

HANGERS FOR CLOTHES

SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE SCHEME OF DECORATION.

Little Shapes Marked on the Wood and Then Treated With Ebony Stain in Manner Described Will Be Satisfactory.

There is no need for one's clothes to look crumpled when hangers to put them on can be had for one penny each. They are just in the raw state. It is true, but they can be simply and easily decorated in the following way. Make a few simple shapes on the wood, such as squares, little rounds, or diamond shapes; purchase a bottle of ebony stain, mark the shapes in with pen or brush and stain the background with the ebony. A bottle of the stain can be bought cheaply, and one bottle will decorate many hangers. If once going over is not sufficient, when the first coating is quite dry, do it again, then leave to dry thoroughly for a few days.

Purchase a little white hard spirit varnish, and brush it over the hanger; the effect is beautiful and the article will look as though made of ebony and inlaid with ivory. If a poker machine is to hand, the shapes can be marked in with the poker point and the whole of the background dotted in with the poker, or the background can be ruled out in squares and filled with lines going alternate ways. The hanger is then varnished over in the same way as the stained one and left for a few days before being used.

Before decorating these articles, they should be first of all well sanded down until the wood is quite smooth. The hangers can also be decorated by twining ribbon round and round and putting a small scent sachet at either end. Hangers decorated by the poker or stain are excellent to give to the men folk as presents; they are fine coat-hangers. A set of six or more hangers would go very well at a bazaar, for they are necessary articles and the novel manner of treating them is very attractive.

KNOWS THE ART OF DRESS

Whether in Street Costume or Evening Regalia, French Woman is Never Fussy.

The French woman of assured social position dislikes any mode that will link her with the demi-mondaine. She permits herself to view all the novelties that the couturiers have gathered for the new season. She is entertained, amused, perhaps a little tempted at times to swerve from the monotonous in dress fabric and in linings, but her innate sense of refinement and her horror of appearing as one of the untutored crowd, sartorially speaking, save her from dress indiscretion.

By day she is elegant to the last degree, as only the true Parisienne can be, in sable hues; by night she is transformed into an exquisite butterfly, her lithe figure lightly veiled in delicate gossamers of ethereal hues or brilliant in exotic chromatics. She is chary of jewels in the daytime, but in the evening her nude shoulders and softly coiled coiffure are resplendent with diamonds or enriched with strands of pearls. But whether in trotteur costume or in full evening regalia, madame is never fussy in her habiliments. In this respect the women of other countries have much to learn.

Getting a Line on Him. "What do you do with that rope you carry around on your saddle?" asked the cowboy. "Why, when a tenderfoot comes this way I use it in trying to get a line on him," replied the cowboy.

Thirteenth-Century Fire Prevention. One wonders what fate would have overtaken the captured starter of fires in thirteenth-century London. For after the blaze of 1212, which lasted ten days, swallowed up part of London bridge, and was the cause of over 1,000 deaths, every precaution was taken against fires. For instance, all builders of houses were ordered to roof them with tiles, shingle boards, or lead, and to stop an outbreak any house could be pulled down. Thus, Mr. H. B. Wheatley on the safeguards: "For the speedy removal of burning houses each ward was to provide a strong iron hook with a wooden handle, two chains, and two strong cords, which were to be left with the bed of the ward, who was also provided with a good horn loudly sounding." And, moreover, every householder was ordered to keep a barrel of water before his door.—London Chronicle.

Don't Be a Grouch. The old Connecticut farmer had the right idea. A group of his cronies were talking at the usual corner store about the best way to die. A great many theories were advanced. Finally the others turned to Zak and demanded his opinion. "Wall," said he, "I ain't redy ter die jist yit, out if I had to pass in, the checks I'd jist like 'a have somethin' tlekle me to death an die a laughin'." It doesn't cost any more to be pleased than to be grouchy. But it means a lot more pleasure to all concerned.

Plain, Tailored Utility Coats

THE long, protecting "rain or shine" coat, made to meet the exigencies of travel or life in the out-of-doors, is cut on simple lines. One of the most practical of these coats is pictured here. It hangs straight on the figure. The needed fullness at the bust line is provided for by two small plaits on each shoulder. This is taken up from the swell of the bust down in a stitched-in plait at each side of the front, the plaits extending below the normal waist-line for at least six inches. The coat is open at the throat, but without revers. The neck is finished with a small sailor collar and the sleeves with turnback cuffs. Bone buttons are used for fastening and as a decorative feature on the cuffs. Coats of this kind are made with skirts to match. The laces, severely plain and straight, are worn with blouses of thin wash silk, pongee or sheer wash fabrics. These coats and skirts require firmly woven rainproof goods in quiet staple colors. Either can be worn without the other, and the coat is designed to do duty wherever a separate coat is needed. In some of the new models these coats are cut with a flaring skirt set onto a shorter bodice in the style of the Russian coat. Others, of heavier fabrics, are cut double-breasted, in long-waisted designs having an inverted plait at each side to give a slight flare to the skirt part. In these the sleeves are large and straight with turnback cuffs. Turnover collars that may be brought up snugly and tightly about the neck make this a warmer garment than open-throated models. This is best for the automobile. One of the most modish of coats belongs in the redingote class. It is constructed with an easy-fitting long-sleeved jacket to which a plaited skirt is set on. This terminates at each side three inches, or a little more, from the front of the jacket, to which it is attached under a belt of folded satin. There is a rolling collar of velvet and narrow cuffs of it, both finished with a silk braid. The jacket is fastened with large barrel-shaped buttons at the front. When a skirt to match any of these utility coats is needed it is cut in the straight-line style and the requisite fullness given with inverted plaits.

SANFORD IN EARLY DAYS

MAYOR'S LETTER IS INTERESTING TO OLD AND NEW RESIDENTS OF THIS CITY

The following letter to the Board of Aldermen written by Mayor Barnes in February 1897 is most interesting, setting forth as it does the conditions that existed in those days about 17 years ago and also shows that though times may change there is but little difference in people:

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 15, 1897. To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of Sanford, Fla.:

Gentlemen:—In assuming the high and responsible duties of Mayor, which the voters of Sanford have by their suffrage assigned to me, I deem it necessary to address your Honorable body upon several matters of interest and importance to us, both as a city and as citizens.

The effects of the severe freeze of 1895, the depressing influence of the financial situation which paralyzed business interests of every nature, coupled with a few local hindrances brought about by a small class of our citizens whose only object it seems has ever been to "tear down" instead of "building up" are still noticeable in our midst. And while these circumstances are to be deplored, it is gratifying to know that Sanford has held its own and compares favorably with any town in the state, not excepting those of more pretentious proportions; therefore when taking into consideration the misfortunes and disadvantages under which we have been working, we have every reason to be thankful.

I believe that the darkest days have passed and that we are now emerging from under the clouds of doubt and distrust which have so long been hovering over us, and that the opportunities for building up our city and placing it in the front ranks of prosperity are near at hand. But those desirable results cannot be attained if we continue to sit idly by and make no effort to secure them.

Several movements have been made from time to time within the past few years looking towards that end, but very little, if any perceptible advancement has been made. The fervency and zeal which seemed to have actuated them was of short duration, and they have become things "in name only."

I believe this state of affairs can be materially remedied and that by a hearty cooperation of our citizens a wonderful change for the better can be accomplished. I would therefore recommend that the "Young Men's Business League and Board of Trade" of Sanford call a mass meeting of our citizens at an early date for the purpose of considering such measures as will be deemed best and most practicable, as will tend toward the increase of capital and the enlargement of our city's material interest.

Our Finances

For the past several years, our expenditures have exceeded our receipts anywhere from two to six thousand dollars annually, with the exception of the year 1896, which shows only an excess of $446.81, and while the reduction in expenses for the past year indicates a very economic spirit on the part of the last Board of Aldermen, I believe it is possible for us to live entirely within our income.

Our revenue from dog tax and impounding fees have been gradually on the decrease, notwithstanding the fact that we have as many if not more of those animals in our city and on the streets than at any previous time. I am convinced in my own mind that if these matters are carefully looked after, and the examples of economy which have been set by the old administration is continued, by the present Board, we will be able at the close of the present fiscal year to place a balance on the other side of the ledger.

Sale of City Bonds

This is a matter which has been hanging fire for a long time; and while more or less criticism has been heaped upon our Board for failing to sell the bonds several years ago, at a time it is claimed they could have been sold, it is a question in my mind whether or not the wisest course has been pursued, so far as disposing of the entire issue of bonds are concerned. The panicky condition of the country, dull business and other bad influences to which we have been subjected has been sufficient hardships, to say nothing of the $1359, that would have had to be taken every six months to pay the interest on the bonds, believing as I do now though, that we will experience no more of these unfavorable situations, I would urge that every means possible be brought to bear to dispose of the bonds, especially so many of them as pertain to the liquidation of our indebtedness, the building of a first class school house and the cancellation of such vouchers as have been issued from time to time by the council for shelling the streets, and for which the bond trustees agreed to reimburse the city treasury from proceeds of bond sales, with the exception of the latter, we have about fourteen thousand dollar of vouchers outstanding, drawing eight per cent interest, or $1120 per annum, while the bonds appropriated for the payment of our indebtedness will not liquidate the entire debt, we can by their sale save two per cent interest, which the vouchers are now drawing in excess of what the bonds call for, and by taking up ten thousand dollars of our vouchers save the taxpayers $200 per annum. This is a small matter, it is true, but it is the small leaks that sink the ship and we should begin right now to stop them.

Our public school facilities are in a menacing and serious situation, to our city, and unless some radical improvements are made and that soon, we cannot expect to secure permanent citizens that class of settlers who desire to reap the benefit of this very important necessity.

Taxing Bicycles

The subject of licensing or taxing bicycles is one that has been discussed by a great number of non-residents, and some have already placed a small tax on these vehicles. I know of no just reason why this city should not derive some revenue from the owners of these machines; our streets are constantly being repaired and kept in a proper condition to accommodate and facilitate the comfort of the riders, and they are among the first to offer complaint when any impediment to their pleasure confronts them, be it ever so slight. I would recommend that a license tax of one dollar per year be placed on all bicycles, which have wheels over twenty-six inches in diameter, the owners of which being permanent citizens of Sanford, or who may hereafter become such. Scavenger Service. The time is now at hand for advertising for bids for scavenger service for the next twelve months, and should be attended to at this meeting; but before you take any action thereon, I beg that you take into consideration the advisability of drawing up said contract in such a manner as will require the scavenger to perform the duties of removing all excremental deposits at night especially during the winter months, instead of during the day. My reasons for this I believe are obvious to every member of the board, at least to all whose sight is not impaired or whose olfactory organs are in a healthy condition, and nothing more need be said by me at this time.

Extension of Corporate Limits

It is well known to each member of the board that our suburban population has increased considerably during the past few years, especially so on the southern borders of the town. Many suburban residences have been erected, very few of which have been vacant for any length of time, being in most cases occupied by the owners. These people are now and have been for several years enjoying to a considerable extent the benefits of graded streets, gas lamps and fire protection, and in many instances their privileges extend almost to their doors. In case of outbreak of fire not one of them would hesitate to claim our assistance from the nearest fire alarm box. Besides, I believe that under our franchise with the Sanford Water Works Company they could if so disposed charge the city for any and all water used for protection of any residence outside of the corporate limits, and could collect same. Again, imagine what a howl would go up and the condemnation that would be heaped upon us, and justly so, should our fire department refuse to respond to such a call from these people. Furthermore, I have no doubt but that the insurance policies which these residents are now carrying on their property are based upon the fire protection they naturally expect to receive from the town. Under these circumstances, I believe every property owner along the south side of Fifth street would gladly come in with us and be willing to bear their portion of expenses for the maintenance of these privileges. I therefore hope the board of aldermen will take some steps towards giving them an opportunity of doing so.

Enforcement of Ordinances

The cattle ordinance as found in Chapter 16 of the revised ordinances of Sanford has not been enforced as it should have been partly perhaps because of the public sympathy with the owners of the stock and partly because the police have been unable to leave the business portion of the city at night to impound the cattle. If the council desires to make any change in this ordinance to conform to what seems to be the general sentiment, I would like the cattle run at large at night, I trust you will do so at once. Otherwise I shall see to it that no animals are allowed to roam the streets or any other part of the city hereafter.

Bond of City Officers

I have serious doubts as to the legality of the bonds furnished by our city officers during the past few years, and confess my ignorance of the law upon this important matter until recently, as well as neglect of duty, while holding the position of president of the council, and upon inquiry I have reason to believe that my successor has been equally neglectful; and were it not for the fact that we have had honest men filling these positions, there is no telling what the consequences might have been.

I believe that the responsibility and approval of bonds of all officers required to furnish same should rest solely with the city council instead of the mayor and president of the board, thus preventing any possibility or connivance or failure of proper performance of duty on the part of the latter.

I also think that the bond required of the clerk, treasurer and assessor and the marshal is exorbitant and should be reduced; furthermore, that they be permitted to furnish bond through some reliable "Guaranty and Surety Company," thus relieving them of the annoyance and inconvenience so often experienced in securing personal bond.

Conclusion

In the foregoing pages I have endeavored to set forth such views and recommendations as will in my judgment bring about reforms that will redound to lasting benefits to our city, and respectfully ask that your Honorable body give them due consideration.

I trust that the administration of the new board of Aldermen will be a harmonious and profitable one, and that we will all pull together having but one object in view, that of exercising the most rigid economy possible, in conducting the affairs of the city, and promoting the general welfare of our citizens.

Yours very truly, E. F. BARNES, Mayor

Temple Sells Out

The largest sale of improved property made in this section since 1895 was closed Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, when Walter W. Rose sold to a northern party the Alabama estate, the valuable property of Mr. W. C. Temple, former manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange.

While the purchase price has not been made public some idea of the value of the property may be gained by the fact that $46,000 insurance is carried on the buildings alone.

This splendid and magnificent estate, where Mr. Temple had spent over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in improvements before he left off counting is one of the pretty show places in this section of the state. It fronts a half-mile on beautiful Lake Maitland and is entirely within the corporate limits of Winter Park. There are seventy or more acres of land, forty of which contain one of the most beautiful bearing groves of the choicest fruit.

Close to $30,000 in underground improvements has been spent on the place; in tiling irrigation; two complete water systems for the entire grounds; a gas system; and a private underground telephone system, the wires connecting with the many various buildings of the estate, leading out from the palatial residence, the rectory of which alone cost the owner over $12,000.

The buyer took everything as it stood, Mr. Temple's only reservation is, it is said, having consisted of a bull dog and a pony.

The gentleman who became the possessor of this magnificent estate stepped from the portico at Tampa Special Wednesday afternoon, and left Orlando at midnight following. He will remain some six or six days and occupy the property. Reporter Star.

City Beautiful Ball

The Sanford House has never been the scene of a more brilliant assemblage of men and women as upon the occasion of the City Beautiful Ball, Friday night, given under the auspices of the Woman's Club...

In the receiving line were members of the executive board, composed of the president, Mrs. John Webb Ducker, first vice president, Miss Laura Fish, recording secretary, Mrs. R. E. Tolar, chairman literature department, Mrs. G. L. Maris, chairman social department, Mrs. A. W. Fitts, Jr., chairman music department, Mrs. Deane Turner, chairman welfare department, Mrs. R. A. Terheun.

The large dining room of the hotel, which was used for the ball room was especially beautiful with its paper decorations of red, green, blue and white, carrying out the color scheme of the decorations.

Graceful Lines in a High Coiffure

NO ONE single style dominates in coiffures just now, although the French twist may be said to hold the lead in popular favor. It does this by virtue of its novelty and not because it can lay claim to being a becoming arrangement.

A becoming coiffure is shown in the picture given here. It is also one of the easiest to arrange. To dress it the hair is loosely waved all about the head and the front portion parted off. The back hair is combed to the top of the crown and twisted into a soft knot or puff at this position.

The hair at the center of the forehead is combed back, but so loosely confined that a strand is brought down over the forehead and pinned with small wire pins so that it forms a soft, light puff in this position.

were banked with palms and ferns and a profusion of roses were placed with charming effect. The orchestra was separated from the dancers by an effective arrangement of cotton balls and a bale of cotton that was most attractive. The cotton, just bursting from the pod made an exquisite relief for the red roses massed behind it.

Mrs. R. J. Holly in a gown of white cotton crepe, embroidered in yellow cotton was awarded the prize for the handsomest cotton gown made entirely of cotton materials, and Miss Anna McLaughlin wearing a dainty white frock of white net, trimmed in pink velvet, won the prize for the most artistic gown of inexpensive materials.

Hushell's orchestra from DeLand furnished the music and supper was served during the intermission.

The various committees are as follows: Executive Board: Mrs. M. J. ...

At Tampa a splendid report, a brief outline of which is given below. A few of the suggestions may be of interest in developing a more efficient and greater activity in our primary schools of Seminole county.

Here the ends are rolled into small puffs and pinned at either side of the knot. These puffs fill in the break between the knot and the hair at each side. The result is a coiffure of graceful lines and simple and tasteful arrangement.

A very good way for dressing thin hair has been devised with the aid of a small hair roll or supports of crepe hair. The hair must be frizzed or combed about the face by dampening and doing up on crimping pins or braiding it in tight, small braids over night.

All the hair is combed back over a small hair roll, forming a low pompadour. It is tied at the back rather low on the crown and separated into four or five strands. These are rolled into puffs and pinned across the back of the head.

Thin hair is rather difficult to keep in place and a hair net is brought over this coiffure and fastened in many places with invisible pins. It is left very loose across the forehead when the hair is arranged in a short side part, a dip, or in any line about the face that best becomes the wearer.

Puleston was gowned in yellow organdie with overdress of white net, handsomely trimmed in fur, with which was worn a jeweled girdle. Mrs. Deane Turner was dressed in probably the most artistic gown worn at the ball. It was white cheese cloth trimmed in red appliqued roses.

Mrs. C. E. Henry was handsomely gowned in pink satin with overdress of white spangled net. Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop was lovely in white net trimmed in pink maibou over blue. Miss Gretchen Schultz was very handsome in black saten with overdress of black net.

Mrs. F. L. Miller was very attractive in blue organdie and black velvets. There were many more varied and beautiful gowns worn by charming women but space forbids more detailed mention.

To Messrs. N. P. Yowell and D. A. Caldwell Sons thanks are due for the prizes awarded by these enterprising merchants, being prizes of ten dollars each.

Out of town guests were Misses Alice Jacobs, Rosina Jacobs, and Miss Pratt of Orlando, Mrs. and Miss Fish of Orlando, Dr. Belle Schlesler of Philadelphia; Miss Helen Maris, Philadelphia; Miss McClung, Dunedin, Mrs. and Miss McMillen of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Starkweather, Jacksonville, Messrs. W. H. Lewis and E. H. Reed of Tampa.

The big feature of Thursday was the parade. The S. S. army, 3,000 strong marched through the principal streets of Tampa with thousands of flags and banners flying and the band playing "Onward, Christian soldiers" to lead them.

This army was composed of big Baraca classes, boys and girls and women. Among the Baraca banners was one bearing this motto: "The Men of America for the Man of Galilee." As the big company of the boys of the Tenth Legion passed in review their leader would say "Hillsboro! Hillsboro!" and the boys would respond "Dry, Dry, Dry!"

It was said that marching as that parade did it would take one year and eight months for the S. S. army of the world to pass a given point. There were many excellent things in the report that must be omitted for lack of space, but in conclusion Mrs. Strong said that the next convention would be held at Miami and upon county organization before that event.

LAND "SHARKS" GUILTY

Five of the men prosecuted by the United States Government for misuse of the mails in selling lands in the Florida Everglades were convicted by a jury in Kansas City Thursday, after a lengthy trial. Nearly all of the state officials of Florida and other prominent citizens of this state were witnesses at the trial.

The defendants were charged with misrepresenting the character of the lands which they offered for sale, and which were in fact bought by hundreds of investors and home-seekers throughout the country. As soon as it began to appear that the lands sold under the highest representations were largely overflowed and unfit for habitation or cultivation, there was a howl of protest from victims and the result was the prosecution of the land agents by the Government.

The Tribune discussed the matter exhaustively at the time of the disclosures and Representative Frank Clark denounced the persons selling the land on the floor of congress, declaring that they had inflicted serious injury upon the whole state. This was undoubtedly true and the experience of the "suckers" who were victimized by the Everglades "sharks" proved a deterring influence upon others who were thinking of investing in Florida. The impression went abroad that all Florida lands were in the same condition as those in the Everglades and that any purchaser of land in this state would be "stung." It took worlds of publicity and personal demonstration to overcome this impression and the fact remains that the men responsible for the misrepresentation cost legitimate real estate dealers and property owners in Florida many thousands of dollars.

The conviction of the men on trial at Kansas City appears to be eminently proper under the facts as brought out at the trial and it will assist in showing the general public that this sort of business was confined to one particular land proposition and had no connection with other land propositions in this state. It would seem that these men are deserving of severe punishment for the manner in which they misused the great agencies of publicity to deceive trustful investors and for the great harm which their practices inflicted upon legitimate enterprise in Florida. Tampa Tribune.

RECAPITULATIONS OF FAIRS

The exhibits of the fair are almost in every instance complimentary. The collection of farm and garden products are very fine, as were the fruits and flowers. The merchants' exhibits were crowded, the fair was a picnic for our restaurants, hacks, carriages, automobiles and buses.

We have heard but one unfavorable comment, and that was in the form of an interrogation. "What practical it results," it was asked, are we to reap from the annual fairs other than in getting the people together?"

The gentleman who asked this question freely acknowledged that the fair was a splendid exhibition in all of the varied departments. He said that the products of the farm might have been exhibited more elaborately, but not more excellently. Almost everything that can possibly be produced from our soil was shown, and shown in telling shape and to good advantage. This gentleman made the same observation of the products of the garden and orchards. The work of the canning club girls was remarkable, and the handwork of the ladies was beautiful and pleasing. The article, from kitchen, dining room and dairy from shop and forge of the negro industrial students were likewise excellent.

But he persisted in asking, "What is the harvest? Did we not all know these things beforehand? Did not the Marion county farmers know that we could raise hogs, cure meat and grow corn? Did not the farmers of Sumter, Citrus, Levy and Alachua counties know the same thing?" "Was it nit, after all," he asked, "like the rose that loses its fragrance on the desert air?" "The stranger," he continued, "was not here to see these wonderful revelations."

"What this gentleman said is largely true; so after all, to get good results we must largely depend upon the local press. This paper devoted more than twenty columns in write ups of the fair. It has about 1200 subscriber outside the state who are subscriber largely for the information they can gather from its columns just of this particular kind. If it had double the circulation its write-ups of this description would do double the amount of good. Recognizing the value of the publicity of the local press many of the boards of county commissioners and boards of trade in south Florida, in addition to bonnets and other forms of advertising, subscribe for as many as a thousand copies of the local press for a given length of time, to be sent to those seeking information of the resources and possibilities of south Florida, and it is said that they find this mode of attractive bona fide settlers largely the more effective.

We hope that our county commissioners and boards of trade will come day realize the same truth, and will become a help and a hand-maiden to the local press.—Ocala Banner.

CHANGE IN JURY SYSTEM

FROM WEST PALM BEACH SUN

We are often asked why some effort is not being made to correct the apparent defects in our jury system, and the question "Why" may be one for the layman to ponder, but it would appear to us that this is a matter that must be handled, or that can only be handled by the legal fraternity.

Suggestions, however, from the layman may be in order and on this suggestion we are willing to submit just one or two suggestions.

First, we believe that the legal stipulations in regard to disqualifying jurors should be changed so as to admit to jury service, only such men as can satisfy the court as to their moral ability to distinguish between right and wrong and their intellectual ability to so consider the evidence presented to them as to enable them to decide from the evidence the justice or the injustice of the charge or action, and thus to accomplish the purpose for which they were asked by the court to serve as jurors.

This is suggested by the frequency with which we see good, capable men excused from the jury service, on some technically legal defect. We don't mean to intimate that good, capable men are always excused, but we do believe that too many of such men are excused and that it should not be possible for such men to be disqualified unless they can satisfy the court that they are either morally or mentally deficient and that to such a degree as to render them incapable of performing the duties required of them as jurors.

Second, we do not believe that it should be possible for one dissenting juror to force a new trial. That this is now possible in this state is a requirement that in all criminal cases, the defendant cannot be convicted except by the unanimous vote of the jury, before whom his case is tried.

The intent of this legal requirement is of course apparent. Before a man can be convicted of a crime he is innocent, until proven guilty beyond all reasonable doubt, and all reasonable doubt must be removed from the mind of every juror. We admit that this is just and is what each of us would want if we were on trial charged with a criminal offense, but we believe that the ends of justice are too often defeated by an unfair, or unreasonable application of this provision of the law.

The two points here mentioned are chosen as the defects most apparent because they are the subject of general comment and the layman has discovered that here is something that is not as it should be and this conviction is now firmly fixed in his mind, therefore this would seem to be a proper time for him to call on the legal fraternity for a diagnosis of the case and an application of proper and efficient remedies.

CIVIC PRIDE

The front yard is a pretty good index of the kind of people that live in the house. It's a fairly accurate prophecy of the conditions you are going to find in the yard behind the house, and a clean back yard usually means good sanitary conditions through the entire establishment. Good looks count. First impressions are hard to get away from. Florida, in proportion to its population, probably has more visitors the year through than any other state in the Union. A good many of these visitors every year are making their first trip to this part of the Southland, and how many of them are not disappointed by their first glimpses?

A very large share of the railway stations in Florida, in the big cities and the little ones alike, are about the most uninviting spots in town. Broken boxes and barrels, pieces of lumber, bits of orange peel or sugar cane and a thousand other varieties of more or less disgusting refuse are scattered about and the place looks like a well, it is not what it should be. These railway stations are the front yards to our cities and they should be made attractive. They reflect blame or credit on the people who live there.

Of course, the railroad companies are responsible for these conditions, but it's a long way from some little tin roof to the general manager's office far away, and he isn't very much concerned how the station and yard are looked after. The station agent is supposed to keep things neat and clean. This agent's idea of what is clean and neat may not be very highly developed and the people of the town who have some glimmering remainder of local pride and some conception of the value of first impressions, to say nothing of low health and death rates.

Some cities in Florida, a few of them, have energetic women, who have extended their efforts for neatness beyond their own homes into public places. It's a pity more Florida towns haven't organizations of energetic women with these inclinations. Some of these cities have an annual spasm, which they call "Clean Up Day." They line up the school children and show them what to do, and the town is hardly recognizable for three or four days or a week. But it has a quick relapse and does not recover until another spasm strikes some one a year later and the attack spreads.

Why not clean up and stay clean? Nearly every town in Florida would get used to it—the town philosophers who ornament the grocery front would come to appreciate it and brag about it—and the result would be a boost, an advertisement. It would be so unusual in Florida

TO PREVENT THE WRINKLES

Simple Toilet Wash, With Barley as Chief Ingredient, May Be Recommended to All. There are two kinds of wrinkles, those which all skins will show as they are and become dry, and those called premature wrinkles, caused by suffering, either physical or mental. Many women whose skins seem unusually smooth and unwrinkled, almost babylike in their freshness, keep them so by bathing the face in some water in which some cereal has been steeped. The cereals seem to have unusual beautifying qualities, and some of you have already experienced the beneficial effects of the bran wash, both on the face and in the hair. There is a very simple toilet wash, with barley as its chief ingredient, which has kept the skin of many women surprisingly youthful and un-wrinkled. It is made by dissolving three ounces of pearl barley in a pint of water till the gluten is extracted. Then it is strained and to the liquid 25 drops of tincture of benzoin is added. In connection with this a bit of pomade or other skin food may be used effectively. After being thoroughly rubbed in the barley wash is rinsed from the face with the usual wash of pure soap and warm water. The addition of a few drops of benzoin to the water in which the face is rinsed, night and morning, will keep the skin fresh and white, besides closing the distended pores.—Women's World.

Sympathy Misplaced.

Don't let yourself be carried away too quickly with sympathy for the under dog. You may find out that he was fool enough to start the fight.—Somerville Journal.

Infantry Decides the Battle.

While there have been many discussions as to the relative value of the different branches of an army there is little doubt, according to a writer in the Scientific American, that it is the infantry that wins battles. While it is probable the success of a battle will depend to a large extent on the support of the field artillery, it is certain that the principal and most important arm is the infantry, which in practically every case must decide the final issue. The cavalry may be the first to be drawn into a battle, and the artillery may destroy the enemy's artillery, but a battle is never won until the infantry has driven back the enemy's lines. The usual mode of advancing for the infantry is to deploy them in a line with a long interval between each soldier. This naturally is for the purpose of offering a smaller target for the enemy, but makes it more difficult, however, for the leader to keep a good control over the ranks, and for that reason the use of a line of field artillery is to mark the enemy's troops deploy early. The infantry soldier carries all the countries with a rifle in his hand. The rifle is the weapon upon which reliance is placed the most, and is used only as a last resort, in a hand-to-hand encounter with the enemy. No Loading Allowed. A well-known theatrical manager, more famous, if possible, for his "breaks" he made that night very successful, attending the rehearsal of one of his plays, noticed that a man in the audience who had been sitting in front of him and during the play Mr Stetson at once called him to account. "Say," said he, "what do you mean by not working along with the other fellows?" "Why Mr Stetson, said the man, "I can't play. I have to bars rest." "Not on your life," said the manager, "I don't mind your resting. Either you go on or get out. See?"

No Game for Her.

Mollie—I think billiards is an awfully foolish game. Chollie—But you forget that the balls kiss and the players sometimes hug the cushion. "But just imagine a person taking time on a game where the billiard balls kiss and all that the players sometimes hug is a cushion."

Two Souls With But, Etc.

Two egotists met and made much over each other. As they turned away, each murmured softly to himself. "Poor deluded soul! It's all I can do to tolerate that fellow, but what can I do? It's absolutely pathetic the way he clings to me!"

Not Sufficient Data.

Schoolteacher—"Now, if your mother gave you a large apple and a small one, and told you to divide with your brother, which apple would you give him?" Johnny—"I'd give my big brother or my little brother."

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Literature Department had its regular meeting Nov 25 in the club rooms. Mrs. Morris, chairman presided.

Papers from Miss Chappell and Mrs. Martin could not be given, same postponed until later date.

A paper which gave interesting facts and dealt with "Some Other Little Books that Have Found Their Way to American Hearts" was given by Mrs. A. D. Key. Some of these books were mentioned, as Pollyanna, Freckles, Laddie, Huckleberry Finn, The World I Live In, Mother, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch and Emily Lou. The purpose for which each was written instructively impressed the listener. It was quoted that the Mitchell Library in Glasgow, Scotland appropriately named a portion of its library "a cemetery," because it contained a thousand dusty books looking askance for some one to give them a journey. It was said that the percentage of living books were exceedingly small. One's attention was riveted on the comparison of books and authors given as to their ready sale; thus showing that even in books there was a prevailing fashion. The most appealing to most people were those which treated mostly of child life.

The Christian novel to which general public favored was the popular story of Ben Hur. A Chicago house alone recently ordering a million copies.

A portion of Gene Stratton Porter's book was read, "The Song of the Cardinal," which was written in defense of the red bird. Picturing the hunter as toying with his gun he aimed at the little creature's wing, merrily to see some feathers flutter.

Eastern Star Memorial Service The Eastern Star held a very beautiful memorial service in the Masonic Temple on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock with a large crowd of Masons and their families present. It was the most beautiful of any program that has been given in many years. The program was as follows:

Opening ceremony in which all the objects of the Lodge participated.

Dear Mr. Campbell and Mrs. M. B. ...

Prayer and benediction.

St. Agnes Guild Bazaar A big store room will be filled with goods for the St. Agnes Guild Bazaar.

New Auto Agency Mr. E. E. Adams, son of Mr. Frank Adams of Mantland has just arrived from New York where he has secured the agency for the new Remington line of motor cars that is creating so much interest in automobile circles.

This car, in two models, touring and runabout sells for $595 and $695, is fully equipped with electric starting and lighting, automatic gear shift and every modern improvement, 106 inch wheel base and 60 inch tread for Florida roads.

The Remington car is the product of the mind of Mr. Philio Remington of typewriter, gun and bicycle fame and bears out the Remington quality so well known in their other products.

Mr. T. U. Schenck, the southern representative of the Remington Co., who is a personal friend of Mr. Adams spent several days in this section and is high in his praises of the possibilities of this car for this part of the country. He says the car being of high horse power and still of light weight is sure to negotiate the roads as no other car can do.

As for lines of beauty this car can compare favorably with the $4,000 competitors, and one can feel sure the name would not appear on any article that was not of highest quality.

Mr. Adams expects a car load of these machines about December 15th at which time the interested public may see the latest word in automobile construction.

Mr. Adams is stopping at the Sanford House and is contemplating the construction of a modern garage in this city.

It is claimed that people's talents vary according to the month in which they were born. If you are not satisfied with yours, change the month.

CANADIAN RATES GREATLY REDUCED

FLORIDA GROWERS WILL BENEFIT BY RECENT CHANGES

Orlando, Nov. 30. Announcement is made by the headquarters of the Florida Growers and Shippers League here of the successful accomplishment of several important traffic cases during the week, as well as divulging information pertaining to other problems which are now under active investigation.

The result of the Jacksonville conference was that of satisfactory arrangements were made with the Florida railroads by which through rates to the entire western portion of Canada, which markets were just recently developed by Florida, will be restored on December 5. In addition there will be included a number of progressive points in that section of Canada, to which Florida has never enjoyed the privilege of through published rates, while California has always had them.

The league also calls attention to the rates shown in the new orange tariff to the eastern section of Canada, which, however, were not involved in the case above referred. An examination of the new tariff reveals a number of reductions, as well as a few slight advances to these eastern Canadian markets.

It is not generally known that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company recently filed a tariff with the Interstate Commerce Commission, providing a charge of $2 per car for diverting fruits and vegetables from Potomac Yards to other markets.

This is another matter of general interest to Florida which the league has been working on for several months, and now that all arrangements have been perfected with the various southeastern railroads, announcement is made of the fact that where cars become in distress when in "pocket market" sections of the country they may be diverted on to more profitable markets at the through rate from point of origin to ultimate destination, plus a charge of $10 per car for each 100 miles, or fractional part thereof, to cover the back haul or indirect services.

Miami Gets Meeting

Miami was chosen as the next place for holding the state Sunday school convention and the following officers were chosen at Tampa Wednesday: President, A. F. Turner, Tampa; first vice president, C. C. Burns, Tampa; Rev. J. E. Adams of Miami, second vice president; J. G. Venable of Jacksonville, third vice president; F. A. Wood of Jacksonville, recording secretary, and C. A. Hoyt of Jacksonville, treasurer. Rev. Claude W. Duke of Tampa was originally nominated and elected president, but declined to take the office on account of his church duties.

Members of the executive committee were named as follows: Rev. W. B. Witherspoon, Kissimmee; C. E. Howard, Orlando; G. E. Mabry, Tampa; Dr. W. C. Richardson, Tampa; Dr. C. W. Richardson, Tampa; Rev. F. P. Strong, Sanford; R. H. Johnson, Manatee; Rev. S. L. Jackson, Daytona; S. D. Harris, St. Petersburg; Rev. W. S. Patterson, Lakeland; Mr. Rickert, Fort Lauderdale.

Success attended the efforts on Wednesday morning to raise the $4,500 required for the coming year. Pledges were made the total of which approximates $2,500. It is the hope of the leaders that the required sum will be reached before the night. The feature of yesterday's session will be in a great parade in which it is expected 5,000 Sunday school children will take part.

CAPTAIN DES JARDIEN PRAISED BY CAMP

Captain Des Jardien of Chicago Maroons.

Walter Camp thinks much of Des Jardien, the center of the Maroon eleven. Here's what he says of Des Jardien. "He is the best center in the country—steady, reliable, absolutely dependable for his share of line work on attack, and a power on defense."

Coach Stagg seems more fortunate than his brethren in the matter of varsity and sophomore material on hand. The presence of Captain Des Jardien, one of the few westerners honored with an all-American berth in recent years, on the field of six candidates for end, several for quarter, and so on, indicates that the director will have the pleasing task of reducing the squad rather than rounding one up.

HAILED AS A COMING CHAMP

Sixteen-Year-Old Wizard of Manson, Iowa Impresses New Yorkers With His Great Skill.

For the first time since "Willie" Hoppe took his way to the premier position in the billiard world it seems the defense his masterful play has proved will be pierced. His crown is in jeopardy. When the storm cloud gathering on the horizon is minutes' distance it assumes the form of Welker Cochran, the sixteen-year-old youth of Manson Ia. who, in his practice matches in New York has shown such impressive form that critics are agreed he will ere long climb to a position among the professional players where he will be hailed as champion or the next thing to it.

The arrangements which both Hoppe and Cochran have made for the coming season make it impossible that they will meet in a championship tilt until late next spring, if at all during the season. Yet a titular meeting between the pair is but a matter of time, and the longer it is deferred, the brighter will be the prospects of the erstwhile newsboy.

A match between Hoppe and Cochran would afford the best billiards that could be seen. Both are masters. Cochran's stroke is similar to that of Frank Ives in every detail, and every billiardist knows what that means.

The prevailing opinion is that Cochran will strip Hoppe of his laurels when they do get together. Cochran, like the present champion, is a consistent player, fortified with an ideal temperament. As a match player he is second to none, with the possible exception of the champion himself.

"Mary Had"

A Paragrapner's Paroxysm
Mary had a little bird,
She kept it in a cage,
One day the cat espied it there—
Let's turn another page.

Mary had a hussy flea
Alight on her one day—
You must excuse us now, for we Must look the other way.

Mary took a little dip;
Her bathin' was with a bubble
Home, Oho, for us take a trip
Far from the river bank.

Mary had to climb a fence,
Her skirt caught on a nail—
Oh, don't you think the moon, Hortense,
Tonight is very pale?

These heroes are dead. They died for liberty—they died for us. They are at rest. They sleep in the land they made free, under the flag they rendered stainless, under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of sunshine or of sorrow, each in the widowless palace of rest. Earth may run red with other wars they are at peace.

In the midst of battle in the year of conflict, they found the serenity of death. I have one sentiment for soldiers living and soldiers dead: Cheers for the living; tears for the dead.

A few weeks ago a certain daily newspaper in one of the great cities started a movement for sending a the orphans of Europe. The idea took, because it was new and novel, and it afforded opportunity for cheap notoriety. The fact that a shipload of food would give greater and more pressing relief did not matter. There was no glory in sending food to the starving.

Now another great daily paper comes forward with a scheme for having Americans adopt the orphans of Europe.

That, like the Christmas ship, is more or less commendable, and it, too, affords an excellent means of advertising advertising the newspaper and some people.

It is well to relieve distress in Europe. It is well to provide homes for the orphans. Both may bring forth letters of thanks from kings and queens and lesser dignitaries. All of which, to be sure, would make excellent reading in this country.

But what of home? What of the hundreds of thousands of children in our own country to whom Christmas will be but an empty name, a mockery?

What of the mother who is bereft, who is empty because the table is bare? What of the father, who is walking the streets because there is no employment for them?

What of the young men and women who are dragged down to the pits, whose board bills are overdue, and they have nowhere to turn, no great party to head a campaign in their behalf?

Europe has our sympathy; it should have what a nation can reasonably extend.

But charity should begin at home, and the Lord knows there is a loud and clear call for it in the United States today.

But then there is no glory in that—no advertising for the newspapers—no notoriety for the givers.

It is just charity, and plain charity is not popular.

I note by The Herald that the men of Sanford and the ladies also will take more interest in the welfare of the boy and that step have been started to form some kind of junior Brotherhood or an organization on the plans of the Y. M. C. A. for the youngsters who are now roaming the streets at night. This is certainly a move in the right direction, as the talk about the boys falls flat in the face of the absence of some place for them to go at night. The parents of course are supposed to look after their boys but how few of them have ever been able to do it and then any full blooded man knows that at a certain age the boys should have some relaxation at night for all work makes Jack a dull boy. The boys from the age of twelve to twenty will be more or less on the streets and the larger cities have found that some means must be employed to keep them employed at some good amusement or exercise and from this idea the great Y. M. C. A. has sprung. Sanford of course could not hope to have anything as elaborate as the big cities, but in time with the united efforts of all the people of this city we could have a place that would appeal so strongly to the boys that they would not wish to spend any more evenings on the streets. The first start will be made by the Brotherhood class of the Presbyterian church, who have recognized the deep significance of the Brotherhood idea and that it does not mean to brother the man any more than the boy and the boy really needs the brother more than the man of the class. It is to be hoped that some suitable quarters can be arranged for the boys and that in the near future they can have a home that will have all the appurtenances of the reading rooms and gymnasiums that have made the big Y. M. C. A. buildings of the cities so popular. The reading room idea will be tried out first and in the early summer the swimming pool and gymnasium work and some of the men of the Brotherhood class will look after the boys two nights in the week. In this manner it is thought the boys of Sanford will get their square deal. There are plenty of men in Sanford who have plenty of money and they could well afford to put money into an enterprise of this kind, for it will return to them in many and diverse ways. Some of these men have boys of their own and I have heard them remark that there was no place here for the boys to go except the movies and yet it has never occurred to them that a place could be provided for the boys that would keep them in good company and would make men out of them. The boys of Sanford are the zoning men of Sanford and all of us are absolutely responsible for them. We should all like to see them out of the streets, fathers or not, for it is the greatest question that confronts us today. See to it that you get busy and help out the young men and boys of this city and place this duty above every other duty at this time.

As a result of the November election there was a large vote in states in the dry column. They are Arizona, Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia.

There remains fifteen states in which the population live in so-called no-license territory. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, New Hampshire, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas and Vermont.

There remain eleven states in which 25 per cent of the population lives in no-license territory. They are California, Delaware, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Utah, Wisconsin.

At different times in the past 25 states have adopted the policy of prohibition. All but nine for one reason or another, abandoned the local option or control by license.

California and Ohio, out of the six states in which state-wide prohibition amendments were voted on this fall, elected to remain in the wet column. In Ohio the new amendment to the constitution actually passed the state legislature, but the column fell out of the column because the voters did not ratify it.

The states that have voted dry during the year 1914 are Arizona, Colorado, Oregon, Washington and Virginia.

As the time comes for you to leave for the front, or course you will want that you will go to church Sunday if he will go, too. That's a fine way to start off. If you are undecided as to which church to attend, select the one your mother used to go to. You can't go far wrong. Any fellow's mother's religion ought to be good enough for him. So next Sunday give up the lay, hour in rest. Have your best clothes ready. Put 'em on and start out with your head up and your shoulders back. You are doing one of the best things you ever did in your life and if you keep it up you'll never be sorry. And you'll be surprised to see how good it feels to be in church. And above all things, if there is congregational singing, sing. Don't merely hold the book and bluff at singing. Fill up your lungs and let out the music. You'll know it all right. You may have forgotten the words, but the tune, never. Why, your mother used to sing it! She'll be a happy woman when she knows that her boy was at church.

The following rules, if carefully followed will kill any preacher on earth. Kill his influence, kill his ambition, kill him mentally, morally and physically:

1. Stay away from church, especially on bad days, when you think the crowd will be small.
2. Stay away from the Wednesday night service because you know there will be only a handful present.
3. When the sermon is over leave the church in a hurry without speaking to the preacher a word of encouragement.
4. When you get sick don't let him know about it, and then abuse him for not coming to see you.
5. Never invite him or his family out to dine in your home. They never enjoy a social hour.
6. Pay just as little as you can on his salary, and then grumble about that. This makes him feel good.
7. Never give him anything, except what you promised. This might make him think you appreciated him.

8. Always have some fool excuse when he wants you to do a little church work. That's what you pay him for.

9. Never offer to take him out in your auto or lend him your horse and buggy. This would be too kind.

10. Never call at his home, but say "Hi, Billy, 'Cause he doesn't visit you often or twice a month.

11. Don't ever offer to help him in any way, for he might think you were butting in."

12. Act as cold and indifferent toward him as you can, and he will think you are dignified.

If these twelve doses fail to kill him they will undoubtedly break him from preaching and force him to leave town.

Are you killing a preacher?—Dallas (Tex.) News.

IS PART OF HUMAN NATURE

Love of Outdoor Life Has Been Planted Deep in the Brains of Men and Women.

Whether it is an evidence of our barbaric instincts or not, the fact remains that the love of outdoor life lies deep in the breast of every man, woman and child. Camping is the popular vacation pastime. Young and old enjoy it. It is no longer necessary to go out into the woods and sleep in a lean-to or open shed, upon a lot of wily boughs, for in these days, at any sporting goods depot, one can find an outfit, from mattress to tent, which will give him, in camp, almost the comforts of home, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly. A couch and a shelter are both desirable wherever one may be, not only from the standpoint of comfort, but of health.

The demand for camping places is being met everywhere—at the seashore. Presumably the vogue for camp life was first stimulated by the old-fashioned camp meetings, a few of which still remain as centers of religious exaltation, in the groves, "God's first temples."

So great has the demand for camp resorts become that states like Wisconsin and Michigan, which are filled with lakes where bass, pickerel, pike and muskellunge abound offer camping sites at a nominal rental. Individuals or families can have a tract in the forest reservation of Wisconsin, for the erection of tents or temporary structures, at a yearly fee of $2 per person, or $5 for a family or an individual or club may lease five acres or more for a period of from one to twenty years with privilege of renewals, at annual rental of from $10 to $50.

To those who love the life outdoors nothing commands respect from the standpoint of health more than a few weeks' outing along the seashore or in the woods. Where a family cannot leave home for a week or two, a pleasant picnic in the woods a few miles from home will make the woods end of the world to be looked for with increasing appreciation. There is something in the atmosphere of camp life that brings out the best things in our nature. A few days in the sunshine, with an occasional shower thrown in, will do all of us good.

American Medal of Honor

Americans of average information know about the Victoria cross, the Iron cross, the Cross of the Legion of Honor. These are rewards of heroism which would mark a man above his fellows even in this foreign land.

But how many Americans know what a medal of honor is?

How many Americans know that the modest American soldiers who wear the medal of honor wear a decoration that is among the rarest and most difficult to win among military honors?

The Cross of the Legion of Honor, established by Napoleon in 1802, and while founded to signalize deeds of special daring in war, was after given freely for civil distinction. Nearly forty thousand German soldiers were decorated with the Iron cross in the seven months of the Franco-Prussian war, while in the more than half century since the creation of our honor roll only 3088 have been granted, including Civil war grants, and of these nearly nine hundred were given under a mistaken reading of the law.

The holder of the medal of honor must have distinguished himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity, at the risk of his life, beyond the call of duty. This standard, which bars out action, however brave, in the course of duty, and includes only acts of daring which a man might refuse or avoid without rebuke, is said to be unequalled.

Advertising in Belgium.

Poster advertising on boardings in England are often bad enough, and the boards stuck up in fields by our railway lines are an abomination. But the apotheosis of the blatant in advertisement is surely to be found in Belgium. Practically the end of every house within view of the line at stations between, say, Antwerp and Namur, and even on as far as Luxembourg, is plastered over with lettering in the vilest colors. Personally, I would never touch the thing advertised in this abominable way, but one can imagine one's self going into a cafe and the subconscious memory sending to the lips the name of some insistent Schiedam or liqueur. Belgium is certainly the most industrial country in Europe and the most advertising. One has the feeling that the entire nation is run as a commercial concern.

SEMINOLE COUNTY FAIR IS COMING

COMMITTEE IS GETTING READY FOR BABY COUNTY EXHIBITION

The Seminole County Fair bids fair to be the greatest fair in this part of the country if the present plans can be fully carried out.

The executive committee met yesterday with President Walker, Secretary Connolly, Treasurer Abernathy and Messrs. S. O. Chase, S. Ruge, R. C. Maxwell, F. P. Rines and U. P. Swope present.

The greatest work of the meeting was in the committee that will have to be appointed at once and this is a very important question, for upon the good work of the committees over the county depends largely the work of the fair.

The plans were carefully gone over and President Walker will make public the names of the members of all the committees in Tuesday's Herald if possible.

Henry Marks and his corps of assistants will arrive in the city about the fifteenth of this month and have headquarters where they will be busy for the next few months advertising and arranging for the big fair.

The committees will endeavor to simplify matters to the very last degree and a program list will be published as one of the needed information regarding the exhibits and the fair in general and everything that pertains to the events and exhibits.

HEALTH EXHIBITS AT THE BIG FAIR

SEMINOLE COUNTY WILL HAVE A FINE EXHIBITION

The Seminole County Fair will be famous for its many and varied exhibits and chief among them will be the health exhibits that will be brought here from many other states.

Dr. Oliver J. Miller has just returned from Jacksonville where he attended the National Health and Hygiene Convention and invited many of the states to participate in the Seminole County Fair and has the assurance that the North Carolina state exhibit will be here for one and it is said to be the finest state exhibit at Jacksonville.

The value of such a line exhibit at the Seminole County Fair cannot be estimated, not only from a medical point and as one of the attractions of the fair, but also from a

SUMMARY OF THE WAR

The German reichstag was voted a new war credit of $1,250,000,000, and the Imperial Chancellor Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, before the German house of representatives has declared the future can be regarded with every confidence.

"We must and will fight to a successful end," said the chancellor. "Our defensive war for right and freedom."

At the same time the chancellor asserted that the "apparent responsibility for this, the greatest of all wars, lies with Russia, while the real responsibility falls on the British government."

Germany's action as mediator between St. Petersburg and Vienna would have been successful, the Imperial chancellor declared, that England warned the Russian government that she would not allow a continental war to develop from the Austro-Serbian conflict and thus oblige France to restrain Russia from undertaking warlike measures.

Regarding the progress of the war the French official statement reports a violent bombardment of Lampernisse to the west of Dinan, an action northwest of the forest of La Grurie and in Abance, the capture of the towns of Aspach-le-Haut and Aspach-le-Bas by the French troops.

In the east, according to the Russian headquarters announcement relative calm prevailed on December 1 on all fronts, but about midnight the Germans made a determined but unsuccessful attack on the Russian positions north of Lodz.

Belgrade has been occupied by the Austrians after its evacuation by the Serbian troops and indications are that the Serbian army is being hard pressed.

Italy awaits with some anxiety the reopening of the Italian parliament, at which Premier Schandara will outline the government's attitude in the war and its reasons have evacuated the policy of maintaining "armed and watchful neutrality."

King George and President Poincaré have visited the British lines where they received an ovation from the troops.

Gen. Christian de Wet, the famous Boer leader in the South African war, who turned rebel recently has been captured by the Union of South Africa forces, according to an official dispatch from Pretoria.

The possibility of a German invasion of England has been revived by a warning issued by the Earl of Warwick, Lord Lieutenant of Essex, who advises the people in such event not to take part in the fighting as civilians, as such action "would only result in reprisals and possibly in a repetition of the horrors that have taken place in Belgium."

Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria again is reported by London newspapers to be in feeble health.
