MUST READ PSALMS

Used in Reading Test for Aliens at Ellis Island.

Required to Read From 30 to 40 Words in Any Language

New York .- Uncle Sam will soon be conducting great classes in reading the Psalms almost at the feet of the Statue of Liberty. The pre-war practice of examining all immigrants who come by steerage at Ellis island has been restored.

More than 1,000 men and women will read from the Psalms there daily, and Miss Liberty, who stands a stone's throw from the island slip, could hear if she were incarnate.

Reading from the Psalms is the literacy test for admission to this country, which went into effect in May, 1917, and is now receiving its first real trial because immigration during the war was small. The law provides that an immigrant, with a few exceptions, must be able to read from thirty to forty words in any language he or she desires. The department of labor devised the Psalm as the fairest for all.

- Immigration espectors are equipped with cards all languages, with verses from the Psalms printed on verses from the Psaims plane repre-them. At types of script are repreanese, Russian, and so on-except Chinese, for that nationality is not permitted to immigrate.

Lest any allen learn, parrot-like the verse of the Psalm that a friend in this country had to read, the inspectors have at least 40 different verses in each language, one verse to a card.

Primary examination at the island will require many more employees. Immigration authorities have estimated it will take $1,000,000 more annually to increase the force to a proper size as well as to raise salaries of present employees so that skilled workers will not leave the service for private employment.

Mr. Goslington Philosophizes on reflable. Human Ills.

Finally Comes to the Very Wise Cohclusion That Many Seeming Misfortunes Are Really Blessings in Disguise.

"Glimmerby, my friend Glimmerby," said Mr. Goslington, "propounds the theory that both poverty and worry are conducive to longevity, and I think there is something in that. I am not so sure about the worry, and yet I think even that may be true! I can see, for instance, that if a man worried hard enough he would keep himself tean and so escape the ills and inconveniences attendant upon obesity; but that poverty tends to lengthen life I have no doubt whatever.

"The man who is poor, as we most of us are, has to work for a living. Surely It is in work that we are most blessed; and if we have work to do in which we are interested, that appeals to us, then are we fortunate indeed; we find a pleasure in labor and a joy in accomplishment; and it makes me smile to think how in such work we forget our worries entirely.

"So we don't really need to consider whether worry is a life prolonger or not; all we want to lengthen our days is to be poor, poor enough so that we have to work and keep plugging; but I do wonder that Gilmmerby did not mention along with poverty and worry, as among the things that might tend to prolong life, our physical all-

"I might add that this friend has now recovered several of his lost pounds, he is feeling very chipper and cheerful and he fully expects to live to be a very old man.

"The fact is that many things that, we may look at, when they come upon us, as drawbacks are in reality blessings in disguise."

USE ROCKIES' WATER WASTE

Plan to Irrigate 350 Square Miles of Land in Washington Is Proposed.

Wenatchee, Wash .- Dreams of farvisioned pioneers who saw a mirage of wasted waters of the high Rockies flowing over thirsty Washington lands are to be realized if the long proposed Columbia basin project, said to be the greatest project of its kind ever conceived, is carried through.

The proposal is to carry water from Idaho and Montana through 130 miles of lakes, canals and tunnels to irrigate approximately 350 square miles of land lying in southeast Washington in the "Big Bend" of the Columbia river.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

In conversation with the editor of The Record, yesterday a prominent DeLand citizen said that he puts in a good deal of his time trying to children. That is, he says he sits and enjoys a sort of day-dream as to what they will do in the days to come. He tries to pick out the boy or girl who will become the most noted in the world. The young afford little clue to such speculation. Sometimes, so keen are these faces, so full of intelligence, that greatness seems to show in all of them.

LID IS ON IN ALASKA

Newest Mining Camp Is Real "Spotless Town."

Gold Seekers Rushing There in Spring Will Find Place Quiet as Church.

Ketchikan, Alaska.-Hyder, newes of Alaskan mining camps, is a "spot less town" and many stampeders who may rush there in the spring are not going to find drinking, dancing and gambling going on wide open, as in the gold camps of the first stampede in '98, long before prohibition came, according to reports received here. If Hyder's new residents find any thing out of the ordinary next spring fathom the future as regards his they may find it in Stewart, a Canadian town not far from Hyder. It is prob and looks at children in their play able, however, that the red-coated constables of the Royal Northwestern Mounted police, who kept order at Dawson in the gold days, will be at Stewart next spring to see that things are within the law.

For a very brief period this winter Hyder was "wide open," according to reports.

"Whisky and beer were sold at many bars, girls were dancing, planos were thumped and roulette, blackjack and faro were being played," wrote one miner from the town.

Then John Ronan, former territorial senator, was appointed United States before all these faces, and recognize marshal and he closed everything up. "Bang went the Ild and hundreds could not get away from Hyder fast enough," the miner, wrote. "Many went to Stewart. There everything seems to be wide open.'

Hyder would have had a population of 20,000 in three months if the "lid" had been left off, the miner predicted. But the "lid" was clamped down and the population dwindled.

Last Night's Dreams -What They Mean

DO YOU DREAM OF CATS?

WHILE dogs are regarded with favor by the mystics as dreamland pets. cats are looked upon askance. The chief trouble with them seems to be their occult relation to slander and gossip; which is probably why you call that gossiping neighbor of yours an "old cat." Some people whom you regard as your friends are talking about you when you dream of cats. If the cat appears gentle or sleeping, so much the worse, But don't be alarmed; to be gossiped about is the common lot. Just drive the dreamcat away and all will be well. If the animal makes off In response to your energetic "Scat!" you will triumph over many obstacles. But choose your confidents carefully when you see dreamcats. It is not a good sign to have the cat attack you, for It means that the obstacles you will have to overcome will be great. Dreamcats also, strangely enough, seem to have a connection with robbers. If you beat or kill a cat in your dreams you are going to catch a thief, and if it is a cat you never saw before you will recover all he may have stolen from you. These are only general rules; the mystics are not agreeing at all with regard to the details of cat dreams.

Havelock Ellis, in his book "The World of Dreams," gives an amusing example of a cat dream by a poet friend of his. The poet dreamed of a cat and the dream consciousness, for some reason, suggested the word "tipcat." The faculty of verbal associa tion got to work and produced the following doggerel:

Call in the tipcat, cut off its tall, Fold up some eggs in a saucepan; Sit on the rest like an elderly male

And gulp down the rest as a horse car The analysis is an interesting example of the verbal association found in dreams. "Tipcat" suggested a cat's tail-its tip. "Cut off its tail" suggested a cooking recipe and led to "eggs in n saucepan." Eggs suggested "sitting." while "gulp"-which the dreamer noted appeared a gallop-suggested a horse. It is a singular fact that the dream consciousness sometimes gets in a merry mood when it is fond of making the most ridiculous combinations of words and perpetrating the most atroclous

HAS LARGEST MEDICAL PRACTICE IN WORLD AND ISN'T A DOCTOR

. He is Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and He Has 641,000 Patients Out of a Potential Clientele of 5,000,000-Has 10,000 Sick People in Hospital-His "Practice" Includes Both Men and Women.

Who has the largest medical practice in the world? Unless one has kept accurately abreast of the times it would prove exceedingly difficult to answer this question, but he who has 641,000 patients drawn from a potentini clientele of over 5,000,000 and constantly over 10,000 sick people in hospital, must certainly be considered as having an exceedingly flourishing prac-

Oddly enough the man who is responsible for this practice is not the doctor. He is the director of the bureau of war risk insurance, Col. R. G. Cholineley-Jones, who has been made responsible for the conduct of these operations by a series of exceedingly broad-minded and generous acts which have been passed in connection with the rehabilitation of the buman flotsam and jetsum of the war with Germany. His "practice" lincindes both men and women. It embraces $6,000 cases of tuberculosis, more than 76,000 cases of nervous and mental disease, 40,000 cases of disease of the eye, 79,-000 allments of the car and a large group of surgical cases drawn from the 200,000 wounds received in the war, some 45,000 cases of men who were discharged on account of some surgical disability and some 30,000 men rejucted at the mobilization camps for ailments of a surgical nature. The benefits which this vast number may receive include hospital and "out patient" freatment and all necessary prosthetic devices, such as artificial eyes, eyeglasses, braces, crutches, wheel chairs and artificial limbs.

Entitled to Benefits. The benefits which congress has provided extend not only to men or women who actually served with the armed forces of the United States, but also to those who were accepted by draft boards and dispatched to mobilization camps, many of whom incurred discase or injury while en route or while awaiting acceptance by the inflitury

In addition to this huge medical practice, the chief medical advisor of the bureau of war risk lusurance, who is responsible to Colonel Cholmeley-Jones for the performance of these metions, is charged with the duty of determining the degree of disability which the putlents of this huge practice have received while in the servtion, the chief medical advisor of the largest insurance company in the world and must perform the usual functions in connection with physical examinations and medical proofs of death. In order that his day's work may be well rounded out, the chief medical advisor is also the medical officer to the 10,000 employees of the bureau of war risk insurance; and just as the stop-gap, lest time hang heavy on his hands, he is also the sanitary officer in order that this small army of workers may be kept in perfect health and do their work under favoralde sanitary conditions. Despite its large size this is a constantly growing practice, and there are times when the facilities for the care and treatment of its patients have been crowded to the utmost. Since Viigust 1, 1918, the number of patients in hospital has more than doubled. On that date there were 4,500 beds occuod by war risk insurance patients. On January 12, 1920, there were 10,229 lada so occupied. Of that number there were 3,654 cases of tuberculosis, 110 nervous and mental cases and 7 150 general cases. The public health service, which is the field medical organization of the war risk insurance bureau, has 5,458 in hospital, and various civil institutions are carrying some

Artificial Limbs Supplied.

An index of the scale on which the furnishing of prosthetic devices is carried out is given by the fact that on the latter date mentioned above, 2.914 artificial limbs had been supplied. Of these, 1,784 are permanent artificial legs and 1,130 permanent artificial arms. There were some 3,800 major tloned above the public health service has assigned 60 medical officers to the bureau of war risk insurance and some 600 more to the various hospitals and offices in the field. It has expanded its hospital bed capacity from less than 1,200 to more than 8,000, and in a communication receptly transmitted to congress by the secretary of the treasury it is estimated that at least 31,000 beds will be constantly necessary to care for the men and women who have acquired an illness or received an injury in the great war. 'A large proportion of the war risk patients can be returned to health and usefulness. A certain number will require prolonged hosiptulization in order that a cure may be effected; a certain number may be brought to such a condition of mental and hodly health that, after training by the federal word for vocational education, they will be able to pursue a substantially gainful vocation. Some, unfortunately, will be doomed to a life of chronic invalidism, while in a certain proportion of the cases neither recovery nor improvement may be hoped for and they will be translated into the peace of the great beyond,

Kindly Humanity Pervades. . The spirit of broad-minded, kindly humanity pervades the conduct of the gigantic medical operations described above. The United States is divided into 14 districts, each with a medical officer of the United States public health service in charge, he having as assistants a corps of expert specialists ns consultants. There are neuro-psychiatrists to care for those suffering from nervous and mental disease. There are general surgeons, soro-facial surgeons, neuro-surgeons and orthopedists. There' are highly specialized clinicians to make the physical examinations, as an aid to which the servce of X-ray experts, bacteriologists and other laboratory specialists are employed. There are special sanatoria for the tuberculous, a separate colony for the epileptics, hospitals for the insane and special psychopathic institutions for the reception of the sufferers from lesser mental allments. The bureau of war risk insurance maintains n corps of designated examiners of more than 1,000 ex-medical officers of the army and navy, operating on a fee basis and so placed geographically that the claimant will be obliged to travel the minimum distance from his home in order to receive medical examination or treatment.

An intimate liasion is maintained with the surgeon general of the army and navy so that upon the discharge of a soldler, sailor or marine requiring further treatment he may be immediately transferred to an institution for the treatment of war risk insurance patients. The various military and naval hospitals throughout the United States are visited from time to time by special boards of medical officers from the bureau of war risk insurance to examine men who hold war risk Insurance policies and who are believed to have become permanently and totally disabled. It may be explained in passing that in such cases, the insurance policy issued by the bureau of war risk insurance matures from the date of the total and permanent disability, and frequently this means that such persons receive immediately a not inconsiderable sum of money from the bureau of war risk insurance at the rate of $5.75 per $1,000 of insurance held. This action is taken irrespective of the insured's continuance in or discharge from the military

FORTY IDEAL AGE FOR WOMEN

English Artist Sweeps Away Time-Honored Ideas Having to Do With Spinsterhood.

There is a flurry among English spinsters. A prominent artist has come to the conclusion that a girl of forty should be man's Ideal. He sweeps away all the time-honored rubbish about spinsters at the age of forty being mostly interested in cats and canaries. Here is what he has to say about the new old girl.

"The ideal age for a woman from the viewpoint of the man who studies the sex as an artist is forty years. The woman of forty is at the perfection of her beauty and has attained a settled mentality which she did not possess as a girl in her teens, or as a young woman in her twenties and thirties. At forty she is an ideal companion, pleasantly matured, tolerant and understanding. Only the ignoramuses in life find joy in the society of young girls or undeveloped Women."

During the war and since many women of the so-called "sweet-andforty" age got married, a considerable number of them widows. This has led to frequent lamentations by younger women that, with the huge number of unmarried heautles about, it is unpatriotic for Cupid to show such favoritism for widows and spin-
