Commissioners Also Approve HRS Contract

County OKs Water & Sewer, Port Budgets

By Paul Schofer
Herald Staff Writer

Proposed budgets for the water and sewer department and the Seminole County Port Authority were approved by county commissioners Tuesday afternoon.

The $4.4 million water and sewer budget, which did not include a rate increase, was unanimously approved, as was the $578,000 port authority budget. Neither department is subsidized by property tax dollars, since they operate from revenues they generate, a county finance official said.

Commissioners also approved the contract between the county and the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services for funding of the County Public Health Unit, which includes higher fees and eight new positions.

The water and sewer budget adopted does not include any rate increase, but a hike could come later, after the results of the water and sewer capacity pre-sale to developers is completed.

When the total of pre-sale money collected is known in September, the need for a rate increase will be determined based on any additional funding required to pay for water plant expansion. The pre-sale deposits are designated for the expansion projects.

The bulk of revenue in the budget is based on projected income from metered water and sewer services. $2.3 million is expected to be generated by sewer service, and $1.8 is expected to come from water service.

The budgeted amount for county water and sewer services is $4,422,047, which represents an increase of 3.7 percent over the 1985-1986 fiscal year of $4,264,483, according to Penny Fleming, county management and budget.

The port authority budget has been self-supporting since the 1981-1982 fiscal year. Most of the budgeted money is expected to come from port revenues, projected to total $484,000.

Slightly more than $200,000 will go for construction principal and interest payments, with $80,000 going for regular salaries and wages.

The budgeted amount is one-tenth of one percent higher than the present fiscal year, deputy county administrator Woody Price reported. "There are no major changes, and no

12 Killed, 68 Hurt In Soweto Fighting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Fighting between security forces and black protesters in the giant Soweto ghetto today killed 12 blacks and wounded 68 others in the bloodiest conflict under the state of emergency, officials said.

In other violence, a black man was burned to death by other blacks near Grahamstown in eastern Cape Province, officials said — raising the day's bloody toll to 13 dead. The 12 dead and 68 wounded in Soweto was the heaviest toll in lives and injuries since President Pieter Botha imposed a nationwide state of emergency June 12 to maintain order. On June 16, 11 people died in clashes.

The deaths Tuesday night and early today brought to 277 the number of people confirmed killed in racial violence and security force actions since emergency rule took effect 11 weeks ago.

The violence erupted out of a rent strike by blacks — who are caught between whites and militant blacks. The militant blacks are urging residents to withhold rent payment, while the whites seek payment to end the rent boycott.

The fighting was triggered 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when police broke up a meeting of rent strikers — who have refused to pay rent to the town council contending that the council is a puppet of Botha's white-led Pretoria government.

The fighting spread when eviction notices were delivered to blacks.

Soweto Housing Director Del Kevan said in an interview today in the Sowetan black daily newspaper: "Some people have been in arrears with their rent even before the (rent) boycott started on June 1.

"These are the people I am now sending notices of eviction. These are the very bad ones."

Reporters of the Sowetan black newspaper, ordered out of the area by security forces today, said an angry crowd hacked to death one councilman and attacked another.

But the Bureau of Information could not confirm the killing of the councilman and stood by its report of 12 killed in the sprawling Soweto ghetto outside Johannesburg.

At one point, police used tear gas to disperse about 500 people marching to Soweto council offices. Four police officers were hurt when a grenade was thrown at a patrol from a street barricade, the official said.

Police opened fire on the crowd, killing seven blacks, the bureau said. It said more than 60 people were injured in the clash.

Government sources said unofficially the list of injured could rise to at least 85.

Deltona Man Killed; 6 Hurt In Accident

A Deltona man was killed and six other people injured in a two-car accident Tuesday in that city.

Dead is Thomas A. Liuzzo, 36, of 2189 N. Normandy Blvd. According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Liuzzo was killed when he was thrown from his car then crushed by it during a 4:30 p.m. accident at Ft. Smith Road and Howland Boulevard.

Injured in the accident were five passengers in Liuzzo's two-door '76 Chevy and the driver of the second vehicle, a 1985 Dodge two-door.

In Liuzzo's car was Genevieve Liuzzo, 34, Joseph Liuzzo, 6, and Charlotte Grzenda, 22, of the same address, and Daniel and Eric Bass, ages 8 and 5, of 41 Volusia Drive, DeBary.

Daniel Bass was transported to Halifax Hospital Medical Center in Daytona Beach, according to the FHP report, where he was listed in serious condition.

Ms. Liuzzo and Ms. Grzenda were treated and released from Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. Eric Bass was in West Volusia Memorial Hospital, DeLand, in good condition with a broken arm. The whereabouts of the younger Liuzzo could not be determined early today.

Injured in the second vehicle was the driver Hans Jenau, 44, of 2374 Kimberly Drive, Deltona. He was treated and released from West Volusia Memorial Hospital. There were no passengers in his vehicle.

Jenau was wearing a seatbelt. It was not noted in the FHP report if anyone in the Liuzzo vehicle was wearing a seatbelt.

According to the report, Liuzzo's vehicle was southbound on Ft. Smith when it ran a stop sign at Howland. Jenau's vehicle was eastbound on Howland. The vehicles collided and Liuzzo was thrown from his car which came to rest on top of him.

Residents Say Rowdies Frequent River

By Angela Woodhull
Herald Staff Writer

In the 1800s, fishermen who sold their seafood near Billingsgate (a wharf and fish market district of central London named for old city gate) had a reputation for using some pretty foul and lusty language. Soon the coarse language itself became known as "billingsgate," and respectable townspeople avoided the area.

But London fishermen are not the only ones who use salty language.

"Billingsgate," according to Wekiva River area residents, is used by what they describe as "a group of dope-smoking, guffing rowdies" who use a small area under a narrow State Road 46 bridge, where the Wekiva River separates Lake and Seminole counties, as a swimming and recreational facility.

It's not just the loud "billingsgate" that upsets and embarrasses residents who live nearby. Residents complain of weekend visitors who allegedly toss beer cans into the river, urinate in public, and litter the area. Some residents fear that the visitors will break into their homes or endanger their lives.

Others fear for the safety of the visitors themselves, citing a recent fatal motorcycle accident near the bridge, a drowning, and a stabbing in the area as evidence.

About 40 residents have signed a petition which they plan to present to County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff this week. Kirchhoff said he'll pass the petition to Department of Transportation and Department of Natural Resources officials because the county can't do anything about the problem since the area is state-controlled.

Meanwhile, the DOT already has begun an investigation prompted by a recent complaint registered by Bob Poe, general manager of radio station WKIS in Orlando, who also lives near the area. Poe and some of his friends were canoeing down the Wekiva River on a recent weekend when, they say, they witnessed a number of visitors throwing rocks and beer cans from the bridge at canoeists below.

Poe's report to DOT's district director of operations Bob Lavette prompted Lavette to contact David Denson, DOT area supervisor, Leesburg, who took pictures of the area Friday. According to Denson, there were a few cars and pick-up trucks lined along the state's right-of-way that leads to the river's bank on the Seminole County side.

But Lavette is not sure what he's going to do when he receives Denson's photographs and accompanying report. Only the Seminole side of the river seems to attract the visitors. Lavette has to rely on two different DOT maintenance offices to get work completed in the area.

While Denson is responsible for maintenance on the Lake County side, Dick Thompson, based in Cocoa, is maintenance engineer for the Seminole County side.

Thompson said he realizes the area has been a "perennial problem." He said the DOT has done a number of things over the years to try to keep visitors from using the area, including installing a guardrail that was torn down just a few days after it was erected.

Thompson said he heard rumors some time ago that the state and Seminole County might team up to "provide proper, legal access to the area" by building a "regularly maintained and controlled driveway" down to the river on the Seminole County side. As it stands right now, continual traffic and heavy rains have caused erosion problems.

About six months ago, the DOT regraded the area. About a year ago, the DOT dumped about 60 truckloads of dirt under the bridge but an unauthorized agent bulldozed the soil after dark, according to Thompson.

Thompson said the problem is not exclusive to the SR 46 bridge area.

Plastic Sterilizing Firm Said Safe

Fears voiced by a Longwood man that a toxic gas used by a local firm, soon to move to Sanford, is a "bomb shell" threatening area residents are groundless, according to a company official and city investigators.

The company, Harbor Medical Inc., has outgrown its Longdale Industrial Park facilities and expects to move to the Sanford Commerce Park by June 1987, according to company president Clay Page.

Longwood resident Ted Poelking of 784 E. Land Ave., expressed his concern at Aug. 18 meeting of the Longwood City Commission about the use of the gas, which he claimed was "deadly and the same one used by Hitler to kill Jews." Poelking said "if it breaks down it would emit the gas into the air and if it caught fire nobody could put it out."

Harbor Medical uses ethylene oxide, (a colorless, flammable, toxic gaseous or liquid compound used in sterilization and fumigation), in a Vacudyne machine to sterilize disposable plastic medical trays it sells to hospitals and clinics. The process involves a combination of 12 percent ethylene oxide and 88 percent freon.

Longwood Code Enforcement Officer Ed Rossi, who inspected the Harbor Medical Inc. plant in response to inquiries from residents, said he is satisfied that the operation meets city requirements and has the necessary backup safety controls.

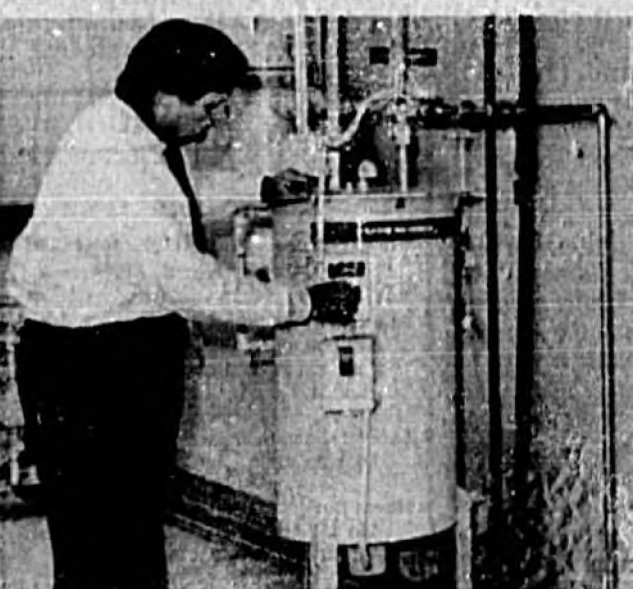

He said he spent almost an hour at the Longdale Industrial Park plant and talked to the See PLASTIC, page 6A

U.S., Soviet Diplomats Begin Summit Planning Talks Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet diplomats begin formal talks today about worldwide regional concerns with an eye toward higher-level negotiations next month and another superpower summit late this year.

Michael Armacost, undersecretary of state for political affairs, heads the American side in the discussions with a Soviet team led by his counterpart in the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Anatoly Adamishin.

The U.S. team also includes Peter Rodman of the National Security Council and Richard Armitage, assistant secretary of defense.

U.S. Grounds Eastern Merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Texas Air Corp. says it is confident its $675 million bid to buy Eastern Airlines will go through, despite the Transportation Department's decision to thwart purchase of the financially troubled carrier.

The department ruled Tuesday against acquisition, on grounds it would eliminate effective airline competition in the busy Boston-New York and Washington-New York shuttle routes and leave the lucrative routes, now served only by Eastern and New York Air, a Texas Air subsidiary, held by one corporation.

Groups Advocate Prayer, Money To Combat Drug Abuse

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Two groups have announced plans to combat drug abuse in Florida. One is looking to lawmakers for $39 million and another is seeking divine intervention.

Officials from the Florida Alcohol and Drug Abuse Association said Tuesday a massive infusion of money is needed to treat a backlog of crack cocaine addicts and to educate the public about the dangers of drugs.

As an example of drug abuse, the group released figures showing 70 percent of cocaine users in Florida smoke cocaine, compared to the national average of 25 percent.

'Captain Midnight' Pleads Guilty

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — John MacDougall, the video pirate better known to Home Box Office viewers as "Captain Midnight," said he will return to selling satellite dishes and will not give up his protest of pay-cable networks' decision to scramble their signals.

MacDougall appeared before U.S. Magistrate Howard Snyder in a 10-minute hearing Tuesday for approval of a plea-bargain agreement he reached with prosecutors shortly after his arrest July 22 on charges that he broke in on the broadcast of an HBO movie.

Snyder fined MacDougall $5,000 and gave him a year's probation for breaking in on the HBO broadcast of "The Falcon and the Snowman" April 27 with a private message protesting HBO's signal scrambling.

people are bound and determined to go underneath it to get to the water's edge," he said.

But neighbors seem just as bound and determined to see that something is done. Some said they want the area completely closed off. These vigilantes have periodically sent letters to any organization they thought could help.

In 1981 they succeeded in getting the DOT to post "no parking" signs on the Seminole side of the bridge. In 1983 eight area residents wrote to county commissioners and sent carbon copies of their complaints to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, the DOT, and the Seminole County Health Department.

Only Sandra S. Glenn, who was then chairman of the Seminole County Commission, responded to their complaints, saying, "The County Commission has no authority in this matter since it is either on private property or state right-of-way."

Corky Womack, nearby resident and initiator of the latest petition, said he would not like to see the area completely closed off.

"It's state property and all taxpayers pay to use that area," he said. "We are asking that the state provide sanitary facilities, trash bins, and parking in the area underneath the bridge. We'll ask that the state act like adults instead of juveniles in this matter and take responsibility for the problem."

Various officials from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department said the area posed no more of a problem than any other area in the county.

I. A. J. Sanchez, Seminole County Sheriff's Department, said, "I've only got three people to patrol every lake and river in this county. I don't know how we can possibly stop the littering. Short of posting someone down there 24 hours a day, I don't know what the solution is."

Detective Jerry Human, Seminole County Sheriff's Department, said he recalls reports of a man who broke his neck in the area and also a report of a person who was stabbed.

"Transients go down there occasionally, but it is not a common occurrence. The last report we received was about six months ago. Maybe there's more going on down there than I'm aware of, but I don't know of any problem. It seems to be isolated incidents rather than a major problem."

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said, "I have not received any information on this and will follow through with it when I do."

Weekend visitors to the area said they don't think it should be closed. Danny Barton, DeBary, said he has visited the area "almost every day" for the past 10 years. Barton, who services pools from Orlando to DeLand, said he sees the area as an ideal relaxation spot. Barton said he cares about the area and brings trash bags to clean it almost daily.

"This is the only place on the river where you can drink your beer, bring your dog, and do whatever you want to do," he said.

Doug Wilbanks also described himself as a frequent visitor to the area. "I come down here almost every day after work," Wilbanks said. "Some people work out in the sun all day long and they need a place where they can come. A lot of construction workers come down here, hard-working people. It's not the type of people that is a problem. It's how many."

Visitors agreed that the area tends to get "too crowded," especially on weekends, and that the state should monitor the area more closely.

Heart Group Says Limit Alcohol Use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Heart Association tackled alcohol for the first time in its dietary guidelines, and while the AHA said moderate drinking may be good for the heart, it could not recommend even a drink or two. But if you do drink, the AHA says you should not consume more than 1½ ounces of alcohol daily. This translates into two mixed drinks, two 4-ounce glasses of wine or two 12-ounce beers.

In its first revision of its "healthy heart" dietary guidelines since 1978, the association said there is a significant increase in the incidence of high blood pressure in those who have more than three or four drinks a day.

The AHA also lowered its recommendation for total fat intake and addressed salt consumption in detail for the first time.

The revised guidelines recommend that a person's total intake of fat of all kinds be limited to less than 30 percent of all calories. The previous heart association recommendation was that fat should be 30 percent to 35 percent of calories.

The touchy alcohol issue was brought up in the new guidelines issued Tuesday because studies have indicated that a certain kind of blood fat that appears to protect against artery disease increases in those who drink. In addition, the association said some studies found the incidence of coronary disease is lower in drinkers than in those who abstain.

"However, there are no studies demonstrating that increasing alcohol intake will significantly reduce vascular disease in humans or in animal models," the guidelines say.

Moreover, the AHA recommendations say "disrupted social function, increased accidental death and increased liver disease are frequently observed and easily documented by scientific observations."

And the guidelines say the excess calories associated with alcohol contribute to obesity, which is one of the risk factors for heart disease.

DUI Offenders Sentenced

The following persons have pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

The first-time offenders have had their driver's license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a $250 fine and court costs of $27.50, and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentences differs, the actual sentence is reported:

—Michael Terry Clifton, 28, of 310 Beverly Court, Sanford, arrested May 9 after his car failed to maintain a single lane on 25th St., in Sanford. He was fined $500, was ordered to spend 10 day in jail, and had his driver license suspended for five years.

—M. Fred Robinson, 22, of 515 E. Semoran Blvd., Casselberry, arrested Aug. 29, 1985, after his car was involved in an accident with injuries on Lake of the Woods Boulevard. He was fined $500 and placed on six months probation.

—Rex Paul Wasden, 29, of 747 E. Lake St., Longwood, arrested Feb. 18 after his car failed to maintain a single lane. He was fined $1,000 and his license was suspended permanently.

—Earnest A. Brady, 26, of 1320 Alfonso Circle, Winter Springs, arrested March 29 after his vehicle was in an accident on S. Citrus Dr. He was fined $750 and was placed on one year probation. His license was suspended for six months.

—Edward Milton Cosgrove, 57, of Orlando, arrested March 30 after his car swerved and hit a median on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs.

—Danny Martin Creel, 30, of 351 Springdale Drive., Altamonte Springs, arrested May 25 on Interstate 4 one mile south of Lake Mary after his slowly moving car was seen weaving from lane to lane.

—James Charles Doucette, 31, of 114 E. Plantation Blvd., Lake Mary, arrested April 29 after his car was seen weaving on Lake Mary Boulevard in Lake Mary.

—Mark Brian Mahan, 30, of Orlando, arrested April 27 after his car was clocked traveling 90 mph on Interstate 4 in Altamonte Springs.

—Paula Rene Lamoreaux, 20, of Orlando, arrested April 1 after her car reportedly hit two parked vehicles at Regency Apartments, 525 E. Semoran Blvd.

Actor Dead Of Cancer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ted Knight, actor of the TV comedy "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," died of cancer Tuesday. He was 62.

Knight was two hours for his portrayal of egotistical newscaster Ted Baxter, often providing the comic fuel for an all-star ensemble that includes Mary Tyler Moore, Ed Asner, Betty White, Chris Leachman, Valerie Harper and Gavin MacLeod.

"I really loved Ted Baxter and Ted Knight altogether," Grant Tinker, who produced the award-winning show set in a TV newsroom in Minneapolis, said in a statement. "I loved them both. They gave me so many of us so many great laughs."

Publisher Henry Bollinger said Knight died at his home in Pacific Palisades of complications from cancer of the urinary tract that was diagnosed about a year ago. He said the actor's wife, Dorothy, and their three children were with him when he died.

After "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" went off the air, Knight appeared in a short-lived series titled "The Ted Knight Show," portraying the boss of a girls' escort service, then in "Too Close for Comfort," later renamed "The Ted Knight Show," portraying a conservative cartoonist trying to raise a family in San Francisco.

"In television you make love to the camera," he said. "You were the winner. You don't look like the people here. You can become abusive to other characters in the show, but never to the audience."

"You have to dig into your bag of professional tricks, personal experiences and knowledge of comedy to get the best mileage out of your lines. Human relationships and interpersonal reactions are what make for a good situation comedy, not just the jokes."

Knight was born Tadeus Wladyslaw Konopski on Dec. 7, 1923, in Terryville, Conn., where he was raised. He joined the Army out of high school and won five Bronze Stars for his wartime service, during which he was among the first American troops to enter Berlin.

He began his career as a performer appearing in stage productions in Hartford, Conn., working as a disc jockey, singer, ventriloquist, puppeteer and pantomimist and training with the American Theater Wing in New York.

He moved to Los Angeles in 1957 and became one of the busiest actors in Hollywood, appearing in more than 300 different television roles including such popular series as "Gunsmoke" and "Get Smart." He also provided voices for hundreds of radio and TV commercials and cartoon shows, and appeared in night club routines as a mimic and impersonator.

He had a co-starring role in the movie "Caddyshack" in 1980, and got good notices as the star of the play "Some of My Best Friends," which folded on Broadway after just one performance.

Besides his wife of 36 years, Knight is survived by two sons, Ted Jr., 53, and Eric, 22, and a daughter, Elyse, 26.

Bollinger said private services would be held Friday, and said the family had asked that donations in lieu of flowers be made to the Price-Potteringer Foundation, which has set up a Ted Knight Memorial Fund to finance production of films on children and natural lifestyles.

"I don't know if he knew he was terminally ill," Bollinger said.

Soviets Plan 'Space Mines' To Foil Star Wars

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union plans to deploy "space mines" as a cheap and effective method to neutralize the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative space-based defense system, a senior Soviet nuclear scientist said today.

"We cannot allow it," Vitaly Goldansky, a member of the Academy of Sciences and the Committee of Scientists for Peace, told a news conference.

Diplomats consider Goldansky

one of the Soviet Union's leading nuclear research chemists.

"If we want to talk concretely about technical measures to be taken to neutralize this defense, it is very clear, first and foremost, that it is much easier to neutralize stationary objects launched into orbit rather than fast-moving objects like nuclear missiles," he said.

"This method would include space mines that would in a certain period of time be directed for the purpose of neutralizing the anti-missile space defense. I would say this is a much cheaper way," Goldansky said.

He said that, while the United States is spending billions of dollars to develop its space-based missile defense system popularly known as "Star Wars," the Soviet Union could easily counter it without causing any damage to its national economy.

U.S. hopes to make the Soviet national economy bankrupt due to the arms race and anti-missile defense are futile because it is easy to find effective countermeasures to an ABM program which are cheaper, Goldansky said.

Diplomats said space mines could be easily deployed in fixed orbits and controlled by radio from the ground. They could either be used to physically crash into an orbiting satellite to disable it or could contain a small explosive charge which, if detonated near a satellite, would disrupt its communications or send a shower of ball bearing-size objects smashing into it.

The Soviet Union has hinted at other ways of reducing the multibillion-dollar "Star Wars" program to "useless junk" — such as overwhelming it with dummy missiles and coated rockets at a cost of just 1 percent to 2 percent of the U.S. defense program.

State To Probe Dog Race

The state will investigate a controversial race that left up to 2,000 bettors fuming Saturday at the Super Seminole Greyhound Park in Casselberry.

If the race is determined to be invalid the track could be fined, but it is unlikely that any bettor would receive refunds if that's the case because of the difficulty of identifying them, officials said.

The controversy arose when four of eight dogs running a two-lap race started to stop after one lap. The other dogs continued to run after the lure which slowed for them.

Some patrons said curtains that cross the track at the end of a race closed but Tom Blayney, general manager of the track and three judges who watched the race agree the curtain did not close. The judges, two hired by the track and one by the state, agree the race was valid.

Steven Smith, of the Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering in Miami, said the investigation should be an easy one and completed by the end of the week.

Saturday, police from four agencies were called to quell a disturbance that began at the track when the 10:30 p.m. race frustrated a the crowd. Bettors were upset reportedly because the favored dog started to stop first. About 600 complaint forms were handed out by track officials and two arrests were made by police.

Altamonte Man Gets Wish: Jail

A 30-year-old Altamonte Springs man who allegedly told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he would kill his wife if he wasn't jailed got what he asked for.

He was charged with assault at 8:58 p.m. Monday and remained jailed Tuesday. The man allegedly ripped the backdoor off his home and assaulted Debra Diane Suber, 26, of 1201 Bunnel Road, Altamonte Springs. Mrs. Suber allegedly told sheriff's deputies her husband has a history of violence.

Kenneth Eugene Suber, 30, of the above address has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

WAITS & ATTACKS

Zora Washington, 21, of 3030 E. 21st St., Sanford, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that when she got home at about 8:30 p.m. Monday her estranged husband was waiting for her.

He allegedly wanted to talk and refused to let her leave. When she tried to leave Mrs. Washington told deputies the suspect hit her with his fists, banged her head against a wall, beat her to the floor and kicked her.

He left with their baby and when deputies arrived at Mrs. Washington's home they reported she had facial injuries and a bloody nose. She was treated by firefighters and transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where it was determined her nose had been broken. The report said.

Sheriff's deputies went to the suspect's home and arrested him. The baby was left in the custody of the suspect's mother, the report said.

Dan Washington, 21, of 3815 Lincoln St., Sanford, has been charged with aggravated battery and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

DUI ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

Brenda Mathis Vickers, 40, of 2486 Orange Ave., Sanford, was jailed at 10:49 a.m. Monday after her car failed to maintain a single lane on State Road 46, west of Interstate 4, outside of Sanford.

holstered .41-caliber handgun accidentally shot himself in the left calf when he dropped the gun to the floor of his kitchen and the gun fired a single shot.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported that Anthony G. Petergal, 357 Chaucer Lane S., was shot at about 7 p.m. Monday. The bullet grazed Petergal's leg and lodged in the ceiling. He had a four-inch long wound that was about one-inch wide, a sheriff's report said. Petergal was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford and the gun, which held one spent shell and five live rounds was confiscated by sheriff's deputies. Deputies reported the shooting was accidental.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Allyson and Miguel Hidalgo, of 1754 Cocoa Plum Court, Longwood, gave Seminole County sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen $12,300 worth of items including 16 gold chains valued at $6,000 from their home Monday.

An edger and a lawn mower with a combined value of $600 were stolen from the home of Ronald Gardner, 49, of 2647 Brookside Court, Maitland on Sunday or Monday, a sheriff's report said.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department has responded to the following calls, details from fire department reports:

Seminole County sheriff's deputies have the name of a man who may have at about 9 p.m. Friday grabbed from a purse containing $300 from a lap of a woman sitting in a car at Fred & Kay's store, State Road 46, Sanford.

Jacquelyn Diane Bostic, 20, of 387 Country Club Road, Lake Mary, told sheriff's deputies that the thief was in a group of about five men when he stepped aside to reach in through the open window of her car and grab her purse and run.

Ms. Bostic's husband, Roger L. Eason, 21, of the same address, was using a pay telephone when the theft occurred and he chased the suspect, but lost him. When Eason returned to the store to report the theft the suspect returned also and Eason chased him again.

The man wasn't caught, but another man reportedly gave Eason the name of a suspect in the theft, a sheriff's report said.

A bag of golfclubs valued at $450 was stolen from the home of James S. Maloy, 38, of 250 Timberland Ave., Longwood, on Sunday or Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Patrick Bogart, 48, of 651 W. Lake Brantley Road, Longwood, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen his 1975 Ford pickup truck valued at $1,000. The truck was stolen Monday.

Ion Gregory Winter, 37, of 1250 S. U.S. Highway 17-92 #230, Longwood, reported to

Reject Sanctions

Congressional self-righteousness has all but ensured that a bill for punitive economic sanctions against South Africa will be sent to President Reagan's desk next month. The only questions are how severe the sanctions will be and whether there are enough votes on Capitol Hill to override Mr. Reagan's expected veto of this misguided measure.

The Senate version, approved recently, would bar all new American investments in South Africa; cancel the landing rights of South African airlines; ban imports of uranium, coal and textiles; and prohibit deposits in U.S. banks by the South African government or government-owned companies. It would also ban U.S. imports of South African iron, steel and agricultural products and prohibit American firms from exporting crude oil to South Africa. The bill, moreover, would make permanent the sanctions established last year by President Reagan's executive order, including a ban on the import of South African gold coins and the export of computer technology to South African organizations that enforce apartheid.

The House's bill, which is even more draconian, mandates complete divestiture of U.S. investments in South Africa as well as a ban on all trade of commodities except strategic materials. The lawmakers will reconcile the differences in September when they return to Washington from their summer recess.

The professed purpose of Congress's moral posturing is to improve the lot of South Africa's 23 million blacks. Unfortunately, the net effect of sanctions would be increased pain and suffering for them and the neighboring black nations that depend upon South Africa's comparatively robust economy.

The initial victims of punitive sanctions would be foreign black workers who are likely to be expelled from South Africa. An estimated 1.2 million blacks from the north would be deprived of the money they send back to their families each week. The effect on those countries' economies would be immediate and devastating. In Lesotho, remittances from 115,000 mine workers in South Africa account for approximately 50 percent of that impoverished nation's GNP. Mozambique workers in South Africa produce more than $40 million annually in foreign exchange. Botswana's and Swaziland's economies could be paralyzed as well because they are dominated by South Africa.

The remaining black nations in the region depend upon South African ports, roads, and railways. Malawi, Zaire, Zambia and Zimbabwe rely on South African transport links for most of their imports and exports. A significant downturn in South Africa's economy could cripple regional trade in one-third of the African continent. The net result could be widespread famine throughout the area and subsequent calls for the United States to help feed 80 million starving black Africans.

An economic quarantine of South Africa would also punish the blacks there by inviting increased unemployment, violence, repression and a protracted civil war. That grim prospect prompted Helen Suzman, a long-standing opponent of apartheid and a member of the South African Parliament, to denounce sanctions and urge that America not abandon the beleaguered nation. Her compelling point is that the best way for blacks to gain social and political ground is through a growing economy that hastens power-sharing without revolution.

Granted, such an evolutionary process will take time, which in itself is repugnant to those radicals who demand nothing less than the violent overthrow of South Africa's white regime. That bloody alternative is virtually assured by those congressmen who, in their obsession to seize the moral high ground, risk destroying South Africa in order to save it.

Congress would do well to heed the haunting words of Lesotho's Secretary of Labor, A.L. Thalamane: "Southern Africa is like a zebra. If you damage the white parts, the black parts will also die." President Reagan understands that truth, which is why he must reject punitive economic sanctions against South Africa.

Corazon Aquino's Pulling Some Blunders

President Corazon Aquino already has carrying communists — five of them — in her administration, and the question is who put them there and why.

Back home in New York after a recent visit to Manila, I find a general assumption that all's going well in the Philippines. In September, Aquino is scheduled to visit the United States, and it is clear that both the Reagan administration and the liberal media are preparing to roll out the red carpet for her.

In a sense, their enthusiasm is understandable, for the replacement of falling and feeble old Ferdinand Marcos had become an urgent necessity. But that ought not to blind us to the fact that Aquino is a thoroughly inexperienced person, and that she has already made one and possibly two serious mistakes.

While I was in Manila, someone leaked to the press the astonishing news that five indisputable communists have somehow managed to acquire decision-making positions at the middle level in the Aquino administration. Not to mince words, Gerardo Bulatao is executive assistant to the minister of agrarian reform; Horacio Morales is head of the Rural Reconstruction Movement and chairman of a presidential task force in the Ministry of Human Settlements; Alexander Birondo is assistant to the minister of labor; Roger Posadas is employed by the Ministry of Energy; and Vicente Ladlad is adviser to the administrator of the Philippine Coconut Authority. Moreover, as one commentator remarked, "How far they have infiltrated their respective agencies with officers of similar persuasion can only be imagined."

After the leak, the Cabinet took up the subject at its next meeting and in effect concluded, "So what?" Alice Villadolid, deputy presidential spokesperson, told newsmen that the cabinet had reached a "consensus not to consider (communists) as outcasts of society, in line with the government's policy of national reconciliation."

Note the preposterous assumption that the only two possibilities in dealing with avowed communists are either to consider them "outcasts of society" or to appoint them to government jobs. In most nations of the free world, communists are allowed to live normal lives as long as they obey the law, and can run for office and enjoy the blessings of free speech, but are not permitted (unless they win election) to barge into government and start participating in running the country. Why does the Aquino administration have a different policy?

A second decision of Aquino's is equally dubious, and almost equally ominous. To put the point as gently as possible, the legitimacy of her rule is open to serious question. Nobody knows, or will ever know, who won last February's snap election. Unquestionably, there was massive fraud on the Marcos side; as for Aquino, we have the solemn assurances of our massed liberal media that not a single vote was seen to be stolen on her behalf in all the 7,100 islands and islets of the Philippine archipelago.

But Aquino didn't wait around for the votes to be counted. She declared herself the victor just 24 hours after the polls closed and nailed down her claim with the help of rebel troops. When the National Assembly, on completing the official count, nevertheless certified Marcos as the winner, she abolished the constitution (and with it the Assembly), and has been ruling by decree ever since.

Limited Policy Choices

By E. Michael Myers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional critics of President Reagan's $100 million aid package for the guerrillas fighting the Marxist-led government of Nicaragua warn "no more Vietnams," but Cuba may be a better test case.

A charismatic revolutionary in Havana, Fidel Castro, frustrated President Dwight Eisenhower in the closing years of his two terms with Cuba's leftist policies and ties to the Soviet Union. Ike turned over the problem to his youthful successor, John F. Kennedy.

The CIA program he inherited was far along in recruiting, training and arming a group of Cuban exiles to invade their homeland and topple Castro's government.

The covert plan, held secret from congressional scrutiny and public opinion, ended in disaster at the Bay of Pigs. Kennedy rejected the CIA's call for critical air cover for the disorganized invasion force and it foundered.

The Caribbean is "an American lake," where U.S. sea and air power can virtually crush any opposition. Across that lake from Cuba is Nicaragua, which also borders the Pacific.

North Vietnam could be bombarded by U.S. Navy surface ships and airplanes, but its supply routes to the Viet Cong in the south were only marginally affected. The U.S. Navy could easily throw up an intimidating blockade of Nicaragua and cut off its supply lanes.

Units of the U.S. Army are in almost constant exercises with the troops of neighboring Honduras. American servicemen are building landing strips and storing arms near the border. A Pentagon official says U.S. forces could invade Nicaragua as easily as "rolling off a log."

Like the Cubans of 25 years ago, the Nicaraguans fighting the government of President Daniel Ortega are largely recruited and advised by the CIA. The CIA has had little success with the Contras and Congress shut them out of the program in 1984 over concerns about deepening U.S. involvement.

The CIA will be unleashed again under the new aid program awaiting expected passage in September. But this time the training program will include special military forces such as the Green Berets. It is intended to sharpen up the Contras into a disciplined, effective fighting force.

If they indeed can be moulded into this force, the Contras must find what the Cubans were seeking — and the CIA promised Kennedy — a widespread, popular uprising. It never arose in Cuba.

Haiti Border Peace Promised

By Jack Anderson

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Peace has been promised along the Western Hemisphere's most turbulent border. This is the boundary that separates Haiti and the Dominican Republic — a dividing line that has spawned invasions, incursions and massacres, a violent frontier that introduced the word "genocide" into the language.

Both countries have just installed new heads of state — Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy in Haiti and President Joaquin Balaguer in the Dominican Republic. They could go down in history and set an example to the world. I suggested, if they would bury the past and bring peace to their border. Both leaders agreed to cooperate with each other.

It will take some tall statesmanship to stop the bloodshed that has soaked this boundary for centuries. For it divides two disparate nations that occupy the same piece of geography — the doorstep to America that Columbus discovered in 1492.

Not long after Columbus planted the Spanish flag and named the island Hispaniola, the violence began. First the Spanish and Indians clashed, then the Spanish and French, then black slaves and their French masters. Freebooting pirates revolted to the bloodshed.

A reborn of the slaves established the world's first black republic in 1804. Adopting the language of the French who enslaved them, the blacks settled Haiti. Forty years later, the descendants of the Spanish conquistadors, their bloodlines thick with Indian and black mixtures, formed the Dominican Republic.

Catastrophe and war and death continued to haunt the border. The worst recorded event occurred in 1937-38, Dominican Republic dictator Rafael Trujillo ordered the killing of all Haitians who had crossed into his country to work.

To separate Haitian from Dominican blacks, they were asked to pronounce the Spanish word "perejil" (parsley). If they pronounced it with an accent, they were assumed to be Haitians and were shot on the spot. No count was kept of the number who were slaughtered, but the estimates ran as high as 30,000. From this horror came the word "genocide."

There have been at least 20 skirmishes between Haiti and the Dominican Republic. No other border has been watched more intently by the Organization of American States, which has intervened repeatedly to stop the fighting. Yet shootings still occur.

Namphy, the Haitian strongman, said he would do his best to reduce tensions between Haiti and its neighbor. The people who live along the border, he said, have already learned to get along. They crisscross the border freely, and on both sides, Dominican and Haitian children often sit together in the same classrooms, he said. The governments, he suggested, should learn from the children.

When I asked Namphy whether he would work for better relations with the Dominican Republic, he caught his breath. But he hesitated no more than a second, then he smiled. "We are neighbors," he said. "We want to be at peace with our neighbor."

On the Dominican side, Balaguer was even more responsive. "I would be willing to enter into an agreement for mutual cooperation," he said. "The two countries should work jointly to normalize the border. This must be done for the sake of peace and harmony."

DON GRAFF

Letter From S. Africa

I've heard from Herbert Beukes again.

He is the South African ambassador to the United States, and I've been on his mailing list for some time.

In his latest "Letter from South Africa," he informs me that a "decisive moment has arrived in the effort to achieve broader democracy and social justice in South Africa." How the United States chooses to use its influence will significantly affect the outcome.

I won't argue that, but I do have reservations about some of his other assertions. But first, here's what the ambassador has to say:

"The paramount issue today is how to bring about negotiations among the government and all black leaders and organizations to produce a mutually acceptable political framework for democracy in South Africa.

"My government needs no pressure to enter these negotiations. It has time and time again called for them to begin, has invited all black leaders to come to the negotiating table, and to evidence its seriousness and intent, has rejected apartheid as the basis for the country's future and abolished apartheid foundations such as the pass laws.

"South Africans do not understand why some Americans who say they seek democracy and peace in South Africa fail to press those who advocate and perpetrate violence and terror to renounce these tactics.... Those who have assumed an involvement should call on the ANC (African National Congress) leaders to give non-violence a chance."

American policy toward South Africa, Ambassador Beukes advises,

"should be designed to achieve lasting democracy and not... a simple transfer of power to a single group. That would merely exchange one form of domination for another.

"South Africa, of course, needs a new constitutional framework to make its government truly representative of all its people. But history, especially the history of our continent, shows that tyranny often captures political movements. One-party dictatorships, military regimes or rule by single ethnic groups are the norm."

The American influence that most concerns the ambassador at this decisive moment is sanctions. Congress has voted for them and appears to be prepared to impose them over presidential veto.

"Sanctions are not the answer," the ambassador argues, "for they are only a means, not an end."

Precisely. But he argues his case for his government well. The problem is that it is an argument constructed of distortions.

He points to the end of the pass laws that made South Africa's blacks virtual prisoners in their own country. But this was done only under the sort of pressure which Ambassador Beukes now claims is unnecessary. And an even more fundamental apartheid concept, the tribal "homelands," remains in place.

Violence, which so concerns the ambassador, continues to be perpetrated largely by his government's security forces. Terror bombings of white targets are, as yet, insignificant in comparison to the brutal repression that is the fact of everyday life in the black townships.

Baiting Rabid Raccoons

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the past year, scientists have been scattering small cubes of beef tallow and paraffin over the forests of Pennsylvania from low flying planes.

Their immediate goal is to discover how much of the bait is eaten, and by which wild animals. Their ultimate goal, they say, is to doctor the morsels with an oral vaccine for rabies that would immunize raccoons, a prime carrier of the deadly disease.

"Wildlife immunization is a reality," said Charles E. Rupprecht, researcher at The Wistar Institute in Philadelphia which has undertaken the study.

"They already inoculate foxes in Europe and Canada," he said. "We are aiming for raccoons, a different species with a different strain of rabies virus."

The Wistar studies have shown raccoons readily snatch up the cubed bait. And Rupprecht said the institute already has a proven oral vaccine in their laboratory that works well on raccoons.

But the goal of unlit bait and vaccine is not as easy as it initially appears.

"We'd like a marriage of the two," Rupprecht said. "Realistically speaking that will probably not be for some time yet, although the wheels are in motion."

The problem is that the vaccine is genetically engineered. No such vaccine has ever been introduced into the wild and both scientists and environmentalists are concerned about potential consequences.

"There's the fear of 'what if,'" Rupprecht said. "What if the vaccine virus mutates in the wild into another disease. What if it mutates into a pathogenic organism that kills another species."

"They appear to be pretty far-fetched 'what ifs' but we have to move slowly," he said.

Rupprecht said the research team has tried a number of different types of bait, including fruit, cheese and meat. The raccoons appear to prefer cubed sponges coated with beef tallow and paraffin.

The researchers, who test hunted animals for evidence of a chemical in the cubes, estimate between 60 to 70 percent of raccoons in a test population eat the bait. It appears from these tests that few other forest animals would be exposed to a potential vaccine.

Rupprecht said scientists in Canada estimate 72 percent of their wild foxes eat bait doctored with a naturally occurring vaccine that does not work on raccoons.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Cameroon Troops Bury More Than 1,500 Killed By Toxic Gas

BAEMENDA, Cameroon (UPI) — Troops, their faces masked, dug graves in four villages around a muddy volcanic lake today, burying the more than 1,500 people killed by a cloud of toxic gas that bubbled up out of the lake bed.

Cameroonian Lt. Gen. James Tataw said his men would soon start removing bodies of those who died in straw and wooden huts around Lake Nios when the gas enveloped the area Thursday night.

Rescue teams, including Americans, French, Israelis and Cameroonian soldiers, began caring for survivors of the gas cloud that rolled through a 6-mile area along the lakeshore in a remote area of northwestern Cameroon.

Tataw told reporters Tuesday that troops had cleared the dead from the streets but expected to find more bodies inside homes in the villages of Nios, Sobum, Cha and Fang, which ring the lake.

Police Charged In Agent Abuse

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The attorney general's office asked a court to charge 11 state policemen with mistreatment and abuse of authority in the detention of a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent.

The statement from the nation's top justice office Tuesday marked the first time the Mexican government has acknowledged that DEA agent Victor Cortez Jr. was mistreated while in police custody earlier this month, as the U.S. government has charged. Local officials have vigorously denied Cortez was tortured.

The United States delivered a protest to the Mexican government five days after Cortez's six-hour detention, expressing "concern" over the incident.

The statement from the attorney general's office made no specific mention of any torture or beating. It referred only to "injuries" to the DEA agent.

El Salvador Ban Berets Training

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — El Salvador, echoing a decision by Honduras, announced it will not allow U.S. Green Berets to use its territory to train Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

"In recent days there have been press reports saying the rebels could train here. That is totally false," Vice President Rodolfo Castillo Claramount told a news conference Tuesday.

"There has been no request from any government to train the Contras here," he said. "President (Jose Napoleon) Duarte insists no one has been, or will be, allowed to train armed groups in the country."

The government said it has no intention of allowing Salvadoran territory to be used for training Contras — U.S.-backed guerrillas fighting to overthrow the Nicaraguan government.

Chernobyl Cancer Death Estimates Cause Concern

VIENNA (UPI) — Technical experts at an international conference to analyze the cause and impact of the Soviet Union's Chernobyl nuclear power plant disaster are concerned about projections of increased cancer deaths.

At issue is the English-language translation of a 380-page Soviet report that suggests cancer deaths because of Chernobyl during the next 70 years may be many times what is currently projected.

"There seems to be some type of inconsistency," said Morris Rosen, chairman of the International Atomic Energy Agency's nuclear safety division.

He said the problem may be with the translation from Russian to English and added that the cancer-death figures would be discussed at the conference today and Wednesday.

A number of projections have been floating around the IAEA conference concerning the number of cancer deaths that could occur in coming years by radiation that escaped from the reactor following the April 26 accident.

Projections set forth by experts Tuesday ranged from 5,000 to 26,500, but the experts stressed those figures all were based on a conservative set of assumptions used by the Soviets in their report outlining what happened at Chernobyl.

One projection outlined by Dan Beninson of Argentina, co-chairman of a working group studying the health consequences of Chernobyl, suggested cancer deaths attributed to the accident could reach 24,000 in the Soviet Union in the next 70 years.

But he stressed the figure was based on calculations used by scientists to try to arrive at an understanding of what may happen and that he, personally, believed the projection was too high.

On another front, Pierre Tanguy of France, co-chairman of a working group on plant design, said the Soviets are contemplating introduction of a safety system for future nuclear reactors that could shut them down in one or two seconds — a move to prevent a repeat of the Chernobyl disaster.

The Soviets have blamed the accident in Chernobyl's No. 4 reactor on a series of mistakes and miscalculations by the operating crew during a 24-hour test of its turbine. They contend the reactor has no major flaws. At an earlier news conference, Soviet experts said a protective wall is being built around the damaged unit. Entombment of the unit is expected to be completed by the end of September or the beginning of October.

 county subsidy." In the port authority budget, he said.

The hike in the county health unit fees are needed to pay for additional personnel to meet the demands of increased needs due to growth, unit director Dr. Jorge Deju said.

The county's proposed portion of funding is $281,200, up from the present fiscal year's $206,500, Ms. Fleming said. However, the $54,700 increase will come from already budgeted general funds, and will not result in a tax increase. Dr. Deju added that an additional $200,000 will be carried into the new fiscal year from last year's budgeted amount. Health unit increases in clinic fees, septic tank and well approval, and restaurant and food processing inspections are expected to yield $83,000 more this year.

The additional money will be spent for eight additional health department employees and staff persons, which brings the health unit work force up to 96 employees, Dr. Deju said.

Also contributing to the health unit funds are federal and state programs which total $3.8 million.

In his request for approval of the new budget, Deju wrote:

"During the current fiscal year the health unit has experienced significant increases in the numbers of services provided. For the first nine months of the current year services are already 39.5 percent in excess of those planned. The county's population growth and increase in numbers of facilities monitored have contributed to this increase in services provided. Therefore, in order to maintain quality service and proper surveillance, the proposed 1986-1987 contract includes new positions in areas identified as experiencing the heaviest growth and with the most critical need."

Commissioners approved the new fee schedule and to proceed with the proposed contract.

Plastic

 quality control supervisor, Ginger Talley, and an independent engineering consultant, Thomas Dillin Jr. of Orlando.

Rossi said after the sterilization process, the residue of gas is vented outside the building through two chimneys, one of which is equipped with a baffle mechanism.

Rossi said he asked "What if we had a wind that blew the emission back to the ground, what would happen to the ethylene oxide?" and was told "The percentage would be so minimal it would not be harmful."

The fire department, according to City Administrator Ron Waller, has also looked into the situation and has determined there would be no problem extinguishing a fire involving the gas with water.

The company is subject to regulation by 8 to 10 different governmental agencies, including the Federal Drug Administration, Environmental Protection Agency, and Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

"We are not going to do anything to endanger our people or the public," Page said. "If we took any shortcuts with the sterilization process, they would shut us down."

"We had to submit a lot of calculations to EPA," Page said. "We hired an independent engineering firm (Ambulatory Health Care Consultation of Orlando) to calculate the emissions. EPA gave us the go ahead and a public legal notice was published in the newspaper."

Harbor Medical, which has been operating in Longwood for two years as a distributor of medical supplies for companies such as Johnson & Johnson and 3 M, previously distributed trays made by Custom Medical Products of Clearwater for Johnson & Johnson. The Longwood firm began assembling and sterilizing the trays itself three months ago.

"There are some residues emitted into the air, but hospitals, which also use ethylene oxide for sterilization, do it every day," Page said. "There is no emission to the ground or into the sewer. It is really a safe way of doing it, if you know what you are doing."

The use of the ethylene oxide in sterilization is a common practice in hospitals and industry across the country and not unique with Harbor Medical, Page said. He said it is used especially with plastic because the steam method can not be used with plastic.

Like any gas, Page said, if breathed in concentration in an enclosed area it could be toxic. That is why the operator, when he goes in the room where the sterilization takes place in large tanks, has to wear a protective hood and a badge which indicates exposure by changing color. Should this occur, the operation would be shut down to find out what was wrong.

Page said he and a partner own four buildings in the Longwood park, two of which are leased back to the company, which has outgrown its present facilities. He said an architect has been hired to draw plans for the 30,000 square-foot, first phase of the Sanford plant on Commerce Way, which will eventually be expanded to 50,000 to 60,000 square feet.

The company, which has 19 full-time workers and 21 part-time employees, expects to increase the number of employees to 50-75, Page said.

"If anyone or any group has any concern over the safety of our operation, we would be happy to have them come in and we will show them around," Page said.

Tax Reform Would Hit Real Estate

By David Vesey
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's real estate industry, for years one of the biggest beneficiaries of the nation's tax code, is preparing for tough times under tax reform — and renters may feel much of the pain.

"I can't believe anybody under the new tax bill is going to build any new rental housing ... and for those people who rent, they're in trouble," said Scott Slesinger, executive vice president of the National Apartment Association.

Even though sponsors of the tax overhaul bill moving through Congress boast that it would, when fully effective, provide Americans with an average 8.1 percent tax cut, some private estimates show those savings may be largely wiped out for many people by rent increases.

A main reason cited by real estate industry officials is that the measure would rip apart real estate tax shelters, and that, they contend, would eliminate the incentive for investors to put their money in the construction or buying of multi-family rental units.

Under current law, billions of investor dollars have gone into "passive" investments in real estate, such as limited partnerships, in which investors take no active role in managing their investments. In most cases, the main reason for the investment is to take advantage of lucrative real estate tax breaks that allow the investors to shelter other income from taxes.

As a result, critics contend, there has been too much construction of apartment buildings, office complexes and hotels that were not needed.

Under the tax reform bill, which must still be approved by both the House and Senate, the losses from such "passive" investments could only be used to offset the actual investment. No other income could be sheltered.

The new rules also would be applied retroactively, in phases over four years, to completed multifamily units.

However, one tax break was left intact: taxpayers who actively own and manage real estate and earn less than $100,000 per year would be able to shelter up to $25,000 of income.

"This bill says no tax savings for investors in multifamily units, so you have to make your profit by increasing cash flow," said Slesinger. In other words, he said, rents will have to be raised.

"Rents could go up 15 to 20 percent over the next year or so," added Jeff DeBoer of the National Association of Realtors. Low vacancy areas, such as Washington, D.C. and New York City, may see a much quicker rent increase compared to such overbuilt areas as Texas and

Oklahoma. The renter's average income is $14,500 and the average rent is $350, noted DeBoer. If there were only a 10 percent increase in rent, it would bring the additional, annual rent payment up $420 — more than wage earners in the low bracket could expect to see in tax savings under the pending bill, he said.

Studies also show there would be a 22 percent decline in multifamily construction, added

DeBoer. Despite the gloom and doom scenario, however, analyst Robert Gough of Data Resources, Inc. noted that "in the long run, markets will adjust and demand for multifamily housing will soften over five years."

"We're going to cope with the rental situation because, as a nation, we don't need the enormous growth in housing that we needed in the 1970s," he said.

Demographics may help. The young adult population — a mainstay of apartment dwellers — is getting older, and there is no "baby boom" generation to replace it. The number of people in their 20s is declining by 800,000 per year, Gough said. That means in 1990, there will be 3 million fewer people in their 20s than in 1985, and consequently, less demand for apartments.

"So the multifamily segment is experiencing a weakness anyway, and those who argue tax reform is the sole source of problem for the multifamily sector are being naive," Gough noted.

Research On Earth Suggests Life Once Existed On Mars

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — NASA scientists say their studies of the frozen lakes of Antarctica lend credence to theories that life may have existed on Mars, perhaps in water once trapped in equatorial canyons on the Red Planet.

Scientists at the Ames Laboratory reported they are comparing the Antarctic studies with pictures of Mars from the Viking space missions that show huge lakebeds in the Valles Marineris, a 3,000-mile-long system of canyons near the Martian equator.

They suggested the same process that keeps the Antarctic lakes relatively warm under their thick layer of ice could have trapped enough heat in the Martian lakes to have caused the generation of life.

"Since liquid water is thought to be a precondition for life, protected enclaves such as the Valles Marineris lakes may have been the most promising places for life to have evolved on Mars," said the report by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center.

NASA scientist Christopher McKay suggested that it is "quite conceivable there are microfossils in the sediments" of the lakebeds found on Mars by the Viking photographs.

The report noted that if solid evidence of such fossils could be found in the sediment of the Martian frozen lakebeds, it would be evidence that the planet had produced at least the beginnings of life.

McKay said that while many scientists believe life would evolve more readily in a warm environment such as Earth's, "pre-biological molecules, the complex organic compounds necessary to form life, are more stable at cooler temperatures.

Karren Newman Rebuilds With Support Of Friends

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Rebuilding. That word has been used frequently by Karren Newman the past year.

Newman, paralyzed from the waist down in an automobile accident on Oct. 12 of last year, has been working diligently to rebuild her life — physically and psychologically — since being released from the hospital in January.

Starting Monday, she began working to reconstruct a Lyman High volleyball team which graduated all but two of its varsity players from a year ago.

"When I started back (at Lyman High), I wasn't real sure I'd be able to coach the team," Newman said. "I wasn't sure I could do it physically and emotionally."

"But, I worked with the team during pre-planning week," added Newman. "And they got me psyched up and I decided last Friday to do it. I'm really excited about it and Mr. (Principal Carlton) Henley has been very supportive."

Newman, a 1986 graduate of Seminole High, severely injured her spinal cord in the two-car accident on Oct. 12. After a laborious four months in the hospital, Newman was released in Jan. of 1986 and, despite being a bit skeptical at first, began to put her life back together.

"They tell you in the hospital that you'll be independent," Newman said. "But you kind of have your doubts. My goal at first was just to adjust to living outside hospital confinement."

And adjust is exactly what Newman has done. She just bought a new home in June, continues physical therapy to regain her strength, and has Karren Newman, Lyman volleyball coach, orchestrates a move before she was paralyzed from the chest down in an automobile accident. She returns to coaching this fall.

SAC Volleyball Race Will Be Up For Grabs In 1986

A year ago, picking Lyman to win the Seminole Athletic Conference was as safe a bet as Burger King coming out with chicken nuggets.

The devastating Lady Greyhounds went unbeaten in winning the first SAC title. And, it took a while, but Burger King is just now introducing its brand of chunks of chicken.

Predicting the outcome of the 1986 SAC volleyball race, though, is about as tough as answering the eternal question, which came first, the chicken or the egg?

With no lineup as dominant as the Lyman squad of a year ago, it could be an interesting year for Seminole County volleyball. The only team at this point that seems like it could break out of the pack and covet the crown is Oviedo's Lady Lions.

But Lake Brantley and Seminole High should be pretty tough while Lake Howell's Jo Luciano is always capable of coming up with a winner and Lake Mary could come on strong. The only of the six teams that doesn't look to be a strong contender at this point is Lyman which graduated all but two of its varsity players of last season.

The 1986 season is scheduled to start around the week of Sept. 22 but many schools are still trying to fill their schedules.

Seminole Coaches Look For Triumphant Season

The abundance of talent and willingness of that talent to work makes the profession enjoyable, but injuries and ineligibilities also makes the life of a high school coach a tough one.

Seminole High School coaches had their share of triumph and disappointment during the 1985-86 school year and they look for more of the former and less of the latter as the 1986-87 season prepares to open.

In football, Dave Mosure is preparing for his second year at the helm of the 'Noles. Mosure, a defensive coordinator under former coach Jerry Posey, piloted the Seminoles to a 4-6 season a year ago.

After an 0-4 start, Seminole went 4-2 the remainder of the season and finished with a 3-2 mark in the inaugural year of the Seminole Athletic Conference. One of Mosure's concerns is replacing defensive standout Brian Brinson at middle linebacker.

In cross country, Seminole did not live up to its preseason expectations a year ago mainly because of lack of depth. Depth and experience may be the 'Noles' shortcomings again in 1986.

Sid Blackwell, who coached both boys and girls cross country last season, will handle only the boys in 1986. The team's top three runners from a year ago, including all-state performer Billy Penick, all graduated. Blackwell is also the assistant boys track coach.

Cindy Branum is the newest addition to the Seminole High head coaching staff as she takes over girls cross country. Branum coached at Orlando Bishop Moore a year ago, a school traditionally strong in cross country. Branum will have talent on this year's team, led by Shownda Martin, but also may face a lack of depth problem.

The Seminole High volleyball team, after a few years in the cellar, improved greatly a year ago under coach Beth Corso. And, with many of the top players returning, and a few new additions to the team, Corso could have a Seminole Athletic Conference contender in 1986. Three players who Corso coached, Katy Barbour, Janet Hauck and

Preps

Jackie Farr, are all playing volleyball at Stetson University this fall.

Rounding out the fall sports is swimming and the both the boys and girls squads are once again under the direction of Donalyn Knight. Knight has trained her share of outstanding individuals in the past but has never had the numbers to pose a serious threat in conference or district competition.

Basketball has always been a strong point in the Seminole High athletic department and this season should be no different.

In boys basketball, coach Bill Klein has some of the top returning talent in the state for his second season as head varsity coach. Klein's team won the Seminole Athletic Conference a year ago.

In girls basketball, coach Charles Steele is also preparing for his second year and has some fine returning talent for a team that should contend for the SAC title.

The Seminole High wrestling team had its best season ever in 1985-86 as it finished sixth in the state under first-year coach Glenn Malolini. And Malolini, also an assistant football coach, has most of his top talent returning.

Since basketball draws most of the talent for winter sports, soccer has not been too successful, particularly on the boys side. Coach Carlos Merlino will use his second season at Seminole to continue to establish a solid foundation for soccer.

Girls soccer has been pretty successful although coach Suzy Reno has had trouble fielding an entire team at times because of injuries and lack of depth. Reno has coached the team since its first season at Seminole High in 1983-84. She has one of the top players in the state returning for this season in Sherri Rumlir.

The spring was the highlight of the athletic season for Seminole in 1985-86 as both the boys and girls track teams won the Class 4A State Championship.

Football coach Dave Mosure would like to drive his Seminoles to a successful season, but he has to replace standout defensive linebacker Brian Brinson, right, to do so.

It was the second straight state title for coach Ken Brauman's boys team. Brauman, who will be in his fourth year at Seminole in 1987, also coached a pair of state champions at Palatka High.

After years of coming close, girls track coach Emory Blake was rewarded with his first state title. Blake has coached a number of individual state winners and his teams finished in the top 10 a number of times before winning it all in '86.

In baseball, Mike Ferrell's squad showed improvement in his second year as manager the 'Noles. This season, Ferrell will look for some young talent to fill the gaps left by graduation.

In softball, the Lady Seminoles had an excellent season under first-year coach Lance Abney and figure to be even stronger in 1987. Seminole was a district semifinalist this past spring and took eventual district champion Lake Brantley to 13 innings before bowing out.

Annacone Ousts McEnroe At Open

NEW YORK (UPI) — John McEnroe was deluged from a comeback in the first round of the U.S. Open while women's top seed Martina Navratilova put forth a winning effort and pensive thoughts on the demise of the four-time men's champion.

Paul Annacone eliminated McEnroe 1-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 Tuesday as the left-hander showed the effects of his 6 1/2-month layoff, committing 30 unforced errors.

"I was just frustrated with missing those easy balls," said McEnroe, seeded No. 9 and playing in only his fourth tournament since January. "I've gotten into the habit of just missing those easy shots."

Annacone, ranked No. 20, said his opponent's play was well below the level of his championship years "but you've got to give him some time. He's a great player."

Then the somewhat abashed victor admitted: "I felt kind of awkward beating him because he's such a great champion."

McEnroe lamented that he lacked mental toughness, which has "always been an important part of my game."

"This year, I'm not into the

matches as much as I was before I stopped playing."

Navratilova, seeking her third Open crown, defeated Andrea Holikova 6-4, 6-2 and observed, "If I had six months off, I know I'd be in better shape than I've ever been in for tennis, but mentally — that's the hard part."

She recalled McEnroe's impressive return, when he reached the semifinals at the Volvo International in Vermont.

"When I saw his results at Stratton, I thought 'God, he may wind up winning the Open,' but Ivan Lendl had little trouble disposing of first-round opponent Glenn Layendecker Monday at the U.S. Open in New York.

Colts Cut Williams

Sanford's Isaac Williams was one of 10 players waived from the Indianapolis Colts' roster Tuesday in order for the team to get down to the current NFL 50-player limit.

Williams was battling for the backup nose tackle slot with Scott Kellar and it was Kellar who won out and stayed with the club.

Williams, a 1981 Seminole High graduate, was a 12th round draft choice of the Colts this year out of Florida State University.

Local Tennis Stars Head For College

It's the time of year again when many of our finest area tennis players head for college to continue their education and to continue their tennis progress. Central Florida has produced some quality young tennis players in the past year or two and tennis rosters all over the south are dotted with players from this area.

Mark Mance, the premier high school player in the area last year, has graduated from Lake Brantley and has signed on with Duke University. Mance was a great high school and junior player and will be a top notch Division I, NCAA tennis player. Duke, of course, is very well known as one of the top academic schools in the U.S. but Duke also has a very, very strong tennis program. Year after year, the Blue Devils are in the top 20 or 30 in the NCAA. Things will only get better for them with Mance.

Kevin Chase, a 1985 Lake Howell grad, is headed for Mississippi State University.

Kevin did not choose to go to a four year school immediately upon graduation from high school but rather chose to work on his game for a year. The work really paid off. Kevin has become one of the very best players around and received a very good scholarship at the SEC school.

Larry Castle
TENNIS ANYONE?

Mark Viner, a Lake Mary alumna, will be going back to Birmingham Southern for his second season. Mark made a solid contribution to this Division II power and should be in for a really fine sophomore season.

Also at Birmingham Southern is another Lake Mary product. Bernadette Peters will be going into her second year at Southern and seems set to have another good year. Southern was ranked 14th in the nation last year with its women's team and Bernadette had the best won-lost record on the team.

Trey Seibold, last year's number one player at Lake Mary, has signed with the University of Central Florida. This program has been struggling but if the Knights got a few more like Trey they will not struggle for long.

Sanford's John Holt has signed with Jacksonville University. John played for Jefferson State Junior College last year and made Junior College All-America. John will add much to an already strong north Florida program.

A real sleeper on the tennis scene last year in this area was SCC student Mark Rose. Mark came to Seminole to play basketball but wound up working hard at his tennis and becoming a really fine player. Having played a lot of tennis as a junior player in Ohio, Mark had a solid tennis background to build on. Through the advanced tennis classes at SCC Mark got interested again and really went to work. He was rewarded with a nice scholarship to Troy State in Alabama.

It's great for all of these fine young players to be able to go on and play college tennis. We wish them much success this year and lots of fun and good experiences in playing their game.

SCC basketball Bill Payne will hold a singles and doubles tennis tournament for B and C players Sept. 5-7 at Seminole Community College. The entry fee is $10 for singles and $15 for doubles. Call Payne at 923-1450 to register.

Tonight's TV Kickoff Classic Alabama vs. OSU WOFL-35—8 p.m.

Classic Kicks Off With OSU Vs. Alabama

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Alabama Coach Ray Perkins returns to Giants Stadium followed by tragedy again. Perkins coached the New York Giants from 1979 to 1983. During that time, defensive tackle Troy Archer died in a car accident and running back Doug Kotar developed a brain tumor that later killed him.

This is Perkins' first visit to Giants Stadium since leaving the NFL to coach his alma mater. But Alabama, which meets Ohio State Wednesday night in the Kickoff Classic, opens the college football season against a grim backdrop.

On April 26, running back George Scruggs was killed in an auto accident. On Sunday, starting defensive end William Ryles was declared brain dead after collapsing at practice last week because of blood clot in the brain.

"It's been a difficult week, probably the most difficult week of my life," Perkins said Monday at a news conference. "I've gone through some tough situations before. I went through two tough situations here with the Giants with two players. But this has been the toughest week because this happened on the football field and the other three didn't."

"But I think our staff and players have helped each other out. Our team has displayed an awful lot of class and character in doing so."

As for Ohio State, Coach Earle Bruce Thursday dismissed two players for the season and suspended another for Wednesday's game. Kicked off the No. 9 Buckeyes were two seniors, starting safety Terry White and reserve tailback Roman Bates. Starting outside linebacker Derek Isaman, a sophomore, was suspended.

"No one likes to do this," said Bruce, who did not specify his reasons for the moves. "One of these young men (White) is a tremendous football player, but he decided to go another way and he is no longer with us."

"When you consider what Alabama gone through in the last week ... Young people are very good at accepting challenges and facing life."

No. 6 Alabama has suffered injuries to two key players, linebacker Cornelius Bennett and strong safety Shon Lee. Bennett, one of the country's best players, is doubtful with a pulled hamstring. Lee has a broken arm.

In 1981, Perkins guided the Giants to their first playoff appearance in 17 years. Near the end of the next season, he announced he was leaving to succeed Bear Bryant at Alabama.

"I came here to carry the Giants to the Super Bowl," he said. "We didn't do that. I think they're doing all right without me and I'm very happy for them."

"It's nice to be back. It brings back some good and some bad memories because we had some good and bad times here."

ALMANAC

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1986. The 118th college football season begins today. The Jan. 1 bowl games are 126 days away. The NFL season starts in 11 days. National champion Oklahoma, the preseason No. 1 last season, is the preseason No. 1 again this year.

Matchup No. 4 Alabama plays No. 9 Ohio State in the fourth Kickoff Classic in a game between talented teams with conference and national title aspirations. Kickoff is 8 p.m. EDT and Alabama is a 3-point favorite.

Matchup in Depth Alabama and Ohio State have met just once before — Jan. 1, 1976, when the Crimson Tide crushed the Buckeyes 35-6 in the Sugar Bowl.

Quiz When was the last time Ohio State played a game in the New York area? (Answer: Day)

Quiz Answer Ohio State defeated New York University 22-10 at the Polo Grounds. Neither the Polo Grounds nor NYU football exist any more.

Parker Belts Reds Past Pirates, 5-4

N.L. Baseball

United Press International The Cincinnati Reds' trip to Pittsburgh was well timed because it woke up Dave Parker. Parker, who spent his first 11 major league seasons in Pittsburgh, Tuesday night drove in four runs, including one with a sacrifice fly in the ninth that lifted the Reds to a 5-4 victory over the Pirates.

"He needed something to get going, and I think coming here (Pittsburgh) was it," Reds Manager Pete Rose said. "I don't care what he says. When he comes here, he wants to do well. You can see it. He goes after balls even in batting practice."

Rose hopes Parker can sustain his hitting long enough for Cincinnati to make a run at the Houston Astros in the NL West. The Reds' victory Tuesday moved them to within seven games of the first-place Astros.

Parker's sacrifice fly off Pat Clements in the ninth inning snapped a 4-4 tie and handed the Reds their seventh victory in eight games against the Pirates this season.

"I do get fired up in view of everything that has happened here and the cheap shot they're taking at me with the salary," Parker said.

The Pirates have a suit pending against Parker which would void their obligation to pay Parker millions of dollars in deferred salary. Pirates management contends Parker violated his contract when he admitted to drug use while playing for the team.

"I just throw something back to remind them that they had a great player here and I'm with another club now," Parker said. "I think I reflect that. Beyond that, it's just another day at the office."

Parker's two-run, fifth-inning homer put the Reds ahead 3-2.

Boyd Tops Texas, Angels Nip Yanks

A.L. Baseball

United Press International The security force handled the crowd and Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd handled the Texas Rangers.

Pitching with extra security officers present, Boyd dominated the Rangers with a season-high 10 strikeouts Tuesday night. He allowed only four hits in pitching the Boston Red Sox to an 8-1 victory.

The right-hander helped the American League East-leading Red Sox break a three-game losing streak and tumbled the Rangers four games behind the Western Division-leading California Angels.

Angels 2, Yankees 0 At New York, Mike Witt fired a four-hitter for his seventh straight victory and third shut-out of the season and Jack Howell and Dick Schofield contributed second-inning RBI for California. After the game, California rookie Wally Joyner escaped injury when a knife thrown from the stands grazed his arm.

Royals 6, White Sox 1 At Chicago, George Brett hit a pair of solo homers and Steve Balboni added a two-run shot to back the seven-hit pitching of Charlie Leibrandt, 11-0. The loss was the White Sox's fifth straight and seventh in their last eight games. Brett, who went 3-for-4, has 15 homers. Richard Dotson, 8-13, took the loss.

Bias Case: Driesell Not Indicted

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI) — A grand jury investigating the cocaine death of Len Bias has decided against indicting Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell along with the basketball star's agent and high school coach. Prince George's County state's attorney Arthur Marshall Jr. asked the grand jury to decide if any member of the trio obstructed justice by ordering evidence of drug use removed from the dormitory room where Bias, 22, collapsed June 19. Marshall said the panel concluded Tuesday that Driesell, agent Lee Fentress and high school coach Robert Wagner did not act "corruptly" although evidence "clearly" showed they sought to remove the evidence from Bias's room.

Albeck Returns To Bradley, Braves Facing NCAA Penalties

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Former Chicago Bulls coach Stan Albeck returns to his alma mater, Bradley University, as a basketball coach facing NCAA penalties imposed during his predecessor's tenure.

"This is the only college job that I would take in my life," Albeck, 55, said Tuesday at a news conference crowded with supporters, some wearing "Stan's the Man" buttons.

"I feel a special attachment to the university. Not many universities ask you to come back and coach their basketball teams," said Albeck, a 1955 Bradley graduate who played on the basketball team. Albeck, who coached four NBA teams during seven years in the league, was fired last spring by the Bulls after one season. A native of Chenoa in central Illinois, Albeck signed a five-year contract with Bradley.

University President Martin Abegg and Athletic Director Ron Ferguson were concerned that Albeck not leave Bradley after a few years, the new coach said.

"I can't think of better place than Bradley University, where I started 31 years ago, to wind up my career," he said. "I have made a commitment to the university. I'm not interested in an NBA job."

Former Coach Dick Versace quit earlier this month to become an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons after he was told he would be fired from Bradley after the 1986-87 season. The NCAA banned Bradley from postseason play in 1987 and restricted its coaches to on-campus recruiting visits for one year because of violations while Versace was coach.

"Those (penalties) can be overcome," Albeck said. The NCAA, in announcing the penalties in July, strongly criticized Versace and accused him of trying to mislead NCAA investigators.

Flag League Holds Tryouts

The Sanford Recreation Department Flag Football League is starting up for fall play and holding tryouts Saturday, Sept. 6, at Chase Park starting at 10 a.m.

League play will begin on Sept. 22 and games will be played weekdays at 5 p.m. Youths must be seven before Nov. 15, and cannot turn 13 before the same date. Ages 7-9 will form the Midget League as ages 10-12 will make up the Junior League.

All new players must register and bring in verification of their birthdate to one of the following offices before they are able to play: The Recreation Dept. at City Hall, Sanford Civic Center Youth Wing, or the Westside Recreation Center. The cost is $3 for residents and $10 for non-residents.

Volleyball League Forming

The Sanford Recreation Department Volleyball Adult Co-Ed Fall league is forming its A and B teams for the fall schedule. Entry fee for each team is $40.

Fees must be paid to the Recreation Office in City Hall by Wednesday, Oct. 1. Rosters must be in the Recreation Office by the same date. League play will start Oct. 7 for the A league.

Players, both men and women, must be age 16 or older Oct. 6, 1986. Forfeit time will be scheduled starting time. Any team who forfeits three nights may be dismissed from the league. Games will be played in the Salvation Army Gym, one block West of Highway 17-92 on 24th Street.

Jai-Alai Action Opens Tonight

The Orlando-Seminole Jai-Alai Fronton will open its 26th season tonight at 7 in Fern Park. A full set of matches and several format changes are slated for tonight's debut.

Assistant general manager Santil Echaniz said a blind draw will determine pairings, players will be classified in three divisions (A, B, C) after one week and a triple match will be added to the ninth game on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday.

"This will make it easier for the customers to win more often," Echaniz said of the format changes.

Tribe Reserved Tickets On Sale

Reserved seat tickets for five Seminole High School football games are on sale at the high school, athletic director Jerry Posey announced Tuesday.

For $20, a ticket holder can see 15 varsity, junior varsity and freshman football games from selected seating.

To order tickets, call 322-4352, ext. 232 and ask for Cynthia or Sherry.

Trip To West's Funeral Illegal

HARRISONBURG, Va. (UPI) — An NCAA rule forbidding athletes to get benefits unavailable to other students means the James Madison football team cannot travel together to attend the funeral of lineman Doug West.

"Some benefit," said JMU spokesman Gary Michael when he learned of the rule.

PLAY BETTER GOLF WITH JACK NICKLAUS
"IT'S VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE TO THINK OF ANY OTHER WAY TO IMPROVE YOUR GAME DURING THE WINTER MONTHS. IT TAKES A COMPLETE A YEAR TO COMPLETE A GOLFER'S SWING. YOU DON'T WANT TO COMPLETE YOUR SWING BY TRAINING."

"THE TWO THINGS I'VE MOSTLY BEEN THINKING ABOUT ARE SWINGING THE CLUB BACK FROM THE POSITION I BELIEVE IS BEST AND KEEPING MY HEAD. WHENEVER I'VE BEEN TRYING TO THINK ABOUT IT, I'VE ALWAYS MANAGED IT WITH THE 'GOLF SWING' COMPLETE."

Arnsparger To Remain At LSU

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana State football coach Bill Arnsparger has been withdrawn from consideration to be athletic director at the University of Florida, apparently because of LSU promises to upgrade its football program.

LSU Chancellor James Wharton announced Arnsparger's decision Tuesday, denying the coach had threatened the school or had been seeking a new job because of a rift with Athletic Director Bob Brodhead.

Football

"I've not observed any real personal conflict between these two gentlemen," Wharton said. He was flanked at the news conference by Arnsparger and Brodhead, but neither spoke.

Wharton said that when Arnsparger informed him of the Florida job interview, the coach expressed an interest in staying at LSU. But Wharton said Arnsparger was concerned that budget constraints were forcing the athletic department to cut back on facets of the football program vital for recruiting.

Brodhead, citing budget constraints, cancelled high school coaching clinics Arnsparger had scheduled to help with his recruiting effort.

"The question he had was whether he could operate the LSU football program in a way that the university expected."

...Newman

returned to her teaching and coaching responsibilities at Lyman High.

"In therapy, I lift a lot of weights for upper body strength and do a lot of stretching," Newman, who was a five-time All-America Slo-Pitch softball player, said. "And I'm working with some braces to be able to use a walker and get around that way. It will take a while before I can get good enough on them to use them outside of the clinical situation."

Newman said she is anxious to return to teaching and coaching. This year, she is teaching a Life Management Skills class instead of Physical Education. And she will also try to work her therapy sessions into her school schedule.

"Mr. Henley and some others are working to help me with a therapy program during my planning period in school," Newman said. "Everyone at Lyman has really been so wonderful."

Henley said he didn't hesitate to offer Newman her job again. "There wasn't any doubt in my mind if she was able and wanted to, that we would bring her back," he said. "And we tried to assure her of that [during her rehabilitation]."

Instead of teaching physical education, however, Henley said he thought it was best that Newman go to the classroom. "It may have been a little tough for her to get around to some of our fields in the wheelchair because of the sand," he said. "We have built her a ramp into her classroom and everything has gone fine."

Henley said he worked in the paraplegic ward for two years at Kennedy Veterans Hospital while he was a student at Memphis State University.

"I can appreciate what she's struggling with," Henley said. "But she still has the knowledge and the competitiveness, even though she now has physical limitations."

Henley said he hoped Newman would not try to do too much and get discouraged. "My biggest concern was with her wealth of knowledge that she may become frustrated now that she has the limitations," he said. "But I think she has done remarkably well. She has a very good attitude and she's very cheerful every time I see her."

Newman, who was the most valuable player on five-time state-champion volleyball (two) and softball (three) teams at Flagler College, said her goals right now are to continue with therapy and to get strong enough to be able to use the leg braces. She said she has progressed more than she originally thought when she left the hospital.

"I think I am ahead of where I thought I'd be at this point," Newman said. "When you first get out you don't believe you'll be able to do things on your own. Now I feel I'm pretty much independent. People I work with and socialize with tell me my disposition and personality is just like myself again."

Newman has her work cut out for her as far as the volleyball team goes. Lyman, the Seminole Athletic Conference champion a year ago, has just two returning players and both of them saw limited action last season.

It's definitely a rebuilding year for the Lyman volleyball program. But, if Newman rebuilds the team the way she did her life, the Lady Greyhounds have a lot of success to look forward to in the future.

Dolphins Waive Kozlowski

MIAMI (UPI) — Veteran safety Mike Kozlowski fought back tears during his last practice with the Miami Dolphins, knowing that he was the last player to be released this week to bring the team's roster down to the required 50.

"I was kind of shocked," Kozlowski told reporters. "I saw my number at the bottom of everything, but I thought they would at least try to trade me or something."

Miami Coach Don Shula said he was happy with the way the other safeties and nickel backs were playing, and he could let Kozlowski go.

"This was another tough decision to make because of his contributions in the past," Shula said. "I like the way Donovan Rose has come along. Bud Brown is back healthy now, and Lyle Blackwood has played some good football through the years."

"I don't think it's a matter of Koz's weakness," Shula said. "It's what the competition is. The Dolphins must release five more players next week to reach the regular season-limit of 45."

Kozlowski, a former running back at Colorado, spent most of last year on injured reserve.

Placed on injured reserve were linebacker Larry Kille, a seventh-round choice from Ohio State who has a torn groin muscle, and free agent offensive lineman Mike Katolin, who has an injured wrist.

he's gotten progressively worse.

"I don't know if it's because he's gotten tired or the pressure starts getting to you. The first week you are loose and have nothing to lose."

Ivan Lendl, the men's defending champion, beat Glenn Layendecker of Portola Valley, Calif. 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, then said McEnroe's surprisingly rapid departure meant little to him.

"It doesn't affect me at all. Eventually I could have played McEnroe in the quarters but it's a long way there for me and for him. For him it proved too long."

Wednesday's featured matches include No. 3 Boris Becker playing Glenn Michibata of Canada, No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd meeting fellow American Barbara Gerken and No. 3 Steffi Graf taking on Susan Mascarin.

Women's defending champion Hana Mandlikova had little trouble in her first-round match with Marie Calleja of France, winning 6-2, 6-2.

The women's fourth seed hopes to avoid reinjuring the right ankle she sprained two weeks ago. But she said returning to the site of her third Grand Slam title buoyed her spirits.

"I do feel at home here. I really love to play here. Driving up I saw the stadium and I had a great feeling. You know, I love the place."

Other men's seeds to share McEnroe's fate were No. 12 Thierry Tulasne, who lost to hard-serving David Pate of Las Vegas 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4, and No. 14 Tim Mayotte, a Wimbledon semifinalist, who squandered triple-match point in the third set tiebreaker and eventually lost to Californian Jonathan Canter 6-7 (2-7), 4-6, 7-6 (9-7), 6-1, 6-3, in a 3-hour, 45-minute battle.

Among the women, two low seeds also fell. No. 10 Kathy Rinaldi succumbing to Michelle Torres 6-1, 6-4 and No. 16 Carling Bassett was eliminated by Californian Alycia Moulton 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

Navratilova noted that early-round upsets of the women's highest seeds are rare.

"It's not like we're playing Annacore in the first round, where you're in trouble if you're not particularly sharp. With the women, it's not that much of a threat in the first rounds, because of their (weaker) serves."

Other winners Tuesday among the men included No. 5 Yannick Noah, No. 8 Henri Leconte.

Seminole High returns a number of players from last year's team which had a good year and was competitive with the stronger teams in the area. Leading the way is senior Sheri Peterson who will be starting for the Lady 'Noles for the third year in a row.

Other returning players who coach Beth Corso is counting on include Cindy Benge, Diana Mitchell, Mary Ann Callibuso, Lisa McGrotha, Liz Long, Yolanda Robinson, Aretha Riggins and Faronda "Ferochous" Brown. Corso has also been pleased with newcomers Dorchele Webster and Chelle Denmark.

"All the girls are pushing hard but they're still real rusty," Corso said.

Lake Mary lost eight of its players from last year's squad but has its top player from a year ago returning in senior Angie Capps. Coach Cindy Henry said Lora Platt is another returning player who has looked strong in the pre-season and a 5-11 transfer from Tennessee. Joy Allen, could also help out. Henry also said Willie Richardson, the head boys basketball coach, will be the junior varsity coach.

"We'll be pretty inexperienced," Henry said. "But we had some kids go to camp and that helped out a lot. I'm looking for Angie (Capps) to be the team leader."

Oviedo has six players returning from last season's district championship team including Kelly Price, Cindy Wood, Mikki Eby, Jodie Switzer, Jill Knutson and Trudy Ferguson. Because of the construction still going on at Oviedo High, the Lady Lions have had to practice at other schools and currently are looking at the Lyman High multipurpose room as a possible practice site.

Price, one of the state's best hurdlers in track, is one of the top returning players in Seminole County. She came on particularly strong late last season and was the dominant player in a tough three-game loss to Ocala Vanguard in the regional playoffs. Knutson and Switzer will also be counted on for strong front row play while Eby, Ferguson and Wood are good, experienced back row players.

Lake Brantley has one of the up and coming players in the county in sophomore Dawn Gebhart who will lead the way for first year coach Stephanie Glance. Glance is a graduate of Rollins College where she attained All-America status in volleyball.

Gebhart showed a lot of promise a freshman a year ago and is Brantley's top power player since her sister, Dana, played for the Lady Patriots. Brantley also had one of the better JV teams in the county last season and, if some of those players move up and contribute to varsity, the Lady Patriots should be SAC contenders.

Lake Howell lost practically its entire team including First Team All-County player Jolee Johnson and setter Anita Cechowski. The top returnees figure to be Tammy Lewis and Monica Schneider. With the number of losses, the Lady Hawks look like a rebuilding team but Luciano is good at developing and finding talent and can never be counted out.

Lyman High has just two of its varsity players from a year ago returning in Diana Boyesen and Jodie Vega, both back row players with good serves. The Lady Greyhounds lost all of their power with the graduation of Kim Forsyth, Sheila Mandy, Kristie Kaiser and Tamli Foas and also its team leader in Dawn Boyesen, last year's Evening Herald Player of the Year.

While Lyman lost most of its team of a year ago, the good news is Karen Newman is back as head coach. In the middle of last season, Newman was paralyzed from the waist down in an automobile accident. Before the accident, Newman's team had a 12-0 record.

"The only two players we have returning (Diana Boyesen and Vega) saw limited playing time last year," Newman said. "We're counting on the players coming up from JV and perhaps some transfers."

Nation's Governors Assert Right To Control National Guard Units

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (UPI) — The nation's governors, squaring off with Washington, approved a resolution today asserting control over their state National Guard units, but split sharply over whether those units should train in Honduras.

The resolution, saying that governors — not President Reagan — control the Guard in peacetime, was approved apparently unanimously by voice vote as a matter of states' rights.

It was proposed by a number of governors who this summer refused Pentagon orders sending the state units to Honduras for training. Congress is considering a bill that would overrule the governors except in the case of a local emergency.

The statement makes no mention of Central America, but it follows disputes between the White House and several governors this summer over sending units to train in Honduras.

"I have denied requests from the Pentagon to deploy my units ... because I believe it is part and parcel of a policy intended to drag American forces into a widening conflict in Central America," said Democratic Gov. Bruce Babbitt of Arizona. "I believe it is a mistaken policy."

But Republican Gov. John Ashcroft of Missouri said he went to Honduras with a Guard unit from his state and "it was very clear to me this was not an exercise in aid to the Contras" — the U.S.-backed rebels fighting the Nicaraguan government. "It was a training exercise and nothing more," said Ashcroft, who said his troops helped build a road between two rural Honduran towns. The Contras use Honduras as a base for operations into neighboring Nicaragua.

"It's more than a training exercise, it's a show of force," said Vermont Gov. Madeleine Kunin, a Democrat, who called the use of Guard troops in Honduras a "backdoor escalation" of the U.S. military presence in Central America.

The House voted Aug. 14 to prohibit governors from blocking National Guard training in Central America unless the troops were needed for a local emergency. The legislation is awaiting final congressional action.

A half-dozen governors have acted or said they would act to bar National Guard troops from Honduran training as a protest against the administration's Central American policies, and others have expressed concern about Guard units training in Central America.

The Guard issue provided the only spark of controversy in the four-day governors conference, which dealt largely with a new governors' report to reform education.

Conservative Union Picks 'Perfect' Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five conservative Republican senators got perfect scores Tuesday in the American Conservative Union's annual litmus test — James McClure and Steve Symms of Idaho, Nevada's Chic Hecht, Jesse Helms of North Carolina and Utah's Jake Garn.

Former Sen. John East, R-N.C., who committed suicide in June, also got a 100 percent rating from the conservative group.

The group applauded Senate GOP leader Robert Dole of Kansas for bringing up conservative issues in the Senate and got a 91 percent rating himself.

The ACU selected 21 key issues that the senators voted on in 1985 as a basis for their ratings — including such things as supporting the confirmation of Edwin Meese as attorney general, MX missile funding, aid to Nicaraguan rebels, the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law and opposing abortion and gun control.

The "winners" in the annual poll were predictable. All had topped the list in previous years.

At the bottom of the conservative group's rating chart were liberal Democrats. Sens. Gary Hart of Colorado and Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio flunked with a zero rating. Sens. Christopher Dodd of Connecticut, Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii, Donald Riegle of Michigan, Frank Lautenberg of New Jersey and Daniel Moynihan of New York each received 4 percent ratings.

ACU Chairman David Keene said the rating figures show the Senate is becoming more conservative overall.

In the House, eight Republicans got the group's top rating, five from Texas, including Joe Barton, Bill Archer, Beau Boulter, Larry Combest and Dom Delay. Republican Reps. Bob Stump of Arizona, Dan Burton of Indiana and Richard Cheney of Wyoming also got 100 percent approval ratings.

Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., who has portrayed himself as the conservatives' presidential candidate for 1988, only received an 81 percent favorable rating from the conservative group.

Twenty-five members of the House, all liberal Democrats, got zero approval ratings from the conservative group. The rating included House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass.

Marcos Gets To Stay Longer

HONOLULU (UPI) — Exiled Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and his entourage, whose visa was due to expire today, have been given permission to stay in the United States for another year.

Marcos and his 90-member entourage were placed on routine six-month parole status when they arrived in Honolulu after fleeing the Philippines in February.

A one-year extension of Marcos's U.S. visa was announced Monday by William Craig, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said.

The extension also applies to the 120 to 140 non-citizens and family members who left the Philippines with Marcos or joined him shortly after he came to the islands, Craig said.

The agency can extend the parole status indefinitely for the former leader, who now lives in a rented beachfront home in Honolulu, Craig said.

Marcos told reporters Saturday he would like to go back to the Philippines, but if he could not, he would prefer to remain in Hawaii rather than go elsewhere.

The Reagan administration earlier sought other countries to serve as a home in exile for Marcos but had difficulty finding a country that would accept him.

Cook Of The Week

'Just Plain Southern' Is Her Way Of A Traditional Lifestyle

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

"My mother is the world's best cook," claims Kathy Norton, our Cook of the Week. "Just plain, Southern cooking, and everything I did was just from watching her. When I was about 11 she went to work and I got home from school before she got home from work, so I would start dinner for her. Daddy would fry the chicken and I would add to it with the potatoes, rice and gravy and all that sort of stuff. Then I would experiment on my own when she was gone and couldn't stop me," Mrs. Norton laughs.

With a great beginning like that, it's no wonder that Mrs. Norton "could cook pretty well" when she got married, and has improved a great deal over the years making Gladys Griffin's daughter a fine wife, mother and homemaker.

When Mrs. Norton met her husband, David, at church in her native Jacksonville, she was a youthful 14 years old. "We just met, started dating, and then when I was 16 and he was 19 we got married," she says. After an 11-month tour of duty in Vietnam, the Nortons were stationed in Oklahoma, spending a year of Army life there. "We did a lot of camping back then," says Mrs. Norton. "We camped in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas. And we got to go to Hawaii when he was in Vietnam. But the last several years we've taken our vacation in Greenville, S.C. We have a lot of friends up there in Bible college, and we usually go to see them and try to see a little bit of the mountains while we're up there."

Mrs. Norton's home hums with the activity of children and this pleases her the most. "My husband says that my hobbies are having babies and babysitting. We love children and we want a large family," she says. "To me, four is not a large family. I know by some people's standards that's huge." Her goal, says Mrs. Norton, is "until the Lord makes me quit. He may just give me four and I'll just say 'thank you, Lord,' and be thankful."

Sharing the spotlight at home east of Sanford, under the protective limbs of a large oak tree, are the Nortons' lovely young daughters, Jodi, 14, Kara, 10, Lindi, 5, and Kalin, 11 months. "I've always babysat for friends," says Mrs. Norton, and presently she is caring for a set of triplets, three little bright-eyed girls.

The Nortons' lifestyle is happily centered on their church and its activities. "About four years ago," says Mrs. Norton, "the Lord called my husband into full time Christian service, so he went to Bible college to earn a degree. He graduated in May of 1985 and last year was his first year of teaching at Deltona Christian Academy." Mrs. Norton's two oldest daughters attend the school also, and little Lindi is looking forward to her first year as a Kindergarten student there.

Mrs. Norton and her family are very actively dedicated to their church family at Countryside Baptist Church in Lake Mary. "I play the piano for the church," she says, "and my daughter is my assistant. I'm not very skilled or talented, but I'm all they have," she laughs. "My husband is the song leader," she says. "We call him the page-picker-outer because he doesn't know anything about music. He just smiles and loves the Lord, and that works out fine."

Mrs. Norton and her husband both teach Sunday school and work with the youth. "Basically, my husband teaches them The Word," says Mrs. Norton, "but we went canoeing this summer and from time to time we take them bowling or putt-putting, or we might cook pizzas here at the house. Our church is very small, so, of course, our youth group is not very big."

"I guess you could say our hobbies are going to camp meetings and revivals," says Mrs. Norton. "Our life is centered on the Lord and His work. That's what we desire to do, that's what we love to do." Jodi and Kara are very much attuned to Christian music. "It's a big part of our lives," says Kathy Norton. "They love to sing at church. My oldest daughter takes piano lessons and fills in all the time for me at church. We don't even have a T.V.," says Mrs. Norton, "and my girls don't really miss it. It's not a part of their life; it's not a part of our home." The Nortons keep busy as a family, doing things together, and are a perfect example of contentment in all the things they do. "We have Bible study at home," says Mrs. Norton, "and I have a Sunday school lesson to prepare each week. Our church doesn't use literature, like a Sunday school quarterly or anything like that. We just strictly use the Bible, so you have to prepare something out of that. I teach 4 and 5 year olds, so that takes a little time. If there's any extra time, we play with the girls or find us a camp meeting to go to," she laughs.

Sewing is a pastime that Mrs. Norton has enjoyed over the years, "mostly out of necessity," she says. "With four girls, you have to do something to keep them in clothing. I don't do anything fancy or elaborate, just everyday plain things: blouses, skirts and dresses."

The Nortons raise rabbits and chickens so there is always a plentiful supply of fresh eggs and rabbit meat for recipes. "Living just outside the city limits in Jacksonville, I've always liked country living," says Mrs. Norton. "From time to time we'd have a garden, but we never raised anything else. But now we have chickens, and I get all my fresh eggs from them."

Describing her own cooking, Mrs. Norton says, "It's just plain, plain, plain." For church suppers or "dinner on the ground" type gatherings, Mrs. Norton very often brings a dish prepared with rabbit. A favorite around the house is Norton Nuggets, aptly named, which can also be used with chicken instead of rabbit meat.

The Nortons like to visit with friends and, in turn, enjoy entertaining friends in their home. "We may visit some friends and have a cook out," says Mrs. Norton, "and we have a lot of missionary friends that we love to have to dinner at our home. We've had a lot of special preachers or missionaries in, and, to us, that's greater than having the President. We couldn't be more honored or thrilled. It's something we enjoy doing."

Mrs. Norton enjoys cooking in large quantities and at the holidays last year she welcomed 26 guests for a complete sit-down dinner. "I usually don't let anybody help me in the kitchen," she says, "except my daughters." Out of a huge file folder of recipes that she has collected over the years, Mrs. Norton estimates that she has used "maybe two or three" recipes out of it. "My husband is a plain meat-and-potatoes man," she says, "so I'm pretty much a plain cook and I don't cook with recipes."

Recalling the traditional family meal while she was growing up, Mrs. Norton says that dinner was always on the table at the same time every day. "Every day my Daddy came home at the exact same time, and at the exact same time every day, our dinner was on the table. He'd come in, wash his hands, and we'd sit down at the dinner table, and it was always a full meal. I don't ever remember sitting down at the dinner table without my complete family there."

Continuing with her homey tradition, Mrs. Norton still cooks on a large scale. "Even when it was just my husband and me, I cooked huge amounts," she says. "If you come to my house now, and bring your 4 or 5 young 'uns, there's plenty for everyone to eat. That's just the way I am."

Listed below are some of Mrs. Norton's best recipes selected unanimously by her family:

Story Of 'Lassie' Becomes A Tale That Wags Dog

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the questions a reader posed about Lassie, the famous collie who starred in the television series "Lassie":

I wrote for the show from its earliest years (1955 until 1971), and was occasionally required to be on the set during the filming.

You are correct. There were many Lassies over the years. And not only were there many "look-alikes," but several were used at the same time. Some were better for long shots (running through woods) and others were better for close-ups.

Perhaps the most interesting fact is that all the Lassies were males — "in drag," so to speak. I don't know why, but I believe their trainer, Rudd Weatherwax, who died a few years ago, felt males were easier to train and handle, and, of course, they didn't suffer from PMS.

Anyway, the gender problem was well covered by the collies' luxurious coats.

JOAN SCOTT,
LOS ANGELES

DEAR JOAN: Thanks for the interesting input. The Lassie letter created quite a stir. One Jean Dolesal, who writes

Dear Abby

"Canine Corner" in the Bloomington, Ind., Herald Times, consigned me to the doghouse when her daughter, on reading my column, blurted out, "Mom, can this be true? Abby says Lassie was a mixed breed!"

Dolesal wrote: "It was hard to tell who was more surprised, mother or daughter."

"Abigail Van Buren, whose information came from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, wrote: 'While the original Lassie was not a purebred collie, she certainly looked like one.' She states that the six collies who later portrayed Lassie were all purebred collies and looked so much like the original that they could not be told apart."

"Considering the fact that each Lassie has been a son of the previous one, it is difficult to figure out how the original was not purebred but the next six were, as Abby stated.

"Would some of the area's collie breeders know more about Lassie's pedigree? I have never seen an AKC registered collie advertised as descended from any of these famous collies. Could Lassie and all the offspring have been pedigreed, purebred collies but not AKC registered?"

Well, readers, fearful that I had been barking up the wrong tree, I again contacted Mr. Craig Campbell, my canine connection at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences — all set to pick a bone with him.

He repeated that although the original Lassie certainly "looked like" a purebred collie, it had never been registered, so although it may have been a purebred pedigree collie, it cannot be accepted as one.

So, dear readers, since the original Lassie is not a bone fide purebred, then it follows that all subsequent descendants were not.

If you are still reading and want to learn more about Lassie, trot down to your public library and fetch "The Story of Lassie" by Rudd Weatherwax.

DEAR ABBY: I was very much interested in how one female reader warned a male that his zipper was open.

She said she was brought up on Shakespeare, so the code signal she used was, "Woe is me, for I am undone."

She must have been exposed to the Bible as well. The text she cites is Isaiah 6:5.

rabbit (or chicken)
 Salt and pepper to taste. Heat oil for deep frying.
 Batter:
 2 cups prepared pancake batter mix
 Add enough milk to make a thick batter that will stick to meat pieces. Add garlic powder to taste. Dip rabbit or chicken pieces in batter and deep fry until golden brown and done.

SCALLOPED SQUASH
 Boil enough yellow squash, seasoned with onion salt and pepper to feed your family. Place in casserole dish. Add enough crumbled saltine crackers to thicken cooked squash. Then add enough milk to moisten. Dot top with pats of margarine. Sprinkle crumbled saltines or bread crumbs on top. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

SAUSAGE CORN BREAD
 1 pound bulk sausage
 1 large onion, chopped
 2 eggs, lightly beaten
 1 1/2 cups self-rising corn meal
 1 can (17 ounces) cream style corn

then gradually add milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and boils. Cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Stir small amount of hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks. Pour egg mixture back into pan. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add 2 tablespoons butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into baked 9-inch pastry shell. Spread with meringue. Bake at 350° for 12-15 minute or until meringue is golden.

Meringue:
 3 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Beat in sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until stiff and glossy. Do not underbeat. Beat in vanilla. Spread on pie edges.

PECAN PIE
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 cup white Kara syrup
 3 eggs
 3 tablespoons vanilla
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 cup pecans, chopped
 1 unbaked, 9-inch pastry shell
 Mix all ingredients well. Pour into pastry shell and bake at 400° for 10 minutes. Lower temperature to 300° and bake for 35 minutes more.

JELLY CAKE
 Bake 1 boxed yellow cake mix, as directed on package, in round layers. Slice horizontally to make 4 layers. While cake is baking, pour 32-ounce jar of apple jelly into bowl and stir with fork until of spreading consistency. After splitting layers, while cake is still warm, spread jelly between the layers and on top (cakes made from scratch do just as well).

CHOCOLATE PIE
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup flour OR 3 tablespoons cornstarch
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate, chopped
 2 cups milk
 3 eggs, separated
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Meringue
 Mix dry ingredients together.

Food for Thought

by BIM Painter

Roasted potatoes are tasty as fried, and much better for you. Cut 4 large, scrubbed potatoes lengthwise into 8 wedges. Dry on paper towels and toss with 1 Tsp. oil. Spread on baking sheet, dust with paprika or herbs. Bake 15 to 20 minutes at 425°.

To avoid freezer burn, wrap foods tightly before freezing

Prepare Tasty Back-To-School Specials In Just 30 Minutes

There are some helpful hints that I have collected over the years that I would like to pass on to you. These have come from my own experience or from the many wonderful students who have been in my classes. It would seem that we have done just about everything one could do, right and wrong, and learned from our mistakes as well as from our successes.

DO'S:
Cook the minimum time, test, then cook more if necessary.
Allow sufficient standing time.
Space food evenly within the oven.
Keep the oven door, and seal clean.

Use microwave-safe cooking utensils.
When using plastic wrap, vent a corner to prevent steam build-up.
Use string to tie chicken legs, rolled roasts, etc. together.
Remember, foods with high fat and sugar content cook quicker.
DON'TS

Use a metal cooking container or one that has a metal trim.
Operate the microwave oven when it is empty.
Slam the oven door.
Remove the glass or metal carousel if one belongs in the oven.
These recipes are for back-to-school specials that make it easy on the cook these busy days. All of the meals can be prepared in less than 30 minutes.

CHICKEN ITALIANO
1 can stewed tomatoes
1 package spaghetti sauce mix with mushrooms
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 cups water
3-3 1/2 pound frying chicken, cut up
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese

Combine tomatoes, sauce mix, garlic, flour, Italian seasoning and water in a 12x8-inch glass dish. Mix well, add chicken, covering with sauce and placing skin-side-up in a single layer. Cover with wax paper. Microwave on 100% power 15-20 minutes. Remove wax paper. Sprinkle chicken with cheese. Microwave on 100% power 5-10 minutes or until tender.

While chicken is micro-cooking, prepare spaghetti or macaroni on a surface unit. A tossed salad and Italian bread and fresh fruit complete the meal.

Frozen stew vegetables cut the preparation time of this quick and easy dish. If, however, you have fresh vegetables, just allow 5-10 minutes more time to cook the vegetables.

30 MINUTE MEATBALL STEW
1 package (24 ounces) frozen vegetables for stew
1/2 cup water
1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup milk
1 egg
1 can condensed tomato soup
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons instant beef bouillon
Combine frozen vegetable and water in a 2-quart casserole cover. Microwave on 100% power 18-20 minutes or until just tender crisp, stirring once. Set aside. Combine ground beef, onion, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, bread crumbs, milk and egg. Mix well. Form into 1 inch meatballs, arrange in an 8-inch round baking dish. Cover with wax paper. Microwave on 100% power 5-8 minutes or until no longer pink. Drain. Add meatballs, soup, 1/4 teaspoon salt and the bouillon to the vegetables. Mix. Cover. Microwave on 100% 4-5 minutes or until hot.

If you have not tried ground beef patties in the microwave this is an attractive and tasty way to serve them.

PIZZA PATTIES
1 pound ground beef
1 egg
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 can (8 ounces) tomato paste
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon leaf oregano
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom pieces, drained
1/2 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese
Combine ground beef, egg, bread crumbs, garlic salt, salt and pepper, mix well. Form into 4 or 5 patties. Flatten each patty. Arrange on roasting rack in a shallow baking dish. Combine tomato paste, onion, sugar, and oregano. Spoon mixture onto each patty, spreading to the edges. Top with mushrooms and cheese. Microwave on 100% power 7-8 minutes or until desired doneness. Serve on toasted English muffins or a hamburger bun.

Seminole Dog Fancier Seminars Announced

For dog owners concerned about their pets' health and safety, the Seminole Dog Fanciers' Association will hold its seventh annual education seminar and an eye and tattoo clinic Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 13-14 at the Holiday Inn, I-4 and SR 436 in Altamonte Springs. The seminar on Saturday will feature three speakers: Sanford Attorney Steven L. Laurence, Dr. Robert R. King from the University of Florida's School of Veterinary Medicine, and a representative from the Ralston Purina Company. Deadline for registration for the Saturday program is Sept. 10. The cost is $15. Checks may be sent to Linda Kumanchik, 5550 Orange Blvd., Sanford, 32771.

On Sunday, Dr. R. Davin Whitley, Chief of Ophthalmology at the Gainesville veterinary school, will offer eye exams at a cost of $11 for an owner's first dog and $10 for each additional dog. The tattoo clinic by Chuck and Eleanor Keefe will be limited to 60 dogs and will cost $5 per dog. The registration deadline for Sunday's program is Sept. 7. Fees should be paid at the door. Interested persons may call Shirley Edyvean at 322-8154.

Plucking Hairs Causes Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm getting long hairs in my ears, which makes them feel as if I've got bugs. When I pluck the hairs, the crawling sensation goes away until the hairs come back. Will this plucking injure the ears? Is there something better I can try?

DEAR READER — Plucking ear hairs can cause infections to develop in the pores once inhabited by the hairs. Ask your spouse, your barber or your hairdresser to trim the hairs with scissors.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have what my doctor calls a chronic bronchial cough. I don't smoke, but my husband does. Could this be caused by the hair coloring I use?

DEAR READER — I suspect that your cough is more likely due to the irritation caused by your husband's tobacco smoke than to the hair-coloring material. Ask him to confine his smoking to outdoors or to specific areas that you don't frequent. Your cough may improve.

To give you more information on lung problems in general, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, LIVING WITH CHRONIC LUNG DISEASE. Others who would like a copy should send $1, plus their name and address, to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a condition called costochondritis, which I was told is an inflammation of the sternum and ribcage. It comes and goes, and when it is active, I must be on medication to control the extreme pain. Can you give me any additional information on this disease? What causes it? Will I have it for the rest of my life?

DEAR READER — Costochondritis is an inflammation of the cartilage that connects the ribs to the sternum (breastbone). It is a troublesome ailment that tends to recur. No one knows its cause. It is not serious and, with time, the severity and frequency of the attacks will tend to diminish. Aspirin (or aspirin-like drugs) usually control the acute pain.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor gave me a shot of Depo-Provera because I have had severe pain associated with fibrocystic breasts. I heard on TV that this drug is being used as a chemical castrating agent for rape criminals. How will it affect me? I've had a complete hysterectomy.

DEAR READER — Provera prevents implantation of the fertilized egg in the uterine lining, and it also can help the pain of fibrocystic breasts. In certain circumstances, it is given to women who have been raped to help avoid pregnancy. Because you have had your uterus removed, the drug will not affect your reproductive tract.

In my opinion, giving a female hormone like Provera to male rapists is still an experimental procedure. Experts consider rape to be a crime of violence, not one of sexual desire.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The winners of the Epson World Pairs Championship were Francis Frainals and Jann Bouteille, playing near Paris, France, on June 14 of this year. Their winning score on 24 deals was 78.8 percent. This was not unusually high, since, with more than 70,000 players participating, one would expect greater extremes.

The diagramed deal rewards bidding accuracy first, and a nose for the queen of spades second. North's two-diamond response was a Jacoby transfer bid, showing at least five hearts. The subsequent three-club bid showed a second suit and committed the partnership to game.

North, who was worried about his singleton diamond in no-trump, wisely selected hearts as a final contract.

With a spade lead, declarer easily made 11 tricks for a score of 78 out of 100. If spades are not led, and declarer subsequently loses a trick to the spade queen, he will score only 52 percent. But those whose bidding methods leave them in three no-trump do the worst. If they get a spade lead and make nine tricks, they get 40 percent. But with a diamond lead they are set, and minus 100 is worth only 23 percent.

What's the moral? Get to the right contract first, and worry about your score later.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 28, 1986
You will be very fortunate in the year ahead in promoting personal enterprises. Conditions indicate you will be out front with something big.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In order to be an achiever today, you must rely more on yourself than on chance. Talent and tenacity will turn the trick. Trying to patch up a romance? The matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail 82 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, PO Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're involved in committee work today, don't expect everybody to buy all your ideas. Figure yourself well ahead if they agree to several.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A matter that you've been dubious about is going to start on the wrong track as you anticipated, but before the day is over, it'll have a happy ending.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An important situation that has thus far been fruitless for everyone involved can be turned around today through a willingness to compromise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be afraid to knock a second time today if a door to opportunity has been closed to you. If you fall in the morning, try again in the afternoon.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Make it a point today to keep friends out of your commercial affairs. By the same token, don't go poking your nose into their business.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today, if you're cleaning out your attic or garage, don't be too eager to throw away something old before you have an expert check its value.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Timing is essential if you want an associate to willingly grant your requests today. Before asking, be sure this person is in a good mood.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you do some work for someone else today, do not blame this person for your mistakes. You'll gain more good will by absorbing the cost yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A social invitation is on the way, but it has suffered unforeseen delays. Don't think of yourself as a last-minute addition to the guest list.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A co-worker of whom you didn't think much will prove today that he or she is very nice when you both have to handle a messy job under pressure.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Continue to maintain a hopeful attitude today regardless of frustrating circumstances. Things are going to come out better than they look.

Tuck A Tasty Dessert Treat Into Picnic Kit

Surprise picnickers, hikers, cyclists or boaters with a special dessert treat tucked into their kits. They'll appreciate the pickup from a wedge of prune-apple cake following pleasurable exercise.

This spicy, moist cake keeps well and can be made ahead ready for trips, lunch boxes or a late evening coffee-dessert get-together.

PRUNE-APPLE CAKE

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 cups vegetable oil
- 3 eggs
- 3 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon each salt and cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1 package (12 ounces) pitted prunes, coarsely chopped (about 1/2 cups)
- 2 cups coarsely shredded apples
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Powdered sugar
In large bowl, beat sugar, oil and eggs for 2 minutes with electric mixer at medium speed. In another bowl, combine dry ingredients; gradually mix into egg mixture. Mix in prunes, apples and nuts at low speed to blend thoroughly. Spoon into buttered and floured 10-inch tube pan; smooth top.

Bake in 325-degree oven about 1 1/2 hours until springy to the touch and pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Invert onto rack to cool completely. Place on serving plate and dust with powdered sugar. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 to 14 servings.

8 egg whites at room temperature

Peel the yellow rind off the lemons, taking no white with it. Cut the rind into fine julienne strips. Juice the lemons.

In a small saucepan, combine the lemon juice, julienned lemon rind and sugar. Simmer over medium-low heat about 10-15 minutes until the liquid is reduced and thick. Let cool. In a separate bowl whisk the egg yolks and combine them with the cooled mixture.

In another bowl, beat two egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold in one large tablespoon of souffle base into the whites. With a spatula, mound the mixture in a single-serving buttered souffle dish so it stands about three inches above the lip of the dish. Repeat for each souffle.

Bake for 5-7 minutes in a 450 degree oven. Makes 4-6 souffles. Newbury says you can substitute other citrus fruits for lemons. Tangerines work especially well.

CREME ANGLAISE

- 4 egg yolks
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 2 cups half and half
- Beat the yolks and sugar in an electric mixer until thick and lemon-colored. Scald the half and half. Pour a small amount of this into the egg and sugar mixture to raise its temperature so you won't scramble the eggs.

Transfer the rest of the half-and-half to the top of a simmering double boiler. Pour the warmed egg-sugar mixture into the half-and-half and whisk it until it thickens. Strain out any lumps.

Snappy Casserole great for recycling leftovers.

Hearty Casserole Captures Flavorful Taste Of Mexico

Mexican food, perhaps once considered just a passing trend, is definitely here to stay.

After all, who can resist the great flavor sensations Mexican foods have to offer, or the fact that they are simple to prepare? This recipe for Tortilla Chip Casserole takes advantage of these two factors by marrying good flavor with ease. It combines leftover chicken or turkey, several varieties of cheese and tortilla chips, for an interesting blend of flavors and textures.

The inspiration for this recipe comes from the word chilaquiles, which in turn comes from chil-a-quilitl, meaning "broken-up old sombrero." It was originally devised for using stale tortillas, but in this case, it's easier to use tortilla chips.

As a contrasting dish to serve with the casserole, toss a salad of mixed greens, sliced oranges and red onion rings with a Tarragon Cream Dressing. Dairy sour cream and orange juice provide the base for this distinctive dressing.

TORTILLA CHIP CASSEROLE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 3 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
- 1 can (4 ounces) whole green chiles, drained, seeded and chopped
- 1 teaspoon Mexican-style hot chili powder
- 1 teaspoon cilantro OR dried parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 package (8 ounces) taco flavor tortilla chips, broken
- 1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 2 cups cut-up chicken or turkey
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
- Fresh cilantro, if desired
- Melt butter; add cream and saute until lightly browned. Add tomato sauce, chiles, chili powder, cilantro and salt. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Preheat oven to 350°F. Layer in buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole in the following order: half the tortilla chips, shredded Monterey Jack cheese, chicken, and prepared tomato sauce; repeat. Bake 25 minutes. Remove from oven; spread sour cream over top of casserole. Sprinkle with Cheddar cheese. Return to oven for 5 minutes; just to heat sour cream and melt cheese. Garnish with fresh cilantro or parsley.

TARRAGON CREAM DRESSING

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
 - 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
 - 1/4 cup orange juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon crushed tarragon
 - Dash salt
- Blend sour cream with remaining ingredients. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. Serve over salad of mixed greens, sliced oranges and red onion rings.

GERMAN POTATO SALAD WITH KNOCKWURST

- 3 Idaho potatoes
- 2 slices bacon, diced
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/3 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground celery seed
- 1/4 teaspoon caraway seed
- 1/4 teaspoon dried parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash hot pepper sauce
- 4 knockwurst, cut in halves lengthwise

Microwave method: Wash and dry potatoes, prick with fork. Bake in microwave oven 15 minutes or until almost tender, turning once. Cool potatoes, peel and slice; set aside. In 2-quart glass baking dish combine bacon and onion. Cook in microwave oven 5 minutes; stir. In small bowl mix vinegar, water, sugar, celery seed, caraway seed, parsley, salt and pepper sauce. Arrange half the potatoes in baking dish with onion and bacon; pour over half the dressing; repeat. Arrange knockwurst over potatoes. Cover with plastic wrap or waxed paper. Cook in microwave oven 3 minutes. Turn dish. Uncover, cook 2 minutes longer or until heated through. Let stand 3 to 5 minutes before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

LEMON SOUFFLE

- 3 large lemons
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 egg yolks

BURT REYNOLDS' BLACKENED SWORDFISH

- 1 8-ounce swordfish fillet per person
- Lime twist for garnish
- Marinade (Per Fillet):
 - 2 Tbsp olive oil
 - 1/2 Tbsp wine vinegar
 - 1/4 ounce chardonnay
 - 1/4 tsp coarse salt
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
- Seasoning Mix (Per Fillet):
 - 1/4 tsp oregano
 - 1/4 tsp thyme
 - 1/4 tsp marjoram
 - 1/4 tsp cayenne pepper
 - 1/2 tsp black pepper
 - 1/2 tsp salt
- Lime Butter (For 8 Fillets):
 - 1 cup whipped butter
 - 2 limes, zest and juice
 - 1 tsp sugar
 - 1 tsp salt
 - 1/2 tsp black pepper
 - 1/2 ounce chardonnay

Mix the marinade and the seasonings separately, then blend Lime Butter ingredients in a food processor. Marinate the fish in the marinade for about 1 hour, then coat it with the seasoning mix.

Get a large, cast iron skillet very hot and lay the seasoned fish inside. There will be enough oil in the marinade to keep the fish from sticking. After 5 minutes, check it with your finger to see whether the flesh is firm.

Turn fillet over in pan — 1 to 2 minutes more should be enough. Be careful not to overcook. Top with Lime Butter and garnish with a twist of lime.

Mango Debuts With A Tang

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Like so many vegetables and fruits, mangoes once were a rarity in most regions of the country. Now they appear regularly in supermarkets and fresh produce markets.

High in vitamin A and potassium, mangoes are a juicy treat eaten out-of-hand and may be used to make jams, jellies, ice cream and cream pies. Green mangoes go into chutneys and pickles.

At the peak of their summer season, mangoes are a refreshing addition to salads.

JAMAICAN CHICKEN-MANGO

- 1 large ripe mango (1 pound)
- 3 tablespoons dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon lime juice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/3 cup water
- 3 cups cooked chicken cut in 1/2-inch cubes
- 1 ripe avocado

To prepare dressing, peel mango and cut into 1/2-inch cubes (makes about 2 cups); set 1 1/2 cups aside. Place 1/2 cup mango cubes into the container of an electric blender along with sour cream, lime juice, allspice and salt. Blend until smooth. Remove cover. With blender motor running on high, very slowly drizzle oil and then water into container; whirl until blended.

Place chicken and reserved mango cubes in a bowl. Pour 1/2 cup dressing on chicken-mango mixture; toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate until serving. Refrigerate remaining dressing in a tightly covered container. Just before serving, peel avocado and cut in 1/2-inch pieces. Add to chicken mixture; toss to coat. Use remaining dressing for fruit salad, etc.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 portions — about 6 cups salad; about 1 1/4 cups dressing.

Deli's 16th-Century Gourmet Pastrami Draws Nationwide Raves

By JOHN DEMERS
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Around workaholic Manhattan, when lunch hours turn into races against the clock, racers most often turn into delicatessens dishing up pastrami.

Few diners, however, take the time to recognize between their slices of rye bread and mixed with their pungent mustard a gourmet item whose pedigree goes back more than 400 years.

Pastrami hails from Transylvania, no less, where unlettered farmers apparently spent half their time ducking Count Dracula and the other half curling meats to some of the highest standards the world has ever known.

"This is delicious, spicy meat," said Jay Goldberg, whose Manhattan deli called Pastrami 'n Things draws nationwide raves for its 16th-century family recipe and its meticulous preparation. "The public should realize what goes into it. When you take into mind a three-week process, it's certainly not fast-food."

According to Goldberg, the public is slowly coming around. His deli's pastrami took top citywide honors in the early '70s. With that recognition ever before him, he has worked to position his product not just as the fastest thing that still tastes good but as a top-quality gourmet food.

Goldberg has every reason to know his pastrami. His aunts and uncles were sprinkled throughout food operations around New York City, and he himself worked in a deli in his native Brooklyn.

For a time, Goldberg owned Manhattan's Famous Deli but decided to go back to a Mom-and-Pop operation when his sons headed off to college. He and his wife purchased Pastrami

'n Things, along with the Romanian recipe at the heart of its reputation.

"People love the taste of our pastrami," said Goldberg, asserting his is the only version made from scratch in all of New York City. "It's something they can't get anywhere else in the world."

"Most commercial delis just steam the meat after all kinds of processing. We have the room and the know-how to do ours from scratch."

A good part of this know-how revolves around a process. After being cured for 21 days in a salty-spicy liquid, the meat is smoked over cedar sawdust, cooled overnight, steamed and then rechilled.

The effect, said Goldberg, is not only a rich, pleasantly smoky flavor but tenderized meat that requires no tenderizer.

Like hot dogs with sauerkraut or just about anything spread on a bagel, pastrami will always be an essential New York food. But the city's importance as a hub has spread the meat's fame across the nation and beyond.

Several celebrities transplanted to California petition Goldberg regularly for overnight deliveries. Among foreign visitors, Japanese businessmen have shown the greatest pastrami passion, devouring it on a double bill with top-grade steak.

"We consider our pastrami as if you were going into a French restaurant and ordering a crown rack of lamb," said Goldberg. "It's, what would they say, our piece de resistance."

Two non-sandwich favorites from the Pastrami 'n Things repertoire are Pastrami Rolls, a terrific hot appetizer, and Pastrami and Eggs, a great way to enjoy the cured meat early in the morning.

PASTRAMI ROLLS

- 1 pound pastrami, sliced
- 1 pinch of salt
- Tabasco pepper sauce to taste
- 1 pinch of white pepper
- 2 ounces salad oil

Pancakes:
8 eggs
8 ounces of water
1 tsp chicken fat
1 1/2 cups flour

In a blender or food processor, grind together the pastrami, seasonings and salad oil to make a pastrami stuffing.

Prepare the batter for the pancake by mixing together the eggs, water, chicken fat and flour. The mixture yields 6 pancakes, which works out to enough for 12 pastrami rolls.

Pour the batter thinly into a nonstick frying pan and cook for 2 minutes, until a thin pancake forms.

Place each pancake on a cutting board and cut in half. Add 3 teaspoons pastrami stuffing to the center of each piece. Fold the ends of the pancake piece in and over the stuffing, covering the meat and forming a roll.

Place in an oven preheated to 450 degrees and cook for 4 minutes, until golden brown. Serve on a heated tray with deli mustard or Thousand Island dressing as a dip.

PASTRAMI AND EGGS

- 3 large eggs
 - 1 tsp vegetable oil
 - 1/4 pound pastrami, sliced
- Break eggs into a bowl and beat well. Heat vegetable oil in a frying pan until it is very hot, then pour in the eggs and cook for 45 seconds. Place the sliced pastrami on the egg mixture and let it sit for 60 seconds while the eggs are cooking.

Fold the sides of the egg mixture over the pastrami. Heat for another 30 seconds and turn over until brown. Garnish with parsley. Serve with deli mustard and a side of home fries with rye toast.

1/4 INCH TRIM

For the leaner way we're eating today.

Publix professional meat cutters trim all of our steaks, roasts, pork and lamb to not over 1/4" average, so you always take home the leanest cuts possible. That means more meat for your food dollar, and more food value per serving. Look for "Nutri Facts" brochures and displays in your Publix meat department. They'll tell you how to choose delicious meat meals that are low in fat, cholesterol and calories — but high in taste and nutritional value. And look for your favorite cuts of Publix meat — always lean, always the best.
