

Walker Testimony As To Stock Deals Refuted On Stand

Seabury Points Out Mayor's Connection With Sherwood Who Is Hiding From Law

NEW YORK, May 27.—(A.P.)—Park Commissioner Walter Herrick testified today before the Hofstadter committee that he bought for Mayor James Walker and with Walker's money 300 shares of Interstate Trust Company stock which was issued in Herrick's name and part of which was used as collateral for a loan in the Equitable Trust Company.

Herrick denied on the stand yesterday that he ever owned the stock directly or indirectly.

Seabury, committee counsel, declared Walker's testimony was "more or less all lies" and that Sheriff Sherwood's flight in the face of accusations is more evidence of guilt.

Herrick insisted it stands in evidence that Sherwood had a joint safe deposit with the mayor. "There is no reason," Seabury said, "why Sherwood should fear investigation if he were the agent of others. He knew he was being investigated in relation to the mayor."

Herrick's approval of House Democrats' $2,100,000,000 Garretts bill was contended last night almost totally with the cooperation of a statement from administration quarters that a public works program would be a "check to public confidence."

The Garretts bill carries a $1,000,000,000 public works provision. It also would provide $100,000,000 to be administered by President Hoover for relief and would add $1,000,000,000 to the capital of the Reconstruction Corporation for loans to states, cities, counties, individuals and corporations that could furnish proper security.

The appropriation of administration opposition to a public works program came from Secretary Mills in a statement dealing specifically with the program advanced several nights ago by former Governor Smith of New York.

He said "public works mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a check to public confidence."

The Garretts measure does not specifically provide for a bond issue.

Colonel Lindbergh Will Testify Against Man Who Led Him On Phantom Hunt

AL CAPONE ASKS SUPREME COURT TO RECONSIDER

FLEMINGTON, N. J., May 27.—(A.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh personally will testify against the man who led him a three-week chase for a phantom kidnaper's ship. Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck asserted yesterday after it was reported unofficially that John Hughes Curtis had been indicted for his false efforts to recover the filer's child.

The indictment was returned, it was indicated, after the Hunterdon County grand jury had examined witnesses and heard evidence for two hours and five minutes about Curtis's confessed, elaborate hoax in the Lindbergh case.

Hauck would not verify the report, saying the grand jury's findings would be presented Saturday morning. He did, however, say definitely Colonel Lindbergh would testify if an indictment was returned and a trial resulted.

"Colonel Lindbergh will be one of the witnesses," he said. "He is willing to appear. Mrs. Lindbergh will not be called."

Earlier this week Hauck had said he would not summon Colonel Lindbergh before the grand jury. Colonel Lindbergh had expressed a desire not to testify against the Norfolk shipbuilder whose story of contacts with the kidnapers caused the filer to board a boat and search the high seas for a ship that didn't exist.

"I am not sure yet whether Admiral Burtage and Dean Peacock, Curtis's associates, will be summoned," he said.

Growers Union To Quiz Candidates As To Their Positions

All state and county political candidates who accept an invitation to attend next Friday night's meeting of the Florida Growers Union at the Court House at 8:30 p. m. will be quizzed on their positions on the shipping of fruits and vegetables by truck.

That is the intent of a motion passed at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Union, held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon with the following members present: B. F. Haines, W. C. Hutchinson, Gus Schmah, Clifford Bell, George E. Holmes, Nick Zerkow, and John Duda.

The committee will also recommend, at the next membership meeting of the Union, next Friday night, that a letter be written to Ruth Bryan Owen requesting that she advise the Union regarding her views on the present bill before Congress providing for truck legislation and for her opinion on truck legislation in general.

Appointment of C. M. Boyd and Karl Schultz as organizers who will have authority to collect annual dues of $1.00 was also announced, although the acceptance of these workers has not yet been secured. A letter of credentials will be placed in their hands if they do accept, it was announced.

The following resolution was also adopted by the committee:

"That this organization was formed purely for benefiting the grower in a legislative way, and is not an educational or marketing organization, and any statement made at any meeting detrimental to the interest of any person of any race or religion is wholly without sanction of the Union and intent being to be helpful to any grower in the State of Florida."

The Executive Committee will hold another meeting at the City Hall next Thursday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock, it was announced.

Annual Picnic Is Held By Woodmen At Lake Mary Site

Although rain fell heavily throughout the afternoon, 250 Woodmen of the World and their families and guests declared their annual picnic held yesterday at Evesdale Park, Lake Mary, a decided success.

The speaking program was interrupted because of the rain, but Woodmen held inspiring addresses on Woodcraft by Mrs. S. D. Donahoe, of Ocala, Neb.; V. P. Miller, Lakeland, and H. M. McGee, Jacksonville, prominent members of the order. Judge James G. Sharon acted as toastmaster.

The speaking program consisted of many persons enjoyed the day and at 8:30 o'clock a basket picnic and chicken platter furnished by the local lodge. A dance, well-attended, and held at the Community Building in Lake Mary, closed the day's events.

C. C. Collins, census commissioner of the local lodge, today announced that Mrs. Donahoe is in Sanford for the purpose of attending a Juvenile Lodge, and that she met with children of Woodmen at the lodge rooms this afternoon at 8:30 o'clock.

He expressed his appreciation to the persons who assisted in making the day a success, particularly the residents of Lake Mary who offered the use of their bathing beach, their community hall, and their homes, in entertaining the guests.

Husband Denies He Abducted His Wife

BLAKEVILLE, Calif., May 27.—(A.P.)—Reconciliation—not abduction—was the explanation given today by Alfred Reed, Jr., for printing his estranged wife, Mrs. Marian Reed, here from Oakland, in jail, the lawyer, whose young attractive wife said Claire Windsor, the actress, for alienation of affections, and Reed for divorce, denied he abducted his wife at the point of a gun and forced her to accompany him on a wild automobile ride here as he claimed.

Authorities quoted Reed as admitting he forced his wife to accompany him, Mrs. Reed said her husband attempted to persuade her to drop 100,000-dollar alienation suit against Miss Windsor and her divorce suit in which she named the actress correspondent, but she refused.

DRYS WARN 2 PARTIES AS TO LIQUOR STAND

Opening Gun Fired To Prevent Wet Plank From Being Written In Either Platform

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(A.P.)—Organized drys warned both political parties yesterday that a referendum plank in their convention platforms next month would be "futile, at present."

They also said the "extreme limit" to which the Republicans and Democrats could go on this question without infringing the rights of the people would be a declaration that repeal or modification should be determined by the citizens themselves "free from the pressure of any political party platform."

In an open letter to members of Congress, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, fired the opening gun in a battle to be waged here next week by 20 dry organizations to prevent most planks being adopted at the two Chicago conclaves.

Substantially, Bishop Cannon said the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted as a non-political measure without any previous party platform declaration on the subject, there is no constitutional provision for a popular referendum; that whenever the people desire a change or a referendum they can obtain it by electing senators, representatives, and members of state legislatures or conventions favoring a change or a referendum, and that the parties should pledge themselves to a "vigorous, efficient enforcement" of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Should either or both conventions take any and unopposed action on the prohibition question," the letter concluded, the drys would insist that the people ignore the platforms and elect senators and representatives to represent their views and later would "confer as to what course to pursue for the best interests of the prohibition cause."

Bishop Cannon's letter was the high light of the day's political developments. A Maryland Republican.

Trucks Await Bonus Army, Capital Bound

CINCINNATI, May 27.—(A.P.)—A caravan of 35 Ohio national guard and highway department trucks awaited the "on-to-Washington" bonus army today at Lawrenceburg, Ind., to transport it across the Huckleys state line. Lunch was donated for the expedition at Cleveland across the state line. Ohio will convey the delegation to Wheeling, West Virginia, where that state will give the men a lift to the Pennsylvania state line.

Baggett's Robbed By Bandits Who Hurl Cylinder Head Through Glass

Baggett's Soda Fountain at First and Sanford Avenue is the latest business house to have been terrorized and ransacked by burglars whose boldness equals their ability to make a clean getaway.

Early this morning, at 3:15 o'clock, unknown persons, probably three of them, had the business to throw the cylinder head of a Chevrolet automobile through one of the large plate glass windows facing on Sanford Avenue, and entering the store to make away with a safe machine, a small amount of change in a cash register, and several articles of small value, including various of cigarettes, cans of tomato juice, and bottles of glass ale.

The crash attracted Patrolman W. W. Owens, walking his beat on Sanford Avenue near Fifth Street. He ran toward the scene, and upon his arrival, saw two men whom he fired at as they ran toward the lakefront.

One of the men dashed through the rear entrance of the Arcade Building, while the other headed toward the lake, finally falling into the darkness near the old Wicks Grocery Co. building, to make a clean getaway together with the other man.

E. B. Baggett, owner of the store, this morning said that it appeared to him as though there must have been three men involved in the affair. The robbers smashed a window just in front of the slot machine, he said, and so doubt took the machine first, probably placing it in an automobile which was driven away while the other two men went through the store. A night light burning just back of the fountain, plus two white way lights which cast a bright glow into the store and its immediate vicinity did not thwart the thieves.

Early Thursday morning, a robber or robbers broke a small glass window in the front of the E. B. Pope, Inc., Filling Station at Tenth and Sanford Avenue, and before police had arrived, had made away with about $5 worth of change, candy, and small change in a cash register.

C. E. Williams, manager of the station, this morning denied a story giving the rounds that the robber had left a note of congratulations to Chief Roy Williams and his two new officers.

Mr. Williams said that he was expecting some sort of raid, so he had removed every article of value. He said that negroes living nearby reported that they saw a negro running down the alley in the rear of the filling station shortly after the robbery, but no suspect has yet been made.

4 Of Crew Missing In Ship Collision

NEW YORK, May 27.—(A.P.)—The steamer Grecian collided with the City of Chattanooga in a dense fog early today and sank. Four members of the crew of 35 are missing and some of those rescued were injured. No passengers were aboard. Coastguard boats assisted in the rescue. The Grecian was enroute from Boston to Norfolk. After the collision the Chatanooga, carrying 31 survivors of the Grecian, steamed toward Boston under her own power.

LONDON, May 27.—(A.P.)—Queen Mary celebrated her sixtieth birthday yesterday. Members of the royal family were invited to luncheon at noon. A salute of 81 guns in Hyde Park was the only ceremony authorized.

Amendment To Get 1.75 Sales Tax Is Urged For Tax Bill

Florida Public Works Projects Included In Garner Measure For Bringing Relief

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(A.P.)—A 1.75 percent sales tax amendment to the tax bill was introduced today in the Senate by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts. He awaited an opportunity to bring the issue to vote.

The Senate also planned to vote on proposed increases in postal rates in the bill. Acting Chairman Crisp set Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for hearings before the House Ways and Means committee on Speaker Garner's $1,000,000-dollar relief bill. Florida public works projects, estimated to cost $20,000,000, are included in the measure.

The Hawley bill for an upward adjustment in tariff rates against nations with depreciated money was rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee. The House Rivers and Harbors Committee tentatively approved 120,000-dollar seaplane base improvement project on Biscayne Bay in Miami.

An emergency deficiency appropriation of $2,750,000 for veterans expenditures to meet pension payments coming due June 1 was passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

Fighting vigorously Mayor James J. Walker from a witness stand yesterday gave his explanation of how he made hundreds of thousands of dollars from stock transactions without putting up a cent.

He charged Samuel Seabury with trying to end his political life.

Hundreds of his constituents listened in comparative silence while the head of the largest city in the world detailed his complicated personal finances to the Hofstadter legislative committee, for which Seabury is counsel.

They also heard the mayor deny Russell T. Sherwood, accountant for whom the committee has searched for months, was his personal financial agent.

Walker said he himself had been searching for the missing witness who was fined $50,000 for contempt of the committee in ignoring a subpoena.

He denied he had a joint safety deposit box with Sherwood.

When Seabury produces 11 of the $35,000-year accountants' bank and brokerage accounts had showed deposits of more than $700,000 in less than six years, Walker made repeated denials. He knew the source of the money.

It was the mayor's second day on the stand and his smiles fit.

Mark Wilcox Will Speak Tonight In Race For Congress

Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach attorney whose candidacy for Ruth Bryan Owen's seat in the House of Representatives is based primarily on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, arrived in Sanford late this afternoon from Ireland, where he delivered an address this afternoon.

Tonight at 8:00 o'clock, Mr. Wilcox will bring to the voters of this county his platform and its principal planks. It is expected that he will devote most of his only campaign address here to the evils of prohibition as he has observed them since the law was passed many years ago.

Mr. Wilcox's campaign literature describes him as being "42 years old, married, and the father of two sons." His attorney for West Palm Beach and general counsel to the Florida League of Municipalities, Educated at Mercer University, Macon, Ga.

"He favors the repeal of the 18th Amendment, so that each state may control liquor according to the wishes of its people."

"He helped to get rid of the saloon and wishes to help get rid of gangsters, racketeers, rum runners, and bootleggers."

"He believes that a Federal tax on beer and light wines, manufactured and sold in states where the people wish it legalized, would make wholly unnecessary the pending increases in Federal taxes, from stamps on checks to taxes on automobiles and radios, increases in income taxes and the laying of income taxes on tens of thousands now exempt."

England Ready To Sign Agreement To Renew Payments

LONDON, May 26.—(A.P.)—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the House of Commons yesterday that a formal agreement to repay in 10 equal annual installments the British war debt of $150,000,000 which were suspended by the Hoover moratorium would be signed soon at Washington.

He described it as a "purely formal step" to give legal effect to the moratorium, involving no decision on any question of principle. Thus the British recognition of America's contention that war debts and reparations are separate problems remained unsettled.

The foreign secretary said he did not expect the agreement to have any effect on the conference which will attempt to settle the reparations and war debt problems at Lausanne, Switzerland, next month.

Great Britain had arranged last summer to repay the suspended portion of the war debt in 10 annual installments. Sir John explained. He revealed that the United States government had requested the British government to sign a formal agreement to repay this portion of her obligations. That portion of Britain's war debts in the United States would be repaid over the 10-year period. The agreement that was signed by the Hoover moratorium which expires next month.

Keynote Calls For Stand On Prohibition

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 27.—(A.P.)—Submission to the states of a proposal to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment was recommended today by the temporary chairman and Keynoteur Frank Smith calling for a showdown on the wet and dry question, the speaker declared the time has come to make prohibition a party issue and to settle it one way or another.

The Sanford Postoffice will observe Monday, May 30, Memorial Day as a holiday. General delivery, money order, and registry windows will be closed the entire day. No service will be required of either the rural or city carriers on that day. Special delivery and perishable matter will be handled as usual. Mail will be dispatched from the office the same as on other days.

Legion Commander Makes Appeal On Eve Of Poppy Day

Post Commander W. H. Shepley, on the eve of the annual Poppy Day, today issued a plea to the community for the support of the American Legion Auxiliary committee headed by Poppy Day, in expressing the hope that Sanford people will make a generous response to the request for support of the war effort.

Although the members of the First War Veterans of the city and further up on background, Mr. Shepley said, "the women auxiliaries, including our own, are the backbone of the Poppy Day campaign. They are the ones who are doing the real work of the day. They are the ones who are making the day a success, particularly the residents of Lake Mary who offered the use of their bathing beach, their community hall, and their homes, in entertaining the guests."

MOTHER MAKES MISTAKE

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 27.—(A.P.)—Cecily Schick, whom her mother had found out her husband had abandoned her, today charged her with stealing $200 from her home. But she also charged the money in an old abandoned house hiding it there.

20 NATIONS ARE OFFICIALLY OFF GOLD STANDARD

U.S., France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland Stick To Gold

WASHINGTON, May 24.—New world interest in monetary affairs has followed departure of a majority of the principal nations from the gold standard, only seven of which retain it. A new compilation prepared by the United States Commerce Department lists 20 countries today officially off the gold, or gold exchange, standard, most of them departing in 1931-32; and another 12 "not officially, but practically, off the standard," a total of 32.

This is approximately the same number as that during the World War. Coupled with a universal decline in prices, diminishing international trade, and with a revival of high trade barriers, the world situation is producing today in the more important countries a new survey of the whole subject of international finance and monetary relations.

Out of approximately 40 principal countries having independent currencies, the Department of Commerce lists only the United States, France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and the Union of South Africa as now retaining the gold standard.

This world monetary situation exists just two years after the formation of the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, Switz., in MAY, 1930, then hailed as the "final step in the long and arduous process by which the world has been re-establishing the gold standard as the monetary basis of its economy."

The condition has heightened interest in the statement by Mr. Gates W. McGarrath of New York, president of the bank, May 10, that the nations must prepare for monetary reconstruction "which is as indispensable after the world crisis as after the World War." His annual report stressed the monetary system, warned against essential unity of the world's tariffs and artificial obstacles to the flow of capital, and declared that "internationalism in monetary matters is not merely a theory, but an accomplished fact."

The three technical essentials of the gold standard are: (1) free export of gold; (2) free conversion of other kinds of money into gold at central banks, and (3) purchase of gold at central banks at a fixed price.

Austria was the first country to resume the gold standard after the World War, in 1923; the thirty-second on the long list was Japan, on Jan. 11, 1930.

Of the seven major countries listed by the Commerce Department as now still on the standard, only one, the United States, was able to weather the World War without departing from gold. Today, South Africa, another of the seven is debating whether to stay on gold or follow the pound sterling as an inflationist policy.

There also seems doubt as to whether Italy has not imposed unofficial restrictions on gold export, which would put it technically off the gold standard.

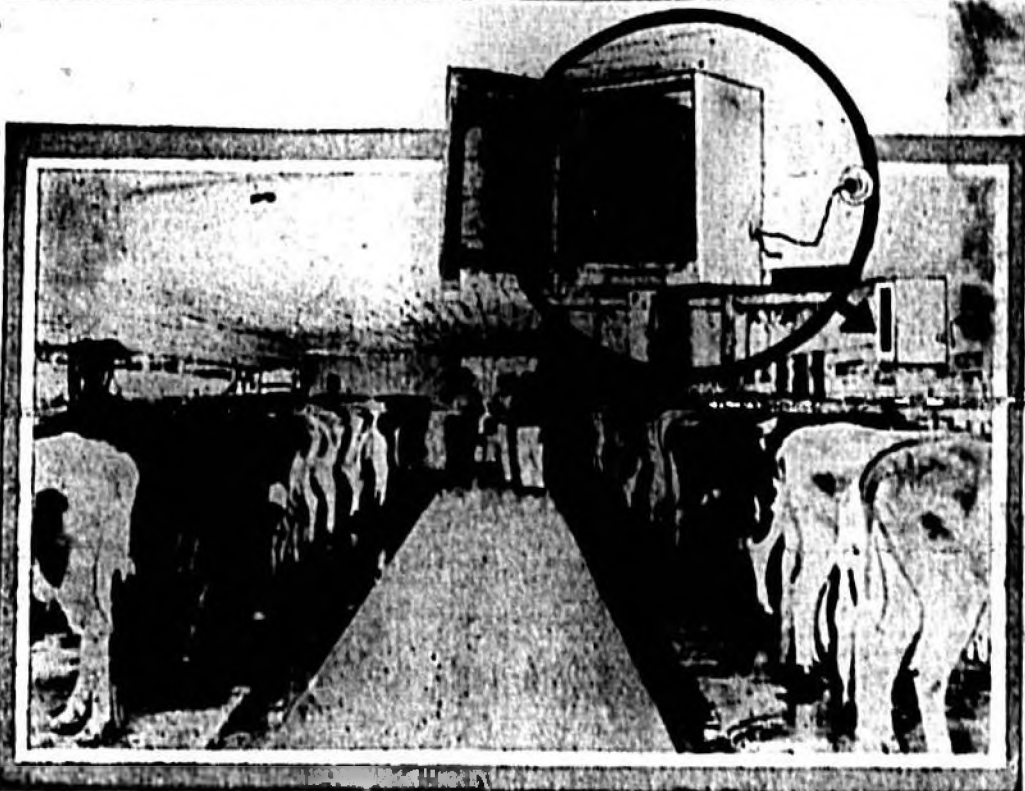

The gold standard has itself changed since pre-war days. Prior to 1914 gold circulated freely; today it is concentrated in central bank reserves. Again, the so-called "gold exchange standard" has been adopted, under which governments permit central banks to redeem their notes either in gold or in drafts on a country which has the gold standard. Recently there has come about a vast concentration of gold in the coffers of two nations, the United States and France.

Some financial men think these changes preface a new development in the use of gold, coupled with growing demands for a stable world currency and fixed prices. At some future time, with the possible aid of a central body like the Bank for International Settlements, an improvement in what Mr. McGarrath calls the "international monetary system" may be worked out. For the immediate present most countries off gold are only waiting a favorable time to return to gold; many of them, as in the case of England, at a prospective lower unit than before.

RADIO MINDED COWS

Believe it or not... milk cows of David Johnson's dairy farm, Miami, Florida, have gone radio-minded. Mr. Johnson, the owner, has installed a radio set in the milking barn of his dairy. The insert in the picture above shows the radio and cabinet housing it, and the arrow points to its location in the milking barn. It will be noticed that the radio is located in the center of the barn. While the cows are being milked the radio pours forth band concerts, operatic songs and classical music for the edification of the cows. Mr. Johnson stated to a representative of the Florida Power & Light Company that the music and songs from this unique installation have a quieting effect on his cows and have actually increased his milk production. The cows are milked to the last drop without the usual irritation or restlessness that was prevalent among them prior to the installation of the electric radio. Mr. Johnson declared that his cows are not highbrows—but highbreds.

WALKER TRIES TO "LAUGH OFF" SEABURY QUIZ

"As a matter of fact," Seabury said, "withdrewals before any profits had accrued in the account?"

"I think there always was profit in it," the mayor answered. A list of withdrawals was offered in evidence. It showed the drawing of sums ranging from $750.00 to $35,000.

A letter introduced from Max Block to Paul Block explained the history of the account and said an income tax agent had advised Paul Block it was unwise to have such an account with the mayor and suggested the name of the account be changed.

"None of the money from the account was deposited in a bank," Walker explained, "but it was kept in a safe at home available for Mr. Walker and myself."

"Not a vault, you understand, but a tin box, but a safe."

He said he always kept this money in the safe because the income tax agent had seen and told him he did not want to mix it with money on which the tax had yet to be paid.

Walker was asked what he did with the money from the account.

"Where I got the money I am willing to tell you," he replied, but to ask me what I did with it is, I think, going a bit too far, unless Mr. Chairman, there is any charge of implication I used it to purchase influence with any public official."

The name of Russell T. Sherwood, accountant and missing committee witness, was brought into the hearing for the first time shortly before adjournment.

Sen. J. C. McLaughlin, chairman of the committee, and financial agent, and that the mayor has been aiding in keeping him out of the committee's hands.

Shortly after Sherwood's name was brought up, however, Walker was asked if the accountant was authorized to represent the mayor in certain transactions, and replied: "The answer is 'no.' He was not authorized to act for me."

Seabury produced a document purporting to be a copy of a letter of credit payable to the mayor's wife and asked if Sherwood arranged for it.

"He might have," the mayor replied. This line of questioning precipitated another of the heated exchanges between Democratic members of the committee and Seabury that punctuated the entire hearing.

"Is there no limit to this prying into personal affairs?" asked State Senator John J. McNaboe, minority member of the Republican controlled committee.

"Is there no decency left? I want to find out whether this is the United States or Russia?"

The entire morning session was devoted to questioning Walker about events leading up to the granting of the franchise to the Equitable Bus Company to operate in three of New York City's five boroughs.

Previous witnesses had told how J. Allan Smith, promoter for the bus company, had purchased, a day before the franchise was granted in 1927, a $10,000 letter of credit made out to Walker, which the mayor used on a European trip.

LANDS OPINION SAYS PUBLIC CAN WATCH COUNTING

Poll Inspectors Have No Right To Prevent Anyone "Observing"

TAMPA, May 24.—The law places no limitation on the right of the public to witness the counting and canvass of ballots by election officials, Attorney General Lewis L. McLaughlin, Tampa, yesterday, inspectors have no authority to deny any person the right to watch counting of ballots, the opinion said.

The ruling was in reply to a telegram from the county attorneys, who were asked by county commissioners Friday to prepare an opinion, Attorney General Landis was asked three questions: How many watchers or spectators are allowed to watch the count?

Have candidates the right to name watchers in their case? What power have election officials as to number and selection of watchers?

The attorney general replied: "It is my opinion, in view of the provisions of section 341 and section 340, compiled general laws, that there is no limitation upon the right of the public to witness the counting and canvass of ballots by election inspectors. Election inspectors have no authority to deny any person the right to watch the count and canvass the ballots."

The county attorneys immediately sent letters to all members of the county commission advising them of the attorney general's opinion, which settled a question that has been a cause of many an argument at polls in years past.

"We believe that the attorney general's telegram answers the question and we are, therefore, on line the same to you in reply to your inquiry," the letter said. Section 341 provides that "the inspectors and clerk shall immediately proceed to open the ballot box and in the presence of the

RELIEF BILL IS BEING PUSHED BY DEMOCRATS

Wagner told the Senate there is no merit in the President's criticism that public works provide but transitory employment.

Wagner said the bill he was offering for the Democrats "is as conservative a program of legislation as the severity of the present emergency will permit." He pointed out that labor department figures show 700,000 families are living on charity in 123 cities. He predicted the bill would "quiet apprehension of actual distress during the coming seasons."

MIAMI, May 24.—(A.P.)—Attorneys for Mrs. Selmo Hall of Durham, N. C., said yesterday they would contest the will of Robert H. Hall, 48, her husband, who killed himself Monday. Hall's will, filed for probate Tuesday, left a small estate to Miss Tressie Gunsealus.

A Well Qualified State's Attorney

In urging the people of Seminole County to nominate Lloyd F. Boyle for state's attorney, The Herald endorses his candidacy with the firm conviction that his character, integrity, and legal training fully qualify him for this important post and that the public welfare of this section can best be served by his reappointment in 1933.

As we see it, a candidate for state's attorney should embrace four general characteristics. His honesty should be above reproach. His courage should be unquestioned. He should be a man of sufficient industry to perform the arduous duties of his office diligently, and his legal training should be such as to guarantee efficient prosecution in the courts.

A dishonest state's attorney, no matter how smart and tricky he might be, would be of small avail in combating a crime wave. If every underworld operator could purchase protection, if every criminal brought before the state's attorney could buy his favors, what chance would the people have? Mr. Boyle's honesty has never been questioned. He is a man of his word. He pays his debts and no judgments stand against his name.

Mr. Boyle is, further, a man of courage. He enlisted early in the World War and served eighteen months in France where he participated in eleven battles and six major engagements. When the call of his country came he did not seek to avoid military service because of his youth, or other excuse, but volunteered, glad to do his bit for his country. The courage which saw him through those eighteen months is sufficient proof that he has the courage to prosecute even the most dangerous criminal.

Mr. Boyle is a hard-working man, known as a plugger by all his friends. He is in his office at all hours of the day and often until late at night. He has never been a shirker and the drudgery of his job as state's attorney will not wear him out. For those who have business with his office it will never be necessary to seek him on the streets or to await his convenience. His work will be up to the minute.

Mr. Boyle is a graduate of the Stetson Law School and for the past eight years has practiced law in this city as a member of the firm of Wilson and Boyle. He is a brilliant young man who has earnestly applied himself to his profession and we are perfectly satisfied that he is fully competent in legal matters to handle the affairs of his office capably and well.

Receiving his appointment a few months ago to serve until the end of the next Senate session, in the Spring of next year, Mr. Boyle now seeks nomination for the remainder of the term, approximately two years. The Herald sincerely hopes and believes that the people of Seminole County will show by their vote the same confidence in Mr. Boyle which was indicated by his recent appointment.

The Safest Time To Drive

The safest hour and the safest day of the week to travel the public highways has been determined by a statistical investigation by an insurance company. The day is Tuesday and the hour is between four and five o'clock in the morning. This is not such a surprise, for it is perfectly apparent that that early hour of the morning, on a day of the week which is never usually significant for any extra activity, should be comparatively free from accidents due to the lightness of traffic.

The revelation of this information, undoubtedly, will have a big influence upon the daily course of many lives. We may expect anxious mothers to tell their children not to come home early but to stay out until dawn so as to take advantage of the lighter risk of deserted highways. Husbands may now stay up until four or five o'clock and return home with the plausible alibi that they didn't want to take any more chances than necessary. "Directors meetings" can now last all night without the directors having to search for an elusive excuse. They have one already—it is so safe to travel during the early hours.

Seriously, there is getting to be no time of day or night when one can take a ride on the public roads without the lurking fear of a mishap. If it isn't the fear of being run into by a dimly lighted and lumbering truck, or by a drunken driver, it is the apprehension of being held up and robbed by highwaymen. Our roads are becoming more and more arteries for business and commerce, to be travelled only from necessity and not for enjoyment. The day of the family ride through the country to enjoy the scenery and fresh air is rapidly passing out of existence.

It is conceivable that in the future we will have roads limited and designated for specific purposes. There will be roads for trucks, buses, and other vehicles engaged in trade; there will be roads for the speeders and those who like to take a nip and then start out on a mad dash through the countryside; and there will be roads for those who like to drive moderately and sanely for the pure enjoyment of getting out in the open and close to nature without the disconcerting annoyances of road maniacs.

This is only a visionary suggestion but it may presage the day when the automobile will become a vehicle of comfort rather than a demon.

"A SERIOUS AND SACRED TRUST"

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

Mayor Walker, the chief executive of the world's greatest city, is to be asked today for his explanation of a long series of peculiar transactions. Some directly impugn the integrity of his administration. Some directly impugn the integrity of the Mayor himself. All have been spread upon the public record of an official investigation.

The public waits upon this explanation. In the first place because the Mayor is entitled like any other man to be heard in his own defense. Even more, it is his words because it is entitled to hear from him as the responsible head of the city government. If he is entitled to the franchise, he is entitled to the franchise, the most complete and the most sacred accounting. In this accounting it is not the rules of civility which apply, but the higher standards of upright public service.

These standards should be applied to every man. Only equality in the public eye, they are equally applied to every man. Only equality in the public eye, they are equally applied to every man.

EAST BOSTON'S VEHICLE TUNNEL ALMOST FINISHED

Tube Beneath Harbor Is 31 Feet In Width; To Cost 16 Millions

BOSTON, May, 27.—Boring through the mud and mire 100 feet beneath the waters of Boston harbor for the last nine months, a giant auger, 31 feet in diameter, is soon to hit the bull-eyes at which it was aimed 4850 feet away. In other words, the boring of the East Boston vehicular tunnel, which when completed will cost approximately $16,000,000, is nearly finished and a "break through" below the ground at North Square on the Boston side is expected within a month.

About 350 feet of the Boston end of the tube have already been built and everything is in readiness to meet the steel shield when it pokes its nose into sight sometime next month. And engineers say the mark will be hit within one-eighth of an inch of where they planned to come out. From portal to portal, the new tunnel is 5650 feet long. It will have two traffic lanes and an emergency lane for passing. Revenue received from a small toll will eventually pay for the entire project.

Mr. Ernest R. Springer, chief engineer, reports that a "push" of 324 feet in a day is the record established to date in the building of the tube. Twenty feet a day was considered excellent progress when the Detroit vehicular tunnel was built, but an average "push" of about 27 feet a day has been made on this latest tunnel project, considerably more than expected, even by the contractor himself.

New methods of tunnel construction—methods used for the first time, some of which actually had their invention while the tube was being built—have been the chief factors in this progress. One of these is an endless mud-conveyor belt, which carries the diggings through the entire length of the tunnel to hoppers. In most cases, the muck has been shoveled by hand into narrow-gauge hand cars which were pushed back to the end of the tunnel.

The bit is actually a shield pushed forward by 30 10-inch hydraulic jacks separating at 4500-pounds-per-square-inch pressure, and perhaps is the most interesting part of the entire work. If not the most interesting, it certainly is the most important, for here is where the real work of the tunnel takes place.

Like a circular doughnut cutter, its stewards to a stern and uncompromising rectitude.

Mr. Farley took the position that a public servant's conduct was nobody's business until some crime had actually been proved against him. Because he took that attitude he was very properly removed from office. Governor Roosevelt declared that if popular government was to continue the state must demand a higher sense of integrity than that in its public officers. It is in the light of the Farley case that Mr. Walker testifies today.

When a man is under charges in a criminal court it is enough if the prosecution is unable to uncover complete proof of his guilt. When the responsible head of a city of 6,000,000 souls finds his stewardship called in question the requirement is far higher. We hope that Mayor Walker understands alike the attitude of his fellow citizens and the standards of frankness by which his testimony will be judged.

divided into nine sections, the shield stems to work on the idea of a collapsible picnic cup. When it is pushed out, a ring comes into place to form a section of the tunnel, braced by the section it has just left, it pushes on and leaves another.

When about 20 inches all the way around the 31-foot shield have been dug away, the 11 steel segments that make a section of the tunnel lining are put into place. This is accomplished by a huge erector arm, also controlled by pneumatic power. And here Mr. Springer explained that the steel lining is one of the most important features of the subsequent shaft. The selection of this type of lining alone, he said, will save about $1,500,000.

A reinforced concrete ring 18 inches in thickness is to be built on the inside of the steel lining. This will be built under free air. The strength of the reinforced concrete is said to be capable of taking the greatest load that could come upon it. At the greatest depth of the tube, a little less than three tons a square foot of pressure would come upon the concrete.

Operations were carried on under natural air until the middle of the harbor had been reached. Here the pressure was so great that a hatchway was built and compressed air tanks installed.

The other day the "sand hogs" working at the shield came in contact with several piles which proved to be pier supports of Lincoln wharf where the coal pockets of the Boston Elevated power house are located. An ingenious saw, especially designed for this work, was used in cutting away the piles, which at present are slowing up the digging. It is expected, however, that only a few more will be encountered and the digging will go on without difficulty to a point near North Square where the tunnel is to come up.

Although conditions under which the men are working are considerably hazardous, all kinds of precautions have been taken to insure safety of the men Mr. Springer pointed out. Catwalks are located along the walls of the tube leading to the decompression chambers, which could house all the men at one time if a break occurred. Water, also could not possibly come up over the catwalk because of the tremendous pressure, estimated to be 22 pounds to the square inch. Solid masses of reinforced concrete were used in building the hatchway separating the natural and decompressed air. Newest methods of ventilation, which was a project in itself, are being installed in the tunnel.

It is perhaps noteworthy that the shield will break through under the ground which faces the original Paul Revere house in North Square.

Immediate Aid For Unemployed Asked At Church Parley

ATLANTIC CITY, May 27.—(A.P.)—Sweeping recognition of the present economic system, immediate federal aid for the unemployed and enforcement of anti-gambling laws "from dice games to the stock exchange" were demanded yesterday by the Methodist general conference in its final session.

The demands, made in a series of official pronouncements—were prefaced by a vigorous denunciation of modern business. They were adopted shortly before the conference adjourned its 25-day session. "The present industrial order is un-Christian, unethical and anti-social because it is largely based on the profit motive which is a direct appeal to selfishness," the conference stated.

The creation of a commission by congressional authority to start an immediate study of present conditions and their causes, and to find their remedies and embody them in legislation was recommended. The immediate need, however, a statement declared, "is for Federal unemployment relief."

The conference directed a committee to urge upon President Hoover and Congress the "imperative necessity for action, now that private charity and state relief funds are reduced almost to starvation level."

The statement on social problems declared for the repression of radio broadcasting of "a degrading nature."

Walker rarely played across his mind. Instead he frequently seemed down at his questioner, and made his replies in crisp, pointed sentences.

He wanted an silence whenever the spectators, who Wednesday staged many wild demonstrations in his favor, showed signs of applause.

The shouted protests of democratic committee members that the whole 14-month inquiry, costing $200,000, was nothing but an attempt to obtain the mayor's re-elected, brought equally heated charges from Walker.

"I recognize an antagonistic attitude toward me," he said.

"I am here on an inquiry, but it looks as if somebody wants my life," he shouted a moment later, looking Seabury directly in the eye.

"This is preliminary to preferring charges to the governor for removal, and no one is fooled by the fact that—" he began at another point, but Seabury stopped him with the remark:

"This is a simple stump speech."

The speaker was taken up with the mayor's story of how he benefited to the extent of $303,227 from stock transactions and pools in which he made no investments.

On the day the questioning swung around to Sherwood.

"What steps did you take to locate him?" Walker was asked.

"I made an urgent effort to find him and have been trying ever since," the mayor said, adding he had last heard of Sherwood in Mexico.

"If I knew where Sherwood is I might not have to spend these two hot days down here," Walker said a moment later.

When Seabury introduced Sherwood's bank and brokerage accounts he said to Walker:

"From Jan. 1, 1926, to Aug. 6,

1931, these accounts show, Sherwood deposited $704,225, of which $472,094 was in cash. Can you explain where this money came from?"

"I am either guilty of perjury or I am not," Walker said, "I never knew anything about Sherwood's personal affairs."

A Democratic committee member shouted Seabury was trying to make headlines, Walker interjected.

"I hope he tries to prove it's mine, and I'll try and collect it."

As the crowd cheered, a cry went up from the Democratic end of the dais that "this is worse than Russia."

Testimony was produced tending to show that shortly after Walker's June 1926, checks for $25,000 each, similar amounts were deposited in a secret trustee account by Sherwood.

Walker denied knowing about this secret account and said there was no connection between his cashing the checks and Sherwood's deposits.

Seabury then read a statement indicating the secret account had been closed on Aug. 9, 1927, and then had in it $263,838.36.

"Now Mr. Seabury," Walker said, "Let's make a real scenario out of this. I suppose your inference is I took the $263,000 to Europe with me. I sailed for Europe the next day, you know. And yet you have implied that, with $263,000 in my possession when I went to Europe, I was so short of cash I had to sell my soul for $10,000 to the Equitable Coach Co."

As he did he appealed to the committee to find some way to improve "the archaic, worn out, overlapping, out of date charter under which the city of New York lives."

"When you get ready to do this," the Equitable was the subject of most of Wednesday's inquiry.)

At the morning session Walker denied with indignant words and forceful gesture that a profit of $26,000 from a stock pool in which he had made no investment constituted a bribe for favorable tax legislation.

He said that while attending a banquet in Atlantic City it had been suggested he go into a pool in Couden oil stock. He said he forgot all about it until months later when he was told, as he prepared to attend another banquet that he had made $26,000 without having to put up a cent.

He said he took his profit in bonds, "not worthless."

He denied J. A. Sisto, banker who was interested in tax legislation, suggested he get in on the pool. He read a veto message of a bill increasing tax rates to prove he had not been influenced by the stock profits.

He said the firm in which Sisto was interested "at that time had 1000 taxicabs on the streets and I had placed that bill the company would have profited $1,000,000 in one year."

The "unusual friendship" Paul Block, publisher, had for him was Walker's explanation of a joint Walker-Block brokerage account in which the mayor made no investment, but from which he drew a profit of $246,000.

He volunteered that without making any investment he had profited to the extent of $10,000 from an investment made by Edmund O'Brien, whose identity was not disclosed.

The same yesterday had many of the remarks of a combined prize fight, county fair, and circus. Enthusiastic thousands stood outside the court building, just to get a glimpse of the man they call "Jimmy" whether they know him or not.

Tammany zealots had come from all corners of the city to hail "the chief."

Newspapers mingled in this surging sea of humanity, shouting, "Jimmy wins second round," or "read what Jimmy's telling 'em."

When the mayor came or went, it was the signal for a deafening demonstration. The crowd didn't know what Walker was being accused of or what he had told his questioners, but it cheered him to the skies anyway.

REVENUE BILL SHY 66 MILLION OF BALANCING

ment with Senators Smoot, of Utah, and Reed, of Pennsylvania, Republicans; and Harrison, of Mississippi, and Walsh, of Massachusetts, Democrats, ranking members of the finance committee.

Their declaration said:

"Although we have not as yet been able to reconcile our differences on the details of the pending tax bill, the undersigned are firmly determined that the tax bill will be passed in such form as eventually to balance the budget of the National Government and to preserve the integrity of its currency, and we can assure the country that that is practically the unanimous sentiment of the Senate regardless of party."

Opponents of the levy were just as confident of defeating it.

But all minds showed a manifest determination during the day's debate to balance the budget.

Senator Johnson, (R. Calif.), gained the modification in the admissions levy, making the exemption from the 10 per cent tax apply to tickets of 41 cents or less.

The committee originally recommended that the tax apply to tickets of 11 cents and over. At a special meeting yesterday it voted to raise the exemption to 35 cents.

The bill's provision levying a flat four cents a share tax on stock transfers was adopted once but went over at the request of Senator Blaine (R. Wis.), for future consideration. The bill strikes out the House provision for a tax levy of one-fourth of 1 per cent on stock transfers.

The increase in first and second class postal rates is pending.

Taxes on jewelry, cosmetics, sporting goods, candy, firearms, refrigerators, soft drinks, chewing gum and boats were reintroduced in rapid fire order.

Shooting The Fire

The White House throughout the day as rumor followed rumor that President Hoover's conference with newspaper publishers Wednesday night was aimed at organizing to drive for revival of the sales tax.

However, word reached the Capitol, apparently through responsible channels, that the President had no immediate intention of sending any special message to the Senate on the tax problem.

The Finance Committee leaders yielded almost without a struggle to firm demands that the exemptions voted by the House for newspapers and radios from the communications levies be restored.

Senator Dill, (D. Wash.), was successful in exempting radio wires used for non-commercial purposes from the 5 per cent tax on leased wires.

A brief appeal by Senator Bankhead, (D. Ala.), to restore the exemption for newspapers from the leased wires and communications tax was answered by a chorus of ayes.

Only a few roll calls were taken during the heavy day's work. For the most part the Senate voted the Finance Committee recommendations with a shout.

So fast was the progress at several stages that members asked for a halt to find out just what was happening.

The rates voted on telephones followed:

Charges of .50 cents to $1, 10 cents; $1 to $2, 15 cents; and 20 cents on charges above $2.

A flat five per cent tax was placed on all telegraph messages and a charge of 10 cents levied on all cable and radio messages.

The leased wire tax of 10 per cent voted by the House was cut to 5 per cent.

The Senate also accepted the finance committee recommendation to subject all admissions, including horse and dog racing events to the regular 10 per cent tax.

At its early morning meeting the finance committee voted to raise the exemptions from the admissions tax from tickets of 10 cents and under to tickets of 30 cents and less.

The new tax on tires and tubes of 1-4 cent a pound on tires and 4 cents a pound on tubes is expected to yield $68,000,000.

An agreement to vote on farm relief before the session ends was reached yesterday by leaders of the Senate while its agriculture committee declared the marketing act now in force has failed to accomplish desired aims.

Senator Nye, (R. N. D.), brought the question of assisting agriculturists to the fore again with a request that the Oklahoma consent to consider farm legislation after the tax bill is disposed of.

This he withdrew to await the outcome of negotiations for an agreement to vote on the bill of Senator McNary, (R. Ore.), proposing the qualification fee, export duty and a domestic allotment plan to insure production cost prices on crops America needs.

McNary, chairman of the agriculture committee, indicated an agreement, probably, would be reached for a vote in his bill.

Nye announced unless a program was agreed to he would demand a vote before adjournment on that measure and the proposal of Senator Frazer, (R. N. D.), to refundance at one and one-half per cent interest all farm debts.

The agriculture committee, supporting the McNary bill, which is advocated by the National Grange, National Farmers' Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation, recommended that it be adopted, contending present conditions "make it advisable" to Efficiency is taught firemen by moving pictures of fires. A camera is mounted on a motorcycle, as shown above, and the film is ground out while the firemen battle the blaze. Better ways of combating flames are sought.
