Nixon's Vietnam Up-dating Prompts Analysis

President Nixon's update on the Vietnam War, which took about 15 minutes in a nationally broadcast address, was far more than that on closer and careful examination.

What seems fairly obvious is that the Commander-in-Chief's announcement of a total troop withdrawal of 150,000 men in the next 12 months is impressive in its numbers but does just about what the 12,000 a month rate which is established.

But for the President, whose knowledge of the whole picture of the United States involvement in Southeast Asia is more complete than any other, it provides a time period where there is elbow room to maneuver.

But there was a new and somewhat ominous note in this presidential address. This was the introduction of a report which went beyond Vietnam and into Cambodia and Laos and made an Indo-China statement against the background of an Indo-China

What has been going on in both Laos and Cambodia is seeping to the surface. Concealed American involvement is being uncovered. There is growing restlessness and concern in Congress.

It is this circumstance which sapped some of the strength from the Nixon bold assertions that progress towards ending the war was being made, that Vietnamization was continuing, that pacification was succeeding and that "all American combat forces can and will be withdrawn."

It is also becoming a hard fact of life to the thousands of young men who either volunteer and pick the branch of service before being drafted, or are drafted that service in Vietnam is not being lessened by the troop withdrawals.

Nor can it be overlooked that such a responsible body as the Great and General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has legislated to the end that citizens of the Rev State can refuse service in Vietnam as that "war" was not declared by Congressional action.

This it could be a very logical result of the growing public demand that there be no more wars started without proper Congressional action and without further involvement in Indo-China without that having taken place.

In making these comments we do not minimize the grave concern that President Nixon has shown over since taking office to bring the war to an end and stop the slaughter of men and the waste of American resources in the conflict which was inherited.

In one stirring passage, President Nixon's talk referred to the massive reaction by all men to the endangering of the lives of the three Apollo 13 astronauts, linking this to his own high evaluation of the life of every human being and termed the death of a man as a tragedy.

Yet the rising rate of war deaths in Vietnam does not seem to be as dimmed as positioned too far leftward, as too rigidly set in that part of the spectrum, to be able to gain broad party support.

In Hughes' case, this is clearly regretted by many, for they see him as properly tough, as a vigorous leader, though he leaves a lot of influential Democrats still doubtful of his real grasp of world issues and his capacity to pursue all the key issues with sufficient force.

It actually comes down to their own feelings in the Kennedy area. Many are not sure of the passage of time since Chapquidick and his restored self-confidence, plus the very large number of the black vote in the party with the visible alternatives in the area—Lake County and Ind. He notes that Kennedy took the county over Sen. Eugene McCarthy by 18,000 votes—but the margin came wholly from heavily black voters. Of 15 other cities in the county won by George Wallace in the 1964 primary, 15 went to McCarthy and just one to Kennedy. In Gary's 13 white precincts, McCarthy outdid him 49 to 34 per cent.

Possibly, figures aside, the late Robert Kennedy might in fact have found a way to draw blacks and blue-collar whites together. So might Ted. But, plainly, the Indiana figures offer no proof.

Word To "Mailers"

A sideglance to a week when mail crisis has held the spotlight: The volume of mail is going to continue to increase and the increase will involve all classes of mail. And every firm and group using the mails—those postal clients usually referred to as "mailers"—can help reduce problems by properly preparing mailings.

Mailers should properly identify mail where the envelope does not indicate the class or service desired. They should separate all classes of mail prior to depositing it in post offices or in mail receptacles. Addressing should include a return address and use of Zip Code both in the mailing address and return address.

Mailers should determine the hours and places to deposit mailings for priority handling. Mailers should properly advise postal officials when volume mailings are to be made. Arrangements then can be made to handle mail economically from both the mailer's and the post office's point of view.

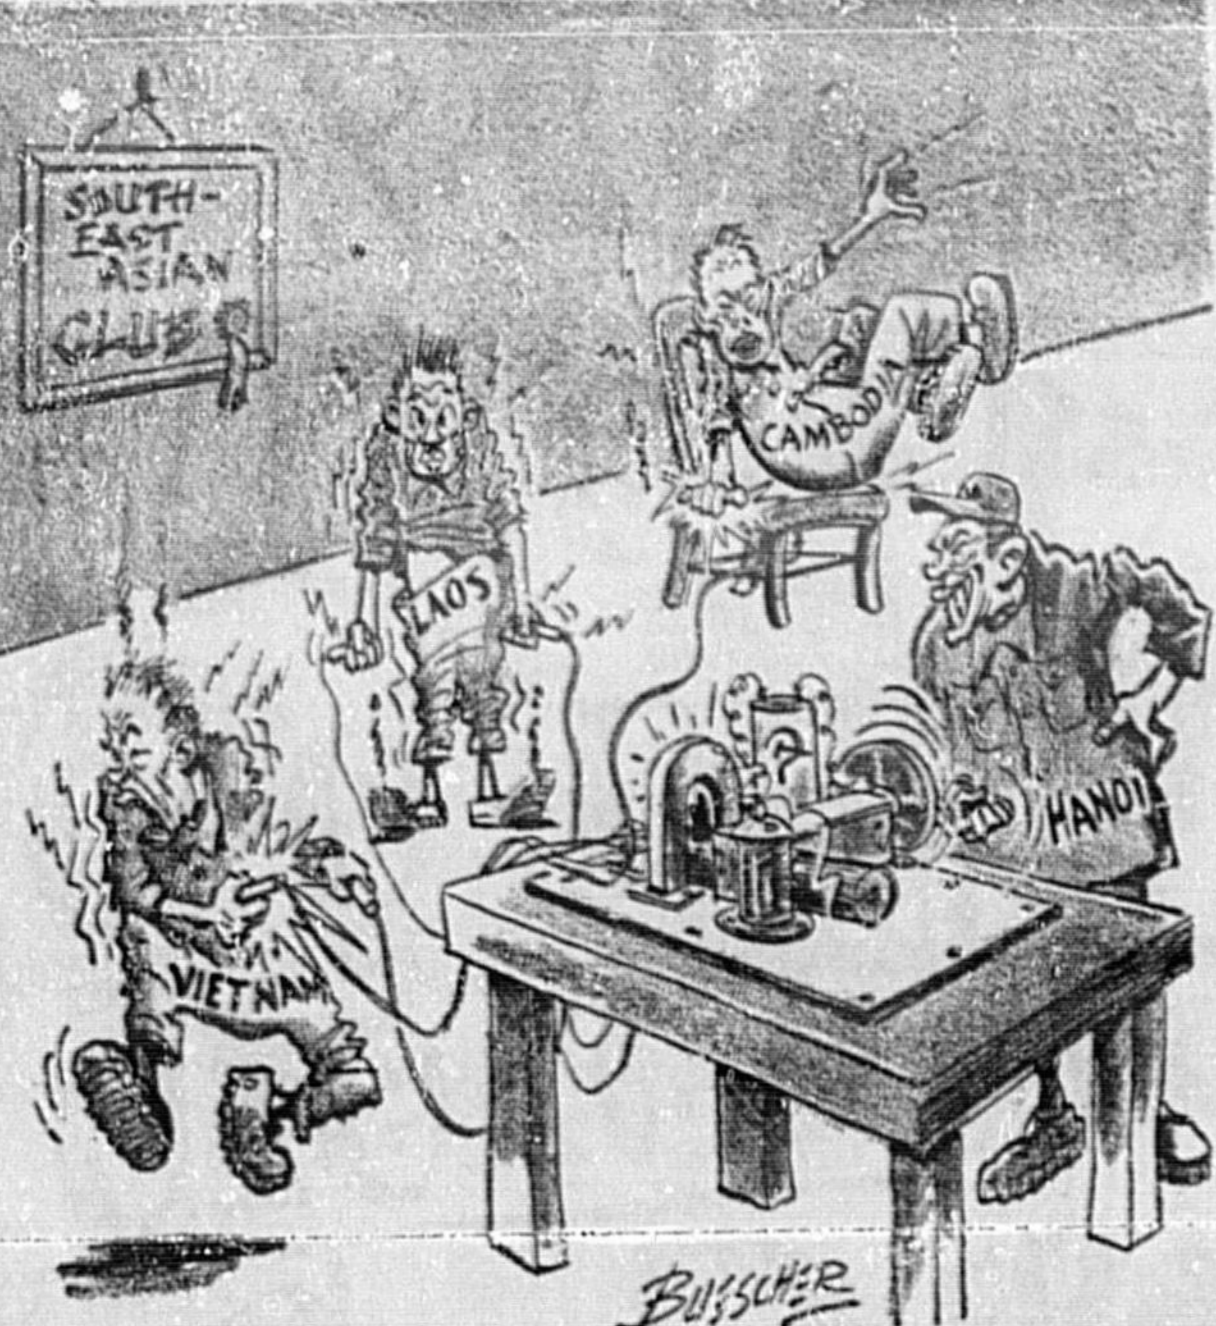

Firms should recognize that the post office welcomes cooperation and suggestions. And by mutual effort, service can be bettered. — Huntsville (Ala.) Times

SHOCK TREATMENT

Domestic Comment:

More Safety For Next Apollo

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The type of oxygen tank carried by Apollo 13 is made of beryllium. Such tanks carry oxygen under heavy pressure. But such tanks have their limits. If the pressure gets too great, they explode like hand grenades.

An electrical short circuit could cause a breakdown in the cooling system which keeps the oxygen at proper temperature. (A rise in the temperature causes gas to expand, creating pressure. When there is no room to expand, the pressure that can be built up are tremendous.)

It is known from the data that there was a build-up of pressure in an oxygen tank aboard Apollo 13 shortly before the explosion.

This is some of the part-fact, part-conjecture discussion now going on among scientists involved with man in space.

No one is certain whether what is related above actually occurred.

But if it is, in fact, the type of explosion which did take place, it probably happened quickly. The time from the beginning build-up of pressure to the explosion was perhaps a matter of minutes—say 10 at the most.

The Apollo 13 astronauts would have had no way to stop it.

Such an explosion possibly could be prevented by building the walls of an oxygen tank walls thicker. Or perhaps the pressure build-up and the explosion could have been averted by putting redundancy in the cooling system that could be flicked into operation of the pressure in an oxygen tank started to rise unduly. But it would have to be done quickly.

Or a switch could be installed which would enable the astronauts to release some of the oxygen from a tank at the first sign of increasing pressure.

Political Notebook:

Kennedy A '72 Possibility?

By BRUCE BROSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—No responsible spokesmen in the Democratic party seem to believe that some strong newcomer is going to emerge from the 1972 presidential prospects.

Either for public attention or in private, party officials and top-name Democrats keep coming up with the same name: Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Robert Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota and, more often recently, Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, notwithstanding the debacle of the 1969 Chapquidick incident.

Now and then the name of hunky Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa is added, but generally he is seen as a long-range possibility.

Who I listen to these reviews, I sense a considerable uneasiness in the party hierarchy that the list is stronger. Aside from all their other problems, the Democrats recognize that they have a serious leadership back.

When the mention Humphrey, they make him sound almost like a default candidate to be offered up. President Nixon should want Kennedy in 1972. In one big eastern state, a list of candidates for state offices this year, when queried about Humphrey, indicated to a regularity that Young people are responding to Kennedy as if Chapquidick never had happened. Few question that his hold on large segments of the black voting community would be powerful. How he would do with labor is pretty much an unknown.

In this connection, a legend has grown up around an important aspect of his late brother Robert's 1968 campaign which needs to be dealt with. Ted may be getting more respect than he deserves.

For all the controversy and animosity he stirred in his incredible 85-day battle for the

School Aid Battle Brewing

By WILLIAM R. MEAD
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate is preparing for an early record of battles over school aid and housing less than two months after a tardy and once vetoed version of last year's legislation finally limped through Congress.

John M. Rufus of the National Education Association told Magnussen's subcommittee that the federal share of school financing is declining, although schools need more, not less.

Last year's appropriations bill for the Labor Department and the Health, Education and Welfare Department passed March 4, nine months later, after one Nixon veto and days of wrangling over Southern-sponsored banning and freedom-of-choice amendments.

This year, Sen. Warren G. Magnusson, D-Wash., has introduced his Senate appropriations subcommittee down to work early, taking lengthy testimony from educators, administration spokesmen and others on a House-passed $4.1 billion appropriation bill. It covers the U.S. Office of Education only, a new approach.

But the House again inserted an amendment to bar housing of students to achieve racial balance in schools, and another to permit freedom of choice in selecting a school to attend. There are sure to cause stormy debate both in the Senate committee and on the floor.

Nixon's contention when he vetoed last year's bill was that the framework devoid of monetary disruptions, the firm says.

Business Moves

By JOHN CANNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—As their streets and economic life become locked in traffic jams that sometimes grow tight as jigsaw puzzles, city administrators are now giving more serious consideration to revolutionary "people movers."

The term is perhaps not the best, but it does effectively convey the wide range of ideas for moving masses of people short distances.

General Electric, Goodyear, Westinghouse and perhaps 100 smaller companies are involved. San Jose, Calif., is about to install a six-mile belt system. New York is considering a cross-Manhattan conveyor.

The primary problem of congestion remains associated with downtown areas of major cities, where dozens of roads discharge thousands of automobiles that squeeze into a mass of noisy, polluted frustration.

At airports, where congestion already is bad, the situation could become almost impossible.

A hypothetical situation: A Boeing 747 terminates a flight and prepares for a return trip. About 40 passengers and crew get off and each is met by two people. The total for one flight is now 1,200.

Double the figure because of the need to prepare for the return flight. The total in one small area of the airport is now 2,400. But nearby, another 2,400 people are jammed at the gates because another 747 has landed.

The problem obviously cannot be solved by dispersing the people by automobile, because that would merely add to the congestion. The people movers say one of their systems is needed.

Mom Is Proud Of Her Marine

Editor, Herald:

My 17-year-old boy, who is typical of our generation, is a Marine. He is a very good boy, a very good student, and a very good citizen. He is a very good Marine. He is a very good man. He is a very good son. He is a very good brother. He is a very good friend. He is a very good neighbor. He is a very good citizen. He is a very good Marine.

Thank you very much for the newspaper clipping and the club program. They were a great help to me. I am proud of my son. I am proud of my Marine. I am proud of my country. I am proud of my flag. I am proud of my God, and in himself.

What changed him in such a brief span of time? Only one thing. He joined the U.S. Marine Corps.

He wanted to join the Marines at the beginning of his senior year in high school. I fought this, because like all parents, I want my child to be successful. But I came to the realization that here was a boy with no interest in his school work, a boy who had not yet been able to find his goals in life. Maybe the Marines was the answer. I gave permission for him to join, with the understanding that he get his diploma through the Marine Corps.

March 31 was the proudest day of my life. We went to Parris Island to see his graduation from boot camp. I couldn't have hoped for more for my son. He was one of 12 out of the group of approximately 100 recruits, who earned a PFC stripe, and received a certificate of merit from his Commanding Officer for becoming a rifle expert. When the Final Review was over, and I went to congratulate him, I must admit that tears of pride and happiness made my words of congratulation somewhat garbled.

He's in Camp Lejeune taking Combat Training. His PFC stripe has given him a chance to use his leadership ability, having 200 Privates to lead. His authority comes only to his sergeant. After that comes a special school in Military Transport.

After that—what? He has signed up to go to Viet Nam. That decision was his alone, so I won't question it. But I find peace in his reasoning because I know that the God that he has come to know through the Marine will protect him, and the training he is receiving will make him equal to what he will face.

I'm proud to walk beside this young Marine of mine, who only a few short weeks ago was a confused, disinterested teenager.

Would I recommend this to other parents? My answer is this. I have another son who will be old enough to join next year. He is already taking Marine, and when that time comes, I'll be more than willing to give my permission.

Generous Help

Editor, Herald:

During the time we were taking our Easter bees, the Sanford Herald kindly furnished us with shredred paper with which to fill these boxes before adding wrapped candy.

Each year we sell hundreds of these hand-made Easter boxes on top of which "Bloom" green tissue has been attached with faces and dressed like either dolls or clown, are fastened. Furnishing us with this material helped us make this project a real success.

Thank you so much for your generous help.

Observations

Editor, Herald:

Just a few observations on last P.M.'s paper. If the Sanford C of C endorses the Barge Canal, it should be dropped. I don't know what the basis of inadequacy and fallacy.

Dr. Roberts comments on legalized abortions I agree with but not on a shallow, religious basis of his thinking. My opinion has many facets but none are religious. These include eugenic, political, medical and others. We are not prepared for this step.

The Oracle also mentioned adding to private schools. If such organizations which back private schools were to pay taxes on all their holdings excluding places of worship, and these were used for education, we could have the best school system in the country. If public schools were used then these schools should be made public and added to the school system.

Yellowish clouds on the red planet Mars—probably vapor and dust—often hang for days over large areas and can spread at speeds reaching 100 miles an hour.

Will the people attending classes in the vocational program be under pressure to compete as the people in the junior college are, or will they be able to work at their own speed as they do now? Will they be mixed in classes? One of the factors for drop-outs in our colleges is pressure. In the past if a student could not take the pressure but wanted the training, he would go to a vocational school. Is there any guarantee that these facilities will be still available to meet these needs?

With all the problems facing the county school system presently this program may be small, but to the citizens of Seminole County who have been helped through this program, it is great indeed.

What will happen to the culturally disadvantaged currently enrolled in the vocational program? Will they be able to continue their training? The "stigma" that attaches

Strikes And Spares

BY JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Of course we appreciate all of your many compliments about the improvements made during the past three or four weeks in regards to the bowling lanes. With that area which is the view of the bowlers—the back end and the new ball returns, to the modern and appealing new fronts—modifications and sweats.

Everything to help make your "one bowling, what it's suppose to be..." LEADS OFF FIN.

Frank Morton was out for the Jet Swingers League last week with his 367 effort... some of the other latters who were in there trying to topple him were Don Stutter, 225; Joyce Thurston, 217; and John Kelly, 200.

The Monday evening Classic B League had three or four of their crew showing "how it's done" with 200 or higher games... Ben Urban led the pack with his 228, Wayne O'Neal checked in with a 201, seven pins under John Doyle and his 307, while Pete Duggan shot a 204.

Last week's little reminder about Summer Leagues must have been registered... cause it looks like the response for this coming season is going to be real good.

Here's an example for you... the Wednesday evening City League already has two NEW TEAMS wanting to join in the fun.

And the Thursday evening Sanford Plaza Merchants League, what with hard-working Dot Lee going around with a sign-up sheet, letting us know that she'll have her ten teams bowling during the summer. And that's the same number they're going with right now during the Fall Schedule.

The Thursday evening Toyota Mixed League, both the early 7 p.m. and the later 9 p.m. equal times are coming through with lots of regulars' names, plus plenty of those who've not ever bowled in the league before.

In the event you've not ever bowled in league before and you feel that you're not good enough... discuss that thought from your mind. All leagues, with the exception of two are "run under the handicap system" which makes it just as equal for a beginner as it does for the more seasoned bowler.

There are all kinds of leagues... men's, women's, and mixed, as well as our two youngster leagues on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. and again at 1 p.m.

Whatever you're looking for in a league—daytime or during the evening, I'm certain that we can get you onto a team. And if you want to bowl with a friend or a neighbor on the same team, this can be arranged, too.

From the big to the little... Wayne O'Neal of the Monday evening Keglers League unloaded a 601 series with games of 267, 227 and 214.

Earlier in the week, little Kelly Dougherty bowled her first "100" game during competition in the Bantams League... and to her way of thinking, I'm sure, this has "a very equal importance" to that of O'Neal's.

Our congratulations to both of 'em.

PENNANT WINNERS... of the Jet Lanes Keglers League are three members of the J & W Markets foursome. Left to right, Bill Boling, Fred Gibbs, Wayne O'Neal and Lewis Norton. The league will reorganize for a summer schedule in two weeks.

Eustis Downs Greyhounds

By CHUCK GRELE
Herald Sports Staff

LONGWOOD—Yesterday afternoon in Eustis, the Lyman swim team met a very determined Eustis Panther squad that outscored the Greyhound boys 66-20, while in the girls' competition it was 67-21.

Although the Greyhound boys only managed 20 total points, 20 of them came from first place finishes. Out of the nine events, Lyman took five first places, but the overall depth of the Panthers was the final determining factor.

Lee Constantine started Lyman on its way with a first in the 200 yard free, but Eustis took second and third in the event. Then sophomore Clem Brosier took over for a big win in the 200 IM, but again Eustis placed second and third. Since Lyman lost the 200 yard medley relay at the beginning of the meet, they were never behind 18-10. In the last event before diving, the 50 yard free, Eustis swept the event 3-2 with Lyman's Jim Driessie placing a strong third. In this event, the Eustis tankler qualified for the state meet.

In the diving competition, Lyman placed Scott Culppeper in first position, but again the depth of Eustis paid off with a second and third. In the girls' competition, Eustis had no competitors, so Barbara Hitt and her sister Cathy competed among themselves, diving twice.

Following the break for diving, Brosier triumphed for his second win of the afternoon with a first in the 100 yard free. Then Eustis swept both the 100 free and the backstroke, before senior Lee Constantine won his second event of the afternoon, the 400 yard free. This was not enough though as Lyman swept the breast stroke and the 400 yard free relay to capture the meet 66-20.

In the girls' competition, Lyman standouts were Barb Hitt, with a first place finish in the 100 yard breast stroke, and Karen Black, with her outstanding effort in the 50 yard free, placing second.

The Greyhounds will end their season this Saturday at Land-O-Lakes Country Club when they play host to Ocala. The meet is set to commence at 10 a.m. in Casselberry.

Bombs Set Off In NL Slugfest

By DAVID HOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI)—Shelton's home run in the eighth inning of the Cincinnati Reds' victory over the Braves 13-8 Tuesday night, was the first of three home runs that set off a slugfest in the National League West with a 14 start, 30 homers in 17 games.

"They're a good looking club, there's no denying that," Harris said. "But, surely, they can't be that good."

Reds manager Sparky Anderson agrees with Harris.

"We caught the Braves on a bad night. It will happen to anybody," Anderson said, trying to soften the blow of Atlanta's fifth straight loss.

Tallahassee Open Set For Thursday

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Bobby pro golfer Brian Barnes looks like a football linebacker, wears rugby, and plays golf to make money. The towering Brian, here for the Tallahassee Open which starts Thursday, says he had an offer to play professional rugby in his native Scotland, but declined three broken collar bones, knee surgery, and a year in jail. Still seeking his first American tour victory, the blond Barnes played well enough in England to land a spot on the 1969 British Ryder Cup team. "Rugby is still my first love," the 215-pounder said, "but golf is a means to an end—making money." Barnes is hoping to capture his first PGA win in the $50,000 open to be played on the par-72, 7,629-yard Killarney Country Club course.

The 72-hole tournament is a satellite to the more prestigious Tournament of Champions this week at the La Costa, Calif. event, however, has attracted only 30 previous tour winners over the past year, so the bulk of golf's touring pros are in Tallahassee. One of a dozen foreign stars shooting for the $10,000 Tallahassee first place money, Barnes placed a respectable third at the Doral Open earlier this year in Miami. "I've won about $11,000 all ready," he said, "and that's better than a kick in the pants." The 31-year-old compared the rolling, tree-lined Killarney course to those in England. "It's similar in that you've got to make a lot of tricky second shots if you're going to score," he said.

Raiders In Twin-Bill

The injury-plagued Seminole Junior College Raiders face the most hits on the team with 25. Mike Ferrell is right behind with 24. Ferrell leads the team in at bats with more than 100 at bats. CASSELLERY — Larkabit Farm's Last Say had the last say in winning last night's featured eighth race at the Seminole Turf Club. The seven-year-old gelding covered the seven furlongs in one minute, 21 sec., the best time of the meeting for the distance. Last Say, under strong handling by jockey Steve Miller, drove past second-place finisher, Happy Relation, in the stretch and won by a length-and-a-half. Last Say has now extended his winning streak to three-in-a-row, and in doing so paid his backers $22.00, $8.00, and $5.00. The pre-race favorite was Evelyn's Pride owned by Hughlette R. Caple who was lost in the pack. George Sweeney's Rowdy Boots was strong late but faded at the end for third position. The big perfect on fifth and sixth races saw the 2.7 win the fifth and the 2.8 in the sixth and a $242.40 payoff. The daily double was a 4.8 paying $31. It was like "Kross-Ma" in the first race at Seminole Turf Club as owner Loren Kross and his brother jockey Lanny Kross came home with the winning Unranked pushing him hard in the last half mile to hold on over My Advice II. The first ladies night of the inaugural season at Seminole Turf Club has been set for Thursday night. Admission will be free to women 21 or over. Attendance for the first three nights of the season has indicated about 50 per cent of those coming out to see the thoroughbred racing on the dirt track side. And, they seem to yell the loudest for their favorites to win. "We want to invite the ladies to come out and see our beautiful new track. We're sure they will enjoy the excitement," Gary Smith, president and general manager said. Ladies night will continue each Thursday night through the month-long racing season ending August 1. Post time nightly is 7:15 p.m.

Women's Softball

In Women's softball action last night at Cooper's field, Motor Parts romped Gordon's Drugs 2-0. Motor Parts had 20 hits while the losers managed only 15. Joyce Clutter was the winning pitcher while Brenda Stevenson suffered the loss. For Motor Parts, Clutter and Ginger Vonlerhahn were both 3 for 5. Providing the power were Debbie Alcott, Shirley Craddock, Judy Clark, Clutter and Pat Lockey, all slugging doubles. The losers were paced at the bat by Debbie Green, Sherry Koke, Dale Galant and Lou Stuessy, all with two hits each. In the second games of the night, Wilson-Maier burned Lom's Restaurant of Sanford 17-2 in a four inning game called under the 15-run lead rule. During the seventh inning, Milwee was confident of a win when Russell and Allen Overin crossed the plate to give the Spartans six runs. In the bottom of the seventh, things started looking better for Trinity, when they got two men on base and only one out. But the dream didn't come true for them. After the exciting seventh inning, with all of its spectator enjoyment the final score tallied 6-0 for Milwee.

Milwee Wins Again, 6-0

The team of Jeff Walters and Orbin pitched for Milwee. Both teams fought well and were really fighting two enemies, each other and the sun. In the first and second innings of the game, both teams were held scoreless, but in the third, Milwee scored when Bruce Baker and Ron Russell crossed home plate. In the fourth and fifth frames, just like the first and second, were scoreless for both teams. When the sixth inning rolled around, Milwee scored once again. This time it was Glenn Hill and Kevin Plank doing the honors. During the seventh inning, Milwee was confident of a win when Russell and Allen Overin crossed the plate to give the Spartans six runs. In the bottom of the seventh, things started looking better for Trinity, when they got two men on base and only one out. But the dream didn't come true for them. After the exciting seventh inning, with all of its spectator enjoyment the final score tallied 6-0 for Milwee.

A cherished remembrance for members and pastor is the reorganization of the church, the use of several buildings and halls for church services and finally moving into their newly constructed edifice.

The New Salem Baptist Church will observe its sixth anniversary Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Angels of Mercy and the Sensational Spiritual Singers of Eastonville will be in the program.

Cheryl Kreeves Clark, a junior at Crooms High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sims, has maintained honors status at Crooms since enrolling at the seventh grade level some four years ago.

Very people know Cheryl because of her quietness and ladylike qualities. For most of her time is devoted to academic preparation and not extracurricular activities.

Cheryl says, "Home wasn't built in a day" but from all indications, she is building for herself a very firm foundation.

As an eighth grader, she was voted most studious, as a ninth grader, she won an award for best homemaker student and today, a straight "A" student.

Somewhat an introvert, she speaks most of her leisure hours sewing and writing short stories.

Being the oldest of seven children hasn't hindered her from performing chores at home, preparing her school assignments and maintaining a B and above average since seventh grade.

The wedding will be an event of July 25 at St. John Baptist Church, Boston.

Prepare Own Tamales

HOMEMADE TAMALES... After filling with a chicken mixture, they're wrapped in foil and steamed.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor. Dear Cecily: If it is not asking too much, will you give a recipe for hot tamales wrapped in corn husks? I used to live in Knoxville, Tennessee, and I haven't had a really hot tamale since I left there 27 years ago. God bless you for your help!—Transplanted Southerner.

Dear Transplanted Southerner: Here's your spicy tamale recipe. But these tamales are wrapped in foil rather than in corn husks. That's because it's hard to find the dried corn husks needed and foil is available everywhere. To our way of thinking, the foil-wrapped tamales retain every particle of flavor.—C.B.

HOT CHICKEN TAMALES
1 1/2 cups enriched yellow corn meal
4 teaspoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cups boiling water
Chicken Filling, see below
From a 12-inch long roll of regular-weight aluminum foil cut 18 six-inch squares.
In a medium saucepan stir to gether the cornmeal, flour, salt, chili powder and cold water.

Stir in boiling water. Over low heat, stirring constantly, cook until just thickened. Cover and stirring occasionally, continue cooking until very thick—about 10 minutes.
Place one heaping tablespoon of the cornmeal mush on each square of foil. With a table knife dipped in cold water, spread the mush to form four-inch squares. Spread a heaping tablespoon of Chicken Filling across center of each cornmeal square. Roll up, turn back one end of foil a couple of times to seal tightly; leave other end open. Place in a covered container and refrigerate overnight.
Stand tamales open end up in a heavy saucepan into which they just fit. Add enough water to come up about half-inch. Cover and gently steam (water should boil softly) for one hour, adding additional water as needed.

CHICKEN FILLING
2 cups knife chopped (fined) cooked chicken, not packed down
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
1 can (8 oz) tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt

For a Mexican-style supper, we've served the tamales with Spanish-style pink beans (they come canned) and chicken baked with broth, golden raisins and pimiento stuffed olives. For a salad, tossed greens. For dessert, caramel flan.

DEVILED CRAB ROLLS
1 package (8 oz) brown-and-serve crab rolls (6 rolls)
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
2 cans (each 7 1/2 oz) tondorf crabmeat
1 container (1/2 pt) commercial sour cream
2 cans (each 4 1/2 oz) deviled ham
Paprika

Bake the rolls according to package directions. Meanwhile in a small bowl, mix 1/2 cup of the mayonnaise with the celery. Drain crab and add; mix well to break up crab; set aside.

In another small bowl mix the remaining 1/2 cup mayonnaise with the sour cream; set aside. Slice the rolls in half lengthwise. Spread cut sides with deviled ham. Add a layer of the crabmeat mixture. Top with sour cream mixture. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until hot through—about 10 minutes. Serve at once. Makes six rolls.

Note: If the brown-and-serve crab rolls are not available, you may use regular bakery club rolls that are about 4 inches long and 2 inches wide.

GROOVY GIFTS
The bride will think a kitchen shower in her honor is groovy. She is sure to need such items as a roast meat thermometer, liner, knives, sharpening steel and meat cutting board. Seasonings and steak sauces are also welcome. Metal skewers for kabobs to broil, a handy hamburger press and fondue pot are fun gifts. Attractive loaf, round or square pans for meat loaves and casseroles will fill a future need.

Mexican Meatball Snacks

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Another snack to put away at the heart of the class is made of distinctive meatballs. Meatballs make good party snacks and also go well with your favorite pasta dish. Mexican meatballs are a switch from the usual Swedish meatballs. The Mexican flavor comes from chili powder and garlic and a sauce redolent of sweet-sour flavors, oregano and garlic. Make meatballs ahead if desired and simmer in sauce when ready to serve. For a party, add a cheese ball, dry roasted nuts, a bowl of black olives and a vegetable (chick peas) and lettuce available in supermarkets, frozen or canned.

MEXICAN MEATBALLS

1½ pounds ground beef
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 medium onion, finely chopped
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 (2-ounce) bottle chili sauce
1 cup tomato juice
1 cup water
¼ cup dark corn syrup
2 tablespoons chili powder
1 teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce

Mix beef, eggs, onion, bread crumbs, salt, 1 teaspoon chili powder, garlic salt and pepper. Shape into ¾-inch balls. Heat corn oil in a 12-inch electric frypan or a large skillet over medium heat. Add about one-half meat balls. Brown on all sides, shaking pan to keep balls round. Remove first batch from skillet. Repeat. Drain any fat from skillet. Mix chili sauce, tomato juice, water, corn syrup, lemon juice, 1 tablespoon chili powder, oregano, garlic salt and Tabasco in skillet. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally about 15 minutes or until flavors have blended and sauce reaches desired consistency. Add meat balls. Cover and simmer gently 15 minutes. If sauce becomes too thick, add additional tomato juice. Serve warm from serving dish or chafing dish with pickles. Makes about 80 (¾-inch) meatballs.

If skillet is smaller than 12 inches, make sauce in 3-quart saucepan. Add meatballs and simmer 10 minutes. Serve in skillet or serving dish replenishing, as needed.

The secret of a good beef fondue is a snappy sauce and tender beef.

Interest in fondue cookery, including cheese and dessert dips of hot chocolate for fruits, for example, continues to spread. A beef fondue especially appeals to men who may not be found of an all-cheese meal. Any fondue, however, makes for intimate, chatty dining.

BOUQUIGNONS WITH DEVIL SAUCE

1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
¾ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
¼ clove garlic crushed
¼ pounds beef tenderloin, cut ¼-inch thick
Fresh mushroom caps
Parsley
Pure vegetable oil
French rolls, sliced

Early in day: Make Devil Sauce by combining tomato sauce, vinegar, sugar, horseradish and garlic. Pour into serving dish; cover with clear plastic wrap and chill.

Just before serving: Cut beef in ¼-inch cubes; arrange on platter with border of mushroom caps and parsley. Heat oil on range to 400 degrees. Pour into fondue pot to depth of 2 inches. Place pot on table and keep hot over candle heat or alcohol burner. Arrange meat, fondue forks, Devil Sauce and roll slices on table. Each guest picks up a roast cube or mushroom cap on fondue fork and holds it in hot oil until done to his liking, then dips it in Devil Sauce. Eat the meat on a slice of French roll. Makes 4 to 6 main dish servings. 12 appetizer servings.

NOTE: If you don't have a fondue pot, heat oil in electric skillet to 400 degrees. Maintain temperature at 400 degrees as meat is being dipped and cooked.

Palatable and attractively presented food is important to those living in nursing homes. One chain of nursing homes in the New Jersey-New York area started an outdoor barbecue. All alumnus residents on regular or low sodium diets join in the cooking, eating hamburgers and hot dogs, for example.

Another innovation in one of the homes is a special kitchen... recreational therapy session. At least once a week a cook for the day... prepares a specialty for the residents. Since many residents are on special diets, seasoning is a problem. One chef came up with a special horseradish sauce and a spicy tomato onion sauce to serve with boiled beef. Try them at home.

HORSE-RADISH SAUCE

1 cup (½ pt.) heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
Blend ingredients and chill. Spoon over sliced hot boiled beef. Makes 8 servings.

SPICY TOMATO ONION SAUCE

¼ cup butter
1 large onion, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (1 1/2 lbs) tomatoes, chopped
1 1/4 cups tomato juice
2 teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
¼ teaspoon sugar
Salt and pepper
Melt butter and saute flour. Gradually stir in flour, tomato juice. Add bitters and sugar. Cook over low heat until sauce thickens. Simmer and stir 5 minutes. Season to taste. Spoon hot over sliced hot boiled beef. Makes enough for 8 servings.

DINNER FOR FOUR

Salmon Timbales
Nutritious

Salmon timbales, served on a bed of green peas and topped with Mornay sauce and ripe olives, add nutritional variety to the weekly menu.

Start with a vegetable soup and include a sliced-cucumber-and-onion salad with dill.

The timbales are baked in timbale molds, custard cups or any heat-proof cup to get the rounded shape.

RIPE-OLIVE SALMON TIMBALES
1/2 cup canned, pitted, California olives
1 (1 pound) can salmon
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon tarragon, crumbled
Milk (about 1 cup)
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1/2 cup soft fine, bread crumbs
3 eggs, beaten

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease five 6-ounce custard cups. Cut ripe olives into wedges. Drain salmon; save liquid. Remove skin and large bones from salmon. Flake fish. Melt butter and stir in flour, salt, pepper and tarragon. Add enough milk to liquid drained from canned salmon to make 1 1/2 cups. Gradually add this to butter-flour mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and sauce thickens. Stir in tomato paste. Mix together salmon, ripe olives and bread crumbs. Beat eggs until bubbly and stir into salmon mixture. Add the thickened, swarmed sauce and mix well. Spoon into prepared custard cups. Place cups in pan holding about 1 inch of hot water. Bake for about 30 minutes or until knife inserted in center of mixture comes out clean. Remove from water and let stand 3 minutes. Unmold and serve with a Mornay sauce. Makes 5 servings.

MORNAY SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Melt butter. Add flour. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and has thickened. Add salt, pepper and cheese. Continue to stir until cheese melts. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 bay leaves
1/4 teaspoon ground saffron

1 package (16 oz) frozen peas
1 package (16 oz) frozen asparagus spears
1 can (4 oz) pimientos, drained and cut into strips

In a 3 1/2-quart casserole heat oil. Brown chicken, a few pieces at a time. Remove chicken. Add onion and cook until thawed and tender. Add rice and cook, stirring, until lightly browned. Stir in chicken broth, tomatoes, olives and seasonings; mix well. Add chicken. Bring to a boil; cover and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until chicken and rice are tender—about 25 minutes. Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Rib Eye (Delmonico) Roast

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. It comes from the masty heart of standing rib. All bones and ribs cover has been removed. A very thin layer of inner fat covers the small portion of outer lean area.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting. To roast, place the rib eye fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Season with salt and pepper. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part, being sure it does not rest in fat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (350°F.) to the desired degree of doneness. The meat thermometer should register 140°F. for rare; 160°F. for medium; 170°F. for well done. Allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound for rare, 20 to 22 for medium and 22 to 24 for well done.

"I do love you enough to get married," said the young man to his girl friend, "but frankly I don't care for the financial burdens that go with it. Suppose we make an agreement that your father will continue to be responsible for all your expenses after the wedding."

And, after a hearing in court, the judge ruled that she was entitled to make such a demand. He said a husband's duty of support is an inherent part of the marriage relationship. Not even by a prenuptial agreement, said the judge, may a husband escape an obligation that is imposed by law.

True, the law does allow some "ifs" in the marriage contract. As in matters less basic than support, the bride and groom may indeed enter into a prenuptial agreement that will be binding. For example: A widower, planning to remarry, obtained an agreement from his fiancée that in case he died, certain property would go to the children of his first marriage.

After he died a few years later, the second wife tried to back out of her agreement. However, a court held it binding, seeing no reason to let her husband escape an obligation that is imposed by law.

But a prenuptial agreement will not stand up if it is not "understandingly" entered into. The woman is entitled to know, before putting her name on the dotted line, the essential facts of her prospective husband's financial condition. In one case, a man induced his fiancée to sign away certain inheritance rights in his estate. She did so after being told that he was worth about $100,000. In reality, however, he was worth more than $500,000.

Result: a court held afterward that she was not bound by the agreement. The judge said she could not have "understandingly" agreed to give up potential rights of which she was not even aware.

FARMER FEELS
Before the Civil War, the American farmer produced food and fiber to feed and clothe himself and three other persons; by the beginning of World War II that figure had jumped to the farmer and 11 persons; today it's the farmer and 42 other persons. The substantial decrease in rural labor releases the majority of our population to work in other jobs in this country's current, turbocharged technological economy.
