Floods Potential To Be Explained

The flood potential in Sanford along the shore of Lake Monroe will be explained in a report to be presented to city officials and to interested citizens at 8 p.m. tonight at City Commission meeting, it was announced today by Col. A. S. Fullerton, Jacksonville district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers.

At that time, Same S. Cowan, of the Corps of Engineers, which conducted the studies at the request of the City of Sanford and Florida's Department of Natural Resources, will unveil and explain the studies.

The flood plain information report covers an area about seven miles in length along the south shore of Lake Monroe, including a portion of Sanford's highly developed downtown area.

Past and possible future flood conditions in this area are discussed in the report. The study cost $14,500 and required about 1 1/2 years to complete.

The purpose of the study is to provide Sanford and Seminole County governmental agencies and private citizens the flood hazard information needed to obtain the best use of flood-prone areas. This information can be used to regulate construction that would be damaged by future floods in the flood plain. Pamphlets describing the flood situation in the Sanford area will be available at no cost to interested citizens.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Got a couple of things on my mind . . . like beauty contests and riots. (From the ridiculous to the sublime, eh?)

Maybe it's because our color TV is presently undergoing tube-surgery or somethin' and we had to watch the Miss America finals on our old black and white portable . . . but—I swear that I've seen many, many more lovely gals right here in Seminole County than were on hand for the Miss America title.

And these who viewed it in color said that it was just as bad, especially with the eye mascara.

Finally . . . some of 'em looked like they were nearing 40. (Not that there's anything wrong with being 40 mind you. Pretty soon I'll even reach that ripe old age . . .)

About that riot . . . I wasn't there. I don't know any of the principals involved. If owner Pete Ashlock passed me on the street, I wouldn't know him from Adam.

But, I do know that an investigation is in order!

If I were a betting man, I'd bet AGAINST Orange County and some of the law enforcement people who were at the scene.

Everything I've been able to read or hear on the unfortunate scene had a way of telling me who was guilty . . . as opposed to just presenting the facts, please.

Let me pop a few at you and get your reactions . . .

First of all, the reference to Ashlock being charged with six counts of tax evasion or what have you, doesn't have a thing to do with this particular incident. And I might remind you that he's been charged . . . not found guilty!

If this occurred outside, what right did the law enforcement people have in "taking away the rights" of the law-abiding inside the building? They didn't even know what was going on outside until the tear gas was fired on them . . . and without any kind of a warning, too?

About a year or so ago, I went to the Orlando Municipal Auditorium to hear Boots Randolph, Floyd Cramer and Chet Atkins . . . as did quite a few other local faces which I recognized in the crowd. We like that kind of music, probably much the same as the kids like that "noise" featured in the Sports Stadium. To each his own . . .

But, supposing there was a fracas outside of that auditorium . . . whether it be by those on dope or alcoholics . . . do you think any of the adults

Police Assault Prison Eight Hostages Killed

Bulletin

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Nine hostages and 28 convicts were killed today as state police, backed by helicopters dropping tear gas, stormed Attica state prison.

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Eight hostages were killed, and 30 brought out alive today as police staged a full-scale assault on rebellious inmates at Attica State Prison, state police said.

At least four of the rescued hostages were seriously injured, officials said.

Police opened fire on the inmates while helicopters dropped tear gas as authorities moved in to break the four-day rebellion by 1,200 inmates.

The police were backed by National Guard troops brought in secretly to the prison in western New York State.

There was no immediate word on whether any of the prisoners had been killed.

Hundreds of National Guardsmen, wearing gas masks and carrying rifles massed outside the prison wall as shots rang out inside and clouds of tear gas poured over the walls.

Reporters saw 23 of the 38 hostages who had been held by the prisoners come out the prison gate. Officials said four were seriously injured. There was no immediate word on the fate of the 15 others.

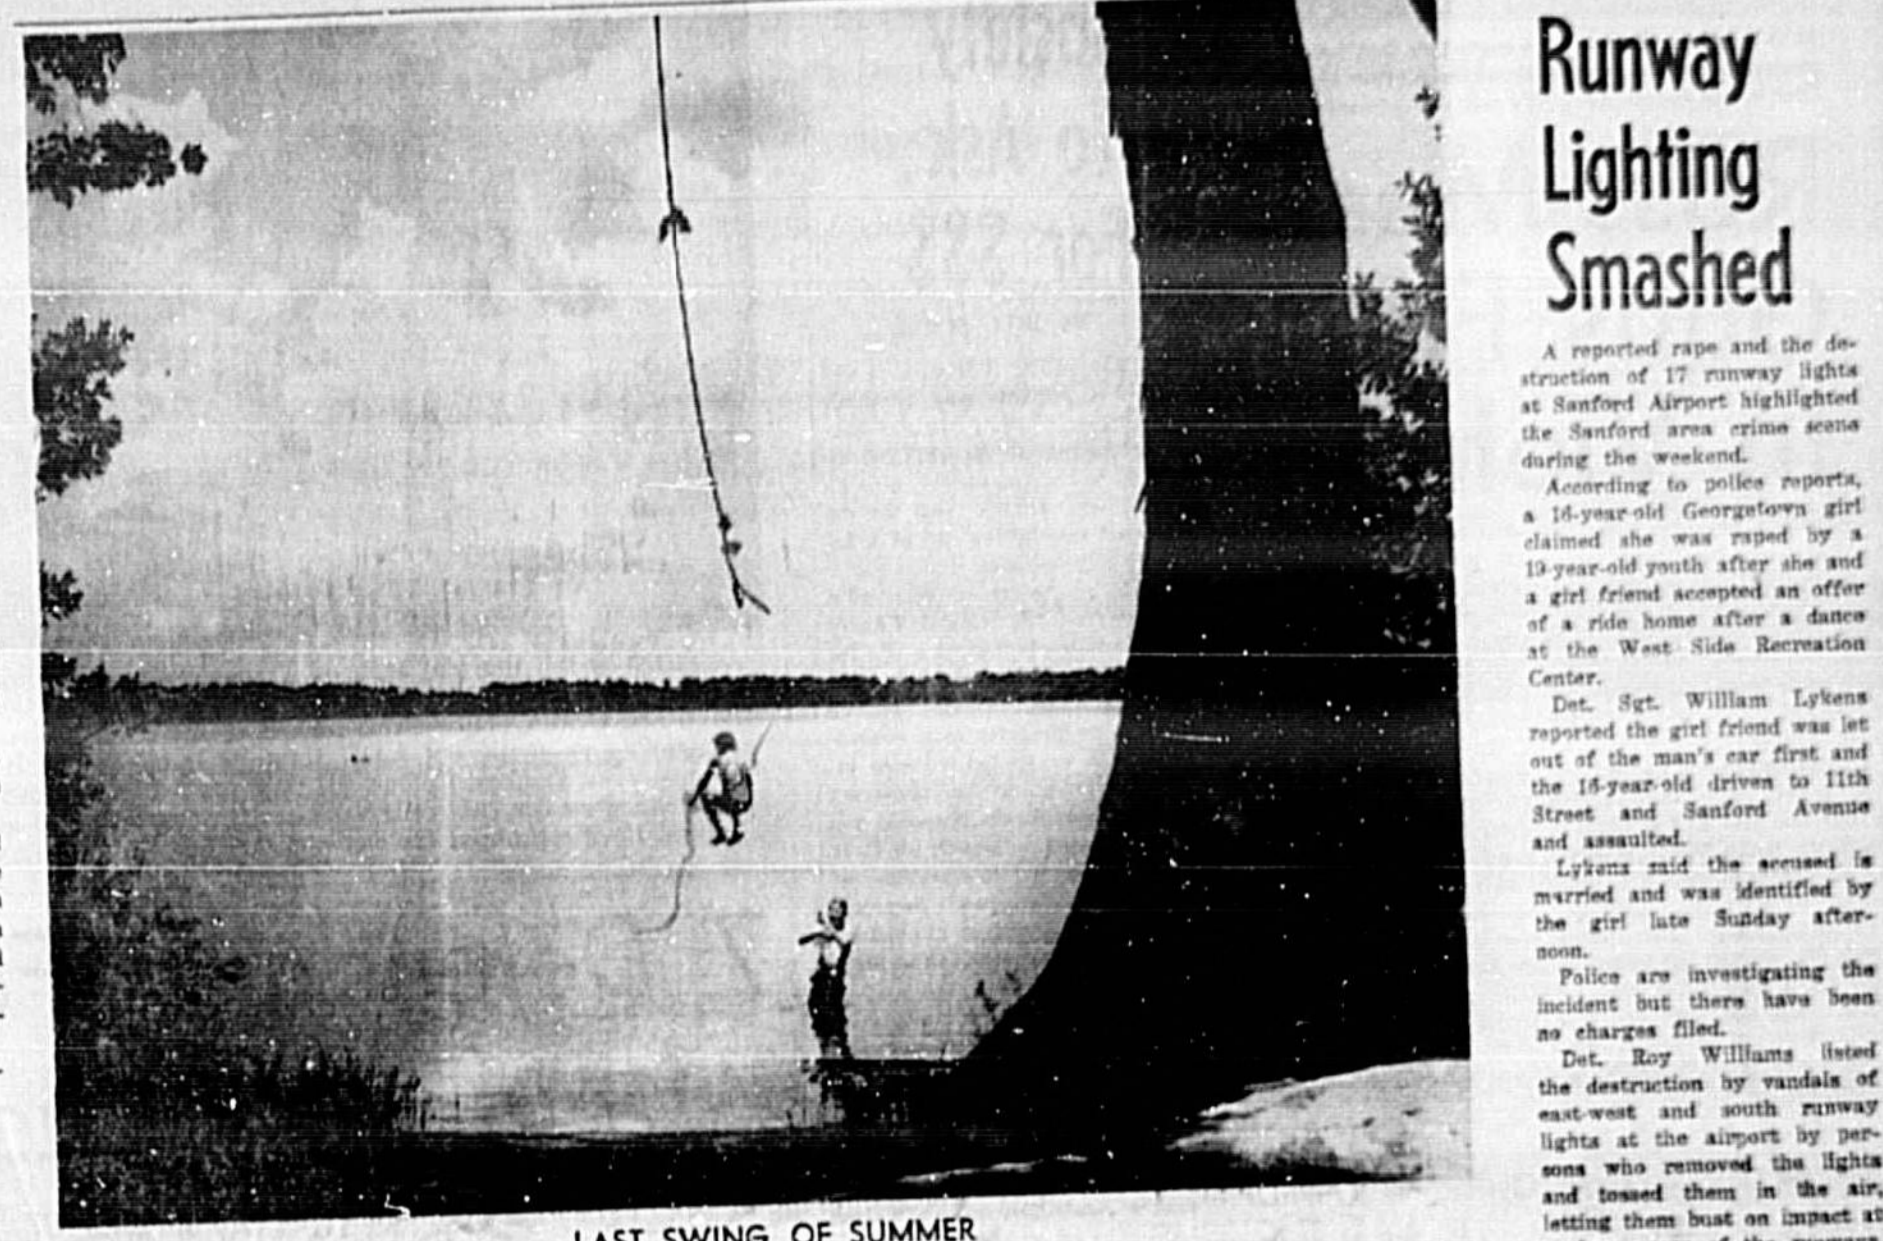

From a helicopter circling over the prison, a loudspeaker told the prisoners: "Place your hands over your heads and surrender to the nearest police officer. You will not be harmed."

Three of the more than 500 state police who took part in the assault on the prison were taken away in ambulances, apparently injured.

The presence of the National Guard troops in the prison area had been a well-kept secret. They moved up in at least 70 trucks and jeeps and were held in reserve outside the walls.

State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald said the decision to restore order by force was made with "extreme reluctance."

He said the situation was "extremely deteriorating" Sunday night. Prisoners were fashioning weapons, making body traps, and setting up electrically charged barricades and spreading gasoline, he said.

Increase in Directors Bid For Housing Board

By RAY KNIGHT

Request for legislation enlarging the board membership from five to nine for the Sanford Housing Authority has been made of the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation.

Major Lee P. Moore informed the state conference of the Florida Tenants Council in session here this last weekend.

Moore, at the opening session Friday evening at the Civic Center, revealed he and the City Commission has requested the delegation chairman, Rep. William D. Gorman, to introduce legislation for the board increase.

In welcoming all the delegates from the state, Alfred DeLattre, chairman of the Sanford Tenant Organization, said the theme of the conference in so uncertain terms — "It's time for a change!" He needed no public address system to reach the far corners of the hall.

He gave voice to their determination to use all lawful means to secure their public's business as improper and violative of the law if conducted covertly or in secret.

Chief Batchelor said that three summings were held for the board increase within four days during the radar operation last week. However, one individual was apprehended twice due to an error of a policeman, issuing a summons, whereas Batchelor had already done so.

Appropriate speed limits are prominently posted at all the above roads.

Medical Treatment Is Denied

By DONNA ESTES

Emergency medical treatment was denied to a 19-year-old prisoner of the Seminole County jail for 90 minutes Saturday night by a staff doctor at Seminole Memorial Hospital's emergency room.

Kirk Riley, being held at the county jail on a charge of sale and possession of narcotic drugs, fell in the jail shower and injured his hand at about 10:15 p.m. When deputies took him to the hospital for emergency treatment the doctor on duty refused to provide treatment, insisting broken bones were not within his field of training.

According to a county deputy, the physician asked that the injured man be transferred to Orlando for treatment, but this request was declined. Finally, another doctor was obtained to treat the youth.

Non-emergency needs for prisoners are handled on a regular basis by other doctors provided by the County Commission.

County Commissioner John Kimbrough is expected to bring the matter of prisoners being treated at the hospital before the county commission at Tuesday's regular meeting.

Runway Lighting Smashed

A reported rape and the destruction of 17 runway lights at Sanford Airport highlighted the Sanford area crime scene during the weekend.

According to police reports, a 16-year-old Georgetown girl claimed she was raped by a 19-year-old youth after she and a girl friend accepted an offer of a ride home after a dance at the West Side Recreation Center.

Det. Sgt. William Lykens reported the girl friend was let out of the man's car first and the 16-year-old driven to 11th Street and Sanford Avenue and assaulted.

Lykens said the accused is married and was identified by the girl late Sunday afternoon.

Police are investigating the incident but there have been no charges filed.

Det. Roy Williams listed the destruction by vandals of east-west and south runway lights at the airport by persons who removed the lights and tossed them in the air, letting them but on impact at various areas of the runways.

Edward Turner, Sanford Airport official, said a spokesman would be in receiving adequate replacements since the lights are military types.

He estimated replacements would cost between $700-$800. Williams reported the vandals, in two cars, parked on Boardman Avenue and pushed into the wire gate to obtain entry to the former Navy base.

'Ginger' East Of Bermuda 'Heidi' Heads Up Coastline

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Storm Heidi barreled up the Atlantic coastline today, threatening the Northeast with more heavy rains, while her older sister Edith drifted on a course that would take it into Mexico.

In the Atlantic east of Bermuda, Hurricane Ginger menaced shipping with winds of 80 miles an hour.

As the remnants of Tropical Storm Fern broke up in the mountains of Mexico, a new tropical depression headed in the direction of Barbados some 2,000 miles southeast of Miami. It killed 23 persons in Nicaragua and Honduras when it carried hurricane force winds into the two Central American countries last Thursday, has been downgraded to a tropical storm with peak winds of 45 m.p.h.

But the National Hurricane Center in Miami predicted Edith would gradually strengthen with the storm center crossing the northeast coast of Mexico tonight.

She was about 200 miles east of Tampico, Mexico.

Other storms kicking up trouble were:

Heidi—A tropical storm with peak winds of 80 m.p.h., her position at 6 a.m. EDT today was about 215 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., and heading northward, at about 15 m.p.h. Forecasters said her speed was expected to pick up to about 20 m.p.h. during the day.

Ginger—The only fully fledged hurricane on the map, Ginger was packing winds of 90 m.p.h. as she lumbered along in a northeasterly direction at about 12 m.p.h. some 410 miles east of Bermuda.

Fern—Her winds gust 35 m.p.h. Fern spent that last of her anger in the form of heavy rainfall in parts of Texas and Mexico, Beville, Tex., reported 8.3 inches of rain in 24 hours, while Alice, Tex., had 8.9 inches in the same period.

Society To Ask For SSS

By BILL SCOTT

Sanford City Commission will hear a request from Seminole Zoological Society tonight to allocate to the zoo society, plus an additional $50,000 from the expected sale by the city of a 14-acre city zoo site.

The zoo group has received a letter from the Seminole County Commission indicating a site for the zoo will be leased by the city. The money derived from the property sale, expected to be completed between late August and early September, is to be used to construct a zoo on the site located adjacent to Lake Monroe at intersection of French Avenue and Seminole Boulevard. The site is to be used by the society to relocate the present municipal zoo.

Commissioners will also consider selecting a site for the location of a new police-security complex at tonight's session.

Also on an agenda is a request from the Sanford Tennis that they be heard relative to previous requests to remove the five tennis courts and replace them with five tennis courts.

Sanford Airport will request that commission cease to collect junk cars at the airport and have city take over the refuse collection now made at the airport.

Mike Wheeler will seek commission attention of 14 acres of property located on the Palms Road, west of Tee and Green Subdivision.

ACTION by the Florida Dept. of Transportation in eliminating dangerous curves on newly-paved SR 426 will be sought by Constable Chester Boyd and Orvidio Police Chief Ken P. Trojetti as a result of a rash of automobile accidents, one fatal. Speeding is blamed by Boyd for the accidents. John Endicott Collins, 41, Daytona Beach, escaped injury Sunday night when his car (above) crashed at Geneva (SR 426) and Lake Charm Drives. Boyd estimated car damage at $750. (Larry Neely Photo)

Budget OK Is Near For Police Dept.

By DONNA ESTES

Before budget is formally approved, City Manager Ron Bergman was instructed to look into the possibility of federal funding for the radios and to determine if lease-purchase price for radios over a period of years could be obtained.

Of the near $200,000 requested budget, $157,874 was asked for personnel including three new sergeants and two more patrolmen, an identification officer and custodian. Police Chief George Karcher indicated the $157,874 for an 18-month contract for an ID officer could be eliminated this year in the interests of saving money. Request also was for $18,210 for maintenance and supplies, and $20,995 for four new police vehicles.

Discussion was given to possibility of saving money through a leasing arrangement for the police cars. Bergman noted that the Sheriff's Office is also to gather figures on this aspect. Possibility was mentioned of contacting the sister cities of Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Neustar to determine the feasibility of all the cities going to leasing of police vehicles with the resulting savings of a large leasing arrangement.

7 Defendants Facing Arraignment Tuesday

By MARION BETHA

Seven defendants face arraignment before Circuit Judge Dominick Salvi tomorrow.

The arrangement of Clifford Joseph Milliken Jr., charged with lewd, lascivious or indecent assault or act upon or in the presence of a child.

Milliken, 45, of 2511 Highland Avenue, was arrested by Sgt. George Abbey, while Milliken was a patient at Florida Hospital. A morals charge was filed by the parents of a seven-year-old girl, whom Milliken is alleged to have fondled and engaged in lewd acts.

Eric Westbrook is charged with buying, receiving or aiding in the concealment of stolen property. Westbrook was to be tried on similar charges on April 12, in which the case was nolle prossed (dropped) by the state. Westbrook was tried on the same charges on Aug. 9 and received a directed verdict of acquittal from the court in this case.

Also continued for arraignment from last week is Johnny Bush, charged with sale of a controlled substance (marijuana). Bush said he was without counsel and had lost his job.

Another continued arraignment is that of Isaac Joiner, charged on four counts of possession of stolen credit cards.

The case of Ronald Miller and Tim Miller, charged with unlawful burning of lands was docketed for arraignment last week but the case was retried by the state attorney office.

Also facing arraignment is Sam Brumson Jr., charged with buying, receiving or aiding in the concealment of stolen property.

Proposal Would Create Another Seminole City

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

The Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board has granted approval to Richard Bond upon a request for a zoning change from A-1 agriculture and R-1A residential to PUD (planned unit development) on property containing 1,100 acres located north of Red Bay Road, southwest of Casselberry, south of East Lake Drive and west of Tuskuwaka Road.

Bond introduced King Heile, planner, who presented displays of topography, surrounding zoning and well conditions as well as a master plan. Heile said that the plans were to have 432 acres of single family, 194 acres of patio homes, 37 acres of multiple family, 21 acres of commercial and 56 acres set aside for schools and public facilities. There will be three school sites, and Bond will sell these to the School Board at a raw land value.

James Graham, attorney for the corporation, requested that the board recommend approval as PUD concepts are such that

At North Orlando Building Program Told

Initial subdivision development of Florida Land Company's 2,250-acre tract in the Village of North Orlando is scheduled to begin in October following the signing of a contract with Willner Industries, Inc. and extensive land development utility facilities first under construction. The first 20 three- and four-bedroom homes of conventional construction in the $21,000-$24,000 price range, should be ready for sale by mid-December, Willner disclosed.

North Orlando Terrace will include several parks comprising about 20 percent of its total acreage, which will be dedicated to the Village of North Orlando. These parks and other recreational attractions in the vicinity of Creeks and extensive landscaped throughout will contribute to the beautification of the total area, said Robert N. Dosh Jr., vice president of Florida Land Company, Florida Land presently plans other developments within its 2,250-acre holdings which will include a planned unit development (PUD) area containing a major 18-hole daily-fee public golf course.

Willner Industries, a publicly owned company, also is building residential developments south of Forest City Mallard. It recently completed a 900,000 HUD apartment complex in Winter Haven.

In addition to its North Orlando holdings, Florida Land Company owns 4,500 acres southeast of Orlando near Walt Disney World, where it intends to develop a planned community named Orange-wood. The company also recently announced purchase of 425 acres adjacent to Florida Technological University for development of a new campus-oriented community.

Increase In Directors Bid For Housing Board

walked the streets of all the housing projects of Sanford and Ovidio, had visited many of the apartments, and heard everywhere the cry, "It is time for a change!"

Eufala Frazier, president of the state tenant organization, informed the assembly that Sanford's struggle has made the national organization leaders. She brought with her a package of legislative proposals for their understanding, discussion and support.

Mrs. Frazier pointed out the model lease law, the Brooke amendment law, which limits public housing fixed charges to 25 percent of net income (after deductions for family size). This includes charges for utilities as well as rent. She also clarified the court decision forbidding lockout by landlord, and permitting tenant to "knock the lock off." She emphasized another court battle was, forbidding arson removal officers from evicting any tenant until notified.

Salvi To Speak

Judge Dominick Salvi will address the Greater Ovidio Jaycees at a dinner meeting at the Ovidio Town House Restaurant at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Monthly Meeting

The Downtown Business Association will hold its monthly meeting at the Greater Sanford Board of Commerce building Thursday, September 16th, at 3:00 p.m. The Christmas Parade and Old Fashioned Days will be the main topics on the agenda.

Let's not overlook those officials who are now saying "Let's close the place and force 'em out of business." This could happen in a democracy!

Let's go back a couple of years and remember that these same people were saying, "Just what we needed for the area, etc."

If the powers-to-be are permitted to take this approach, then we must assume that whenever the police are called to settle whatever dispute, it gives grounds for closing or putting that establishment out of business.

And that means whether it's a football game, or on the golf course, or at the bowling alley, or wherever; instead of the law enforcement officers doing their job, we are enforcing the law and then instead we must expect that close its doors.

Askew's 'Fair Share' Tax Program's Show-Down

It may take a little more time, but the people of Florida may just as well make up their minds that they have in Gov. Reubin Askew a responsible chief executive whose actions as governor are in complete harmony with his convictions expressed as candidate.

Last year there was the youngish, sincere and completely dedicated state senator whose entrance into the race for either the gubernatorial nomination or the office itself was given short shrift by the political machine.

Yet the concerned voters listened to the appeal of an informed and experienced candidate who raised the flag of tax reform and carried it into the head winds which any such proposal whips up, especially among those who had benefited by the status quo.

Such reform was spelled out when the new governor discussed the 1971-2 budget and proposed that it be, in fact, a "fair share" instrument which would shift the burden from the personal to the shoulders of large multistate corporations.

After the legislature had debated this "corporate income tax" proposal in detail and depth, a constitutional referendum was scheduled for Nov. 2nd when the voters will have an opportunity to decide for themselves who will pay the taxes which the state must have for basic operations.

Now Governor Askew has initiated moves which will be directed towards clarifying the controversial issue (and it is controversial) and dispel the mist which the very powerful lobby created in Tallahassee during the legislative sessions.

What every Floridian needs to bear in mind is that this vote is not one of whether or not new taxes should be raised. Not at all. The vote is on who should pay them.

This is where the logic of the Askew "Fair Share" tax reform is foretold. For the imposition of a five per cent corporate income tax producing about $100 million, is truly a move which is fair to all concerned.

Florida's tax structure is accepted as regressive by analysts who point out that it does not, by imposing the burden on the individual, small business men and consumers, make provision for tax growth to keep pace with its overall growth.

The corporate income tax, already levied in 44 other states, would thus help to adjust the balance. Voters need to understand that the small business man, the corporation which is not making money, the corporation whose profits do not exceed the $5,000 exemption, indeed, $6,000 of the 110,000 corporations operating in Florida will not be affected.

Researchers have produced some truly incredible statistics. For instance, General Motors paid the state of New York and California each over $6 million in corporate profits tax alone in 1969 and paid the state of Florida only $1,500.

Some small department stores and car dealers in Florida paid more tax than Ford, Chrysler or American Motors combined. The corporate profits tax would correct this inequity.

Tax reform is an essential issue of the Askew administration. This first step will receive the most careful support and, quite expediently, also become the whipping boy for the propaganda mills which grind extremely fine, even away from Tallahassee.

Quite in character Governor Askew has now mobilized the leadership in every area of business, industrial and financial affairs to tell the true story of the proposed corporate income tax to their fellows and to the people who must make the decision. The Nov. 2nd balloting could well become one of the most crucial elections ever held in this state. As such it deserves the most careful study by every voter.

The nitty-gritty is, however, contained in the term "fair share" and it is to attain this that we give our support to the amendment.

Matter Of Rights

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has found it necessary to issue an unusual admonition to federal courts to clear up confusion over the application of last April's Supreme Court decision on achieving "racial balance" in public schools. The advent of a new school year finds many school systems faced with massive busing operations to meet local interpretations of the decision.

It is questionable whether justice or equity can be served at all through busing, but the chief justice has at least pointed out that it was not the intention of the Supreme Court to require that school officials mount complex logistical operations simply to assure that every school has the precise mathematical ratio of white and Negro students found in the district as a whole.

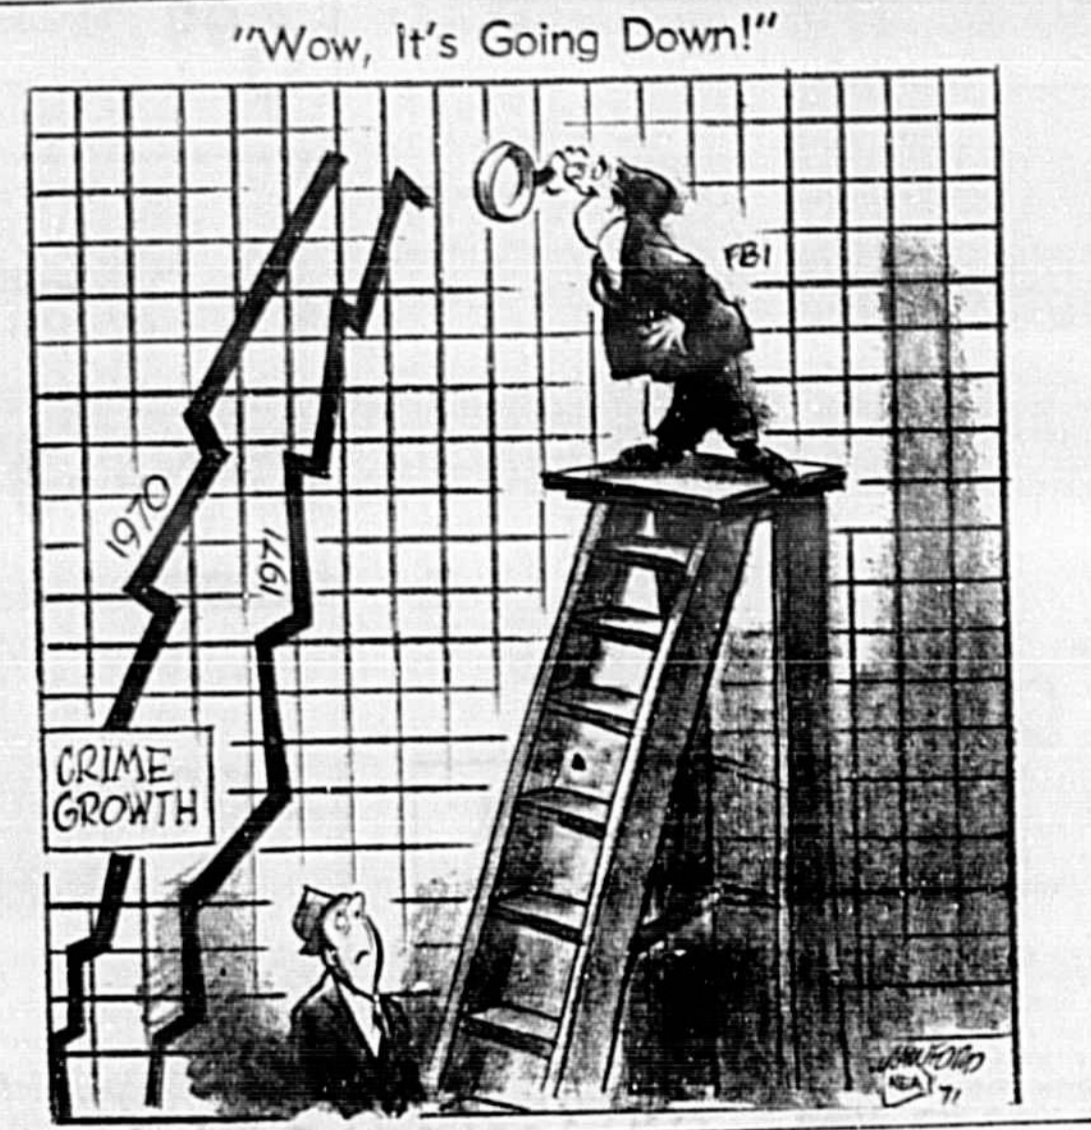

The questionable results of court-ordered desegregation plans are being illustrated in San Francisco, where 6,500 Chinese children are to be dispersed from schools in their Chinatown neighborhood for the sake of "racial balance." Chinese families have protested, without avail, that they are not victims of "segregation," and that the busing plan will only destroy a community they have worked hard to create and will thwart their efforts to perpetuate the pride of heritage in their children.

As a spokesman for the Chinese parents to points out, it is a "very strange doctrine" to force people to exercise "civil rights" they are not claiming. Whose rights, in the end, are being violated?

Deep Sea Divers

Prisoners at China state prison, California, are being trained as deep sea divers, in an experiment aided by federal government grant of $82,500.

Officials believe diving is a better preparation for freedom than making lecture plates or mailbags. After qualifying and completing their sentence, the divers will have plenty of job offers at up to $340 a week.

Fun, Jumping To Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: If a man lives long enough, he often goes through two childhoods. In his mature middle years he looks back and fondly remembers his first childhood; he looks forward apprehensively to his second childhood. In a way this is unrealistic, because the first is unrealistic, because the second is far less likely to be painful.

If human nature isn't inherently envious and contentious, why is it that when one person announces what time it is, everybody else in his hearing distance looks at his own watch to see how wrong the other fellow was?

Ever notice how many superstitious men, when they can't find a piece of wood nailed by to knock on three times in order to avert a peril or bring good luck, will rap on their head instead? This actually does nothing but shake up their dandruff, but it places them as much as if they had brushed their knuckles on a redwood tree.

The modern newspaper is one of today's miracles that have become commonplace through familiarity and therefore taken for granted. But with what else can you wrap a fish, line a shelf, and inform a human mind with truth?

Our Vaulting Population Crises

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — This capital is going to be a very, very busy place this fall and winter. It will all be important — Congress acting on the President's economic package, his decision on the next phase, a new Vietnam pullout announcement, welfare reform, revenue-sharing. But it will be quite secondary. One might even say shallow.

"These things of the moment will get the best glare. Our truly monumental dilemma, threatening the whole fabric of civilization, will be lucky to capture a little Sunday news space.

This dilemma is a complex population still raging industrialization, social disorganization, smothering pollution, world food shortages, diminishing natural resources.

This is going to happen on this globe in the next 30, 40, or 50 years is being decided right now in high government sanctums, industrial board rooms, city councils. Yes, the focus seems to be on the immediate. Only in obscure seminars and conferences is the longer future being examined. And very little word seeps out from there.

Aren't we showing healthy alertness to our difficulties when we shout ecology, map pollution curbs on industry, clamor for conservation and "zero population growth"?

To a point, yes, we are. But we nevertheless only dimly perceive the gravity of our peril.

When a hen lays an egg, she wants to cackle the glad news to all the barnyard. When man lays one, he'd rather let someone else get the credit. This is what is known as modesty.

A yawn may be impolite, but there is no more honest form of criticism.

Hal has no hidden fury like that of a secretary whose boss takes out once—but never again.

Among the two most "unionsized" professional people today are schoolteachers and doctors. One wonders what would happen if preachers were as well organized. How long could the nation hold out if a vast majority of its priests and ministers refused to deliver church sermons, baptize the young, pronounce a couple man and wife, or conduct services for the dead?

Speeches promising better education to the contrary, apparently we have not been able to improve American education to any significant degree.

Underneath those speeches and promises, we find that we really don't care enough? If a president announced impossible sounding educational goals would we rally today as we did in 1960 to John F. Kennedy's announcement that the United States would reach the moon by 1970?

How about financial literacy for all adults by 1987? Could we do it? Technically we could. All the machinery and hardware necessary for an effective educational system are available. We could start with one city.

In only a couple of months it could be wined for a citywide, multichannel distribution television system reaching homes, schools, hospitals, factories, offices and municipal agencies. A computer center could be included in the new communications headquarters.

Inside of five years, educational packages — from small "bits" to entire courses — could be available via television through various storage and distribution systems.

The city's resources would design and use specialized materials for classrooms. Home instruction could include high school equivalency, vocational training, consumer education and public affairs. Dozens of channels could be available.

Before long, educational bits would be available to all among the 50 states.

School Financing Changes

By DON OAKLEY

It seems inevitable that the U. S. Supreme Court will eventually send the California Supreme Court in the matter of school financing. If all have one thing in common pending in other states, any one of which could precipitate the "landmark" school decision of the Supreme Court in 1971—the contention that it is inherently unfair that school districts with greater resources of taxable real estate and lower tax rates are able to spend more money on schools than poorer districts with fewer tax resources and higher tax rates.

To take the example used in the California case, the lower middleclass district of Baldwin Park in Los Angeles spent $840 per pupil in 1969, while the upper class Beverly Hills spent $1,281.

Don Oakley
The obvious answer is for state government to assume the full burden—that is, to collect school tax monies statewide and disperse them on an equitable basis state-wide. Such a system is already followed in Hawaii.

The repercussions might not stop there, however.

If money available to schools is to be equal throughout a state, would it be legal for a district to provide a superior education for its children?

If inequality of education is unconstitutional within a state, is it constitutional among states? That is, should a student be penalized because he lives in a state which cannot afford to spend as much on education as larger and wealthier states?

If not, will the federal government sponsor or later be called upon to "equalize" financial quality of education among the 50 states.

Workers Needed For Planned Parenthood

By MARILYN GORDON
Planned Parenthood invites you to help prepare for today's children of tomorrow which will offer them something better than oppressive crowding, ever increasing pollution and soaring welfare costs.

Working in close cooperation with local health and welfare agencies, Planned Parenthood is seeking out uninformed women and encouraging them to use contraception.

"Trained outreach workers," often from poverty areas themselves, are gaining the confidence of their neighbors and convincing them that family planning can create a better life for them and for their children.

At the same time, educational programs are focusing young people's interest on the importance of responsible planning for parenthood.

Every dollar invested in birth control now saves the taxpayer $100 in future support and education of a dependent child. A gift of $10 will supply 200 birth control pamphlets for distribution in neighborhood centers.

Twenty-five dollars will keep an outreach worker visiting door-to-door for two days, long enough to get several women to a clinic. One hundred dollars will purchase a film designed to train workers or to educate young people.

If the group can raise $10,000, they become eligible for matching federal funds which will enable them to expand the program into neighboring counties.

Planned Parenthood is seeking new members. Members of Planned Parenthood, will be invited to participate in the annual meeting where they will have the opportunity to make known their views.

Members gain a special bonus this year, a lecture by Dr. Alan Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood World Population and a world renowned authority on population problems, who will speak at Rollins College on the evening of Monday, Oct. 4.

The public is invited. Please call Planned Parenthood at 843-3434 so adequate seating can be planned. The Central Florida Chapter serves all of central Florida.

GOP Study Legislative Remapping

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A Republican task force meets here later this month to chart the GOP's course through the coming troubled waters of legislative reapportionment.

Task Force chairman Rep. Charles Neppard (R-Fort Pierce) says he is hoping the group can "come up with a plan that will gain unanimous support of the Republican members of the state House."

Since most of the 28 Republicans in the House come from the same type of districts — counties growing faster than the statewide average — reaching unanimity may be relatively easy.

But for the Democrats, split into rural and urban factions, things may be more difficult when it comes to reapportionment.

Speaker Richard Pettigrew (D-Milton) already has said he wants to cut 18 seats for a 30-member House.

Opposition to Pettigrew's plan has come from Speaker Fred Tomporek (D-Starke) and other rural Democratic leaders who plan to meet this month to plot strategy against the proposal.

However, the Republican leadership apparently favor cutting the size of the House.

Minority Leader Don Reed (R-Boke Barton), explained the GOP attitude.

"The populous areas of the state are where Republicans are being elected," he said. "As we reduce the physical numbers, we should increase our voting strength percentage-wise."

In one study prepared for the legislative reapportionment committee chaired by majority leader Don Nichols (D-Jacksonville), the Republican stronghold — St. Petersburg, Sarasota, the Orlando area and the east coast counties between Ocoee and Fort Lauderdale — would have 27 seats in a 30-member House.

The 27 seats would boost the Republican share of the House from the present 32 per cent to 37 per cent.

Reed also says he can understand the reluctance of the Democrats "because in Dade County about 12 of them live within about two miles of each other."

He said the Republicans tend to support single member districts because "we feel the only way you can achieve one man, one vote is to have every elector electing the same number of representatives. We have an elector in Dade County electing 12 legislators as opposed to electing nine."

"The minority groups, blacks and Cuban-Americans, don't have the opportunity for representation in single member districts. I would envision a larger percentage of these being elected to the Legislature would be more representative," Reed added.

Tax Drive Start Soon

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew's campaign for adoption of the corporate income tax should soon be in high gear once a "campaign chairman" is selected.

The chief force behind the campaign will be Askew's Citizens for Tax Reform Committee, and speculation on the governor's director focused on Jim Smith, aide to Lt. Gov. Tom Adams.

Smith was one of a group of young aides who helped convince gubernatorial candidate Askew in the summer of 1970 to make tax reform, including the corporate income tax, the major issue of his campaign.

But assistant press secretary Maurice (Moose) Harding said Askew had not yet decided who he would name as staff director of the committee.

Askew said last week he would take an aide off the state payroll to run the campaign.

"There's nothing I'd rather do because I think it's that important, but nobody's asked me yet," Smith said.

The staff director will coordinate the efforts of 42 prominent Floridians whom Askew has asked to help promote the corporate income tax.

A referendum on the tax is scheduled for Nov. 2.

Askew said he was not planning a big campaign, but added that he might rely on some media advertising shortly before the election.

In the meantime, contributions have been flowing in and committee accountant Vernon Williams said $1,700 had been received as of last Friday.

"We've made an official deposit, and I understand that there are some other funds around the state that have yet to be remitted," he said.

Williams said leaders will meet Tuesday to decide how to release lists of contributors.

"We're not required to do that," Williams said.

Askew is no doubt mindful of the criticism that former Gov. Claude Kirk received for refusing to reveal the names of contributors to his $500-a-year Governor's Club.

Capitol With Dome, Columns To Future

By RICH OPPEL
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (AP) — In Fred "Bud" Dickinson's view, a shiny dome and thick white columns may be the most important legacy he can leave to future generations of Floridians.

"Two hundred years from now people won't remember what we did on the budget," says the twice-candidate for governor. "I think we owe an obligation to future generations to build a Capitol that reflects the feel of America."

It is more than just taste in architecture that moves the state comptroller to plug for a traditional style for Florida's soon-to-be-rebuilt Capitol.

"I feel the greatest contribution to the world is the American system of government—a democracy in a free enterprise system," the 49-year-old Capitol official reflected during an office interview.

"One of the symbols of the American system has been the columned, dome-type government center. So it's not just because I personally prefer columns and dome, but because I think it reflects democracy."

For months, the $34,000-a-year Capitol office has led a friendly fight on the seven-man Capitol to forestall adoption of a modernistic, 18-story tower concept for Florida's new Capitol Center.

Three 'Top Twenty' Squads Bite The Dust In Openers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The buffalo, especially the one that makes Boulder, Colo., its natural habitat, is far from extinct, as the Louisiana State Tigers found out Saturday night.

"We've ever seen such big backs with such good speed!" marveled LSU Coach Charlie McClendon after the Colorado Buffaloes bowled over his ninth-ranked Bengals, 31-21. "Colorado will be one of the top offensive teams in the country."

LSU was one of three members of the Associated Press' Top Twenty to bite the dust Saturday night as the college football season got underway with a rash of upsets which will tell later and will give a lot of folks some problems later in the season.

A 10-yard touchdown pass from reserve quarterback Dave Havren to Leslie Block in the fourth period enabled Pitt to tie the UCLA and stamped the Panthers as a team to be reckoned with.

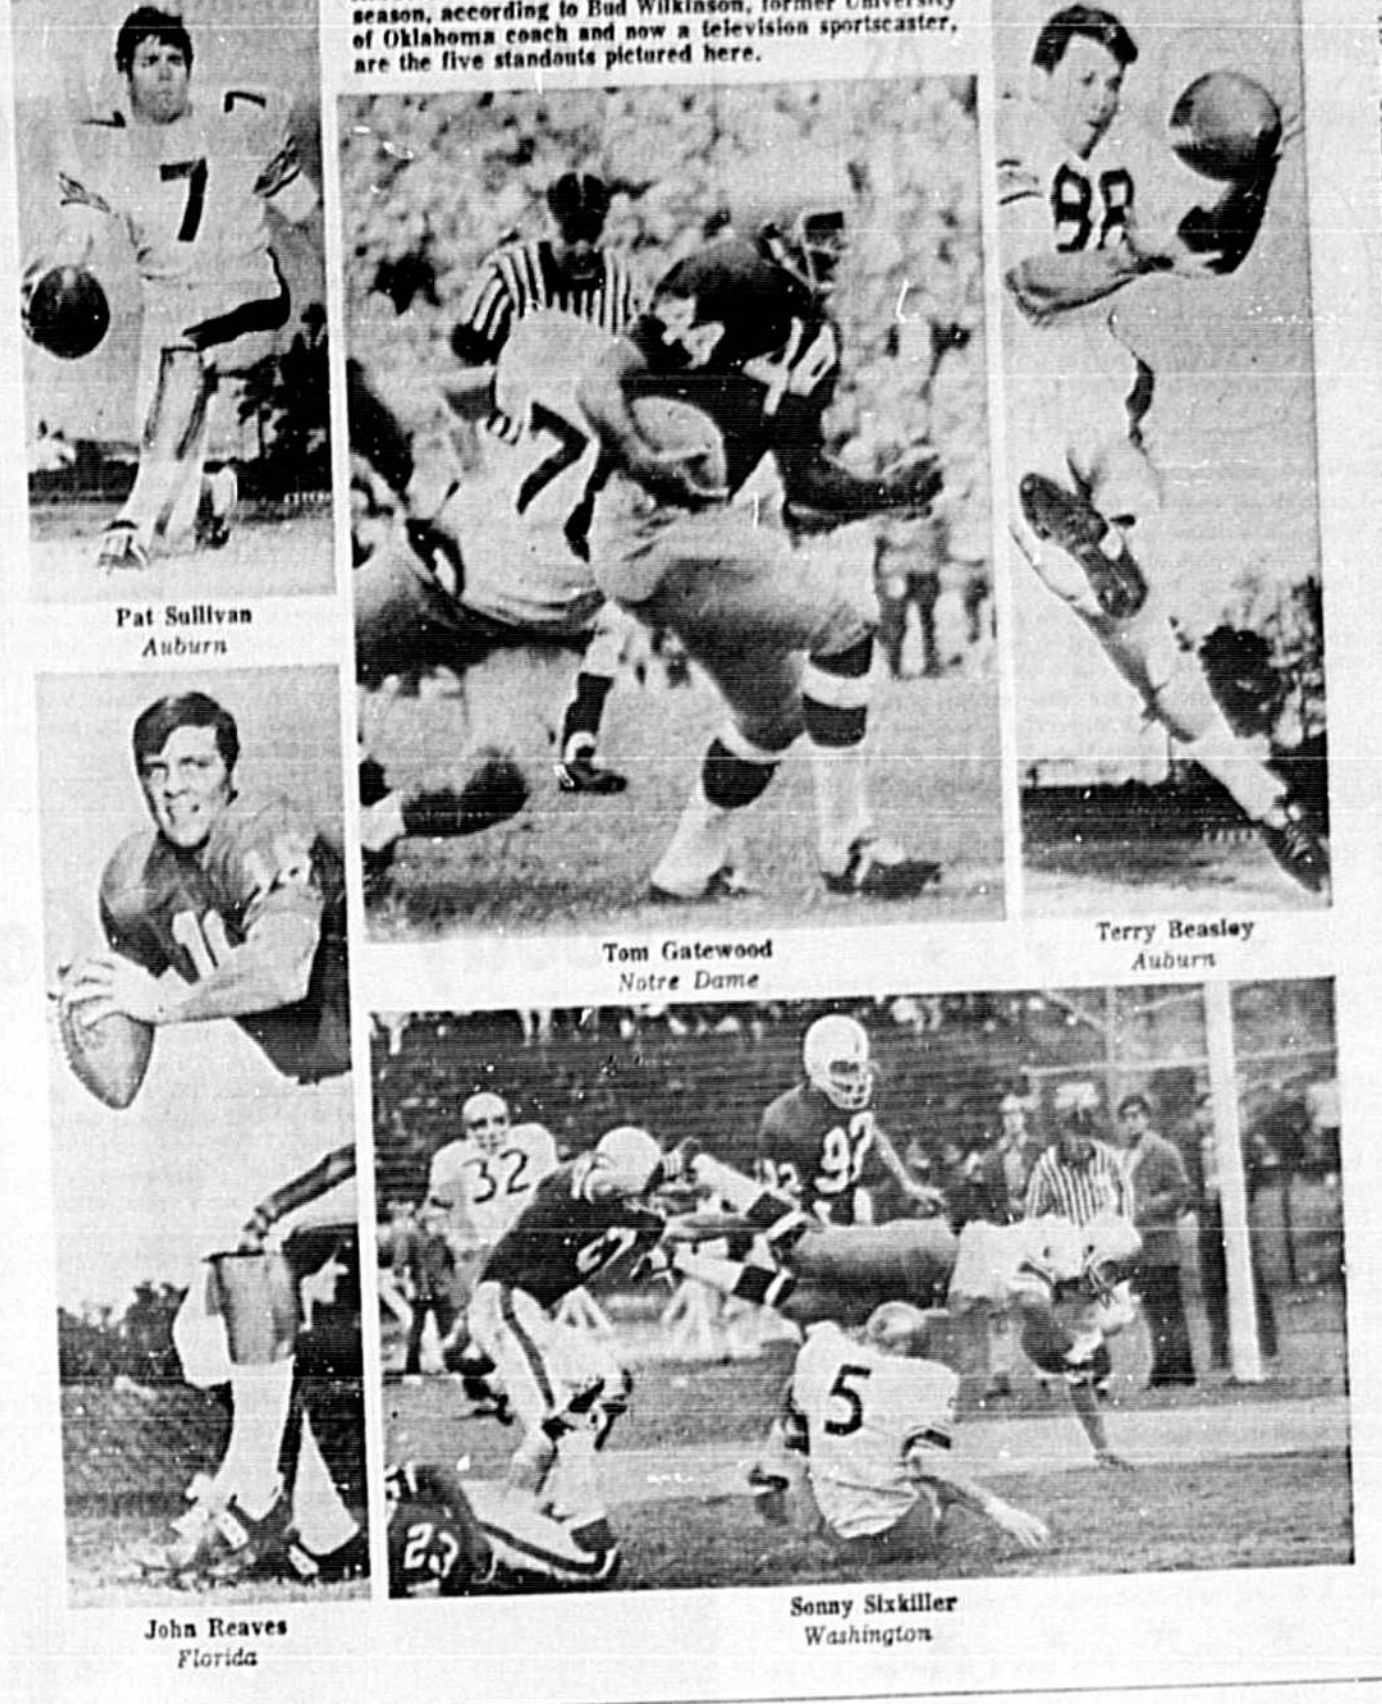

"It was a great team effort and we had to go with a lot of sophomores," said Coach Carl DePasqua. "But during the fourth quarter we had to come up with the big play and we constantly got it."

Havren directed Pitt to a pair of second-half touchdowns after starter John Hogan ran for the first half score and passed 21 yards to Doug Gindin for another.

"This was really a big win for us," said McClendon. "We dropped some touchdowns passes and you can't do this against a good team like Colorado and win."

"There weren't many bright spots for us," said McClendon. "We dropped some touchdowns passes and you can't do this against a good team like Colorado and win."

South Carolina managed only one scoring drive against Georgia Tech but blocked a punt for a touchdown, sprung Dickie Harris on a 77-yard jaunt, and picked up two safeties when the Tech snapper sailed the ball past his punter out of

Florida Upset By Duke; Seminoles Sail To Win

By HERBERT MIZELL

Only 12,133 showed up at the neutral site in West Lafayette, Ind., for the Florida-Duke game.

University of Florida football fans have been crying it for years, dying for a Southeastern Conference — or nationally — championship.

Momentarily, the Gators have a new wall.

"Florida coughed up enough mistakes for an entire season Saturday night, allowing Duke to dominate the game," said Steve Jones, workhorse running back at Tampa Stadium.

A humidity-drenched crowd of 51,667 jammed the scoreboard to see the Seminoles' Dave Wright kick field goals from 41, 22, 31 and 43 yards to settle a 12-6 game.

Jones set up all four kicks on a night when the 500-pounder gained 204 yards in 38 carries.

"We can come back and have a good season," said Florida's touted quarterback, John Reeves. "This team just isn't that bad."

The Gators' "comeback" hopes lie in next Saturday's game against Mississippi State at Jackson.

Elsewhere, Florida State's Seminoles rebounded a 24-10 victory over gritty Southern Missy at mostly-empty Ladd Stadium in Mobile, Ala.

Reeves shouldered much of the blame in the Gators' upset defeat. But he had plenty of help as a night cluttered with three interceptions, three fumbles and three drive-killing penalties.

"The throws were all wild from my fault," said John, who

Big John is about 70 yards from the Southeastern Conference's Archie Manning and sissyp's Archie Manning and some 1,900 from the national mark of 1970 Heisman winner Jim Plunkett of Stanford.

Bethune-Cookman's Wildcat never got untracked in Orlando and S.C. State got all the points needed by marching 63 yards over Forest to a 27 triumph over Davidson; Michigan State blanked Illinois 10-0. Minnesota whipped Indiana 40-0. Oklahoma State's group of veterans and rookies downed Mississippi State 26-7.

Dairymen Sponsor Grid Show

ORLANDO — Dairy Farmers, Inc. of Orlando, has announced that it will sponsor a portion of the Doug Dickey Show again this year. Dairy Farmers, Inc. represents farmers throughout the state of Florida.

The show of Florida on Sunday evenings.

Joe H. Baker, Sanford dairyman and president of Dairy Farmers, Inc., says the promotion of athletics fits very well with milk and other dairy products. Milk is one of the body's basic food groups and helps in the maintenance of a healthy and strong body. And most sports also help to build strong bodies.

Every 60-seconds the human body is replacing three billion cells. Milk provides high quality protein, calcium, and vitamins that no other single food can match. There are necessary for healthy cell replacement.

Baker adds, "Although it is important for anyone to drink milk, it is especially important for children. Their body is still growing and forming so milk is an absolute necessity for their diet."

Dairy Farmers, Inc. feels that most youngsters look up to college athletes. By associating milk with football, the dairy industry hopes to relay to the youngster, the parent, and the young adult, the importance of drinking plenty of milk.

Through the Doug Dickey Show, Dairy Farmers, Inc. also stresses the importance of plenty of good exercise and a good diet consisting of the four basic food groups of which milk is a member.

Detroit's 'Stroller' Doesn't Stroll

By LARRY PALADINO

DETROIT (AP) — His nickname is "Stroller" but anyone who ever saw him play football for the Detroit Lions wouldn't be able to get the connection. Low Barney doesn't stroll.

He races, dashes, flits, twists, spins, fakes, sidesteps, leaps and streaks. When the hold of the football, everyone expects excitement and everyone is usually satisfied.

In four years with Detroit, Barney has scored 11 touchdowns on runbacks with field goal attempts, two with punt returns, and one with a kickoff return.

A good year for him would do a lot to send the Lions to the Super Bowl, an objective that seems a strong possibility. The Lions have enough talent offensively and defensively to wrest the National Football Conference Central Division title from the Minnesota Vikings.

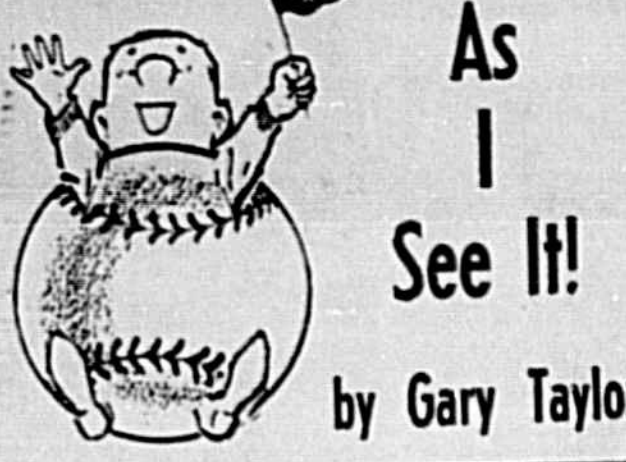

Barney is one player in a fine crop but it is Barney, more than any other, can't turn a game around in four short years. The agile corner-back has intercepted 32 passes, averaged 25 yards on 39 kick-off returns and returned 3 punts an average of 10 1/2 yards.

Everybody's Asking What's Wrong With Baltimore Colts

The Chicago Bears whipped Denver 33-17, Pittsburgh downed the New York Giants 20-2 and Houston defeated New Orleans 24-17. Four of Landry's TD passes went to Charlie Sanders, including one for 49 yards, as the Lions snapped a two-game losing streak. Landry had missed Detroit's last two exhibitions with a twisted ankle.

Want maximum comfort at minimum cost from your electric air conditioner?

Try these hints.

It's summertime. And you'll enjoy your air conditioner even more if you follow these hints. They'll help keep the price of summer comfort at a cool minimum.

Give your air conditioning unit (or system) an annual check-up. Like a person, an air conditioner needs a periodic "physical." And the best time to call your serviceman is early, before his "rush" season.

Keep the filter clean. The more dirt a filter accumulates, the less efficient your unit becomes and the higher your operating costs.

Shrubby helps shade the home, but should be kept away from the intake grill. Intruding air sucks leaves against the grill, choking off the air and decreasing the efficiency of your air conditioner.

Use outside shading or inside drapes to shut out sun heat. An insulated ceiling also helps keep heat from getting in. So does a properly ventilated attic. White roof tile and pastel masonry wall paints reflect the sun's heat and reduce the cost of operation.

Exhaust fans in the bathroom and kitchen will push heat and humidity outside and help keep you cooler inside. Cook the same electric way. An electric range is a cook's appliance. It heats your food, not your home.

Set your thermostat for the highest comfortable temperature. If your family is away from home for most of the day, it's more economical to turn off your air conditioner during that time.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE AND STILL GET MORE ENJOYMENT FROM YOUR electric air-conditioner

Get your free copy of the booklet "How to Economize and Still Get More From Your Electric Air Conditioner". Available, once again, at your appliance dealer or local FPL office.

Class For Women In Self Defense

By DONNA ESTES
LONGWOOD — One hundred and fifty Seminole County women are participating in a self-defense course sponsored by the sheriff's department, according to Duane Harrell, chief deputy and coordinator of the program, and more can join. "We will accept all women who are interested and there is no age limit either way," Harrell said as he reported the next session will be a lecture at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 23 at the educational building of First Baptist Church of Longwood. Use of the facility has been donated by Rev. Jack Lindsay, pastor of the church.

There are three phases to the program, Harrell said. Films made in the Orlando and Tampa areas showing the complete gamut of self defense from the kinds of locks which should be used on doors to safety hints for the home and methods of defending oneself against an attacker.

Negotiations Set For Utilities Sale

By KATHY NIBLACK
CASSELLBERRY — A new development in the city's attempt to buy the CASSUCO (Casselberry and South Seminole Utilities Company) system came last night when the City Council authorized the mayor and full Council to become negotiating agents in the matter. Negotiations between CASSUCO and the city had been handled for almost a year by the city's Utility Authority. Negotiations between these two parties, however, recently reached a standstill, and Authority chairman Thomas Freeman suggested the matter be turned over to the Council. CASSUCO also had indicated it is no longer interested in negotiating with the Utility Authority.
