Sanford airport may become hub for world trade

By Nick Pflaum
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

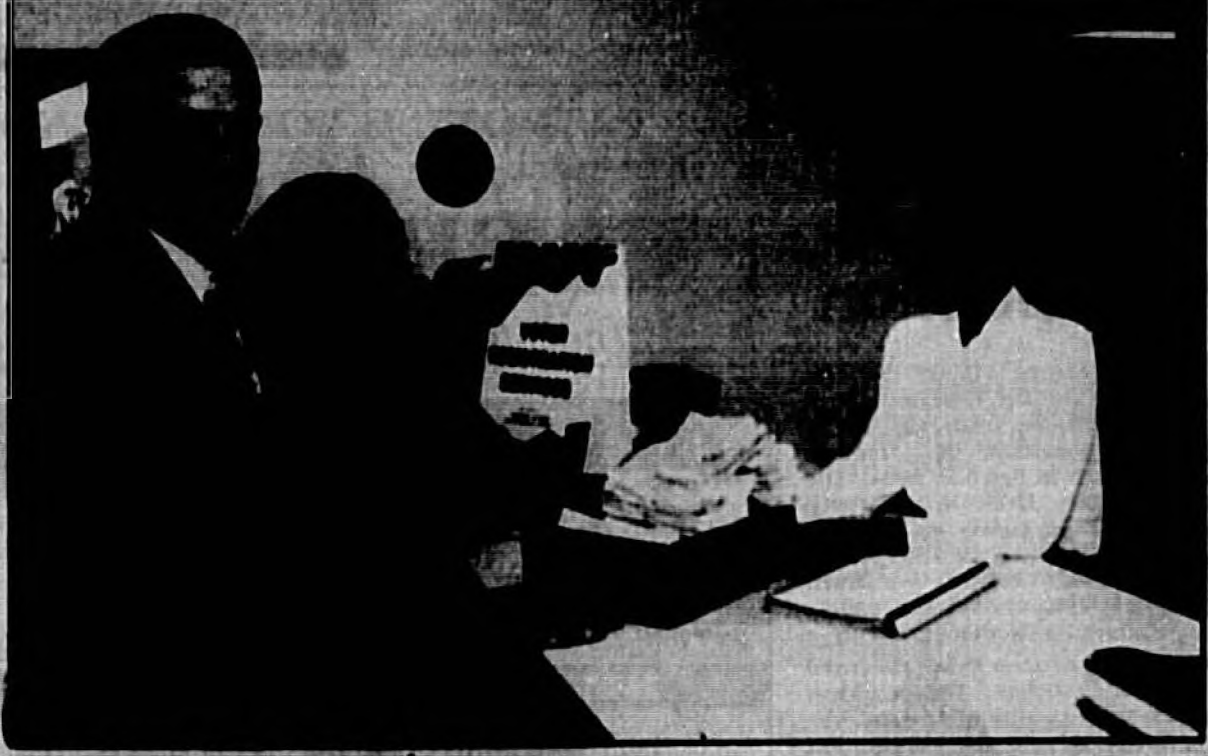

SANFORD - It has long been touted that one of the major economic influences for the City of Sanford and Seminole County is the untapped resource of the Orlando-Sanford Airport. Still in the growth process, the airport may someday become a major hub in international trade.

The future was brought into focus Monday afternoon, as the city and airport received international recognition.

Representatives of Argentina, several other South American countries, and the United States converged at the airport to discuss international economics and how the local area may benefit if plans to form a major trade organization are finalized.

The meeting was held at the World Trade Center board room at the airport, and a reception followed at Jett Aire.

State Representative Tom Feeny represented the United States. The South American contingency included representatives See Trade, Page 2A

OVIEDO - Dillard's Inc. announced Monday that the boards of directors of Dillard's Inc., and Mercantile Stores Company, Inc. have approved a definitive agreement under which Dillard's Inc. will acquire Mercantile Stores for $80 per share or approximately $2.9 billion in cash. Pursuant to the agreement, a cash tender offer will be commenced by a wholly-owned subsidiary of Dillard's Inc. no later than May 22, 1998 to acquire all of the outstanding shares of Mercantile Stores Company, Inc.

Mercantile operates 103 predominantly fashion apparel stores and 16 home fashion stores. The stores span 17 states, situated mainly in the southern, southeastern, and midwest regions of the country. Operating under 13 different names and managed by 5 regional divisions, Mercantile's sales for fiscal year 1997 exceeded $9 billion.

The tender offer will be subject to the valid tender of shares (together with any other shares acquired by Dillard's Inc.) representing a majority of the voting power of Mercantile Stores Company, Inc., the expiration of the waiting period under applicable antitrust and competition laws, and other customary conditions. AAA touts GreeneWay as one of nation's top roads

By Nick Pflaum
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

WEATHER - State Road 417, the Central Florida GreeneWay from Sanford to Interstate-4 southwest of Orlando, has been recognized by AAA as one of the nation's top roads. Only 10 roads were selected by AAA for the honor.

The auto club said awards are to focus attention on just how good highways and roadways can be with adequate investment, planning and design. There was no consideration given in the award regarding the toll cost to drive on the GreeneWay. A report issued several years ago had listed it as the second most costly per mile in the nation, second only to a major toll road in California.

These latest selections were made strictly on the basis of design, architecture, safety features and bridge and pavement conditions.

"The GreeneWay has been a tremendously convenient road for both residents and visitors," said Kevin W. Bakewell, vice president of public and government relations for AAA South. "AAA's objective is to showcase some of America's most outstanding roads to remind citizens and government officials of the investment needed to maintain the world's best highway system."

Only two other Florida roads were named to the AAA Top Roads list: SR-91A in Fort Lauderdale and Bayshore Boulevard in Tampa, both listed in AAA's Urban Street category. The GreeneWay was listed along with the Aqua Fria Freeway in Phoenix, Arizona.

An award recognizing the GreeneWay has been presented to A. Wayne Rich, chairman of the board of the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority, and James Ely, secretary of the Florida Turnpike District.

Regarding other highways and roads however, the picture is not necessarily pretty, and much of the problem can be attributed to a lack of funding on the federal level.

According to AAA President Robert L. Darbelnet, "More than one-third of U.S. roads are in poor to mediocre condition and the number of people killed on our highways is rising."

He explained that since 1980, vehicle miles traveled have jumped 234 percent, fuel taxes collected from motorists leaped 156 percent, but investments in our highway system have actually plummeted 50 percent.

Highway Helpers save the day with roadside assistance

By Nick Pflaum
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

LAKE MARY - Has your car recently broken down on Interstate-4? Help may be on the way. LYHX, the Central Florida Transportation Authority and the Florida Department of Transportation launched into a new program this week called "Highway Helpers."

As of Monday morning, two specially equipped trucks began patrolling specific areas of I-4 to offer roadside assistance to stranded motorists, during peak traffic hours.

One of the units will be operating from 6 to 9 a.m. on I-4 between Lake Mary Boulevard and SR-434 in Longwood. The second unit will operate those same hours from SR-434 north to the Fairbanks exit in Winter Park.

And best of all, the service is free.

In the afternoons, help will be available from 4 until 7 p.m. from John Young Parkway to Fairbanks, and from SR-434 in Altamonte Springs to Lake Mary exit 50.

According to Ernie Kelly with the transportation authority, the Highway Helpers have the tools and training necessary for making minor vehicle repairs. They can also push vehicles involved in non-injury accidents out of the travel lanes, secure the scene of minor traffic incidents and remove debris from the roadway.

In addition, help will also be available to provide fuel, radiator fluid, change flat tires, replace limited type belts and hoses, and offer other simple repair services that can typically be accomplished within approximately 15 minutes.

Local schools do well in ROTC drill competition

By Bob Goff
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Crooms Academy began a new tradition recently. Seven members of the Crooms JROTC program traveled to the 16th Annual National High School Drill Team Championships in Daytona Beach. In only its second year of existence, the Crooms Academy team placed well in 2 of the 3 events in the Challenge Division. Montfred Cliequennoi placed 7th out of 350 competitors in the Armed Knockout Drill. Chris Reed was 23rd in the same competition. The Crooms Color Guard also competed.

In the Master's Division, the Lady Grey's from Lyman came away with two National Championships, a third place and a fifth place. Command Sergeant Major Pamela Padgett, a Junior at Lyman, earned the Commander's Trophy as the Best Commander in the U.S. while leading the Regulation Platoon to National Championship honors. Lyman also scored a third with their Color Guard team and a fifth in Platoon Inspection.

Cadets from Lyman and Winter Springs High Schools dominated the Knockout Drill Competitions, earning 16 of the possible 60 medals awarded in two divisions. The Knockout Drill begins with over 1,250 cadets on the coliseum floor. Some 30 judges from all 4 services swarmed like sharks around the cadets as commands were given by a drill instructor and executed by the cadets. The slightest mistake results in a tap on the shoulder and the elimination of the cadet from the competition. In the Armed Division, Winter Springs was led by 8th place Adam Powell. Lyman had Cheryl Garcia in 9th and Sheven Heath in 7th. In the Unarmed Drill, Lyman was led by Sara Jeffies, 9th, Brandy Allen, 5th, and Carlee Foster in 3rd.

Almost 3,000 cadets from 28 states and 193 schools competed in this year's National Championships. Schools from as far away as Hawaii, Washington, Texas and Vermont attended by qualification and invitation. Other area schools competing included Mt. Dora and Pine Ridge in Deltona. No Orange County schools qualified.

Boating

Sept. 23 at Seminole Community College. According to Seminole Power Squadron past commander Robert Raen, this past year saw 1,251 boating accidents in Florida's lakes, rivers and coastal areas. In those accidents there were 764 injuries, 67 fatalities, and damages exceeding $5 million.

He also explained that 64 percent of the people involved in accidents were not wearing life jackets, and 51 percent of the fatalities were alcohol related. The majority of the persons involved were between the ages of 22 and 35.

The Seminole Power Squadron is a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a voluntary nonprofit organization of recreational boaters who promote and teach safe boating. For information on the courses or the squadron, phone Mike Wilson at 324-3771 or Bill Snider at 809-4291.

someone's sprinkler and sidestep the sniffing dog. I suppose some signed out of sympathy," Eileen West said.

In order to accomplish what would be described as the upset of the century, West realizes he must keep trying to "make a lot more faces light up." He says he can sense that the voters he has met want some changes in county government. The trick is convincing them he can do better than a highly effective county leader - the commission chairman for 3 of the past 4 years.

"The citizens told us that they are tired of rhetoric, empty promises and lack of character in elected officials," West said. "They want leadership that focuses on issues, not on personalities and favors for the privileged few at the expense of themselves, the taxpayer."

West said that he discovered that many residents don't know much about county government or who the commissioners are. Of the ones who knew Randy Morris was chairman, he said "there were a lot of negatives."

Morris said Monday that he was disappointed that West was already falling back on the "negative" method of campaigning. "I would hope that he will try to stay issue related. We'll see how it goes from here."

West, 45, announced his candidacy in October and immediately began telling people that there were big differences between himself and Morris. "Randy likes big government and lots of taxes," West said. "I'm for tax relief, no new debt without voter approval and better control of growth as Seminole County reaches burnout."

He said that 75 percent of his early contributions were for $100 or less. "This kind of support from citizens who are giving what they can in an effort to make this needed change is inspiring. I encourage good but less government."

West said that he owned his own bookstore when he was 21, and that he was in Thailand for 10 years as part of a New Tribes Mission assignment.

West's background includes work as a computer specialist for a company developing IBM processing in foreign languages. He is on the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board. He and Eileen West have three children and attend First Baptist of Orlando.

A life-long Republican, West said that as a first grader he handed out Richard Nixon flyers for the 1960 election against John Kennedy.

While his race against Randy Morris won't quite match Nixon-Kennedy, West was so excited about getting off a quick press release Monday that he inadvertently wrote that a jubilant Bob West had turned in more than 3,200 petitions and was the first candidate in the County Commission District 4 to qualify. He corrected it to District 2 by late afternoon.

not possible in the available time. Highway Helpers will offer free use of a cellular phone so the motorist can contact a friend or family member, towing/repair company of choice or the Florida Highway Patrol for referral to a towing company from the agency's towing rotation list.

In addition to offering assistance to persons which the Highway Helpers may personally see stalled along I-4, images from cameras mounted on the highway, which provide traffic conditions, will be relayed to the drivers as well as the Florida Highway Patrol to facilitate the exchange of information, and identify quickly areas where help is needed.

As the Central Florida Regional Transportation Authority, LYNX is most often thought of as only a bus service in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties. When asked why such free roadside service for motorists is being offered, LYNX Executive Director Leo Auger explained, "LYNX and our partners at FDOT are in the business of providing mobility. Our effort to maintain passable roads will improve this community's mobility and maintain an environment where transportation is part of the wonderful experience of being in Central Florida."

In addition to LYNX and FDOT, the Highway Helpers project is receiving sponsorship from Progressive Insurance, recognizing the need to reduce congestion caused by traffic accidents.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — There were no surprises in the Sanford Recreation Department Spring Co-Ed Slow Pitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park Monday night as the fish got richer with Run Rule victories.

Optimists claim Junior Girls Tournament title

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Sanford Optimist Club proved that the regular season was no fluke as it waltzed to the Championship of the Sanford Recreation Department Junior Girls Fast Pitch Softball League Saturday at Roy Holter Junior Field.

By virtue of its 10-1 regular season, the Sanford Optimist Club drew the No. 1 seed and took on the Sanford Lions Club, which was 1-10 in the regular season, in the first game.

The Sanford Optimist Club was out to 3-2, but took advantage of 15 walks and two hit batters to eliminate the Sanford Lions Club 15-2.

In the other semifinal game, the Sanford Rotary Breakfast Club, which was seeded No. 2 with an 8-3 record, took on the Sanford Kiwanis Club, the No. 3 seed with a 3-8 record.

The Sanford Rotary Breakfast Club quickly assumed control, scoring six runs in the bottom of the first inning and building a 10-0 lead after two innings.

The Sanford Kiwanis Club tried to mount a challenge, scoring six runs in the third inning, but the Sanford Rotary Breakfast Club answered with six runs to end the game with a 16-6 victory.

The championship game appeared like it would be a close battle as the Sanford Optimist Club led 4-2 after two innings.

But the champions took over the game with six runs in the third inning and the two teams played fairly even the rest of the way as the Sanford Optimist Club won 13-6.

T-N-T Express explodes in win over Queen Bees in Senior Girls softball

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The T-N-T Express scored early and often as it threw the Sanford Recreation Department Spring Senior Girls' Fast Pitch Softball League into turmoil at Lakeside Field Monday night.

Two weeks ago it looked as if the Queen Bees were a lock for the regular season championship and the No.

Tamara Gilchrist repeated as the state champion in the shot put to become the only county competitor to win an individual event and lead the Seminole girls to a tie for 13th.

Gilchrist tossed the shot 42-10 1/4 to win the event by over 6 inches.

In the Class 6A Meet on Saturday the Lake Brantley girls' 4x800 meter relay team had to replace two runners from last year, but still had enough to repeat as state champions in the event.

The Patriots of head coach Kathy Spiller ran a 9:23.43, the fastest time in Florida this year, but just off last year's record setting run of 9:18.38.

Making up the very young team were sophomores Jen Mills and Stephanie Connel and juniors Dara Wise and Megan McMillan.

Overall the Patriots scored 19 points and finished a Central Florida best ninth.

The boys' 6A teams really suffered as Lake Mary and Lyman split four points to top the Seminole schools.

Regional champion Lake Howell did not score after Robert Jordan, who had qualified for four events, could not compete after suffering a hip flexor injury during training last week.

The Queen Bees are 9-3, the FNT Express is 8-3 and Double Trouble is 0-11.

Because of the Memorial Day holiday this weekend, the tournament is now scheduled for Saturday, May 30th, so the FNT Express and Double Trouble game could be played some day next week.

The tournament schedule has the second place and third place teams playing at 4 p.m. and the winner of that game taking on the No. 1 seed at 5:30 p.m.

The Queen Bees scored a run in the top of the first inning but the FNT Express answered with six runs in the bottom of the first inning and four runs in the bottom of the second inning to take a 10-1 advantage.

The Queen Bees tried to cut into the lead, scoring two runs in the third inning and one run in the fourth inning.

Plastic surgery around eyes

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 94 and have bags around my eyes. I am considering plastic surgery. However, I've been told that the doctors remove the eyes during the operation. Could this damage my vision?

DEAR READER: You have seriously misunderstood what you were told. The eyes are not disturbed during cosmetic surgery to reduce excess skin. (Removal of the eyes would lead to permanent blindness, surely an unacceptable trade-off for looking a few years younger!)

The operation you refer to is actually quite simple and straightforward. The surgeon trims away excess tissue. Even with such easy surgery, however, there are risks, such as infection and an unexpected reaction to the anesthetic. This prompts me to question why a woman your age would even consider surgery. The benefits just seem to be so inconsequential. Why not leave well enough alone? Consider operations that will substantially maintain your independence and improve the quality of life, but forego cosmetic surgery (unless the skin around your eyes significantly interferes with your vision). All those wrinkles and bulges are proof that you've lived a long and satisfying life. Revel in that and leave the plastic surgery to younger women for whom the pursuit of youth is still paramount.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What medical problems can be caused by having the tongue pierced?

DEAR READER: Judging from the number of young people who have had it done, the piercing of body parts has become an all-too-common ritual of rebellion. Tongue piercing is an example of this practice.

The most common problem is infection, because the mouth is the second most contaminated orifice in the body. Fortunately, most tongue-piercers don't suffer significant infection, but the potential is there. Every once in a while, doctors have to deal with a rebellious adolescent who is struggling with a hot, swollen and painful tongue.

Because young people are unlikely to be deterred from body piercing, we adults have little recourse other than sitting on our hands, casting our eyes heavenward, and hoping that the next lad won't be worse than the ones we have lived through before.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why do I become sleepy after eating a big meal?

DEAR READER: This phenomenon is common, and no one knows the precise reason for it. Some doctors believe that it is caused by a reaction in the brain, as blood is shunted to the normal drop in blood sugar after a meal (post-prandial hypoglycemia).

Even though my medical school professors dreaded lecturing after lunch (because so many students would nod off in class), the tendency to drowsiness can be overcome by stimulation—a walk, a project, an intellectual challenge—or a cup of coffee. Also, eating a lighter, smaller meal may help prevent this universal problem.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Speed kills skill

By Phillip Alder

In New Zealand, they play tournament bridge at a crazy speed: often only six minutes a deal. This leaves insufficient time to analyze difficult problems and increases the incidence of poor play. At TGR, a rubber-bridge club in London, though, they have found a sensible way to accelerate play. They don't score doubled overtricks. So, as soon as one's contract is guaranteed, one claims.

How quickly would you claim this four-spade contract? West leads the heart seven.

At first glance, it looks as though you need one of the three minor-suit finesses to work. But after a second glance at the full diagram, you can see that all three key honors are offside. However, the declarer, Howard Cohen, the owner of TGR, knows an endplay when he sees one. First, he made the key play of ducking trick one to East. (If declarer wins this trick, the defenders can defeat the contract.) East switched to a diamond.

With a flourish, Cohen tabled his cards. He explained that he would win this trick with the ace, draw trumps, play a heart to dummy's ace, ruff the last heart in hand, and exit with the diamond queen. West wins with the king and leads a club, but declarer finesesses dummy's 10 or queen. Although the finesse loses, East is employed. He must either return a club into dummy's remaining tenace or concede a ruff-and-discard.

Cohen claimed before playing to trick two — which would have been premature if West had ruffed the diamond ace. But what odds were they in return for showmanship?

Crafts: She loves them, she makes them

By Susan Wenner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Gloria Dimmick considers herself a true craft lover. She has created, bought, sold and admired crafts all of kinds for many years and made it a hobby as well as a business.

She began this pasttime while still living in Massachusetts. There she also resided as the president of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs, a woman's organization of the Elks.

Practicing her love of stamping and making cards, while also sewing quilted pillows, quillows and adding the final touches to her flower pot soldiers have kept her busy in her senior years.

Also taking much of her time is her husband of 6 years, Leon. She spoke of their relationship. "I had been married for 47 years and Leon had been married for 52 years when our spouses died," she said. "We were all friends. That made it nice. We all believed in marriage. We both had wonderful marriages. It is so great to have that."

She and her husband participate in at least 6 craft shows per season, according to Dimmick. "We do a lot of the Buckler shows," she said. "There is one at the Orlando Fair Grounds and in DeLand. We go to the Ocoee Historical Society show at the end of April. We've been to Port Charlotte, Bushnell, and to Orlando at St. Matthews Church. We also go to Fort Christmas twice a year."

In her visits to these shows Dimmick takes her own crafts. She has a large supply of quillows, a combination of quilt and pillow, which a friend taught her to make many years ago while still in Massachusetts.

"My friend gave me some of the secrets of what she had learned," said Dimmick. "I really like quilting on the quillows and not just taking a print and doing them. I make one that's about a yard and a half. The pillow is about 14 to 16 inches. I also have made a crib size quillow that you can fold and take with the baby."

In 1989, Dimmick won a first place award for her quilted table runners. She shared that she still loves to make Christmas tree skirts, quilted placemats, baby blankets, baby burp pads and pocketbooks.

Soldiers made of flowerpots are among her other favorites. "I make them with four inch pots and up to 12-inch pots. I just put one on top of the other. I use acrylic paint. You have to be very careful though because sometimes they are almost too big to transport."

Her advice for a beginner is to "get with a craft group, start small and don't undertake a large project and finish a project before starting another." Dimmick presently teaches craft classes in her home once a week as well as taking additional classes herself.

She and her husband share nine children. Nancy, Raymond, Linda, Susan belong to Gloria as well as her two adopted children, Wanda and Donna. Her husband has three children, David, Linda and Sandy. Between them they have 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The couple attends church at First Baptist Church of Orlando on Lake Underhill Road. Dimmick has also been a member of RSVP for 6 years.

Tips from kid's stylist takes trauma out of trimming

DEAR ABBY: During the 10 years I have worked as a hairstylist, I have tried to make haircuts pleasant for children. Nevertheless, many are so terrified that all I can do is make sure they don't get hurt thrashing around in my chair. Parents can do a great deal to make a haircut a treat rather than a trauma.

1. Do not say "cut" to a small child. The word suggests danger and pain. Instead, say "styled" or "fixed" instead.

2. Try to take the child to the same stylist each time, so they can get to know each other. Also, take the child for visits that do not involve cutting, working in progressive steps from sitting in the chair to a haircut.

3. If the child has an older sibling, ask if the children can sit side-by-side to have their haircuts. The younger one may try to impress the older one with his or her good behavior. A parent or trusted adult may have the same calming influence.

4. Don't request an intricate or difficult haircut. It may take a long time and be unpleasant for the child.

5. If the child is fighting it, don't expect the stylist to continue. Fix the bangs and let it go.

6. Make sure the experimenter isn't a bad one: Holding a child's head firmly is rarely helpful for the stylist and could be terrifying for the child.

7. Compliment your child on how nice he or she looks, and also on his or her good behavior. Tell the child you enjoy getting your hair cut.

8. Bring your own treat for the child, in case the stylist doesn't have any - or has run out.

9. Never place a young child in the chair and leave the salon. Do not leave your older child alone in the salon unless you first instruct the stylist how you want the child's hair cut. You may be surprised to learn that your son wanted a Mohawk!

10. Usually kids are not naughty, just frightened. However, if your child misbehaves, put your foot down firmly. Do not allow the child to run around the shop - floors tend to be slick with hair and water, and stylists use many chemicals as well as sharp and hot tools.

11. Never take children to a stylist when they are sick. Your child will be miserable having to sit still when not feeling well, and your stylist may catch what the child has.

Abby, I hope these suggestions will make haircuts more enjoyable for stylists, parents and especially children.

GRATEFUL IN OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thank you for a letter that many hairdressers and patrons will appreciate.
