Essence Can Get It All Together For Today's Young Black Woman

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
The Herald Services
NEW YORK — Nobody messes with Marcia Ann Gillespie. Certainly no white woman reporter can talk to the black editor-in-chief of Essence magazine. Essence, the six-year-old magazine "especially for today's black woman," may be anniversary month — a proud time for those who struggled to make the magazine a success. There's no smile, no hand offered in neutrality, if not friendship. Just hard stares from dark eyes, as she sits behind her desk in Essence's new 10th-floor offices in a Broadway skyscraper so new the wiring still shows. Well, let's get down to it. The February issue of Essence is typical, you say. Then, black women might as well read Redbook or McCall's or Glamour. Sure, Essence models — even those in the familiar Revlon and Avon ads — are black, and there is a column devoted to prominent black women. But that's it. Food, travel, sex — the features here are substantially what every other woman's magazine merchandises. Even the cotton candy fiction tastes the same. What's more, Essence seems to be right in there pitching, like the white woman's standard of beauty. "If we were locked into the white standard of beauty,"

Plumber's Wife Would Bill 'Bartered Goods'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I had some plumbing done. Due to some financial troubles, I wasn't able to pay the bill within 30 days. Yesterday I received another bill with a note from the plumber's wife, who does his bookkeeping. It read: "Jim does not expect to take this bill out in trade, so please remit!" And she signed her name. I sent a check for the full amount and enclosed the following note: "I was not aware that your husband was in the habit of taking his bills out in trade, but if he does, I feel very sorry for you." And I signed my name. My son saw the note from the plumber's wife to me and recommended that I take it to a lawyer and sue the woman for slander. What would you do?

DEAR ABBY: I would send her a get-well card. She is sick. It would also let the plumber know what kind of statements his wife is sending out with his statements. DEAR ABBY: I am a 59-year-old woman with a problem I've never seen in your column. I have been going with this man for six years. He is 43, and he says he can't marry me because he promised his mama before she died three years ago that he wouldn't get married until his daddy got married, as she didn't want his daddy to be left all alone. In the current issue we do every year we give black women information so they won't get degraded or done in by this society. His daddy hasn't got anybody to marry, and he isn't even looking. I cannot spend another morning picking up my garbage after my neighbor's dog has spread it all over my backyard. I turned the porch light on, and I could see Sam's tail wagging with his head in my garbage can. Then he tipped the can over, and the garbage was strewn all over my yard. This morning I called Sam's owner and asked him to please come and clean up my yard because his dog had turned over my garbage can. He asked me how I knew it was Sam, and I told him I recognized him because he comes over every day to defecate on our grass. Then I asked him to please keep his dog tied up. Student Homes Sought

By KRIS NASH
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County residents who would like to have a high school foreign exchange student live with their family for a year should not hesitate to apply for participation in the American Field Service (AFS) program, an AFS representative says.

Aida Bowman, a field staffer for the world's oldest and largest exchange service, outlined the AFS operation Wednesday at a meeting of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Education Committee.

The committee endorsed the idea of receiving students from any of 62 foreign countries for a year of study in county high schools.

The AFS program, which involves 16-year-old students and is already solidly under way in Orlando, has met with favorable reception from officials at Seminole High School, Bowman said.

The next steps are to obtain local sponsorship and housing for the exchange students.

"What we're looking for is just a really warm family environment," Bowman said, of homes which might successfully house foreign teenagers. "No special set of qualifications can be given, but families which apply should understand that very careful screening goes on both regionally and then at the main (AFS) office in New York. It may not be possible for all families to be accepted."

A family which does qualify will then receive a portfolio describing a foreign student available for exchange. Bowman said, which the family may approve or disapprove. Students are only notified if they have been accepted.

If Seminole County receives a foreign student, it automatically becomes eligible to offer a qualified student of its own for study in another nation.

Once again, Bowman stressed, there is no guarantee of acceptance or of assignment to a particular country or region.

Families interested in securing further information on the AFS foreign exchange operation can contact Mrs. Bowman through the Sanford chamber or by calling 881-1647 in Orlando.

In earlier action, the chamber's Commercial Committee debated the idea of sponsoring an information booth near the Auto Train terminal on SR-46 west of Sanford.

HHH Expected To Announce Candidacy

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) is expected to announce his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination later this afternoon.

The former vice president met with his top aides for 2 1/2 hours on Wednesday night and this morning said he'd have a definite announcement later in the day.

Sources close to Humphrey indicated he will move toward a presidential bid in an effort to head off the mounting campaign of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

Humphrey was met by a crowd of reporters and the glare of television lights as he arrived this morning at his Senate office.

Seeks Option On 21 Acres In Sanford School Board Eyes SNA Property

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

An end to overcrowded and fragmented facilities for Seminole County school officials was in sight, if the school board follows through with the purchase of the 21-acre McFadden Corporation property currently housing the Sanford Naval Academy Junior School.

The board, in a meeting Wednesday night at the Alamo City Hall, authorized the administration to investigate the purchase of the land and to obtain some kind of option on the purchase until a decision can be reached whether to buy.

The property consists of two connected blocks. One, a little over 10 acres in size, is located on the northeast corner of a Melonville and Celery Avenue. It stands the two-story steel and cinder block building which first housed the Giants Farm Baseball Team, and later the junior school.

The second parcel of land, about 11 acres, is located to the northeast of the first, behind the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium. It is set back from Melonville Avenue and is bounded on the north by Eighth Street.

Colbert suggested this could possibly be used for the establishment of an elementary school some time in the future.

Colbert, who has been conducting a discreet investigation of the property over the past week, told the board the land could be purchased and building renovated at an estimated total cost of $600,000. This estimate was probably high, and he believed the project would most likely cost less.

"Even so, it would be difficult to spend $600,000 elsewhere and come up with a 27,000-square-foot building at a cost of only $22 per square foot," said Colbert.

At present, approximately 37 members of the school administration staff are housed in the county school office, a renovated bus station on Commercial Street. Another 42 staffers occupy the rambling, wood-frame West Side Annex on Maple Avenue between Third and Fourth Streets.

Staff members who work in food services, the audio-visual center and school warehouses are all scattered in different locations.

According to Colbert, this is a costly and inefficient fragmentation of the school administration staff which could be solved if the present Naval Academy Junior school were converted into a new school office.

"We've thought about a new administration building in the past," said Colbert, "but didn't do anything because of the conditions (the school) kids fragmented administration and kids sorted out — no more double sessions, very little crowding — it seems fair to start thinking about staff needs."

The building consists of two sections, on divided into 12x12 foot rooms which could be used as offices, the other consisting of larger spaces, and both joined by a 33x50 foot board room which could seat at least 150 persons, according to Colbert.

He said the building would need to be air conditioned, painted and carpeted, but it had not been possible in a week to get accurate estimates of costs.

The property also contains a swimming pool and large building which was once used as a gymnasium.

In addition, there is a block of land, approximately seven acres, adjoining the McFadden property to the east on Celery Avenue, which is state owned.

Colbert suggested the land is currently owned by the financially troubled Bernar McFadden Corporation, which is purchasing the land from the San Francisco Giants.

"The company is in bankruptcy and needs to sell quickly, and the court would probably sell it quickly if we make up our minds without too much delay," Colbert said.

Realtor Bobby Greene, 501 N. Park Ave., Winter Park, is handling the property.

"This would be a giant step forward in consolidating the conditions (the school) kids fragmented administration and kids sorted out — no more double sessions, very little crowding — it seems fair to start thinking about staff needs."

Salute To Youth Set Saturday

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO — The area's largest Bicentennial salute to youth — by young people — will take place Saturday as youth organizations under the leadership of the Boy Scouts of America present "Festival U.S.A."

Cosponsored by the Boy Scouts, the City of Orlando and the Orange County Bicentennial Committee, the event will highlight the skills, contributions and involvement of Central Florida's youth, and is designed to make the citizens more aware of youth's role in the area and nation.

The full day of activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a parade through downtown Orlando featuring several different youth groups, floats, school bands and adult groups recognizing youth.

Although Central Florida Council of Boy Scouts is coordinating the event, hundreds of youngsters from such organizations as Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, YMCA, Girls Clubs and schools will also participate.

Following the opening parade, there will be a massive display of youth activities in Lake Eola Park from 1-4 p.m.

Many unique booth displays will be featured and area school bands will provide entertainment throughout the afternoon.

Highlighting the youth salute will be a historical Festival U.S.A. pageant to be presented at the Tangerine Bowl beginning at 7:30 p.m. The role of

Police Praise Vests; Use Is Widespread

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Some officers in nearly every police agency in Orange and Seminole counties wear protective vests similar to the vest credited with saving the life of an Altamonte Springs policeman early Thursday when he was shot by an unidentified gunman.

A Herald survey shows that at least three agencies — the Sanford, Casselberry and Orlando Police Departments — have protective vests that are issued to patrol officers to wear if they wish.

None of the police agencies surveyed make it mandatory that officers wear the protective vests.

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler says his department budgeted for 20 vests this year and has 10 already in use plus a number of officers who earlier bought their own vests.

Butler said the vests, advertised to stop .38, .357 and .45 caliber bullets at close range, are used mostly by officers on night patrol.

"We're asking for more vests in our next budget," Butler said.

The vests range in weight, depending on make and model, from two to five pounds. They are constructed of pliable, woven nylon and fiberglass-type fibers layered in varying thicknesses. Cost of the vests range from $75 to $150 depending on brand and model, according to area police chiefs.

The Orlando Police Department has been using the protective vests for 18 months and has enough vests for each patrolman, a department Community Relations Division spokesman said today.

None of the agencies surveyed has recorded an instance in which a vest prevented an officer from being injured by a gunshot or knife attack.

Apparently Altamonte Springs patrolman Lewis K. Branding is the first Central Florida officer to be shot and killed while wearing a protective vest.

Branding credits the vest, a college graduation present given to him by his parents last August for saving his life early Thursday.

Branding, 24, was on patrol at Newberryport Avenue and Fern Street in an industrial district when he got out of his patrol cruiser to check out "a suspicious man" near a building.

As Branding approached the suspect, he produced a gun and fired twice at the patrolman. One bullet hit the officer on the chest area, police said, and as he was spun around by the impact a second bullet hit his back.

The protective vest caught the bullets and Branding wasn't injured. He said later he was

Controversy Arises Over Unique Burial Concept

Vault and Slumber Bed," the cardboard coffin sits temporarily inside an expensive-looking bottomless casket called a catafalque by its designers.

At the grave site, once friends and relatives have departed the cardboard coffin is removed from the catafalque and a heavy fiberglass cover is glued onto the bottom slab.

The instant vault is then lowered into the ground and the catafalque is returned to the funeral home for "recycling." Cemetery owners John Floren, 39, designer of the slumber bed and catafalque, and Gene Crowe, 37, who markets the fiberglass "Eternal Rest Vault," say the concept will revolutionize the industry and will cut the cost of burial in half.

Critics contend the men are illegally soliciting business for an extravagant casket without the expense.

Intelligence Committee Releases 396-Page Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee's catalogue of a variety of domestic intelligence abuses marks the end of its investigation and the beginning of a fight over whether a special congressional panel should monitor spy agencies.

In a 396-page report released Wednesday, the committee detailed previously disclosed abuses such as CIA domestic spying, the FBI's Control program and the National Security Agency's eavesdropping.

"All this occurred because intelligence agencies were ordered to break the law, felt they had a right to break the law, and even felt they had a duty to break the law," Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a member of the committee, said after release of the report.

The intelligence panel declared that "intelligence activities which undermine individual rights must end" and made a total of 96 recommendations, including the formation of a strong congressional panel to guard against future spy agency abuses.

Illegal Exporting Charged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Bay Area firm has been charged with illegally exporting $3 million in sophisticated electronics manufacturing equipment to the Soviet Union in what may be the start of a federal crackdown on such transactions.

The federal indictment returned Wednesday against I.I. Industries Inc. paints a cloak-and-dagger picture of fictitious firms, mysterious foreign "middlemen" and complex equipment disguised as washing machines and ovens to avoid detection by customs authorities.

It alleges that the Sunnyvale, Calif., firm, three of its officers and three West German nationals violated U.S. law forbidding exportation to Communist bloc countries of any goods which will "significantly increase... present or potential military capability."

FTC Bans Cereal Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sampling the fruits of the wild may have been fine for the late Earl Gibson, says the government, but it wasn't right for him to do it on television commercials for ready-to-eat cereal.

The FTC claimed that the commercials, all for Post Grape Nuts, were "unfair and deceptive because of their tendency to influence children to engage in dangerous behavior" — namely to eat wild plants that could be poisonous.

Gibbons, a longtime natural foods proponent and author, died of a heart attack Dec. 29. The four disputed commercials featured him touting the goodness of such things as cattails, pine tree parts and wild berries, along with "my back-to-nature cereal," Grape Nuts.

Aliens To Be Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal immigration authorities are planning to return thousands of illegal aliens to their home communities in the interior of Mexico instead of just sending them to the Mexican border.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service wants to find out if this procedure will discourage the Mexicans from making repeated efforts to enter the United States illegally, said INS spokesman Verne Jervis.

In an interview Wednesday, Jervis said the $2-million program would run for a test period of 20 weeks but that officials haven't yet decided when to begin it. U.S. officials say large numbers of illegal aliens who are apprehended and returned to the Mexican border later illegally re-enter the United States again.

Group Threatens Unfair Labor Charge

School Calendar Brings SEA Criticism

By JEAN PATTISON
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board adopted a calendar for the 1976-77 school year at Wednesday night's board meeting, despite warnings from Seminole Education Association spokesman Steve Rosenthal that such an action would cause the SEA to file an unfair labor practice complaint against the board.

"The calendar is a negotiable item, and we'll file an unfair labor practice complaint if it is adopted before negotiations begin," said Rosenthal. Negotiations are scheduled to begin May 1, but as this is a Saturday, the SEA and board negotiators will not meet until the following week, probably on May 6.

Rosenthal claimed that gives teachers the right to negotiate hours, wages and conditions of employment. He said the school calendar contains holidays and directives when teachers should stop and start work. These are negotiable items, according to Rosenthal.

He said that last year, the calendar was negotiated, but that this year the board "no longer seems to think it proper."

Rosenthal said the board was taking a stance of "preconditioning" bargaining. Negotiations are scheduled to begin May 1, but as this is a Saturday, the SEA and board negotiators will not meet until Ernest Cowley, assistant director of personnel, said drafts of five alternative calendars had been presented to instructional, non-instructional and administrative staff in the school system for comment.

Of the 1,561 persons responding, an overwhelming majority was in favor of the first alternative calendar submitted, said Cowley. This is the calendar which the board adopted, with teachers being granted six holidays, the board negotiated three holidays with the SEA. Later, after the state revised the law to permit teachers six holidays, the board negotiated three holidays with the SEA.

These same three holidays have been included in the calendar for the coming year, said Cowley.

He added that the SEA has a membership of about 1,400, but that some 1,300 other school employees, as well as 30,000 students and about 60,000 parents were also affected by the calendar.

There are also three other bargaining units in the school system — for the bus drivers, non-instructional personnel and clerical personnel. "How can we bargain the calendar with all four units?" asked Cowley. "This is clearly a managerial right," he concluded.

Rosenthal termed the stance of the board a "deliberate act in the face" for the SEA. He charged the Florida School Board Association is directing its members to test bargaining units at every step, and the acceptance of the calendar prior to negotiations is such a test.

"There is going to be a large argument about the calendar adopted tonight," said Rosenthal. The SEA would file an unfair labor practice complaint against the board immediately, he said.

Previously Stolen In Sanford

Rolex Wrist Watch Recovered

Seminole sheriff's investigators today said they have recovered a $1,575 man's gold Rolex wrist watch which was stolen from a Sanford jewelry store and sent for $75.

Detective R. E. Winger said the watch, identified as having been stolen on an unknown date from Kader's Jewelers, Sanford, was sold at a pawn shop in south Seminole earlier this month for $75.

No arrests have been made in the case, officers said, and investigation into the theft is continuing.

Suspect Arrested

Sheriff's deputies said today that a juvenile suspect has been arrested in connection with a burglary earlier this month at the residence of Charles R. Cooper, 615 Vandenberg St., Altamonte Springs, and an investigation in cooperation with

School Visitation Program Gets Okay

A school visitation program which would give Seminole County students a year's membership to the John Young Museum and Planetarium in Orlando, as well as inclusion in a school field trip, was given tentative approval by the school board's budget committee Tuesday.

Mark Sinclair, a representative from the museum, told the committee that for a fee of one dollar per child, Seminole County students could be included in the school visitation program. He requested the committee set aside $12,000 for this purpose.

"If we can afford the contract — great," commented School Supt. William F. Laver, committee chairman. He added that because of lack of action by legislators on increased funding for the coming school year, no commitment could be made at this time.

Askew, Sheriffs Oppose Proposed FHP Proposal

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew and sheriffs have lined up against a bill supported by troopers and their union to make the Florida Highway Patrol a powerful independent agency.

The battle lines were drawn Wednesday as the House Governmental Operations Committee took its first look at the bill. The panel sent the measure to a subcommittee for additional hearings but agreed to consider it again next Wednesday.

The bill (HB3307), sponsored by Rep. John Forbes, D-Jacksonville, would separate the Highway Patrol from the Department of Transportation and Motor Vehicles. It also would move the department's other programs into the Department of Insurance.

Forbes said the bill would save more than $1 million by ending duplication in the processing of accident reports. His claim was attacked by Joe Crease, Askew's budget director, and the sheriffs.

Tucker: Protect Wetlands

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — House Speaker Donald Tucker says developers should support legislation to protect coastal wetlands because "it is within the power of reasonable men to use the land in such a way as to leave it unspoiled for future generations."

Tucker, D-Tallahassee, made his pitch to the Tallahassee Builders Association Wednesday afternoon. The Natural Resources Committee approved a bill to prevent "degradation and destruction" of Florida's coastal wetlands.

The committee proposal is based on a bill authored last year by Tucker. It passed the House in a lopsided 95-15 vote but died in the Senate after a lobbying effort mounted by interests such as builders.

Divorce Aye, Widowhood Nay

GAINESVILLE (AP) — Give Irene Thompson a day, and she'd rather be a divorcee than a widow any day.

"I've been both," the University of Florida professor said. "When questions concerning my marital status come up, I refer to myself as divorced."

She's been studying discrimination against widows since her second husband died 10 years ago.

"Fewer doors are closed for divorcees," she said. "A divorce suggests a correctable mistake. Death can't be corrected, and marriage is remote for most widows because they tend to compare every man they meet with rosy images of their late husbands."

Landow Back In Business

MIAMI (AP) — Mel Landow went bankrupt selling appliances through his outlet chain that spanned 21 states, but he's back in business selling his liquidated stock in some of the same stores he went broke in.

Bankruptcy Judge Thomas Britton says it's all legal.

Landow owned the 40 Kennedy and Cohen appliance stores that were almost entirely in debt when he filed for bankruptcy in January.

Two-Cent Gas Tax Increase Proposed To Pay Insurance

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Deputy Insurance Commissioner Thomas R. Brown has proposed a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax to pay for part of the no-fault auto insurance bill and its House companion, which Forbes said would do nothing to cut rates.

Brown told the House Commerce Committee late Wednesday that this would eliminate an average $29 from the cost of insurance for each auto by paying for the $5,000 personal-injury coverage of the insurance.

His plan is one of a number of ideas given to the committee as an alternative to the Senate-passed bill (SB598) on changing no-fault to reduce rates. It's the second to call for some form of state takeover.

The committee had been scheduled to put members' ideas into a single bill but spent the meeting listening to testimony from insurance company representatives and Brown.

Chairman John Forbes, D-Jacksonville, said he would call another meeting as soon as a convenient time could be found.

The panel ignored the Senate bill and its House companion, which Forbes said would do nothing to cut rates.

Brown said Commissioner Philip Ashler has not endorsed the gasoline-tax-increase proposal but that it is one of a number of cost-cutting ideas being studied by the department.

Under the plan, Brown said, "you get one over-all statewide rate rather than different rates in different areas. The elderly now pay the same thing as you and I although they might drive less."

The Revenue Department would pay insurance companies to administer the claims, he said.

The tax would have brought in $90 million last year and the personal injury claims in 1974, latest year with figures available, totaled $61 million, Brown said.

Brown said Commissioner Philip Ashler has not endorsed the gasoline-tax-increase proposal but that it is one of a number of cost-cutting ideas being studied by the department.

House Overrides Two Vetoes

Student Lottery Passage Is Expected

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Senate President Dempsey Barron, voting to make no further compromises, predicted committee passage today of his proposal to set up modified lottery selection for graduate schools.

Meanwhile, the House, fresh from overriding two more vetoes by Gov. Reubin Askew, has committees scheduled to consider bills to make it easier for liquor firms to buy direct from the distillery and to specify the legal grounds for annulment of marriages and to legitimize children born during the marriage. The bill was left pending on a motion to reconsider.

Gov. Reubin Askew and sheriffs mounted heavy opposition to a bill that would make the Florida Highway Patrol an independent agency. The bill was returned to subcommittee by the House Governmental Operations Committee, which agreed to discuss it next Wednesday.

John Culbreath, D-Brooksville and chairman of the Regulated Industries and Licensing Committee, said Wednesday he removed Rep. Alan Becker, D-Miami, as chairman of the alcoholic beverage subcommittee Tuesday to distribute the workload more evenly.

Culbreath denied that Becker's opposition to the liquor chain bills considered by the subcommittee today was connected with the move.

The governor even got into the legislative act Wednesday, signing into law the first bill to pass both houses this session. The measure allows opticians to advertise the price of eyeglasses.

To Compromise Permits Big Gains

President Ford has signed into law a bill extending to 200 miles the offshore area in which the United States will claim jurisdiction over fishing rights.

The New York session has just passed the halfway mark in what is expected to be eight weeks of work, with what is hoped to be a final session scheduled for Geneva this summer.

Where the Conference now appears to need prodding is in setting up machinery for exploration and production of mineral resources on the international seabed.

The United States is supporting a compromise plan that should be acceptable to the Third World countries that want seabed resources to be internationalized, primarily so that the developing world can share in the wealth they represent.

Some countries, especially those now producing nickel, copper and other metals which can be found on the seabed, also want prices and production rates of the seabed minerals subject to international control.

The Law of the Sea Conference has been notable for the snail's pace of its progress. With the United States now among nations formally committed to a 200-mile fishing limit, and with Mr. Kissinger's reminder that seabed mining will take place with or without an international agreement, the 1,500 delegates from 156 nations now meeting in New York have good reason to compose their differences in time to make the Geneva session a successful conclusion to their efforts.

Solution Simple

The House of Representatives has voted to spend $150,000 to investigate why so many leaks occurred when its committee headed by Rep. Otis Pike was handling secret information in an investigation of intelligence agencies.

BERRY'S WORLD

Let me put it this way — there is no such thing as a monolithic 'weird vote'!

Many columnists miss a very important message in the writings of Alexander Solzhenitsyn when they choose only to write about the Russian exile's ongoing tiff with Henry Kissinger over the Secretary of State's policy of detente with the Soviet Union.

The Clock

In his novel the former Russian Army officer who was sent to prison by the communists explains how the secret police are used to intimidate the citizenry.

Cambodia Nightmare Comes True

WASHINGTON—A year ago last March, when the Ford administration was arguing for more aid to help the Cambodian government resist Communist aggression, opponents of this aid pushed the idea that there would be a bloodbath if it was not forthcoming.

New York Times columnist Tom Wicker wrote that there was "not much moral choice" between the non-Communist Cambodian government and the Communist Khmer Rouge.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey said the cutoff of U.S. aid would "alleviate the suffering" of the Cambodian people.

Well, a year later, these arrangements are being worked out and what is happening is genocide. Time magazine reports that the Communist takeover of Cambodia has resulted in purges, mass evacuations, forced labor and willful assassinations causing the death of an estimated 600,000 people — one-tenth of the country's population.

Time relates one typical incident in the provincial capital of Battambang, where last year hundreds of officers were assembled in a school building on the pretext they were going to meet Prince Sihanouk. They were bound hand and foot, loaded onto trucks and machine-gunned on the outskirts of the city.

Whole families — and sometimes entire villages — have been massacred, according to refugees who have escaped.

Some estimates of the Communist-ruled carnage run even higher, however. The leftist French newspaper, Le Monde, puts the number of Cambodians slaughtered at closer to 800,000.

ABC News' Ken Kashibara reports that in Cambodia "freedom of movement and of speech are gone. Food is scarce, starvation is common, work hours are long and the penalty for disobeying is death."

So, how about it, Sen. Humphrey? Sen. McGovern? Mr. Wicker? The New York Times? Don't just sit there silently. Please tell us how all of you could have been so wrong. You owe the American people, and certainly those Cambodians who are left, some kind of explanation. We anxiously await your comments.

Is Energy Chief On Way Out?

WASHINGTON — In the back rooms of Washington, the long knives are out for the Federal Energy Administration and its beleaguered boss, Frank Zarb.

The oil industry, aided by a number of key Administration officials, is seeking to dismantle the agency and scatter its duties to other agencies. At the very least, they want Zarb out as energy czar.

The capable Zarb has already lost much of his influence in White House inner circles. President Ford used to call him to the White House to consult on even the most minor energy matters.

Business Distrust Fading

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — In the late '60s students pounded at the structure of business and government. They heckled politicians speaking at college forums and booted corporate recruiters off the campus. At worst, their dissent turned to riots and sometimes tragedy.
 Today, students are yet to come full circle, but hostility and criticism, while still pointed, have cooled.
 This was the assessment of business leaders who recently spoke at a four-week seminar here for 51 college students from across the country.
 Views expressed by students at the "Operation Enterprise" seminar sponsored by American Management Association showed they:
 —Talk of growing distrust of society's institutions.
 —Temper idealism with the realities of business.
 —Are uncompromising in their view that there should be no corruption in business and government.
 —Fault business for waiting for government regulations to push it into action rather than initiating changes itself.
 —Feel business may be able to solve the nation's problems through continued technological advancement.
 —Have a growing anti-union sentiment because unions do not seem to be working in the best interest of their members.
 "In some ways students have returned to where they were in 1968 when we began the seminars," says Robin Schade, director of young adult activities for AMA, a nonprofit, management educational organization.
 "I can't say they have become conservatives, but they have certainly moved in that direction. For instance, in the latest seminar only one of the 30 or so men had shoulder length hair. Five years ago the ratio would have been reversed."
 One thing that has continued as strongly as ever over the years, leaders agree, is the students' independent thinking. Though many of them are sent to Operation Enterprise under sponsorship of companies such as Dow Chemical, Nabisco, and ITT, they have no qualms about criticizing business.
 The purpose of the seminars is to give a clear, balanced picture of the real world of management, rather than sell students on the pleasant trappings usually associated with executive suite activities, according to AMA president James L. Hayes.
 "Let's face it, there's a dirty side to being a manager," says Hayes. "Textbooks tell you layoffs are a function of the business cycle. But it's quite different when you have to look employees in the eye and tell them you're shutting 'em down operations for a while."
 To get a three-dimensional picture of managerial responsibilities, students hear representatives from labor and government as well as business. There are usually 20 to 30 speakers for each seminar.

Is The Fun Really Gone 'Out Of One-Time Mecca'?

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — This space-age boom town, once the site of revels rivaling those of ancient Rome, now is pretty much a drag. And many would-be partygoers find it doesn't like it.
 The launch parties and splashdown parties, rituals marking the successful start and end of space missions during the heyday of American space exploration, are gone. Bureaucrats newly sensitive to any suggestion of impropriety have ruled parties out — and in other ways have changed this community's social life.
 Shortly after the spotlight of national publicity hit the "hunting lodge socials" afforded by the nation's military brass by certain armament lobbyists, space agency officials issued a "clarification of regulations concerning socialization."
 In essence, the "clarification" puts the clamps on space workers accepting the hospitality of people representing firms which supply the space program's hardware.
 The new policy handed down by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration earlier this year in a revised edition of the federal register includes sections prohibiting space agency employees accepting "any gift, gratuity, entertainment, favors, loans, transportation, accommodations..." from space contractors.
 There are exceptions to cover the couple of beers shared by old friends and other extenuating circumstances, but the new restrictions publicly are called unfortunate and privately cursed as ridiculous by space agency veterans.
 Following a communications satellite launch last December, RCA hosted a typical "y'all come" party — and more than 400 RCA and government officials attended.
 After a March 26 launch, RCA held a similar hoodlum but — on the advice of attorneys — did not invite NASA officials or members of the launch team.
 About 150 RCA workers and their wives attended.
 A recent party for which hosts prepared and stocked for several hundred guests drew about 25 festive guests.
 "I think it is unfortunate that a rule is applied to something like a launch party which is designed really to show appreciation for hard work and extra performance," said Philip Schneider, president-elect of RCA American Communications Inc.
 "I don't feel it is right. There is no way on this earth that I could help get anyone a contract if I wanted to," said one engineer who asked to remain anonymous.
 "The people who would have told headquarters to go to hell 10 years ago are now running scared because of the scarcity of positions in the space business, and in jobs in general," said a longtime NASA observer.
 Robert Pickard, space agency operations project manager at Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., was one of the few officials willing to comment publicly on the restrictions. He called the rules on home entertainment "a horrible invasion of privacy."
 John Clark, director of Goddard, said he thinks "the government should be more selective about the rules that should be enforced."
 "I think the violations which triggered this were obvious breeches in common sense," Clark said, "but there are so many government-contractor relationships like launch parties which have great potential for misconduct."
 "These parties are a very worthwhile tradition, and have been very good for morale," Kennedy Space Center director Lee Sherer considers some of the changes "unfortunate."
 "Launch parties are traditional and have had a very good effect on keeping the team concept," Sherer said. "But the conflict of interest pendulum has swung to a considerably different side than what it was. As the result of the excesses of very few people, it has necessitated the tightening up of regulations."
 "You've got to draw the line somewhere and right now the line is very far over to one side. The requirement is not to accept anything from contractors. So we're going to live with that."
 They may live with it, but many space agency officials aren't happy.
 "It used to be that the definition of a gratuity was something you couldn't drink, couldn't eat or couldn't go to bed with in a 24-hour period," said one official. "Now you can't even invite a couple of guests to dinner for fear of being criticized."

David, Julie Eisenhower To Move To Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — David Eisenhower and his wife, the former Julie Nixon, are planning to take up residence in Manhattan.
 The couple leased a two-bedroom Upper East Side apartment overlooking the East River and are scheduled to move from Washington about May 15.
 Eisenhower, the grandson of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is to graduate shortly from the School of Law at Georgetown University. He has had various job offers from law firms here.
 He and the daughter of former President Richard M. Nixon were married in 1968. At their new address they will be neighbors of Julie's sister, Tricia, whose husband, Edward Cox, is a lawyer with a New York firm.
 The Eisenhowers' new home is in the 34-story Pavilion apartment building, an 850-unit structure with unusually light security. Two bedroom apartments rent for $675 to $850 a month, depending on the floor they are on and the view.

Waldheim To Visit Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim is embarking on a two-week official tour of central Africa beginning Monday, according to U.N. sources.
 Waldheim's first stop will be at Nairobi, Kenya, where he will open a three-week session of the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development.

Captain Now Second Mate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Commodore Geoffrey Marr, the last captain of the liner Queen Elizabeth, is working these days as the second mate on the banana boat Manzanara.
 "It keeps me young and from rusting away in the chimney corner of my home" in Wiltshire, England, says Marr, who has spent more than 30 years as a seaman.
 Marr was aboard the Manzanara Tuesday when it arrived in the Port of Albany to deliver a load of bananas.

Raiders Seal State Tourney Baseball Berth

ORLANDO—Count Seminoles Community College in the state tournament May 4-8 in Lakeland.

The Raiders sealed a tournament berth Wednesday with a 3-2 victory in the completion of an April 8 game suspended by rain.

Buddy Maher pitched the last four innings Wednesday, giving up two runs but holding on for the victory, his seventh.

Seminole stands 19-17 on the year and Valencia's mark dropped to 25-11.

The playoff picture could clear Friday when Valencia travels to Ocala to play Central Florida in a doubleheader.

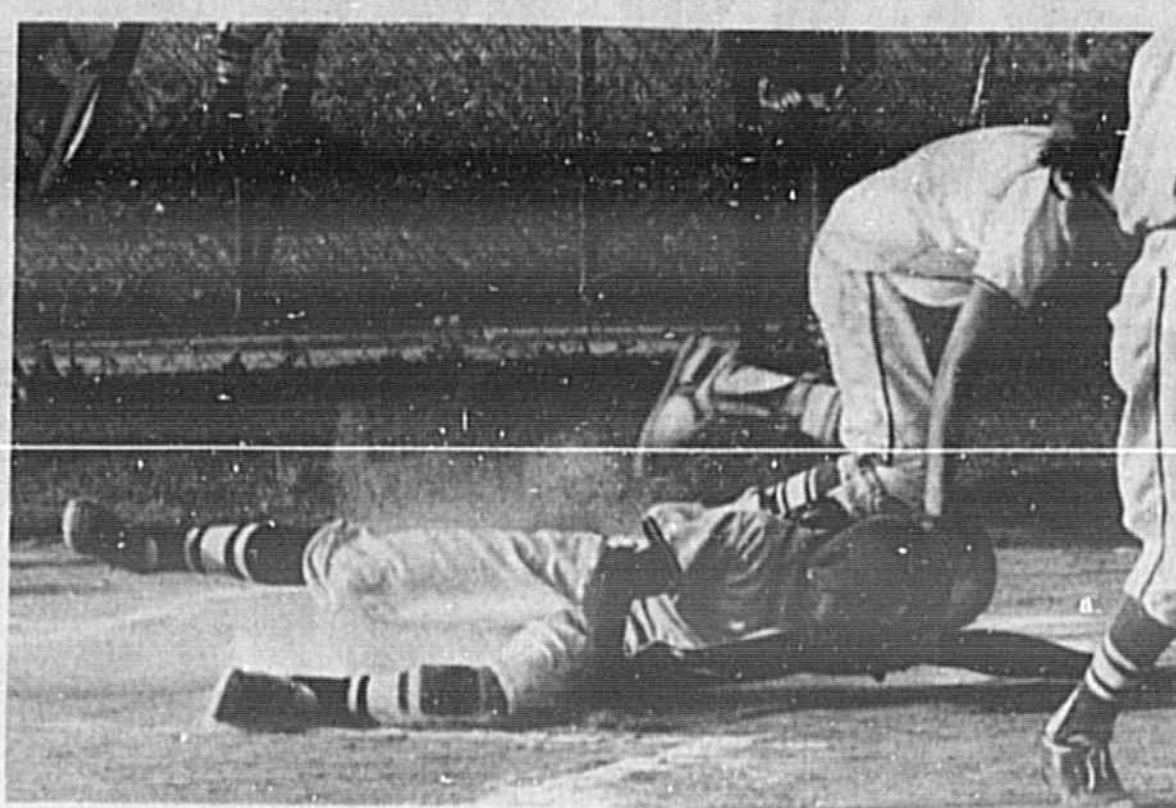

Seminole is 10-6 in division and finished with its season while Valencia shows a 9-5 divisional slate.

Thus if Valencia sweeps Friday's twinbill it has first place, relegating Seminole to second. A split would leave the two tied, while losses would give Seminole the upper hand.

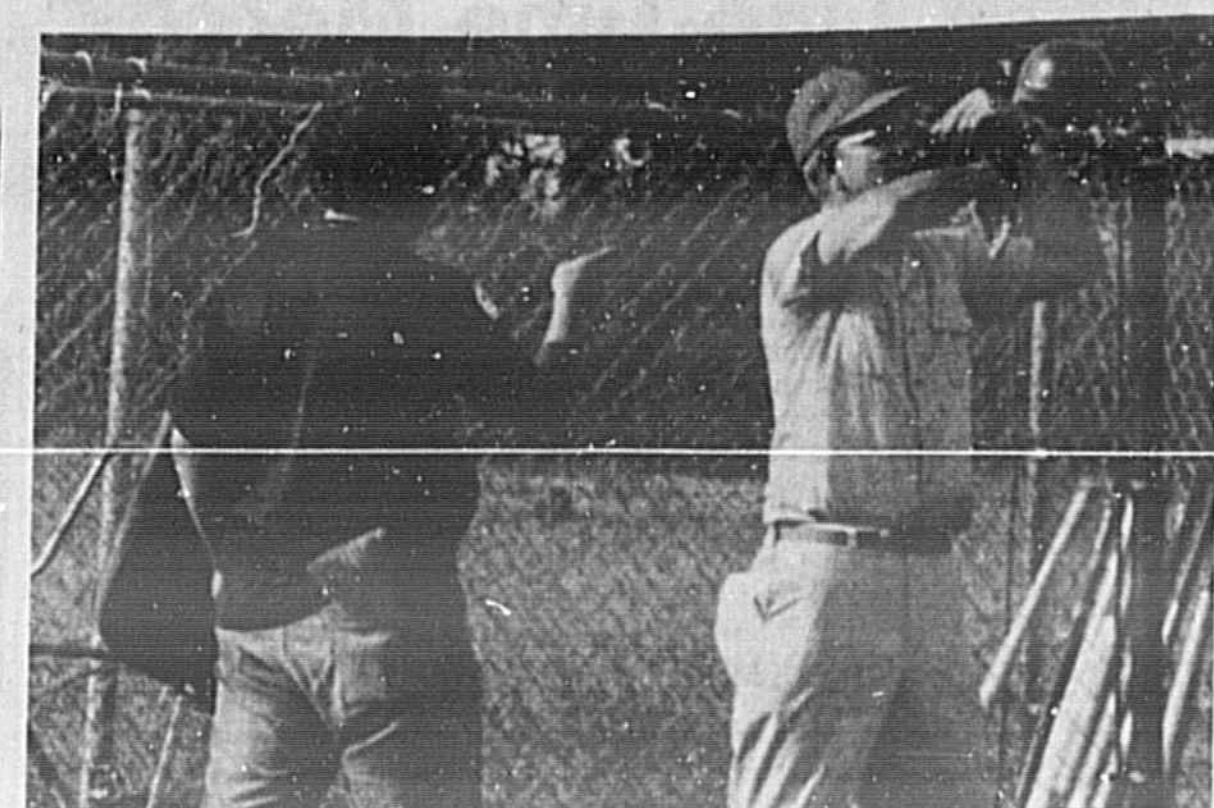

All-Stars Set Sunday Game

The Sanford All-Stars travel to Avon Park Sunday for a 2 p.m. semi-pro baseball game with the local club.

The All-Stars defeated New Smyrna Beach last weekend for its first victory with Wayne Walker and Moses Haves each banging out three hits. The All-Stars had committed 25 errors in the first three games, and trimmed that count to only two in this most recent game.

Jimmy Williams slides into home safely before Scott Richardson's tag, triggering Chase protest.

Coach Beachman Rogers calls team off field after heated discussion with umpire Bobby Rape.

Prosser, Railroaders, Elks Still Unbeaten

Three undefeated teams stayed that way Wednesday in Sanford Little League action. Jack Prosser Ford stopped Apex, 15-6, in the Continental League; the Railroaders took 8-4 measure of Chase & Co. in the National League; and Elks defeated V.F.W., 13-4, in Junior League play.

Elsewhere, Seminole Sporting Goods clobbered First Federal in a 15-5 National League game; and Stromberg-Carlson dropped a 7-6 Continental tilt to United Transportation.

Rotary will be gunning for its first triumph of the season when it encounters Moose today in a 5 p.m. Junior League contest at the Sanford Stadium.

Chris Hunt was 4-for-5 for the Elks with Pat Leonard adding two hits. Gene Sweet homered and singled for V.F.W. with Jimmy Amos and Dennis Gorman getting two hits each.

Prosser Ford got a home run and double from Kelly Denton and three hits from Kevin Fall. Pierre Simons had two hits for the winners.

The Railroaders didn't have to go the distance to stop Chase because the latter's coach Beachman Rogers forfeited in the top of the fourth after contesting, without avail, calls by umpire Bobby Rape.

Jimmy Miller held Chase to two hits and Kevin Humann and Bob Graham each had two hits for the winners.

American Leaguers return to the diamond Friday at Bay Avenue field with Flagship Bank of Seminole meeting Atlantic National at 6 p.m. and Seminole Petroleum colliding with Flagship Bank of Seminole at 6:30 p.m. The lone National League battle pits Medical Center against the Railroaders at 5 p.m. on Westside field.

George's goes against Apex. Prosser is a 5 p.m. Continental League singleton at the Fort Mellon diamond.

Titusville Hosts Softball Playoff

TITUSVILLE—Seminole and Titusville meet here in the high school girls regional softball tournament Friday at 4 p.m. in Marina Park.

A Seminole victory in the one-game playoff would propel the team into the state tournament the following weekend at a site yet to be announced.

Only Young Thinks He Can Defeat Ali

LANDOVER, Md. (AP)—"I've got a fight next month, the 25th, in Munich, Germany, against a big bad English guy," said Muhammad Ali.

The 27-year-old Young completed his training with three good rounds of sparring against Mike Koranicki and then watched Ali work out.

"Saying on me," shouted Ali when he saw Young. "Tryin' to figure out what kind of whupping you're gonna get?"

"Don't let my record fool you just because I don't have a lot of knockouts," said Young, who has a 17-4-2 mark with just five knockouts in a pro career dating back to 1969.

The heavyweight champion was talking about Richard Dunn two days before fighting Jimmy Young Friday night in the Capital Centre—a fight almost everybody but Young expects him to win.

Ali spotted poetry, posed and postured, much to the delight of a crowd, which paid $4 apiece, to jam the hotel ballroom training site.

Play The Red, a fourth-place finisher in the Wood Memorial, 12th, in 1973, and Media, fifth last year, also ran in the 1 1/4 mile derby.

"He might not show it today, and he might not show it Saturday," said Campo. "But Play The Red's a good horse."

Honest Pleasure and Bold Forbes head the field for the Derby but both Leroy Jolley and both Leroy Jolley and Campo feel Elocutionist will be in the running. All three colts galloped Wednesday.

Basketball, track and field, table games, and a city championships will complete morning activities.

In addition, tennis, arts and crafts, ceramics, and a story hour will be conducted at the Civic Center's Youth Wing.

Tennis lessons will meet 9-10, 10-11 and 11-12. Classes for ages 9-11 will be on Tuesdays and classes for 12-14 will be on Thursdays, June 15 through July 29. A $2 instruction fee will be charged.

Ceramic classes at the Cultural Arts Center, Fifth Street and Oak Ave., will be held 12-30, Tuesday through Thursday from June 15 through July 29.

Play The Red Enters Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Johnny Campo, the rotund trainer of Play The Red, looks like a railbird at a New York track than one of the nation's top trainers ready to send his mount into Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

"I'm a bad guy, I'm from New York," joked Campo wearing his ever-present two-colored baseball cap. "I was born in Harlem and moved to Ozone Park (Queens). My father was from Italy, a carpenter. What am I doing with horses?"

Aqueduct is located in Ozone Park and Campo, 38, began getting involved in horses at the age of 15. He groomed horses for Lucien Laurin and the late Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons for two years and later Eddie Neyel "who taught me everything I know."

Campo has met with success since 1968 when he began training on his own. Play The Red is owned by Max Gluck's Elmendorf Farm. In addition, Campo trains for eight owners, including himself.

Coastline Tops Eldridge Standard, 7-0

Seaboard Story: Fill 'Er Up, Please!

Jim Williams staged a whirlwind return to action and boosted Seaboard Coastline back onto the winning track Wednesday night in the Men's softball league.

Williams hurled a taunt three-hitter and drilled a two-run homer as Seaboard trimmed Eldridge Standard, 7-0, to tighten its grip on the circuit's No. 1 position.

Williams was absent Monday when Coastline dropped an eight-inning shocker to the Seminole Community College faculty for its first Metro defeat of the season.

But there was no doubting his presence against Eldridge as he choked off the No. 2 club for six innings on a lone safety, Mark Brewer's second-inning single.

In the final frame Al Taylor managed a pinch single and Bill Miller doubled, but Seaboard still held the challengers scoreless.

And while Williams was exhibiting his mound mastery — overcoming six Coastline fielding errors — Lloyd Wall and Joe Benton tagged three hits to lead the Trainers' offense charge. The

Bruins, Flyers Collide

By The Associated Press
They may Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito from that high-scoring Boston Bruins team and what you have? A winning team.

Tonight, the Philadelphia Flyers, going after their third straight Stanley Cup title, will try to even their National Hockey League best-of-seven playoff battle with the Bruins at night.

Orr has been lost to the Bruins all season after undergoing knee surgery. Esposito was traded to the New York Rangers. Those were Boston's leading scorers.

Last year, with Orr and Esposito, the Bruins were eliminated in the preliminary round.

Bruins Coach Don Cherry, the architect of the new Boston look, had nothing but compliments for the Flyers.

"They are not some good shots, they are good players extremely well," Cherry said. "It's time to win here, but they're coming with fire in their eyes tonight. It still will be a real tough series."

Boston took a big advantage when the Bruins snapped the Flyers' 24-game home ice winning streak with a 4-2 victory Tuesday night. After tonight, the series moves to Boston where the Flyers have won two of three games.

In the other NHL semifinal, the New York Islanders, at Montreal where the Canadiens lead 1-0.

Canadiens Coach Scotty Bowman and his counterpart with the Islanders, Al Robertson, agreed that their series would be tight all the way.

"I expected this kind of game," Bowman said. "It's a close game." Robertson said he expected a close game. "We know what kind of club they are and they know what kind of club we are."

Bowman said: "We know how the Islanders play. There won't be many goals scored in this series."

"Both teams have lines which are conscious of their defensive play. The goals are going to be hard to come by."
