Mayor Demands Altamonte Quiz

By Donna Estes
Altamonte Springs Mayor W. Lawrence Swoford last night at a meeting of the town council adamantly insisted that the board request the governor to conduct a "complete and full investigation of all charges made against the town government prior to the November general elections."

Hopes Spurred
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Booming operations in the steel industry today spurred hopes of negotiations for the United Steelworkers union (USW) in contract talks with management.

Dora Damage Funds Given Federal Okay
The U.S. Office of Emergency Planning has approved funds expended by the city and county to repair damage caused by the September visit to the area of Hurricane Dora. The county will receive, subject to a future audit, up to $14,900—the amount requested—and Sanford will receive, subject to a similar audit, up to $1,019.

County Commission Chairman James P. Avery received the county's approval Wednesday. The city's approval was made Nov. 19.

The money was requested after President Johnson set up the disaster procedure following in the wake of the hurricane.

Both the city and county received approval for the amount requested. OEP auditors are expected here soon to check the figures and if the estimates are accurate, checks will be issued in those amounts.

The city sought the fund to reimburse the treasury for overtime paid regular city crews for clearing of debris from the city.

County Engineer William Bush said the county's request was for emergency work done on a number of projects.

These include cleaning out of Cane Creek and the Bear Lake area, installation of a larger drain pipe between Big Bear Lake and Cub Lake, replacement of a bridge on the Longwood Road, general repairs to washouts and other damage to roads in the south-east portion of the county.

Bush said this county came through the hurricane with relatively minor damage. He cited other counties which suffered damages in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Extra Judgeship Bid For County
The Seminole County Bar Association has petitioned Gov. Farris Bryant to set up an additional circuit court judgeship for Seminole County, a part of Division II of the North Judicial Circuit.

The association cites the rapid growth of the county and the additional burden placed on the court because of it.

Division II is comprised of Seminole and Brevard counties. The association recalls that a population survey shows unofficially that the division has a population now of 243,000 with 176,000 in Brevard and 67,000 in Seminole.

It also says the division has three judges, two of whom are residents of Brevard County, the third a resident of Seminole. The petition notes that the population total now qualifies the division for two additional judges.

Banker Heads New Sanford Trade Board

DeWitt Mathews, the auditor of Sanford Atlantic National Bank, today was named by Seminole County Chamber of Commerce President Karyl Housholder to head the trade body's newly authorized Greater Sanford Board of Commerce.

Mathews, who came to Sanford in January of 1963 from the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, said he would immediately recommend a board of 10 directors for appointment by the Chamber.

"We expect to have this board organized by the latter part of next week," said Mathews, "and we'll go right to work."

Mathews pointed out that he and his new group will seek to formulate a program to meet the needs of the Sanford Merchants Association as well as the newly organized Sanford Progressive Business Association, a group of South Sanford business and professional people.

"This new board," Mathews pointed out, "will design a program to meet the needs of both merchants and professional people." He added, "The Sanford Merchants group will operate as a wing of the chamber's new division and program will be established to permit other groups to operate in a similar manner."

Mathews, a native of Jacksonville, was with the Atlantic Bank there for four years before coming to Sanford. He and his wife, Helge, and their son, Ted, 8, and daughter, Toni, 6, reside at 1800 Sanford Avenue.

Hunt Continues
GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The Alachua County sheriff's department continued a search Thursday for two men who disappeared while fishing Monday.

Nine highly placed persons at city, state and federal levels were under indictment today on charges of malfeasance in office.

The misconduct in all the cases involved money and charges ranged from embezzlement to bribery. However, there was no known link between the cases. The indictments were issued separately.

At the national level, a federal grand jury in Alexandria, Va., indicted a former aide to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and two other Pentagon officials for misappropriation of defense funds.

In Illinois a former state revenue director was charged with official misconduct in involving the acceptance of fees from envelope companies doing a $2 million business with the state.

Local Pastor Accepts Call To Germany Post

During the past two years Rev. and Mrs. William J. Guess have had a ministry with many U. S. servicemen for he has been pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church near Sanford Naval Air Station.

They expect to continue working with servicemen but soon they will be doing it in a different setting. They were employed today by the Berlin Baptist Foreign Mission Board for a five-year term as missionary associates in Germany. There they will work primarily with English-speaking Baptist churches of which American military personnel and their families form the core.

Mr. Guess knows the life of a serviceman not only from his pastoral experience but from personal experience as well. During World War II he served in Europe with the U. S. Army. Air Corps. "God kept his hand on me," he remarks, recounting those days. "I was made wiser of this when my life was miraculously saved when the B-17 on which I served crashed at sea."

Mr. Guess is a native of Osprey, where his father was a part-time Baptist pastor.

Mrs. Guess, the former Barbara Cross was born in Sanford but spent most of her childhood in Bradenton and Leeway.

She is a graduate of Stetson University, Deland. She holds a bachelor's degree and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. She holds a degree of divinity from the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky.

During student days Mrs. Guess had pastorates with Burns Baptist Chapel, Tampa, Bee Ridge Baptist Church, Sarasota, and First Baptist Church, Port Royal, by Deen. He served as pastor of West Side Baptist Church, Hollywood for more than eight years before coming to the Sanford church in January, 1964.

He was field representative for Stetson University for a year between his college and seminary study.

'Wires' Self
NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (UPI) — The coroner said that hater Arthur Swift, a 64-year-old tradesman rigged wires to a living room settee and committed suicide in a homemade electric chair.

In Henry County, Kentucky, for one year and directed much of West Side Church for two years. She and her husband have four daughters, Mary Jeanette, Shirly Joy, Kay, Judith, who will be seven this month, and Sherrine Jo, who will be two next month.

Wildcat Strike Hits Moonport
CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Wildcat picket lines today tunneled away hundreds of space construction workers and brought major work to a standstill on the huge $750 million Merritt Island moonport.

Pickets were also set up at the main entrance to the nearby Patrick Air Force Base, headquarters of the Atlantic Missile Testing Range, and construction work on a $1 million laboratory at the base was stopped.

The pickets, members of Carpenters Union Local 1085, gathered at all major entrances to the sprawling project Apollo spacecraft on Merritt Island.

Carpenters Eye Apprentice Unit
Jack Shephard, Florida representative of Carpenters International and Warren County, of the State Council of Carpenters, Wednesday night addressed members and guests of Carpenters Local 2376 relative to the establishment of a school for apprentice carpenters in this area.

Also participating in a discussion was County zoning director Robert S. Brown, county building inspector Charlie Brantley, E. S. Douglas, of the Seminole County school system, and Leslie Leonard, of Winter Park, a representative of the State Industrial Commission.

During the meeting at the Capri, J. O. Olson of Deland, Jefferson Davis, of Sanford, and Tom Puckett, of Deltona, were named to represent contractors on a committee to complete plans for establishing the school. George Elliott, Frank Graham and Raleigh Sullivan, all of Sanford, were also named to the committee to represent labor.

The committee will meet Jan. 20 with Daughlass and Leonard to outline final plans for the school.

Krider Attends Waterway Rites
John Krider, executive manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the St. Johns Indian River Canal District, was in north Florida today to attend groundbreaking ceremonies for the first construction since the canal was originally planned in 1935.

9 VIPs Face Charges

United Press International
Nine highly placed persons at city, state and federal levels were under indictment today on charges of malfeasance in office.

The misconduct in all the cases involved money and charges ranged from embezzlement to bribery. However, there was no known link between the cases. The indictments were issued separately.

At the national level, a federal grand jury in Alexandria, Va., indicted a former aide to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and two other Pentagon officials for misappropriation of defense funds.

In Illinois a former state revenue director was charged with official misconduct in involving the acceptance of fees from envelope companies doing a $2 million business with the state.

In Omaha, Mayor James Dworak and four others were accused of taking thousands of dollars in bribes from building contractors to smooth the way for the erection of a luxury apartment project.

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said in Washington that the misuse of the defense funds, estimated at about $66,000, had been discovered by the Pentagon last fall during a routine audit. The money, $10,000 of which had been earmarked for "certain confidential projects" in South Vietnam, was embezzled between 1960 and 1963. About $12,000 of the money has been recovered.

The men charged in the indictment are scheduled to be arraigned next Tuesday. They are: —James Robert Loftis, 52, a $20,000-a-year administrative aide to McNamara, who retired March 27.

—John A. Wylie, 57, a $17,500-a-year head of the budget and finance branch in the Pentagon under Loftis who retired last January.

—William H. Godel, 43, a $20,000-a-year deputy director for management of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency. He was removed from office last Aug. 24.

The "envelope case" scandal in Illinois involved a former Illinois revenue director and campaign manager for Gov. Otto Kerner, Theodore J. Isaac, Isacra, a close aide to Kerner, was charged with misconduct and conspiracy while in office.

The former state official, who managed Kerner's campaign for re-election this fall until the charges came to light, is accused of obtaining fees from two envelope companies doing business with the state.

A county grand jury also indicted John J. Lang, former superintendent of the printing section of the Illinois Department of Finance, on related charges.

In Omaha, the grand jury indictment of Mayor Dworak and four others on bribery charges in connection with a million-dollar apartment project, brought counterclaims from accuser and accused.

The charges against Dworak were brought by John H. Coleman, a Chicago builder, who said Dworak agreed to pocket a $25,000 "campaign contribution" in exchange for a promise not to veto a rezoning action for a $1 million apartment project.

City, County Differences 'Ironed Out'
By Harry L. Johnson
A subtle hint by a State Road Department official Wednesday afternoon softened hidden bristles on the backs of city and county officials and Highway 46 construction will continue.

The two governmental bodies met at the county engineer's office to iron out differences on how to cope with a drainage problem in the 25th Street section.

The SRD official, drainage engineer Al Davis, brought the cool comments to a quick close when he said that the project would continue without delay "if we aren't stopped."

He referred to the change in drainage of the area from an open ditch to pipe. "If we have to redesign (the road plans) there will be a delay."

City and county commission members caught on quickly and a running discussion of an alleged "agreement" made by a previous county official that the county would help in placing the drainage pipe was dropped—at least in public.

Mayor A. L. Wilson presided at the session and read a lengthy resume of what had transpired since the widening of Sanford Avenue was first discussed in August, 1956.

At that time the city assisted the county with its drainage problem with the understanding that the county would reciprocate when the 25th Street widening project started.

County commissioners said no such agreement could be found in the record. City commissioners insisted it was a moral obligation to keep the agreement.

Yesterday all agreed—with SRD officials listening — that the project should continue no matter what form of drainage is used.

WOULD SCUTTLE
State engineers had left the open ditch in the road building plans because "there is a ditch so we left it there." To change plans of construction now would probably scuttle the entire operation, an official hinted loudly.

James P. Avery Jr., county commission chairman, said he believed four lanes of Highway 46 (25th Street) will not appreciably increase the drainage situation for the city. He added, however, that with completion of the project, business will spring up along the right of way and then the problem "will be compounded."

He expressed sympathy to the city for its problem but insisted it was that governing body's concern "I wish you didn't have it but you do," he said.

"We will get new business on the highway come hell or high water," Avery declared.

Such businesses, whether it be supermarkets, service stations or others will increase the runoff of water considerably, and the city must be preparing to cope with it. Paving around such places will prevent the ground from absorbing it and then the drainage situation north to Lake Monroe will be compounded.

City officials had contended that the previously promised pipe would limit the flow of water into the city drainage system and that that form of drainage would be most advantageous.

They said leaving the ditch to handle the drainage would allow too much water to enter the piped portion of drainage and would "rupture" the existing pipes.

Boiled down, the decision yesterday is this: The drainage ditch will remain and the road work will continue. The city will keep tabs on the flooding situation. They delayed any active work on possible changes in the drainage system pending future happenings.

For the benefit of the SRD, some commissioners stated yesterday that no feud existed between the two factions; that the only place the "collision course" existed was in newspaper accounts of what transpired at open meetings of the two bodies.

Members of the Seminole County Juvenile Council purchased, wrapped and sent gifts to 18 boys and two girls at Florida industrial schools this week. The Council is planning a membership drive the first of next year. Requests for membership may be sent to P. O. Box 1742.

Friday is the deadline for depositing holiday greeting cards at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for the famed "Christmas, Fla." postmark. Cards deposited at the Chamber's office will be sent to Christmas postmarked and be sent on to their destinations. But remember Friday's the last day.

Things we never knew till now: A "ragmat" is a tough old goose.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors Tuesday night voted unanimously to adopt a resolution expressing its appreciation for the many years of service to the organization by the late Frank Evans of Lake Mary. The resolution will be presented to the Evans family.

The Clock is encouraged by the fact that the Seminole Chamber is going to make another try to unify Seminole County with a single, toll free metropolitan telephone system. We're convinced that business in both areas will be enhanced and if that happens the 30 to 50 cents a month toll cost subscribers will be more than offset by increased incomes of employees and other wage earners. Frankly, it'll pay dividends.

gate. As he walked toward the car, a woman sat up and said, "Wake up, here comes the law." Williams said the man began driving off and he shot two tires on the car. The driver then jerked out a sawed-off, 12-gauge shotgun, said Williams, "and stuck it in my face."

Williams said he doesn't know whether the young robbery suspect "was only bluffing" or whether he pulled the trigger of the shotgun and it misfired. The suspect pulled out a small derringer pistol as the officer was attempting to handcuff him and was again disarmed. Another shotgun was taken from the woman.

The two were identified as Beverly June Jeavons, 33, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Conrad L. Garrison, 25, of Pinellas Park, Fla. Officers said they found a large quantity of merchandise in the car which Garrison admitted was stolen.

Children Attending Longwood Party In For 'Big Surprise'

By Donna Estes
Claude Layo, general chairman of Longwood's Annual Community Children's Christmas Party, reports that a big surprise is in store for the 1,000 youngsters or more, 12 years and younger, expected to attend the event Saturday afternoon.

All that Chief Layo, who has been working for two weeks on the big surprise, will reveal about it is that it is something the children will enjoy and that never has been included for a previous party.

The party, sponsored by the Volunteer Fire Department, has been held annually for more than 25 years, and gets bigger and better each year. Festivities are to begin at 2 p. m. at City Park with the young people getting all the cotton candy and hot dogs they can eat in addition to punch, cup cakes and candies.

High point of the afternoon will be the arrival of Santa Claus by fire truck from Slide's Airport. He will be escorted by firemen to his place of honor in the pavilion and will give personal interviews to each of the young guests. A special party for the city's Negro children will be held at 4 p. m.

Parents will be served hot coffee.

All Taxes Levied In '63 Session Are Questioned

SARASOTA (UPI) — Former state legislator Russell Jordan Jr. — who claims he is still legally in the Legislature—said that all taxes levied by the 1963 Legislature may be invalid.

"If the 1965 Legislature is illegally constituted as ruled by the U.S. Supreme Court," Jordan told the Florida Mobile Homes Association, "then the 1963 Legislature which was constituted in a similar manner might well be also illegal."

Jordan suggested that organizations such as the association, motor clubs and others file test suits in state courts to see if the taxes are valid.

"It would seem that motor vehicle dealers, sporting goods dealers, motor clubs and mobile associations might well think of the people they serve and perhaps individually file a test case to find out, for instance, if all the mobile home owners could get back $5 each from the tax collector."

Jordan—who recently won the first round of a court battle to get back into the Legislature—said the 1963 Legislature's increase in motor tax costs, the five per cent sales tax on sporting goods "and in fact 574 pieces of general legislation and all the local legislation passed... would be in question."

Burns Hopes To Call Special Session For Reapportionment

LBJ To Speak 'State Of Union' At Night Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, taking a leaf from the book of his political mentor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, will deliver his 1965 State of the Union message to an unusual night session of Congress Jan. 4.

Johnson even got the same time—9 p.m.—for his speech as FDR did on Jan. 3, 1936. The 9 p.m. time also would place the message in the middle of "prime time" for television viewers across the nation, a factor which perhaps contributed to his decision.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy, in announcing the time, said Johnson chose an evening hour for the speech because he "considers this not only a report to the Congress but a report to the American people."

FDR, who only had radio at his disposal, made only one nighttime State of the Union speech.

Presidents addressing a joint session of Congress customarily do so at midday, though Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare war on Germany on the evening of April 6, 1917.

Jan. 4 is the day the new 80th Congress convenes. Reedy said Johnson probably would give a broad statement of what he considers the state of the nation to be and a broad outline of his legislative proposals.

There will be supplemental messages to fill in details, he said.

The President made the decision to address a night session after consultation with Democratic leaders of the House and Senate, Reedy said. The idea originated with Johnson, he added.

Reedy said that ideas are being collected now for the message, first in a series of four major addresses Johnson will make next month.

DIVORCED — Actress Anne Francis was granted a divorce from her dentist husband in Los Angeles. The court cut the monthly child-support payment to $150 when her husband, Dr. Robert Abello, testified that she earned $100,000 last year, three times more than he.

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Gov.-elect Haydon Burns hopes the 1965 Legislature get through its regular session before he puts the reapportionment issue before it in a special session.

Burns, announcing his plans for dealing with one of the major problems facing his administration, said he plans to call a special session on reapportionment, but not until after the regular session which begins in April.

Earlier, Burns announced he would name Jacksonville insurance executive Charles W. Campbell, 68, to succeed Wendell Jarrard in the "Little Cabinet" post of chairman of the Florida Development Commission.

Campbell has headed Prudential Insurance Company's South Central home office in Jacksonville since 1953. He is Burns' first appointment.

On reapportionment, Burns said he is hopeful the 1965 session can get through its regular 60-day meeting without getting bogged down in the tough issue.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that all state legislatures must be apportioned on a basis of population in both houses, and has said the 43-senator, 112-representative formula under which both Florida's 1961 and 1965 sessions were made up does not meet this requirement.

Burns said, however, he does not want to be at issue with incoming Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth, of Miami, and that he has not had an expert opinion on the matter, but feels the 1965 session could be legally held.

Faircloth said he felt the legality of the session could be challenged.

Burns said that calling a special reapportionment session in advance of the April session "would create problems of attitude which would make it most difficult to conduct the business of the 1965 session."

Burns explained that the state's financial position could be put into jeopardy if the Legislature got so bogged down in reapportionment during its regular session that it delayed action on appropriations and tax measures to finance the billion-dollar state government operation for the coming two years.

"It is my intention to call a special session on reapportionment immediately on adjournment of the regular session," Burns said, which would probably put such a session in June.

"This would show good faith on the part of the executive branch and the Legislature to bring about fair reapportionment as ordered by the courts," Burns said.

He said he felt the courts would allow the Legislature a "reasonable time" to comply with the U. S. Supreme Court mandate, and that "if we fall within that time it is recognized by all of us that the courts will do the reapportionment themselves."

"For myself, I prefer that the elected representatives perform this vital service for the citizens."

Asked about his feeling on annual sessions of the Legislature to replace the present biennial sessions, Burns said he is "not adamant" one way or the other on this, but he and getting it through the Legislature, but before you even got it into administration, you would have to start planning the one for the next year," Burns said.

Six SEC Quintets Scheduled As Holiday Tourney Time Opens

SS Hurricanes Blast Kowboys Off The Court

By Jim Bacchus
Herald Sports Writer

KISSIMMEE — South Seminole Junior High's Hurricanes all but blew Osceola High's junior varsity right off the court Wednesday night when they posted a 75 to 33 victory over the Baby Kowboys for their fifth straight win of the current hoop season.

Guard Jim Lucas paced the Hurricanes with 16 points and two others, center Bruce Stuard and forward Mike Hargin also hit in the double figures despite the fact that Head Coach Dave Miller played his starting five only during the first half of the affair.

The 'Canes started hitting the basket in the first period and ran up 20 points while the Baby Kowboys were getting only eight. South Seminole continued the onslaught on the second stanza with another 18 points while the Kissimmee five could muster only six and the Hurricanes left for intermission with a 38 to 14 lead.

At the start of the second half, Miller-yanked his regulars and used Ron Tulbert, Len Hollis, Bobby Means, Steve Shepherd, Ric West and Dennis Garrett the rest of the way. Garrett led the second half scoring parade with eight points. West got six and Tulbert five.

Miller's second string did even better against the Little Kowboys in the third period when they racked up 22 points to 10 for the Kissimmee Quintet and outscored them again, 15 to 9 in the final frame.

South Seminole swed the Kissimmee five with some of the best ball handling and passing Miller's crew has displayed all season. Miller was exceptionally pleased with the performance of the entire squad. His players hardly missed a shot from the floor.

The Kissimmee five was paced by Wally Melitichka, a center, who dumped in 13 points.

Ken Martin had a fine night of bowling in the Navy League at Jet Lanes when he shot a 227/598 to provide the spark for the Malt "A" team in a four-game romp over the New Breed and a slightly better grip on first place.

Ken had, able assistance in Bob Workman with a 210/590 and Tex Farris with a 183/512. Dan Casey and John Stanger were the stalwarts for New Breed with a 191/524 and a 193/561, respectively.

VAH-13 Line could be aptly called the "500 boys" since every man posted a series better than that while bombing Photo Lab in all four. Leading the pack was Wayne Smith with a 197/557 followed by Ashby with a 188/545, Slick Britton with a 190/540, Chuck Bastinger with a 202/507 and Carson Hudson with a 189/500. Scott took high honors for Photo Lab with a 184/526.

The Oddballs kept close to the leaders with a three-game decision over NAS MED/Dent as both sides had their share of good bowling. Partin took high game honors with his 230 game and 556 series. George Brier supplied a 183-194/554 series, Wayne Redman chimed in with 214/537 and Willie "Firecracker" Magitto hit 212/506 all for the Oddballs. For Med/Dent it was Charlie Legat with 182/527, Davidson with 211/513 and Lonnie Applegate with 190/512.

Other matches saw VAH-1's Officers taking three points from VAH-1's Tigers in spite of a fine 184/524 by Cui. IOIC "B" won three from Det-8 with high games notched by Mericle with 207 and Bob Tintin with 222. VAH-3 Ops gained a three to one verdict over NAS Ops "C" and the Acey-Deucey team and Wing "B" split their match as John Harris helped the Wing "B" team with a 200/518.

Head Coach Ben Schwartzwalder knows that LSU will be primed to stop Little and Nance, and this creates a problem.

"If we can't move on the ground, we'll just have to go in the air," said Schwartzwalder, in his 16th season at the Orange helm.

Syracuse has not been a passing team in years, and Mahle, a senior from Waterford, Pa., who has been effective as a runner in his three years as starting quarterback is about as accurate in the air as a bent arrow, although he does have his good days. Mahle led the team in rushing last year and this season ranked third behind Nance and Little.

If Syracuse's ground game stalls, and Schwartzwalder admits this is a possibility against LSU, "We'll probably have to throw more on them."

This is where second-ranking quarterback Rich King of Ransomville, N. Y., comes in, just as he has done effectively, on most occasions all year.

King is the passer, but his services generally have not been required because of the success of the Orange ground game.

Schwartzwalder may solve the problem by moving Mahle to one of the halfback slots to take advantage of his running ability while at the same time playing King for most of the game at quarterback.

The bulk of the work, however, will still be up to Little and Nance.

Parilli Named Head Of AFL All-Stars

By George C. Langford
NEW YORK (UPI) — Vito (Babe) Parilli of the Boston Patriots earned his first All-Star berth in 11 years as a pro quarterback today when he was named to head the 1964 American Football League All-Star squad by United International.

Parilli was one of seven first-time All-Stars — six of them on the defensive platoon — selected to the 1964 team. The team was determined by a vote of 24 writers (three from each AFL city) who covered the season regularly.

Offensive line stars Jim Otto of the Oakland Raiders and Ron Mix of the San Diego Chargers were selected on the No. 1 unit for the fifth consecutive year, and outside linebacker Larry Grantham was chosen for the fourth successive season.

The Buffalo Bills and San Diego each placed five men on the All-Star squad, which had at least one representative from every team. Boston had four players on the first team and New York, Oakland and Kansas City each had two.

Parilli, the one-time Kentucky All-American, led the AFL in passing yards going into the final showdown game with Buffalo Sunday for the Eastern Division title. Parilli has passed for 3,147 yards and tossed for more touchdowns (29) than any other quarterback in the league.

Completing the backfield with Parilli were running backs Keith Lincoln of San Diego and Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, the AFL's leading rusher. Lance Alworth of the Houston Oilers were selected as flanker and split end, respectively and Kansas City's Fred Arbanas was tabbed as the tight end.

Lincoln, Alworth and Arbanas are repeaters from last year. It marked the third time in four seasons Hennigan has been chosen and the second time in three years for Gilchrist, a second-teamer in 1963.

The entire offensive line, consisting of Mix and Buffalo's Steve Barber at tackle; Billy Shaw of the Bills and the Pat's Billy Neighbors at guard and Otto at center, remained intact from last year.

However, the defensive alignment underwent a thorough shakeup, particularly in the secondary where Oakland's Fred Williamson was the only holdover from last season.

Dalnard Paulson of New York, Ron Hall of Boston and Willie Brown of Denver—the AFL's three leading pass interceptors—made the All-Star defensive backfield for the first time as did Boston's Nick Buoniconti at middle linebacker, Mike Stratton of the Bills at outside linebacker and Kansas City's Bobby Bell at end.

Tom Sestak, the Bills' 270-pound defensive tackle, was the most popular selection with 22 of a possible 24 votes. He teamed with two San Diego heavyweights — end Earl Faison and tackle Ernie Ladd — to complete the defensive line. Faison has been an All-Star three of the last four years, Sestak for two straight seasons and Ladd was a member of the 1961 squad.

Trailing Sestak in the popular vote were Gilchrist, Shaw and Mix with 20 votes apiece. Parilli received 15 votes, eight more than runnerup Len Dawson.

KNOCKOUT GUY—Rookie quarterback Johnny Cannon could deliver a knockout blow to the St. Louis Cardinals. His Philadelphia Eagles stand in the way of St. Louis and the Eastern division title of the National Football League.

Top Backfield Will Highlight Sugar Bowl Tilt

By Dave Haskell
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Sugar Bowl viewers on New Year's Day will see one of college football's wildest running backfields when Syracuse tackles Louisiana State University in New Orleans.

Halfback Floyd Little, fullback Jim Nance, and quarterback Walley Mahle head the lineup that carried Syracuse to the top nationally this season in ground gaining, and it is this type of grinding attack that Syracuse is expected to use as compared to LSU's more rounded offense.

Little and Nance, perhaps the best running combo in college football since Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard played for Army 20 years ago, garnered 1,779 of Syracuse's 2,510 yards passing this year, the most productive two-man total in Orange history.

Head Coach Ben Schwartzwalder knows that LSU will be primed to stop Little and Nance, and this creates a problem.

"If we can't move on the ground, we'll just have to go in the air," said Schwartzwalder, in his 16th season at the Orange helm.

Ken Martin Shoots A 598

Ken Martin had a fine night of bowling in the Navy League at Jet Lanes when he shot a 227/598 to provide the spark for the Malt "A" team in a four-game romp over the New Breed and a slightly better grip on first place.

Ken had, able assistance in Bob Workman with a 210/590 and Tex Farris with a 183/512. Dan Casey and John Stanger were the stalwarts for New Breed with a 191/524 and a 193/561, respectively.

VAH-13 Line could be aptly called the "500 boys" since every man posted a series better than that while bombing Photo Lab in all four. Leading the pack was Wayne Smith with a 197/557 followed by Ashby with a 188/545, Slick Britton with a 190/540, Chuck Bastinger with a 202/507 and Carson Hudson with a 189/500. Scott took high honors for Photo Lab with a 184/526.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The call came into the switchboard of the new National Football League headquarters on the 27th floor of the General Dynamics Building, and there was a note of urgency in the drawl.

"Hey," pleaded the young All-American football player, "I can't find my hand-holder. Know where he is?"

For a whole week the A-A was spoon-fed by a grown-up baby sitter provided by the NFL because this is what the competition for college talent has come to. He boarded and fed the A-A and shooed away undesirable, like anyone from the American Football League.

Under the circumstances, some kids developed claustrophobia. Steve DeLong, the coveted middle guard of Tennessee, was holed up so long in Chicago he finally called his coaches and begged, "Get me out of here." He got out—and signed with the San Diego Chargers.

But there was an auxiliary benefit, too. The "baby sitter" or "hand-holder" picked up all the checks, and when someone else is paying an A-A suddenly develops very refined tastes. Momentarily bereft of his shadow, who skipped off for a few hours, the A-A panicked. Would he actually have to pick up a tab? Not if the league office could help him.

The pursuit of talent has gone to such ludicrous lengths that men of substantial means—in professional football—demean themselves to chase after 21-year-old kids.

"It's a disgrace," admitted one of them. "Kidnaping kids, hiding them out, giving them ridiculous bonuses—I wouldn't run my own business this way."

"And the kids," said Jim Finks, the new general manager of the Minnesota Vikings, "are utterly unrealistic. We approached a center from a big school who wasn't drafted by either league. His daughter was down. We needed another center (to back up incumbent Mick Tingelhoff), at least for training camp next year.

"You know what he wanted? A $5,000 bonus for signing and $15,000 contract. I told him good luck."

The really coveted ones are out of this world. A Kansas City spokesman said, "We offered Gale Sayers (Kansas) All-American halfback) a $50,000 bonus and $35,000 for three years and didn't get a chance to make a final offer."

Sayers signed with the Bears.

When the lawyer for California quarterback Craig Morton started talking to Al Davis, Oakland's coach and general manager, the first negotiating figure was $300,000. Davis said he never got around to making Morton a firm bid, though the Raider agent hinted at $150,000 for three years. Morton went to Dallas instead.

San Diego thought it had Clarence Williams, the Washington State All-American, wrapped up, but he told them he wanted to go to Vancouver first to get out of a prior commitment. Vancouver played in Toronto for the Grey Cup, took Clarence along and next thing the Chargers knew, Hamp Pool of the Rams had spirited him off to Chicago—where the NFL had its major encampment—and signed him to a Los Angeles contract.

"Five years ago," Jack Faulkner shook his head, "we couldn't get Larry Wilson for the Chargers because he wanted a bonus of $1,500 and we wouldn't give it to him." Wilson became an all-pro defensive back for the St. Louis Cardinals and would be worth a $20,000 bonus in today's open market.

Faulkner, who was dismissed as Denver's coach this season, became an agent for the Rams and a "baby sitter" for the NFL. He was assigned to Notre Dame end Jack Snow, the first draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings. The trick, Jack discovered, was that everywhere Snow went, his fiancée was sure to go. So when Snow came into New York for an All-American dinner, his fiancée checked in, too. And right after her came Faulkner.

While Snow was attending a special television show and dinner, Faulkner extended his chores. He "baby-sat" the fiancée, too.

He must have done his job well. Snow's rights were switched to Los Angeles, and he signed with the Rams.

Atlanta (UPI) — It's holiday tournament time and Southeastern Conference basketball teams are getting into the act in a big way.

Six SEC teams are involved in five different tournaments this week.

The Auburn Tigers are in the Bluebonnet at Houston; Alabama and Mississippi State are in the Virginia Tech tournament at Blacksburg, Va.; Louisiana State is in the Evansville Tournament; and Kentucky and Vanderbilt are hosts for their own affairs.

The big tournament for the Southeast annually is the Kentucky Invitational and this year should be no exception. The 9th-ranked, once-beaten Wildcats open Friday night against West Virginia then meet either 15th-ranked Illinois or Dayton Saturday night.

Sixth-ranked Vanderbilt, reeling from successive road losses to Virginia Tech and North Carolina, is expected to recoup at home. The Commodores meet Baylor Friday and either Oklahoma State or Florida State Saturday night.

The hazards of the road bode ill for the other SEC tournament entries. Alabama, 3-1, opens against host Virginia Tech and figures to meet sophomore-dominated Mississippi State, also 3-1, in the consolation round. The Bulldogs' first-round opponent is North Carolina, probable tournament champion.

Louisiana State opens against Denver, then meets either Evansville — the nation's top-ranked small college team — or George Washington. Auburn was unbeaten going into Wednesday night's Bluebonnet game.

Mississippi will be host to Sewanee tonight and that should draw a crowd since the Tennessee team upset the Rebels 74-62 last week.

Saturday night, in addition to the tournaments, Florida will be at Miami, Georgia Tech at Georgia, Buffalo at Tennessee and Tulane at Southern Methodist.

The rash of games should help loosen up the individual scoring race. At present, there is only a two-point margin between the top scorer in the SEC and the fifth.

Kentucky sophomore Louis Dampier is the pace-setter with a 21.5 average. Senior Jimmy Pitts of Georgia is second at 20.0; senior A. W. Davis of Tennessee third at 19.7; junior Lee DeFore of Auburn fourth at 19.3 going into tonight's game; and junior Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt fifth at 19.2.

A bonus of $1,500 and we wouldn't give it to him." Wilson became an all-pro defensive back for the St. Louis Cardinals and would be worth a $20,000 bonus in today's open market.

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

Final Florida football statistics seem to indicate that many fans are right when they claim that Steve Spurrier might well be the best sophomore quarterback in modern Gator history — particularly since the inception of the "T" formations of offensive football.

Steve compiled the third highest total offense record for a single season in Florida's grid history this past fall and missed being top man by only a mere 19 yards.

And, remember, he did this while sharing QB duties with senior Tom Shannon who also saw plenty of action for Ray Graves' Gators this season.

His final offensive yardage figure was 1089 yards. Only two passers in previous Florida grid history exceed Steve's 943 yards. Shannon did it last season and Haywood Sullivan did it back in 1950. Spurrier's completion percentage of .374, however, is a brand new Gator record.

It might be a bit too early to tell what kind of a basketball club Head Coach Dick Copeland has out at Lyman this year—despite the fact that Lyman hasn't grabbed their first victory as yet. But they do have potential. They've lost to Bishop Moore, Ovelido and Seminoles of Sanford.

However, there's one red hot quiet in the southern end of the county and that's Dave Miller's South Seminole squad.

In five outings this season the Hurricanes have posted five victories and have already bagged the county's junior high title.

Next year the Hurricanes, at least the bulk of them, will be moving to Lyman and with this season's Lyman JV eleven the situation looks bright for the future.

The Houston Astros, formerly the Colt 45's, will play 30 pre-season spring exhibition games prior to the opening of the National League season in April.

The Astros—and how do you like that new name?—will play 25 here in Florida and five in their new domed stadium in Houston. They'll open on Mar. 12 in Cocoa against the Twins. During the exhibition tour they'll meet the Yanks, the Athletics, Orioles, Braves, Tigers, Senators, Mets, Phillies, Dodgers, Pirates, Cards, Reds, White Sox and Oklahoma City in addition to the Twins.

They have four games with the Yankees. They'll play their first game in the new domed stadium in Houston on April 9 against the New York Americans and that contest—although only an exhibition—should be a crowd getter.

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Rangers' defenseman Arnie Brown will return to the lineup Wednesday night against the Detroit Red Wings. Brown has been sidelined since Nov. 17 because of a fractured rib.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears have signed UCLA guard Kent Francisco. Francisco, who was drafted 14th as a "future" a year ago, is 6-foot-2 inches tall and weighs 245 pounds.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves have announced that three of their staff members will be moved to Atlanta, Ga., effective Jan. 1, 1965.

Saturday night, in addition to the tournaments, Florida will be at Miami, Georgia Tech at Georgia, Buffalo at Tennessee and Tulane at Southern Methodist.

The rash of games should help loosen up the individual scoring race. At present, there is only a two-point margin between the top scorer in the SEC and the fifth.

Kentucky sophomore Louis Dampier is the pace-setter with a 21.5 average. Senior Jimmy Pitts of Georgia is second at 20.0; senior A. W. Davis of Tennessee third at 19.7; junior Lee DeFore of Auburn fourth at 19.3 going into tonight's game; and junior Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt fifth at 19.2.

A bonus of $1,500 and we wouldn't give it to him." Wilson became an all-pro defensive back for the St. Louis Cardinals and would be worth a $20,000 bonus in today's open market.

Faulkner, who was dismissed as Denver's coach this season, became an agent for the Rams and a "baby sitter" for the NFL. He was assigned to Notre Dame end Jack Snow, the first draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings. The trick, Jack discovered, was that everywhere Snow went, his fiancée was sure to go. So when Snow came into New York for an All-American dinner, his fiancée checked in, too. And right after her came Faulkner.

While Snow was attending a special television show and dinner, Faulkner extended his chores. He "baby-sat" the fiancée, too.

He must have done his job well. Snow's rights were switched to Los Angeles, and he signed with the Rams.

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom
Herald Sports Editor

Final Florida football statistics seem to indicate that many fans are right when they claim that Steve Spurrier might well be the best sophomore quarterback in modern Gator history — particularly since the inception of the "T" formations of offensive football.

Steve compiled the third highest total offense record for a single season in Florida's grid history this past fall and missed being top man by only a mere 19 yards.

And, remember, he did this while sharing QB duties with senior Tom Shannon who also saw plenty of action for Ray Graves' Gators this season.

His final offensive yardage figure was 1089 yards. Only two passers in previous Florida grid history exceed Steve's 943 yards. Shannon did it last season and Haywood Sullivan did it back in 1950. Spurrier's completion percentage of .374, however, is a brand new Gator record.

It might be a bit too early to tell what kind of a basketball club Head Coach Dick Copeland has out at Lyman this year—despite the fact that Lyman hasn't grabbed their first victory as yet. But they do have potential. They've lost to Bishop Moore, Ovelido and Seminoles of Sanford.

However, there's one red hot quiet in the southern end of the county and that's Dave Miller's South Seminole squad.

In five outings this season the Hurricanes have posted five victories and have already bagged the county's junior high title.

Next year the Hurricanes, at least the bulk of them, will be moving to Lyman and with this season's Lyman JV eleven the situation looks bright for the future.

The Houston Astros, formerly the Colt 45's, will play 30 pre-season spring exhibition games prior to the opening of the National League season in April.

The Astros—and how do you like that new name?—will play 25 here in Florida and five in their new domed stadium in Houston. They'll open on Mar. 12 in Cocoa against the Twins. During the exhibition tour they'll meet the Yanks, the Athletics, Orioles, Braves, Tigers, Senators, Mets, Phillies, Dodgers, Pirates, Cards, Reds, White Sox and Oklahoma City in addition to the Twins.

They have four games with the Yankees. They'll play their first game in the new domed stadium in Houston on April 9 against the New York Americans and that contest—although only an exhibition—should be a crowd getter.

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Rangers' defenseman Arnie Brown will return to the lineup Wednesday night against the Detroit Red Wings. Brown has been sidelined since Nov. 17 because of a fractured rib.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears have signed UCLA guard Kent Francisco. Francisco, who was drafted 14th as a "future" a year ago, is 6-foot-2 inches tall and weighs 245 pounds.

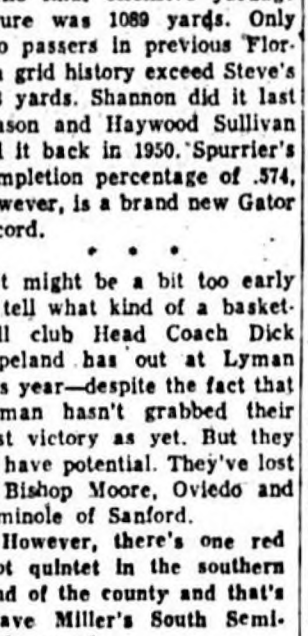

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves have announced that three of their staff members will be moved to Atlanta, Ga., effective Jan. 1, 1965.

Largest Audience To View Champ Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI) — The largest audience in the world ever to see or hear a National Football League championship game will be tuned in to Cleveland's Municipal Stadium on Dec. 27 for the title clash between the hometown Browns and the Baltimore Colts.

The TV broadcast will reach 98.1 per cent of the television homes in the U. S. and the remainder in outlying areas will have radio coverage. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced.

The Columbia Broadcasting System will handle both the TV and the radio coverage of the championship game, which is expected to draw a live capacity audience of more than 80,000.

In addition to the continental United States, the game will be broadcast in one form or both to Canada, Hawaii, Alaska and around the world.

CBS is installing 10 cameras, three more than for regular season games, for the telecast, which will be preceded by a special 30-minute pregame show. Both radio and television broadcasts will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jernigan.

A social hour and the exchange of gifts followed the dinner.

The committee for the dinner party included Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Wright, Mr. and Mrs. George Rounds and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dietz.

Membership in the group, which has a number of tournaments scheduled with other clubs in this area in addition to covered dish suppers and various parties, is open to all who wish to participate.

Fronton To Close For Christmas

Navy's Hardin To Learn Today He 'Resigned'

By John T. Kady
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — The Naval Academy was expected to announce the "resignation" of football Coach Wayne Hardin today, ending a week of speculation as to his future.

A source close to Hardin told United Press International that Hardin actually had been fired, but would accept the academy's explanation that he resigned.

"Hardin was fired but the academy will not make it sound this way when the announcement is made Thursday," the source said.

"Hardin will not make an issue of it because

Pastor To Wed In 17th Trip To Altar Rail

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Glyn Wolfe, a 50-year-old preacher, will train to the altar for the 17th time Saturday to re-marry the teen-aged girl who divorced him three weeks ago.

Wolfe disclosed he and De Merle Rankin, 18, a Pasco (Wash.) mother of two, plan to be married at a private home.

"We're going to Disneyland for our honeymoon to take rides, eat hamburgers and drink pop," Wolfe told newsmen as he and Miss Rankin filled out their marriage license application.

The hotelman and Miss Rankin were married last Aug. 17 in Las Vegas, Nev., but she divorced him on grounds he was seeing too much of a previous wife.

"She divorced me about three weeks ago, but we've decided to try it over again," said Wolfe, who has been married to 13 different women he married Sherry Goodwin Wolfe twice.

"All my wives have been teen-agers," he added, "and sometimes they are hard to handle; even parents and the police have trouble."

The dark-haired Miss Rankin, slender in gold pants and black sweater, and Wolfe, in a dark suit that accented his graying hair, winked at each other as they waited for the clerk to process their application.

When a reporter asked him about his proclivity for young wives, Wolfe replied: "The army wants them at 18 and so do I."

Asked about his long string of marriages, he retorted: "That's the way it falls." Speaking of marriage in general, he added: "It's the greatest institution in the world and everyone's doing it."

Quered as to how he won back the affection of Miss Rankin, Wolfe explained that he wooed her anew by "sending flowers, writing letters and calling her up."

In 1960, a district court judge revoked the ordained Baptist minister's license to perform weddings because of what the court termed Wolfe's "disgusting" personal marriage record.

Employment was up with a little over seven million workers in non-agricultural occupations, three per cent more than last year, and more than 2.2 million in manufacturing for a 2.7 per cent gain.

Holiday And Resort Designs Will Feature Soft Feminine Fashions

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The desire to really dress up is an integral part of feminine make-up. We pranced before the mirror in mom's finery at the tender age of six. And decades later we still find enchantment in dressing for a festive evening.

The holiday and resort season, so chock-full of important evenings, should be a happy time for all the girls who love to wear beautiful clothes. Evening fashions are soft, fluid and feminine in design, fabric and color.

Long gowns for formal occasions just brush the instep this time around. Most have companion jackets or full-length coats. A new fashion is the "soft-short" dinner dress, just to the knees. It often takes the shape of a tiered tunic or a skirt of swirling pleats. Bodices have just enough fit to be figure flattering, but not confining. This dress is as beguiling as lowered eyelashes and a perfect choice for that little evening that could so easily turn into a gala night. Delicate embroidery, bold prints and beading are the elegant touches added to this season's evening wear.

Fabrics used are most frequently smooth or textured silks, silk crepes, printed and solid chiffon and Chantilly lace.

White is the favorite, black a close second for town holiday parties. And for the fortunate gals who will spend winter vacations in sunny climes there are pastels and bold prints in every hue. This is the dressiest season of the year—so have a ball.

TYPICAL OF THE SOFT feminine fashions new for holiday and resort wear are these designs by Don Breitinger for Harold Levine. Soft short dinner dress (left) is in yellow silk chiffon. The overblouse of this one-piece dress is enhanced by pastel-head embroidery over lace applique motifs. Skirt is swirl of pleats. Silk surah dinner dress (center) is in glowing long-stemmed tulip print. Neckline is squared off in front, low in back. Tunic has tiered effect. The long costume for more formal evenings (right) is in pastel textured silk with companion cardigan jacket. Skirt is new length that brushes the instep and is highlighted with flower-puffed embroidery.

Homemakers Corner

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

I have several recipes this week which use cranberries. They are becoming more plentiful and are being used in so many more different recipes. Hope you like these.

CRANBERRY WALNUT CHIFFON CAKE
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cup sugar
3 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup salad oil
5 egg yolks
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup egg whites
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1/2 cup ground cranberries
1/2 cup ground walnuts powdered sugar

red and green maraschino cherries instant ready whipped cream
Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together in a large mixing bowl. Make a well in the center of the flour mixture. Add in order, salad oil, egg yolks and water. Beat until smooth. Beat egg whites until very stiff peaks form. Do not overbeat. Pour egg yolk mixture over egg whites, gently folding until just blended. Combine cranberries and walnuts and fold gently into batter. Turn into an ungreased 10-inch tube pan (4 inches deep). Bake in slow (325 degree) oven 55 minutes. Increase heat to 350 degrees and bake 10 to 15 minutes or until done. Invert to cool. Dust sides and top with powdered sugar. Decorate top with cherries. At serving time top each slice with whipped cream. Serves 10 to 12.

Ethel Root Circle Outlines Events At Yule Party Meet

The Ethel Root Circle of the Congregational Christian Church, recently held its annual Christmas party at the parsonage.

Prior to the festivities, a short business meeting was held.

An inspiring devotional was read by Mrs. Bonner Carter, titled "The Adoration of Christmas." Mrs. Carter also led the meditation on the church expansion program.

Final plans were made for the Sunday School party which will be held in Fellowship Hall on Dec. 22. Announcement was also made of a joint women's fellowship meeting tentatively scheduled for Dec. 28.

At the conclusion of the business, Mrs. Ralph Loring read a very lovely "Yuletide story," after which the members enjoyed a gift exchange.

To the strains of softly recorded Christmas carols the group entered the elaborately decorated dining room. The dining table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a beautiful pearl tree, flanked by burning tapers in crystal candleabra. Delicious refreshments of minutely assorted Christmas cookies, canapés, a sumptuous Christmas gelatin dessert, decorated with miniature Santas, coffee and tea were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Walter Allender, Mrs. Bonner Carter, Mrs. Clayton Bagwell and Miss Ruby Booth.

Those attending were the Meses, T. R. Alford, Walter Helber, M. J. Corbett, Ralph Loring, Owen Meredith, Earl Mosley, G. O. Nordgren, A. M. Remusat, Gus Schmah, E. T. Simpson, J. E. Woods, Oscar Zittrower, Agnes Boyd and Mrs. Elsie Latham, a guest.

The president, Jeanette John Alexander, read a letter from Mrs. Carmita Ray thanking the chapter for its contribution to the State Welfare Children's Fund and she also assured them that this would make a lot of the foster children in Spaulding County have a happier Christmas.

Announcement was made that the Christmas gifts had been sent to the adopted child at the children's home in Cleveland and that the sisters would make a donation to the family of Judy Kimball for Christmas and send a gift to Judy at the hospital.

The annual point luncheon will be Jan. 27 tentatively scheduled to be held at the club.

The program on "The Written Word" was presented by Betty Lockhart, Blanche Aet, Marie Lyle Peterson and E. J. Harold Chapman.

Audrey (G. Andrew) Speer, Jeanette (John) Alexander and Reid (Glenn) McCall presented the program on "Writing."

The group was given a list of three paragraphs and were asked to change them to make them as brief as possible, also a scrambled list which they were to put in consecutive order.

This team also presented a short program on the different types of perfumes and how and when to use them. Each member was given a small sample of several different types of perfumes to try out.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 14 at the home of Reid McCall.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following: Betty Lockhart, Blanche Aet, Marie Lyle Peterson, E. J. Harold Chapman, Jeanette John Alexander, Reid (Glenn) McCall, Doris (John) Richards, Audrey (G. Andrew) Speer and E. C. Harper Jr.

LEFT OVER from Thanksgiving is an exciting account of a "real cool" holiday week-end for Debbie McLain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. McLain of 708 Elm Avenue.

Debbie, who is 13 and an eighth grade student at Sanford Junior High School, departed Thanksgiving morning from Orlando via a chartered Greyhound bus with a group of dancers for Miami, where they participated at the 42nd annual convention of the Dance Masters of America held at the Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach.

and the excitement of the famous hotel.

Debbie's specialty is ballet and she was instructed by Leon Daniellian, who has been a member of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo since 1913. Last summer Leon threw his hat into the choreographic ring and his first ballet for a professional company, "Sambrosos," which was premiered by the Ballet Russe de Carlo last summer in Washington, D. C., and has been acclaimed by the critics from coast to coast.

The petite ballerina has positive potential, so feel confident she will make the bright lights if she so desires. Her present instructor is Edith Royal of Orlando.

SO FAR CHRISTMAS is being celebrated with a series of festivities of all natures. There have been parties and more parties with the bulk yet to come.

The girls of Epsilon Sigma Alpha are known for their charity projects and according to president Kathy Tooke, have the best ball ever included in their Christmas itinerary.

The charity ball will be an event of Saturday, December 26 at the Mayfair and to quote friend Kathy, "Gene Fernetti's 11 piece swinging orchestra will offer the most danceable sound around." Kathy related the sorority has had Gene and his boys booked for some time, and feels they are indeed fortunate in bringing the famous name band to Sanford.

Tickets are limited so for further information contact HOPE SCHIRARD, who is project chairman, and what a stupendous job she is doing! Hope may be reached at 322-7427.

"HAVE SANTA WILL TRAVEL" is another Christmas charity project designed by Epsilon Sigma Alpha members in having a real Santa Claus available for home calls, parties, etc. This has proved very successful and delightfully entertaining. Santa's services may be obtained for a nominal fee so for further information, call Kathy Tooke at 322-6992.

"THEY JUST DON'T make records like they used to," says Jim FOSTER, country music singer from Fort Walton Beach, as he holds new high record and the old cylinder type graphophone (see picture).

Jim, who formerly lived in Sunland Estates, is well known in Sanford and is presently with the Florida Highway Patrol as a state trooper at Fort Walton Beach. He has a new record release, "Bag Roof Roadster" and "The Love of a Stranger" which was released on the eve of the birthday of the Grand Ole Opry and Disc Jockey convention held recently in Nashville, Tenn.

Our country music artist also writes music and wrote "Put Me Out of My Misery," which was recently recorded by the popular Dixie Lane of Sanford.

WE RECENTLY RECEIVED word from former Herald scribe, Judy Turner, who is studying at the Graduate Institute of International Affairs in Switzerland.

Judy will join hubby, David, in Naples for Christmas and keep right on with her traveling and studies.

Her communique was filled with interesting and exciting events, and she promised to be more explicit in the future. Some gals have all the luck.

KATHY TOOKE

FROM TIFT COLLEGE, Forsyth, Ga., we learned that two Sanford students, MISS PATTY GLENN JOHNSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Johnson, 2540 Palmetto Ave. and Gay Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hunt, 114 East Jenkins Circle appeared with the Tift College Choir in the presentation of the annual Candlelight Christmas Concert.

The program included the ever popular carols and beautiful but lesser known Christmas songs of many lands.

RICHARD BENNETT, another Sanford student, recently was cast as a shepherd in "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one-act opera presented by the Clarke College Music Department at Newton, Miss.

"The students say that they have experienced religious inspiration as they worked on their parts," said James McElroy, director, as he pointed out the sacred features of this well-loved musical story written by Gian-Carlo Menotti more than ten years ago.

THIS DEPARTMENT wishes to thank all you students for the tremendous response received as a result of a recent Journalism Discussion on Career Day. Maybe some day you will be able to give us a few pointers when you become successful journalists. We are never too old for instruction.

NET FRANKENSTEIN won't be a carryin' away any more brides. Much curiosity has been aroused as the result of a picture of Frankenstein appearing in The Herald with yours truly.

The last time Frankenstein appeared out of his monstrous attire he was sporting a real two inch gash on his forehead. After several well prepared explanations, he finally confided his wife found out the identity of the pictured Frankenstein, and clobbered him, thus marking him with a genuine lifetime scar.

So Hugh Prince has made his grand finale as Frankenstein. This is all "jest" in fun, huh. He actually came in The Herald office costumed in the frightful regalia in the promotion of a film, so we really helped him out.

FRED VAN PELT and HIMSELF (editor-in-chief and publisher of The Herald) were recently making a fruitless attempt to educate the society department on the artistic reproduction of pic-

As they laboriously trimmed pictures at the counter, their trunks filled off in all directions, yanking as per usual with everyone in sight and on the phone.

However she did graciously offer her assistance after Van Pelt had the last picture hung. Now, didn't THEY do a stupendous job?

THE WALTER GIELOWs recently entertained their local employees with the annual Christmas party at their home.

The boss lady went all out with a lavish buffet served in a colorful Christmas atmosphere featuring magnificent holiday decor.

Highlight of the memorable evening was a gimmick gift exchange, which was hilarious, with some of the employees actually having the audacity to portray models.

The guys and gals all donned their party finery and really looked like ladies and gentlemen.

Everyone had a blast and after practically destroying the beautiful interior of the Gielow home, retreated to various spots to successfully complete the evening.

Was informed this 11th annual event is not for publication and strictly taboo, but just had to get two cents worth in since our host and hostess have the mostest and the party was elaborate. One thing is for certain, they sure have nerve with all of us—us what?

THE HERALD OFFICE is full of surprises with so many interesting developments daily. Recently JACK HULL, whom we have labeled "sub-society societer," hurriedly strode from the back

Got the cart before the horse, but this particular day, due to physical dexterity, JACK HULL'S shirt had ripped, and on the bare exposed frontal area of his anatomy was legible newsprint.

Seminole 'Indians' Learn From Real Seminole Indians

By Jane Casselberry
When the southeastern area meet of the Order of the Arrow is held in April at Camp Lanoch, Central Florida Council's Tipisa Lodge dance team hopes to present authentic Seminole dances.

Through the efforts of Karl Kaup, of Orlando, dance team chairman, arrangements were made with Billy Osceola, chief of the Seminoles, for a group of Boy Scouts and Explorers to go down to Brighton Reservation to learn some of the traditional dances.

Contact was made with the Chief when he was at Wekiwa Springs for the filming of "Cry of the Laughing Owls" recently. He was on the set as technical advisor to make sure everything was as authentic as possible in the scenes dealing with the Seminoles.

Those making the trip with Kaup were Chip Medlin and Sam Bledsoe, of Orlando; Bob McInturf and Jerry Frey, Lockhart; Bob Pollack, Winter Park; Pete Thompson, Maitland; Rick Casselberry, Casselberry. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Michaels, Orlando and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Casselberry, Melinda and Cathy.

The Brighton Reservation, consisting of about 37,000 acres, is located south of Sebring on the northwest side of Okeechobee. Some of the land has been drained and improved to pasture the majority of the tribe's beef cattle. The approximately 43 families live in scattered camps and their dwellings vary from one, or two modern concrete-block homes to the most primitive of chickees (a palm thatched shelter usually open on all sides with a platform three feet off the ground).

We met Chief Osceola at the grading post operated by his son Jesse and daughter-in-law, Sharon, which displayed hand carved articles, beadwork, Seminole dolls, and the gay skirts and aprons decorated with the intricate work for which the women of the tribe are famous. When the chief was unable to coax gasoline from the pump, his daughter-in-law got it to working by hitting it a few times to loosen the mud daubers. Obviously their business on the remote road was not too rushing. Her two months old baby cooed happily in his makeshift hammock.

Using several sticks of chewing gum as an ice breaker, six year old Cathy became friends with the Chief's young son, Glenn, and they had a great time playing together.

Two men of the tribe showed up to demonstrate such dances as "The Alligator" and "The Catfish," which though ancient, may be the origin of such modern teenage crazes as "The Bird," "The Dog" and "The Swim." The visitors happily taped the chants which accompany the dances and filmed the difficult steps. They then had a chance to try their skill.

Chief Osceola showed the group the ancient tribal dress and the modern adaptation as well as many Indian relics. A direct descendant of the great Seminole warrior, Osceola, he was well qualified to tell us the history of his people. About two-thirds of the 1,200 Seminoles living in Florida today are the Miccosukees and the rest are Cow Creeks, who speak the Muskogee language. The Seminoles, who never

12 Tables Play Bridge In DeBarry

Play for 12 tables was directed by Miss Ethel Johnson at this week's Tuesday afternoon meeting of the DeBarry Duplicate Bridge Club.

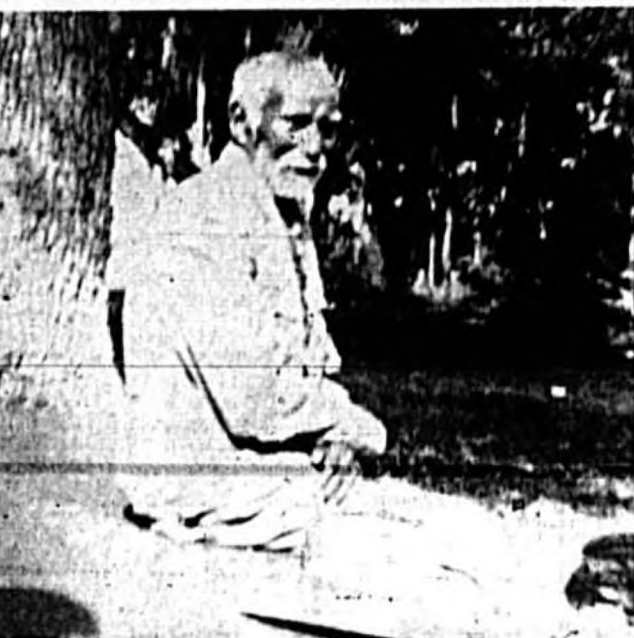

Winners were NS, first, Mrs. Ruth Blatt and Mrs. Myron Accardi; second, Mrs. Myron Accardi; third, Mrs. Myrtle Dunnebach; fourth, Col. H. R. Forney and Mrs. Mary Meyers.

EW, first, Mrs. David Singer and Mrs. Loris Weeks; second, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hinkle; third, Myron Accardi and Mrs. Loretta Munson; fourth, Mrs. W. B. Cook and Mrs. J. D. Self.

The Malagasy live in what formerly was Madagascar.

DANCE TEAM members of Tipisa Chapter, Order of the Arrow, were taught traditional Indian dances by Chief Billy Osceola (left, top) and Ben Wells of the Seminole Tribe on a visit to Brighton Reservation. While there they also visited Billy Bowlegs (bottom), oldest living Seminole man at 104 years. (Herald Photos) signed a peace treaty, are not wards of the Federal Government, but are citizens of Florida.

Highlight of the trip was a visit to the remote hammock where 104 year old Billy Bowlegs, oldest Seminole man, lives alone. When we arrived at his camp we found him stretched out on a wooden platform taking a nap in the sun, as he explained with Chief Osceola acting as interpreter, he was suffering from a cold. We learned that he usually hikes from 15 to 20 miles a day and cooks all his food over an open campfire. Although he has a wood stove in his shack, he prefers to cook outdoors since, he explained, he can not tell if the fire goes out in the stove. Billy Bowlegs' alertness and wrinkled face belie his age.

Chief Osceola's wife, Sally, is the great granddaughter of the oldest living Seminole woman, who is 112 years old. The OA is planning another trip to the reservation in January to take the clothing and food being gathered by the group for distribution among the Indians.

Major Tourist-Drawing Boost Given Fort Pierce

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Fort Pierce got a big boost in its bid for a major tourist-drawing recreation site along more than a mile of its beach. The state Outdoor Recreational Planning Committee, chaired by Gov. Farris Bryant, tentatively approved options to pay $1.3 million for 1.3 miles of Fort Pierce Beach pending approval of the move by the attorney general.

The measure faces one big legal stumbling block, but it has in its favor an agreement by the Army Corps of Engineers to shoulder 70 per cent of the cost of clearing land and setting up erosion-prevention facilities.

Funds for the public recreation project, however, must come from a committee treasury to be filled from a special five per cent tax on sporting goods outlets challenge the tax.

In another action, the committee recommended that the Cabinet agree to acquire a 150,000 acre tract of land near Gulf Hammock north of St. Petersburg. The committee said the project will pay for itself. The committee was set up by the 1963 Legislature to make recommendations to the Cabinet to buy or trade lands to make money for recreational lands as well as set up actual recreation sites.

Dinner Reported Successful By Troop 507

By Frances Wester
Boy Scout Troop 507, sponsored by the Grace Methodist Church on Onora Road, is happy to report a very successful turn out for the spaghetti dinner sponsored Monday night.

Approximately 300 people were served dinners with the boys making a profit of $160.00. The proceeds are to go for scouting equipment.

The two top winners in ticket sales by the troop members were Steve Silver, who sold 93 tickets, and Dale Mamele, who sold 42.

The kitchen was manned by the Supper Committee composed of adult scout assistants and their wives. The group report that they learned from this experience and hope to put on another such dinner that will be even better in the near future.

Over-Population

Among the multitude of dangers that threaten the world two dominate all the rest—nuclear war and uncontrolled population growth.

That, anyway, is the opinion of physicist Dr. Daniel I. Cooper, who adds that it is the grimmest sort of consolation that failure to evade the first would solve the second.

To the solution of the first problem, the maintenance of peace in an age of nuclear weapons, we have spent several hundred billion dollars since Hiroshima, Cooper points out.

To the solution of the second problem, the government last year appropriated about $5 billion.

Yet the gradual, long-term explosion of population is no less dangerous than the sudden nuclear kind, he says. In fact, as time goes by, the two problems will tend to become one, for population pressures could disrupt the nuclear balance the great powers have constructed—if the spread of nuclear weapons doesn't do it first.

Even if overpopulation doesn't lead to war or lesser social upsets, it will certainly slow the rate of human progress. It is technically feasible, says Cooper, who is executive editor of International Science and Technology magazine, to feed a world of 10 billion people, or even 40 billion.

The real question is what kind of life they would be able to enjoy in the inevitable overcrowding.

All of this doesn't mean that we should suddenly begin spending billions on the population problem. Even if the money were provided, there simply are not enough trained people available to use it. Rather we should, he says, begin setting up the facilities for an attack on the problem.

Citing the fact that Oak Ridge National Laboratory is swinging some of its nuclear effort over to desalting sea water, Cooper asks why its biology group could not be directed to questions in the field of reproduction. Or perhaps one of the government's "think factories" could study the complex social and psychological factors underlying population dynamics.

The first problem is the very preservation of life. The second problem is to preserve its quality. It is, maintains Cooper, a very close second.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Deficits Way Of Life

United Press International

Conservatives of all parties will find an issue upon which they can agree when President Johnson in early January submits to Congress his 1966 fiscal year budget.

LBJ will budget for a deficit, as usual. Deficits have become a way of political life, especially for Democratic politicians.

For example, the four-year grand total of deficit of the Kennedy Johnson administrations, 1961-64 inclusive, is an imposing $24.8 billion. President Johnson will add $5.7 billion to the deficit accumulation at the end of the current, 1965, fiscal year.

That will hit the five-year deficit grand total to $30.5 billion.

That is big time spending of money, especially when you don't have it.

The budget has not been in surplus or balanced with income equal to outgo since fiscal 1960 which ended at midnight June 30 of that year. There was a surplus of $1.2 billion that year, an Eisenhower surplus. The previous year, however, he had a nightmare deficit of nearly $12.5 billion.

It is not the taxpayers who are falling in the effort — if there is any real effort — to balance the U. S. budget. Ten years ago, 1955, the taxpayers came up with $60.2 billion for federal expenses and government cost $61.3 billion Treasury income in the current fiscal year is expected to reach $91.5 billion, $31 billion more than 10 years ago. But it will not be enough. The Johnson administration will spend nearly $6 billion more than that, making good on a Parkinson law. That expenditures of government must rise to overtake revenue.

LBJ went for himself a year ago a reputation as an economist, by combing some spending out of the 1965 budget he had inherited from the late President Kennedy. That Kennedy budget was approaching its final form when LBJ took over. The new President began turning off chandelier lights in the White House while his associates planned stories around Washington to the effect that a record was headed for a country-breaking $100 billion spending budget despite the struggle of economist Johnson to hold the line. But, presto, when the budget was published spending was proposed at only $92.6 billion. Only $2.2 billion more than the previous year.

So at Kennedy's expense the image was projected of LBJ as a close man with the taxpayers' back. The administration announced last month that the spending figure had been reduced another $700 million to $92.2 billion. But the projected deficit was up nearly one billion from the originally projected figure.

Republicans challenged the economy claims of a year ago and will do so again in protest against the 1966 budget. Moreover, there was a Republican tendency a year ago to challenge the integrity of the Johnson budget as part of an overall assault on the respectability of the entire Johnson administration. The Republicans will be under great pressure again to make a big thing of that, linking alleged questionable budget practices with the Bobby Baker case and other items that figured during the presidential campaign in Barry Goldwater's issue of morality in Washington.

On the issue of big time spending and big time deficits, conservatives should be able to get together regardless of how they may react to the morality issue.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the Red Chinese and their African proteges seriously turn to guerrilla war in the Congo, that unhappy country can become another long-drawn-out heartbreaking Viet Nam.

The signs are already clear. The government army, spearheaded by its white shock troops, can move almost anywhere in the Congo at will. But as these units move on, the Communist-sponsored forces move in behind them. A town is captured, recaptured, then captured again.

There is no military force in the Congo able to occupy the country and no local constabularies strong enough to protect rural towns against attacks by Red irregulars.

As villages and towns are repeatedly recaptured by the Communist forces, villagers and tribesmen tend to become convinced of the impotency of the government troops.

The killing of whites convinces the native terrorists of the strength of the Communists who have egged them on. It also impresses villagers. Moreover, each time the government troops move back into an area, the Red underground notes which men and women co-operate with the government. These co-operators are then marked for assassination or torture.

These killings of local African Congolese go largely unnoticed in the headline reports of the torture and killing of American, Belgian and other western hostages.

If this intermittent terror continues, men and women in these Congo towns and villages will turn to the Communists for "protection," believing the government cannot help them. This is what has happened in many places in South Viet Nam.

The situation is ripe for the Communists. Over much of the Congo, native peoples recognize no loyalty to the central government. Much of the interior is occupied by feuding tribes. Clever Communist agents can keep much of the Congo in turmoil by playing on the hatred of one group for another.

With large areas in turmoil, the Communists are free to build local Red governments in the backwoods.

The Chinese Communists have made Africa a major target. They are slowly and systematically pushing in organizers armed with funds.

The situation in the Congo is far from hopeless. The underground war is young and the Reds don't yet have the foothold they have in Viet Nam. They don't have the advantage of a strong neighboring base.

Quick action by the United States can be effective. First priorities:

1. Train picked Congolese civilians to be efficient administrators, county agents and rural school teachers.

2. Teach selected Congolese troops to be efficient guerrilla fighters and civil guards.

3. Make certain that the rudiments of self-rule democracy are brought to the towns and villages so the people will have something to fight for.

The Communists are not going to stand still, or fold up and fade away after a few military defeats.

Let Sleeping Dogs Lie

Back on July 1, 1948, the Soviet representative walked out on the four-power Commandatura ruling Berlin and there came into being the divided city now known as West Berlin and East Berlin.

It marked the end of four-power rule of the city which the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union had agreed upon on June 5, 1945, and it paved the way for a series of crises culminating in erection of the Berlin Wall on Aug. 13, 1961.

It was as a side result of Nikita Khrushchev's retreat in the Cuban crisis of October 1962 that the situation eased and continued to ease as Khrushchev became more deeply involved in his quarrel with the Red Chinese.

Since then, both as regards West Berlin and a reunified Germany, by tacit agreement it has been considered best to let sleeping dogs lie.

But now once again there are exploratory stirrings on both sides.

On the Russian side there has been a proposal that the four powers should get together in routine meetings in West Berlin to discuss "outstanding matters of mutual interest."

It would be the first diplomatic contact of all four powers since 1948. The only vestiges of the Commandatura remaining have been the Air Control Center over Berlin and the administration of Spandau Prison for war criminals.

The British have expressed some interest in finding out what the Russians have in mind. The United States and France have shown frank skepticism, suspecting the Russian move to be an attempt to revise four-power rule for West Berlin while still insisting on so-called sovereignty for West Berlin.

In another area, the West Germans have been sounding out the Western Allies on the possibility of a new approach to the Russians on the matter of reunification of all of Germany.

The U. S. position on this is said to be generally favorable, with France once more opposed.

France believes such an approach would suggest the Allies were willing to make concessions.

They also say they believe the Russians would refuse to reach any agreement so long as West Germany remains committed to the U. S. proposed multilateral nuclear force for NATO.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has an election coming up next year and he wants to reassure the German people that reunification remains a No. 1 objective of his government.

The Germans are reported also to believe that the simple question of economics might sway the Russians in favor of some concessions of their own.

Bonn reports say the West Germans would be willing to undertake a long-term program involving exports of more than $10,000 billion to the Soviets in exchange for a gradual liberalization of political conditions inside East Germany. One such condition would be freer travel across the East-West Borders.

Such a proposal was in its outline stage when the Germans still were expecting a visit from Khrushchev.

Worry Clinic

Girls, memorize this case for it offers you the basic secret for winning boy friends. Most of the women who get wedding rings are not ravishing beauties but they have learned the simple arithmetic mentioned below. Add to the boy's 70 per cent score and you attract him; subtract and you repel!

It was made to seem that great economy had been won. That was the idea, that LBJ had performed an economy miracle. Moreover his spending figure was half a billion under the previous Kennedy year.

So at Kennedy's expense the image was projected of LBJ as a close man with the taxpayers' back. The administration announced last month that the spending figure had been reduced another $700 million to $92.2 billion. But the projected deficit was up nearly one billion from the originally projected figure.

In fact, one of the very heat ways to increase his ego-inflation is to tout his horn instead of your own. How?

By judicious compliments! Start out with a smile when you greet him, for a smile is really a non-verbal form of compliment. It indicates such ideas as:

"Your presence makes me happier. You are an asset to my joy in life and a delight to me."

Then add some spoken compliments from time to time to reinforce the non-verbal smile.

Girls, your greatest cosmetic charm is your smile so be sure to use it freely.

And don't try to intimidate your own importance by snide remarks about the muscle or the food or the poor service at the restaurant.

Many girls figuratively try to indicate their own sophistication by belittling things as by saying "this movie isn't as good as the one I saw in New York."

Or, "This food is nothing like what I ate at the World's Fair."

That's tooting your own horn! And indirectly deflating his ego for his money paid for your movie tickets and the food!

If your boy friend starts out at a 70 per cent ego in flation when he meets you, but you indirectly belittle his taste in movies or his choice of a restaurant, etc., you not only don't inflate his ego to the 80 per cent mark.

And the best way to do this is to focus attention on him instead of crudely indulging in self-advertising where you tout your own horn.

ego, will soon rate higher in his esteem.

For the more you can add to a boy's assurance and self-satisfaction, the more he will want to come back for future doses of such thrilling ego food!

Besides, a boy begins to think a girl is more beautiful if she makes him feel prouder of himself. For beauty is chiefly a matter of personal opinion!

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and learn the five laws for paying compliments.

Popular girls use them steadily, for they can win you a husband faster than a beauty contest figure!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

British Bike Makers Scream Heads Off Over U.S. Tariff Tax

WILL HARRIS (center), 'way back in June 1927, bought a new model A. The last time he had tires installed was in 1942. The other day Will sold the antique to Chief Roy Williams, who had Fred Sturm, Goodyear store manager, install new rubber. One of the tires replaced was an original, which came with the model A when Will purchased it.

U. S. Customs Unit Unmoved By Claims

By Tom A. Cullen
LONDON (NEA) — Cabinet ministers ride them to work. Fashion models adore them. In fact, everyone seems to love Britain's new baby-buggy bicycles except the U. S. Bureau of Customs.

The Moulton bicycles (named after their inventor, Alex. Moulton) are not even bikes at all, according to American customs officials. With their ridiculously small wheels, they are toys, and as such are subject to a 22.5 per cent import duty.

The American customs bureau is entitled to its own opinion about the baby-buggy bike, but the tariff on toys is double that charged on ordinary British bicycles shipped to the United States. This explains why Moulton Bicycles Ltd., of Bradford-on-Avon, is screaming its head off with rage.

Its makers indignantly deny that the new-style bike is a toy. It was designed by Alex. Moulton, the engineer who is responsible for the advanced suspension system used on the MG sports sedan. The Moulton bike embodies such revolutionary principles as rubber suspension and a center-of-gravity frame. It is claimed to be the biggest advance in bicycle design made this century—as well as being the answer to traffic jams parking problems.

But the U. S. Bureau of Customs remains unmoved by these arguments. The Moulton bicycle's wheels are only 16 inches in diameter. It says in the U. S. Customs manual that all imported bicycles must have larger wheels. Otherwise, they are classified as toys at twice the duty of 11 per cent.

This is laid down by law, and to change it would require an Act of Congress, the U. S. Customs men maintain.

The Moulton bike may be regarded as 'kid stuff' in America, but it is rapidly becoming big business here. In the last few months it has doubled its sales to over 1,000 a week, and the Bradford-on-Avon factory is exporting more than 300 a week on the world market.

Its makers claim that the 'rubber springs'—front and rear—make the Moulton more comfortable and provide better steering and road holding.

'They also' point out that the Moulton's engineering which just won a top design award here, allows for more luggage space. Because it has no crossbar, the Moulton can be ridden by a woman wearing a skirt. "There is no loss of dignity in mounting or dismounting," a company brochure claims. This could be an important consideration with men like Quintin Hogg, the British minister of science, who rides a Moulton.

The Moulton is available in five models, including a stow-away model which can be easily dismantled for storage in the luggage compartment of a car.

Latest report is that the Moulton concern has made a licensing arrangement with a Dayton, Ohio, company to manufacture the bicycle in the United States. Production will begin early in 1965.

The moral, perhaps, is that one man's toy may be another man's means of locomotion.

SOUTH SEMINOLE Junior High FHA member Nancy Brockenbrough (right) shows the chapter president, Marti Cooper, stuffed toys and decorative choir boys which she made and displayed at the faculty tea.

Invitations to the inaugural ball have been sold out and 168 Seminole County residents will be on hand Nov. 7 at the Jai Alai Fronton when Gov. and Mrs. Haydon Burns make their official appearance in Central Florida. The 168 representatives of this county made donations to the Haydon Burns Scholarship Foundation to receive their invitations. It is expected that virtually all of the top state government officials will be present. Guy Lombardo and his orchestra, singer Anita Bryant and Jayne Mansfield will add to the lustre of the occasion.

Those miniature Little Red Schoolhouses you are seeing in all the local stores were put out by the mothers of the school. This is one of the school's fund-raising projects. It is supported entirely by voluntary finances, you know. Drop your change or stuff some of that quiet folding kind in the slot.

Congratulations to Sanford-Seminole Jaycees for picking up the suggestion of a Clock Winder and decorating the end of the old bundshell pier with Christmas lights. It looks wonderful and can be seen for miles along the lakefront. Thanks to the city too for their permission and encouragement. More thanks to Florida Power and Light for erecting the pole and helping to hook up the lights.

Have you seen the beautiful Christmas tree in the First Federal building? It is one of the tallest in town and people entering the building say it's so pretty it stops them in their tracks.

It's worth your while to take a drive around town, one evening after supper and see all the beautiful residential Christmas lighting decorations. Many clever and interesting arrangements of Yuletide figures, brightly and colorfully lit.

See where the City Hall lawn is displaying the annual Christmas scene. Striking. Yet, across the way, the County Courthouse stands as it does all year-long.

Police Chief Roy G. Williams and his men have their fingers crossed these days. The year's almost gone and they like what they see on the traffic fatality bulletin board in front of headquarters.

Seminole High School's Key Club holiday ball has been scheduled. It'll be held from 8 p.m. until midnight Monday at the Mayfair Inn. Music will be provided by the "Flaming Temples" dance band.

Annual Christmas party for children of Knights of Columbus will be held 6-7 p.m. Sunday at K. of C. hall. There will be games, refreshments and Santa Claus.

DeMolay will ring the Salvation Army bells for kettle donations on Monday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. And starting at 10 a.m. the DeMolay mothers will conduct a bake sale in front of McCrory's.

A DECREE

'I Bring You Good Tidings'

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree that all the world should be taxed, and everyone was to be taxed each in his own city. And Vah-11 also went up from the Mediterranean Sea, out of the Straits of Gibraltar, unto the city of Florida, called Sanford because they were of the house and lineage of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One.

And thus 1961 years after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold there came 180 wise men from the East to Sanford saying, "Where are those we love so much, for we have seen their star in the East and are come to worship them. And lo, the star we saw in the East went before us, till it came and stood over them." And the pilots have said to the navigators, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, make straight the way of the aircraft. For they that are mine will do me great things and holy are their names."

We were led into the wilderness and have fasted 210 days and 210 nights, and we are hungered. And now our angels shall come and minister to us.

We went to the southern Europe, and all the land about the sea. But there has arisen a great famine, and we are in much want. But the angel has come to us and said, "Fear not, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy. And so it is that on the morning of 22 December, our days are accomplished that we should be delivered. And we shall be brought forth and go to our homes . . . and there shall be room in the Inn.

Sanford Manager Guiding Mutual Communities Study

Central Florida communities, for the first time in modern history, banded together Thursday to consider a mutual problem which they face.

The problem discussed in Orlando yesterday was the rash of requests for Community Antenna Television (CATV) franchises. CATV is a commercial operation which erects an antenna system to provide TV reception of stations not now received.

Sanford City Manager Warren E. (Pete) Knowles was named coordinator for the cities involved and will keep each city advised on the progress in dealing with CATV.

Knowles said this morning he will call another meeting as soon as he has sufficient information concerning the franchise requests. Yesterday

Nursing Home Fire Claims 12 Patients

FOUNTAIN TOWN, Ind. — (UPI)—Fire swept through a country nursing home before dawn today and authorities estimated at least 20 elderly patients were killed.

The temperature was three degrees above zero. Firemen had to break through the ice of nearby Brandywine Creek, to get water to fight the flames.

Twelve persons were known dead in the flames which consumed the two-story, white frame Naples Convalescent Home, located at the edge of this hamlet of 250 persons.

Fire departments from villages throughout the Indiana countryside fought the blaze. The water in their pumper trucks gave out and they had to go to the creek.

The towering flames of the tragic fire could be seen five miles away. Nurses staggered from the building carrying aged patients. The ones who survived were sleeping on the first floor. Those on the second floor died, firemen said.

Kenny Purbers, one of the first men on the scene, said a nurse told me the kitchen on fire and the halls on fire. She was hysterical. She couldn't talk.

Max McGraw, who has owned and operated the home for 10 years, gasped "I couldn't stand to stay over there. There were my family."

McGraw said there were 31 patients, a fulltime nurse and two nurse's aides in the home when the first broke out. Twelve bodies were removed from the rubble before dawn. Fifteen persons were rescued and treated for shock, exposure and smoke inhalation.

First Family Wishes Nation A Merry Yule

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The First Family wishes the nation a Merry Christmas tonight when President Johnson turns a switch to illuminate the national Christmas tree, a 22-foot white spruce, located behind the White House.

Turning on lights is regarded as somewhat out of character for Johnson, who has gained quite a reputation as a man who turns lights off.

At 6:40 p.m. (EST) with a flick of a finger, he will turn on 3,000 red lights on the big tree in a nationally televised ceremony.

Before the traditional tree-lighting ceremony, the Johnsons play host to the wives and children of White House staff members expected to number about 1,000.

A ROUTINE photo assignment, know-how and luck produced this unusual picture. Herald photographer Bill Vincent Jr. was assigned to "shoot" the Jaycees' Christmas decoration on the city mole at the lake front. Bill used 100 speed film and opened his lens wide for a 27-

second time shot. Jaycee President Clyde Long just happened to drive out on the mole, causing the white streak across the middle of the picture; that's his car light glare at the left. The houseboat parked in the city basin is at the right.

Liquor License Approved For Longwood Hotel

By Donna Estes

The Longwood City Council voted to issue a liquor license to the Longwood Hotel and has after a written agreement was submitted by L. T. Hunt, president of a consortium of council Thursday night.

In the agreement Hunt pledges to conform with the city ordinance requiring that the hotel have 30 rooms available for rental and the dining room ready to serve ten persons before opening the establishment.

Commissioner B. H. Forrell stated that issuing the license on "principle."

In other business, bids on the restructuring of Highland Street, Evergreen Avenue and Marvin Avenue, were opened and taken under advisement until the January meeting.

Submitting bids were Orange Paving and Construction, Basic Asphalt and Ralph Wilkins.

Council decided to employ M. C. Hagan to establish district from Don and Geri's Tavern to the Christ Episcopal Church and the Church of Christ before acting on application from the tavern owners for a liquor license.

An application for beer and wine license was approved for Handy-Land State being built on SR 42 and the corner of SR 434.

Seattle-Miami In 4 Hours Plus

MIAMI (UPI)—National Air Lines Friday claimed a new transcontinental record for commercial aircraft after a NAL Boeing 727 jet flew from Seattle to Miami Thursday in four hours and 20 minutes.

Average ground speed for the 2,835-mile flight was 650 miles per hour.

The committee met for more than two hours in the wake of newspaper articles which cited the $1 million discovery of Spanish treasure off Fort Pierce last spring by the Real Eight Salvage Co.

Business Elite Meet With LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson followed up a lone economic discussion with top labor leaders by offering equal time this afternoon to a group of the nation's business elite.

Forty-seven top executives were invited to meet with the President at the White House. Press secretary George E. Reedy said they were invited to give the President "their views on current problems."

The meeting, Reedy said, is similar in purpose to Thursday's session at which AFL-CIO President George Meany and other labor leaders gave the President their views on a wide variety of economic problems.

Invited to today's session were: Donald C. Cook, president of American Electric Power Company, New York; Frederick Kappel, chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph, New York; Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich.; Fraxer B. Wilde, chairman of Connecticut General Life Insurance, Hartford, Conn.; Charles Thornton, president of Litton Industries, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of International Business Machines, New York; Roger Roorker, chairman of United States Steel, New York.

Frederic Donner, chairman of General Motors, New York; David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank, New York; and Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, New York; Ben Stolt, chairman of American Can, New York; Michael McCarthy, chairman of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, New York; William B. Murphy, president of Campbell Soup, Camden, N. J.; and Frank Magee of Aluminum Company of America.

Britain Defers LONDON (UPI)—Britain announced today it has deferred payment of $173.2 million in interest and capital payments due the United States and Canada by the end of the year.

Big Odds KEOUOLIVILLE, Mo. — The Congo (UPI)—A government force of 200 troops and 47 white mercenaries fought today to hold the town of Ipaula against rebel forces reported to number 4,000.

Defense Shield LONDON (UPI)—Britain envisages a defense shield created by Western nations and the Soviet Union to halt Communist Chinese "nuclear blackmail or attack" against countries in Asia.

Split Issue WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Johnson administration is willing to take part in a new Western approach to Russia on the issue of divided Germany. But it sees little hope for success, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said.

Strike Ends CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A carpenters union local today withdrew its pickets from the sprawling spaceport and cleared the way for a resumption of construction on America's $750 million moonport. Workers began returning to their jobs.

State's interest when it comes time to divide up the treasure finds of private companies. When the Real Eight discovery was divided, the committee pointed out, Florida was represented by a Florida Highway Patrol captain and a certified public accountant.

Although the state gave Real Eight a salvage lease which includes about 50 miles of eastern coastline, its discovery last May was outside of this area. A retractive lease was given by the state, however, which has insured its portion of the treasure at $400,000.

Altamonte Sets 1965 Budget At $88,000

By Donna Estes

A record $88,276.85 budget was adopted by the Altamonte Springs Town Council for the 1965 fiscal year after three consecutive readings of the budget ordinance which set the rate of taxation at approximately seven mills.

Listed as the three largest anticipated sources of revenue are real estate taxes, $33,871.85; cigarette taxes, $25,000; and utility taxes, $12,000. Among allocations are $20,000 for the streets and sanitation department and $8,500 for the recreation department.

Budget for the water department sets current expenses at $12,435, with anticipated revenue listed at $34,000 for sale of water and $2,800 for hydrant rentals.

'Gift From God' For Christmas DALLAS (UPI)—A blind Dallas woman more than 60 years old had her sight restored when she bumped her head on a cupboard, her relatives said.

The woman, who had been blind for 17 years, said she did not want her name made public.

"I feel it is a gift from God and I do not want it publicized," she said. "It is a gift which might be taken away."

Equipment For Apollo Flight Net

Selection of Dynatronics, Inc., a Seminole County space-electronics firm, for a $3.5 million contract awarded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will not call for a substantial increase in personnel requirements during the initial stage, according to George F. Anderson, executive vice president and general manager of the company.

The Herald was advised by Sen. Spessard Holland and George Smathers that NASA had awarded the contract to Dynatronics.

The project will call for the design, manufacturing and on-site engineering support of 19 PCM (pulse code modulation) telemetry systems in NASA's world-wide Apollo space flight network—with options for additional equipment.

The PCM systems are to be installed at selected ground stations, one training center and three Apollo tracking ships.

Data on information regarding flight conditions, performance of space craft and the health of the astronauts will be handled by the highly complex code radio telemetry systems.

The systems to be manufactured by Dynatronics will identify and sort out information at extremely high speeds prepared it for on-site data processing.

When the announcement was made at the Dynatronics plant on U. S. 17-92 just south of Sanford, a spokesman for the firm said, "The place went wild. The people were really happy."

Anderson said, "We do not expect this program to present additional substantial personnel requirements in its early stages." He added, "We had already programmed a modest increase in personnel due to a backlog of business at mid-year (November is Dynatronics' fiscal calendar) which amounted to $3.3 million at that time.

The contract between Dynatronics and NASA calls for completion in mid-1966.
