsifted all-purpose flour.

First, mix the water and salt in a bowl and let stand for five minutes. Add the flour all at once and stir until evenly moistened.

Then turn the dough onto a floured surface and knead 7 to 9 minutes or until it's smooth and pliable. This is an important step. If the dough is not kneaded enough, it will stretch and the shapes will become distorted. Add flour as necessary during kneading to prevent sticking. Knead in coloring, if desired.

Next, form into the desired shapes. Add other pieces of dough by moistening the surfaces that touch. Dried peas, beans or pasta may be used. Then make the holes needed for threading with yarn or ribbon.

Put 4 to 12 ornaments on heavy cardboard which has been sprinkled with salt. Also sprinkle the ornaments with salt.

Microwave at Low (1/2 power) until the dough is almost dry. To determine the microwave time, count the number of pieces and add two minutes. Allow slightly more time for thick shapes and a little less for thin, flat ones. Use potholders to remove the cardboard tray of ornaments and return any moist ones for a few more seconds. Brush off the excess salt.

In a conventional oven, place shapes on a foil-covered cookie sheet and bake at 325 degrees for 1/2 hour.

Finally, allow the pieces to cool and then paint, decorate and glaze as desired. Attach yarn, ribbons and other decorations.

Ms. Felmeth offered these tips for working with dough art:

- Dough may be stored in a plastic bag and refrigerated for 1 to 2 weeks until ready to use. Be sure to separate the colors in different bags. Allow the dough to come to room temperature before forming shapes.
- When making cookie cutter shapes, roll out a portion of the dough on a lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut the desired shapes using cookie cutters, jar lids, a knife or pastry wheel.
- To make wreaths and candy canes, select two pieces of dough of different colors. Roll between the hands to the same thickness and about 4 to 6 inches in length. Place the strips side by side and overlap one over the other to form a twisted rope. Shape into a circle for a wreath or shape like a candy cane. To join the ends of the wreath, moisten slightly and press together. Add a dough bow or a fabric ribbon after drying.
- For a very special wreath, cut a circle of dough, then overlay with a wreath shape. After the dough is dry, cut out a picture of the child and paste it in the center section. Paint the date on the back. This makes a particularly appealing gift for grandparents.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 22, 1983 Several unproductive attachments will be severed this coming year and replaced with new friends with whom you will have much more in common.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you are under obligation to a friend, save yourself embarrassment today by bringing it to her attention before she has to remind you. Major changes are in store for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Capricorn Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Being overly desirous of the approval of friends today could cause you to reject your good ideas and go along with their weaker ones.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Difficulties at work today can be resolved by using your ingenuity. Instead of merely elbow grease. Let mind prevail over muscle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're pretty good at stirring up beneficial prospects today, but you might fail to capitalize on your gains. Your early efforts could count for nil.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Let unselfish impulses motivate you today. Instead of trying to grind out a deal that might be unfair to another, do what's right.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you spend too much time today waiting for others to assist you, you are likely to accomplish only a portion of what you hope to do.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you let your spending get out of hand today, this could put you in a position where you may not be able to get some things you want later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Domestic duties will be more difficult to attend today if you schedule them after your more desirable activities. Reverse your agenda.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Any limitations you feel today will be caused by being to self-centered. Dwell on helping others and the bonds will quickly be broken.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll only have yourself to blame if you allow friends to pressure you into spending more than your budget can bear: Resist their prodings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not try to overstep financial situations presently working in your favor. Instead of deriving more benefits, you could end up with less.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though your better judgment will direct you to do otherwise, there's a possibility you might — regrettably — repeat a past mistake today.

Antacids Are Not For Hiatal Hernia

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you send me your Health Letter on the use and abuse of antacids? I have a hiatal hernia caused by stomach acid, which causes burning in my chest and at times under my left rib.

I have used several antacids, including Tagamet, before bed. I realize I must change my eating habits in the evenings and I wonder if eliminating acid food would help with my problem since surgery is seldom recommended.

DEAR READER — The only reason to use antacids for a hiatal hernia is to neutralize the acid contents of the stomach. Then if the contents leak backward into the lower esophagus they will be less likely to cause irritation.

Tagamet, which is not an antacid, doesn't neutralize acid but does help to prevent the formation of acid in the stomach. There are other similar medicines on the market and others that soon will be marketed.

I'm happy to send you The Health Letter 10-4 on antacids. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

But you should know that you need to do much more to manage any symptoms you are having from esophageal reflux. I presume you have seen a doctor since Tagamet is a prescription drug, but if you have not you should have a careful evaluation.

You need to eat smaller meals and it is important that you have your evening meal at least two hours before going to bed. Give your stomach a chance to empty and you will have less reflux. Coffee, tea, alcohol and cigarettes should not be used.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just read your column about the person who had leg cramps at night and was taking vitamin E. I also had leg cramps at night and had to stand and walk a few steps. I asked my pharmacist what he would recommend and he suggested a calcium preparation. I have taken a calcium capsule every day for several years and have had no leg cramps. They also make your bones stronger as you get older. I just wanted you to know how I solved the problem of my leg cramps.

DEAR READER — Calcium certainly does stop leg cramps for some people. Also it is important for women in particular to have an increased calcium intake as they get older.

Others get relief from vitamin E. Still others get help from quinine or medicines containing quinine. Some get relief by using potassium if they happen to be low on potassium because of taking diuretics.

Others benefit by stretching their leg muscles before going to bed every night. Lean against the wall so you stretch your heel tendons. Bend at the knees and again stretch those tendons.

Learn to sleep on your side with your toes up and not dropped. The dropped foot position facilitates calf muscle cramps. You may need to put a board at the foot of the bed to hold the covers off your feet. Put a pillow next to the board and prop your feet up to prevent foot drop.

Many readers also say they get relief by wearing warm stockings over the calf. Keeping the leg muscles warm probably helps prevent cramping.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
 The student won the first trick with the king of spades over East's queen. Then he led a diamond to dummy's king and led the 10 for a finesse. He knew it was proper technique to finesse that way since he wanted to keep East out of the lead.

If the finesse had worked, he would have been sure of nine tricks, but it failed and now all he could count on was eight. So when West was not obliging enough to lead a second spade, but merely led back a diamond, the student had to fall back on the club finesse, which also was a loser. Back came a spade and the student was down two.

"Two finesesses wrong," he complained. "What should I have done?"

The Professor replied, "Played the hand correctly. If East held that first spade, you would be sure of your contract. If spades are 4-3, you are in no danger. Against the actual 5-2 you would shut out West's spades since you would then be able to finesse against West in both clubs and diamonds."

Actually, there would be an overtrick. After winning the third spade, South takes the club finesse, which loses to East's king. East can lead back anything he wishes, but the student will score the rest of the tricks by taking the diamond finesse the safe way.

Precious Moment

Dick Fess, of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce welcoming committee, admires "Precious Moments Collectible" figurines held by Rae Poff in her shop, Lare's Hallmark Card and Gift Shop. The new store is located in the Village Marketplace at Lake Mary Boulevard and Highway 17-92. The chamber recently held a ribbon cutting to welcome the business as a member. Mrs. Poff's husband, Larry, is co-owner.

Atlantic City Mayor Says He Won't Resign

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Mayor Michael Matthews, target of a federal corruption probe, showed up for work Tuesday for the first time in 11 days and denied speculation he would resign. Matthews went into hiding after FBI agents looking for evidence of extortion raided his office Dec. 9. He pushed through a horde of reporters to get to his City Hall office but refused to comment substantively on the investigation. When asked if he would resign, Matthews said, "Absolutely not. Absolutely not." On Monday, Matthews was in Camden, N.J., where a grand jury is reviewing allegations he accepted a $10,000 cash

"contribution" from an FBI undercover agent posing as a developer interested in buying 21 acres of city-owned land. Matthews did not disclose the nature of the visit, saying only that he went there at the request of his lawyer. A law enforcement source told UPI Matthews went to Camden voluntarily and had not been subpoenaed. Matthews' public appearance Monday was the first since the FBI seized office files and documents during a raid at his office. Among the documents confiscated were Matthews' appointment book and telephone log, a list of contributors and records from his 1982 campaign and a map of city-owned land where developments are planned.

Fords, Kissinger On 'Dynasty'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Former President Gerald Ford, his wife, Betty, and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger made $330 each for their cameo appearances on this week's Dynasty television show. In scenes filmed last October, the three played themselves and joined cast members of TV's prime-time soap opera at the Carousel Ball, an annual event held to benefit the Children's Diabetes Foundation of Denver. In his scene, Kissinger bumps into Alexis Carrington Colby, played by actress Joan Collins, and the two exchange pleasantries. The Fords appear together chatting with Blake Carrington, played by actor John Forsythe, and Krystle Carrington, played by actress Linda Evans, who announce their engagement at the ball. Also to be seen in tonight's episode are oilman Marvin Davis and his wife, Barbara, who hosted the Carousel Ball.

Program Aids Recovery For Women With Cancer

DEAR ABBY: I want to tell you about a fantastic group I recently joined. It's "Encore," a YWCA program specifically designed to meet the needs of a woman following her mastectomy. Encore offers a combination of group discussion and exercise. The discussions provide a supportive atmosphere for women to meet and share common concerns with others who have lost a breast from cancer surgery. (I lost both of mine.) The exercise session combines gentle floor and pool exercises (to music) to tone, strengthen and develop flexibility in those muscles affected after surgery. If you can't swim, no problem. You don't even have to get your hair wet. I go twice a week for an hour and a half. You need not be a member of the YWCA, and the class fee is $2.25 per session. Advance registration is not necessary. Abby, it's so easy for women to participate. I cannot overstate the peace of mind and support Encore has given me in just a few months. Please, please let others know about this wonderful group. It is in about 90 cities in the United States.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You recently published the names of congressmen who have bills pending to correct the Social Security "notch" problem. I noticed that they were all Democrats. Are there no Republicans who are for a bill to correct this injustice to our senior citizens? BORN IN 1919 IN PENN. DEAR BORN: Yes. Of the 34 members of Congress who have co-sponsored H.R. 4093 (Edward Roybal's bill), six are Republicans. They are: Matthew J. Rinaldo, New Jersey; Christopher H. Smith, New Jersey; George C. Wortley, New York; Edward B. Forsythe, New Jersey; George W. Gekas, Pennsylvania; E. Clay Shaw Jr., Florida.

DEAR ABBY: After being awakened by another phone call in the middle of the night, I feel compelled to write this letter. As a doctor's wife I am continually amazed by the number of people who call their physicians at home for the most trivial reasons. We are often awakened between 5 a.m. and 6 a.m. by people who say, "I wanted to catch you before you left home; can I get in to see you today?" Abby, how many doctors bring their appointment books home with them? Don't get me wrong — we don't mind phone calls from patients who are legitimately sick, but most of these calls are not emergencies. The worst ones are from "friends" who call me on my husband's day off and say, "I know your husband is off today and you hardly ever get to see him, but I've had this problem for two weeks..." Doctors are people, too.

and they need their rest. I wish people would stop and ask themselves two questions before they call a doctor at his home: 1. Is this phone call really necessary? 2. Can it wait until morning? A DOCTOR'S WIFE

Pope Meets With Prison Chaplains To Outline Post-Christmas Visit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II met with chaplains from a top security prison Tuesday to plan an elaborate visit with his would-be assassin and some 1,000 other inmates two days after Christmas.

The Vatican gave no details of the meeting with the chaplains of Rome's Rebibbia jail, but Vatican sources said he unveiled detailed plans for his Dec. 27 prison visit and showed increasing interest in the daily life and problems of Italian prisoners.

Justice Ministry sources said last week the pope has asked to go to the jail for a visit during which he is expected to shake hands with 1,000 inmates and have a private meeting with Mehmet Ali Agca.

The 25-year-old Turkish terrorist is serving a life sentence for shooting and wounding the pope in St. Peter's Square May 13, 1981.

The pope inquired after the health of Agca during the audience Tuesday and told the chaplains he plans to dedicate his Rebibbia address to prisoners around the world.

The chaplains were accompanied by Bishop Cesare Cuctor General of prison chaplains, and by Cardinal Ugo Poletti, the Vicar of Rome, whose authority extends to the chaplains.

After the audience the pontiff offered a working lunch to three of the chaplains with Cardinal Poletti and Bishop Curtioni. For 90 minutes, he fired one question after another at his guests, the sources said.

The Polish-born pontiff expressed "astonishment" on learning Italian anti-terrorist laws allow suspects to be held in jail for up to 10 years while awaiting trial, the sources said.

The pope asked for a full explanation of the differences between Italian prisoners from the Sicilian Mafia and its Neapolitan and Calabrian counterparts, the Camorra and the Ndrangheta.

The papal visit to Rebibbia will fall on the 25th anniversary of a trip to Rome's vast Queen of Heaven jail by Pope John XXIII.

As special Christmas gifts for the inmates, John Paul plans to hand out 1,000 roses. The Vatican has also ordered from an industrial bakery in the northern city of Verona 2,000 panettone — stout Italian Christmas cakes made of sponge pastry and raisins — to be given to the inmates and their guards.

The pope told the chaplains he had repeatedly requested Polish Communist authorities to allow him a visit to a jail in Poland during the period he served as Archbishop Of Cracow but the requests were always refused, the sources said.

The clock was first set at seven minutes to midnight in 1947 after the Soviets exploded their first atomic bomb. The United States had had a monopoly on the nuclear weapon until then, after dropping atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki Japan, in August of 1945.

Nuclear Clock Ticks Closer To Disaster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The hands on the "Doomsday Clock," used by a group of scientists for 36 years to graphically depict the danger of nuclear war, is moving up to three minutes before midnight.

Midnight is Doomsday.

The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, a publication put out by a group of 46 scientists, 18 of whom have been honored with the Nobel Prize, announced today that the clock will be foreign scientists accomplished the first nuclear chain reaction on Dec. 2, 1942. That led to the first U.S. nuclear test explosion in 1945.

The hands of the clock now point to four minutes before midnight. The Bulletin did not say what the new setting would be on Thursday but a source in the group disclosed it would be three minutes to midnight.

The minute hand has been closer.

In 1953, when the Soviets exploded their first hydrogen bomb, the clock was set at two minutes to midnight. In 1972, with encouraging signs of détente, the hands moved back to 12 minutes to midnight — its most hopeful setting.

Over the last decade, the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists said, "The hands have moved steadily closer to the fateful hour. The last shift in 1981 cited the development of nuclear weapons designed for war fighting rather than war deterrence. In the last three years, the trend has only accelerated."

ic parties had 1982 turnout increases.

—The turnout in the South continued a recent rise, running only 10.2 percent lower than the rest of the nation in 1982. In 1982, it was 28.3 percent lower than the country at large.

—Alaska's turnout increase of 21.3 percent led the nation. Arkansas' turnout was up 13.4 percent, Alabama's 10.9, Georgia's 10.2 and Missouri's 9.7.

—Ohio's turnout drop was the biggest, 7.5 percent. Florida was down 6 percent, Nevada down 5.4 and New Hampshire down 3.1.

—Alaska also had the highest turnout — 67.9 percent. Minnesota followed with 60.1 percent, South Dakota with 57.7 percent of eligible citizens, Montana 56.4, North Dakota 55.4 and Maine 55.2 percent.

—The District of Columbia's 23.8 percent was the lowest. Others at the low end were Georgia 28.9 percent, South Carolina 29.3, Texas 29.5 and Ohio 29.9.

Large 1984 Voter Turnout Is Possible

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Voter participation in 1982's off-year elections, spurred by strong views on the Reagan presidency, exceeded any similar year since 1970 and could be the precursor of a big turnout next year, a study showed Tuesday.

Curtis Gans, director of the Committee for the Study of the American Electorate, said the 41.1 percent turnout of eligible Americans in 1982 could point to a higher 1984 turnout, but he cautioned against any conclusion that the long decline in U.S. voting participation has been reversed.

"It seems clear that the Reagan administration has had both a polarizing and mobilizing effect among already-registered voters," Gans said. "Voter participation was up in every region in the country and among most groups — especially blacks, farmers, the employed and recently unemployed class."

"The fact that nobody seems neutral about Reagan seems to augur for a similar increase

In 1984," Gans said. But he noted there was no major increase in registration nationally, so the 1982 increase might prove to be temporary.

"Should we go through another period of unpopular or ineffective government," Gans said, "it is likely that voter participation will resume its downward trend."

The 1982 turnout was 3.6 percentage points higher than the 37.5 percent low recorded in 1978 and higher than any non-presidential year since 1970, when 47.9 percent voted. Voting has declined in off-years since then.

Presidential year voting peaked at 62.8 percent in 1960 and has dropped since. It reached 53.9 percent in 1980.

Other findings of the study:

—The percentage of voters casting ballots for the party in power increased for the first time in an off-year election since 1950. Actually, both the Republican and Democratic parties had 1982 turnout increases.

—The turnout in the South continued a recent rise, running only 10.2 percent lower than the rest of the nation in 1982. In 1982, it was 28.3 percent lower than the country at large.

—Alaska's turnout increase of 21.3 percent led the nation. Arkansas' turnout was up 13.4 percent, Alabama's 10.9, Georgia's 10.2 and Missouri's 9.7.

—Ohio's turnout drop was the biggest, 7.5 percent. Florida was down 6 percent, Nevada down 5.4 and New Hampshire down 3.1.

—Alaska also had the highest turnout — 67.9 percent. Minnesota followed with 60.1 percent, South Dakota with 57.7 percent of eligible citizens, Montana 56.4, North Dakota 55.4 and Maine 55.2 percent.

—The District of Columbia's 23.8 percent was the lowest. Others at the low end were Georgia 28.9 percent, South Carolina 29.3, Texas 29.5 and Ohio 29.9.

Legal Notice

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA PROBATE DIVISION File Number 83-434-CP Division IN RE: ESTATE OF MARIE A. WILKE, Deceased

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST THE ABOVE ESTATE AND ALL OTHER PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE: I, the undersigned, am hereby notified that the administration of the estate of MARIE A. WILKE, deceased, File Number 83-434-CP, is pending in the Circuit Court for Seminole County, Florida, Probate Division, the address of which is Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida 32771. The personal representative of the estate is BERNARD W. WILKE, whose address is 421 Summerlin Avenue, Sanford, Florida 32771. The name and address of the personal representative's attorney are set forth below.

All persons having claims or demands against the estate are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file with the clerk of the above court a written statement of any claim or demand they may have. Each claim must be in writing and must indicate the basis for the claim, the name and address of the creditor or his agent or attorney, and the amount claimed. If the claim is not yet due, the date when it will become due shall be stated. If the claim is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the uncertainty shall be stated. If the claim is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver sufficient copies of the claim to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail one copy to each personal representative.

All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this Notice of Administration has been mailed are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THIS NOTICE, to file any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, or the venue or jurisdiction of the court.

ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS, AND OBJECTIONS NOT SO FILED WILL BE FOREVER BARRED.

Witness my hand and the seal of this Court of Administration: December 14, 1983
