Vonnegut: A Moralist For Our Times

By NORMAN NADEL
 NEW YORK (NEA) — Kurt Vonnegut probably is the most entertaining moralist of modern times, which accounts for the popularity of his novels and the adoring loyalty of the young people who make up most of his following.

So whenever a new book of his appears, it generates an eager and sometimes apprehensive curiosity, to see if he's still keeping the faith. He's old enough — 58 — to have long since compromised his high hopes for humanity, as most of us do. Still, he believes that there are a few good and decent individuals, who, more often than not, lose rather than win the traditional rewards of life, and he celebrates them in his stories.

Once again, there is reason to be glad, and reassured. "Jailbird" (Delacorte Press-Seymour Lawrence, $9.95) is the odyssey of a loser. If ever there was one; and the forces of greed, cruelty and contempt for ordinary people impose their heavy hand on the plot. But it still ignites — or re-ignites — a glow in the heart, and we count on Vonnegut for that. Measured for its sustaining of interest and literary grace, "Jailbird" is far superior to his two previous books, "Wampeters, Foma and Granfaloon" and "Slapstick." In fact, it stands up well among his best writing in "Cat's Cradle," "God Bless You, Mr. Rosewater," and the ultimate Vonnegut story, "Slaughterhouse Five, or The Children's Crusade," Genesis of "Jailbird" was

"Jailbird" (Delacorte Press-Seymour Lawrence, $9.95) is the odyssey of a loser. If ever there was one; and the forces of greed, cruelty and contempt for ordinary people impose their heavy hand on the plot. But it still an encounter Vonnegut had with a labor union officer in the writer's native Indianapolis 34 years ago. The union man, an ex-coal miner, was a Harvard graduate ("Harvard is all through this book, although I myself never went there," explains Vonnegut in his prologue).

The friend, Powers Haggood, had been in court that morning on a labor case and the judge had asked: "Mr. Haggood, why would a man from such a distinguished family and with such a fine education choose to live as you do?"

questioned by Congressman Richard Nixon about his communist associations: "...why, as the son of immigrants who has been treated so well by Americans, as a man who has been sent to Harvard by an American capitalist, I had been so ungrateful to the American economic system."

From that point, it drifts forward and back in time, as Vonnegut stories are inclined to do, from Starbuck's

Harvard years through his work with the federal government, and his episode as a vice-president of RAMJAC, RAMJAC is a conglomerate which controls 19 percent of all businesses in the U.S., including the New York Times, which it acquired only because it wanted a profitable cat food company owned by the Times.

"Jailbird" is fine satire, fitting some bitter truths and events into the mosaic of a novel. What it says about attitudes in today's America, about greed and organizational indifference to ordinary people, is said explicitly and cleverly, but rather, is the tenor of this tale, leavened with hope and a great deal of humor. Vonnegut is indeed keeping the faith.

Kurt Vonnegut sits on his bed and contemplates his latest story, "Jailbird."

My mechanics have to be certified before they even touch your car. You didn't expect that.

At my Shell Auto Care station, being good with your hands isn't good enough. My mechanics have to be certified by Shell. Or by N.I.A.S.E., an independent national organization dedicated to high car repair standards.

There are tests for brake work, tune-ups, air-conditioner service and front-end work. Each must be passed. You see, I back my work in writing. So any mechanic I hire has to do more than tell me how good he is. He has to prove it.

CHILD ABUSE: Increase In Seminole... Real Or Imagined?

Anyone could be a child abuser.

By DIANE PETRYK
 Herald Staff Writer
 (First of two parts)

Irritated by her baby's prolonged crying, and alone at home with no one to talk to, a young mother's loneliness and frustrations are magnified. She shakes the infant but the crying continues. Losing her temper, she twists her baby's arm until a bone breaks.

Day after day, a teen-ager comes home from school to parents who refuse to talk with him and who insist he stay in another part of the house.

When her mother isn't home, a father "punishes" his 11-year-old daughter for alleged wrong doing by insisting she submit to his sexual advances.

A couple feeds, clothes and cares for one of their two children. The second child is left to fend for himself. He is usually hungry, dirty and ill-clothed.

A father constantly tells his son he is stupid, clumsy and worthless.

This is child abuse.

It manifests itself in myriad ways. Emotional neglect, physical neglect and verbal abuse are part of it, as well as physical attacks and sexual abuse.

In Seminole County, officials are handling more child abuse cases than ever. Opinion is divided whether this is due to an actual increase in abuse or an increase in reports of abuse due to heightened awareness. Or, it could be a natural result of an increase in the child population of the county.

Whatever the reason, caseworkers at local offices of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS), the state department charged with investigating child abuse, have their hands full.

HRS has the responsibility for the initial investigation in any child abuse case. In any suspected case, if HRS caseworkers believe a child is in immediate danger they may remove the child from the home with a hearing to be held in juvenile court within 24 hours. If he feels there has been abuse, a juvenile court judge may "rule the child dependent."

"There's no question that in the two-year period between 1977 and 1979 we've seen a 100 percent increase in the number of dependency cases handled by HRS," said Tom Weinberg, Seminole County HRS supervisor.

Although dependency cases can involve runaway and unmanageable children as well, the bulk of them are child abuse cases, Weinberg said.

In 1977, he said, there were 560 dependency cases reported and investigated by HRS in Seminole County. In 1978 there were 972 cases. In the first nine months of 1979 there have been 886 and Weinberg said he expects the number to be well above 1,000 by the end of the year. Traditionally, child abuse is more prevalent in the last three months of the year, he said.

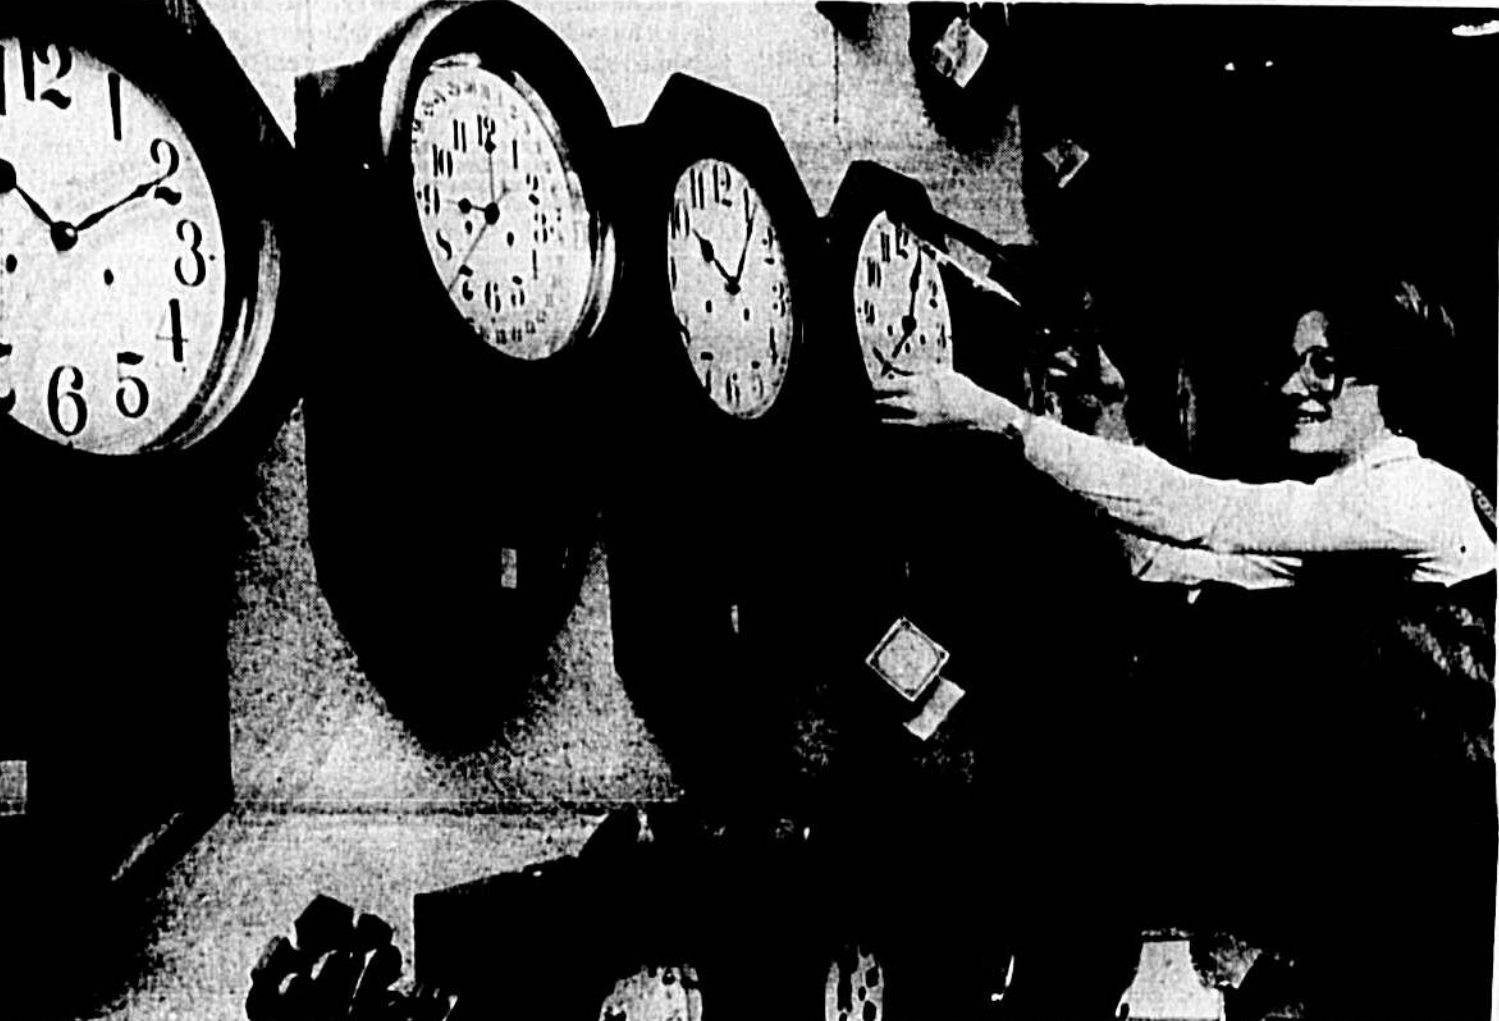

Of the 560 cases investigated in 1977, 86 resulted in children being temporarily removed from their homes. In 1978 HRS took 94 children to temporary shelter homes.

Cheryl Laws, local HRS counselor, has been dealing with child abuse cases for seven years. She said she is sure the number of cases is up.

"Right now this area of Florida is experiencing a tremendous increase in transient population," she explained. "These people think they are going to find stability."

"But they get down here," she said, "and find rents and

FALLING BACK AGAIN

Shelley Siprell at House of Clocks at Altamonte Mall rewinds set of clocks to remind all of us to turn our clocks back one hour late Saturday before retiring, or early Sunday morning as the nation returns to standard time. Under the Uniform Time Act of 1966, most of the United States goes on daylight savings time the last Sunday in April, then returns to standard time the last Sunday in October. The changeovers occur at 2 a.m. local time, when clocks are set forward an hour in April, and turned back an hour in October. The change affects all states but Arizona, Hawaii and parts of Indiana, which have exempted themselves under provisions of the law.

President Park Slain: May Have Been 'Plot'

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Park Chung-hee was slain by his intelligence chief Friday night in what the government first said was an "accident" but now believes may have been an assassination plot.

The government announced today that Kim Jae-kyu, head of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency, has been removed from his post. An earlier statement said Kim was under arrest and being investigated by martial law authorities.

The KCIA chief reportedly shot Park during a restaurant quarrel with the president's chief bodyguard, who also was killed along with four others. There was no immediate word on what motives may have led to the shooting or what the quarrel was about.

The body of the 62-year-old Park, who led his country for more than 18 years of increasingly authoritarian rule, lay in state at the presidential "Blue House."

His two daughters, Kim-hae and Kim-yung, and his only son immediately confirmed by the government.

Seoul was reported quiet, but tense, once 1.7 million people learned about the president's death. Government tanks surrounded the sprawling presidential palace, known as the "Blue House," located in the northern part of the city.

Details of Park's state funeral are incomplete. His body is lying in state in the presidential palace, from which he ruled South Korea for 18 years.

Kim, known as Park's close confidante who headed the KCIA since 1976, was arrested and was being questioned by martial law authorities. Kim and Park came from the same hometown, Susang, and were classmates at the Korean Military Academy in 1946.

Park, an army general, came to power on May 16, 1961 after a coup. He first ruled the country as head of a military junta and for the last 16 years as an elected president with sweeping executive powers granted him by a 1972 constitution.

Two Jailed In Robbery

By GARY GRAU

A Seminole County and Orlando area jazz musician, John "Spider" Martin, and another part-time musician in Martin's band were still in custody without bond Saturday at the Orange County Jail after being charged by federal officials with the Wednesday robbery of the Lake Monroe Post Office.

Martin, 46, and 53-year-old James Young, both of Orlando, were charged with the robbery, which netted about $125 in cash and stamps and 18 blank money orders.

Martin, whose nickname originated from the tune "Spider" he played, has been active in the central Florida area developing a jazz column for "Freebird," a local music magazine, and playing in local clubs. He also recently appeared with Tony Bennett and Ramsey Lewis. He is under contract to Bennett's Impulse Records.

Lake Monroe Postal Clerk Carmen Clark related the following incidents to federal authorities. She said a man allegedly entered the office about 12 p.m. and asked about buying a money order, but left without making a purchase.

The man allegedly returned at 3:15 p.m. and demanded all the post office's money orders, she told officials. She said she gave the man money orders and then another man allegedly jumped over the counter, grabbed her and took her to the bathroom where he tied her wrists and ankles with a plastic rope.

"After being released, Mrs. Clark notified postal inspectors of the robbery. Descriptions of the man and of the yellow car he had been the man driving when he first appeared at the office were broadcast.

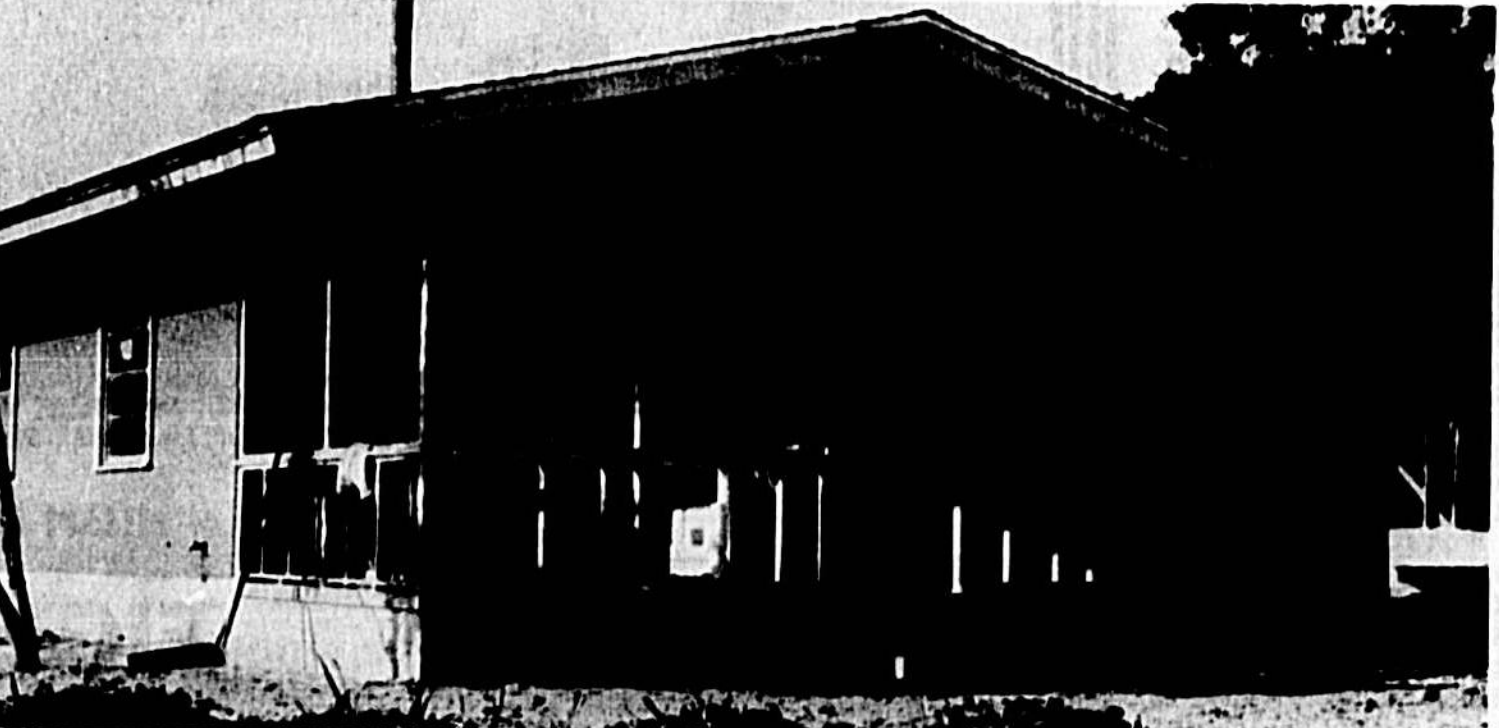

The next day, Postal Carrier Al Beyer spotted a car matching that description in Orlando.

After following the car through Orlando police and postal inspectors stopped the driver, Martin, and arrested him for having a valid Florida driver's license and a suspended New York license.

U.S. Magistrate Donald P. Dietrich Thursday ordered Martin and Young held in Orange County Jail without bond.

Young is on federal parole for robbery, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Bob Levenshal. Martin will be held without bond until a background investigation can be completed, he said.

Martin was forced to cancel a Thursday television engagement with his 4-year-old son, Poobie, who plays the drums.

Housing Authority Project May Bring Joy To 7 Families

By DONNA ESTES

Seven Sanford and Seminole County families may see their living conditions improved by the installation of a new roof, installation of natural gas for central heating, water heating and cooking purposes, new bathroom fixtures, new electric refrigerator and a front porch. Landscaping is yet to be done.

The Federal Housing Administration has valued the renovated house at $27,500. It will be sold at a price ranging from $6,000 to $22,000, Wilson said, which will give the buyer an immediate equity of $5,000 or more.

Those who may apply to purchase the home must fall within the following income scales: family of 1-2, $4,000; family of 3-4, $5,000; family of 5-6, $6,000; family of 7-8, $7,000; family of 9-10, $8,000; family of 11 or more, $11,000, Wilson said.

Applications may be made at the SHFA office, 1100 E. First St., Suite 4, Sanford.

Wilson said the purchase, repair, renovation and modernization of the homes is under a new concept designed to give low and moderate income families an opportunity to own their own homes.

Seventy applications have been filed so far for the purchase of the house. These applications must be reviewed to determine eligibility including income, credit rating and other factors of each applicant.

Wilson said a lottery system will be used to decide which applicant will be given the opportunity of purchasing the house. He said the purchaser will have to pay three per cent of the purchase price as a down payment and also must pay closing costs.

The next house to be renovated will be one located at 1202 Osander on the west side of Sanford near Goldsboro, Wilson said.

Furnaces 'Must' For Head Start

The Head Start program of Seminole Community Action (SCA) is facing another crisis. Several of the centers were closed for failure to meet fire codes earlier this year. The centers have now all re-opened. But, according to Portia Spenser, Head Start director, the project now must raise between $4,000 and $5,000 to purchase and install furnaces.

Leading the fund-raising drive for the furnaces is Eddie Martin, chairman of the SCA, chairman of the county's policy council.

"The centers in Midway, Altamonte Springs and Bookertown must have furnaces," Martin said. "Federal money has been used for renovations to comply with fire codes," Martin said.

Mrs. Spenser said fire code violations which caused the closing of the centers in Altamonte Springs, Midway and Bookertown earlier this year have all been corrected and approved by the Seminole County fire department.

Two hundred children, four and five years old, are included in Head Start classes at five centers throughout the county. The centers in addition to those mentioned are located in Sanford and Oviedo.

Mrs. Spenser said there are 20-25 total vacancies at the various centers and urged parents who wish their children to participate to contact her at the SCA office, 1101 Pine Ave., Sanford, 322-0660.

The Head Start program, sponsored by SCA for more than 10 years in the county, is designed to give the children of Seminole County a head start on school by having them in a learning environment with other children the same age.

"We are asking the community for help to keep our children warm and to keep these centers open," he said.

WORLD IN BRIEF

El Salvador Rulers Appeal For Release Of Hostages

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — El Salvador's ruling junta has appealed to leaders to free two Cabinet ministers held hostage for four days and to respect the human rights of their other 200-odd hostages.

The 12-day-old junta issued the appeal Friday shortly after bloody rioting by members of the United Popular Revolutionary Bloc stopped a homecoming rally and speech Thursday by Christian Democratic leader Jose Napoleon Duarte.

Leftists described Duarte, the loser in the 1972 fraudulent presidential elections who returned from a seven-year exile in Venezuela, as an "opportunist" and a "puppet of imperialism."

Two people were believed killed in the melee and about 50 others were injured, journalists at the scene said. No mention was made of Ernesto Claramunt, leader of the frustrated 1977 presidential elections, who returns today from exile in Costa Rica.

Cambodia Rejects Food, Aid

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — In a surprise move Cambodia issued a communique Friday rejecting a plan offered on behalf of the United States by three U.S. senators to move 1,000 tons of food and medical supplies per day for the relief of an estimated 2.5 million Cambodians who face starvation.

The Cambodian Foreign Ministry "energetically rejects the plan of aid to all parties," it said in the communique. The official news agency of the Vietnamese-backed government in Phnom Penh, but gave no specific reasons for the rejection.

Vance: No Nuke Evidence

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance says the United States has no "convincing evidence" a possible nuclear explosion detected by a satellite in the Red Sea.

Vance made his remarks at an airport news conference on arrival in Florida to speak at the Florida Blue Key Banquet, an annual affair attended by state political leaders at the University of Florida.

Data transmitted from the intelligence satellite indicated there "may have been a low-yield nuclear detonation of two to three kilotons," announcements with "very large areas of 400 square miles," stretching as far south as Antarctica, Vance said.

St. Vincent Islands Free

KINGSTON, St. Vincent (UPI) — St. Vincent and the Grenadines, a group of volcanic and largely unpopulated islands in the eastern Caribbean, became an independent nation Oct. 27.

St. Vincent, an island of 110,000 people, is situated between two other former British colonies, St. Lucia and Grenada, that earlier this year installed elected governments through an earlier act of independence.

St. Vincent Prime Minister Milton Chanté expressed to the residents of the new state to preserve the constitution's ideas of "democracy, free institutions, the privacy of the family and the right to property."

Paper: Sadat Has Cancer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A Lebanese newspaper said today Sadat has cancer. The paper said the Egyptian president's life "is in danger" and could not be held longer than three years, the paper said.

Sandinistas Form New Army

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua's ruling Sandinista government has announced it has "officially" proclaimed a new army, the "Popular Army of Nicaragua."

Robber Cashes Note At Altamonte Bank

Police have no suspects after Friday's bank robbery at Altamonte. In which a man gave a letter a note demanding money and threatening to shoot if he didn't get it.

"Don't give me any bank money and don't activate the alarm," was also written on the note, said Altamonte Springs Police Lt. Steve Carver. It also instructed the teller to return the note.

Employee of the Altamonte Springs branch of the Sun Bank of Seminoles told police they did not see a gun.

Ted Rybicki, public relations director of the bank, said Saturday the robber escaped with an "insignificant" amount of money.

He was last seen heading toward Sears at about 12:30 p.m. Friday.

"We sealed all exits from the mall within three to four minutes," Lt. Carver said. "And they remained sealed for about an hour while detectives searched inside."

The robber is described as a white male, about 5-foot-8 with medium build, brown medium-length hair and a mustache. He was wearing a light-colored shirt and dark pants, two-piece suit, a pilot shirt and wrist-worn glasses. He is believed to be between 30 and 35 years old.

Carver said police are unsure if the bank's security camera photographed the man. The Orlando FBI office, which is investigating the case, has the film.

SOME TAKEN FROM SAFE
Someone stole $500 this week from an unattended safe at the Altamonte Springs Two Two branch, 301 E. Altamonte Drive.

According to Everlight, several people regularly go in and out of the area. He said when he went to get the bags out of the safe Thursday they were missing.

PURSE WITH 101 ITEMS MISSING
Romana Maggie, 46, 609 Little Wakaiva Drive, Oak Forest, told Seminoles County sheriff deputies Thursday some unknown person

Korean President Choi Kye-hah the United States "will continue to stand firmly behind its treaty commitments" to the Southeast Asian nations.

Carver, also praised Park as "a firm friend of America, a staunch ally, an able leader." Carver, whose human rights policy was far from Park's endorsement, noted that the state leader's "remarkable role in Korea's economic development" for particular praise.

The main U.S. worry was Park's death would tempt North Korea to take military advantage of the unstable political situation. According to a recent assessment, North Korea dramatically increased its troop along the border, to more than 600,000 soldiers.

That prompted the United States to reverse a decision to withdraw some of the U.S. military personnel from South Korea.

SHOPLIFTER ARRESTED
A man attempting to flee Thursday from the Kayre store in Sanford was subdued by police after he tried to resist arrest.

Williams said Sharp heaved a shopping cart at Williams before the officer apprehended the suspect.

YOUTH'S CONDITION STILL SERIOUS
A 17-year-old Sanford bicyclist who suffered a skull fracture and multiple cuts from an accident on U.S. Highway 17-49 was still in intensive care Friday at Florida Hospital South.

Joe Turner, 114 Fairlane Circle, was riding with the traffic heading north when he was struck from behind.

FOUND NOT GUILTY
Terry Anthony McCallum was found not guilty on both counts of kidnapping and sexual battery in circuit court Friday by a jury of 10 men and two women.

NATION IN BRIEF

5 States Chosen As Sites For Nuclear Waste Dumps

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Sites in five states have been chosen by the Department of Energy for possible disposal of the government's low-level radioactive waste.

The sites were picked because two previously selected commercial nuclear dump sites were closed.

The government said 18 percent of the waste destined for commercial nuclear dumps in 1979 was generated by DOE research- and defense-related facilities and laboratories.

A total of 450,000 cubic feet of low-level waste was to have been buried at commercial sites this year by the DOE, an announcement said.

"The Department of Energy anticipates that this action will help make room in the commercial sites in dealing with medical research and industrial low-level wastes," Dave Jackson, a spokesman for DOE, said.

Kennedy Will Announce

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy late Friday directly criticized President Carter for the first time, only hours after he let it be known he had decided to run for the presidency, because he felt Carter and his aides were not up to the job.

When Kennedy was asked if he would formally announce his candidacy before Thanksgiving, he replied, "Yes, of course so." Kennedy, noting Carter had recently said the American people must be led to lower their sights, said in the Depression of the '30s and the recession of the '60s American presidents did not give up. "What we seek is the same take-charge attitude," he said.

Thevis Pledges To Fight

ROME, Ga. (UPI) — "I'm not even going to ask for mercy," prosecutor Mike Thevis told U.S. District Court Judge Harold L. Murphy Friday, after he had been sentenced to life plus 20 years in federal prison on his conviction on racketeering charges.

Confederate, Martin's rector Anna Jeannette Evans and former Sumnerville, S.C. police Lt. Alton Bart Hood, also were sentenced to life for the conspiracy with Thevis that led to the ambush slaying of Mayor Dean Underhill, a longtime Thevis associate who later turned government informant.

Louisiana Elections

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Major candidates for governor of Louisiana in the open-primary election planned to leave Sunday for the state capital for the state election booth.

A record voter turnout of about 1.4 million persons, or 76 to 78 percent of those registered in Louisiana, was expected today under fair skies and mild temperatures.

Miss Lillian Tours Center

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Lillian Carter visited the nation's first center for displaced homemakers and told reporters everyone she's met favors her son, the president, in his bid for reelection.

President Carter's 65-year-old mother was 25 minutes late Friday for her tour of the displaced homemaker facility at Mills College, designed for middle-aged women who, through divorce or widowhood, find themselves on their own for the first time in their lives.

Retired Newsman Kills Self

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Retired newspaperman Randolph Gould apparently shot his wife and himself to death in their Marin county home after leaving notes saying they were dependent over failing health. He was 51, his wife's age was not given.

U.S. Issues Warning To North Korea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States had several hours' notice before the shooting of South Korean President Park Chung-hee was public and — as a result — issued a strong warning to North Korea Sunday after his death was announced.

The State Department issued a statement that was unusually blunt and clearly directed at North Korea:

"The United States regards the murder as an internal case for the Republic of Korea and urges restraint on the part of all.

"The United States government also wishes to make it clear that it will stand strongly in accordance with its treaty obligations to the Republic of Korea to any external attempt to exploit the situation in the Republic of Korea."

The announcement was couched with the Defense Department's ordering the 24 U.S. military divisions in South Korea on a steady increase of alert status.

To add emphasis, President Carter reserved Acting South Korean President Choi Kye-hah the United States "will continue to stand firmly behind its treaty commitments" to the Southeast Asian nations.

Carver, also praised Park as "a firm friend of America, a staunch ally, an able leader." Carver, whose human rights policy was far from Park's endorsement, noted that the state leader's "remarkable role in Korea's economic development" for particular praise.

The main U.S. worry was Park's death would tempt North Korea to take military advantage of the unstable political situation. According to a recent assessment, North Korea dramatically increased its troop along the border, to more than 600,000 soldiers.

That prompted the United States to reverse a decision to withdraw some of the U.S. military personnel from South Korea.

Choi Has 3 Months

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Once an obscure follower of the man he succeeded, Prime Minister Choi Kye-hah is more moderate than the late President Park Chung-hee and is widely regarded as a man of destiny.

Under the nation's constitution, Choi's role as acting president is good for three months, during which a new elected executive must be elected.

Choi, 58-year-old, served two years as the special assistant to President Park for foreign affairs.

Under Park's leadership, Choi largely tried to maintain a low profile, always crediting Park with what he has achieved at his initiative. He showed strong loyalty to the late president, observers say.

Although he did not receive schooling in the United States, he has many American friends and is considered pro-Western.

Diplomatic Earthquake

The federal court's ruling that struck down President Carter's independent termination of the Mutual Defense Treaty with Taiwan has jolted diplomatic seismographs around the world and particularly in Asia.
Amidst the ensuing torrent of comments, the reaction voiced by the first secretary of Peking's Washington embassy, Yu Zhizhong, most aptly perhaps summarized the new situation. He simply observed that the United States now has a "serious problem" in its relationship with the Republic of China. And so we have.

RONALD REAGAN A Mirror Reflected In India

Few Americans will recognize the name of Jaya Prakash Narayan who died on October 24 at the age of 77. But there is probably no one in India who did not know "J.P." as he was called, and his influence will probably live on as long as that of his more famous companion, Mohandas Gandhi.
As a young man, Narayan was an ardent Indian nationalist working with Gandhi to free his country from British colonialism. But unlike Gandhi, Narayan was a Marxist. He looked forward to "the revolution of the proletariat," the "expropriation of the expropriators," the heightening of class warfare - all those things that so excite the Marxist fancy.

SCIENCE WORLD New Island In Works?

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An active volcano known as Kich 'em Jenny is erupting steadily in the Caribbean south of Guyana and two kilometers away from the Atlantic Ocean from the Caribbean Sea.
The volcano, which is named after the Kich 'em Jenny - the origin of his name is a mystery - was discovered when a black column of volcanic ash and steam burst through the forest canopy of a rain forest to the top of the island in 1928.
A deep sea survey in 1953 showed that the top of the submerged volcanic mountain was 700 feet below sea level. By April 1974, the peak's crater was only 300 feet deep.
The volcano's eruption indicates a trend of volcanic activity in the Caribbean. In 1962, a volcano 100 feet wide and 100 feet deep was discovered in the Caribbean. JACK ANDERSON Nixon, Carter Had Brother Trouble

It is a fact that if you had a brother, you would know what Billy Carter was going through.
The president's son, Billy Carter, was arrested in London on charges of driving a stolen car. The news of his arrest was a shock to the American public.
The Carter family has a history of trouble. Jimmy Carter's father, Earl Carter Sr., was a prominent businessman and politician. He was involved in a scandal in the 1950s that led to his imprisonment.
The Carter family's troubles are a reflection of the challenges faced by the American political elite. It is a reminder that no one is immune to the pressures of power and the temptations of greed.

Seminole County will be losing one of its eight elected women officials in the next few months.
Donna Estes, a member of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, is stepping down to run for the Florida House of Representatives.
Estes has served on the board for several years and has been a vocal advocate for women's issues. Her departure is a significant loss for the county.
The board will hold a special election to fill the vacancy. The race is expected to be competitive, with several candidates vying for the position.

Growing Older Women Need Credit

Some weeks ago, my wife, Gerry, went shopping. When using her charge plate, she discovered that it was in my name and not in hers.
This incident highlights the challenges faced by women, particularly older women, in obtaining credit. Many women have limited access to credit cards and loans, which can make it difficult to manage their finances.
The article discusses the reasons for this disparity, including gender discrimination and the historical exclusion of women from the financial system. It also offers suggestions for how women can improve their creditworthiness and access to financial services.

Consumer Reports Is Cholesterol Important?

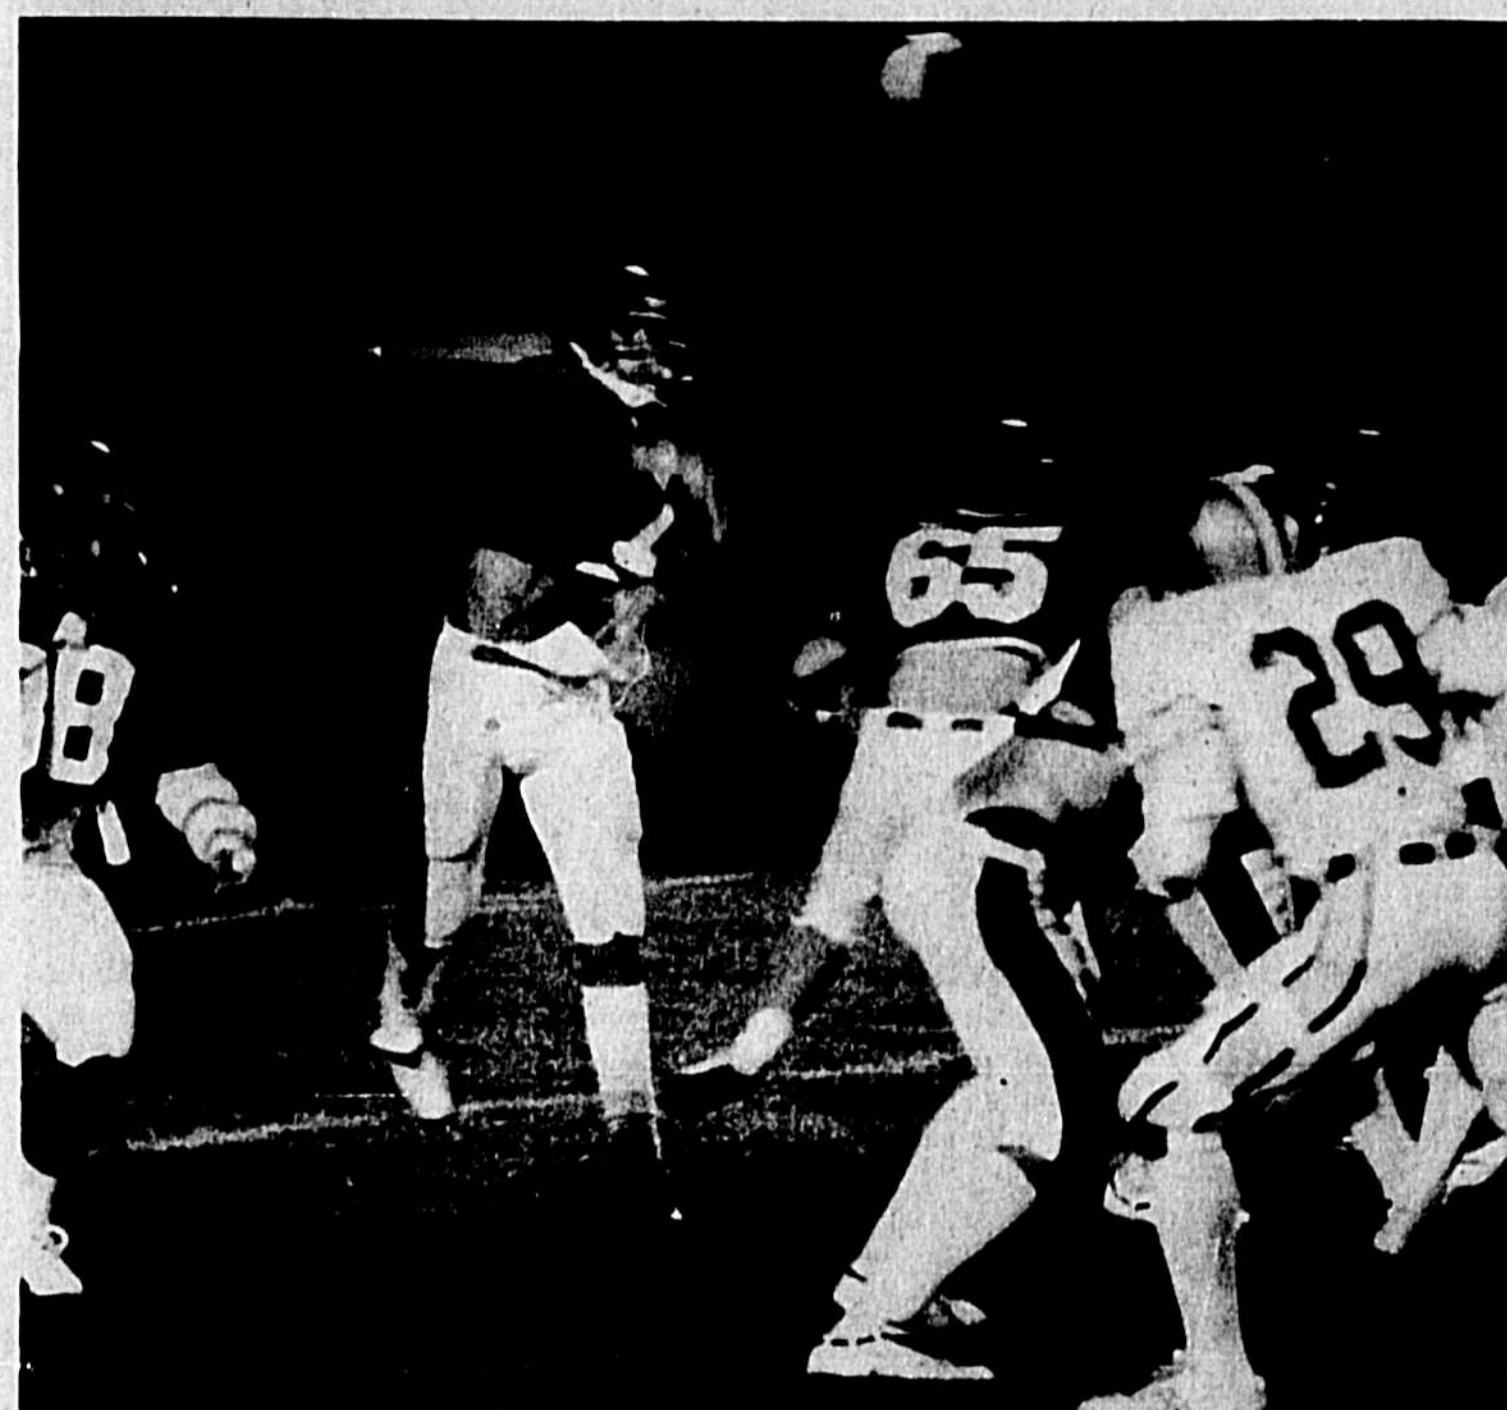

Reports that if you had a cholesterol level above 200, you should take medicine to lower it, are a bit startling.
The article discusses the importance of cholesterol in the diet and the potential risks of high cholesterol levels. It also reviews the effectiveness of cholesterol-lowering drugs and offers advice on how to maintain a healthy diet and lifestyle.
The author emphasizes that while cholesterol is an important factor in heart health, it is not the only one. Regular exercise, a balanced diet, and stress management are all crucial for maintaining overall health.

We Need Strong America
First, let me say, I am a small business owner who strongly believes in the free enterprise system.
I immediately after the fighting stopped in Europe in 1945 (a war that we did not start, and killed hundreds of thousands of American soldiers), the U.S. started sending aid, in fact 10 billion dollars (in 1945 dollars) over the first two years after the defeat of Europe.
After spending $10 billion of the American taxpayers dollars our "leaders" decided to get down to some serious spending in the form of the "Marshall Plan" announced in June 1947, by George Marshall, the American secretary of state "to place Europe on its feet economically."
The European nations were to cooperate in drawing up a plan for economic recovery (how much money is involved in planning?)
The Marshall Plan was only the beginning of our generosity in helping the European nations. It was a sign of our leadership in the world, and a testament to our commitment to peace and prosperity for all.

Early Miscues Sink Lyman Hopes

DeLand Spoils 'Hound' Homecoming

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Correspondent
The DeLand Bulldogs scored 34 first half points behind the arm of junior quarterback Larry West, as they defeated Lyman 24-13 in a five star Conference contest before a homecoming crowd at Lyman.
West, a converted defensive end starting at quarterback for the first time this year, was 7-13 on the night for 200 yards and 3 touchdowns. The first two touchdowns, passes, went to senior wide receiver Nathan Reeves on scoring passes of 62 and 10 yards.
After missing a 15-0 first quarter lead, it was West throwing to Reeves again, but this time the Greyhounds defense was alerted as the ball came off Reeves' shoulder and into the hands of split end Willie Carter. He galloped the rest of the way to complete a 83-yard scoring play in the first half.

Robinson scored a few moments later, after a Lyman fumble to give the visitors a 24-0 lead with 8:12 left in the first half.
Lyman finally answered late in the first half as quarterback Jeff Meyers scrambled five yards to put Lyman on the scoreboard going into the locker room at halftime.
The Greyhounds came out of the locker room fired up after halftime but it was useless as the Bulldog defense proved it was not going to let Lyman get back into the game.
The Greyhounds committed five turnovers, three interceptions and two fumbles, all of which came at crucial moments. Two of the Lyman mistakes net DeLand up in scoring position, while the other three stopped Lyman scoring opportunities.
The last mistake came late in the game as Lyman tried to make it a halfgame. After Darrell Gilliam recovered an onside kick for Lyman, Meyers and Cleveland led the Greyhounds down to the Bulldog 20-yard line where Meyers threw into the endzone and safety Scott Dickinson picked off the errant pass ending Lyman's hopes.
Defensive standouts for the Bulldogs were Dickinson, Broderick Gordon (who intercepted a pass), Andrew Chavez, and Mark Fowler.
The victory improved the Bulldogs record to 2-4 on the year while Lyman dropped to 1-

'Say Hey' Mays Gets News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hall of Famer Willie Mays, ordered by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to disassociate himself from baseball because of his interest in a gambling casino, says that "I don't think I have done anything wrong."
Kuhn ordered Mays to disassociate himself from his contract with the New York Mets Friday, in effect removing him from any active participation in baseball, on the basis of a 10-year contract the 48-year-old former center fielder signed with Bally International, a gambling hotel casino operation in Atlantic City, N.J.
Mays has two years left on an original 10-year contract with the Mets, with whom he is a goodwill ambassador and part-time coach at an annual salary of $50,000.
A news conference was scheduled for Monday to announce that Mays had already signed with Bally. The contract calls for $100,000 for the first three years with escalating raises over the last seven. The company is headed by Bill Weisberger.
"I would never do anything to hurt baseball," Mays said from his home in Atherton, Calif. "My involvement with Bally has nothing to do with gambling and I feel I've been a model for baseball during my 22 years in it. But now I have to think primarily of my family."
"I'm only involved in the community part of the operation," said Mays. "I am to visit hospitals and take part in golf programs and to help out in shows staged by Bally. I have nothing to do with gambling. If he feels I'm not worthy of being in baseball because of a contract, I would have to say he is wrong. I don't think I've ever done anything to hurt baseball. I've given baseball 22 years of my life. Now I have to take care of my family. Who's going to look out for me?"
Kuhn advised Mays of the action he was taking in the following telegram:
"I am advised by Al Rosen that you are about to sign a long-term contract with Bally in which you are rendering services to promote that company's casino gambling interests."
"While I can appreciate the motivations leading you to this association, it has long been my view that such associations by people in our game are inconsistent with its best interests. I believe you have been made aware of my views in that connection."
"Accordingly, while I am not happy at the prospect of losing your active participation in baseball, I must request that you promptly disassociate yourself from your contract with the New York Mets. I am informed the Mets are prepared to relieve you of any further obligations under that contract."

Lake Howell Looks To Barnes 'Hawks Eye Piece Of 5 Star'

Herald Sports Editor
(Sixth in Series)
1978 was a season of accomplishments for the Lake Howell Silver Hawks. For the first time since graduating to 4A status Lake Howell posted a winning record. The Hawks hope to continue the progress of their 17-14 showing of a year ago.
Here's a player-by-player look of coach Greg Robinson's troops who plan to make the county basketball race very interesting in 1979.
Guards
Tim James, a 5-9 150 pound senior returns to the lineup after seeing some game time last season. James is a sound fundamental, a good passer and his improved shooting touch should help from outside.
Five-foot-seven Mike Smith is another returning senior who says game time a year ago. Smith is extra quick, handles the ball well and gives the Hawks good defensive skills at the top of the key.
Junior varsity graduate Mike DeSante at 5-10 in his junior year has improved a great deal over the summer and Robinson calls him one of the hardest workers on the Hawk squad.
Probably the Silver Hawks best shooting guard, Tim O'Shaughnessy graduates from the junior varsity and gives Lake Howell consistent play in the backcourt.
While O'Shaughnessy can hit from outside, the Hawk's other guard candidate is 5-10 Barry Stockwell. Physically strong for his size, Stockwell handles the ball exceptionally well and is perhaps Lake Howell's best penetrating guard.
Forwards
If Lake Howell looks to any one player to provide leadership this season it has to be senior forward Reggie Barnes.
The First Team All-County selection, Second Team All-Conference Selection and two-time Burger King Player of the Week should pick up in '79 right where he left off in '78.
The 6-2 steady shooter has improved his ball handling skills and his 14.0 per game average is a big factor.
Newcomer Carl McKnight, a senior at 6-2 looks to be a strong offensive rebounder with good inside moves to the basket. Robinson feels improved shooting from McKnight will help the offensive load.
Another senior, last year's third forward, Mike Boucher brings experience and sound fundamentals to the forward spot and should see plenty of game time in '79.
The other half of the McKnight connection for Lake Howell is junior Fred McKnight. Robinson terms the 6-1 forward as physically strong with good inside moves.
Sophomore Mark Layton, nephew of former Phoenix Sun Moe Layton, brings his growing 6-1 frame under the boards for Lake Howell. Layton is a strong rebounder and can move to the bucket well.
Post
Although still very much involved in the prep football season, senior Rusty Conway gives Lake Howell the size and bulk it needs in the middle with his 6-4 and 220 pound frame.
Conway played most of last season at forward and Robinson feels he'll pick up a few points on his 7.0 average per game this season.
The Hawks tallest player at 6-5, Mike Sebag moves up to the varsity in '79. While he has the height, Robinson is counting on Sebag to develop physical strength under the boards as the season progresses.
Transfer student Scott Giles (from Louisiana) gives Lake Howell more decent size in the middle at 6-2. The junior does many things well and should get stronger as the year progresses.
Like all other county teams, the Silver Hawks will take part in both the Rotary Bowl tournament and the Oviedo Invitational.

District Seeds

Pairings have been set for the Star Conference District C's Volleyball tournament at Lake Howell. Opening round matches tip off on Wednesday, Oct. 21 when top seeded Lake Howell at 18-1 meets Spring Creek at 6-10 at 4 p.m.
At 8-9, DeLand at 10-4 meets Apple at 4-10; at 9:00 Seminole High at 13-4 meets

Liberty Christian Rolls Over Turnbull Bay 48-0

Liberty Christian got touchdowns from five different players Friday to score a 48-0 romp over Turnbull Bay of New Smyrna Beach in the Mid-Florida Flag Football League.
Quarterback David Hobb, who picked up 63 yards on three carries run for a pair of scores and also passed for another. Hobb connected on 3-7 attempts for 83 yards on the day.
Christian also got touchdowns from Eric Compton, Mickey Bennett, Steve Sloan and Scott Smith.
It was an all around victory for Liberty as the defense held Turnbull at Bay, limiting the New Smyrna Beach school to 79 yards total offense.
The third, fourth and fifth grade pass men of Liberty made it a double football day with a 34-0 win over Turnbull Bay.
Quarterback Mickey Gregory scored a pair of touchdowns while running back Jeff Hudson rambled for a 69-yard score.
In other Liberty Christian sports news the girls volleyball squad won their opening game of the year with a 15-4 and 18-12 win over Turnbull Bay.
Liberty grid action picks up again Friday when the undefeated Sanford school takes on Ranchland Christian of Winter Springs.

'Hawks' Greg Robinson: 'We Issue Everything But Desire'

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Editor
If the 1978 edition of the Lake Howell Silver Hawks had sixth-year coach Greg Robinson issuing with their first winning season as a Class A school, then the 1979 edition has him impressed with the first few weeks of practice.
"The whole coaching staff is very pleased with the attitude and attitude of the squad," says the Birmingham Southern grad.
"The kids have exceeded our expectations so Robinson is a prep coach who likes to keep things in perspective.
"The Silver Hawks will put their character and pride on the line during a season that Robinson terms, "Very interesting."
"The county teams are getting better every year. That's good because nobody is going to roll over and play dead this season. Nobody did last year either and that's good for the 5 Star Conference and Seminole County," explained Robinson.
"I think for us to be successful this year we'll have to get a lot of people involved in our offense. We are probably one of the smallest teams in the county, but we hustle."
"I think the kids are looking forward to the challenge. They know here at Lake Howell we issue everything but desire. That has to come from them."

food prices are out of sight. It's no cheaper to live here, contrary to what they've been told. So they become very frustrated and this frustration explodes on the child."

In a rash of child abuse in the past six weeks, Ms. Laws said she has seen children with scabies burrs, bruising and fractures apparently inflicted by their parents.

Stephen Plotnick, assistant state's attorney, confirmed an apparent increase in child abuse cases. Plotnick is one of prosecutors who handle child abuse cases.

"My impression is that more cases are coming across," he said. "This may be due to better investigative techniques, more actual cases or we just have more people willing to make a phone call."

If the parents' story doesn't match the bruises, and child abuse is suspected, DHS may consult Dr. Sara Irygang, associate medical examiner.

This year Dr. Irygang said she has confirmed 14 cases that warranted further investigation.

Evidence for child abuse includes heavy bruising and broken bones unlikely to have occurred accidentally. And infant, for instance, with his lack of social contacts, is unlikely to receive a fracture in an arm or leg. This type of fracture indicates significant pressure and twisting was applied.

"Often a baby's fracture will heal undetected," Ms. Laws said. "But if someone was angry enough to injure the child, it's going to happen again."

What type of person would be angry enough to break an infant's bones or hurt a defenseless young boy?

There are no stereotypes.

"Child abuse knows no cultural or economic bounds. Anyone—absolutely anyone—could be a child abuser." If more cases are investigated among the poor, this is because they more easily come to the attention of authorities.

"The poor receive money from the state, therefore they are surveyed by the state and more of their activities become known," Plotnick said. "The wealthier you are the less likely it is that your activities will come to the attention of authorities."

"You and I will never know if Rockefeller beat his children."

"It has long been my feeling," Ms. Laws said, "that private doctors, who may have social contact with the parents, are often willing to accept less than credible explanations of bruises and fractures in their children."

The wealthy also have the best attorneys, Plotnick said, so it is easier for them to cover-up their activities.

"As with all other things," he said, "the higher up the socio-economic ladder you get, the more things you're able to get away with."

When a youngster is removed from his home in Florida, he may be put in a shelter home. Shelter homes are often residences of private individuals who feel they can contribute to a community need by taking in one or more children who need temporary sanctuary.

In the Sanford area, one experienced shelter home mother said the majority of children she has housed have been from households of above average income.

Reports of suspected child abuse are held strictly confidential.

Ms. Laws said if she does not believe the injuries happened in the manner the parent says they did, she will request to take the child to a doctor.

"If the parent refuses, I have no choice but to take the child to a temporary shelter," she said. "I'll talk with them long enough, they will agree."

Ms. Laws estimates police help is required in one half of one percent of the cases.

"After the hours and the name calling, most of the time I get them to relinquish the child," she said, "because they love their child even if the bruises aren't accidental."

When a parent is able to get outside personal feelings and help the child understand why he must go along with the social worker, so that the child is not forced to choose between parent and stranger, she said, then there is evidence the parent is very concerned about the welfare of the child.

"In my experience," she said, "over the most abusive parents I've seen, I've seen a tremendous amount of guilt. Often there's a sense of relief when we show up on the doorstep."

Officials To Dedicate Facilities Altamonte Springs Gains Cable TV

By DONNA ESTES

Altamonte Springs is one step closer to cable television. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Storv Television facilities at 911 State Route 434 at Sand Lake Road in Altamonte Springs are scheduled for 10:45 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 27.

The 10,000-square-foot facilities are to include a studio for local originating programming, a 300-foot tower for reception of distant stations, a seven-meter satellite earth station and offices.

Altamonte Springs and Seminole County commissioners and officials have been invited to attend the ceremonies along with members of the Altamonte Springs citizens advisory board, members of Storv's local and regional staffs, officials of the Winter Park Telephone Co. and the Florida Power Corp. and representatives of citizens and business interests throughout the area.

Installation of cable is complete in many residential areas of Altamonte Springs, said Marc Jennings, general manager of Storv Cable TV's local operations. Storv has a franchise with the city of Altamonte.

Construction crews for both underground and overhead installation of cable are at work in various areas of the city. Overall, construction of the cable system is progressing on schedule, Jennings said.

He said Storv will offer five levels of service following activation of the system, which is expected during January, 1980. Up to 25 channels will be available including three types of home box office movie packages, children's programming, Madison Square Garden sports specials, Las Vegas-style shows and programming from local and distant network and independent stations.

A SWITCH IN TIME

Steve McMahon, regional manager for Orange-Seminole Cablevision, throws a switch to activate microwave receiving equipment at the company's site of Ridgewood Avenue in Sanford. The cablevision signal to subscribers in North Seminole is now sent by a microwave F.M. link and received by a parabolic antenna atop a 95-foot tower. McMahon said the $70,000 system should increase reliability and quality of the signal, plus enable the company to add numerous channels in the future.

OURSELVES

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Sunday, Oct. 28, 1977—1B

In 1914 the couple below were engaged — but not to each other. While visiting in Apopka, a Georgia peach and a banker from Sanford were invited to go fishing and boating on a houseboat. Viola Howard Bryan said 'she caught more fish than one' that day.

Good Friday: The Beginning Of A Marriage 65 Years Ago

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Miss Viola Howard was already engaged that Spring she left Barnesville, Ga. to visit her aunt who lived in Winter Garden, west of Orlando. His name was Haswell and he lived in Tennessee.

Leslie T. Bryan was 26-years-old and the Sanford resident was working a bank in Winter Garden that day he walked past the front porch where the visiting Miss Howard sat with her cousin. He was also engaged.

Miss Howard saw the tall, good-looking young man as he passed and she turned to her cousin and asked, "Who's that man going there?"

As he continued on his way she followed him with her eyes and said to herself, "Look out Haswell."

The next day was Good Friday and the banks were closed. A cashier at the bank where Bryan worked had a large houseboat and he invited several employees and friends to spend the day fishing and boating on the Apopka in Winter Garden. Miss Howard and Bryan were both invited, and as Miss Howard later said, "I caught more fish than one."

Bryan asked if he could take Miss Howard home after returning to shore and she accepted his offer. On the way back to her aunt's house he asked her for a date. She again accepted.

Soon Miss Howard returned to Georgia but she did not forget the handsome banker in Florida. As it happened the local college in Barnesville offered a special banking course and Bryan attended the school and ended up courting Miss Howard. She had cancelled her engagement to Haswell in Tennessee and Bryan had cancelled his to the girl in Florida.

On Oct. 21, 1914 in the First Baptist Church in Barnesville, the two were married.

The happy bride and groom returned to his home in Sanford arriving from Jacksonville aboard the steamboat Osceola, which made the run between the two cities on the St. Johns river.

On the first Sunday they were in Sanford the newlyweds

Governor Presents Awards To 2 Seminole Women

Gov. Bob Graham awards Irene Alconis...

Two of the six Luella Dirksen Community Service Awards presented in Central Florida at Sea World's 1979 Bester Citizen Recognition and Awards Breakfast went to Seminole County's 62-year-old Josephine Grand of Lake Mary, and 73-year-old Irene Alconis of Orlando, were awarded plaques by Governor Robert Graham for their outstanding community service.

Sharing in the presentation was Mrs. Howard Baker daughter of the late Sen. and Mrs. Dirksen.

The award came as a surprise to both volunteers. "I was speechless — for a minute," said Mrs. Grand, organizer and leader of a sewing group comprised of 40 volunteers who spent 1,150 hours in August (a typical month) sewing items for distribution to needy individuals, migrant children, nursing homes the cancer society, the old soldiers home and Bete House.

Mrs. Grand predicted the recognition "will make me put more effort into my work, and I'll work twice as hard."

"I don't know how I'll do it, though. The phone's ringing all the time now!" said the mother of two adult children and an adopted son, who said her husband raised from infancy. (She also has three other grandchildren.)

This year is the first time the award was given in honor of the late widow of the late U.S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen, and Mrs. Alconis revealed she had been awarded the award for her service to the children every chance she got.

In a recent conversation, Chamberlain noted that Mrs. Alconis "lightens our workload and brightens our camp."

Also near and dear to this volunteer's heart are the students she meets at Lyman High School where they have volunteered her services in the guidance department for the past five years. "I'm thrilled to pieces working with the students," she says.

Pens of Power

"Wow... what a story!" "Wow, these are real artists!" So our reactions to writing that stimulate. But, before a word is written, a good writer must first have something to say and know how best to say it.

For Shakespeare and Margaret Mitchell... they had something in common... pens of power. They had the gift of being able to transport readers into another world of beauty, drama, or history. Being you cannot see the faces of these immortal works.

Yet, long before the days of these great authors, four other writers spoke to a ready world through their pens. They wrote about a man from Nazareth whose life changed the world. Divinely inspired, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John still testify today to the truth of the risen Jesus.

Exiled Buddhist Leader

Dalai Lama Touring United States

By JILL MacNEICE
United Press International
He is the exiled leader of Tibet. He is the head of the Lamaist monks. He is the 14th incarnation of Gendun Chopel. He is the Dalai Lama and he has been touring the United States.

But there is much more to the Dalai Lama than the exotic appeal of Tibet. He is the Dalai Lama and he has been touring the United States. He is the Dalai Lama and he has been touring the United States. He is the Dalai Lama and he has been touring the United States.

The "Wish-Fulfilling Gem" as he is called, speaks of "compassion," "patience" and "love for others" with the assurance of one who has mastered the intricacies of Buddhist philosophy and metaphysics.

The Dalai Lama even speaks of his enemy with polite respect. "The enemy can teach you tolerance, so your enemy is valuable to you and always gives you a chance to improve yourself. Thus," he said breaking into laughter, "the enemy is your best friend."

Washington. He cited a standing army in Tibet and restrictions on emigration as indications of the poor situation under Chinese rule. But he said he saw no need for uprisings such as the ones in 1959 and 1980 in which he estimates over 200,000 Tibetans were killed.

"Violence — not nice," he said in English at a congressional reception. "Cannot gain much... it is something like suicide." He sees improved U.S.-China relations as a boon and when asked whether he thought establishment of U.S.-Chinese diplomatic ties complicated his position with China, he replied: "No. Cold War attitudes are becoming more moderate... that will help, I hope."

People are still saying it. Christian women are still amazing the world. They do it every day. Women were led at the cross and first of the tomb. They even assumed the disciples, one of whom committed to Jesus on the Emmaus walk. "Certain women of our company made us astonished!"

Tips On Lasting Marriage

QUESTION: I was married recently after being single for nearly ten years. My husband and I each had an unsuccessful marriage when we were young. This has increased our desire to make our marriage a loving and lasting one. It is obvious that you and Mrs. Roberts have not only had an enduring marriage but a happy one. Would you share some of your secrets with us?

ANSWER: There are four secrets in particular that I believe have helped Evelyn and me to remain sweethearts after more than forty years. First of all, the church has played a big role in our relationship from the beginning. We met in a church camp, and the beginning of our romance took place in a church setting. Our children have grown up in Sunday school and church. It has been important to us and has strengthened our marriage.

Another secret of our marriage has been communication. We have always been able to talk openly and honestly with each other. We ask for forgiveness when we are wrong and applaud each other when we are right. We praise each other often, in public and private. And, more important, Evelyn and I express our love often. We are openly affectionate. "I love you, darling," and "I love you, honey," are expressions frequently heard around our house.

When we were first married, Evelyn was a school teacher and we had to be apart in order for her to fulfill her teaching

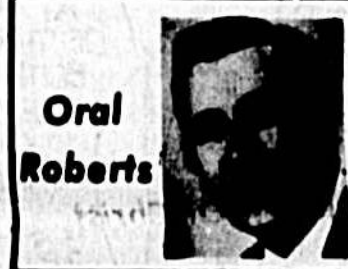

Christian Women Amazing

By FRED L. NEAL

"What women these Christians have!" so exclaimed a pagan onlooker during the days of the Roman Empire. Christian women are still amazing the world. They do it every day. Women were led at the cross and first of the tomb. They even assumed the disciples, one of whom committed to Jesus on the Emmaus walk. "Certain women of our company made us astonished!"

It is Christianity's peculiar glory that women have been able to achieve her first liberty within her precincts, her fullest liberty in response to his ethic. Where else has she found so great an outlet for her urges to self-expression?

Where else has woman been so challenged to effective service for her community and her world? Where else has she been so challenged to effective leadership and given a chance to exert them?

What Christian woman has done with her capacities for indignation at oppression, her courage with weakness and her eagerness to serve, adds us to a

Pair Is Presumed Drowned in Lake

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A young boy and an elderly man, both of Sanford, are still missing and presumed drowned today after a weekend search failed to locate the bodies of Saturday's boating accident in Lake Monroe.

Roderick Wooden, 9, son of Susan Wooden of 1504 W. 15th St., and Frank Pendleton of 1114 W. 14th St. were swept away by the swift current as they clung to a partially submerged 14-foot boat in the choppy waters of the Lake, survivors of the incident told Seminole Sheriff's deputies Saturday.

Lindsay L. Brown, 30, of Apt. 106, 1506 W. 23rd St., and Ulysses Burke, 47, of 3320 E. Lincoln St., Midway, who were the fishing companions of Wooden and Pendleton, were later rescued from the water by an unidentified boater.

The survivors told authorities they had been fishing at 1:30 p.m. on the northside of Lake Monroe, east of the Interstate 4 bridge, when the boat's propeller apparently became entangled in submerged trolleys placed there by commercial fishermen.

Cap. Ray Parker of the Sheriff's Department said Ulysses Burke, operator of the boat, attempted to get untangled by reversing direction of the boat. At that point water rushed in over the side of the boat swamping it within seconds.

Brown and Burke said the four clung to the partially submerged craft for more than an hour about one mile offshore. The boy, a Pinecrest Elementary School student and Sanford native, was the only one wearing a life jacket, Parker said, and it was later found floating with no one in it. "It was an adult size and the boy could have slipped out of it," said Parker.

Roderick had been reportedly holding on to Pendleton's back as he clung to the boat before they were swept away. Neither was a good swimmer, officials reported.

Parker said it was thought the old man could have had a heart attack as a result of the ordeal causing him to let go of the boat.

Waves of 2½ to 3 feet on the lake hampered efforts by the Seminole and Volusia County Sheriff's Departments Saturday to locate the victims.

The search was resumed at daybreak again on Sunday, but later had to be called off because the lake was so rough.

When located the boat had drifted about 2 miles from the spot where it first submerged. Sheriff's Office spokesman John Spolski said the search was being curtailed today to one boat, but will resume on Tuesday when it is expected the bodies may surface.

Pinecrest Elementary student Roderick Wooden was swept away by waves in a weekend boating accident.

200 Arrested: Stock Market Remains Open

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hundreds of anti-nuclear demonstrators blocked traffic in the heart of the nation's most important financial district today, pleading with stock exchange employees to stay away from work and support their protest of the financial community's funding of the nuclear industry.

Police arrested about 200 protesters for blocking traffic or blocking corridors through barricades set up for New York Stock Exchange employees.

Many workers ignored the protesters and went to work. Some even complained of being inconvenienced by the protest.

Chanting "no more nukes, no more nukes," demonstrators lay down on sidewalks to block access by workers. Others sat in the streets.

Many were arrested. Some rushed in small groups onto Broadway—a block away from the Stock Exchange Building—only to be pushed back onto the sidewalks by night stick wielding police officers.

As the demonstrators were arrested, police took snapshots of them, then hauled them away to police vans and buses.

Still other protesters stood in the streets, tossed play money into the air, danced, banged tambourines, and watched street-theater acts.

Traffic on Broadway near the Exchange was hopelessly stalled.

The number of protesters swelled to about 1,000 by 9 a.m., but their efforts appeared to convince only a few workers to stay away from their jobs.

Most Exchange employees moved quickly through police checkpoints and proceeded to their work places. Some grumbled over having to come in early because of the protest and of having to "walk a gauntlet" through the barricades.

The most positive reaction the protesters got from the workers came from one businessman who said, "I don't know if you're right, I don't know if you're wrong. I wish you good luck, but I'm still going to work."

$3,800 Money Bag Missing

Sanford police today were looking for suspects in connection with a money bag robbery shortly after midnight Saturday, when a restaurant employee was shot at as he was making a night deposit at Atlantic National Bank's drive-in facility on U.S. Highway 17-92.

Police said the robbery victim, Mike Guadagno, 22, assistant manager of Bahama

Joe's told police he drove up to the depository in his truck, leaned over and unlocked the box, then deposited a money bag containing $3,800 in cash and checks.

Before Guadagno could turn the key and remove it, someone fired a shot which hit the rear window of his truck, he said.

Guadagno drove off quickly and headed for the police station on U.S. 17-92, leaving the money bag in the box.

On the way to the police station, Guadagno came across a Sanford policeman on routine duty. He got the officer's attention and the patrolman sped to the bank while Guadagno continued to the police station.

Police said this morning they are certain the money bag deposited by Guadagno did not

Jim Nulty, 34, first assistant manager at the restaurant, said today a similar incident occurred last July when he was making a deposit and police were later requested to escort employees when they went to make deposits. Nulty said the practice was later stopped, but will be resumed following Saturday's incident.

Man Charged In 2 Deaths

Two months ago the Winter Springs Police Department stopped Thomas John Taylor, 35, of 459 Alderwood Street, South, for carrying a shotgun as he walked on Edgemon Avenue near his home.

Last Saturday night, Taylor was charged with the shotgun slaying of two men and the attempted murder of a third man in the Pub restaurant and bar at the Oasis Motel, 280 E. Orlando Ave., Winter Park. Taylor leaves the restaurant and bar from the hotel.

Taylor was arraigned in Orange County Court Sunday morning and ordered held without bond in the Orange County jail, according to Winter Park police.

According to a report by Winter Park Detective Robert Lang, a shotgun shooting erupted at The Pub at about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. The victims of the shooting, John Kenneth Walwyn, 38, died in the operating room at Winter Park Memorial Hospital and Rocky Fernandez, also 38, at Blue Hillside Court was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The third victim, Harry Clayton, 22, whose address is listed as the Oasis Motel, is in Winter Park Hospital listed in good condition today. He has shotgun wounds in his back and side, according to the police report.

In the August incident, according to Winter Springs police records, Taylor was not arrested because the shotgun was not concealed and therefore not illegal.

Winter Park police recovered a 12-gauge shotgun and four spent shells at the scene Saturday.

Lang said reports he has received are that there had been an argument between the victims and Taylor on-going for about a week. Lang said reports Taylor received injuries in a fight with the victims prior to the shooting are untrue.

Lang said it has not been determined what the argument was about.

CHILD ABUSE

'Karen' Took Her Rage Out On Daughter; Parents Anonymous Set A New Direction

(Second Of Two Parts)

"I literally yank my hair out. It's like some other force is making you do it. I know it was wrong, but I felt I had to hit her . . ."

A mother remains she is abusing her child. In some cases the abuse goes on for years, ending in permanent damage to the child's physical or emotional well-being.

If they are lucky, help-parent and child, will get outside help. If they follow a child in immediate danger, Florida's Health and Rehabilitating Services (HRS) will step in and remove the child from the home, temporarily or permanently. A parent who is "unable to acknowledge the problem can get help too."

Karen (not her real name), a 32-year-old Sanford mother, joined Parents Anonymous and found it helped her control the extreme rage she sometimes felt and sometimes took out on her baby daughter. (A Parents Anonymous group is located in Orlando. A Sanford branch is planned.)

"At first, any little thing would spark extreme anger in me," Karen said. "The first time I hit her, she was four or five months old. I don't know how I did it. I really did."

There were times, Karen said, when she would feel furious, but was able to keep it under control.

"Something controlled it. I don't know if it was faith or knowledge of what's right and wrong or what. But other times I felt I had to hit her. Something was making me do it. Not because she was doing anything wrong . . ."

"I felt very guilty. I thought quite a few times about suicide. I thought she would be better off without me."

"I felt alone. How do you tell your husband—how could I tell him I beat his daughter?"

Because she realized others must be going through the same thing, Karen contacted Parents Anonymous.

"They let me talk," she said. "I was given encouragement and alternatives. But the most important thing was I didn't feel judged. There were no scornful looks."

"I learned my problem is the same as that of anyone else who abuses their child—lack of control."

Karen said she learned to release anger in other ways. Jumping rope or accumulating tape pillows were among alternatives advised, she said.

"Or leave the child alone for a few minutes. It won't hurt it. I once slung a ball against a closed door. It put a dent in the door, but it was better the door than the baby."

"Why didn't Karen hit a door in the first place, instead of her baby?"

Experts say child abuse had many causes. Among them are: an unstable or broken marriage; financial or other stress; an unwanted child; a non-normal or problem child; or having unrealistic expectations of a normal child. But Karen said none of these situations applied to her.

"At home when I was young," she said, "I realize now people spent a lot of time telling me not to be mad. You didn't show yourself if you were unhappy or angry."

"Sports in school were an anger release mechanism for me. It wasn't until I was 22 that I learned I had a temper."

Today Karen is not involved in sports. She doesn't work outside the home because of the baby. She admits to boredom at times and a yearning for adult conversation when her husband is at work. Although she said she is "basically happy," moments of loneliness and frustration occur.

These are perfectly normal. Everyone gets depressed occasionally, experts say. Not everyone, however, takes it out on their children.

"I think I did because I was abused as a child myself," Karen said. "I think 90 percent of abusers were abused as children."

At first, she said, you reflect on how you were treated and tell
