Instead Of Portable Units

More Permanent Rosenwald Classrooms Favored

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Only a month after gaining approval to construct six portable classrooms at Rosenwald Exceptional Child Center in Altamonte Springs, district administrators now want to scrap those plans and build permanent classrooms instead.

Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities, told school board members Wednesday administrators of the exceptional child program now favor the plan to use $295,000 in state funds to build six or seven permanent classrooms.

Board members gave permission to advertise for architects to draw up plans for the project. They had approved construction of the portables in January.

Robert Furr, assistant director of the district's exceptional child program, said today the state prefers permanent construction over portables. Also, the campus would have been very cluttered with the additional portables, he said. There are currently five portable classrooms on the Rosenwald campus.

The state funding came about as the result of the closing of the state's Sunland centers which currently house profoundly retarded people. Those patients are being phased out of the state centers and placed in private facilities around the state. County school districts must take over responsibility for their training.

Additional School Board news on problems caused by growth is on Page 8A.

The Rosenwald Center currently has 114 trainable retarded students and 114 profoundly retarded students who attend classes daily at the school. Additionally, teachers from the center work with 29 retarded students at the Kradie Kare Center on Lake Howell Road in Casselberry. About 10 more students are expected to come into the program this month.

But the growth of exceptional child care needs will not end with the phasing in of students from the Sunland Centers. "As the regular population grows the handicapped population grows," Furr said. "We're expecting the growth to continue. We'll continually be under pressure."

He said the district administrators were concerned initially about constructing the building because a long-term plan of the district is to convert Hopper Elementary School in Sanford into a second exceptional child center when a new elementary school is built in Sanford. That school construction is expected to be funded during the fiscal 1983-84 budget.

"But even if we open up Hopper we can move those portables," Furr said.

Furr said the need for training for the profoundly handicapped is growing rapidly. And the costs of providing training, particularly for those students, is high.

"We can't just build a couple of classrooms to house 30 students," he said. "There's an impact on physical therapy and vocational work too."

The district already has adapted some of its vans and buses to better serve the handicapped students. Lifts have been built on to handle students in wheelchairs and movable beds who attend classes at the center daily.

But Furr warned the district may face financial problems. The expensive special furnishings needed for the addition may also prove to be a problem, Furr said. "If we use all of the money for buildings, we still have to furnish it."

Furr is meeting with the director of the exceptional children's program, Don Ricci, and Arnold today to determine some additional funding sources which may be used to help furnish the facility.

The $295,000 must be spent by June or the district will lose the grant.

Jim York (left), chief counsel for the Florida Sheriff's Association, tells state Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, horror stories about the confusion of state regulations in the operation of county jails.

"If legislators would only ask, we could give them a lot of background information on prosecutions of criminals," State Attorney Douglas Cheshire (right) of the Seminole-Brevard Judicial Circuit tells state Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood.

Sheriffs Tell Lawmakers Of Conflicting Jail Laws, Rules

"Horror stories" of what sheriffs' departments in the state of Florida must go through in trying to abide by conflicting state law and regulations in the operation of county jails were told to eight Central Florida lawmakers.

The legislators had been invited to Wednesday's meeting of the Central Florida Law Enforcement Association, composed of law enforcement officials from Seminole, Orange, and Osceola counties, at the Sanford Airport.

The original purpose of the meeting was to demonstrate to the legislators statewide opposition by law enforcement officials to a Task Force on Prison Overcrowding proposal to reduce mandatory 25-year sentences for capital offenses.

Jim York, who headed the Florida Department of Law Enforcement for some years before becoming the chief counsel to the Florida Sheriff's Association, told the conflicts he called horror stories.

He noted that while fire inspectors require that the jails have "pass-through locks" to enable inmates to get out in case of fire, the state Department of Corrections forbids sheriffs to have keys in the locks.

York said another DOC regulation is that each prisoner have 63 square feet to move around in and have 23 square feet to sleep in. York said that military personnel don't have that much space.

He said the DOC required the removal of some beds in county jails because of their space requirements. "Now some prisoners are sleeping on the floor," he said.

York urged the legislators to consider adding more taxes to alcoholic beverages. He said 85 to 90 percent of the crimes are alcohol related.

Douglas Cheshire, state attorney for Seminole and Brevard counties, got a hearty laugh from those attending when he told legislators that many think his office hires the handicapped, "but that isn't intentional."

Cheshire predicted there will not be "much pie to be divided up" during the 1984 session. "The pie is small this year but there will be some aggressive lobbying."

"There's been some squirrely legislation passed in years past, but this session will be known for the bills the legislators kill. You'll be doing society a great service if some proposals are killed," Cheshire said.

Without designating legislation he was referring to, Cheshire said "some serious legal loopholes—some pitfalls—are contained in some legislation."

Water District Okays Purchase Of Wetlands

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A plan to buy thousands of acres of wetlands to solve the problems of decreased flow and increased pollution in the St. Johns River was approved by the St. Johns River Water Management District Board of Commissioners Wednesday.

The approved plan is now on its way to the Army Corps of Engineers for its approval and for its design of levees and dams, a necessity before the work can officially get underway, Michael Gray, a Sanford attorney and member of the district board, said today.

In the meantime, Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, reportedly has filed legislation to forbid water management districts from purchasing land with property tax revenue. And this would defeat the St. Johns' plan, Gray said. "The revenues from the state 'Save Our Rivers' fund has fallen short of anticipation," Gray said.

The St. Johns River district budgeted $9 million in this fiscal year to acquire wetlands, but it only expects about $3.8 million to come from the state fund. The balance of the money is slated to come from property taxes of residents in the 19-county district this fiscal year.

The Board of Commissioners raised taxes this year to have additional money to acquire the property which would be used to store water during the rainy season and release it into the river during the dry season. In the process, water stored would be naturally filtered to reduce pollution.

Gray said if legislation is passed forbidding the use of property taxes to buy land, the project for the improvements now scheduled over a 10-year period would increase to 20 or more years.

He said during that lengthier period the values of the lands would rise substantially and the willingness of property owners to sell the land would decrease, especially if they had put the land to productive use.

Gray said he shares the view that the restoration of the river should not be undertaken solely by the property owners of the 19 counties in the St. Johns River district.

"The river is a statewide asset," he said. "The people of the 19 counties shouldn't be the only ones to bear the burden for the plan."

At the same time, Gray said the additional 5 cents added to the cost of documentary stamps by the Legislature is not sufficient to fund the acquisition of land to the scale that is necessary. The revenues from the 5 cents goes into a state "Save Our Rivers" fund which is shared among the water management districts in the state.

He said first estimates of the St. Johns District revenues from that additional 5 cents in fees was $5.8 million. Later estimates showed it at about $4.4 million and the latest estimate is $3.8 million.

"The money from the 'Save Our Rivers' fund is not enough to do the job," Gray said.

Langley could not be reached for comment today.

Streetman Is Expected To Challenge Feather

Fred Streetman, 46, of Longwood, who has been active in Seminole County Republican politics for the past 11 years, will oppose incumbent Seminole County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather in the 1984 elections.

Streetman, who owns and operates a medical supply business in Longwood and is currently Republican state committeeman for Seminole County, said today while he is "not categorically committed" to a race, he is certainly a serious candidate.

"In running for public office everything is a matter of timing in one's personal and political life, and now seems the time for me," Streetman said.

Streetman has managed all three of state Rep. Bobby Brantley's legislative campaigns and worked in the campaigns of U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, and state Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs. Streetman also has been chairman of the county's Republican Party.

He was a delegate to the 1976 national GOP convention and a member of its platform committee, has served on two county advisory committees, is a member of the U.S. Small Business Council and a delegate to a governor's council.

Streetman said he doesn't believe that Feather will run for re-election in 1984, but, he said, he has received no confirmation of his belief from Feather.

FRED STREETMAN

Feather is at a Jacksonville meeting with legislators today and could not be reached for comment.

Feather served two terms on the Seminole School Board before winning election to the County Commission in 1980.

Both Feather and Streetman are Republicans. No Democratic candidates for the office have yet announced.

Man Is Killed In Wreck

A 29-year-old Longwood man was killed Wednesday afternoon when his car left the road and crashed into a brick wall.

Richard S. Goodwin of 252 Cambridge Drive in Longwood, who was studying to be a mathematics teacher at Seminole Community College, was on his way home when the Fiat he was driving south on West Lake Brantley Road left the road in Forest City.

A Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said the car went into the left-hand lane, across into the right-hand lane and then crashed into a brick wall before rolling over. Goodwin was thrown out of the car and was pronounced dead at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs.

Goodwin's mother, Mrs. M. Anne Goodwin, said her son had just visited a friend before the accident. He was a Navy veteran and was studying to be a mathematics teacher.

"This was his last term at Seminole Community College," said Mrs. Goodwin. She said funeral arrangements had not yet been made as she was waiting for another son to come from Tulsa, Okla.

Lake Mary Community Center Plans Nearing Completion

Dick Fess, president of the Lake Mary Civic Improvement Association, hopes the first phase of the planned community center in the city will be under construction by the CIAs annual July 4th celebration.

Before then, Fess said, plans for the facility have to be prepared, a lease agreement between the organization and the city to use city property at Crystal Lake Beach Park must be approved and building plans and a site plan must also be approved by the city.

Fess added the plans probably will not be completed in time for submission to the City Commission at its next meeting on Feb. 17.

He explained Charles Elliott of Elliott and Associates in Lake Mary has volunteered to prepare the plans with only reimbursement for his expenses. "Elliott is doing the work for us when he has time away from his regular clients," Fess said.

The plans Elliott is preparing will have the structure designed for construction in three phases, the CIA official and former city commissioner said. The design will be done so the building will not look like a structure of additions, he added.

The first phase, Fess said, will include a large meeting room that can be split into two smaller meeting rooms, restrooms and storage space for the various civic organizations in the community.

Ultimately, within 15 to 20 years the building will have about 6,000 square feet with a complete kitchen, meeting room, restrooms, storage space, a stage and emergency shelter. It is to be of a modern style architecture. He estimates the complete structure will cost about $200,000, in today's value.

The first phase, however, will be mostly a concrete pad and walls under roof.

"We are all very anxious to break ground, but we don't want to get the cart before the horse," Fess said. "We must do this project in the proper steps. It's all contingent on how fast Elliott can do the plan."

"As of now, we don't have a definite plan," he said.

The CIA began two years ago raising money for the community center. Money which had been saved by other organizations over the years for a community center was turned over to the CIA. There is about $23,000 in the fund for the center now.

"Much of the labor for the center will be donated or given at cost," Fess said. "We are asking for professionals with construction skills to donate their services and those of us without construction skills will be helpers."

"Once the city plans are completed and the city approvals are obtained, the ground breaking will be held," he said. "Then we'll have block parties and other things for the donation of building materials and furnishings."

"I would like to see the building close to being finished by July 4, but that is an optimistic outlook," he said, adding that he hopes his manifest optimism will be converted into blocks and mortar.

Other buildings of this sort in the city submit site plans to the city's Planning and Zoning Commission for review and recommendation. And the city engineer's approval is also generally sought. Generally this takes one month. The plan then would go to the City Commission for approval.

Since the building is to be constructed on the city-owned 2.5 acre Crystal Lake Beach Park, a lease arrangement protecting both the city and the CIA must be approved by both sides and building plans must be approved by the city.

NATION IN BRIEF

General Motors Agrees To Recall Several X-Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. is recalling almost a fourth of its first generation of front-wheel drive X-cars — the 12th X-car recall — because faulty rear-wheel brakes can lock and cause the cars to spin out of control.

GM Wednesday said the recall of 240,000 Chevrolet Citation, Pontiac Phoenix, Buick Skylark and Oldsmobile Omega models was its response to an "initial determination" by the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration that the cars had defective brakes.

The recall marks the 12th time the X-car models have been recalled by GM to fix a variety of problems. GM refused to comment on how much the latest recall will cost the company.

Gorsuch In New Hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Already facing a contempt of Congress citation, the chief of the Environmental Protection Agency is locked in a new confrontation with Congress over attempts by a House subcommittee to interview more than 30 agency employees.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, said he would ask the panel today to issue subpoenas to the EPA employees, charging Anne Gorsuch and her general counsel were impeding his subcommittee investigation.

Mrs. Gorsuch, asserted she was trying to protect the employees' rights in demanding last week a lawyer and a Republican staff member be present during interviews by subcommittee investigators. She also insisted transcripts of the interviews be made available.

Handgun Ban Upheld

CHICAGO (UPI) — A state appeals court upheld the year-old Morton Grove handgun ban, which has withstood at least three previous constitutional challenges, but gun advocates say they will press their case still further.

"I think it's a terrific affirmation once again that handgun control is not unconstitutional," James Sloan, assistant administrator of suburban Morton Grove, said after the ruling by the Illinois Appellate Court was announced Wednesday.

"Hopefully, this will dispel the myth promulgated by the National Rifle Association and others that regulation of firearms is unconstitutional."

The ordinance, the first in the United States, says no person shall possess any handgun unless he or she is a peace officer, prison official, member of the armed forces or National Guard, or, under certain conditions, a licensed gun collector.

In Winter Springs

Fire Damages Home

By VICTOR ASSERSON
Herald Staff Writer

Firefighters took nearly half an hour to bring a blaze under control that caused $450,000 damage to a house near Winter Springs on Wednesday.

The fire started when the two teenage daughters of Dr. Frank Richards, owner of the two story home, were cooking french fries at about 4:30 p.m.

The fire raged through the house at 1408 Tusca Trail, off East Lake Drive in the Lake Tony area, destroying 80 percent of the property.

The blaze is being investigated by Chief Fire Investigator Ray Pippin of the Seminole County Fire Department, which fought the blaze. Winter Springs Fire Department also assisted in fighting the fire, which was brought under control at 5:10 p.m.

No one was seriously injured in the fire but a paramedic from Winter Springs Fire Department strained his back and a firefighter hurt his thumb.

CLERK ATTACKED

Two youths hanging around the parking lot of Country Hearth Thrift Store, 417 Magnolia St., Altamonte Springs, attacked the store clerk as she was locking up.

The two youths ran across to the clerk, Barbara Cole of Altamonte Springs, pushed her down and one of them slashed at her purse shoulder strap with a knife. As Cole shouted for help an unidentified man ran to her aid and the two would-be robbers ran off into nearby woods. The attack happened at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday.

THIEF STEALS FROM CHURCH HALL

A thief raided the Saints Peter and Paul church hall, East Howell Branch Road, between 11 p.m. Monday and 8:39 a.m. Tuesday and stole a TV, radio and calculator together worth $300 cash. The thief also knocked over a statue of Virgin Mary which broke into pieces.

Longwell talks about drainage on Sanford Avenue.

Sanford Commission Expected To Decide On Feather's Request

At a 7 p.m. meeting Monday the Sanford City Commission is slated to tell County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather whether it will give him more time to begin construction of his proposed multi-million-dollar life-care center on an 8.5 acre tract formerly owned by the city.

The tract is north of The Evening Herald building and facing Lake Monroe lakefront. To show the City Commission the type of facility he is planning, Feather invited the entire five-member commission on a tour of a similar facility — Courtney Springs Life-Care Center — on Merritt Island Tuesday.

Only Mayor Lee P. Moore was available for the tour. Feather said today that he has scheduled another meeting with the Commission at the Winter Park Towers life-care center in Winter Park at 12:30 p.m. Monday.

The Winter Park facility is also similar to the one Feather is proposing. It has 340 apartments and 106 nursing home beds in an eight-story structure off Lakemont Avenue and overlooking a lake, Feather said.

At the Jan. 24 City Commission meeting, Feather asked the Commission to extend for

Unemployment Claims: State Some Good News; Some Bad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New claims for state unemployment benefits soared by $2,000 to $17,000 during the final week of January, the largest jump since mid-November, the Labor Department reported today.

Coupled with the bad news, however, was a report for the previous week that showed total recipients of jobless benefits decreasing by 107,000 to 3.8 million, the lowest number in 10 months.

The initial claims report appeared to confirm a fear of many economists that the sharp drop in the nation's unemployment rate during January to 10.4 percent may have been an exaggeration caused by the process of adjusting data for seasonal factors.

The seasonally adjusted total of 3,843,000 benefit recipients for the week ended Jan. 22 under regular state unemployment insurance programs does not include 1,672,200 others receiving benefits under several other programs.

They include 388,500 receiving the 13 weeks of extended benefits after the normal 26-week period expires; 1,129,000 others getting checks under the government's special supplemental compensation program that triggers when the extended benefits expire; 102,000 former railroad workers; 37,700 newly discharged veterans; and 36,600 federal employees.

The increase in new claims to $17,000 came after three weeks of decline. That data is considered by economists as an indicator of job market health since those individuals will later appear as benefit recipients.

The recipient total of 3,843,000 for the week ended Jan. 22 is the lowest since March 13, 1982, when there were 3,718,000 recipients.

Mayors Proclaim Kidney Donor Awareness Week

Next week has been proclaimed "Organ Donor Awareness Week" in Sanford by Mayor Lee P. Moore. Moore joined with the mayors of Altamonte Springs, Casselberry and Longwood who issued similar proclamations for their cities.

Moore said the Orange County Medical Society Auxiliary is sponsoring "Awareness Week" to call attention to the need for vital organs that may be donated by individuals after death and the need to maintain such commitment now by signing a "Uniform Organ Donor Card" to indicate a personal intention. The Sanford Junior Woman's Club is assisting the Auxiliary in the distribution of organ donor cards and in publicizing the Campaign in Sanford and South Seminole County.

More than 2,000 Floridians are waiting for a donated kidney or cornea. These are persons currently relying on a kidney dialysis machine for life or persons who cannot see. Last year only 301 cornea transplants and 169 kidney transplants were performed in the state.

Uniform Organ Donor Cards may be obtained year-round from any Florida Drivers License Testing Office, through the National Kidney Foundation or Medical Eye Bank of Florida offices and through the Florida Hospital Transplant Unit. During the weeklong campaign cards will be available at area hospitals, libraries, Publix Markets and on college campuses.

Governor's Staff Wants DCA To Plan Keys' Use

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Bob Graham's staff recommended that the Department of Community Affairs be allowed to take over land use management in the Florida Keys.

Graham's Office of Budgeting and Planning urged the Cabinet Wednesday to grant a request by the department that it be permitted to establish a land use plan for the Keys to remain in place until the Monroe County Commission writes one.

Graham is not bound by his staff's recommendation, although he is expected to support the department's request when the Cabinet meets next Tuesday. The department already has prepared a map which would prohibit new construction in the Keys except for single-family homes in already developed subdivisions.

By temporarily taking over the permitting process from county officials, the state would decide what could be built and what would be prohibited.

Community affairs official Mike Garretson told Cabinet aides today state law probably would prohibit an all-out building ban, but he said he intended to prohibit "commercial, multi-family developments."

The Keys were declared an area of critical state concern by the governor and Cabinet in the early 1970s in an effort to control the rapid development that threatened to destroy the area's resources and beauties.

The designation allows the state to establish development standards which must be followed by local governments.

The community affairs department enforces the designation. It has been trying for nearly two years to get Monroe and five municipalities in the Keys to develop a county-wide land use map and local growth plans based on recommendations by a special Florida Keys planning and management committee.

Community Affairs Secretary Joan Heggen says progress by local officials has been so slow that the state should adopt its own plan to be in effect until county and municipal officials finally act.

Ms. Heggen also asked the Cabinet for authority to sue the county if it lifts a moratorium on building permits currently in place and tries to ignore the state land use map.

Graham's staff recommended that no action be taken by the Cabinet on this request. The department already has the authority to seek an injunction against Monroe and doesn't need the Cabinet's permission, it said.

Air Force Is Seeking Prior Military Members

Air Force recruiting officials have announced increased job vacancies for former military members.

An emphasis is being placed on recruiting fully qualified former members of the armed services for placement in selected career fields needed by the Air Force.

Sgt. John R. Elder said any prior service member considering enlistment in the Air Force may contact the recruiting office by calling 628-5723 or bringing discharge documents to the local office at 2699 Lee Road, Suite 115, Winter Park. Elder will assist former members to determine if their skills are on the current job vacancy listing and provide additional details concerning qualifications and application for placement.

Vacancies exist in some electronics areas, as well as other specialties. Persons seeking details about these openings should bring a copy of their most recent DD-214 discharge document to the recruiting office.

Southern Senators Attack 'Mausoleum'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several Southern senators aren't too happy about the new Hart Senate Office Building and its $137 million price tag.

The Senate's 100 members were housed for years in two office buildings beside the Capitol, the Russell and Dirksen Buildings. But growing Senate staffs and a dizzying array of committees and support staff soon bumped Senate personnel into annex space.

In 1972, when more and bigger government was deemed best, the Senate planned itself the ultimate office building. Construction began in 1976 and is now nearly complete. Fifteen senators have already moved in and eventually 50 will call Hart home.

But things have changed and austerity is the key word on Capitol Hill. Fiscal conservatives have not taken the Hart building to heart.

A rooftop restaurant and private gym have been eliminated, even though the space for both remains in the 12-level marble building.

Space is the key word in discussing Hart. Thousands of Hart's 1.1 million square feet are wasted. The atrium, for example, which stretches from the ground floor to a skylight ceiling, is big enough for a touch football game.

"The atrium is all wasted space," moaned Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., one of Hart's most outspoken critics. "It's large enough to make it a military parade ground. Can't use it for that, though, because the floor is so slick that you can't do an 'about face' on it."

Elliot Carroll, executive assistant in the Capitol Architect's office, said the atrium would have housed landscaping and a "major work of sculpture," but the Senate scrapped those plans in its economy move.

Carroll said he believes the original plans will eventually be completed, even if the money is raised through private donations.

"Not only is it ugly, the interior design is extremely awkward for offices," said Sen. Mack Mattingly, R-Ga. "More space is wasted than used. There's room to hide a battery of MX missiles."

The Senate Rules Committee apparently believed senators would be anxious to move into the new building. Not so. The committee has had to twist arms to fill the modernistic complex.

"Most of the senators moving into the Hart building are doing so only under duress," said

Mattingly, who will relocate his staff there, probably in March.

Heflin and his staff are moving in this month. He and other senators, like Tennessee's Jim Sasser, are quick to note they fought against funding Hart.

"It wasn't approved on my shift," said Heflin of Hart, which was dubbed the 'Marble Mausoleum' by one Senate staffer.

"I opposed the construction of the Hart Building when it was first approved because I felt it was too expensive and an unnecessary extravagance," said Sasser.

"We in Congress have to set an example for austerity throughout government, and this building does not do that," he said.

There are times when charge cards just won't do the trick and your checking account can't quite handle an extraordinary purchase. So why not get ready now for the next time it does? With an Executive Credit account from Southeast Bank.

You simply write one of your special Executive Credit checks. They look exactly the same as your personal bank checks. That way, you're the only person who knows you're using Executive Credit.

If you're already a Southeast customer, one application is all we need to establish your line of credit. If you don't now bank with Southeast, Executive Credit is a smart reason to change. Because with Executive Credit, you may never have to apply for a loan again. You pay your children's tuition or make the most of that investment opportunity just by writing a check. With no hassles and no waiting. As if you had the money all along.

And you get all this without paying an arm and a leg in interest. If you have reasonable equity—in your home, for instance—you can secure your line of credit at the low, prime corporate lending rate. That's right, prime. Even unsecured, it's still unbeatable at prime plus only two percent.

With the Executive Credit Signature account, the rate of interest will be adjusted each month and will be set at the prime rate plus 2%. The annual percentage rate will vary with the prime rate. You pay nothing unless you borrow.

With the Executive Credit Equity account, your interest rate will be equal to the prime rate. The annual percentage rate will vary with the prime rate. An initial fee of $70 plus other nominal out-of-pocket expenses will be charged when your request is approved.

To establish your Executive Credit account, see a Southeast banker at one of over 130 Southeast Banking Centers throughout Florida. Because we believe you should always be able to get what you want. When you want it. With Executive Credit from Southeast Bank.

One Cuba Is Enough

Secretary Richard Schweiker was heading out the door at the Department of Health and Human Services when he issued a directive bound to involve his office in controversy. He proposed a rule that clinics receiving federal funds notify the parents of teen-age girls who receive prescriptions for birth control pills or devices.

The Planned Parenthood Federation is going to court to challenge either the rule or the 1981 congressional act on which it is based. The rule would apply to some 4,000 clinics around the country, many of them operated by Planned Parenthood.

Schweiker's rule strikes us as a mistake. Clinics should not be put in the position of "squealing" on sexually active youngsters who want help to avoid pregnancy. But the rule may only reflect the larger mistake of assuming that it is a federal obligation to provide birth control services to minors.

Congress tried to square itself by providing in 1981 that federal funds be provided to birth control clinics only on terms that encourage parental participation in serving clients under the age of 18. It is that condition which Schweiker's rule attempts to satisfy.

As critics point out, the rule may drive away many of the youngsters who need help. There is one compromise that might satisfy Congress without undercutting the value of the clinics altogether. Young clients would be provided ample information about birth control and urged to level with their parents about their need to practice it. But the clinics would provide birth control pills or devices only to minor clients who submit an approval form signed by a parent or guardian.

That's much less than what Planned Parenthood wants, but Congress may have to rewrite the law to give federally funded clinics the complete confidentiality rule they seek.

Clinical Mistake

The brutal political killings now afflicting Surinam on the northern coast of South America are distressing by any standard.

More is at stake in this tiny country, however, than the barbaric methods chosen by Lt. Col. Daisi Bouterse, Surinam's military strongman, to eliminate political opposition.

The 15 respectable citizens who were tortured and murdered by Bouterse's private armed force had strongly opposed their nation's growing ties with Cuba and other Marxist regimes. Their outspoken alarm, for which they paid with their lives, should ignite some real concern in the United States.

An effort by Cuba to establish the first communist beachhead on the South American continent since the demise of the Allende regime in Chile a decade ago should not be tolerated.

The United States has taken an appropriate first step by stopping the $1.5 million aid program for the country, once known as Dutch Guiana. And the Netherlands has suspended payment of $100 million annually to its former colony.

Pressure now must be kept on Bouterse to mend his ways. He should be told in unmistakable terms that the United States will not abide subversion of his nation by Cuba and the Soviet Union.

Moreover, Havana and Moscow should be put on notice that this Marxist penetration into the Western Hemisphere, which is of primary concern to the United States, will invite consequences.

With the brutal butchery of his opponents, Bouterse has demonstrated his affinity for Fidel Castro's philosophy.

But one Cuba in the Western Hemisphere is more than enough.

ROBERT WALTERS Reagan Becoming Debt-Builder

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Reagan, who has incessantly stressed his commitment to balancing the federal budget, now is well on his way to adding more to the national debt than all of his predecessors combined.

When Reagan was sworn into office in January 1981, the national debt—the dismal heritage of the federal government's deficit spending since the founding of the republic—stood at $93.4 billion.

The White House now has released (with as little fanfare as possible) figures which show that if the president serves two full four-year terms and if congress approves all of his budget proposals, the national debt will increase by more than $1.2 trillion during Reagan's tenure.

During the current fiscal year alone, "the deficit we now estimate...is well over $200 billion," admits Office of Management and Budget Director David Stockman. That single-year figure exceeds the deficit accumulated by any prior president during his entire term in office.

Those comparisons are somewhat misleading because they are not adjusted for inflation which has steadily eroded the real value of the dollar—but Reagan's deficits are enormous even after compensating for inflation.

In February 1981, less than a month after he moved into the White House, the president unveiled his "Program for Economic Recovery" which promised a balanced budget by 1984 and surpluses in all subsequent years.

But when Treasury Secretary Donald Regan was recently asked to identify the year in which the Reagan administration now predicts a balanced budget, he replied: "We're only required to have five-year projections (through 1988)...It wouldn't happen in that five years."

The devastating admissions on the part of Regan and Stockman came during a White House news briefing immediately prior to the president's state of the Union address—a speech which could have left casual listeners confused about Regan's political affiliation and ideological orientation.

The speech was rife with expressions of compassion for groups of citizens usually the subject of Democrats' oratorical concern—steel and auto workers, black teen-agers, working mothers, single parents, members of minority groups and victims of unemployment.

It covered virtually the entire catalog of traditional Democratic causes—including rescuing Social Security, expanding employment opportunities, ending discrimination against women and enforcing fair housing laws.

The words "fair and 'fairness'"—which the Democrats have sought to monopolize as a rhetorical weapon to attack the Republicans in recent months—were used in various forms no less than a dozen times in the president's address.

But behind that rhetoric lies essentially the same program which has provoked criticism of the president from Republicans as well as Democrats in recent months.

JACK ANDERSON

SocSec Needs Help Spotting Disabled

WASHINGTON—The Social Security Administration's zealous efforts to cut costs by lopping beneficiaries off the rolls has stripped many disabled Americans of legitimate payments.

Two months ago, Deputy Commissioner Paul Simmons acknowledged to a House subcommittee that there had indeed been some "seemingly senseless" terminations of benefits "despite glaringly obvious disabilities."

He assured the members that new standards for ascertaining disabilities had been issued to the field offices, but he declined to describe exactly what the standards are. I think I know why.

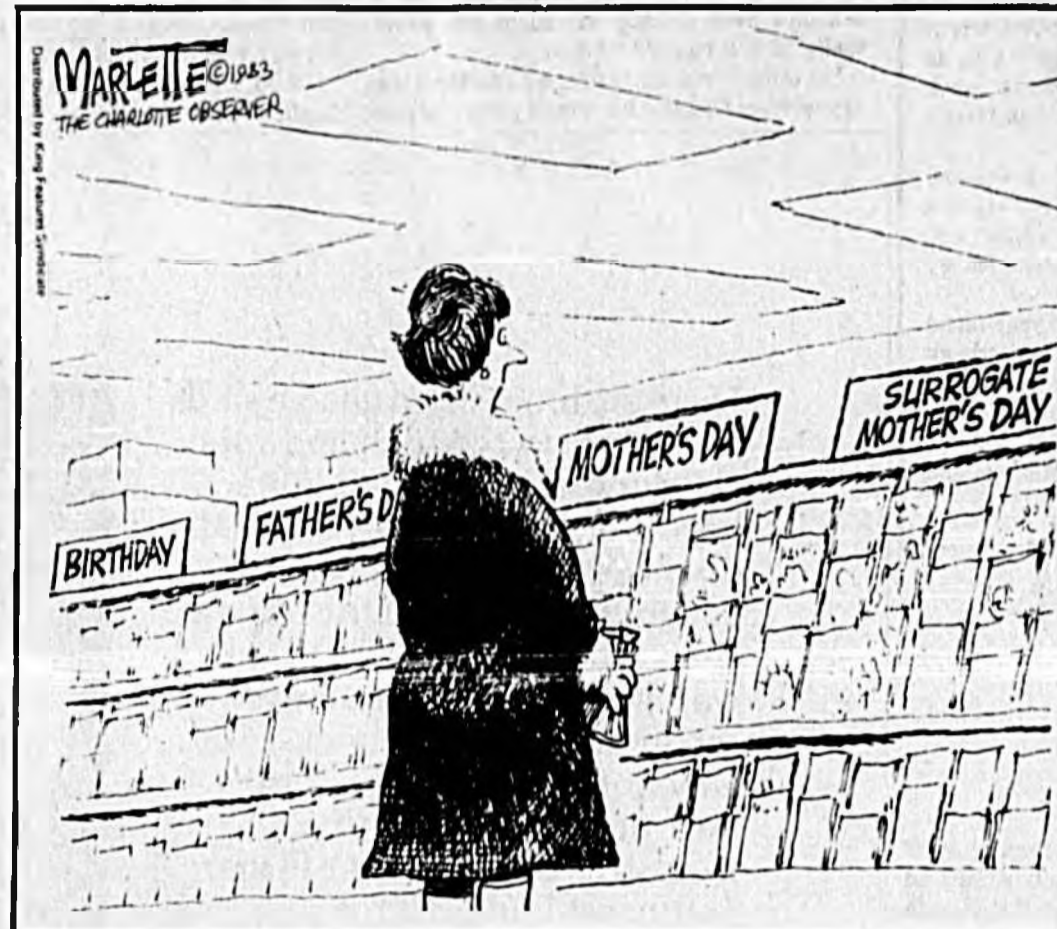

The agency has issued a training manual to help its bureaucrats spot obvious cases of disability. The trouble is, the symptoms it lists are so glaringly obvious it makes you wonder if the Social Security Administration thinks its field officials are themselves disabled by blindness or deafness.

Actually, it's a little scary that such prima facie evidence of disability has to be spelled out. A 5-year-old child would know there was something seriously wrong with people who exhibited the disabilities listed. Consider these examples from the manual, which was slipped to my associate Donald Goldberg:

- An applicant qualifies as eligible for disability benefits if he or she:
  - Has had a leg amputated at the hip;
  - Is over 55 and has had any limb amputated;
  - Has had two limbs amputated regardless of age;
  - Suffers a heart attack, psychiatric disturbance or other seizure while in the Social Security office or on the way there;
  - Arrives in a wheelchair and "is only able to move her head to the side and utter unintelligible sounds," or
  - Reports that "his doctor just told him he will have to have his left foot amputated next month" because of a serious disease.

There is little guidance for judging those applicants whose disability may not be readily apparent. Unless, as mentioned, the individual throws an actual fit during or just before the interview, the bureaucrats are not told how to spot mental disability.

An attached memorandum explains: "We have tried to (give) an example that would fit all situations you may encounter, but we are unable to do so due to the variant nature of mental impairments. (There) will be cases in which the beneficiary demonstrates such

EDUCATION WORLD Young Scientists' Projects

PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

Young scientists, winners of the 42nd annual Science Talent Search, look through telescopes and microscopes in probing outer and inner space, print pictures on geranium leaves and do other amazing things.

The forty, 16 to 18 years of age, follow big footsteps. Five former winners of the talent search conducted by Science Service have received Nobel Prizes!

New York, with 19 winners, comes out as young scientist capital of the nation. Florida, with four winners, is in second place, followed by Michigan and Texas with two apiece.

States with one winner include Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Mexico, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin. Puerto Rico also had one winner.

A sampling of 1983 winners and projects:

—Terri Lynn Stanford, 17, of Coral Springs, Fla., compared the problem-solving performance of a dozen women in each decade of life between age 20 and 80 in three different color vision tests. She believes results show perceptual difficulties — such as not being able to see too well — associated with advanced age seem to have significance in problem solving performance.

—Shari-Lynn Umlas, 17, of North Miami Beach, Fla., believes her experiments show stress in the form of noise can inhibit the immune system by decreasing certain blood reactions.

—Zoher Ghogawala, 17, of Overland Park, Kans., looked into a process for cleaning up oil spills. He ran more than a hundred tests, showing the ability of silicone-coated white sand to cause a simulated crude oil spill to sink into simulated marine water.

—Michael Fritz Webb, 18, of Omaha, Neb., a physical fitness enthusiast and champion swimmer, studied straight and curved swimming stroke patterns. His tests showed the curved stroke to be faster and more efficient.

—William Chiang, 16, of New York City, built an electronic roulette wheel and used photocells to test the brightness of light in a room. He won with a paper in advanced number theory.

—Larry Gene Spears Jr., 17, of Houston, Texas, investigated storage methods for solar heating systems. He worked with liquid systems containing hydrated salts which undergo a change when heat is applied. He showed the chemical change is reversible. As a result, stored energy can be released later when needed.

—Celeste Aline Ewalt, 17, of Lafayette, Ind., reported on her three-year investigation into explosions in grain elevators. She designed a suppression system. She believes it can prevent secondary, more violent explosions from occurring. Tested on a scale model, she said the system reacts to the pressures created by a primary explosion to propel a high pressure gas or powder suppressant which surrounds and extinguishes the first explosion before it can travel.

—David Fox, 17, Levittown, N.Y., developed a method for obtaining a photographic print on a geranium leaf.

—Elihu McMahon II, of Bronx, N.Y., designed a wind turbine with blades made of sailcloth to make them lightweight and able to generate electricity at lower wind speeds.

The competition produced some firsts.

Marcelo Colon, 17, of Gurabo, Puerto Rico, is the first Puerto Rican winner. He studied a plant used commonly in Puerto Rican folk medicine for gastrointestinal infections. The experiments showed the plant extractions effective against 16 species of bacteria. The plant is known in botanical circles as Solanum nigrum.

The top winner, to be announced March 7, will get a $12,000 scholarship. The other prizes: Two receive $10,000 scholarships; three, $7,500; four, $5,000 each. The remaining national winners in the competition funded by Westinghouse, receive $500 awards.

What does the future hold for winners?

A survey of past winners shows 99 percent earn B.S. or higher degrees, and 70 percent achieve Ph.D. or M.D. degrees.

More than half the respondents of the survey believe winning the Search helped them gain admission to their first-choice college.

About 43 percent of former winners are now teaching in colleges or universities.

ROBERT WAGMAN Chicago Fights For World's Fair

CHICAGO (NEA)—If Chicago has its way, the most magnificent world's fair ever seen will open a six-month run on April 15, 1992, on what is now Lake Michigan, just south of the downtown "Loop". However, the fair's planners will first have to conquer some major obstacles—both domestic and international.

The year 1992 will mark the 500th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of the New World. About two years ago, a group of Chicago businessmen came up with the idea of planning something grand—a full-blown world's fair—to celebrate the occasion. But as they soon found out, you can't have a world's fair just by planning one: Getting permission requires thorny international negotiations.

The Paris-based Bureau of International Exhibitions—which sanctions all international exhibitions—has 47 member countries, one of which is the United States. No BIE member can hold an international show without official BIE sanction, nor can a BIE member country participate in a fair that lacks BIE approval.

There are two classes of world's fairs: A Class One (universal category) fair is a major general fair, such as the one held in New York in 1964 and, more recently, in Montreal. Class Two fairs (specialized category) are smaller "theme fairs, such as the one held last year in Knoxville; these are about one-fifth the size of Class One fairs.

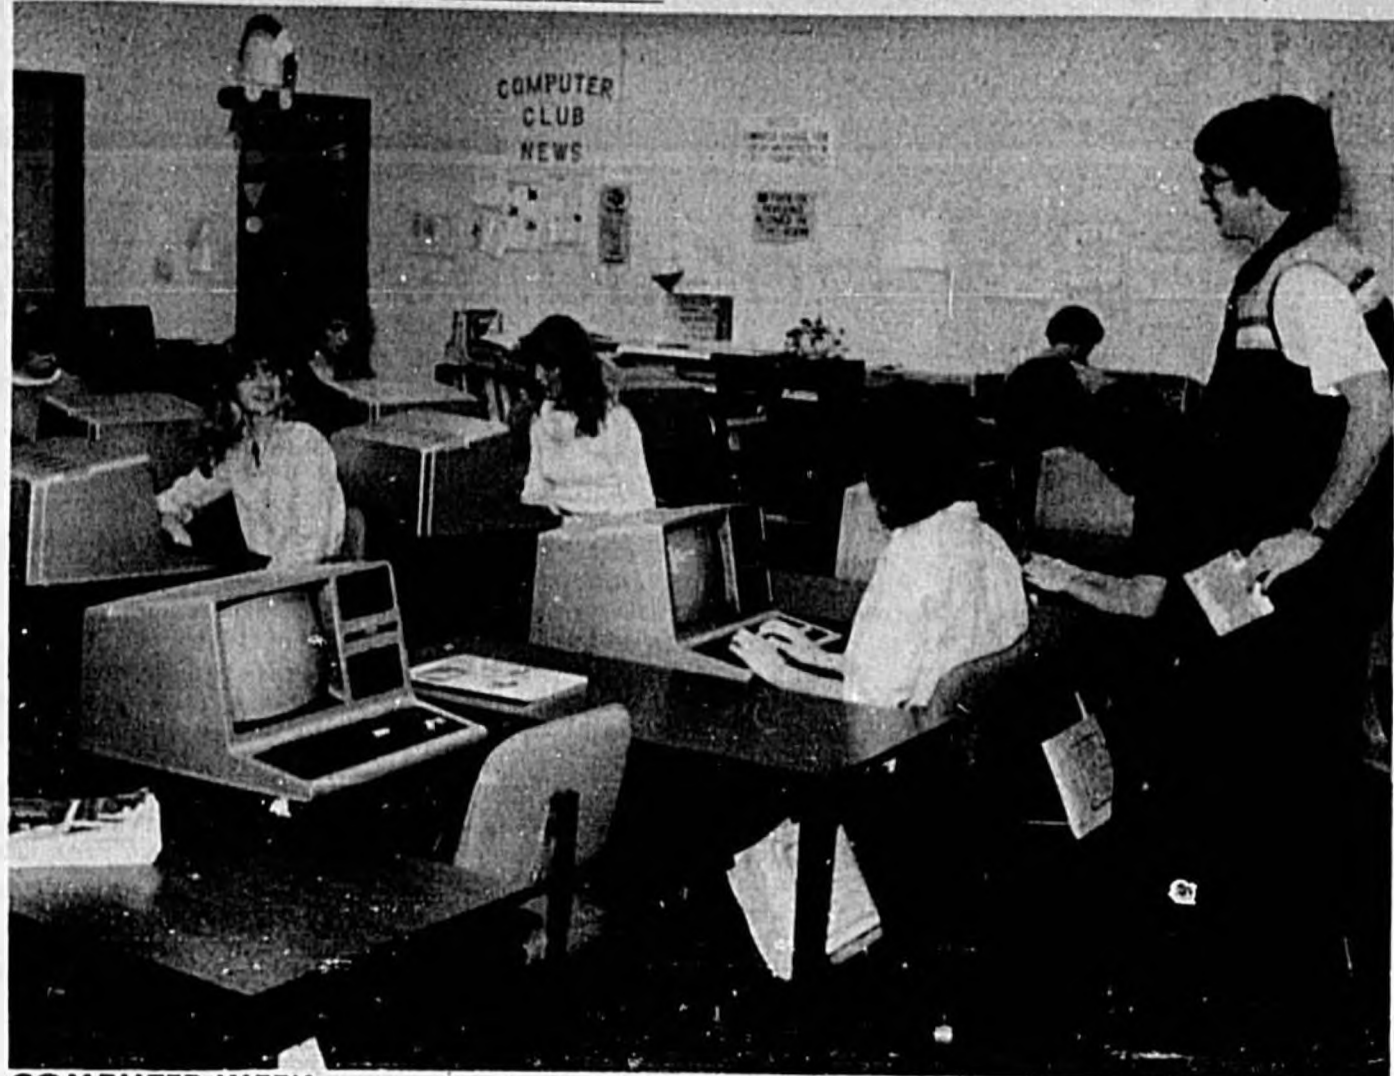

Under BIE rules, only one Class One fair may be held every 10 years—that is there must be 10 years between Class One fairs. This rule has proven to be Chicago's biggest hurdle.

Since 1989 is the 200th anniversary of the French Revolution, France wants to mark it with a universal-class fair in Paris. Under current rules, if France does so, no other Class One fair could be held before 1999.

France is all for, and would participate in, a U.S.-Chicago fair commemorating Columbus' discovery—but France wants its fair in 1989. So the United States and France have joined forces and proposed that the BIE modify its regulations: Instead of limiting Class One fairs to one every 10 years, they are requesting that there be only one universal-class fair every decade. The Paris fair would then become the fair of the 1990s, while the Chicago fair would be the fair of the 1990s—although it would come only three years later.

Chicago's second problem is that Spain wanted the 1992 fair, since it believes that it has more of a right to commemorate Columbus' discovery. This dilemma was solved via another clever international deal. It's not yet clear whether the new Spanish government is committed to having a fair—however, if Spain does have a fair, it will be regarded as being the same fair as the one in Chicago, but on a different site. It would be a joint and simultaneous Chicago-Seville fair, and exhibitors either would opt for both locations or would decide which site they prefer.

Says Donald Petkus, vice president of Chicago '92, the Chicago organizing group: "We are confident that when the BIE meets next June, they will grant the joint France-U.S. modification request and sanction both our fair and Paris'."

Computer Glitch Jails Wrong Man For 4 Months

MIAMI (UPI) — It was Sidney Landrum's word against that of a computer. The computer won, and Landrum was sentenced to 432 years in jail for a crime he did not commit.

Now, four months into his sentence, the 54-year-old man has been freed. The computer that condemned him, it seems, made a mistake.

"My burdens have been lifted," Landrum said after his release from the Dade County Jail Wednesday. "I feel I've been the victim of circumstances. The Lord has enabled me to be back in society and prove I was innocent."

Landrum was sentenced to his four-century jail term by Circuit Judge Ellen Morphonios Gable last October for the Oct. 1, 1980, robbery, assault and kidnapping of a man in a Delray Beach shopping center.

On the day of the crime, Landrum was serving a nine-month sentence in the Palm Beach County Jail for breaking and entering.

Unfortunately for Landrum, the jail's computer showed he had been released prior to that day. Despite Landrum's assertions to the contrary, his attorney Peter Ferrero did not raise the issue at trial because, said Ferrero, there was no way to prove the jail's computer wrong.

Last week, Landrum wrote to Ms. Gable, appealing for a reversal of his sentence. He enclosed a document, obtained through the help of friends, that proved he was incarcerated on Oct. 1, 1980.

After receiving Landrum's letter, the judge told Palm Beach County jail officials to check the records again. Documents showed the computer erred, and that Landrum had indeed been jailed from August 1980 to April 1981.

Heart Murmur Tests On Kids Not Needed

BOSTON (UPI) — Childhood heart murmurs, almost always harmless, can be just as effectively diagnosed in an old-fashioned physical as inexpensive tests, a new study concluded today.

Pediatricians and general practitioners using a stethoscope find heart murmurs in 50 percent of their young patients. They often refer the youngsters to pediatric cardiologists to find out if the murmur indicates serious, organic heart disease.

A study of 280 children with heart murmurs found medical history and physical examinations were sufficient to diagnose if a murmur was harmless or indicated a serious problem, the New England Journal of Medicine reported.

Specialists, however, routinely give the children a battery of expensive tests including an electrocardiogram, a chest X-ray and ultrasound, said the study.

"None of these practices is based on evidence of usefulness," said the team of researchers from the Children's Hospital in Boston, Harvard Medical School and Harvard School of Public Health.

Although none of the tests cause significant medical harm, they are expensive — averaging about $200 for all three tests — and sometimes give false positive results, making parents unnecessarily nervous, said Dr. Jane W. Newburger of the Children's Hospital.

Heart murmurs are the most common cause of referral to a specialist, although only eight children in 1,000 has heart disease, she said.

Dr. Newburger said it was not necessary for doctors to drop the tests, but said skyrocketing medical costs are causing physicians to question their use.

"Physicians are beginning to address the issue of how we use our diagnostic tests. Our study provides data which, if repeated and confirmed, may be useful in structuring health policy as constraints are placed on health expenditures," she said.

Of the 280 children studied, a medical history and physical examination alone indicated no heart disease in 142; possible heart disease in 34; and definite heart disease in 104.

The 142 children diagnosed as having no heart disease were then given the three detailed tests, which supported the conclusion of no heart disease in 134 children.

Soybeans Facilitating Marrow Transplants

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors at Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center say soybean lectin allows them to overcome genetic differences in making marrow transplants and offered proof — seven children recently cured of an immune-deficiency disease.

"We believe lectin separation is a promising first step toward solving the major limitation to bone marrow transplantation and extending it to the thousands of others who could benefit," Dr. Richard J. O'Reilly, chief of the Bone Marrow Transplantation Service at the cancer center, said Monday.

The medical pioneers included Jeremy Styron, 5, of Greenwood, S.C. Held by O'Reilly, Jeremy smiled sweetly at photographers. As they patted and hugged their treated children, relatives described their reaction. What came out was a litany of thanks.

"Fantastic is the only word," said Maxine Ray of Butler, Pa., whose 16-month-old granddaughter, Dacia Ray, received a transplant in June.

All the children had severe combined immune deficiency before being rescued by the bone marrow transplants made possible through the soybean development.

Jeremy had spent 3½ years in a plastic bubble at the hospital — an environment designed to keep germs from getting to him.

Infants and toddlers suffering from severe combined immune deficiency are not able to fight off infections and common cold germs can kill them.

Also freed from a bubble was Jeremy Styron.

"He's fine now," said his big sister, Deana, 10. "He plays baseball and he has a girlfriend in kindergarten."

The Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center investigators reported on the advance in Blood, Journal of the American Society of Hematology, describing the first three cases.

Three children were chosen first to receive the lectin in marrow transplants that came from donors who were not perfect matches between December 1980 and May 1982. The transplants took hold without causing graft-versus-host reactions in two the first time.

In the third case, the patient appeared improved but then the marrow stopped growing. That patient was treated again — this time successfully.

All three are well and living at home, six to 22 months since their operations, a statement from Memorial said.

Soybean lectin separated mature T lymphocytes from other blood cells in bone marrow. In the healthy body, T cells help protect against viruses, foreign tissue and cancers.

THE SILENT CASH REGISTER

It's ringing up your kilowatthours.

Maybe you've never thought about it this way, but every time you turn on a light or take a hot shower or do the laundry, you're shopping with Florida Power. Buying electricity. And while you may not give these purchases a second thought, the meter outside your house is ringing up those kilowatthours like a silent cash register.

It's like any other credit purchase. If you wait until the bill comes at the end of the month to tell you how much you've spent, the total can come as quite a shock to your budget. That's why it makes sense to keep track as you go along.

Meter reading puts you right on the money. When you record your meter readings at the same time every week, you can budget for your monthly electric bill the same way you budget for other expenses. It will also help you determine how your energy conservation efforts are working and which ones are really paying off for you.

It's quick and easy. The dials on your electric meter are like little clocks. They alternately run clockwise and counterclockwise. Reading from right to left, write down the last number the needle has passed. The difference between the new reading and your last one totals your weekly consumption. It's really that simple.

Pick up your free meter reading guides.

To help you keep your records straight, Florida Power will give you a supply of specially designed meter reading guides absolutely free. So pick up yours today and catch up on your reading.

After all, since you probably buy electricity more often than anything else, it pays to keep checking out the cash register.

Emotional Tribe Surprises Rams

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

Not too many centers are successful against the Lake Mary Lady Rams. After all, Lake Mary has 6-2 twins Laura and Peggy Glass for opposing centers to contend with. The last time Seminole High and Lake Mary met, the Glass Towers and the Lady Rams had the upper hand.

Wednesday night at Seminole High, the Tribe's 6-0 center Dieder Hillery maneuvered well against the Glass girls, scoring 19 points and pulling down 18 rebounds while leading the Lady Seminoles to a 54-45 victory.

"Dieder was the key for us," Seminole coach Ron Merthie said. "Dieder did a good job inside against the Glass girls and she made the difference. You can't give the Glass girls second shots, that's how Lake Mary wins a lot of ball games. Both Dieder and Ganene Stallworth did a good job against them (Glass twins) tonight."

Seminole raised its record to 18-8 overall while the Rams fell to 18-5.

Both teams got off to a rather slow start, Seminole missed its first six shots and committed two turnovers in the first two and a half minutes while Lake Mary missed its first four shots.

The Lady Rams built a four-point lead in the first quarter on Michelle Swartz' layup but Seminole came back to take a 15-14 lead on two straight layups by Mona Benton as the first quarter ended.

The second quarter was a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands three times and the score being tied four times. The score stood tied at halftime, 22-22. Seminole hit just 10 of 35 shots in the first half for 29 percent while Lake Mary made 10 of 26 shots for 38 percent.

For the first seven minutes of the second half, the lead went back and forth as it had in the second quarter. Benton then hit six unanswered points to put the Tribe up by seven, 36-29, with 2:03 left in the third quarter. Seminole kept its seven-point lead, 40-33, at the end of the third quarter.

Hillery's inside work and Benton's outside quickness were too much for the Rams to overcome in the fourth quarter. To make matters worse, Laura Glass and Courtney Hall were playing with four fouls each most of the fourth quarter.

Seminole led by as much as 11 points on two occasions and the closest Lake Mary could come was within seven points, 50-43, after Lisa Gregory's jumper with 2:15 remaining.

Another layup by Benton, this one coming with 1:32 left to play, gave the Lady Seminoles a 53-43 lead, wrapping up the victory.

Benton led all scorers with 25 points. Maxine Campbell and Stallworth helped out underneath with five rebounds apiece.

For Lake Mary, Peggy Glass led a balanced attack with 12 points and eight rebounds, Laura Glass added 11 points and 13 rebounds, Swartz tossed in eight points, Gregory netted six points and Kim Averill added six points and five assists.

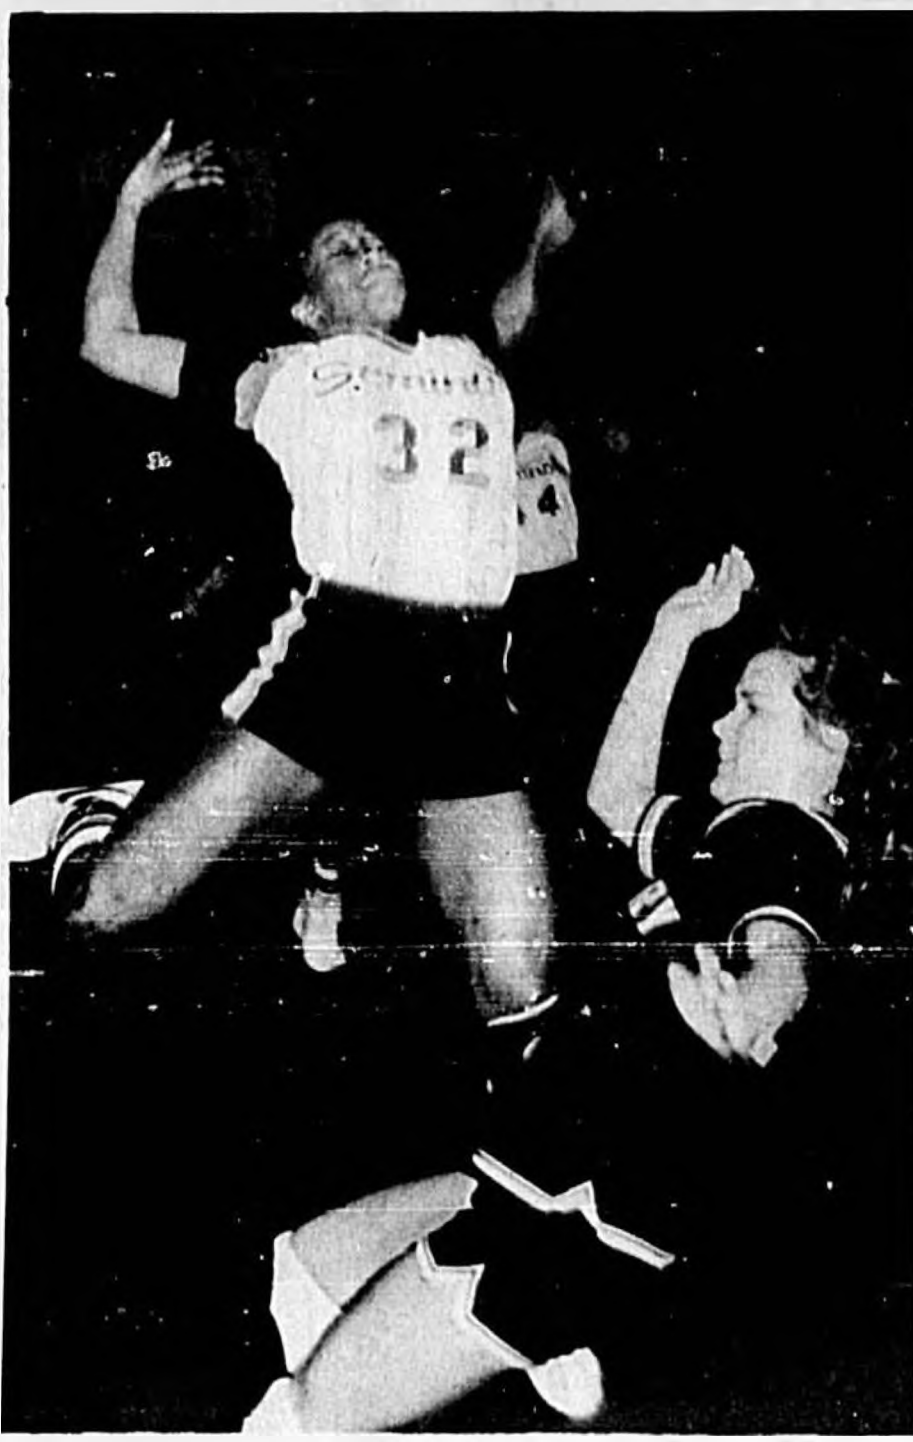

"Seminole played much better than the first time we played," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "Mona (Benton) killed us on the break, she had a super game."

The Rams take on Apopka Friday night at Apopka in their last regular season game. Lake Mary will host its district tournament beginning next Wednesday.

"Overall, I'm very happy with the team's effort," Merthie said. "They wanted to redeem themselves after the first loss and it was a very emotional game for the girls."

Seminole will try to redeem itself again tonight when it hosts Lake Brantley. The Lady Patriots upset the Tribe the last time the two teams met.

Lake Mary's Kim Averill (bottom) steps in to take charge from Seminole's Arlene Jones in the Rams battle with the Lady Seminoles Wednesday night at Seminole High. Averill stopped Jones on this play, but the Lady Rams could not stop Seminole from winning the game. The Tribe earned a split against the Rams in what is shaping up to be an intense rivalry.

Hal 1 0-0 2, Johnson 0 0-0 0. Totals: 189-11 45.

Total fouls: Lake Mary 17, Seminole 10. Fouled out: None. Technicals: None.

In junior varsity action, Seminole raised its record to 11-1 with a 60-26 rout of the JV Rams.

The JV Tribe outscored Lake Mary, 26-2, in the fourth quarter. Andell Smith led the way for Seminole with 24 points, Temika Alexander added 12 points and Catherine Anderson tossed in 11. Tasha Coleman poured in 17 points for the Rams.

Florida Junior Tramples Raiders

J.C. Basketball

JACKSONVILLE — If it's any consolation, Seminole Community College coach Bill Payne was correct on Wednesday night's prediction concerning Florida Junior College.

"I told the team if they (Florida Junior) score in the 80s or the 90s, we're going to get beat," said Payne before the key Mid-Florida Conference cage matchup.

He was right. Florida Junior, getting double-figure scoring from Ron Jefferson (21), Lorien Horne (20), Sam Walker (16) and Robert Henry (11), ran away with a 94-69 victory over the Raiders.

The loss drops Seminole to 17-10 overall and 7-4 in the division and conference. Florida Junior is 13-13 and 7-4. Central Florida lost a chance to move into a three-way tie for second place when it bowed to Santa Fe at Gainesville, 100-96. It is 6-5.

"It looks like this race is going down to the final game," said Payne who now must get his team ready for Valencia Saturday night at home. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

Not the same could be said for Wednesday's rout as the Raiders fell behind, 47-39, at halftime and were blown out early in the second half.

Jefferson hit two jumpers in the early going of the final 20 minutes and Horne, who SCC had limited to two points in the previous meeting, added another one to increase the margin to 15 points.

"They scored the first three times down the floor and that turned it around," said Payne. "They beat us up physically. They were too strong for us and they were more up for the game than we were."

Frigid 28 percent shooting in the second half didn't enhance the Raiders' chances to win either. SCC shot at a 45 percent clip in the opening half but the cold second half leveled the Raiders at 35 percent (23-66) for the game. FJC was more consistent, hitting 39 of 72 for 54 percent. SCC also had its worst night of the year at the foul line, converting 19 of 37 (51 percent) in the foul-filled (37) affair.

Guard Jimmy Payton, who clicked for three, three-point goals, led the Raiders with 15 points. Ricky Sutton followed with 13. Luis Phelps chipped in eight and 16 rebounds. Keith Whitney added nine.

The Raiders had just eight assists, a season low. FJC outrebounded SCC, 44-40. Henry had five steals and five assists for Florida Junior.

SCC (69)
Whitney 3-11 2-3 9, Payton 4-11 4-5 15, Gaudreau 1-2 0-2 2, Charles 0-4 0-0 0, Sutton 4-9 5-6 13, Everett 2-5 3-9 7, Merthie 2-4 2-3 6, Maher 1-2 0-1 2, Kuiper 3-6 1-2 7, Phelps 3-10 2-6 8, Totals 23-66 19-37 69.

FJC (94)
Jefferson 8-16 4-5 21, Devenny 0-1 0-0 0, Warrick 8-15 0-1 16, Horne 3-11 2-5 20, Henry 4-8 3-4 11, Jackson 3-7 1-1 7, Esquerria 3-4 1-3 7, Sanders 3-8 0-1 6, Carter 0-0 0-0 0, Howard 0-1 4-6 4, Means 1-1 0-0 2, Totals 39-72 15-26 94.

Halftime: FJC 47, SCC 39. Total fouls: SCC 26, FJC 31. Fouled out: Sutton, Everett, Merthie, Howard. Technical: none. Three-point goals: Payton 3, Whitney, Jefferson.

Coach Sol Batoon's Lady Raiders also came up on the short end Wednesday, dropping an 86-77 contest to No. 1-ranked Central Florida at SCC.

The setback drops the Raiders to 10-13 while CFCC improved to 20-3. SCC hosts Valencia Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

"We just ran out of gas," said Batoon about the game which Central Florida had just a 35-34 edge at halftime. "We only used seven players and we got tired at the end."

Valerie Roessler tossed in 24 points to lead SCC while Evelyn Smith contributed 19. Katrina Andersson had 17 and Sanford's Cathy Jones had 10.

SCC was again without point guard Mandy Patrick who suffered a sprained ankle against Brevard. She is expected to miss just one more game, according to Batoon.

Michaels Resigns Jets, Walton Successor?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Amid some indications he was under pressure from upper management, Walt Michaels resigned Wednesday as the New York Jets' coach.

The team has called a noon (EST) press conference today to name a successor. Joe Walton, the Jets' 47-year-old offensive coordinator, probably is the leading candidate.

Walton, considered one of the top offensive planners in the game, has been interviewed for other head coaching jobs available in the off-season.

Michaels was the Jets' head coach for the past six seasons.

His surprise announcement came just 17 days after his club was beaten, 14-0, by the Miami Dolphins in the AFC championship game, one victory away from a Super Bowl berth. The Jets had earned a spot in the title game with upset victories over Cincinnati and the Los Angeles Raiders in the playoffs.

"I have spent 32 years in this game and I've enjoyed them all," Michaels, 53, a former All-Pro linebacker, said in a prepared statement issued through the club. "But in that time, I have never taken a vacation and have never spent enough time with my family. Now I think it's time that I should, so I am retiring as head coach of the Jets effective Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1983.

"I wish my assistant coaches, the players and the rest of the organization and the next head coach good luck in the future."

But, there were some indications Michaels may have been pressured from above in his decision. His temper outbursts after the victory over Los Angeles and the loss to Miami apparently did not sit well with owner Leon Hess, according to some Jets' players. Michaels also had another vocal outburst on the plane back from the Miami loss and did not appear at a scheduled news conference the following day.

The Jets finished the regular season with a 6-3 record before routing the Bengals, 44-17, at Cincinnati and defeating the Raiders, 17-14, at Los Angeles. A heavy rainstorm at Miami crippled the Jets' offense in the title game Jan. 23 and they lost, 14-0.

After the victory over Los Angeles, Michaels broke into a tirade against Raider owner Al Davis, an old rival, accusing him of calling the Jets' dressing room at halftime and pretending to be Hess. It was later learned the call came from a tavern in Woodside, N.Y.

Following the loss to Miami, Michaels openly berated the Dolphins for not having a tarp covering the field and was terse in his comments to the press.

Michaels had an overall record of 39-47-1 in regular season games and was 2-2 in post-season.

He also was the coach of the AFC team which lost, 20-19, to the NFC last Sunday in the Pro Bowl at Honolulu.

Marriott, Lyman Need Hurlers To Come Through

Lyman Greyhounds Prospectus

When the county's leading hitter returns for his senior year of baseball — it's a pretty good cornerstone from which to build.

Todd Marriott, who hit .390 for Lyman's Greyhounds a year ago, switches from center field to shortstop this year, but his impact with the aluminum should be just as solid.

Marriott nosed out Lake Howell's Doug Chiodini and Davis Martinez for the county batting title last year and the 5-11 senior should be the odds on favorite again this spring.

Prep Baseball

The Greyhounds, under veteran coach Bob McCullough, open the season tonight at 7:30 against Leesburg in the First Lyman Invitational Baseball Tournament. Lake Brantley meets Titusville in the 5 p.m. game. The double-elimination tournament will run through Saturday. Friday's games will be at 5:30 p.m. (losers) and 8 p.m. (winners) games are scheduled for 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. (if necessary) Saturday.

McCullough feels his 'Hounds will be solid defensively and "can probably hit a little bit."

Seniors Tom Perkins, Mike "Duck" Sawyer, Lee Jenkins and Marriott all started last year. Perkins, who will patrol center field this season, batted .320. Sawyer and Jenkins hit over .300 most of the year before tailing off in the final three weeks. Sawyer will handle the catching while Jenkins plays the hot corner.

Filling in the infield positions will be first baseman Steve Lorenz and second baseman Tom Gibbons. Both lettered last year.

Four promising sophomores move up from last year's powerful junior varsity team. Mike Henley, a catcher last year, will handle left field while Tony Johnson takes over in right field.

Right-hander Derek Livernols is one starting pitcher and Paul Alegre, who played at Lake Mary last year, will see a lot of outfield time. Livernols and Johnson played on the Altamonte 15-year-old team last summer which finished second in the state. Livernols is bothered by a sore elbow and may not play in the tournament.

Senior Jeff Barefoot heads the mound staff which includes Mike McArdle, Willie Pashe, Jim Blanchfield and Jenkins (short relief). All are seniors. Pashe, McArdle and Barefoot are lettermen.

"Our pitching is very inexperienced and we'll be using the tournament to see who can do the job," said McCullough. "We should be competitive in the Five Star but we'll have to wait and see."

The Greyhounds lost two stellar hurlers in Kevin Brubaker (SCC) and Pat Burkhardt (Tusculum, Tenn.) College). Graduation also claimed catcher Brent Smartt, first sacker John Reich (walk on at Tulane), second baseman Kenny Brown, right fielder Rick Humphery and shortstop Jorge Sierra.

Lake Brantley Attempts To Overcome Losses

LAKE BRANTLEY PROSPECTUS
1982 Five Star Finish: Second
Returning lettermen: three Returning starters: two Promising newcomers: two
Strength: infield
Weakness: inexperience, pitching

When Lake Brantley coach Sam Momary says his best player hasn't played an inning of high school baseball—it might be a long year on the diamond for the Patriots.

Marty Coffey, a senior who attended a private school last year, is the player but he is by no means a rookie when it comes to playing baseball. Coffey has been a solid performer at the Seminole Pony Baseball Complex for several years and has played in several leagues at Wes Rinker's Florida Baseball Schools.

"We lost seven two-year starters," said Momary about his graduating seniors. "They're going to be very hard to replace. I've got six sophomores on the varsity. I've never had over three before."

Prep Baseball

Momary's youngsters open the season today at 5 p.m. in the First Lyman Baseball Invitational Tournament at Longwood. They take on Titusville in the first round. Lyman plays Leesburg at 7:30 p.m. The double-elimination tournament will run through Saturday.

The Patriots' biggest losses came in the pitching department. Tommy Novak and Billy Green were both all-conference hurlers. Novak is at Valencia this Spring while Green is at Seminole Community College. Graduation also claimed all-conference outfielder John Simas, designated-hitter outfielder Billy Powers, catcher Joe Mincey (SCC), second baseman Brian Wright and first baseman Scott Killam.

"I had three pitchers I could feel safe with last year. Now, I have one and one-half," said Momary.

Coffey, who will split time between the mound and catching, will be on the hill today. Senior Mark Cochran (2-0 last year) will be Momary's other tested starter. Sophomore Brad Dunn, senior John Luzzi and Kevin Gross fill out the staff.

The Patriots' strong point should be its infield. Two returning starters—Brennan Asplen and Jim Robbins—will flip-flop positions this year. Asplen, a junior, moves to second base while Robbins, also a junior, takes over at shortstop.

Cochran and junior Alan Wing will split time at first base. Wing played for Altamonte's 15-year-olds last summer who finished second in the state. Junior Scot Anez will handle third base. Mike Waring backs up Asplen at second while Gross will play some third.

In left field, sophomore Bobby Garrison gets the nod, backed up by Craig Cochran. Rich Van Der Weide, a junior, will hold down right field while Dunn patrols center field. Sophomore Billy Neville and junior Pat James along with senior Luzzi provide depth.

Blair Patten will take care of the catching when Coffey is on the mound.

"Our strength should be our infield, especially at second and short," said Momary. "But we're awful young which could lead to a lot of mistakes. Defensively, though, we'll be a little better than last year." —SAM COOK

The Sanford Seminole soccer team scored another surprising Conference victory Wednesday over Five Star powerhouse Lake Howell. The 2-1 Tribe win came after a tie-breaking shootout and an uneven second half at Seminole High.

Seminole, 5-10 overall, and 3-5 in Conference play, scored almost immediately after the first half began on a piercing shot by steady-scoring Rick Nooney to the center of the net. After his goal, the Tribe began to heavily pressure the Silver Hawks, but it managed to put a shot past diving Seminole goalkeeper Dean Shoemaker to tie the game at 1-1.

Eri Moreno almost broke the tie shortly before halftime when his attempt on goal was dropped, but recovered by the Hawks' goalie to keep the score deadlocked.

The second half solved nothing for either team as there were few shots on goal and constant back-and-forth defensive plays. Both teams held fast, refusing to give the other the edge, although both sides came extremely close to go-ahead scores.

One such pop which was missed was a shot by Lake Howell's Robert Bliss, which was heading directly into the Tribe net from short range. But, Shoemaker, with intense concentration, stretched himself just high enough to tap the ball safely over the net.

Before the official end of the game, Lake

Howell severely tested Seminole's defense, but couldn't penetrate it before regulation time ran out.

Finally came the shoot-out. Lake Howell took the first shot, but Tilo Martorell made an errant attempt past the right side of the goal. Paul Griffin missed Seminole's first shot also. Lake Howell made their second shot count, but Tribe players Craig Apple, Scott Meek, Juan Falcon, and Robert Iannone connected on Seminole's next four shots with Iannone's being the winning goal.

This loss knocked Lake Howell back a notch in its race for the Conference title. The Hawks needed a victory over Seminole to secure a first place tie with Daytona Beach Seabreeze.

Seminole concludes its regular season at New Smyrna Beach Friday at 4 p.m. The District 4A-9 Tournament begins Tuesday.

In other prep action Wednesday, DeLand used second-half goals by Scooter Morgan and Kevin Hart to blank Lake Mary, 2-0, at Lake Mary.

"We played the best first half we've played all year," said coach Larry McCorkle whose team fell to 9-9 for the year. "DeLand beat two teams (Bishop Moore and Lyman) which hammered us, so we knew they'd be good." Lake Mary travels to Lake Brandy Friday.

Tonight at Lake Mary, Lyman plays Vero Beach St. Edwards at 6 while the Lady Rams take on Vero Beach at 8 in district tournament action.

Bulletin — Mullins' Darts Pierce Georgetown

United Press International

The way Chris Mullin plays against the Georgetown Hoyas, they'll be moving his picture from the bulletin board to the dartboard.

Mullin scored 25 points Wednesday night to lead seventh-ranked St. John's to a 75-69 victory over No. 13 Georgetown that gave the Redmen sole possession of first place in the Big East Conference.

"Chris is just a great player," said Georgetown Coach John Thompson. "We had his picture on the bulletin board. We knew stopping him was the key. He just got loose and scored."

The Redmen were whistled down for 25 personal fouls and the Hoyas 27 as officials struggled to keep the fight-marred contest under control.

St. John's, 20-2 overall and 9-2 in the Big East, took the lead for good with a 9-point run midway in the second half. The Hoyas went 9-12 without a field goal after taking a 49-44 lead with 16:37 to play. St. John's then scored nine straight points for a 53-49 lead.

The Redmen widened their margin to seven points three times before Trevor Jackson's rebound basket put them up by 65-57 with 4:10 left.

Patrick Ewing led the Hoyas with 21 points and pulled down 13 rebounds while David Wingate added 16 points and Bill Martin 10.

David Russell contributed 16 points and Kevin Williams 11 for the Redmen.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 6 Houston beat Southern Methodist, 85-68, No. 11 Louisville topped Tulane, 73-56, and No. 16 Syracuse ripped Ulica, 99-71.

At Gainesville, Fla., Ronnie Williams scored 18 points and added 15 rebounds to lead Florida to an 85-49 trouncing of NCAA Division II St. Leo College.

IN BRIEF

Florida's Water Supply Threatened By Overbuilding

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The state's water supply is in danger of contamination from an overbuilding of septic tanks, a legislative task force has concluded.

The task force, appointed by House Speaker Lee Moffitt, recommended Wednesday that the Legislature severely limit the construction of septic tanks to lessen the chances of viruses and other pollutants reaching ground water.

The state is building new septic tanks at the rate of 50,000 a year, often four and five to an acre.

The panel proposed limiting the number in such a fashion that new septic tanks on vacant lots of the size common to most Florida subdivisions would be barred. However, waivers could be given where warranted.

The task force recommended the septic tank restrictions apply to all lots. Current law exempts undeveloped or partially developed subdivisions that were platted before 1972 from new septic tank restrictions.

Who Decides Class Subjects?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Bob Graham is no longer sure county school boards should have total discretion in deciding what classes high school students have to take to graduate.

The only state course requirement now is "Americanism vs. Communism" and Graham says local education officials may not be requiring enough math, science and English.

The governor has felt for years that decisions like what courses are mandatory should be left to local boards, but he is reconsidering his position, aide Jere Moore said Wednesday.

He wants the Cabinet to consider at its meeting next Tuesday a recommendation by the Governor's Commission on Secondary Schools that diploma requirements be set by the state.

Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington recommended school boards continue to establish the requirements, although he said the state should develop standards to guide the boards.

Florida Trucking 'Normal'

United Press International

The effects of the independent truckers strike on Florida remained insignificant Wednesday, continuing a trend that began to develop over the weekend, state officials say.

Pat Riordan, Gov. Bob Graham's deputy press secretary, said sufficient numbers of trucks were available to haul agricultural produce and that only one incident of violence had been reported since early Tuesday.

"As far as we know, everything is moving normally. There have been no complaints from any of the farmers' markets. Absolutely nothing," Riordan said.

Agricultural officials had predicted that if the strike continued, the state's farming interests could be hurt. On Wednesday they said that threat had abated.

IN BRIEF

Israeli Cabinet Today To Decide Sharon's Fate

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Prime Minister Menachem Begin called a third Cabinet meeting today on the Beirut massacre report to decide the fate of Defense Minister Ariel Sharon—and possibly that of his entire government.

Begin's Cabinet failed to decide in meetings Tuesday and Wednesday whether to accept the findings of the three-man commission of inquiry on the Beirut slaughter, including a recommendation Sharon quit or be fired.

Israel Television said today's meeting would be the last Cabinet session on the commission's recommendations, adding, Begin "has decided" on a course of action, but gave no details on the prime minister's decision.

The investigating panel recommended Sharon be ousted for his "personal responsibility" in the Sept. 16-18 massacre by Israeli-backed Christian militiamen of hundreds of residents of two Palestinian refugee camps.

A senior Israeli official said Begin does not want to fire Sharon. This would leave Begin the options of resigning himself, possibly forming a new Cabinet without Sharon or placing him in a lesser ministry, or calling new elections.

Public opinion polls show Begin's popularity has not suffered.

'Someone Betrayed Them'

IZIEU, France (UPI)—Nearly four decades since Nazi war criminal Klaus Barbie allegedly ordered 43 Jewish children trucked away to their deaths, the day is etched painfully in the memories of Louis Thibautier and his wife.

"The children did not even have time to eat breakfast," Mrs. Thibautier said Wednesday. "They left their bowls of milk on the table."

At the time, the Jewish children from Lyon, 45 miles to the west, were being hidden from the Nazis in a school in the hamlet in the remote snow covered hills of southeastern France.

"Someone betrayed them," said Thibautier, a farmer who bought the school and converted it in 1950 into a home that still holds the children's story in a concrete plaque over the door.

Free Trees Available

Forrest Greene, Realtors has given away more than 25,000 seedlings through the 13 years of this project. Two thousand seedlings will be given away on Feb. 16.

County Gives OK To Builder's Plans

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners have given their approval to a plan to build houses on a 7.7-acre parcel of land north of Summerlin Avenue in Sanford.

Commissioners waived the two-year waiting period for construction of the houses at a public hearing Tuesday. In waiving the waiting period, they gave Abraham Tenzer permission to build houses with 1,300 square feet on 7,500-square-foot lots.

The property, surrounded on three sides by residential areas of Sanford, was annexed into the city in 1981. A request for a more intense use was denied in September 1981 by the commissioners.

Tenzer, a biochemist, said he hopes to build houses on the property which will be similar to those in the surrounding areas.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, himself a resident of the area, said, "This will help settle the concerns of the neighborhood."

Kirchhoff also said he has a conflict of interest and would not make the motion to waive the two-year waiting period. "Nearby property has been owned by my family for more than 40 years," he said. "Whatever is done with the property may affect the value of my family's property in the swamp."

"I think this is going to help me or hurt me the same amount it hurts or helps you all," Kirchhoff told people at the hearing.

The board was not so generous to a developer who sought rezoning from agriculture to residential for 10.7 acres north of Casselberry for construction of 25 duplex houses.

Coply Johnson told commissioners the property would be difficult to develop as single-family residences.

Because the neighborhood is close to a trailer park, he said it would not be feasible to develop single-family homes in the $80,000 to $100,000 price range.

So, Johnson proposed to build duplexes which are similar to single-family houses on the property.

But Commissioner Robert Sturm disagreed with Johnson. He said the property is developable as zoned, no sewage system is available, the density is too high and traffic engineering "would be a monumental task."

Kirchhoff sided with Johnson. "It's not economically feasible to develop this as single family. It's not going to happen, the price of land is too high."

Kirchhoff and Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather voted for the rezoning but they were outvoted 3-2.

Commissioners unanimously approved a zone change from agricultural to residential for 29 1-3 acres along Tuskawilla Road south of Citrus Avenue near Winter Springs.

That zoning would allow Mason-Casilly, Inc., to build 70 houses with a minimum of 1,600 square feet on the property.

The board also approved a two-year extension for a mobile home permit on property near Chuluota.

V. E. Califor asked for a permanent permit for the mobile home but board members refused to grant that. Califor originally received a permit to live in a mobile home for two years while he built a house on the site.

Califor said he has been out of work for a year and his wife has had major medical needs, making their financial situation precarious and the house construction virtually impossible.

But Kirchhoff said other people had taken longer than anticipated to build their houses and were given two-year extensions. The board unanimously supported that position.

Commissioners approved site plans for development of a 5.7-acre parcel on Sand Lake Road east of Wekiva Hunt Club; development of the Sunrise planned unit development north of Red Bug Road near Winter Springs and development of Bay Lagoon planned unit development on E. E. Williamson Road near Lake Mary.

Board Will Redraw 6 School Districts

Seminole County school officials are wrestling with changes in attendance zones of schools in high growth areas of the county.

Changes are in the works for the attendance zones of Forest City, Wekiva and Bear Lake elementary schools in the southwest part of the county and Eastbrook, Red Bug and Sterling Park elementary schools in the southeast part of the county.

Meetings have been held with parent groups at the six schools to determine the best alternatives for the new attendance zones.

The rezoning will reduce by 150 the number of students who attend Wekiva Elementary in Longwood. The school is anticipated to be above capacity next year with 900 students. Sending 125 students to Forest City Elementary and 25 to Bear Lake Elementary near Longwood, schools whose projected enrollment is down for next year, should alleviate the situation for two or three years, school officials said.

Forest City Elementary has had a steadily declining enrollment since 1978. The three schools will have a total enrollment of 1,995, slightly less than this year.

The second area being examined is the attendance zone for the new Alan F. Keeth Elementary School in Winter Springs. Preliminary plans are to take about 400 students from Red Bug Elementary School in Maitland, 100 students from Sterling Park Elementary in Casselberry and 40 students from Eastbrook Elementary near Casselberry.

Red Bug, with 900 students expected next year is already over its capacity of 700 and the reduction should give that school breathing room for projected growth in the next two or three years. Sterling Park will drop from 825 to 725 students and Eastbrook will drop from 740 to 700. The four schools are expected to have an enrollment of 2465, almost 100 more than this year.

Marion Giannini, director of elementary education, said district personnel and principals of the affected schools began planning for the changes in January. Also in January, the principals appointed parent committees to develop possible plans for the zone changes.

Earlier this month, the parent groups met with the principals to make recommendations on the changes. A plan was agreed to by parents of Wekiva students last week, Mrs. Giannini said.

Four plans have been proposed for the attendance zone at the new Keeth school.

Later this month the plans will be reviewed by district administrators and in March Superintendent Robert Hughes will review the plans and make a recommendation to the school board.

Mrs. Giannini said four areas are considered in making the changes. Those areas are growth history and growth potential, the desire to keep neighborhoods intact, transportation and student safety and necessary approval by the U.S. Justice Department.

"We try to keep them off the buses," Mrs. Giannini said. "But for Wekiva students living in Jennifer Estates and Lake Brantley Estates who have to walk almost two miles to school, the parents may be relieved if their children could be bused to Forest City."

The biggest part of the process, she said, is to get parent input and approval for the changes. —MICHAEL BEHA

$16 Million Race Horse Kidnapped

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — An anonymous telephone caller has asked for a meeting in Northern Ireland with three racing journalists to settle a ransom demand for Shergar, the abducted racehorse worth $16 million, police said today.

"I only hope to God nothing happens to him," said Shergar's trainer, Michael Stoute, Wednesday.

The 5-year-old Shergar, winner of the 1981 English and Irish derbies, is one of the world's most valuable horses and is owned by the Aga Khan and a syndicate of 33 others.

Shergar was Europe's "Horse of the Year" in 1981, the year he was bought for 10 million pounds, then worth $18,750,000. At today's exchange rate, the horse is worth nearly $16 million.

Dublin police said they were unsure whether the anonymous call was a prank.

The abductors asked for 2 million pounds. It was not clear whether they wanted Irish pounds, a sum worth about $2.7 million, or British pounds, worth about $3.1 million.

Police said the caller asked for three racing journalists to appear today at the Forum Hotel in Belfast.

UCF Sets Program On Black Awareness

Black Awareness Month at the University of Central Florida will be highlighted by a series of prominent visitors.

Next on the list of campus speakers is Dr. Na'im Akbar, currently a clinical psychologist at Florida State University. A recognized expert in the area of black psychology, he is equally well known as a lecturer, author, scholar, teacher and Islamic minister. He will appear at 7 p.m. Feb. 15 in the UCF engineering auditorium.

On Feb. 19, the UCF music rehearsal hall will be the locale for a performance of "Catharsis," presented by the Black Student Union at the University of South Florida. Admittance to the 7 p.m. music-dance production is $1 at the door.

The list of out-of-town guests will end Feb. 23, with New Orleans Mayor Ernest Morial, who will speak at 8 p.m. in the engineering auditorium. As with Dr. Akbar, there is no charge for the program.

Other Black Awareness Month activities include a Valentine Ball Feb. 12 at Orlando Expo Centre, and a screening of the perennial favorite, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 17 in the engineering auditorium.

Woman Gets The Needle For Gift She Crocheted

DEAR ABBY: This year I decided to make my own Christmas gifts. Abby, I worked my tail off crocheting toilet-paper covers for some of my special friends.

I made one for a woman I used to work with, using the color scheme in her bathroom. I bought a roll of very nice toilet paper and put it inside the hand-crocheted cover, gift-wrapped it, and gave it to her before Christmas.

She never mentioned it, so after Christmas I asked her how she liked my gift, and she said she didn't care for it and I should not have included the toilet paper. Plus, she said her mother could have made the same thing!

Abby, if I get something I don't like, I would not be so rude as to tell the giver I didn't care for it. I was hurt, disgusted and disappointed. Everybody else liked the covers but her.

Do you think it was wrong of me to have included the toilet paper with the cover? And since she said she didn't care for my gift, should I ask her to return it? I'm sure I could find someone else to give it to.

Dear Abby

HURT
DEAR MRS.: One as ungracious, ill-mannered and insensitive as your co-worker shows herself to be needs sympathy. To have included the toilet paper with your gift was, I think, a thoughtful gesture. Don't ask her to return it, but if the subject comes up, offer to take it off her hands.

DEAR ABBY: Sheldon and I have been married for three years. Every year our parents exchange Christmas gifts, so Sheldon and I carry the gifts from his parents to mine, and vice versa.

My mother-in-law always makes jam as her gift for my parents. And my mother sends homemade Christmas cookies to my in-laws. She packs them in very pretty cookie tins.

This year when my mother-in-law handed me the jam for my parents, she asked me when my mother was going to send "her" jam jars back. Abby, I didn't know you were supposed to return jam jars, did you? These jars were nothing special — just plain, ordinary mason jars.

My mother never expected to get her cookie tins back. Please let me know.

MRS. GO-BETWEEN
DEAR MRS.: It's my understanding that when one gives jam, the jar is part of the gift (same as the cookie tin). However, since your mother-in-law expects the jam jars to be returned, pass the word on to your mother.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a difference of opinion. This is the second Christmas we received a half-dozen poinsettia plant from an out-of-state sender.

The plants were sent by my husband's boss, who is known for his generosity and grand style. Of course, we don't know how much he paid for the plant, but we are almost sure he is being ripped off.

My husband says we should thank his boss for the "beautiful" plant, and let it go. I say we should let the sender know that the plant was puny, wilted and definitely third-rate. What do you say?

POST-XTMAS HASSLE
DEAR HASSLE: I vote with you. If you had been the sender, wouldn't you want to be told?

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETTY F. IN PRYOR, OKLA.: Yes, it's the glow from within that creates beauty. People are like stained glass windows; they sparkle like crystal in the sun. But when darkness falls, they continue to shine only if there's a light from within. You're never too old (or too young) to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's booklet on Popularity, send $1, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped ($7 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

The Battle of Bunker Hill was unique in that thousands of spectators in the Boston area had ringside seats for the spectacle. They sat on rooftops, in treetops, on church steeples, and in the rigging of the ships in the harbor.

Diet A Permanent Lifestyle Change

DEAR DR. LAMB—I read yesterday that one is more apt to recover from cancer than to take off excess weight and keep it off. Put like that, the truth was made unpleasantly clear to me. Most of us 20 pounds or more overweight people would like to take off the weight for esthetic reasons. We don't like to look down and see that tummy bulging out. It would seem that the medical profession would intensify its study of obesity and come up with something that works. What are doctors doing? There is a big market out there and many willing and able to pay to eliminate the fat problem. DEAR READER—Because so many people who lose weight put it back on is one important reason that a diet-exercise program should be a sensible permanent change in lifestyle. Crash diets and rapid weight loss programs usually don't last long. When a person returns to the old habits he regains those pounds. Most people who are 15 to 20 pounds overweight can lose that excess fat in a year's time if they just walk three to four miles EVERY DAY and don't increase their caloric intake. That is an example of a permanent change in lifestyle. A lot more does need to be done about obesity. We need to learn how to avoid eating when it isn't needed. Perhaps we need to learn how to stimulate the body to lose more calories as heat loss. We do need some fresh ideas. Yes, there is a big market out there and a lot of hucksters are taking advantage of it, and the human tendency of wanting to "eat all you want and stay thin forever." It is another version of the old something for nothing desire. But the problem is not just one for doctors. It is a sociological problem. Then there are special interest groups that market foods or business associate which should please both of you immensely. CANCER (June 21-July 22) With a dab of ingenuity here and a touch of elbow grease there, you could resurrect a project you've discarded and make it pay off today. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have extra charisma today. Whether you're amidst a large group or in a one-to-one encounter, you'll bring a swirl of excitement with you. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Good work holds the promise of extra or unusual rewards today, so whether you're the boss or an employee, take pains with each and every task. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll perform excellently in the role of social director for youth group activities today. Under your direction, no one will complain of a boring time. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions could suddenly take a favorable turn today pertaining to a matter affecting your security, as well as that of others. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Good news could be coming today regarding a situation which affects you personally. Check for messages from time to time if you have to leave home base. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others are likely to treat you more generously than usual today, even persons whom you thought didn't give a hoot. Keep all doors open.

that are high in calories and the associated legislative problems. It is a problem for the whole society, not just health professionals. You can use The Health Letter 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which I am sending you, as a basis for starting a permanent sensible lifestyle that will help you lose and keep it off. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me. In care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. DEAR DR. LAMB—Please settle an argument. Is it not true that chewing gum gets your stomach ready for food? It thinks you are about to swallow and you don't swallow with gum. Wouldn't continuous chewing without swallowing cause stomach problems of some kind? What exactly does your stomach secrete when you eat? DEAR READER—Your body quickly adapts to your habits. If your brain perceives you are about to eat, your stomach is "turned on." But if you are chewing gum it is not a message to your brain that you are going to eat. Chewing may stimulate you to form saliva, which may help to neutralize stomach acid. The biggest danger of chewing sugarless gum (which eliminates the dental question) is swallowing air that leads to gas and distention. Your stomach secretes hydrochloric acid and an enzyme called pepsin. The acidic pepsin juice starts the breakdown of protein, as in meats. Acidic pepsin juice is also related to an "acid stomach" and to formation of ulcers.
