

PRESIDENT EBERT FAVORS GIVING UP FIGHT

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE FORBIDDEN

GERMANS SEEM RESIGNED TO GIVE UP RESISTANCE IN THE RUHR DISTRICT

Financial Strain of Holding Out too Great to Stand.

SAYS EBERT TODAY

Passive Resistance Must Be Abandoned in Measure.

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Proclamation countersigned by all Cabinet Ministers called upon the people to stand by the Republic present hour, neverest soul searching and martial privation as only thus can the nations honor and life be preserved cost passive resistance makes it impossible to continue the struggle, proclamation said.

DUSSELDORF, Sept. 26.—Indication that the French intend to continue their usual course until formal action has been taken by Berlin Government, was contained in headquarters announcement that the military authorities made yesterday, occupied two additional mines.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—President Ebert issued a proclamation to the German people saying the struggle to support the financial strain holding out in Ruhr was too great and must be abandoned but only without a surrender in the slightest particle the German territory.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Support of Chancellor Stresemann in his efforts to bring about a speedy termination of the Ruhr and Rhineland conflict has sufficiently crystallized to warrant the prediction that the government will command more than a comfortable majority in approval of its moral declaration to the Reichstag Thursday. So far the government has been vouchsafed the support of the Ruhr and Rhineland, as voiced by its authorized spokesmen at Monday's prolonged conference support, which it emphasized, adequately reflects to immediate sentiment of the people of the occupied areas.

The charge that this conference was not representative is countered by the government with the statement that the men whom the chancellor summoned to Berlin yesterday constituted the same group as recommended passive resistance to Chancellor Cuno. The chancellor's conference today with the premier of the federated states and members of the federal council was also in complete accord with the cabinet's procedure, even the redoubtable Dr. Von Quinling admitting the inevitable necessity of scrapping resistance in the face of overwhelming financial, economic and social odds. The Bavarian premier proved surprisingly docile.

After conferring with the visiting premiers, the chancellor received delegations, representing the Reichstag parties, of which the German nationalists alone assume an oppositional attitude. The nationalists demanded nothing short of an ultimatum to France and a breach of relations unless the occupying powers immediately concede the points of honor which Stresemann sought to make a prior condition to his surrender of passive resistance.

Chancellor Stresemann's most convincing argument throughout his extended conversations during the past 48 hours proved to be the official admission that passive resistance had been costing Germany eight quadrillion marks weekly towards the end. The mention of this promptly mellowed the wavering doubters but the reactionaries preferred to make an issue of the nation's "honor and dignity."

Nights are so long now you can get home before daylight.

This is the first photograph of Adolph Hitler, leader of the German national socialist party, to be published. He is probably Europe's most famous camera-dodger.

DR. WOODLEY ADDRESSES KIWANIANS

In the Interest of Better Educational Advantages in Florida.

President Sharon was absent when the luncheon meet of the local Kiwanis Club was called to order by "Grandpa" Dumas, who asked Rev. Brownlee to invoke the blessing.

The members and their invited guests sat down to the excellent menu prepared by Chef Falck, and the visitors were asked to stand and get acquainted with the Kiwanis. Rev. O. I. Woodley, secretary of the State Teachers' Association and editor of the Journal of the Florida Educational Association; D. G. Wagner, of Kissimmee; Messrs. Green and Hutton of Winter Park stood up and were greeted with the welcoming song.

The following telegram, addressed to President Sharon, was then read: Sept. 26th, 1923.

President J. G. Sharon: For the future good and health of the Kiwanis Club you are asked to request Messrs. John Jinkins and Scheile Malnes, to remove their spoons from their ice tea glasses before they put their eyes out.

Sanford Board of Health. Rossiter and Overlin had charge of the entertainment features of the program, and announced that each member was expected to make a talk of not over 25 words. Every member responded to his name and told all he could in the limited time. Raffeld announced he would give a shirt as a prize for the best talk, and it was awarded to Prof. W. T. Lawton, who tearfully announced that it was most acceptable and that he had a place prepared for it.

Prof. Woodley, the speaker of the day, told of the educational situation in Florida, and of the methods that were proposed to better them, and asked the Kiwanians to join with other progressive organizations of the state in a movement to this end. A motion was unanimously adopted that the club endorse the movement and many subscribed for The Journal and became members of the statewide organization.

OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE WERE DISPERSED TODAY BY PEACEFUL MILITARY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26.—The Oklahoma Rebel Legislators were dispersed by military peacefully at noon today when they attempted to convene a special session of the lower house to seek the impeachment of Gov. Walton. House members gathered before entrance house chamber were given firm court orders by Col. Key, Military Commander of the city, not to attempt to assemble. There was momentary pause, Armed officers moving through the crowd and barked out orders to leave the building and without word the house members began to depart from Rotunda. Within five minutes the scene of clash between Solons Military and Capitol was cleared. Legislators understood now to plan to take the case before the supreme court using today's events as based. A march to the capitol began at ten o'clock. Legislators entering singly after being challenged by military identification, proved. As their number increased they laughed pleasantly chatted with friends in the capitol. There were 63 signatures to the petition an hour before the hour set. Fifty-four constitutes the majority of the house.

DEVELOPMENT WORK ON GREAT ST. JOHNS RIVER AS SEEN BY YOUNGBERG

Lt. Colonel of Corp. of U. S. Engineers Gives Many Facts.

NEW IMPROVEMENT FROM PALATKA TO LAKE HARNEY AND NEED OF 20 FOOT CHANNEL.

(By The Associated Press) Col. Gilbert A. Youngberg of the corps of U. S. Engineers of the Jacksonville district in a speech before the Civitan Club at Jacksonville one day last week said so many good things about the great St. Johns river that we like to reproduce but we have not the space. We will only attempt to give something of his speech that bears upon the upper St. Johns river as follows: Originally the principal obstruction in this stretch of the river below Sanford was at Volusia Bar at the head of Lake George, where a shifting channel afforded depths of 3.5 to 4.5 feet at mean low water. There were a number of other shoals between Palatka and Sanford and many sharp bends, some of which still remain, to the detriment of free navigation. Between Sanford and Lake Harney the limiting depth was about three feet at several localities. Lake Harney is approximately 200 miles from the mouth, but the head of navigation for steamers at high stages was and is Lake Polksett, 252 miles above the mouth, but small boats at times go to Lake Washington, 276 miles above the mouth. The present approved project for this section of the river contemplates a channel eight feet deep and 100 feet wide from Palatka to Sanford, but only five feet deep from Sanford to Lake Harney. The reaches of the river above Lake Harney are not at present under improvement by the United States and there is apparently no appreciable demand for improvement along the extreme upper course of the river. By August 1, 1922, the

CROMWELL AGREES TO APPEAR BEFORE GRAND JURY NOW

AND TELL ALL HE KNOWS ABOUT STOCK EXCHANGE. (By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the New York Stock Exchange, went before the grand jury at his own request after he had appeared at the offices of District Attorney Banton and declined to answer questions concerning his address at Atlantic City Monday in which he alleged politicians had attempted extortion from stock exchange officials under threat of adverse legislation.

After Mr. Cromwell emerged from the grand jury room, he said District Attorney Banton knew the names of men he referred to in his address and that public knew the names within a few days. He declined to amplify statement Banton had refused to say anything.

WHIPPING BOSS GIVEN MORE TIME TO FILE PETITION FOR NEW TRIAL IN THE MARTIN TABERT CASE

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 26.—The state supreme court has extended until November 21 the time limit allowed counsel to file a petition for a new trial in the case of Thomas W. Higginbotham who was convicted in July of second degree murder in connection with the death of Martin Tabert, in a Dixie county lumber camp in February 1922.

Higginbotham was tried in Columbia county on a charge of murder after the state had obtained a change of venue from Dixie. He was charged with causing the death by excessive flogging of Tabert, a youth from North Dakota who had been sentenced in Leon county court to a short term for beating his way on a train and later leased to the lumber company and sent to its camp near Cross City where he died.

The death of Tabert resulted in the North Dakota legislature passing a resolution asking Florida to investigate conditions surrounding his case. After a long drawn out inquiry into the matter, the legislature proceeded to pass the law that barred the use of a method of enforcing discipline in Florida convict camps.

HOUSE MEMBERS WARNED NOT TO CARRY WEAPONS POCKET KNIVES BARRED

Leader of Special Session Warns Members of Okla. Legislature GATHERING TODAY And Marched on the Capitol at Ten o'Clock Today. (By The Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26.—A statement warning house members not to carry the capitol building any weapon even so small as penknife was issued by W. D. McFee leader special session program to legislators as they gathered for the march to the capitol. He said final plans provided for house members go to the capitol singly. "There must not be the least thing provocative in our attitude," he warned and meantime everybody entering the capitol is challenged by the military. Only employees and state officials were being admitted. Newspapermen were required to present credentials signed by the Governor. These legislators left their downtown hotel at ten o'clock for capitol approximately 100 Guardsmen on duty building.

AUTOPSY HELD OVER BENDER IN POISON CASE

Film Promoter and Manager Had No Motive For Suicide. (By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—An autopsy in Oakland yesterday revealed that poison caused the death of William H. Bender, film promoter and manager for Guy Bates Post, actor, according to the story published in the San Francisco Examiner today. Bender was found dead in bed at the Hotel Oakland early this week. While newspaper quotes investigators as leaning to the theory of suicide because there was found a glass containing poison in the room they are looking into the case further in view of the apparent lack of motive for suicide.

Another unit of guardsmen will be brought to Oklahoma City early tomorrow to aid in blocking the called session of the legislature at noon, the governor added. Because of the military censorship over the troop movement, Governorship Walton declined to say what unit had been called. The executive made light of reports that there would be blood shed and violence when the legislators attempted to meet tomorrow. "Why I could take a cap pistol and drive all of those fellows into the Red river" the governor said jocularly. "I don't think there will be the least bit of violence."

Wednesday—Mrs. Henry Nickel entertains at a miscellaneous shower at her home on Hughey Street from 4 to 6 p. m., complimenting Miss Clara Millen, a bride-elect of next month.

Oh, I would go adventuring! Oh, I would go—would go adventuring!

I would fare forth in one of those great ships That take on cargoes for far, foreign ports.

And, restless, strain their hawsers in their slings!

I would be off—be off in one of them, I have a yearning for the untried seas—

Would see strange islands under burning suns— Would feel the warm caress of tropic breeze!

Oh, I would hear—would hear strange looking men

*Speak strangely in strange tongues that would amaze

My stranger cars! And I would dwell with their ways!

And I would see—would see old monuments

Built by forgotten men in cities where No living man now knows, can learn or guess

The meaning of the scriptures graven there!

If fills—it fills me with imaginings To catch a brilliant jewel's sparkling gleam!

The scent of spice or the sheen of silks

From India or China makes me dream!

And oh, I thrill—thrill to the feel of fur!

It brings the frozen forests to my view!

I long to see the tall, dusk sentinels

Cast on the trackless snow their shadows blue!

In dreams—in dreams I scent the heavy air

Of breathless jungles—hear the tiger call

His mate to him; I watch the bright birds fly—

Through giant ferns see monstrous reptiles crawl!

Yes, I would know—would know the far-off lands!

God, when He made me, gave me the desire

For mountain tops, deep seas and burning sands—

But Fate, the jester, gave me no health fire!

Sanford High Plays First Game of This Season Tomorrow

Will Meet Fast Seminole Athletic Club Crew.

The Sanford High School football team will play their first scheduled game of the season tomorrow afternoon when they meet the fast Seminole Athletic Club crew on Hood Field.

Both teams are in first class shape and a great battle is expected from both. Each of the teams have been practicing every afternoon for several weeks and are in top form. These two teams can well boast of some of the best football material in the state.

Johnny Meisch, captain of the S. A. C. team has made his crowd into a REAL football team and one that will give Coach Wilkinson's well trained athletes a run for their money tomorrow afternoon when they meet on Hood Field. He has a line averaging close onto 165 pounds in weight while the backfield averages 155.

The High School crew, while lighter than the S. A. C. team is chock full of tricks, new stunts and quick plays and combined with Coach Wilkinson's consistent training [is one of the fastest teams if not the fastest team that the S. A. C. will meet up with during her football year. The High School backfield is superb in making end runs, passes and line bucks, and in fact, it seemed to the writer that they were first rate in everything else in the football line.

And another thing about that game tomorrow, come out and see Sanford High's boys in the uniforms which have just lately been purchased and which will probably walk away with the State championship honors. Your backing is needed at these games if you want your town to be represented and advertised through the state this year. A first class football team will show other towns in the state what a REAL town Sanford is and what good schools she has. The game will start promptly at three-thirty tomorrow afternoon on Hood Field (that's on the lake front). The admission is fifty cents and your presence at this game is needed.

Probable Line Ups For Tomorrow's Game On Hood Field

Both Teams Strengthened Considerably In Last Few Days.

In looking over the prospects for S. H. S. game with the Seminole Athletic Club tomorrow it is found that both teams are in first class form for the game which is scheduled between them tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Wilkinson, in making out his probable line-up for tomorrow's game wants it distinctly understood that this is not his regular line-up but is made up of men who showed up fine in practice. At the same time quite a number showed up well in practice but the eleven below will start tomorrow's game. There are at least fifteen High School subs that will be on the side lines waiting for their chance in the game. The line-ups:

S. H. S.	S. A. C.
Russell	DuBois
Flowers	Hunter
Whitfield	McAlexander
Joe Meisch	J. Meisch
Fleischer	Culp
M. Moye	Thompson
Wilson	Gordon
Bach	Tillis
Peck	Bach
Lewiskey	Tyler
E. Moye	Purden

Game starts promptly at three-thirty. Admission fifty cents.

And the football warfare starts tomorrow!

And don't you think just because it is between two local teams that it will be a friendly affair when it comes to playing the game. Those two teams are going out on the field tomorrow afternoon, each determined to fight—and they're gonna do it, too!

Talk about pink of condition—why those two teams would make a Harvard coach sell his Cadillac and buy a mule and wagon!

There won't be any reserved seats either—the reason for that is because everybody will be so excited that they will stand up the whole time. Of course if you want to sit down—go ahead!

Another thing—take our advice don't bet! It's too risky! Why? Because both squads feel like the Man-o-War at Saratoga! And matched—why they'd make Toots and Casper feel ashamed of themselves!

To come right down to rock bottom facts (the field is soft and sandy) on the sidelines—it's gonna be a "sure and real enuff football" affair!

Now if you think I am a "prevaricator" just take a peep at the probable line-up for these two pigskin crews!

And the tickets are going fast, too! Joe's Smoke House is doing a poor magazine business compared with the way these tickets are selling!

And that's going some, too! Those line-ups are good but we'll bet last summer's straw hat there will be enough casualties to let two more whole teams in the fray!

A good idea, in our opinion, is for the losers of the game to get busy and level down the football field. It needs it and probably will need it worse after the game.

Or the losers can act as traffic cops while the winners have a shirt-tail parade down First street tomorrow night—if either side feels like it.

And that's doubtful.

A tip to spectators, don't get tipsy after—or before the game. Especially before because you might fall in the lake during the game and you would miss some of it.

And we want you to get your money's worth!

Which you will if you behave yourself.

But in concluding the hot air column let's get your promise to fork over a half-dollar coin and appear on the field tomorrow.

Your presence will beautify the scenery.

Put that in your pipe and blow hard with warm air.

government had expended on this stretch of the river very nearly $226,000. We have but recently completed dredging the channel across Lake Monroe from Sanford to the river proper and thence down to Palatka. In addition we have been able to dull the points of some of the most pronounced bends and we now have a channel eight feet deep from this city to Sanford, such that the steamers of the Clyde line, which are the largest now on the river, find no great difficulty in making the run. It is estimated that not less than $10,000 a year will be required to maintain this section of the river. Last year the tonnage on this section was very close to 161,000 tons with a value approaching $5,000,000. This figure shows a decrease of 6 per cent as compared with the preceding year. Only 16,700 passengers were carried on this stretch of the river during 1922, whereas, during 1919, 40,799 are reported. The reasons for this great difference are not definitely known, but are probably due to the construction of good roads, the multiplication of automobiles and the frequency of train service. The trip, however, is exceedingly interesting and every visitor and resident to Florida should make it a point to see this section of the river from the deck of a steamer. I can testify from personal experience that Captain Osceola will enliven the trip, for he has at his command a remarkable fund of fact and fiction certainly commingled. I have never placed him on oath as to which portions are fact and which are fiction, but I am willing to make oath that his stories are all entertaining.

As to the future of this river, I have already stated that we are making a study of the prospective needs of commerce and the improvements which should be made in the channel to meet such needs. The city of Sanford has visions of an internal seaport to be obtained by dredging a channel not less than twenty feet deep up to that point. The Florida Waterways League, which is backing the proposition contends that the celery and other products of the central portion of the state will not bear transfer from light draft vessels to ocean vessels at Jacksonville. They claim that refrigerated ocean going steamers must be able to ply between Sanford and northern seaports. I am now gathering statistics on the methods of shipping similar products from other points in the United States and other countries, as well as making estimates on the cost of deepening and straightening the river, and I hope to be able to submit my conclusions to the war department in Washington in the near future.

With reference to the river as a whole, and its use for water borne traffic, it seems to me that the outlook is very auspicious. Every day or so we read in the papers of the costs of operating the railways, of the necessity for increasing freight rates, of changes in the methods of computing railway freight charges, and of the inability of the railways to keep pace with the demands of the various communities. It is a well established fact that Florida is developing as rapidly, if not more rapidly, than any other similar area in the United States. The railways of this state, in spite of difficulties in obtaining funds, are enlarging and bettering their systems. According to statements made to me at numerous public hearings the railroads are however, already far behind the demand for transportation, and in view of these conditions the waterways should logically again become freight carriers. Recent improvements in gasoline and heavy duty oil engines, which can furnish power at comparatively low costs and boats and self propelling barges properly designed in the light of recently acquired knowledge will contribute to economical operation. Unfortunately, commerce is exceedingly conservative and adheres strongly to traditions, regardless of improvements in waterways or in boats. It has long been assumed that certain classes of freight must move by rail and that they cannot move by water. Shippers therefore are slow to support projects for the establishment of boat lines and at the present time these must usually be established by the projectors who alone must assume the heavy risks involved in the purchase and operation of suitable equipment, trusting to shippers to eventually give them a suitable volume of business. In other words, the owners of boat lines must carry the entire burden of pioneering, though, when successful, the benefits to commerce far exceed the profits which accrue to such owners.

It has been my opinion that the strong and active marketing organizations, which have been formed in this state and of which the Florida Citrus Exchange is a well known example should underwrite in some part at least the cost of pioneering in the water traffic business. It seems to me they should subscribe to the stock of companies which have a reasonable prospect of success and should guarantee for a certain time a certain volume of business and adhere to their guarantee, even though railway rates might for the time being be reduced to meet the competition and even though some losses might accrue at transshipment points. The operations at these transshipment points should be carefully studied with a view to expanding and improving methods of handling and thus reducing wastage and loss. On the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers in California it has been demonstrated that light draft boats can transport celery, vegetables and citrus fruits successfully and profitably from production points to transshipment points at the mouth of the rivers. This produce is in turn carried by ocean going vessels from California through the Panama Canal northward past the shores of this state, and delivered in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other points in the United States, as well as in Europe.

In conclusion, I would say that the rivers and waterways are here, the government will improve them as fast as business will warrant, but no single individual or small group of individuals can be expected to carry for very long the risks incident to building and operating boat lines thereon. Concerted effort is necessary and agencies already exist within the state for promoting and directing such effort. We have the Florida Development Board and we have large and active chambers of commerce, which now show a tendency to associate themselves for special purposes. In brief, we are now under way and all we need is to stay on the track and get up a more speed. In the words of the immortal American soldier of the world war "Let's go"—and keep on going.
