You never go broke taking You may not go broke, Engel says, but you may take a licking. A man who bought 100 shares of IBM in 1914 for $2.750 could have sold out 11 years later for $6,364, but if he'd kept his shares until 1961, he'd have been a millionaire seven times over.

Don't overstay the market. Keeping a close eye on the market in order to sell and take a profit when it takes a turn for the worse assumes there is a way to detect such turns. Some believe that the way to spot such turns is to watch production and consumption curves. Engel notes that

On April 8 when the 60 day regular session of the legislature convened, Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr. (R) summoned the Democratic controlled legislators to perform with a high standard of motivation.

Said he: "No Legislature has ever had the opportunity to create the vast and long-range improvement in government efficiency and government economy that is now before you as the result of the adoption of our new Constitution.

"Executive reorganization is indeed an historic opportunity," emphasized the out-spoken and aggressive chief executive.

Proven and entrenched Democratic leadership, however, who had been at odds with much of the Kirk operations during his first two-years as governor, apparently set about to show that the legisla-expenses and allowance is "on the books." Today, however, we deplore this situation as it does nothing to allow the legislators, and we do not underestimate the personal integrity and professional pride which impels the vast majority, to tackle the governmental reorganization which has enough conproversy without needing this heat.

The heat, we must point out, has come to the capital after widespread and almost complete puboutcry to indicate that the re-election of those who nor whose yeto message was critical in the extreme.

Even without the for of bitter emotions to penetrate, these legislators would be hard put to come up with an acceptable compromise before the end of this regular session. But this is the need. This is the obligation of session end and a special session be called by Governor Kirk to finish this job?

Informed opinion would point to just such a result. We believe that, once more, the voters have a duty to write to their representatives and senators. Let them know how you feel about this change or what change or no change. But let them know! We print again the list of the Seminole-Orange legissalary change. M-H-R To WTRR

Coming in "loud and clear" WTRR celebrates its 22nd birthday today with all of its oldfashioned integrity and all its new-fashioned programming over the latest equipment at its new home - one year old - on Celery Avenue. Now it is not usual for two rival mediums of mass information to live together as happily as we in our modern plant on French Avenue do with our radio friends to the east. Happily, however, we are bound together in the most friendly rivalry as the only local radio station and the only local newspaper whose allegiance is not split, divided or distorted by other devotion. Furthermore we are quite aware of the new breeze of vigorous achievement which now blows over our area. We salute with a more than superficial bow to our old friends at WTRR.

To Myron A. (Mike) Reck, pioneer radio man with 37 years of experience and owner and manager of WTRR since Dec. 1, 1948, a hearty pat on the back. And to Bill Reck, station director, congratulations not only for his work at the station by as a very active participant in civic

So you are thinking of buying your first boat Start by accepting this fact -there is no pat formula for deciding what boat is best for a particular use. An obvious factor is knowing the number of people who will ride in it, as is the water on which it will be used. A 14-foot runabout which might be used for skiing on a calm inland lake would hardly be best for big, open water areas, reports the Johnson Motors News Bureau. Because of the tremendous interest in boating, the selection of types is almost endless. Mass production has, in turn, reduced costs to fit the average family budget, and financing a boating rig is as simple as financing an automobile. In deciding on size, the interior should be large enough to accommodate not only your family but also all the gear you will take along. A shorter, lighter boat usually is easier to trailer behind a car, to launch and to retrieve. As to hull styles, there is no general agreement. Deep V's, catamaran, rounded lapstrake and cathedral all have their advantages. For this reason, be sure to secure counsel from a qualified marine dealer before buying. Fiberglass and aluminum lead in sales, but many boatmen still prefer the beauty and craftsmanship of wood hulls. The power of the outboard engine is somewhat dictated by the size of the boat, but neither over-powering nor underpowering is safe or economical. In choosing between an outboard and an inboard-outboard. consider the advantages of both. Most popular outboard engines are two-cycle and thus offer higher thrust, lower weight, ewer moving parts, and easier handling. In addition to the boat itself, a way of transporting it is necessary. Be sure to select a trailer large enough to haul all the extra gear which will be needed. Buy one with standard sized tires and carry a spare. Unless you have a 10-foot aluminum skiff, forget about bumper hitches and have a frame hitch installed. Some accessories are mandatory, such as fire extinguishers, anchors and buoyant cushions, while others are optional, Your marine dealer can be very helpful here, and also will counsel you on boat handling and rules of the water.

Elder E. J. Barnes, at Forest Lake Seventh - Day Adventist Church, Forest City. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Despess, Forest City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ramey, Salem, S. C.

Given in marriage by her stepfather and mother, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown of white taffeta, in a modified Princess empire sil houette. Her gown featured a scooped neckline with long pointed sleeves that terminated into points over her wrist. Her detachable train was embroidered with a matching lace motif and bordered with lace. The beautiful dress, train, and veil were designed by the bride's mother and made by the bride with assistance from her mother. Her three-tiered waist length bouffant silk illusion veil was held by a crown of nylon net, with a chain of baby pearls entwined throughout the crown. The bridal bouquet was of white flowers centered with an orchid. Mrs. David Deerwester, sister-

Noise Levels
All things appear perfect. The house is well planned, with every modern convenience. The taxes are reasonable. The neighborhood is condusive to good family living. And the price is right.

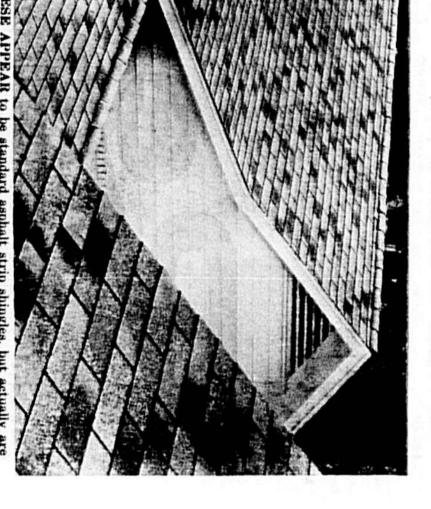

But wait, Before you sign that mortgage, you'd better ask the builder about "sones," which together constitute a factor so often overlooked by the anxious home purchaser.

If you don't know what a sone is, ask a friend who lives near an airport. Chances are he'll know, for it's a measurement of sound. And sound for this poor fellow means constant annoying noise.

While in all probability you son't be house hunting in the neighborhood of the municipal jet port, the thoughtful buyer today is very much concerned with noise levels associated with noise levels associated with various functional parts of the modern home.

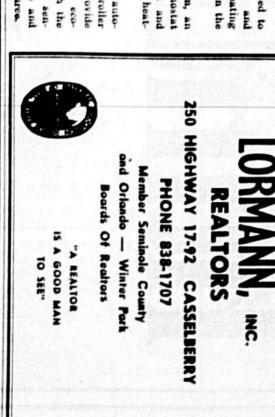

Take for example the noise caused by air being moved rapidly in a kitchen, bathroom, or wherever else there is an exhaust fan or blower for ventilating purposes. While builders or architects have determined the minimum amount of air, measured in cubic feet per
