ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Robert A. King, 36, of Maitland, was killed as the result of a motor vehicle crash on Interstate-4 at the Wymore Road overpass shortly after midnight Thursday morning, Altamonte Springs police said. King, driving a Chevrolet Blazer, apparently lost control of the vehicle and struck the guard rail. The vehicle overturned and the driver was ejected.

King was transported to Orlando Regional Medical Center, where he died at approximately 5 a.m.

Altamonte Springs police say the crash may have been alcohol related, and is being investigated by the Altamonte Springs Traffic Homicide Unit.

Ranch head indicted for murder

TAVARES, Fla. — A Lake County grand jury Friday indicted a ranch foreman in the shotgun slayings of a DeLand couple.

Russell Sage Chaudoin, 70, faces charges of first-degree murder in the shooting deaths of Pat and Jack Doyle, whose bodies lay hidden for 23 days in shallow graves under tons of hay on the 5,600-acre ranch. They were found July 6.

Police have long considered Chaudoin the only suspect in the murders. Friends and relatives speculated Chaudoin, who took care of the ranch for 30 years, became concerned he would lose control of a portion of the property when the Doyles arrived at the ranch last year to care for Pat's parents, who owned the ranch.

Chaudoin already has been in jail in Tavares since July 6, when he was arrested on grand theft auto charges for stealing the Doyles' truck.

A witness, John Daniel Nichols, told authorities a day earlier Chaudoin had asked him to help hide the truck and to move the hay bales on the ranch.

Giving crime a going away party

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — Want an excuse to hang out on the stoop with your buddies from the 'hood? You got it.

Tuesday, Aug. 1 is the National Night Out, sponsored locally by the National Association of Town Watch and the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

National Night Out is a time when many Neighborhood Crime Watch groups host programs to introduce neighbors to one another and to make everyone aware of various crime prevention techniques.

People are encouraged to put on their porch lights, lock their doors and go outside to meet and greet those who live around them.

More than 8,500 communities across the country, in all 50 states, in U.S. territories, on U.S. military bases and in Canada take part in the program. This year, over 27 million people are expected to participate.

National Night Out is designed to heighten crime and drug prevention awareness, to generate support and participation in local anti-crime efforts, to strengthen neighborhood

Fight brews over mail delivery in historic district

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Not rain, nor sleet, nor dark of night shall keep the letter carrier from his or her appointed rounds, but rules are rules and that might be a barrier that could keep mail from some front stoops.

In order to run more efficiently and more cost effectively, the U.S. Post office has moved toward curbside and centralized mail delivery in all new construction.

Older residences (those constructed before 1978) have the option of putting their boxes at their door, at the curb or to gather with their neighbors and get a centralized delivery box.

"If they have delivery to their door they can keep doing that until the crack of doom," said Joseph Breckenridge, a spokesman for the U.S. Postal Service. "But once the decision is made to move the delivery location in the curbside or to a centralized location, they can not go back to the door."

Even if the decision to move was made by a previous owner of the property.

Buying lunch at school made easier

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Getting lunch at school is now a SNAP.

The Seminole County public school's food service department is once again on the cutting edge of the industry.

This time, it's not low-fat, nutritious food. It is, rather, a new computer system that allows students (as well as teachers and other school employees) to get their lunches without having to worry about money.

No, the school district isn't giving away free lunches. It's just making it easier to pay.

The secret of SNAP is pre-payment.

After paying for meals a week, a month, a quarter or even a year in advance, each student who wants to participate in the program is

One of four police officer brothers, Bernosky hangs up his gun after 25 years

By NICK PFEIFAUPE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Several years ago, there were four brothers named Bernosky, all employed with the Sanford Police Department. As of August 8, the number will be trimmed to one.

Bill Bernosky will be officially retiring from the police department with 25 years of service, first as an officer, then as sergeant and finally, as commander.

"I don't know exactly what I'll be doing," he said. "But I expect it will take me two or three months to get used to not putting on this uniform and going to work every day."

Bernosky said he is not the type to buy a motor home and spend his retirement traveling through the country. "But I have 11 grandchildren from Arkansas to Colorado who I plan to visit," he commented.

SANFORD — When officials of the Central Florida Zoo began looking for a marketing/public relations manager, they found someone familiar with the zoo.

Cindy Baker has been appointed to replace Andrea Farmer who resigned to take a job with the Orlando Chamber of Commerce.

Before joining the zoo staff, Baker was manager of the Young Heros' Club (Children's Community Outreach Program) at the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women. The Young Heros' Club has co-sponsored the zoo's annual Easter Egg Hunt in recent years.

About 60 applications were submitted according to a zoo spokesman.

Prior to being manager of the Young Heros' Club, she was a marketing specialist at Orlando Regional Healthcare System.

A surveyor working in the county right-of-way in the Loch Arbor subdivision reported over $1,100 worth of equipment was stolen between July 29 and July 31.

Sanford cop ready for new year of teaching kids to be drug-free

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — With reports from all over the nation about increased drug activity, local law enforcement is taking the problem seriously and working toward a solution.

Corporal Rick Poovey recently returned from a convention in Houston, Texas for the D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program. This was the eighth annual national DARE conference and workshop. Poovey works with the DARE program for the Sanford Police Department.

According to Poovey the program meets in yearly service training requirements. Officers participate in the classes on a state level and on a national level.

Police officers were present from all 50 states and 18 countries. Poovey said the event is very well attended.

He said, "Is DARE successful? Absolutely."

Poovey said the department's focus this year is to offer thanks to the educators. There is a DARE program in every one of the elementary schools. The DARE curriculum, begun in 1983, was written by educators in California who are with the Los Angeles Unified School District.

Elaborating he said, "In the DARE program we teach the children resistance to drugs, alcohol and tobacco and how to resist violence. We want them to build a good self esteem and feel good about themselves. They need to know how to settle a dispute and work out differences with words and not actions."

Poovey emphasized the importance of youth realizing that police officers are not robots that they can't touch, but that they are people, too. "We want them to discuss and talk about their feelings. It's important to have a uniform they can touch and know we are their friend."

Amid Poovey's busy schedule of DARE education he has placed banners in every fifth grade class room. The banners are a commitment to remain drug-free. He said that the children's signatures would be on the wall. "Teachers will pick a host or hostesses," said Poovey. "The host or hostesses will welcome a new child to the school and they will then sign the banner."

Education for the DARE program is grouped into 17 lessons culminating in graduation. "We try to help them realize that with their choices come consequences. If you make responsible choices the results are much better."

It's D-Day in Lake Mary

This Tuesday, August 1, will be D-Day for the citizens of Lake Mary. That's D for "Decision," to be made in a city-wide election.

Three major community improvement items are on the ballot. People will have the opportunity to tell the city leaders whether they DO or DO NOT want to have this work done, through the obtaining of bonds.

While they are all part of a major goal of improving various areas and buildings in the city, they have been divided into three separate areas so as to allow voters to approve or reject any one, two, or all three as they choose.

The city commission is trying to do what it believes is necessary. There is no doubt that better police department facilities are needed, and the community center needs renovations. With the latest heavy rainfall in Lake Mary, pertaining to road and drainage improvements, will also draw serious consideration.

As far as money is concerned, the road and drainage item is listed as over $2 million. The public safety complex would be over $1.7 million. The Community Center renovation project is estimated at $760,000.

A vote yes or no on Tuesday's ballot will determine whether or not the city will be allowed to enter into bond agreements to finance some or all of these items.

The city budget, which has already been prepared, has been done in the hope that citizens will vote to approve these items. The fiscal year 1995/96 budget presently under consideration is balanced and does not call for any increase in ad valorem taxes.

Should these items be rejected by voters, the need for this work will not simply disappear. The demand will still be there for this work, perhaps not immediately but in the very near future. Then, the financing will have to come from city funds, and next year's millage rate may not continue unchanged as it has for many years.

With this in mind, it may seem (to a few) that the city is threatening to raise taxes next year if these items are not approved on the ballot. While there is a possibility of this, we don't believe it should be considered a threat. Rather, it is an opportunity for citizens to have a direct input on improvements in their city.

There will be only one polling place, at Lake Mary City Hall, 100 N. Country Club Road. It will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

We urge all registered voters within the Lake Mary City limits to go to the city hall and vote. This is your future, and you deserve to have a say.

Reading is educational cornerstone

The three fundamental institutions of socialization in American society are: the family; the school and the church. Education or the schools play a pivotal role in preparing youth for the assumption of adult roles, as responsible citizens. Three years ago, July 1, 1992, Dr. Paul Hagerty became the chief executive officer, superintendent of Seminole County Public Schools. Public schools throughout this country have received an escalating avalanche of criticism, yet the schools in Seminole County have enjoyed a reputation of being among the very best in Florida.

Hagerty advised that he was appointed in May 1992 and although his tenure officially started in July, he began in May. His first request was that each of the 47 principals share information about their respective schools. The responses received all revealed that we did not think of ourselves as a system. The name Seminole County Public Schools did not appear on any of the stationery emanating from the 47 schools. This was a salient indicator that each school functioned as an "I" rather than a "We." The culture of an organization is dynamic to the life of an organization and Dr. Hagerty recognized the need to create a system based upon a sense of community. There is an African proverb that states "It takes a whole village to raise a child." Thus Hagerty's first task was to have everyone in the system be concerned if any child or any school in Seminole County had a problem.

SEMINOLE OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

Another practice that existed was treating everyone the same, with respect to allocation of resources. This approach denied the existence of different needs at different schools. Correcting this changed system priorities to focus upon the most critical problems. Critical problems received more attention and more funding.

Synergism within an organization creates a healthier organization, the sense of isolation is diminished and it is transformed into a partnership of participants, a community.

Seminole County's achievement scores were and are good in respect to other school districts in Florida. However, achievement scores represent averages. Averages camouflage problems at both ends of the spectrum. Outstanding advance placement programs elevate the average but do nothing to help the numbers of students who drop out of school. The state of Florida has a very high drop-out rate. In part, this may be attributable to the fact that former Secretary of Education Betty Castor's definition of a dropout was different from the national definition.

In Florida, dropouts were assessed based upon how many students were enrolled in October and how many remained at the end of the school year. National statistics utilize a different frame of reference i.e. the ninth grade. The number of ninth grade students, in a given school system, completing 12th grade reflect the drop-out number. Using the national standard, Seminole County has a 30 percent drop-out rate.

In the past, students dropping out of school could create a life of dignity, by engaging in factory work or farm work. These avenues of employment have greatly diminished. Hence, a dropout is not only an individual tragedy, but an economic liability for society as a whole. Therefore, as a society, we cannot stand by but must mount an aggressive effort to change this pattern.

Students physically drop out of school in high schools. However, the seeds are planted during the elementary school years. When children enter school the emphasis is upon learning to read. From about fourth grade through 12th, each student is expected to "read to learn." Hence, reading is an educational cornerstone and critical to remaining in school.

Castle on Lake Mary Boulevard

A few years ago, when we had elected superintendents of school system, a tax increase to build a new administration building was turned down (defeated) at the polls.

Now with an appointed superintendent, I see a new four-story administration building nearing completion on Lake Mary Boulevard. It looks more like a luxurious hotel or castle than a business building to me. I can tell you the name of the last elected superintendent but not our present one.

The administration, through Diane Kramer, is now requesting a millage increase in order to repair or update some of our schools. How could the administration, in this time of need for the schools, go ahead with this project?

We have year-around schools, portable classrooms, schools in disrepair; yet, with an existing administration complex in place, did we need the castle on Lake Mary Boulevard? I think not.

WRITER'S BLOCK

Editor Dietrich gambled and lost

The eye-catching newspaper ad, tailored to a T to fit our needs generated surges of excitement for my husband and me. Annually, we make a tiresome trek to Mississippi to join my paternal relatives for a fantastic family reunion. Previously, we have cranked up the buggy and endured a long, hot 12 hours of frazzled nerves and testy tempers to reach our long-awaited destination as nervous wrecks.

It didn't take but a few short seconds to decide to yank the phone from its cradle and make reservations on this highly-touted, high-flying junket definitely designed for Florida highrollers. The big 727 jet departs the Orlando Sanford Airport (just minutes from our home) four times weekly for Biloxi where the plane lands just minutes from my cousins' estate near Gulfport, site of the reunion.

Perfect. For $139 each, we were promised flight, food, fun, a floor show and a host of other appealing amenities in the cool breezes of the silver sands in the sparkling Gulf beach area. Casino Magic Inn, a glitzy Las Vegas-style hotel at Bay St. Louis, was to be our roosting place for the two nights of our visit. Now, that's what we call a deal.

Finally, our big day arrived and we piled into the car, bag and baggage, and made a beeline for the airport. As we slowly pulled up in front of the A.K. Shoemaker Terminal at about 12:40 p.m. on Friday, July 21, we were already thrilled beyond words at the prospect of this exciting excursion.

What more can you ask for? Hey, this was wonderful... just a few feet away from the terminal entrance and free, secured parking. On the inside, the friendly clerks were so accommodating and graciously responded to interrogations with genuine concern. We were advised the plane, scheduled to depart at 2 p.m., would be about an hour late. Seems the big bird had clipped a wing and the wing tip was being repaired in Fort Lauderdale. No big deal.

After checking our baggage, we leisurely moseyed over to the waiting area of the sparkling facility that still smells of unrivaled newness. Our daughter, Mary Hillman, arrived to see us off on the one and one-half hour flight.

Anxiously mounted while we waited and waited as the departure hour kept advancing. But there was never a dull moment.

Here, we had not even left the ground, and the floor show was getting warmed up. The stage was the bed of a red pickup truck directly in front of the terminal entrance. A half dozen or more passengers and guests, in a good-time fun mode, but nonetheless hot under the collar, were guzzling suds in the sizzling heat of the still, summer day. Oh, boy, let the good times roll.

Three attractive, well-dressed women drowned their woes or gladness of the day in the restroom when one dug into her carry-on bag to retrieve a fifth of vodka and a lemon half. Chug-a-lug, chug-a-lug. Not a care in the world... or so it seemed.

As the hot, humid afternoon wore on, one fun-loving man withdrew a deck of cards from his jeans pocket, sprawled out on the carpeted floor and loudly announced, "The Black Jack table is now open." Several curious passengers dropped to the floor to eagerly join him. The fact that the plane was later and later did not seem to matter.

About 6 p.m., airlines officials ordered boxes and boxes of crusty, cheesy pizza for the hungry contingent. Some passengers appeared out of sorts, combative and hostile. Others were indifferent and wanted to get on with their trip to Mississippi to start rolling those bones and wrestling with the one-armed bandits. The general feeling of passengers around us was: If Florida had casino gambling, "we wouldn't have so far to go."

Wayne Glazier, of New Smyrna Beach, was traveling with six family members, including his 85-year-old mother-in-law. Glazier, a General Motors retiree who calls himself "a professional gambler," made no bones about his displeasure at the delayed aircraft and having to leave the state to satisfy his gaming instincts. He said, "It's a shame we have to leave Florida to gamble. If Florida doesn't get legalized casino gambling, you can expect state income taxes as well as city and more federal taxes."

The disgruntled gambling guru said he gambles around the world and goes to the Bahamas "30 to 40 times annually." He added, "Eighty to 90 percent of the people leaving Fort Lauderdale for the Bahamas are senior citizens. They pay a $43 customs charge. They're the ones with the money and are going where the gambling is."

Cheryl Solomon, an Oviedo nurse, was traveling to Biloxi with several women. They were all looking forward to the trip. This flight was to be Solomon's second since casino gambling was inaugurated in Mississippi. She won $200 on her first trip and a friend won $5,000, she said. She also said she "would like to see legalized and controlled casino gambling in Florida so we wouldn't have to go so far."

Jack Hamilton, self-employed in the automotive business from Orlando, said, "Sanford finally woke up with this beautiful airport. Now they need dockside gambling on the waterfront that will attract dozens of planes daily filled with respectable tourists who want to leave their money in Sanford."

Toward the end of the afternoon, two Sanford police officers arrived on the terminal scene, but there were no incidents. Also reporters and cameramen from two television stations were Johnny-on-the-spot and incidentally, we saw ourselves on the TV news Friday night and again Saturday.

Finally, at about 7 p.m., it was announced by Casino Airlink that the flight was cancelled. There were lots of disappointments. Anniversaries and birthdays were being celebrated and, of course, we were devastated at missing our first family reunion in years.

While we were relaxing in the cool, comfortable Sanford airport terminal, a plenitude of passengers had been waiting in Biloxi since 10 a.m. for the disabled plane from Fort Lauderdale that was to fly them back to Sanford, pick us up and take us to Mississippi.

Casino Airlink of Largo offered passengers refunds or 50 percent off on another flight. Nearly all around us agreed they would go for it again.

According to Janet Miller of Casino Airlink, the passengers stranded in Mississippi spent Friday night there and flew back to the Orlando Sanford Airport Terminal the next day.

Miller verified the 727 jet that Casino Airlink charters holds 120 passengers and there are four flights weekly from the Sanford airport. Will we reschedule another flight to Mississippi?

Well, the cousins, waiting in the silhouette of a sun-kissed shoreline spotlighting bright lights, dazzle, glitter and mystery, are beckoning our rescheduled arrival.

Who gets the window seat on the plane? Let's see. Shall we draw straws, flip a coin, cut the cards or roll the dice?

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Town begins healing

UNION, S.C. — While Susan Smith sits in prison, with at least 30 years to contemplate why she drowned her two sons, this mill town hopes the healing can begin.

"Finally, we can bring some closure to this situation," Fred Delk, downtown Union's revitalization director, said after Friday's sentencing.

In the end, though, voting with slips of paper in a coffee can, all 12 jurors agreed to spare Ms. Smith the death penalty and chose life in prison for her instead. She will be eligible for parole in 30 years.

One juror, a man, earlier had said he wanted her to be put to death.

For nine days last fall, Ms. Smith insisted that a black man had commandeered her car as she drove on a dark, empty road. She begged tearfully on nationwide television for her sons' safe return, at last confessing Nov. 3 that she had released the car's emergency brake and rolled it down a ramp into John D. Long Lake with the boys strapped inside.

She cried again as she was led from the courtroom after the jury announced its verdict, reached after just 2 1/4 hours of deliberations.

Trip to Asia is precedent-setting

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Warren Christopher is making a precedent-setting trip to Asia that includes a visit to Vietnam to open a U.S. Embassy in Hanoi.

Christopher will be the first person in his Cabinet position ever to visit the Vietnamese capital. It's the last stop in a week-long trip beginning today that also includes stops in Brunei, Malaysia and Cambodia.

In an effort to block President Clinton's decision to normalize relations with Vietnam, the Republican-run House passed a proposal this week to deny funding for an embassy.

In a speech Friday to the National Press Club, Christopher said there was bipartisan support in Congress for normalization and predicted the effort to block it would fail.

Mexican rights in United States

MEXICO CITY — Mexico's government is considering legislation that would allow its people living abroad to pursue U.S. citizenship while still retaining Mexican property rights back home.

The idea: to lift barriers that keep millions of Mexican U.S. residents from seeking American citizenship and becoming a powerful voting bloc in border states, supporters say.

"We must seek a way to defend the rights of Mexicans in the United States," said Immigration expert Jorge Bustamante, director of the Tijuana research Institute Colegio de la Frontera Norte. "This is one way to do that."

The primary factor discouraging Mexicans from becoming U.S. citizens has been the loss of inheritance and property rights in Mexico.

Mexicans living north of the border also fear losing their culture — their "Mexicanness" — if they become U.S. citizens. The citizenship oath requires one renounce allegiance to all other countries.

Food stamp numbers dwindle

WASHINGTON — The number of low-income Americans collecting food stamps tumbled again in May, and the administration is crediting President Clinton's economic policies for the shrinking welfare rolls.

Sen. Lauch Faircloth, a conservative Republican from North Carolina, called those claims "ridiculous" and said state-level welfare reforms that require recipients to work for their benefits are responsible for moving people off food stamps.

"This is what we've said all along. Any time you put recipients to work, people will abandon food stamps," Faircloth said.

According to the Agriculture Department's latest figures, released Friday, 26.47 million people were receiving food stamps in May, compared with 27.5 million a year earlier.

Navy Helicat fighter planes diving toward a sleeve target towed behind another plane could be heard. At times the chatter of machine gunfire would also be heard. Each plane had its bullets painted a different color. When the tow target was returned to base it could be checked for marksmanship as there would be a circle of color around each machine gun bullet hole. A couple of times one of the men from Enterprise returned one of these sleeve targets to the base in Sanford when a bullet damaged tow line would break and the target fell near Enterprise.

On occasions, from high overhead the sounds of a mock dog fight between army P 51 or P 47 and Navy Helicat fighter could be heard and clouds permitting they could be seen sharpening their skills in aerial combat before being deployed overseas.

Of course with that much flying activity, sleeve targets were not the only things falling from the sky; there were a number of aircraft that crashed; the first was across Doyle Road from what is now Paradise Lakes a campground. The pilot parachuted out and was uninjured. There were a number that went down in Lake Monroe with one or more known to still be there; two collided over DeBary Creek; it was reported that one of the pilots was killed.

One night some of us young boys had a lesson on how well our pilots could see. At night Enterprise almost faded away in the darkness as there were no street lights and very few, if any, outside lights around the 50-plus houses. Some of us were down on the lakefront and built a fire with some palmetto fans which when dry burn very easily. One of the fellows picked a burning palm fan and waved it over his head which produced a ring of fire that was seen by a Navy pilot flying overhead. He brought his plane down to near tree top level to have a closer look; he was joined by another plane and we enjoyed the air show until a Navy crash/rescue boat arrived at the "supposed crash site" with its bright lights.

With so many of the sons and husbands serving overseas, every morning when it was near time for the mail to arrive at the post office, the same group of women would arrive and open their mailboxes and leave them open, stand back, exchanging small talk while Miss Sarah Burns, the postmistress opened the first class mail sack. A silence would fall over the group as the letters began to be placed in the boxes, everyone hoping to see a red, white and blue V mail envelope. When a letter was received, it would be opened and parts that could be shared would be read to the others.

With no telegraph office in Enterprise, a telegram to someone in town would be mailed from DeLand or Sanford by special delivery mail. There were three of the dreaded telegrams from the War Department that began "We regret to inform you that your ..." were received in our town two of which went to the Children's Home, one for Paul A. Winburn, Seaman 1st Class, U.S. Navy, killed in March 1942, the other for Rudolph Rivers, Corporal U.S. Marines, killed in action on Iwo Jima, Feb. 19, 1945. And one to the mother of Henry Brockmeyer, Sergeant 124th Infantry U.S. Army, who died in 1943.

The lake that is now part of Paradise Campground was known to locals as Army Camp Lake. A detachment of Army personnel camped there for a number of weeks while they underwent special training, some of whom would come to Ryans store for a cold soda, hard to come by because of sugar rationing. But Helen Snodgrass who ran the store always seemed to have some hid away.

Harold Barnes was the superintendent of the Methodist Children's Home that at that time housed around 175 children. He was a hard worker and passed the same standard on the children residing at the home. Most of the children attended the Enterprise School which at that time went through the tenth grade, with the eleventh and twelfth grades going by bus to DeLand each day. There were few boys who went to DeLand for as soon as they turned 17 years of age they joined the military service. The Enterprise school had a longer than normal lunch period to allow the students from the home to walk back to the campus at the children's home to eat lunch. After school each day the students had a job on campus to work at until the dinner hour. Some worked in the kitchen, some worked on the farm, where they grew most of their own vegetables. Some worked at the dairy, where they had a prize-winning dairy herd, also a hog farm and poultry farm. They operated their own laundry. Changes were made in the laundry after a 10th grade girl lost an arm in the bed sheet ironing machine. A big bell hung from its mounting near the laundry building was run to announce chore time, meal time, lights out and for other functions and could be heard in all parts of the town. In addition to the work on the property, the children with good singing voices were recruited for the choir. Despite gasoline rationing, enough gas was found to bus the choir to churches all over the state to sing. The choir was good and with their neat, clean-cut appearance brought honor to themselves and the children's home.

In early August of 1945, it was not the sound of the lions at the Sanford Zoo or the sounds of the Navy planes that could be heard across Lake Monroe, but after five o'clock on that summer afternoon and late into the night, it was the sounds of celebration from the people and the Navy personnel in downtown Sanford, as President Truman announced that Japan had agreed to the terms of surrender. There was no outside celebration in Enterprise except for the ringing of the big bell at the Enterprise School as most of the people preferred to remain in their homes and to give thanks that this terrible thing was over and that most of their loved ones would be coming home.

Beginning in 1993, Seminole County undertook a planning study (known as the Airport Area Land Use Study) with a primary purpose of addressing land use compatibility issues between the Orlando Sanford Airport and surrounding land uses in unincorporated Seminole County (see general location map below). In conjunction with this study, the Board directed that the Comprehensive Plan Future Land Use designations on those properties within the study area be amended from the existing Suburban Estates designation to either the Industrial or Higher Intensity Planned Development-Airport designation, as depicted on the maps in this advertisement (BCC District 5).

Man who struck first wife could also strike second

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old woman who never married. For the last eight months, I have been seeing a 44-year-old divorced man with three children. According to rumors spread by his ex-wife, he physically abused her and the children.

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

I think he is a good father, and his ex-wife probably drove him to violence. He admits he hit her a few times, but isn't a batterer. He says she is crazy, but she is well-liked in the community. I have never met her in person, but I know she criticizes everything he does because I've heard them argue on the phone. The court gave her full custody and his visits with the kids are limited, but he always pays his child support on time and likes to buy them extra things.

My friends are warning me to stay away from him. I care about this man. He is sweet and charming to me, and he says he is not the same man he was when he was married to that woman. I believe him, but I don't know how to defend him, and I want my friends to like him. (My family doesn't know about the rumors, and they think he is a good man.)

Don't men only hit women who make them that mad? And sometimes isn't the woman to blame?

NO NAME, NO CITY PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Not necessarily. But no one deserves to be hit — regardless of the circumstances. Although he denies that he's a batterer, his record proves otherwise. If it is in a man to strike a woman for ANY reason, I would steer clear of him. And that's what I'm advising you to do.

DEAR ABBY: I need some good advice in the worst way.

I chose my baby's pediatrician without shopping around, and the doctor I chose seems very irritated when I call him up and ask him a question. He brushes me off when I need some professional advice.

Last Saturday, I called this doctor and a different doctor was on call. Abby, the substitute doctor took his time and explained everything to me, and I felt very comfortable with him. He told me to call him any time I had a question about my baby.

My problem now is this: I want to switch doctors. But what will I tell my original doctor? I can't seem to find the right words, and I don't want to hurt his feelings.

NEW MOM IN NEW ENGLAND

DEAR NEW MOM: Don't worry about hurting the doctor's feelings. Be up-front with him and tell him that you have decided to make a change. If he asks why, tell him the truth. Please don't feel guilty. It is your right to have the doctor you prefer.

DEAR ABBY: I am a rural route mail carrier who delivers mail in some very exclusive and expensive neighborhoods.

I recently went to the door with a certified letter. I was greeted by three children: the oldest looked about 8. She said her mommy and daddy were not home.

I could have been anyone. Rural route carriers do not wear uniforms, and many deliver out of an ordinary car or truck. I could have grabbed those children or forced my way into the house!

Abby, please warn parents that their children should never open the door to strangers, and never admit they are home alone. Expensive gates and security systems do no good unless they're used.

Now that it is summer, there are many children home alone. It's time for parents to repeat their warnings.

Thanks for listening.
CONCERNED CARRIER IN VERO BEACH, FLA.

DEAR CONCERNED CARRIER:

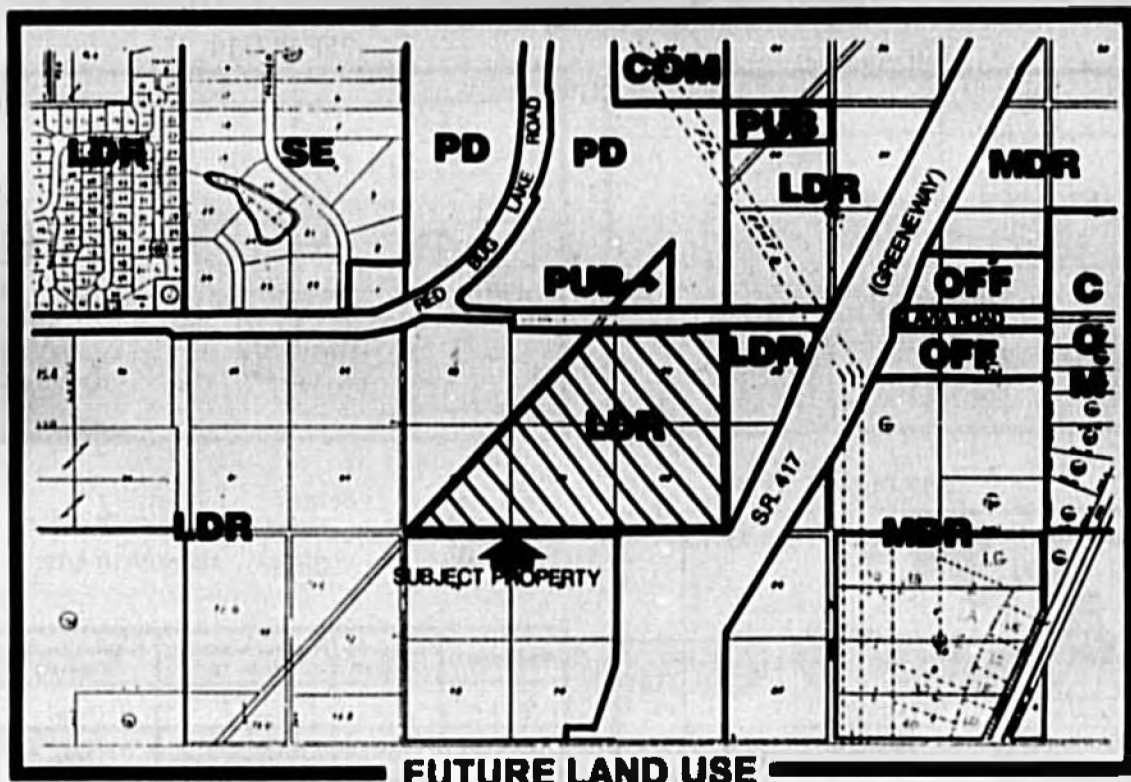

Thank you for an important letter. I'm printing it as a reminder to parents who can't always be on hand to answer the door.

(P.S.—Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90066. All correspondence is confidential.)

In 1994, Seminole County undertook a planning study, known as the GreeneWay/S.R. 434 Small Area Study, for the purpose of establishing a boundary that would define the limits of urban development in the vicinity of the Central Florida GreeneWay (S.R. 417)/S.R. 434 Interchange, including appropriate land use designations within the boundary and transitioning from the GreeneWay to the East Rural Area of Seminole County (see general location map). In conjunction with this study, the Board directed that existing Comprehensive Plan Future Land Use designations be amended on certain properties within the study area, as depicted on the maps below. Please note that Maps 3-5 depict the location of the proposed urban boundary which is intended to define the limits of future urban development in this area of East Seminole County (BCC Districts 1, 2 and 5).

IN BRIEF

ELSEWHERE

Jags fall just short

CANTON, Ohio — What they lacked in polish, they made up for in sheer drama as the Carolina Panthers stopped a last-gasp drive at their goal line to hold off the Jacksonville Jaguars 20-14 in the first game for the NFL's two newest teams.

First-round pick Kerry Collins of Penn State and veteran Jack Truadeau each directed a field goal drive for Carolina in the fourth quarter after Jacksonville had tied it at 14 on James Stewart's 1-yard run late in the third.

With the clock winding down, Mark Brunell marched the Jaguars 63 yards in 14 plays but couldn't punch it in on four tries from inside the Carolina 5-yard line.

Seles is back

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — U-n-n-h. H-E-E-E! Thwack. U-n-n-h. H-E-E-E! Thwack.

Monica Seles and her famous grunt are back, that distinct sound of summers past renewed after a long absence, a tennis court once again resonant with her thrumming cadence on two-flated, swing-from-the-heels groundstrokes.

Taller, stronger and perhaps better than ever, the 21-year-old Seles returned for her first match in 27 months Saturday, brandishing a wicked serve and attacking shots.

The score, a 6-3, 6-2 victory by Seles over semiretired and slightly injured Martina Navratilova, hardly mattered. This was an exhibition that defined an end and a beginning for Seles: the closure of one tormented chapter in her life from the court-side knife attack and the start of a new phase that carries the promise of more championships to come.

Johnstone on Marlboro pole

BROOKLYN, Mich. — Unheralded Parker Johnstone won the pole for Sunday's Marlboro 500 at Michigan International Speedway.

His pole speed of 230.458 mph was nearly 2 mph faster than runner-up Teo Fabi's 228.526.

In fact, Johnstone, driving a Honda-powered Reynard, was so dominating that each of his two warmup laps on the 2-mile, high-banked oval, as well as his two qualifying laps, would have been good enough to take his first Indy-car pole in only his 10th career start.

Michael Andretti, a two-time Michigan winner, was third at 228.413, followed by Jacques Villeneuve at 228.239, Jimmy Vasser 227.982, Mauricio Gugelmin 227.839 and Herta 228.652.

Earnhardt is IROC champ

BROOKLYN, Mich. — Dale Earnhardt sat in a hospitality suite and watched Al Unser Jr. help win him a second International Race of Champions title.

Earnhardt, a seven-time NASCAR Winston Cup champion, was knocked out of the 50-lap, 100-mile race early and was relegated to watching the all-star event at Michigan International Speedway on closed-circuit television.

But Earnhardt was smiling happily as defending IndyCar PPG Cup champion Unser held off SCCA Trans-Am star Tommy Kendall to earn a record ninth IROC victory.

Mark Martin, who came into the fourth and final IROC race of the season trailing fellow NASCAR competitor Earnhardt by 10 points, never got higher than third and wound up fifth, losing the title by four points, 61-57.

Jeff Gordon wound up third in the race and fourth in points, while Scott Pruett did just the opposite, finishing two points ahead of Gordon with 51. Kendall was fifth with 47 points.

Gators SEC pick

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Florida is favored to win the Southeastern Conference football crown for a third straight year, based on the picks Friday of sports reporters at the SEC's annual preseason media program.

Auburn was the choice to win the Western Division but the Gators were the heavy favorite to win the East and the championship game.

Here's the vote on the way the teams will finish, with the number of first-place votes in parentheses, followed by total points:

Eastern Division: Florida (13) 17, Tennessee (2) 28, Georgia and South Carolina tie-54, Vanderbilt 79, Kentucky 83.

Western Division: Auburn (12) 18, Alabama (3) 27, LSU 53, Mississippi State 57, Arkansas 70, Ole Miss 90.

SEC Champion: Florida 11 votes, Auburn and Tennessee two each.

FAMU third in preseason poll

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Defending champion South Carolina State is the favorite to win the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference championship.

South Carolina State received 194 of the possible 204 points and 14 of 17 first-place votes. North Carolina State A&T had 146 points and two first-place votes to place second.

Florida A&M was picked third with 138 points and the remaining first-place vote.

Trailing the leaders were: Delaware State, Howard, Bethune-Cookman and Morgan State.

Local Bambinos suffer setbacks to Tarheel nines

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The road to the championship gets long for the Altamonte Springs and Longwood All-Stars.

Playing in the Babe Ruth Bambino (11-12) Southeast Regional at Eastmonte Park, the two Florida entries in the 10-team double-elimination event both lost to North Carolina clubs.

Both Altamonte Springs and Longwood led 2-0 but couldn't hold on. Altamonte Springs losing to East North Carolina, 4-3, Friday and Longwood falling to Western North Carolina champ Eastern Randolph, 4-2, Saturday.

Altamonte Springs was to play Alabama (an 8-0 loser to Tennessee on Friday) Saturday evening, while Longwood will play the survivor of the Virginia-Mississippi game at 1 p.m. today.

If Altamonte Springs won, it plays at 3 p.m. today. There also are games at 5 p.m. and 7 p.m.

In Friday's other games:

• Tennessee's Michael Crawford struck out 11 in blanking Alabama.

• James Lowe struck out 14 and his offense hit three home runs as Eastern Randolph (N.C.) crushed Virginia 11-1.

• Daniel Hurst was the winning pitcher as Savannah, Ga., beat Tupelo, Miss., 4-2.

There will be four games Monday (10 a.m., 1 p.m., 4 p.m., 7 p.m.) and two Tuesday (4 p.m., 7 p.m.). The "if necessary" game would be at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

On Friday, Altamonte Springs had East North Carolina pitcher Chas Fare on the ropes early.

Austin Willis opened the bottom of the first inning by reaching second base on an infield single and an error. Willis took third on a wild pitch and scored as Dwayne Driggers reached on

Lake Mary strikes first but falls to Turkey Lake

APOPKA — Tito Esquiquel scattered three hits over seven innings to lead the Turkey Lake Marlins to a 4-2 victory over Lake Mary on Friday in the Florida Amateur Baseball Association Tournament.

In Friday's second game, the Apopka Baseball Club blasted Leesburg First Bank, 10-0.

On Saturday, the Marlins were to play American Legion Post 242 (University), which had a first-round bye, in a winners' bracket game at 10 a.m. After Lake Mary and Leesburg played in an elimination game at 1 p.m., Apopka was to play the winner of the Marlins-Post 242 contest in the winners' bracket final.

The winner of the Lake Mary-Leesburg game comes back today at 10 a.m. to play the loser of the Marlins-Post 242 contest. The survivor of that contest will have to play the loser of the winners' bracket final at 1 p.m. today.

On Friday, Lake Mary scored all of its runs in the top of the first inning, then only had one hit over the final six innings.

"We got to Tito in the first inning, then he shut us down with the change-up," Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle said. "We were looking for the fastball, and he did a great job. He had some good defense behind him."

The Mudcats took a 2-0 lead on Nick Sosa's home run with one out in the top of the first inning. Sosa's blast scored Michael Buky, who singled with one out.

Lake Mary did not have another serious scoring threat in the game. "Nick is capable of hitting a home run every time up," Tuttle said. "It's just a matter of him getting the pitch he wants and hitting it. We hit the ball pretty well, but nothing fell our way."

The Marlins, the summer team for Dr. Phillips High School, got their first scoring threat in the top of the fourth when Brandon Wood and Brad Gierke drew consecutive two-out walks off Mudcats pitcher Robert Vessey. Vessey then struck out Chaz Johnson to end the threat.

Vessey and the Mudcats weren't so fortunate in the fourth inning, when the Marlins converted two walks, two hits and a hit batter into three runs to take a 3-2 lead. Nick Alexander came on in relief of Vessey and retired the side.

Turkey Lake also scored a run in the seventh inning.

"Robert put himself in trouble the whole game with walks, and that is very uncharacteristic of him," Tuttle said. "He just wasn't on against the Marlins, but he'll be back."

"I'm pleased with the progress we have made this summer."

Vessey recorded two strike outs, while giving up five hits and five walks over three innings. Alexander struck out five, while allowing one hit and one walk in four innings.

Jason Yero had the only other Mudcat hit, a single in the fifth inning.

Nick Alexander pitched four strong innings in relief Friday, allowing one run on one hit while striking out five batters and walking just one in Lake Mary's 4-2 loss to Turkey Lake in the opener of the FABA Tournament.

'Spare change' helps Patriots make ends meet

By TONY DeBORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Most of us are familiar with the scenario of having to roll our spare change in order to have enough money to get through the week.

According to Lake Brantley High School principal Darvin Boothe, nickels, dimes, and quarters — to the tune of about $24,000 — allowed the Patriot athletic department to break even last year.

"We made ends meet, but we had to spend half of our take of the vending money to cover the day-to-day expenses," explained Boothe. "We now have a 50-50 split of vending machine money with the county food service people. We had to put 50 percent of that into athletics."

"Outside of our gate receipts, fundraisers, and booster club contributions, we were $24,000 in the hole last year."

That's about 10 percent of the $250,000

Boothe said Lake Brantley spent to support its 44-team athletic department last year. He estimates that 1,000 of Lake Brantley's 2,700 students played on at least one team while another 200 or so participate in a support activity (trainers, managers, and the like).

"We start with a base budget of $96,000," said Boothe. "That covers just what the teams have to have, like officials for home games, transportation, and basic equipment."

"On top of that, there's the booster club payment of $90,000 on the loan for our new field house and pool. Fertilizer, pesticides and other field care facilities and maintenance is another $40,000. Then there are add-ons, money individual teams raised for their program through fundraisers."

Last year, for example, the Lake Brantley baseball team raised $4,200 while the boys' golf team raised $1,600. The student trainers had a fundraiser that netted $2,300.

Individual programs have had to step up their fundraising efforts because of the Lake Brantley Booster Club's assuming the task of paying for the school's new field house and pool.

"What's happened over the last few years is that the booster club's contribution to the day-to-day expenses has decreased because most of its fundraising is being dedicated to the new facilities," Boothe said.

"How we do our financing now is make a budget for every team out of all the gate receipts, which we view as common money. Outside of that, teams have to have individual fundraisers to pay for any extras, like new uniforms."

Along with capital improvements, the booster club also assists in special projects, such as sending coaches to clinics, and helping with expenses incurred by participating in state tournaments.

In 1994-95, for example, it cost Lake Brantley $9,000 to travel to and play in two football state playoff games. The Patriots' state champion-

Private, public groups join in reef ball project

On July 21, 1995, 80 reef ball artificial reefs were added to an existing 70 modules 16 miles due east of Port Canaveral in 80 feet of water. The project is a joint effort of Brevard County, the Central Florida NAUI Chapter (an association of SCUBA diving instructors) and Saltwater News.

Reef balls (which are cost efficient, mimic natural reefs, and are environmentally safe) are unique in that the concrete is poured into a mold that contains a removable, inflatable bladder which allows the modules to float to their drop sites.

Under the leadership of Central Florida NAUI member Larry Beggs, artificial reef coordinator Jean Kinzlow of Brevard County, and Alana and Wilson Love of Saltwater News, the project has been successful in involving the community, government agencies, local fishing and diving clubs, and local businesses.

Grant money from saltwater license revenues is earmarked to produce the artificial reefs by the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), Division of Marine Resources, Office of Fisheries Management. Jean Kinzlow from the Brevard County Solid Waste Department secured a grant of $30,000 from the DEP which was used to purchase concrete, lease molds, and secure a barge for the deployments. The national NAUI office provided an additional gift to get the project rolling. Ongoing costs are met by several Saltwater News-organized fishing tournaments which donate a portion of entrance fees to the project.

Led by Larry Beggs, the modules are built by NAUI members, volunteers, and students from the Space Coast Marine Institute. Both the Canaveral and Lake Buena Vista Rinker concrete plants donate space, equipment and leftover concrete.

Several businesses donate labor and materials on a regular basis. Brownie's Third Lung provides the use of air equipment; local charter boat captains provide transportation; Epcot divers and the Manta Ray Sub Crew volunteer diving assistance; Ron Jon's and other dive shops donate air; Atlantic Boat Repair and The Boat Doctor assist in the repair of fiberglass molds; and the site was surveyed by FIT professor Lee Harris and his students.

All in all, the Port Canaveral Reef Ball Project has been successful because of the involvement of so many community members. By creating awareness and excitement Reefs are fish magnets because they provide food and shelter for all varieties and sizes of fish in an otherwise barren environment.

FISHING FORECAST
Forget bass fishing unless you plan to fish after dark. Night fishing is good this time of year, and many of the same lures used normally will work just fine at dark. Plastic worms and topwater lures are two top choices for night fishing.

Sebastian Inlet is featuring good catch and release action with snook to 20 pounds. Flounder, redfish, jack crevalle and a few tarpon are also mixed in. Large live shrimp or finger mullet are the best baits.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports smooth seas and good fishing action. A good many species are in close and can be found on Pelican Flats and 8-A reefs. The water is so clean that flying fish and the gamefish that follow them are only about 12-14 miles out.

Inside the busy Inse, a few king mackerel and tripletail can be found. Sheepshead and flounder are active inside the Port. Trout have slowed down, but redfish are rated good on the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Sheepshead still top the action at Ponce Inlet. Drum, redfish, jack crevalle and small bluefish are also biting. Live or dead shrimp will catch all species. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

CIA gives grant to Scouts

The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association presented the Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts with grant money for "Baby Think It Over." "Baby Think It Over" is an electronic doll that cries every three hours, just like a real baby, and must be held for 20 minutes for its feeding, just like a real baby. The Girl Scouts will use the doll in conjunction with their program "Decisions for Your Life - Preventing Teen-age Pregnancy." CIA President Dick Fess presented the check to Debbie Swearingen, events co-director for the service unit. Mayor Lowry Rockett and City Manager John Litton were the speakers for the June 24 meeting of the CIA. They were there to explain the bond referendum scheduled to come before the voters on August 1.

nity center. Project Two calls for the construction of a public restroom facility and small maintenance complex at the south end of the sports complex.

This vote is being taken because citizen approval is required for the city to incur long-term debt. Many of these proposed improvements will generate an increased commercial tax base via aesthetic and infrastructure improvements. The approval of these propositions is good for Lake Mary. And the approval will not result in higher taxes. That's pretty good. City improvements with no cost to the taxpayer. If only the Feds could do that.

There is another important

There are three propositions on the ballot. Proposition One: Road and Drainage, contains three projects. One project will improve five streets in Lake Mary which desperately need improving. One project is for the design and construction of a stormwater system in downtown Lake Mary. The third project in Proposition One is the Rinehart Road Improvements.

Proposition Two: Public Safety Complex, contains three projects. One project will provide for the construction of a new police building, the current one is inadequate. The second project will renovate the current Public Safety facility to correct deficiencies and provide much needed expanded space for fire and emergency departments. The third project will provide for an Emergency Operations Center (EOC), something the city

This Saturday, Aug. 5, the Central Florida Resale Association will sponsor the "Sulled for Success Business Woman's Expo and Fashion Show" from 11:00 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Sheraton Orlando North Hotel, 600 Destiny Road at Interstate 4 and Maitland Boulevard. There will also be over 30 booths of affordable fashions for women and children, makeup artists, daycare specialists, caterers, glamour photographers and more.

According to Dee Shope of "N Vogue," (the fashion show will be) "an exciting and interesting Saturday for the working woman to familiarize herself with the local consignment shops and what is available in the female product line."

Although Simcoe claims she's strictly an amateur, she has painted for some 10 years. "I crochet a white and I paint for a white," she said.

Crocheting and reading are two of Simcoe's favorite pastimes. "I love to crochet when I'm watching TV," she said. "I read four to five books a week. I belong to a book club."

She added that much of her work has been given to family and friends. She has given many to her daughter-in-law to preserve as gifts to her two granddaughters when they have grown older.

Painting landscapes and still life is a natural born talent that Simcoe dabbles with from time to time. "Years ago I priced

YOUR BIRTHDAY
July 30, 1995

In the year ahead, you might become involved in exciting endeavors you haven't attempted previously. Your probabilities for success look good, despite being a neophyte.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not hesitate to link up with persons who can help you promote your immediate concerns. They are more apt to cooperate with you now than later. Aries, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) To strengthen your material position, it might be necessary for you to take a calculated risk today. If all of the signals say go, give it a shot.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you aren't involved in some type of meaningful endeavor today, your time won't be properly used. Try to do something significant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Avoid discussing your present financial and commercial dealings with outsiders today. The less said, the better.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Fresh hopes can be awakened today by visualizing arrangements as you would like them to be. Think optimistically and act according to your imagination.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Those in a coalition to help might give you a boost today if they see you have reached your limits by doing the very best you can on your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to associate with enterprising and positive people today. By observing their methods, you can learn to modify them to fit your needs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It will be important to be ambitious and assertive today, but move at a measured pace. Each time you take a fresh step, make sure it is with firm footing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your two most effective assets today will be your judgment and your desire to put what you conceive into action. Fortunately, both will be used wisely.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone you've recently gone out of your way to help is eager to balance the account. This person may do something very special for you today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) When making decisions affecting you both, you and your mate should have equal input. This will be important because you can expand upon each other's ideas.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might be in for a pleasant surprise. A negative result you've been anticipating may actually turn out to be positive instead. Envision happy endings.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

One journalist commented that if the 10 selected 1994 Bala bridge tips were the best, the others submitted must have been about gin rummy. He can't have looked at the 1993 group, which I think were much worse overall.

Today's tip comes from English expert Derek Rimington: Play trumps fluidly.

Declaring four spades, South was faced with an attack of three top hearts from West. He was careful to ruff the third with the spade nine. South's plan was to draw trumps in two rounds, unblock his club honors, overtake the spade five with dummy's six, ruff the club eight in hand and lead a low diamond, hoping for a favorable position in that suit. However, when declarer cashed the spade ace and East discarded, it was back to the drawing board.

South drew trumps and cashed his club honors. When West followed both times, 12 of his cards were known: three spades, seven hearts and two clubs. If the 13th were the nine, Jack or king of diamonds, the contract could be made. South exited with a low diamond, playing low from the dummy when West contributed the nine.

If West were left on lead, he would be forced to return a heart. South would ruff in the dummy and discard his diamond loser from hand. So, East overlooked with the Jack and returned the club queen. However, South ruffed with the spade 10, led the spade five to dummy's six and finessed the diamond queen through East's king.

Always watch your trump spots carefully. You might need to use them as transportation between your hand and the dummy.

Central Florida Red Cross to host hurricane party fundraiser

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A hurricane is no laughing matter.

But if there are no dangerous winds and torrential winds ripping up the countryside outside, there is no reason not to have a party and to learn a little about what a hurricane could do.

So, on Sunday, Aug. 13 from 8 to 11 p.m., the American Red Cross will be hosting a hurricane party fundraiser at the Altamonte Mall featuring frozen drink samples, beer and wine tastings, plus other favorites at the cash bar.

In addition to the libations, there will be live music, scrumptious food and a plethora of fun activities.

Revelers will have the opportunity to enjoy three live bands and enjoy the entertainment and music of a live disc jockey.

There will be reggae music by Exodus. Jazz music will be provided by The John Mark Shilling Trio. And tropical rock will be presented by T. Scott Walker.

DJ Johnny Magic from XL 106.7 will also be on hand to meet the public and to entertain.

Those in attendance should also bring their appetites. There will be food samples available from Ruth's Chris Steak House, from the Bubble Room, from Sunset Grill and from Sheila's.

Guests will be able to take part in a number of contests. Participants in the Limbo, tropical costume and Hurricane contests will be competing for some great prizes, including a Key West vacation.

Amid all the fun and laughter, there is a very serious message being presented: the need for hurricane preparedness is no laughing matter, especially in a state like Florida. Hurricane preparedness information from the American Red Cross will be available at the party.

Dress in your best casual

Revelers will have the opportunity to have a good time, eat some good food, sip some libations and help the American Red Cross at the same time at the upcoming Hurricane Party.

tropical attire and head out for a good time at the mall.

The event, sponsored by the Altamonte Mall, The Weekly, WESH-Channel 2 and XL 106.7, is designed to raise money for the American Red Cross of Central Florida to enable them to respond immediately to disasters in this area.

Tickets for the event are $25 each. They will be available at

Wheeling around the beach

By ELIZABETH PEZZULO
The Anniston Star

ANNISTON, Ala. — After years without complications, a spinal column disease Linda Self suffered as a child reappeared last February, confining the Anniston mother of three to a wheelchair.

"I thought that was it," said Mrs. Self, 45. "I would never enjoy things the way I once did."

Chief among those losses was vacationing at Gulf Shores and relaxing on its soft, sandy beaches.

"The first thing I thought was I'll never be able to sit on the beach again," she recalled.

Despite an array of changes that have been implemented since the National Disabilities Act, there are still many public areas that are largely inaccessible to wheelchairs, including many public beaches.

Mrs. Self and her husband, Don, however, are changing that.

Shortly after Mrs. Self began using a wheelchair, her husband began work on an easy way to transport his wife onto the beach.

"Aside from being picked up and carried onto the beach, there really is no way to get down there," Mrs. Self said.

Some beachfront hotels and condominiums do offer use of a super-chair, a wheelchair with oversized tires that can be rolled onto the beach, but Mrs. Self said it would make her uncomfortable.

"That big chair is ridiculous," Mrs. Self said. "I have spoken with other people in wheelchairs, and they say they won't use it. Plus, you draw so much attention to yourself."

Self came up with something more portable and less conspicuous. The name of the Self's new product, as well as their newly founded company, is Beach Access. The system uses two, 10-foot rubber mats which are extended onto the beach so the wheelchair can roll across them.

"It's kind of the inchworm approach," Mrs. Self said. "Once you get out 20 feet, you pull the mats in front of you and keep going."

The Selfs said it takes about four minutes to go 200 feet.

SANFORD — They're still looking for money.

The American Cancer Society's annual fundraising drive for Seminole County will end on Thursday, Aug. 31.

The chapter is still $7,000 away from its goal for the year.

"We very much need the community to get behind us and help our program be successful because of the importance to local cancer patients," said Dee Lamar, the senior representative for the American Cancer Society in Seminole County.

She emphasized the money is needed to help in the battle against cancer.

"We depend completely on funds donated by concerned local citizens and businesses to keep our programs alive so we can ease the impact of this terrible disease upon those fighting to survive," said Lamar.

Money raised by the local chapter of the American Cancer Society office helps provide a variety of services. In some instances those not available anywhere else, directly to benefit Seminole County residents.

For example, they provide free wigs and styling for ladies losing their hair from treatment, help in purchasing pain medication, transportation assistance to get critical treatment, money to assist with food purchases and much more.

For more information about how you can contribute to the Seminole County chapter of the American Cancer Society, call the local chapter at 322-0649.

New SAT system helps students

America's high school students are getting a break thanks to a new system that will recenter or rebalance the SAT I scores while making them easier to understand.

Recentering of scores on the SAT I Reasoning Test will have the effect of moving the verbal and the mathematics scores on the nation's most widely used college entrance test toward the mid-point of the 200 to 800 point scale.

The change will re-establish today's average near that of the previous recentering which occurred in 1941.

It will move the latest national averages up about 75 points on the verbal and 20 points on the math, without changing the relative standing of test takers to each other, expressed as their percentile rank.

Individual scores will thus be compared to a national average of 500 each on the verbal and the math, above the 423 on verbal and 479 on math of the high school graduating class of 1994.

The change of will affect the 1.6 million students who take the SAT I every year, the 78 percent of four-year colleges that use the test scores today, and users of score trends.

"By placing the performance average at the intuitive average, halfway between 200 and 800, recentering will clarify the score's relationship to actual performance and reduce confusion among students competing for admission to college in the same year," said Bradley J. Quinn, associate director of the SAT program.
