Sanford's Chamber Opens Drive To End The Mosquito Menace

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

Angered over the massive downpour of blind mosquitoes in Northern Seminole County, which were blamed for two accidents and extensive damage this week, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce today formed a task force to end the mosquito plague.

Sanford Realtor John Krider will head the task force, to consist of "six to 10 members," according to Tom Hunt, chairman of the chamber, who appointed Krider to lead the effort. The two will select task force members.

"Our goals are an immediate preventive program and ultimately, a program to eradicate the blind mosquitoes," said Hunt.

"Public support is our best hope of achieving success in this all-out war against this health menace."

"We'll be contacting our county commissioners, state legislators and federal representatives to get action," said Hunt.

The mosquitoes have inundated the downtown Sanford and lakefront areas from Lake Jesup to the Interstate 4 bridge over Lake Monroe, "according to a statement by the chamber.

The mosquitoes — which actually aren't blind — hatch from the mud and stagnant waters along the weed-choked shoreline of Lake Monroe. The mosquitoes don't bite, but they swarm in such numbers that the results are often bothersome and sometimes tragic.

"When people speak of Sanford after returning home, you can be sure the blind mosquitoes will be their No. 1 topic. This problem must be recognized and corrected," said Hunt.

Visitors to the Seminole County Courthouse must cross a pesky barrier of the insects when they enter the building.

Swarms of the mosquitoes coated the noon sign at the Holiday Inn on Lake Monroe Wednesday night and caused an electrical short and transformer burn-out. The damage will cost $2,000 to repair, and "cleanup and repair costs at the motel due to the pesky insects the last three months has already topped $42,000," said Larry Greene, manager of the motel.

That same night, dead mosquitoes on U.S. 17-92 along Lake Monroe contributed to the slippery road conditions causing a truck driven by William F. Pratt to skid,

TOM HUNT AND JOHN KRIDER REMOVE BARREL OF BUGS
 Jackknife and strike a light pole. Pratt wasn't injured.
 Several hours later, 18-year-old Gordon J. Padgett lost control of his car on the slick roadway and collided with a steel pole at U.S. 17-92 and Seminole Boulevard. Padgett was treated for minor injuries, and his car was a total loss.
 Chamber and City of Sanford leaders last year proposed a program of spraying along Lake Monroe in cooperation with the Seminole County Commission.
 But the plan "fell on deaf ears as the county commission in public hearing did not concur that the magnitude of the problem was serious enough to disburse funds for the purchase of mosquito control equipment," according to chamber spokesmen.

No Labor For Some Monday

By MARYLIN SHEDDEN
Herald Writer

Two Seminole County cities will have garbage pickups on Monday, but most other governmental functions will take a Labor Day holiday.

The automobile license tag office will be closed Monday re-opening Tuesday at 9 a.m.

The motor vehicle inspection station will be closed Monday, and will re-open Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Two of the four Seminole County landfill and transfer stations will be closed Monday. The Upsal and Oviedo transfer stations will close for the holiday, but will re-open at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

County offices which will be closed include the health department and school administrative offices, which will re-open Tuesday at 8 a.m.

Also closed will be the county welfare office and marriage license bureau, which will re-open Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

The offices of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, and Food Stamp offices, all of which will re-open Tuesday at 8 a.m.

Federal offices will be closed Monday, and there will be no mail delivery to homes, although post-office box subscribers will have lobby service as usual.

Post offices throughout the county will re-open at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Also closed will be the offices of the Social Security Administration, which will re-open at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Garbage pick-up service normally scheduled for Mondays in Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Winter Springs will be scheduled Tuesday, with no other changes in the schedule for the remainder of the week.

BUSINESS AS USUAL
 Garbage pick-ups will be made as usual in the cities of Sanford, Lake Mary, Castelberry and Winter Springs on Monday.

Two Seminole County landfill transfer stations will be opened as usual: Sanlando Transfer, which opens at 8:30 a.m., and Osceola Landfill, opening at 8 a.m.

Economic Growth Slow; Meany Blasts Carter

Black Jobless Rate Matches World War II High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's jobless rate rose from 6.9 per cent to 7.1 per cent in August as climbing unemployment among blacks matched a post-World War II high, the government reported today.

Unemployment among blacks has been traditionally higher than for whites, whose jobless rate was unchanged last month at 6.1 per cent.

Overall joblessness has hovered at about 7 per cent of the work force since April, showing little month-to-month change after dropping steadily from its 1976 high of 8 per cent last November.

Economists say economic growth has slowed following a sharp expansion earlier in the year, and this means fewer jobs are being created to meet the needs of the growing labor force.

"The ratio of black-to-white jobless rates continued its recent uptick to the unusually high level of 2.4 to 1 in August," the Labor Department said.

The rise in black unemployment comes at a time that civil rights and labor leaders have been increasingly criticizing the Carter administration programs for easing unemployment. Earlier this week, the government released figures showing joblessness among black youth, age 16 to 21, reached the highest summer-time rate ever recorded — 34.8 per cent.

The AF-CIO President George Meany said today in his annual Labor Day message that President Carter's job-creating programs were nothing more than "Band-aids" and that they would do little to solve the basic unemployment problem.

While the jobless rate rose in August, returning to its June level of 7.1 per cent, the Labor Department reported employment increased by 210,000 to a total of 98.8 million.

The civilian labor force rose by 390,000 in August to a total of 97.7 million, the department said. Both employment and unemployment increased because more people were looking for work than were able to find jobs.

The total number of unemployed was up by 180,000 in August to 6.9 million, with most of the increase occurring among persons who lost their jobs, the Labor Department said.

There is some margin of error as with any survey. But the government contends the relatively large size of the sample assures a high degree of accuracy.

Nixon Says Secretary Responsible For Gap

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has told interviewer David Frost that he believes Rosemary Woods' explanation for part of an 18½-minute gap in a crucial "Watergate" tape. Miss Woods, Nixon's former personal secretary, said the erasure may have happened when she answered a telephone while transcribing the tape. The interview, the fifth in a series of televised discussions between Frost and the former president, will be broadcast in 60 cities starting Sunday.

Carter On Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, putting Bert Lance and the Panama Canal issue behind him, is going to the presidential retreat at Camp David in western Maryland today, where he will spend the Labor Day weekend. First, however, he has set aside time in the Oval Office to greet country and western singers Willie Nelson and Emmy Lou Harris. An aide said they worked in the Carter campaign.

Service Women Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army wants to know how women can best fit into military service and how they can be used most effectively. As a result Army officials say they are conducting a major study which could result in women being used in combat in future wars. Army officials said there is no intention to change long-standing policy barring women from direct combat roles.

Humphrey Released

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was to be discharged from University of Minnesota Hospitals today, two weeks after undergoing cancer surgery. Surgeons discovered an inoperable tumor of the pelvis. A colostomy was performed to relieve a bowel obstruction caused by the tumor and doctors will try to curb the spread of the cancer through chemotherapy, or chemical treatment.

Young Predicts Support For Rhodesia Plan

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Ambassador Andrew Young predicts support for the British-African peace plan for Rhodesia will build up gradually because "when people are face to face with death they come to their senses." Young and British Foreign Secretary David Owen left Salisbury for London Thursday night after presenting Prime Minister Ian Smith with the 8,000-word blueprint for ending Rhodesia's bloody five-year guerrilla war and transferring power to the black majority next year.

Families Off To Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The head of the new U.S. diplomatic staff in Cuba, Lyle Lane, says he hopes several Americans can leave for the United States with their Cuban families "in a matter of days." Other American sources say the families won't leave before late next week at the earliest. After 16 years of official hostility between Washington and Fidel Castro's government, the United States and Cuba opened low-level missions called interest sections in each other's capitals Thursday.

Man Reports Seeing Woman Stabbed

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Sheriff's Capt. L.R. Rice said today that after a three-day search and investigation detectives have found no basis for a report by a 22-year-old Longwood man that he witnessed a murder.

The man's report to deputy Peggy McEllan early Wednesday sent teams of investigators and evidence and crime scene technicians digging and scouring a wooded area near Lake Howell Road and SR-426 in south Seminole. Rice said the investigators failed to find anything to substantiate the man's story.

Deputy McEllan said the man told her that he was in the wooded area when he heard voices and saw a man stab a young woman in the chest several times with a butcher knife.

Capt. Rice said the Longwood man, declined to take a polygraph examination in connection with the report of the alleged murder.

WOMAN LOCKED IN AUTO Deputies reported a 24-year-old Sanford woman was listed in stable condition at an area hospital this morning after being found in a locked auto by deputies investigating a report of an attempted suicide.

Deputy Jim Hibbard said the sheriff's office received a telephone call about 1:30 a.m. reporting the woman was in a Deputies checked telephone booths, but failed to find anyone. About 3:30 a.m. Hibbard said he found a parked, locked auto underneath a Geneva bridge on SR-46 at the St. Johns River. Deputies broke out a window of the car and revived the woman and administered first aid until an ambulance arrived, according to sheriff's reports.

BOAT QUITTED Deputies today reported a fire of undetermined origin gutted a 19-foot boat, causing $5,000 damage, Thursday afternoon on the St. Johns River off Oceola Road near Geneva.

Deputy L.R. Jones identified the owner of the 120-horsepower inboard craft as Onnie Statler, 49, of Oviedo Route Three.

CHECKBOOK TAKEN Dwayne L. Wildgans, of Spanish Trace Apartments,

Alamonte Springs, reported to deputies that someone took $200 cash and a checkbook from his residence.

Deputy William Perdreaux reported burglars apparently forced open a door at the residence of Rodger W. Brunsma, 515 Roy Boulevard, south Seminole, and made off with items valued at $677. A list of missing property included a color television, four stereo speakers, kitchen utensils and small appliances.

Sanford police today reported a television and stereo valued at $150 were reported missing after a burglary at the residence of Cathy A. McDonald, 12 Cowan Moughton Terrace.

Assistant State Atty. Ralph Eriksson dropped a felony charge of carrying a concealed weapon against Carl Berkeley Cobbs, 34, of 1109 Gator Lane, Winter Springs. Cobbs had told the court he would be his own defense counsel. Court officials said the felony charge was dropped as a misdemeanor count could be filed in county court.

The state dropped felony charges of possession of marijuana against Clifford Gregory Caublen, 14, of 1111 Celery Ave., Sanford, and obstructing an officer with violence against Wallace Dickey, 36, of Orlando, and said misdemeanor charges will be filed against the defendants in county court.

Charges of burglary of an auto and petty larceny against Mitchell Alan Malmel, 19, of Winter Park, were dropped by State Atty. Douglas Cheshire's office.

process unfolds, the full impact of the controversy over Lance, and the political cost to President Carter, may become clearer.

Not that the side with the most voices, or the loudest ones, will necessarily get its way. But the depth and duration of the debate cannot go unnoticed at the White House.

For as determined as Carter has been to keep the side he says has done nothing illegal or even improper, there is a limit to the political capital he can wisely spend defending Lance, whose financial transactions were hardly tidy.

On Wednesday, while Carter signs the new Panama Canal treaty with a burst of diplomatic pomp, the government's chief banking overseer will go before a Senate committee, testily on the Lance case. Lance himself is due before the panel on Thursday.

That is at least a diversion as the administration heads into a difficult campaign for Senate ratification of the treaty.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell has been heavily committed to the defense of Carter's budget director. It has not been an easy role, given the persistent, sometimes repulsive, questioning of newsmen, and Powell's irritation often shows.

Reporting that the White House mail was running two to one against Lance, Powell

Director Aid Plan By Bell

Southern Bell Telephone Co. announced today that its Directory Assistance plan will begin Sept. 30.

As a reminder to customers, the company said directory assistance operators are currently asking callers their number. The primary purpose of the plan, according to manager Tom Hunt, is to place the costs of the service on those who create the costs.

The savings expected from the plan, he noted, are being passed along to all customers. Without the plan, he said, everyone's basic monthly charge would be 60 cents higher than it is today. The plan provides a monthly allowance of six directory assistance calls for each customer line. Two numbers may be requested on each call.

The allowance is designed to handle occasions when numbers are not listed in the directory.

Those who call in excess of the allowance will be charged 15 cents for each additional call. No charge will apply to calls made from coin telephones, hotel-motel guest rooms, hospital patients rooms, or requests for long-distance numbers outside of the customer's home area code.

Hint said the company will exempt from the plan certified customers who have visual or physical handicaps preventing them from using the printed directory.

Sanford, Miss Waters, 80, died Thursday at a friend's home after a lengthy illness. She had suffered from high blood pressure, diabetes and a weak heart.

Reared in a dingy Philadelphia suburb, Miss Waters reached the heights of show business during her 50-year career as a vaudeville singer, Broadway star, and movie and television actress. In 1949 she was nominated for an Academy Award as best actress for her part in "Pinky."

Even though she earned several fortunes, she died near poverty, supporting herself on Social Security checks, friends said.

"Where I come from," she once said, "people don't get close enough to money to keep a working acquaintance with it. So I don't know how to keep it."

She made classics of her songs, especially such jazz-blues numbers as "Am I Blue" and "Stormy Weather." She popularized the legendary jazz tune "Dinah" in her Broadway hit "Plantation Revue of 1924."

At the age of 17, she was the first woman to sing "St. Louis Blues" professionally, and her first Broadway hit, "Mama's Daughter," came in 1939. She won the New York Drama Critics Award for Carson McCuller's "Member of the Wedding" in 1950 and also performed in the movie.

Her autobiography, "His Eye Is on the Sparrow," was a best-seller in 1961.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Forest Lawn Mortuary.

Askew Asks Elected Cabinet Be Abolished

ORLANDO (AP) — Florida must do away with its unique form of shared government because its six elected Cabinet members "frequently thwart and frustrate" the will of the people, Gov. Reubin Askew contends.

In asking the Constitution Revision Commission to abolish the elective Cabinet, Askew issued a strongly worded plea Thursday for strengthening the office of governor.

Criminal Record Expunged JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Court records no longer show that Jacksonville Mayor Hans Tanzler was arrested last year on a grand jury indictment charging him with failure to report an $8,000 political contribution in 1971.

The felony charge was dismissed in circuit court on grounds the statute of limitations had run out. Tanzler's attorney, Lacy Mahon, went to court this week and had the record of the case expunged under Florida's first-offender law.

Tucker Okay Predicted

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A close friend of President Carter predicts the U.S. Senate will confirm Florida House Speaker Donald Tucker to a coveted seat on the Civil Aeronautics Board.

"I assume he'll be approved without too much difficulty," Charles Kirbo said after a luncheon speech Thursday. "I recommended him. I know Don is a controversial figure, but most anybody you send up there is. The speaker of the house in every state is a controversial figure."

Rate Rollback Blocked TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Public Service Commission has been blocked, at least temporarily, in its effort to roll back a $60 million interim rate hike granted Florida Power Corp.

The Florida Supreme Court, in an emergency order handed down Thursday only hours after the PSC voted on the matter, directed the commission to halt implementation of the rollback.

State-Funding Space TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State Department of Community Affairs officials say only a handful of local governments will get the benefit of $750,000 that lawmakers appropriated this year to help pay for local government planning.

"There's not enough to go around," said Pete Crowell, a department official in charge of local government assistance.

Governor Appointed WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew has been named to a federal advisory panel on relations between federal, state and local governments.

Askew was named Thursday by President Carter to the 26 member Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Friend Says Carter Getting 'Grayer'

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Presidential confidant Charles Kirbo says the strains of the presidency are showing on fellow Georgian Jimmy Carter.

"He's changing in his appearance," Kirbo, an Atlanta lawyer, told an economic club Thursday. "He's a little grayer. He's getting older a little fast. You may be able to see the gray on television."

O'Hair Files Suit AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atheist Madelyn Murray O'Hair, who was successful in a campaign to block prayer in public schools, now seeks to ban the motto "In God We Trust" from U.S. currency.

In a suit filed Thursday in federal court, Mrs. O'Hair and her two sons, Jon and William Murray, contend that use of the phrase is unconstitutional.

Hurricane Anita Hits Mexico's Coastline

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP) — Hurricane Anita hit the thinly populated coast of northeastern Mexico early today with torrential rains and 156-mile-per-hour winds.

The principal town in Anita's path was Soto la Marina, with a population of 2,500. Artemio Alfaro, municipal treasurer of Soto la Marina, said, "There were strong rains and hurricane-force winds, but up to the moment we haven't received any reports of damages or injuries."

"All the people in La Pesca have been evacuated to Soto la Marina and they are being sheltered in schools, churches and the theater."

La Pesca, a tiny coastal fishing village, and Soto la Marina bore the brunt of Hurricane Anita in 1976.

National Weather Service radar in Brownsville showed that Anita, which earlier had been expected to hit the Texas area, was now moving at 12 m.p.h. in the National Hurricane Center in Miami said.

At 6 a.m. EDT, the eye of Anita, the season's first hurricane, was centered at latitude 24.0 north and longitude 97.7 west, a few miles inland, about 130 miles south of Brownsville, Tex. It was moving at about 12 m.p.h. in the National Hurricane Center in Miami said.

Competency Hearing Slated For 'Son Of Sam'

NEW YORK (AP) — Another court hearing has been set for next month into whether David Berkowitz, accused of the six "Son of Sam" killings, is mentally competent to stand trial.

On Thursday, Queens Dist. Atty. John Santucci read previously unrelaxed portions of the report from a Brooklyn court that said Berkowitz is "so emotionally dead that outcome of his case is immaterial to him."

The report added that the 24-year-old former postal worker "is well aware of the charges against him, understands that by society's standards his acts were criminal and has the intellectual capacity to learn whatever there is about legal proceedings that he does not already know."

Earlier this week, a portion of the report presented to a Brooklyn court said Berkowitz should not stand trial because he is not capable of helping in his own defense due to a psychosis. It added that it was impossible to tell if he later would be able to aid in his defense.

Santucci argued that in order to be judged incapable of standing trial, a defendant must be aware of the charges against him and must lack the intellectual capacity to help de-

Three Arrested, One Sought In Miami Execution Murders

MIAMI (AP) — Three men were arrested during the night in the execution-style slayings of six people who were lined up in rows and methodically shot to death more than a month ago, police said today.

A fourth man was still being sought in the mass slayings, police spokesman Ralph Page said.

Page said the four also were wanted for questioning in the hotel slayings of an elderly St. Petersburg couple who had come to Miami to attend a funeral.

"Officers hit about 12 locations overnight," Page said. "They are still searching for one more person."

Page said the motive in the mass slaying appeared to be robbery but drugs also were believed to have been in the Miami home where the six people were killed and two wounded.

The three arrested were identified as Alphonse Archie, 31, Buford White, 31, and Marvin Francois, 31, all of Miami. Francois already was being held in the Dade County jail on a sluffing charge.

All three were charged with six counts of first-degree murder, two counts of attempted murder, eight counts of robbery and eight counts of grand larceny. White and Francois also were charged with possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

Four applications for the position have been received, she said.

Applications are still being accepted for the "Poet In The Schools," program funded by the Seminole County and the Florida Fine Arts Council, Tallahassee.

The program will provide instruction in poetry by a local professional poet in 14 Seminole County schools.

Resumes and examples of the poet's work must be supplied with applications, which are being accepted by Mrs. Charlotte Geyer, coordinator of the project, at the school board offices, 202 E. Commercial Street, Sanford.

"We are having a conference on the entire Arts In The Schools program Sept. 10 in Orlando," said Mrs. Geyer. "After that program, and after I have had an opportunity to consult with officials from Tallahassee as well as the principals of the 14 schools involved a poet will be selected."

Four applications for the position have been received, she said.

The Closing Of Roumillat's

A major piece of Sanford's history is dying this weekend as Roumillat's drugstore closes its doors at 100 East First Street. Roumillat's — the haven, the hangout — for so many of the city's and county's decision-makers and molders throughout the last 55 years in Sanford. By Francis Roumillat Jr.'s own account, hundreds of important governmental decisions were made at the drugstore over cups of coffee or at breakfast, lunch, midday, whenever.

Coincidentally, the demise of this historic unofficial landmark comes in the city of Sanford's Centennial year — and only 26 days before we celebrate the official 100th birthday of the city. And 40 days after the death of the Sanford pioneer who owned and operated the establishment for all those years: Francis (Gene) Roumillat II. Mr. Roumillat in 1921 became partner with Bruce W. Anderson, a druggist who, like "Gene" had worked in the Sanford drugstore of Dr. L.R. Phillips. Their business was called Roumillat and Anderson.

Gene Roumillat bought Anderson out in 1954 and, until his death, the drugstore was run by him and his son, Francis Eugene Roumillat Jr. But now it's all over. And there is an added element of coincidence in the news of the closing. It came on the same day as the news of a long-awaited $20,000 grant from the federal Economic Development Administration to be used by the Greater Sanford Development Corp. for revitalization of downtown Sanford.

The target of the revitalization will be the same downtown Sanford of which Roumillat's has been such a proud and glorious and integral part for the last half-century plus five. Plans now are for the leasing of the building on a month-to-month basis by the Seminole County Commission for use by the county's manpower office and — eventually — other offices.

Prospects are that the entire building will be used for county offices and business. Which, come to think of it, isn't much different from its use for the past 55 years. Just ask Mack Cleveland, John Morris, A.A. McClanahan, John Alexander, Slim Galloway. . .

Rumors Of Holocaust

The next nuclear war will probably break out between two small nations in some remote location, then spread to engulf the superpowers. That's why it is in the interest of the superpowers to keep trying to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons. The recent report from several quarters that South Africa intends to set off a nuclear explosion in the near future causes justifiable concern.

South Africa denies the report but it came from several sources at about the same time — the Soviet Union, France, Britain and our own State Department. There could be no more dangerous part of the world in which to locate a nuclear capability than southern Africa — unless it might be the Middle East.

Israel is widely believed to be able to manufacture nuclear bombs, although there has been no report of any nuclear test in the region. The Washington Star recently reported that the CIA has tentatively concluded that as much as 200 pounds of bomb-grade uranium unaccounted for at a Pennsylvania plant wound up in Israel in the mid-1960s.

There have been other reports that Israel is working with South Africa on nuclear technology. South Africa has a large supply of uranium. . .

Inevitably, the reports are hazy. Whatever is happening is highly secret. If anything is happening in this area, it all adds up to some additional justification for President Carter's effort to provide leadership to prevent further nuclear proliferation.

Hair Length Rules Spur HEW Gripes

WASHINGTON — Two years ago, two teenaged brothers in Melrose, Mont. were suspended from high school and told not to come back until they got haircuts short enough to comply with the school's appearance code. Instead of surrendering, the boys and their parents decided to fight.

What possible relationship, they asked the school authorities, could there be between the length of a boy's hair and the quality of his mind? And why should boys be subjected to a regulation dictating hair length when girls were not? Sex discrimination in education was supposed to be illegal, according to Title IX of the 1972 education act amendments.

The school board refused to budge. Not only the boys but their entire family suddenly found themselves subjected to ridicule and harassment that finally became more than they could endure.

The family fled town, starting over in another community. Their 17-year-old son was forced to complete his senior year of high school by correspondence courses, while their 14-year-old boy had to repeat his freshman year.

An extreme case? Perhaps. But it is far from rare. In the past few years, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has received more than 100 formal complaints from all over the country about school dress codes that dictate hair length standards for boys only.

But HEW has yet to make up its mind on whether such regulations constitute a violation of Title IX, the anti-sex discrimination section of federal education laws.

Twice in the past two years, the department's civil rights office has decreed that hair length codes for boys were indeed prohibited by Title IX and began notifying school districts that the regulations would have to be changed.

And twice, HEW backed off, putting a moratorium on its own enforcement proceedings. The most recent "hold" on the controversy went into effect a year ago, and the issue has been under intensive review in recent weeks. Any day now, HEW is supposed to make up its mind once and for all.

Incidents admit department officials are terrified that HEW will kick up another storm of public and political protest like that which greeted last year's short-lived ruling that father-son banquets were discriminatory.

The department took such a drubbing on that issue that it is not anxious to risk further ridicule. But that anxiety, however understandable, is really not a good excuse for ducking an issue that is clearly bothering a great many children and families.

Kids who refuse, with their parents' support, to knuckle under the arbitrary hair length regulations are being subjected to all kinds of unwarranted harassment and humiliation, and even deprived — as in the Montana case — of their right to an education.

HEW civil rights officials eventually succeeded in persuading the Melrose school district to drop the hair length standard from its dress code, but the stop-and-go nature of the department's efforts resulted in so much delay that the "victory" came too late to help the family which complained in the first case.

Some people may think long hair looks silly on boys, or simply unattractive. But no one, to our knowledge, has ever shown that it interferes with education. And length restrictions that apply to boys but not girls are, on their face, clearly discriminatory.

It's about time HEW screwed up its courage and told local school systems to concentrate on what goes into a boy's head instead of trying to dictate what grows on top of it.

The Seminole County School System provides a free Hospital-Homebound Program for students kindergarten through 12th grade unable to attend classes due to a medical reason. They may be out of school from a period of three weeks to the entire school year, confined to their home or a hospital, but if their doctor will certify they are unable to attend school because of medical reasons, they are eligible for tutoring by the Hospital-Homebound teacher.

There are presently six teachers in this program. During the past school year, 104 students availed themselves of the service, which enabled them to keep up with their school work. They suffered from a variety of ills, but the most frequent complaint was broken bones received in accidents.

Parents of youngsters eligible for the program should enroll them by contacting the guidance counselor at the school which they would normally attend.

City Councilman John Daniels, dedicated guardian of the Winter Springs purse strings, is still riding hard on last year's budget even during the waning days of the fiscal year that runs out Sept. 30. At Monday night's council meeting Daniels warned against that old bureaucratic idea of "you spend it or lose it." He cited as an instance the recent purchase of two pairs of handcuffs for a police patrol car, just in case they were both needed. "If we really need them, just knock 'em out," he quipped saying, "Bet we haven't used a set of handcuffs in the past month."

Daniels reminded his fellow officials, "There's no money in the budget to pay for the special election (Sept. 13) you guys called" saying so far no one had volunteered the amount from their departmental budgets.

Daniels further evidenced his hard-nosed attitude by requiring Florida Land Co. to pave North Edgemon, which would be used eventually as an access road to a portion of The Highlands when it is completed. The company's representative, speaking for Florida Land said they would be willing to pay a "reasonable, normal share," and asked what that would be. Daniels replied sharply, "Your reasonable, normal, share is 100 per cent!"

Winter Springs City Planner Richard Rozansky was honored as a hero at the meeting by Mayor Troy Piland for "giving the full measure of devotion" on behalf of the city. Rozansky was still sporting an Ace bandage on his arm, wounded on the field of battle last Saturday during the "Battle of the Government Super Stars" held at the county's Red Bug Park.

Rozansky's arm was severely slashed during a basketball event. Piland was something of a sore loser blaming the Winter Springs teams defeat on "slow clocks and rotten officiating." But wait'll next year!

Trinity Prep went through last minute drills today in preparation for its jamboree appearance Saturday at the school's newly renovated stadium. Saturday meetings Springsted and Luther High in sneak previews of regular season contests. Coach Joe Kelley planned light workouts today stressing the need that each player be rested for Saturday's action. Kelley's squad, which finished a very respectable 6-3 last year, will try to improve this season. With the loss of Norbert Seals and a much more difficult schedule it will be a tough task. The team looks solid to the coach in practice his only worry being the lack of game experience, especially at the varsity level. "That's the reason for the jamborees, we want to get these boys as much playing time as possible," he said.

The starting lineup for the Saints will include Doug McGruder at center Jay Johnson and Dave Waugh at the tackle slots, J.T. Willetts and Paul Sweet will be the tackles, with David Poe and Scott Synder the receivers.

The backfield consists of Mike Butcher at quarterback, Brent Matthews and Chan Muller at the halfback positions. Trinity has nine players that will play both ways. The only new faces on the defense are Palmer Miller, safety and Stewart Hall who will play defensive end.

Kelley plans on starting two players in the season opener who won't see action this week because of minor injuries. Those two are Dave Hamlin who plays both guard and linebacker and Bruce Burnett who is both a tight end and a defensive end.

The Trinity fall schedule consists of six road games. At one stretch in the season the Saints will go five weeks without a home game. Sorecrest will open the year for Trinity on Sept. 9.

The rest of the schedule precedes as follows: Heritage Prep, Florida — Deaf, Springstead, Jacksonville Episcopal, St. Andrews, Luther High and Lake Highland.

MIAMI (AP) — University of Miami football Coach Lou Saban "really wants to get going" and will return to coaching duties Sunday, according to Miami Athletic Director Pete Elliott.

Saban has been in Buffalo, N.Y., where his wife Lorraine called him last Friday. "I'm not sure there is to be a return to coaching," Saban by telephone Thursday and that the coach will be back in Miami on Sunday, said Elliott.

Elliott also said Saban has bought a home in Miami and wants his children to join him there.

Lakeland came out a winner of sorts, too, Thursday night. It was scheduled to play on the road against Miami, but heavy rains forced a postponement. That forced FSU officials to move the three-game series to Lakeland. A rock concert thwarted any rescheduling efforts at the Miami stadium.

The opener in that best two-out-of-three series is scheduled for Saturday, with the second game slated Saturday. If a third game is necessary, it will be played Sunday in Lakeland.

Carter Inviting Cynicism

You can be a purist about ethics and high morality in human rights, or you can be a pragmatist, but you can't be both at the same time — at least not for very long, as President Carter is finding out.

Back last Fall, President-elect Carter announced that in this post-Watergate world, his new Administration would be judged by new, higher standards of ethics than ever before, and he would set them. His appointees would have to rid themselves of stock or business connections that might cast even the tiniest doubt on their credibility or objectivity. "Openness" and "disclosure" were two words we heard a lot of in those days.

Now, as Bert Lance's mounting troubles attest, somebody was not leveling with us. There was a lot less openness than the rules of the new Carter game called for. Mr. Lance, who apparently went in hook up to his eyebrows to buy his Georgia bank stock, now turns out to have pledged his stock dividends to two different creditors at the same time, and often ran up fat overdrafts at one or another of his banks for personal purposes. Illegal? Maybe not, but it doesn't square with Carter's pronouncements on ethics by a country mile.

The President, who seemed to want to draw a bottom line to the Lance affair two weeks ago when he gave his budget director a ringing public endorsement, "blame the problem on lax banking regulations. But that had a hollow ring, since Carter had made it clear all along that his Administration would go beyond all the old standards to set new guidelines for ethical practices.

In defending Lance, Carter showed the perfectly natural human impulse a person has to protect his friends. But so did Richard Nixon, and no one let him off the hook.

Human rights inconsistencies provide the same fertile ground for skepticism as the do-as-I-say-not-as-I-do stance on personal ethics. In his inauguration day, the new President didn't leave any doubt when he spoke: human rights were the same everywhere. No ifs, ands or buts, and his Administration would apply the same yardstick to all countries.

Then, however, his Administration instead proceeded to apply the policy with the finesse of a broken-field runner — dodging here, darting there, zigging and zagging with dazzling footwork.

The Russians got a dose of criticism for repressing dissidents. But so did the Argentines, who were dealing not with dissidents, but terrorists.

Other Latin American allies have been on the receiving end of repeated lectures by visiting State Department officials and human rights "specialists" from the White House.

But not a word has been said about the state of human rights in Cuba, Panama, Vietnam, Cambodia, the mainland of China. True, "practical" diplomatic considerations came into play in some cases, but the point is, in something as fundamental as human rights, how can you be "practical" and absolute at the same time?

The sad thing about both the Carter initiatives — ethics and human rights — is that his early statements raised expectations so high. Now, when the realities have fallen short, the disillusionment is all the greater.

Whether or not the Lance affair or the double standard in human rights end up as political tar babies for Carter remains to be seen, but one thing is certain: he is inviting the very thing he sought to avoid — public cynicism.

Circus Match At Forest Hills

"I hope the zoo-like atmosphere now is ended," sighed Dr. Renee Richards. The gaunt features showed signs of strain and exhaustion. Her dark hair hung in strings down her long, straight neck. Beads of perspiration cascaded down her flushed cheeks.

Staid, old Forest Hills had weathered its circus match, a center court duel between a 43-year-old transsexual and the reigning Wimbledon titleholder, Britain's Virginia Wade, and the eagles atop the famous concrete horsehead didn't come tumbling down.

It was historic. It was largely uneventful. It was sad. The aggressive, hard-hitting Ms. Wade won about as expected over the tall former New York ophthalmologist 6-1, 6-4. In doing so, she only proved she could beat almost any 43-year-old man or woman of sub-professional level.

Dr. Richards, who once played good tennis as a man named Richard Raaskind, proved to be a personality of endless patience and grace under the most trying circumstances.

Red Sox Fall 3 1/2 Behind Yankees

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox learned simple arithmetic the hard way: 500 ball at home is not good enough. The Red Sox finished a 3-5 stand at Fenway Park with a 3-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Thursday, but there was little to cheer. The stand cost them three games, as they fell 3 1/2 behind the first-place New York Yankees in the American League East.

"We just have to have a good road trip," said second baseman Denny Doyle. "We can't have another (1-6) disaster like we had the last trip. We have to forget about the Yankees, take all games one at a time and win them one at a time."

Yastrzemski, steadily moving up on baseball's all-time leaders in a several offensive departments, led the blanked Detroit 1-4, behind the pitching of Jerry Augustine and Ed Rodriguez. Augustine pitched 8 2/3 innings of five-hit ball before Rodriguez got the final out, earning his second save of the year. Ed Kirkpatrick doubled in the Brewers' run.

The Oakland-Minnesota game was rained out. The were no games scheduled in the National League.

Top Seeds Advance

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Virginia Wade turned away the adventuring Renee Richards. Chris Evert politely thrashed her first-round opponent. And the two top male seeds, Bjorn Borg and Jimmy Connors, flicked away their rivals like pieces of dust, despite injuries that delayed their first appearances.

Dr. Richards, the 43-year-old transsexual who went to court for the right to play here, got her chance Thursday, but lost to the Wimbledon champion 6-1, 6-4. The second set gave cause for alarm as Dr. Richards took the fourth and fifth games before Ms. Wade regained her service.

Miss Evert disposed of Sharon Walsh of Mill Valley, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, and looked set for a 6-1, 6-4 as a victory of any kind, moral or otherwise. But it was certainly a big experience for her.

"I'm in very good condition," she said. "But it's not all physical; it's partially mental. And nervous exhaustion can take its toll physically just the way running from side to side does during a match."

Dr. Richards clearly was nervous as Ms. Wade bombed about the court accurately returning and delivering piercing volleys.

But she was smiling and dignified after the match as she said, "I can't think of losing 6-1, 6-4 as a victory of any kind, moral or otherwise. But it was certainly a big experience for her."

SST Landing Rights

Pondered By Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is considering allowing landing rights for the supersonic Concorde airliner in all 12 cities with runways long enough to accommodate the plane, a government source said Friday night.

The cities include Washington, which now has Concorde landings at Dulles International Airport, and New York, which could get them at Kennedy International Airport if an appeals court decision is favorable.

The other cities under consideration for landings are Anchorage, Boston, Dallas, Honolulu, Los Angeles, Miami, Houston, Chicago, Seattle and San Francisco.

Double Fete For Humphrey

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — For Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, going home was a double celebration.

Besides celebrating his freedom from the confines of the University of Minnesota Hospitals in Minneapolis, the 66-year-old Humphrey and his wife, Muriel, celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary at their home here today.

Bankers Irked About Lance

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization of bankers is expressing concern that some of Budget Director Bert Lance's private financial practices may damage their public image.

The American Banking Association said Friday that overdrawn checking accounts cannot be considered normal banking practices, despite Lance's experience with overdrafts.

10-Week Miner Strike Over

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The 10-week wildcat strike that kept as many as 80,000 miners at home appears to be ending.

About 8,400 West Virginia miners were out Friday, down from about 20,000 earlier in the week. In eastern Kentucky, 2,500 workers were striking where 10,000 had been out.

New Pipeline Route OK'd

OTTAWA (AP) — U.S. and Canadian negotiators agreed on an all-land route through Canada for a pipeline to move Alaska natural gas to the lower 48 states and said the accord would go to their governments early next week.

legislator, and now attorney for the Cities of Altamonte Springs and Oviedo, occasionally had lunch at Roumillat's and frequently had breakfast there.

"I think it was a sort of communication center in the county where people could learn about anything going on of importance. Roumillat's closing may be a sign of the change of Sanford," he says.

"When I was a boy growing up, Roumillat's was considered the top and a lot of young people went there for cokes and sodas. During those days it was a highlight to be able to go in and have a soda at Roumillat's."

city attorney of Sanford and law partner of former state Sen. Mack N.

Cleveland Jr., also remembers: "Mack took a lot of good-natured ribbing from Eunice. They had names for each other. There was a lot of good fellowship at Roumillat's." Cleveland is out of town on vacation as Roumillat's closes.

"It's been a happy 24 years. I've met a lot of people and everyone has been nice. I'm going to miss them all. I'm retiring to enjoy my home and the first thing I'm going to do is get my organ fixed. It has a hum," Mrs. Jenkinson says.

"All the attorneys and circuit judges that came by here were full of wit," she says. Asked if she had ever received legal advice at the drugstore from any of the patrons, she responds, "I never sponged on them."

But, there was a time, she concedes, when she needed some legal assistance. "And it was given to me free gratis," she adds, declining to name the attorney who had helped her out in the same way she refused to identify her favorite lawyer or to tell the most colorful nicknames she had for many of them.

A widow, Mrs. Jenkinson has a daughter and six grandchildren, four here and two in Crystal River, and she hopes to enjoy them now that she is retired.

Chamber Speaker

Jim Squires, editor of the Sentinel-Star, will be special guest at the Personality Breakfast of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce 8 a.m. Tuesday, according to Jack Horner, executive manager of the chamber.

Auto-Train Ends A Run To Louisville

The last Auto-Train to end in Louisville, Ky., and Sanford comes into town at 6:10 p.m. Sunday.

"We will continue the run between Washington, D.C., and Florida, which will fulfill our contract with Walt Disney World to act as their official railroad," said Gregory Boardman, reservation agent. "We received the information from our home office Friday," he noted.

More than 300 employees of Auto-Train work out of the Sanford terminal. Company officials said at least some of those will be "furloughed," but the exact number has not been determined. Changes in scheduling and routing being considered by Amtrak officials were blamed for the Auto-Train route change, but spokesmen also said the route from Louisville to Sanford had been losing money for several months.

Amtrak is considering a schedule change which could either completely remove its "Floridian" run from Chicago to Florida, including Sanford, or change the routes and scheduling of that run.

Before determination of any change is made, public response will be considered, and Amtrak officials are presently seeking letters and telephone calls at their Washington, D.C., office.

Those wishing to call with regard to changes in routing or scheduling The Floridian may write to: H.L. Graham, Project Officer, Amtrak, 955 L'Enfant Plaza, N. W., Washington, D.C. 20004 or call toll-free at 1-800-424-7966.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

5 In Cabinet Don't

Want To Be Abolished

TALLAHASSEE (AP) Five of the six Cabinet members have come out strongly against a plan by Gov. Reubin Askew to abolish the Cabinet system in Florida.

However, Askew's call for the constitutional change was hailed by others Friday as "courageous" and long needed.

Even opponents of the plan predicted it would get serious study and perhaps approval from the state Constitution Revision Commission.

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Bicentennial Commission, after seven years of planning and coordinating activities for the country's 200th birthday, has officially gone out of existence.

Jobless Benefits Extended

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — An increase in the national unemployment rate has triggered an extended benefits program which could aid up to 15,000 unemployed Floridians, state officials say.

State Commerce Secretary Edward Grombetta said Friday the program provides up to an additional 13 weeks of unemployment checks to persons who have exhausted their regular benefits.

Squalls Swirl In Gulf

MIAMI (AP) — A new tropical depression drifted slowly toward the central Gulf of Mexico early today, sweeping the warm gulf waters with 30-mile-an-hour squalls.

Born of a tropical wave, the depression formed late Monday even as a predecessor, Hurricane Anita, was drenching the Texas-Mexico border country.

Blind Mosquitoes: 'Horrible, Nuisance'

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

They're called blind mosquitoes or midges. They're not blind, they don't bite and their life span is fewer than 10 days. Fewer than 10 per cent of their eggs hatch in the muddy bottom lands of Lake Monroe.

But each year with the coming of warm weather, the blind mosquitoes rise from the Sanford lakefront causing traffic accidents, thousands of dollars of damage and living up to the area's original name — Mosquito County.

When the north wind blows, the mosquitoes inundate the downtown area, and the merchants have to shovel them into bush baskets.

Many merchants think this year's mosquito plague is the worst one yet, and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has established a special task force to seek a permanent solution to the problem.

The City of Sanford sprays lakefront areas to keep the mosquitoes down. One of the city's two spraying trucks was recently out of operation for two days for adjustments.

"It's been 17 years since

'A hurricane might clean some of this up'

we've had a good hurricane, and some of the experts we've talked to think a hurricane might clean some of this up," says Mrs. Dorothy Meadows of

Editorial, Page 4A

Meadors Marine on U.S. 17-92 west of Sanford.

"The experts also tell us that the more people we have in the area, the more effluent there is, and this attracts mosquitoes," Mrs. Meadows says.

"The mosquitoes are just horrible. When I go outside to feed my dogs in the morning, I have to tie a scarf around my mouth and nose so I don't choke on the midges."

Health officials have told Mrs. Meadows the midges aren't a health hazard, but her 22-year-old son is allergic to them. "His eyes swell, and he gets asthma from them," says Mrs. Meadows.

"Blind mosquito problems? Yes indeed, we've got them," says Boyd Coleman, co-owner of City at 228 E. 1st St. Coleman has to start each day sweeping the midges off the sidewalks "by the bucketful."

The bugs "get under the door when it's closed and into the merchandise. They also get all over the shelves. They're just a general nuisance," Coleman says.

Do the mosquitoes hurt his business? "It never helps when customers have to fight them to get through the front door," Coleman thinks the mosquitoes are worse this year than last year. "There's a longer period of time."

A green building at 330 E. Commercial St. houses the Holiday House Restaurant, "but when you leave here at night, you'd think the building was black. It's covered with blind mosquitoes," says owner Mrs. Judith King.

"We have a yellow and white awning. It gets cleaned weekly, but you wouldn't know it to look at the awning," Mrs. King complains.

BOYD COLEMAN SWEEPING AWAY BLIND MOSQUITOES

The pesky midges also coat the Holiday House windows. "That's not all. They get in under the door. They get on the tables and bother the customers. It's bothersome to get in the front door. We have to sweep them into bush baskets. And they smell like dead fish."

Religious Expectant Mother Flees

Florida To Avoid Transfusions

FOUNTAIN VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A California doctor has scheduled a Caesarean delivery for a woman who fled Florida to avoid possible court-ordered blood transfusions, which she opposes because of her religious beliefs.

Meanwhile two doctors told a Florida court that if the baby needs a transfusion immediately after birth and doesn't get it, the infant's life could be in imminent danger.

Inda Okonewski, 21, a Jehovah's Witness, fled Florida to California after a judge ordered that all Florida hospitals and physicians give whatever treatment is necessary for the woman.

Hospital officials in Florida have said Mrs. Okonewski has a rare blood type, which could make transfusions necessary for her and the child.

At Fountain Valley Hospital Friday, Dr. Elliott Zelenik said Mrs. Okonewski, of West Palm Beach, Fla., would be admitted on Monday and scheduled for a Tuesday childbirth. And, according to a hospital spokeswoman, Zelenik said he didn't anticipate problems with the delivery.

"All he would say was that as of now, he expects no problems and expects it to be a normal delivery," she said.

Mrs. Okonewski's former obstetrician, Dr. Warren Greenberg of Plantation, testified that if the baby takes a cupful of blood, possible death could result.

Greenberg and Dr. Michael Halle, also of Plantation, who was to be the baby's pediatrician, testified that both mother and child could be in imminent danger if any loss of blood occurred and a transfusion could not be administered. They also said that the child could suffer brain damage if a transfusion was necessary but not given.

After hearing testimony from the two physicians and others, Boober issued no formal ruling. But he said because the pregnancy is so far advanced the baby is a "fetus with independent life and rights under the law."

As a result, Boober said the unborn child "is in need of care for its well-being."

Is Korea Regime Pressuring Park?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The attorney for Tongguk Park says he has no indication that the Seoul government is trying to pressure Park into cooperating with investigations of alleged South Korean attempts at influence-buying in Capitol Hill.

William G. Hundley said Friday he talked with Park by telephone on Friday. "From what I can see he's walking around in Korea...I have no indication the Korean government is trying to pressure this guy one way or another."

"There's no indication that he can't leave Korea and go where he wants to," Hundley said. Park reportedly has been indicted secretly by a grand jury investigating allegations of influence-buying. In addition, the House ethics committee, conducting a parallel investigation,

Oviedo Boy, 16, Held In Teen Murder

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
A 16-year-old Oviedo area juvenile boy is being held without bond in Seminole County Jail at Sanford on a first-degree murder charge in the Friday night stabbing death of Jeffrey Lee Lowman, 18, of Reed Road, east of Oviedo.
Lowman was unconscious and area residents were trying to stem the arterial bleeding from his left leg.
The juvenile suspect had a leg stab wound and had been taken to Winter Park Hospital.
Witnesses reportedly told sheriff's investigators that Lowman and the juvenile had argued on the porch of a nearby frame house about "a small amount of money" and the juvenile ran toward Lowman, exiting with two butcher knives and running toward Lowman on the dirt street.
Patroling deputy Ted Holiday reported an unidentified woman stopped him and said a man had been stabbed. Officers said Lowman was unconscious and area residents were trying to stem the arterial bleeding from his left leg.
The juvenile suspect had a leg stab wound and had been taken to Winter Park Hospital, deputies said.
Deputy Holiday reported two butcher knives were found "stuck in the ground near Lowman's feet."
Sheriff's detective Taylor Roundtree said the juvenile suspect was treated and released from the hospital at Winter Park and taken to the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center.
Deputies said when the youth was told of the murder charge he fled. A check and was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment.

MOTORIST AUTOPSY
The Florida Highway Patrol said Saturday that an autopsy has been scheduled to determine the cause of death of a motorist who is believed to have had a heart attack and died in a minor traffic accident Friday afternoon in south Seminole.
State troopers said Edward Thompson Munnell, 56, of 931 Collie Lane, Maitland, slumped over the steering wheel of his auto on Howell Lane and it veered into the path of a car turning off Lake Howell Road.
Troopers said the driver of the turning car, Barbara Cook, of 240 Oxford Road, Fern Park, and two passengers, Mildred Glaser, and Judy Cook, were not injured in the 15-mile-an-hour collision.
Troopers said Munnell, an engineer at Cape Canaveral, had a heart condition.
ROBBERY CHARGE
Sheriff's deputies have arrested Frederick A. Chapman, 32, of West Hollywood in Broward County, on a Seminole circuit court warrant charging robbery, burglary, criminal mischief and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.
During a first appearance in county court Saturday, Judge Harold Johnson said Chapman, who was sentenced to 10 years in prison Friday in an Orange County robbery case, is also being held for Dade County authorities on charges there.
POT ARREST
Sanford police arrested Ray Douglas Marple, 26, of Lake Helen, early Saturday on traffic charges and felony possession of marijuana. Marple is being held in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond, according to jail records.

relations manual published by the Florida Police Benevolent Association in 1973, has never been a union member.
"I intend, hopefully, to have all things worked out" except wages and fringe benefits if we get to bargaining with unions," LaPeters told city commissioners.
LaPeters has a masters degree in public administration and is a graduate lawyer from the Florida State University law school. His experience includes chief of police of Cedar Rapids; director of public safety at Cherry Hill, N.J.; criminal justice investigator for the Franklin Institute Research Laboratories; consultant to the city manager and police chief of Tallahassee; and detective and homicide squad commander with the Dade County public safety department.
LaPeters said his wife is from Leesburg, in adjoining Lake County, and has relatives there.
The new chief said if the rain lets up he expects to get in several days of fishing in area lakes before returning to Cedar Rapids to resign his job with Collins Radio.
Sanford city commissioners said they interviewed Lt. Stephen W. Appel of the St. Petersburg police department. Appel was termed "also highly qualified" and has experience in law enforcement that includes 20 years in supervisory and administrative levels.
The third finalist, attorney Richard F. Mayer, of Gaitersburg, Md., withdrew his application for the Sanford post on Thursday giving as reason "news coverage."
Knowles said when clippings of local press coverage reached Mayer's employer, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, where he is supervising attorney in the Public Safety Labor Relations Center, that "it nearly cost him his job."
Knowles, in a memo to commissioners, said that Mayer then learned Thursday of Florida's "Sunshine Law" and that his job interview would be covered by the press.
"This would certainly place his job in jeopardy," Knowles said, "and with a family he could not chance this threat of ending up with no job at all."

3 Rumors In This Place

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Only three rumors have crossed the Bloomfield rumor control desk this year, police say.
"If we get the rumor before it's spread too far we can alert the whole town in 15 or 20 minutes," said Arthur Zimmerman, chairman of the Rumor Control Committee, which oversees a 24-hour, police-manned rumor switchboard.
The committee was created after the 1967 Newark riots, which officials said was sparked by a rumor. There were 53 rumors in 1969 — the first year the phone was in operation, he said.

Willis then ran 12 yards for a first down.
With only 29 seconds to play, McClennan took a pithout from Willis and tried a desperation pass. It was intercepted and appeared to end Oviedo's scoring hopes.
Randy Isner, entered the game with 6 seconds to go and intercepted Bishop Moore's last ditch pass and attempted to score Oviedo's touchdown, on a 35-yard return.
With no time remaining on the clock, Oviedo decided to try for two. McClennan took the option play pithout to score, giving the Oviedo Lions an 8-0 victory.
"It was my first play of the season and I never expected to intercept a pass. I just played where I saw an opening," Isner said after the game. "I heard him yelling to get back and over and the next thing I knew I had the ball. All I could see was the corner of the endzone. It was great!"
The Lions of Oviedo played their 1977 football season Friday night with a win over Bishop Moore, 8-0, and a loss to Kissimmee, 7-0, at the Leesburg football jamboree.
The Oviedo Lions took the field in the second quarter of the jamboree against a strong Kissimmee squad that had a definite width advantage over the Lions.
The Lions returned the kickoff from their 10 to the 25 only to stall with 3 yards gained on the ground.
Kissimmee then returned Oviedo's 35-yard punt to the Oviedo original line of scrimmage.
Two plays later the Kissimmee squad, driving over the center of the Oviedo line, scored the only points of the evening.
The Lions saved a stalled drive by faking a punt. Randy

OCALA — "I was satisfied. It was well worth the trip to the north country," said Jim Raley, head football coach of Lake Brantley after his team split a pair of jamboree quarters.
Lake Brantley won the second quarter, 14-0, against Lake Weir and suffered a 7-0 shutout to host Ocala Forest, in the fourth.
Through a constant downpour of rain Brantley took the opening kickoff and marched it down the field for an 89-yard scoring drive.
Dean Shackelford and Ed Upson ripped off small chunks of yardage as Brantley moved the ball steadily down the field.
A Baird Lyons to Tommy Albers pass was good for 39 yards and a touchdown to cap the drive, putting the Patriots up, 7-0 early in the quarter.
Even with the rain, Raley stuck to his game plan which included going to the air often.
Lyons threw nine times in only limited action. He hit five for a total of 116 yards against Lake Weir.
Dean Frith played the final quarter but didn't go to the air.
"His highlight of the night was the Lyons-Albers play. Tommy made a great play. It was a behind the back grab, really difficult to make," Raley said.
"I was happy with the way we played. We were able to move the ball consistently. I was happy with everything except our kicking game."
"We were totally unorganized when it came to kicking. We will have to work on punts and kickoffs all week until we get it straight."
"The rain wasn't as big a factor as it could have been," Raley added, "the field was in great shape."
"I'd love to have a couple of fields like that in Seminole County," he added.

'Hambo' Pick Green Speed

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Detectors of the Hambletonian called it "The Corn Tassel Derby" back in its early years in the New York hamlet of Goshen.
It's still small-town...and it's the premier harness race in the world.
Today's 52nd running was contested by 16 3-year-old trotters on the one-mile track at the Du Quoin State Fair Grounds within easy walking distance of the double ferris wheel and the exhibit of "The World's largest steer—10,000 hamburgers on the hoof."
The first of from two to four heats was scheduled for noon, CDT. The Hambletonian champion must win two heats. This sometimes necessitates a raceoff between winners of the three previous heats.
A 15-minute summary of the race was to be televised by CBS from 3:45 p.m., CDT.
Billy Haughton, who won the race with Christopher T. in 1974 in two heats and with Steve Lohbel in four heats last year, is making his 18th Hambletonian appearance as the driver of favored Green Speed.
Only the late Ben White, the only driver to win four Hambletonians, has won in consecutive years—with The Ambassador in 1942 and with Volo Song in 1943.
Today's appearances by Del Miller, driving Getysburg, and Gene O'Brien, driving Reprise, tied them with Tom Berry and Harry Powell for a record 22 Hambletonian starts.
But the crowd of 12,061 had little to do with Nastase's fit on Friday, chiding him only after he had fully launched into his antics. What sparked them was a serve that Nastase thought had ticked the net.
The first Hambletonian in up its schedule.

Nastase Is Angry, Ousted From Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — He had seemed so good-natured, so docile earlier in the week. Impish yes, but benign.
But true to form, and perhaps to his character, Ili Nastase exploded seven games into his second-round match at the U.S. Open tennis championships.
Sweden eliminated John James of Australia, 7-5, 6-4, and defending champion Jimmy Connors, on his 25th birthday, beat Bob Lutz of San Clemente, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.
And he lost, 6-4, 6-4, to Italy's Corrado Barazzutti.
Nastase disappeared into the locker room after his match and would not talk about his defeat.
In other matches Wednesday, the other seventh seed, Billie Jean King, struggled for the hour and 56 minutes to beat a powerful junior player, Anne Smith, 18, of Dallas, 6-3, 6-7, 6-5.
The top woman seed, Chris Evert overwhelmed Pam Whytcross of Australia 6-0, 6-0 in 30 minutes; No. 4 Sue Barker of England beat Iris Reidel of West Germany, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, and fifth seed Betty Stove defeated Ilana Kloss of South Africa, 6-4, 6-1.
The top men won their second rounds: No. 1 Bjorn Borg of Sweden eliminated John James of Australia, 7-5, 6-4, and defending champion Jimmy Connors, on his 25th birthday, beat Bob Lutz of San Clemente, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.
No. 3 Brian Gottfried, of Lauderdale, Fla., worked hard to turn back Marty Riessen of Chicago 7-5, 2-6, 6-3. Fourth-seeded clay-court wizard Guillermo Vilas defeated Gene Mayer of Mendham, N.J. 6-3, 6-0; fifth-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain easily passed Australian Fred Stolle, 6-2, 6-2.
San Smith, the 16th seed, fell stunningly to little-known Mike Fishback of Great Neck, N.Y., and his peculiar racket, 6-0, 6-2.

Speed Skating Alive And Well, Thank You

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A roller skater who competes in races must battle obscurity, inconvenience and an image problem. But for Forrest Allmond, it's still fun.
"It's self satisfying, just like jogging," said the 28-year-old Allmond, who recently won his eighth straight Eastern regional Roller Skate Rink Operators Association championship.
"Racing is a noncontact sport. In fact, there are strict penalties for charging or tripping," said the 5-foot-7, 140-pound Allmond.
Speed skating is similar to track. The sport has been popular in international circles for years, where competition is outdoors. When Allmond competed in Austria two years ago, the event was held on a 400-meter track used by ice skaters in the Olympics.
Like Olympic speed skaters, practice is a problem. The only Olympic-size outdoor ice skating rink is in West Allis, Wis. There is no outdoor roller rink.
"Training the inconvenience of it. I train where I can to suit my own schedule," said Allmond, a carrier for the U.S. Post Office here.
Allmond has been skating for 18 years. He works out about two hours a day, five days a week. Practice sessions usually come at midnight when patrons at area roller rinks have finished skating to the mellow waltzes played on an organ.
Sometimes, weather permitting, he skates outdoors on a circular road at Keystone Industrial Park in the northern suburbs. He also jogs and cycles to keep in shape.
Allmond competes in four events: 1,000, 1,500, 3,000 and 5,000 meters. His best time in the mile is 2 minutes, 56 seconds, considerably faster than a runner.
Another problem is cost. A good pair of racing skates costs about $100, and skaters must pay their own way to practice sessions and meets.
"We bear all the expenses, and it's tough at times," Allmond said.
"The biggest satisfaction is meeting people through skating. I've met people all over. And I'll always have friends there," he added.
"It is an amusement, but I'm more serious about it than that. I also dance skate."

Oviedo QB Randy Willis

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Professional golfer's elite conquered Firestone South Friday.
But take a cue from the co-leading trio of Raymond Floyd, Hale Irwin and Tom Weiskopf: The conquest may be only temporary.
Irwin, the only player to avoid a bogey, matched 67 by Floyd and Weiskopf in the opening round of the $300,000 World Series of golf.
Floyd holds the record of 268 on the 7,180-yard monster, the longest par-70 on the American tour.
Mark Hayes was at 68. At 69 were defending champion Jack Nicklaus—chasing an unprecedented sixth Series crown—PGA champ Larry Mize, and South Africa's Gary Player, Australia's Graham Marsh and Spain's Severiano Ballesteros.
Weiskopf explained the low scoring: "It was a perfect day to play. There was not much wind. It was overcast. The greens held the ball well and the fairways were very playable. "Firestone is not that easy," he added, "but it's susceptible to scoring."

Make Way For Screen Passes
College football's rulesmakers have added a little spice to the offering this season.
Keep an eye out for more screen passes. The year's major rules change finds elimination of the ineligible receiver downfield penalty on a pass play which the receiver takes on or behind the line of scrimmage.
This is likely the biggest rules change since 1934 when they changed the size of the ball and eliminated the five-yard penalty for more than one incomplete pass in the same series of downs.
Basically, the new rule should favor wishbone and veer attack teams.
College football will include—whew—843 games this fall, not counting post-season encounters.
Rutgers heads into the season with 18 straight victories, tops in that category while East Stroudsburg heads Division II teams with 20 straight non-lossing games. Penn State has a string of 38 non-lossing seasons.
And for the pacesetters in the college ranks, Joe Paterno of Penn State has the winning percentage among active coaches — .812 on a 101-23-1 record. Bear Bryant of Alabama is the winningest active coach with 282 victories, followed by Woody Hayes with 222. Florida's Doug Dickey is 15th on that list with 94.
Central Florida high school graduates will play a major role in college programs all over the country.
Among the most notable area products are Apopka's Leamon Hall and Oviedo's Glennie Brundage, the pass-catch combination for Army. Hall was fourth last season in total offensive and passing, while Brundage was 12th in receiving. Hall hit 162 passes for 2,174 yards and 15 TD losses. Forty-seven of them were to Brundage for 657 yards and six TDs. Both were national players of the week on 1976 weekends.
Glenn Hill and Mike White of Lyman are seniors at the University of Miami and will be regulars. Hill is a 6-1, 208-pound defensive end, linebacker and specialty team standout. Glenn works summers with his dad in Longwood raising bees and packaging honey.
White, who earned seven letters at Lyman (football, wrestling and baseball), started all 11 games last season at center.
Miami has no snap schedule this fall, playing the likes of Ohio State, Georgia Tech, Kansas, Penn State, Alabama, Florida and Notre Dame. Whotta schedule! White and Hill were in grade school when Miami decided to go major and arrange those biggies.
Oviedo has two players at Elon — linebackers Jimmy Riddle and Ted Homer. Both are starters for the top 10 small college squad. Riddle went to FSU as a walk-on, but when the Seminoles decided he was too small he transferred to Elon. Another Oviedo standout is Greg Washington, starting defensive back at Indiana State.
Seminole had Mike Good at Florida State, where he started at offensive guard last season as a freshman. Also, Greg Pringle will be at South Carolina State, Kenny Lee at Liberty Baptist and Charles Riggins at Bethune-Cookman.
Lake Brantley has Marty Williams at William and Mary, plus Lee Hartman, Ross Lishen and Doug Hancock at North Alabama, and Tommy White at Florida. White is a walk-on with the Gators, but appears to have a sound chance of making it.
Trinity Prep's all-state halfback Norbert Seals will play for Harvard's freshman team while Mike Austin is a senior at Newburg, S.C.

Clothes A Mixed Bag Of Styles

By CHARLES HIX Herald Staff

Back-to-school boyswear this year is being upgraded with classier looks. Still, not all boys will be pursuing the same style curriculum...

shirts still receive high honors from guys of all ages — from kindergartners to juniors to young fathers returning for advanced degrees...

categories. Generally, the older a boy becomes, the more fashion conscious he is. Tailored jeans with slimmer legs and fewer distracting details are considered the most stylish this season.

Entrenched: The absence of overt war allows the resurgence of fatigues and the surplus variety, but in nearer looks for wearable boyswear. Khaki is both a big color and a big fabric for fall.

"Fashion is the instrument that puts people, including children, into peer groups," notes the dean of American menswear design, John Wells, who also creates boyswear.

"This year, boys' clothing is in better taste, which means the look will be more preppy. In fact, preppy schools are bracing up their dress rules again to include ties."

In public schools, though, dress codes are anachronistic. There, fashion really resolves down to growing pains — the aspirations of younger males to look like older ones...

Packed Up: Rugged, outdoorsy clothing, whether in lumberjack plaid jackets or classic denim, is also very much in vogue on the back-to-school route for boys of all ages.

Leidner: The Apple Of Their Eyes

Continued from Page 1C dependently — something first graders are often "unable to do," he said. Leidner would like to see his interest in children's self-confidence and independence carried over into family activities.

"We want to encourage parents to read to their children again," said Leidner, insisting that he is not talking about the trend to doing so may have recently begun.

When he isn't working with his first graders or developing new techniques for teaching them, Leidner's wife Susan, and infant daughter Leah Marie, like to take "to the woods" and camp.

"We are real campers, the backyard types. We like to go out and make our campsite," he said.

When it is time to stay home both Leidner and Susan still spend a lot of time out of doors — in their gardens.

And some kids may never be able to handle an academic situation. These kids — just to look at them — they look like any other child. They are not mentally retarded."

goal. And this is the most rewarding part of this type work," she continued. Mrs. Newkirk said, "We do a little dab of everything and give each child individual help. Basically, we use regular classroom material, but will not only, hopefully, provide her with her Doctor of Arts degree, but will bring her new and useful material to use in teaching and as a department head at SCC."

After that, and the examinations she will have to pass, Miss Morrison will offer her suggested topic for a thesis. With the cooperation of my colleagues and with my students' cooperation as well, this sort of cross-presentation has gone over very well," she says.

"The arts do inter-relate, not only in terms of meaning, but in form, appearance, rhythm," says Miss Morrison. The Doctor of Arts degree will give her new knowledge and new skills in inter-relating the arts — and in helping her students feel their hunger to do the same thing. — MARYLIN SHEED-DAN

Low Blood Pressure Hints Top Chance For Long Life

DEAR DR. LAMB — What should my blood pressure be? I am 51 years old. I have been taking Hygroton for a long time now. Are there any side effects? The doctor I go to seems to think I'll have to take it the rest of my life.

DEAR READER — There is a common misconception that your blood pressure should be 100 plus your age. The truth is that if your blood pressure stays below 140 and you still have a better chance for a long and healthy life.

DEAR DR. LAMB — During a recent medical examination everything checked out okay except for my "BUN" which was too high. The doctor said it was only three points above the normal level and didn't seem too concerned about it.

moderately elevated blood pressure. The Health Letter I am sending you explains that if you have any excess pounds of fat, elimination of it will often lower your blood pressure.

DEAR READER — BUN merely stands for blood urea nitrogen. Urea is a compound the body forms of two ammonia radicals. The ammonia radicals come from stripping them off of the amino acids.

DEAR READER — During a recent medical examination everything checked out okay except for my "BUN" which was too high. The doctor said it was only three points above the normal level and didn't seem too concerned about it.

O'Neill: New Woman Means 'New Fidelity'

Despite rising divorce statistics, marriage is flourishing in the post-liberated 1970s, claims author anthropologist Verna O'Neill in her forthcoming book 'The Marriage Premise' (M. Evans).

"The more accustomed we become to the new freedoms, the more open we become in our attitudes toward sex, the more men and women are affirming their need for sexual exclusivity," writes Mrs. O'Neill, who five years ago co-authored the bestseller 'Open Marriage' with her husband, George.

Herbicides Of Limited Value To Gardeners

The fall gardening season is just getting into full swing. Even though your plants probably haven't yielded their fruit to you yet, you may have already raised a crop of questions about how to improve your gardening.

Application methods must be followed carefully, and only the correct amounts should be used. Although it is possible to utilize herbicides in the garden by grouping vegetables for tolerance to certain chemicals, and diligently following all label precautions, chemical weed control of gardens is still perhaps too sophisticated for the average vegetable gardener to safely use.

Who'll Help The Single Homemaker?

Growing Older

It is high time that women who are full-time homemakers be accepted as productive citizens. They should be entitled to Social Security, to pensions, to unemployment insurance, disability benefits and to health insurance.

Some statistics are in order. As of March, 1973, 2,228,000 women between the ages of 35 and 64 fell into the displaced-homemaker group. In that year, married women who had no children under 18 totaled 7,491,000.

Who'll Help The Single Homemaker?

Growing Older

It is high time that women who are full-time homemakers be accepted as productive citizens. They should be entitled to Social Security, to pensions, to unemployment insurance, disability benefits and to health insurance.

Some statistics are in order. As of March, 1973, 2,228,000 women between the ages of 35 and 64 fell into the displaced-homemaker group. In that year, married women who had no children under 18 totaled 7,491,000.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who let a 17-year-old boy hang around their house all day and all night seven days a week? The boy is my son. Jerry has been going steady with this 15-year-old girl for nearly a year, and he has practically lived at her house all summer.
