

TAX SALE HERE RECEIVES DELAY BY FUTCH BILL

Delinquents Receive 60-Day Grace Period To Pay '32 Taxes

Yesterday was the regularly scheduled date upon which the annual state and county tax sale was to have been held.

However, the Futch bill and its general approval by the Supreme Court of Florida, acted as an intervening agent, and as a result taxpayers are given 60 days' grace in which to pay their 1932 taxes and thereby secure the benefits of the Futch bill.

According to law, Tax Collector Jno. D. Jinks held a sale at high noon, but it was on only one lot of land, Lots 3 and 4 in Astor Farms, west of the city.

Mr. Jinks, with County Clerk V. E. Douglas, went to Jacksonville yesterday to join tax collectors and clerks from 48 Florida counties who had been called together by State Comptroller J. M. Lee and Attorney-General Cary D. Landis.

Under the Supreme Court decision as construed by Mr. Landis and Mr. Lee in Jacksonville yesterday, Mr. Jinks stated "there will be added to the tax sale on Oct. 2 all lands heretofore sold to the state and which have not been redeemed, lands amounting to $2,556,351 in valuation.

Many Safeguards Given Investors In Home Loan Bonds

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 8.—Many exceptional safeguarding features have been provided for investors in the bonds of the government-owned Home Owners' Loan Corporation, according to advices which have been received during the past week from Washington by James R. Stockton, state manager of the corporation.

The Federal Reserve System has now authorized the Federal Reserve banks throughout the country to accept these bonds as collateral security for advances made to member banks.

The bonds have been made acceptable at par as security for the deposits for public money. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to accept the bonds as collateral up to 80 percent of their face value.

Since the act creating the corporation and providing for the issuance of the bonds did not set forth in detail any plan for the establishment or maintenance of a market value for the bonds, it could not be definitely determined what actual market value the bonds would have until the government perfected its plan.

OLD TRADITIONS OF ARMY FALLING UNDER NEW DEAL

Soldiers Use Modern Disciplinary System Upon C.C.C. Recruits

WASHINGTON—Revolution is sweeping the army. No, the buck privates are not rebelling against discipline or treatment. But old traditions and customs are tumbling under the stress of emergency conditions.

Discipline by fear, the traditional belief that military rules and ordinances must be backed by the threat of the guard house and the "bull pen," is going by the board.

Discipline, yes, the officers were told. But compulsion, emphatically not. Persuade 'em, lead 'em, or even kid 'em along, but don't drive 'em.

Young officers who had been brought up in the tradition that discipline without compulsion and the threat of punishment was impossible scratched their heads in perplexity.

tain discipline among young boys who were bound by so compulsion. Any one of them might leave camp whenever he felt so inclined. There was nothing to stop him. Officers trained in the ritual of rank had to get used to being approached by a "buck private" of the forestry corps who might greet him with a wave of the arm and a "Hi there, Cap!"

With the "bull pen" and the "house cow" removed from the C.C.C. curriculum, officers were forced to study how they might get the same results with out the backing of their threat. Such instances as co-operation, reasoning and understanding began to assume a very tangible value.

to assume a very tangible value. The old tradition of training and discipline of the army began to take on a modern gloss with the application of teamwork.

Philadelphia and vicinity yesterday enjoyed recreation under the watchful eyes of national guardsmen, their deputies, and state highway inspectors.

National guardsmen were posted at distances calculated to prevent anyone from firing rifle shots into the camp. It was feared some form of retaliation might be employed by the would-be kidnapers.

While the girls swam and canoed on Lake Kezar, state highway inspectors guarded them from rowboats. Others watched the countryside through binoculars.

Two Flying Brothers Begin Ocean Flight

BROOKLYN, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two Polish-American brothers, Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, who hope to fly from New York to their ancestral country of Poland, took off today on what they said was merely a "test flight" to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

There is strong possibility that they might continue across the ocean with or without a stop at Harbor Grace. Their plane is the same in which Ott Hilig and Holger Horri flew to Denmark two years ago. It carried more than 500 gallons of gasoline.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
DELIVERANCE FROM FEAR
I sought the Lord, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears. - Psalm 124.

LITTLE MISS CAROL
I met Miss Carol at the Fair,
A dainty miss with golden hair
As lovely as a yellow rose
Which in my little garden grows
And I will vow, from head to foot,
As delicate and just as sweet,
She dropped a curtsy as we met,
A gracious act I shan't forget.
Now there I stood 'mid buildings proud
Among a constant surging crowd
Which strove to look at wondrous new
And all the works our wise men do,
But I stood still, as past they fled,
Caraptured by a little child.
On all that great enchanted Isle
Was naught so wondrous as her smile.

The Hall of Science fairly teemed
With things accomplished men
Had dreamed.
But still I thought amid this whirl
Of marvels, here's a little girl
Just eight years old who's lovelier far
Than all these dazzling splendors are.

The prettiest vision at the Fair
Is little Carol smiling there.
By Edgar A. Greet.

You can't please everyone.
Some folks hadn't yet begun to quit kicking about low prices when others began to howl about the high cost of living.

The Futch bill has made it unnecessary to pay any taxes prior to 1932. The homestead exemption law is discouraging the payment of current taxes on homes. Both are making the sales tax almost inevitable.

Prospects of inflation continue among the people under discussion by newspaper correspondents.
The inflation army is not a bit
discouraged. writes James Mc-Mullen of New York. They claim that prices—and especially farm prices—cannot be sustained without devaluation or some similar device. They are putting on all the pressure they can to get solutions but will really be satisfied if they get it in a couple of months. Some big names are being named those who think inflation is the salvation of the country.

The Importance Of Credit

The St. Petersburg Independent reminds us that it is bank credit and not money in circulation which is the true measure of prosperity. The latest statistics on this subject indicate that the actual currency in circulation has increased since June 30, 1929 from $4,746,000,000 to $5,720,000,000 on June 30, 1933. In view of the fact that the 1929 figure represents the height of the boom, a shortage of currency would not seem to be the cause of the present difficulty.

While currency has been increasing, however, bank credit has declined, as the Independent points out. The total deposits of all the banks in the country in 1929 were represented as $57,000,000,000. Prior to the banking moratorium last March, they were $45,000,000,000 a shrinkage of some $12,000,000,000. Today they are, of course, somewhat less than that. "If business is to pick up," says the Independent, "so must the volume of credits."

This was the position taken by Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the other day. He said that the government stands ready to inflate the working capital of the banks by purchasing preferred stock in the sound ones, adding that "the coffers of the big banks are filled with government securities, cash balances in the federal reserve and other banks which ought to be used in the 'back to work' movement by extending credit to industry and retailers."

The necessity of credit to the retailer is again explained by Samuel L. Antonow, president of the American Druggists Syndicate, who in calling upon the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to business men, says, "Relaxation of credit through advances of government loans to such of the nation's 1,750,000 retailers as may need help offers an immediate and positive way out of the depression."

"Credit is as important to business as blood is to the mortal and unless and until the present frozen retail credit is thawed out, the business chaos which has prevailed over a period of four years must continue," Mr. Antonow continues. "If the government were to advance to those retail dealers of the nation who require it a fraction of the money advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to large industrial, railroads, banks, insurance companies, etc., in the last two years, the benefits to business would be felt at once. Unless the retailer makes a profit and is able to stay in business, business cannot improve."

"The large percentage of retailers who have been forced to do their buying on a cash basis is almost unbelievable and it does not take an astute Philadelphia lawyer to prove that business carried on a cash basis is business reduced to a minimum. Comparatively small sums advanced to a large number of retailers would enable them to wipe out their debts and re-establish their lines of credit with their wholesalers and manufacturers. Once again the retailer would be able to stock the merchandise his customers want; he could rehire or put his clerks back on full time."

"Many retailers now find themselves in a financial state bordering on insolvency and it is the duty of the government, as well as manufacturers and wholesalers to co-operate with a view of maintaining them in business and not adding to the large number of unemployed. The government is in a tactical position to set the wheels of prosperity moving again by giving consideration to the needs of the retailer, who, after all he said, is the keystone of our entire business structure."

At which the St. Petersburg Independent concludes, "Mr. Antonow's statement was made before the voluntary blanket code campaign was announced, but its logic is even more impressive now. The President has asked the retailer to take initial losses in order to raise wages and employ more people. Credit would lift him over this first obstacle."

Mexico, The Land Of Quiet

Mexico has proved itself the enigma of nations. It appears that the political and economic forces which generally attend the destinies of most countries at one and the same periodical intervals do not influence the life of this Central American country.

When other nations were "riding high" Mexico was in the doldrums; now that the rest of the world is suffering from all kinds of social, economic, and political ailments, Mexico is enjoying one of the most favorable and progressive periods in its history.

We remember not many years ago when revolution copy was decidedly tinged with accounts about revolution below the Rio Grande, assassinations, plots of assassination, banditry, and massacres. Today other peoples are furnishing this exciting reading, and Mexico provides us with stories about public security, enlightened government, peace for visitors, and a close knitting of the nation's administration with its economic forces.

Mexico has ceased to be the hot-bed of bandit leaders. The era of revolutionary activities is over, and instead of finding a country that is hostile and menacing to visitors from the states, tourists will be surprised at the orderliness of things and will marvel to find a land where life seems to be so stable and complacent in contrast to the agitated conditions in other countries.

Maybe the Mexican Chili bean crop has not been good of late causing hot bloods to cool off a bit; perhaps the innovation of American football has provided an outlet for heated emotions; or maybe bandits and insurrectionists have given up hope of competing with the firebrands of other nations such as Adolf Hitler of Germany or Marshal Pilsudski of Poland, but at all events, and paradoxically enough, if you want to lead a quiet and peaceful life, just at this time, go to Mexico.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Eighty thousand dollars is the amount that old mother Orange must divide with her young son, the Seminole Chief, that is now about to set up housekeeping for herself. This amount, it is said, is left for division after paying all debt that had accumulated prior to county partition. Along with this the young chief will also get one-third of the county taxes and other working paraphernalia. The portion of the cash is practically about one-third, which includes school fund, etc.

The first meeting of the Seminole County School board was held on Tuesday and after a short session the meeting was adjourned until next Tuesday when the board will get down to business in earnest. The new superintendent, Hon. D. L. Thrasher, has a thorough knowledge of school affairs, having been a member of the Orange County School Board for several years and for the past year chairman of the board. Each member of the Seminole Board is taking a deep interest in school affairs and we expect great things for our Seminole Schools.

E. B. Murrell is home again from a trip to points in South Carolina (which he made in his car). He left the family up there and expects to return the last of the week. Capt. Murrell says North Carolina is in good shape and will have one of the largest corn crops in history.

GROCERY CODE U. S. Still Insists SUBMITTED TO Intervention Isn't Planned For Cuba HUGH JOHNSON

(Continued From Page One) two persons in towns of less than 2500 population, nor to employees in executive or managerial jobs who now receive more than $25 a week. Outside salesmen or deliverymen, employes on emergency maintenance and repair work, and special cases where restriction of hours would unavoidably reduce production are also excepted. But in such cases at least time and one-third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum.

The minimum wage for all classes of employes is as follows: Not less than $15 a week in any city of more than 500,000 population. Not less than $14.50 a week in any city between 250,000 and 500,000 population. Not less than $14 a week in any city between 25,000 and 250,000 population.

Employes with less than six months experience in the grocery trade may be paid $1 a week less than wages prescribed above. In towns of less than 2500 population all wages shall be increased by not less than 20 percent provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $12 a week.

The NRA officials have warned retail grocers against making joint agreements to shorten store hours. In a telegram to the Indiana Retail Grocers Association, A. D. Whiteside, deputy administrator, called attention to the fact that in several local communities retailers are making such agreements.

"This is not in keeping with either the spirit of the act as expressed in the President's re-employment agreement or in the President's statements regarding re-employment of which the essence is to effect an increase both in re-employment and in wages to those employed," he said.

"The proposal to shorten store hours is in violation of section 8 of the President's re-employment agreement. Reconsideration of the provisions of the retail codes and possible withdrawal of insignias will be necessary immediately if community or concerted action to shorten store operating hours is taken."

Here is what is expected of other retail establishments subscribing to the code: No individual or organization shall work any employe for more than 40 hours a week, excepting at Christmas, inventory, and other peak periods when employes may work 48 hours a week for a maximum of not to exceed three weeks in each six months.

Exceptions, however, are made for executives whose salaries exceed $35 a week, registered pharmacists or other professional persons employed in their profession, outside salesmen and except outside deliverymen and maintenance employes, who may be employed 48 hours weekly or more, if paid time and one-third for all hours over 48 hours weekly.

Retailers are not to reduce the hours of any store or service to below 52 hours in any one week unless such hours were less than 52 a week before July 1, 1933, and

In the latter case not to reduce such hours at all. The maximum hours shall not apply to employes in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2500 population.

Minimum weekly rates of wages for the retail trade are set as follows: Within cities of more than 500,000 population at the rate of $14 a week. Within cities of from 100,000 to 500,000 population at the rate of $13.50 a week. Within villages, towns or cities with a population of 2500 to 100,000 at the rate of $13 a week.

The minimum wages paid by employes in the retail trade to any of their employes shall be at the rate of one dollar a week less in the southern section of the country.

Junior employes between the ages of 16 and 18 years, inclusive, with less than six months' experience in any retail store, shall be paid at the rate of two dollars less for a work week except that apprentice employes more than six years of age with less than six months' experience, shall be paid one dollar less a work week, provided that the minimum shall not be less than at the rate of $11 a week.

That Machado immediately name a secretary of state acceptable to all political factions. (The Cuban constitution provides for the succession of the secretary of state to the presidency in the event that office becomes vacant.) That thereafter Machado must ask congress for an indefinite leave of absence. With that request granted, the new secretary of state would succeed to the presidency and would immediately appoint a national cabinet representative of all political factions in the island.

Constitutional reforms worked out by opposition delegates and the three political parties in collaboration with Welles, which provide for the restoration of the office of vice president abolished by the 1928 constitutional reform, then would be submitted to congress.

Once congress had voted the reform they would be submitted to a constitutional convention which, under the constitution, must follow the action of congress within six months. Delegates to the convention would be chosen at elections supervised by the acting president.

The vice presidential office then would be filled either by congress or by the supreme court. The warning to Machado and his statement came after bloody disturbances Monday in which 21 persons were killed.

Sanford office and after Ambassador Welles had submitted a formula for settlement which had been agreed upon by most of the opposition and government party leaders.

The strikes of transport and other workers, which have spread rapidly in Havana and in other parts of the island during the last week, may be broken today, the president asserted in his statement.

"The transportation strike and other similar ones," said the president, who has long been the storm center of Cuban political turmoil, "are of labor character and in an interview held yesterday in the palace with the strike committee, that has not hesitated to have recourse to the Cuban public powers, I approved its demands and it has offered to renew today transportation service, normalizing the supplying of the city."

"The laborers have protested to me energetically the perverse form in which they were provoked by elements foreign to them in Monday's tumults which were rapidly repressed by the police of the city without the army's having to fire a single shot."

The president declared he was disposed to reach an agreement with his political adversaries and that even yesterday he had sent to congress a recommendation for immediate approval of the electoral reforms advised by Prof. Howard Lee McBain of Columbia University.

"I am confident," the president's statement added, "that the people of the United States will understand that I am watching over peace and order in Cuba and defending against revolution and anarchy the independence, the sovereignty and the institutions of a republic that this same people of the United States nobly aided us to form."
