

Florida Power & Light Company

By consolidation and merger the Florida Power & Light Company has now succeeded to all the property and rights formerly belonging to the following Companies:

SOUTHERN UTILITIES COMPANY
MIAMI GAS COMPANY
MIAMI ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO.
MIAMI BEACH ELECTRIC COMPANY
DAYTONA PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY
ORMOND SUPPLY COMPANY
LAKELAND GAS COMPANY
ST. JOHNS ELECTRIC COMPANY
SOUTHERN HOLDING COMPANY

and certain other properties formerly owned and operated by smaller companies or individuals throughout the State.

Before these properties were united into one company each had been operated as a separate unit. Their operation as one property by Florida Power & Light Company with the various power stations connected by high voltage electric transmission lines will result in efficient and stable service on an unusually economic basis.

The territory served by the Florida Power & Light Company is growing rapidly and one of the purposes of the consolidation was to place the new Company in a position to obtain funds to provide additional facilities with which to meet the steadily increasing demands for its services.

PERMITS WILL OPERATORS TO EASE FLORIDA FREIGHT TIE-UP WITH STRIKERS

American Railway Body Gives Out Plans For System Of Co-Operation Which It Is Believed Will Meet Problem

Procedure In Past Has Been Reversed

Florida Consignees Are To Specify Such Shipments As Can Be Handled By Them

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—With the co-operation of Florida shippers, the American Railway Association announced Sunday, a plan has been worked out to ease rail congestion in that state.

A permit system, whereby the Florida receiver of freight will specify such shipments as can be handled by the main provision of the system, which is the reverse of that in effect elsewhere, with the shipper and not the carrier giving the railroad information as to prospective business.

Conditions have been so wholly exceptional in Florida that the standard practices for years have been found to be inadequate to meet the existing situation, the statement explained. It was felt through the principles of these board organizations, the boards of shippers existing regionally over the United States, consisting of cooperative methods, between the individual railroad shippers and receivers of freight and all interests of public life, that the situation could be solved and a solution found for the unusual problems now existing in Florida.

The new scheme was an outgrowth, it was explained, of meetings at Jacksonville and Washington, and the intervention of the interstate commerce commission which embargo action was forced last fall. The new plan had to be devised to supplant the existing system of permitting freight to enter the state in volume which would not cause further congestion, relieve the existing conditions and remove some of the obstacles the carriers have been encountering.

State Divided

The state was divided by the Florida division of the southeast shippers regional advisory board into nine terminal districts, each of which is headed by a terminal district chairman. "In each district there are being organized committees to study the local commodity committee composed of receivers of the various classes of commodities received within the district.

Each town and community in each of the terminal districts, as may be determined, will have its different commodity committee will be thoroughly representative of all interests in the community.

In each community in the various terminals receiving districts the various commodity committees will on the 15th day of each month make a report as to what the actual requirements, whether it be lumber, brick, furniture, or any other commodity, will be in that community for the following month.

These reports then will be consolidated in order to show the total number of carloads of the particular commodity that will be required in each terminal district for the following month and after having been passed upon by the terminal committee will be filed with each railroad in the district.

Put in Touch

By thus obtaining a complete report as to transportation requirements of various districts, railroads will be able to keep in almost constant touch with transportation requirements of the entire state and, as a result, will be able to divide available transportation on an equitable basis among all receivers of freight. The manner of doing this will be explained in detail in other words, a certain terminal district requires, say 5,000 carloads per month. The railroad, upon receiving this information, knows it can only handle, perhaps, 3,000 carloads of 50 per cent of transportation demands. They can, therefore, with this information, go ahead and authorize permits for 50 per cent of receivers' requirements in the district, thus giving everyone an equal share of transportation facilities, without any claim of distinction, as between one receiver and another.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Stock prices displayed a firm undertone at the opening of today's market. Initial gains as a rule were small, although Foundation Co., International Telephone and Telegraph, and others were mentioned to their highest prices of the year. Oil was in better demand in apparent expectation of an early increase in Mid-Continent prices, General Asphalt, opening a point higher.

Irregularity developed soon after the opening, U. S. Steel common and Hudson Motors sagging a point below their early highs. Further accumulation developed in the sugar shares in anticipation of the completion of plans for the reported stabilization of that industry.

Other food shares also were well bought, California Packing extending its early gain to nearly three points. United Fruit climbing two and Ward and Cushman's Bakers' New York Central 12 1/2.

Savage Arms Jordan Motors and Elser Body also recorded substantial gains before one of the first half hour. The foreign exchanges fluctuated between gain or narrow and irregular limits, demand sterling holding steady around 4.85% and French francs yielding 3 points to 37 1/2.

STATE LEADS IN KILLED, INJURED IN AUTO MISHAPS

Florida With Eight Deaths And 49 Injuries Is Ahead Of 10 Other States; South Carolina Has Fewest Hurt

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Traffic toll in 11 southern states for the week ended last night was 53 persons killed and 257 injured. It was shown by a survey made by the Associated Press early today. The score shows a distinct falling off, especially in the number killed.

Florida held the record both in the number killed and the number injured. There were eight deaths and 49 injuries in that state. Alabama reported no deaths from traffic causes.

South Carolina reported the fewest injuries, but five having been recorded in the Palmetto State. Virginia followed Florida a close second, with 46 injured.

There were no outstanding accidents of the week, the toll representing the general run of fatalities. A tabulation by states follows:

Three Prisoners Taken To Raiford

Sheriff C. M. Hand and Chief of Police Roy G. Williams returned today from a trip to Raiford where they went last Saturday to take three convicted prisoners to the state penal farm.

J. E. Byrd, convicted last week in circuit court on a statutory charge, J. H. Kinard, convicted of highway robbery, and McGhee, sentenced for embezzlement, were the men taken up to the farm.

Their combined sentences total 12 years, Byrd having been given 10 years, Kinard one, and McGhee one.

Experienced Man Secured By Local Loan Organization

H. A. Flagg, representing the Caldwell Flagg of Bradenton, organizer of the Seminole County Building and Loan Association, has arrived in Sanford to take charge of the distribution of the savings fund of the association and will be quartered in the offices of the Britt-Clintenden Company at 201 East First Street for the present.

The Caldwell Flagg has had much experience in building and loan organization work, and has successfully organized the Manatee County Building and Loan Association at Bradenton, and similar organizations at Sarasota, Fort Myers, Punta Gorda and Sebring.

The officers of the Seminole County Association elected last week are announced as follows: president, Woodruff; vice-president, J. D. Davison; secretary, C. L. Britt; treasurer, A. L. Betts and attorney, E. F. Housholder.

In commenting on the necessity for another building and loan association in this city, Mr. Flagg stated that the association would render a great service to the people of this community who wished to save toward the purchase of a home for the building of a new home.

The association will serve two classes of clients: receiving the savings of thrifty and far sighted people, and loaning these funds to members who wish to buy or build a home. The association will advance safely, yield and availability; for the borrowing member, the opportunity to finance his home by easy and reasonably payments of principal and interest.

COMMERCE BODY APPROVES FAIR EXHIBIT PLANNED

Association Complements B. F. Whitner, Jr. On Quality And Variety Of Stuff Collected; Okeys New County Booklet

County Agent B. W. Whitner's plans for the Seminole county exhibit at the South Florida Fair in Tampa received the unanimous approval and commendation of the members of the Seminole County Association of Chambers of Commerce at a meeting held today in the local commerce body's offices.

In commenting on the exhibit planned and collected by Mr. Whitner, Chairman Leon LeRoy, formerly of Geneva, declared that this county would be "very creditably represented at Tampa" both from an agricultural and industrial standpoint.

"While cold and wet weather has materially retarded plant growth in this section," Mr. LeRoy stated, "this county will have on exhibit one of the finest collections of produce ever gathered in Seminole county."

"Our citrus exhibit is particularly good," Mr. LeRoy added, "possibly better than any hitherto obtained, and much credit is due Mr. Whitner and his associates for the interest and hard work that they have put forth in endeavoring to advertise this county at the Tampa exhibition."

The "dummy" of the new county booklet that is being published for the association by the Record Company of St. Augustine was approved and plans for its distribution discussed in addition to initial plans for a wider advertisement to be launched sometime in the near future.

Secretary R. W. Pearman, who is also secretary of the association, was appointed to handle publicity for the Tampa fair, and several routine matters of business were disposed of.

Sanford Is Boosted In The Columns Of Big Alabama Paper

Sanford and the "solid central section" of Florida is given a good "boost" in the well known "Letters To The Editor" contributed to the Montgomery Advertiser by Mr. Thompson.

In one of a series of letters on Florida, Mr. Thompson portrays the beauties and attractions of Sanford, and advises all future Florida visitors desirous of obtaining a representative view of the state to spend some time in this city and the section immediately surrounding it.

After briefly describing Orlando as a "beautiful city," Mr. Thompson goes on to discuss Sanford's "length," devoting much space to an account of the wealth and solidity derived from local celery fields.

"Drive to Sanford," Mr. Thompson says, "and you will see a city of 12,500 prosperous and happy citizens surrounded by 200 ten acre farms where men sell annually six million dollars worth of celery in addition to much lettuce, peppers and other produce. These small farms bring in more real cash from 3,000 acres than all the cotton produced in the state."

Mr. Thompson also describes the "Big Bill" Howe, the "brilliant" and "Tut of latter day fiction."

For those desirous of understanding the knots of marital relations, the office of Howe and Hummel was the haven of refuge where the murderer of the robber who made all things right, like the murderer, the robber or the thief, was seeking advice and skillful guidance. To these "Big Bill" gave attention.

And it is worth in history that "Big Bill," he of portly appearance, with his long forked coat, his fat fingers glistening with diamonds and tears streaming down his face had a winning way of playing upon the sympathies of a jury.

When Hummel was convicted of subordination of perjury he fought bitterly but finally he accepted the decision of the court and went to Blackwell's Island. This was May 21, 1907. The morning after his arrival on the island, Hummel was found according to the diagnostician, to be suffering from a complete nervous breakdown.

Like most prisoners on the island, Hummel did not see the coal burner but he saw the coal burner's face, a face that was a hospital patient under 10, 1908, when his term of one year, with time off for good behavior, ended.

The work is almost completed and contractors promise that the finished structure will be one of the most beautiful of the west coast world."—Miami Daily News.

The Crossing Menace

The collision of a rail motor car and a truck at Rand's Crossing Friday should picture more convincingly than any chosen words the danger to life and property that haphazard flagging of this busy junction entails. A watchman is supposed on the job, but it is difficult to see how an accident of this kind could have occurred had he been functioning and again the menace of this spot looms before the public as an issue demanding immediate attention.

Contemplation of the accident brings out a curious characteristic of people in general. Had three lives, or even one life, been claimed in the collision, a great howl would have been sent up and the city of Sanford, the Chamber of Commerce and all other civic clubs would have brought all possible pressure to bear on railroad officials in an attempt to immediately secure the proper protection of this crossing.

Despite accidents of this kind and repeated warnings of the danger represented, it is apparently necessary for a life or two to be sacrificed before the proper steps to obtain better protection are taken.

The railroad is supposed to furnish flagmen for all of its crossings in the city, so to a certain extent the city itself is absolved of blame in the opinions of many. But of what use is a flagman if he doesn't flag? And if he doesn't protect the crossing who's business is it to see that the situation is remedied?

There are other dangerous railroad crossings in Sanford that have neither flagmen nor gates, presenting even a greater menace than Rand's Crossing. Where school buses and hundreds of automobiles cross every day the people should insist on sufficient protection to safeguard lives.

Members of the train crews are supposed to precede the engine and hold up traffic at those crossings that are unprotected, but in a busy city where traffic is heavy, this method of guarding against accidents seems to be a poor one.

Sanford has a generous share of downtown railroad crossings. Perhaps all of them are necessary. This is a busy city and an important distributing point. But even at that The Herald believes the railroad should provide ample protection at all of these crossings to make them safe. This newspaper is of the opinion that action should be taken now to remedy an evil which has existed for a surprisingly long period.

Florida Newspapers

Florida people have reason to be proud of their newspapers and the newspapers in turn are proud of the people who have made possible such good newspapers. It is not exaggerating to say that Florida possesses the best newspapers of any state in the Union and the proof lies in the records established by Florida newspapers during the past year.

One Florida newspaper led all the newspapers in the world in the number of lines of advertising carried during the twelve-month period. The Miami Herald, published in a city of about one hundred and fifty thousand persons, carried 42,518,436 lines of advertising. While the Times, of New York City boasting a population of over six millions, carried only 28,200,444. The Detroit News was second to the Miami Herald with 33,366,494 lines.

Of the sixty-six newspapers in the entire United States which carried ten million lines of advertising or more during 1925, seven were published in the State of Florida. Considering the population of this state as compared with New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, this record is most remarkable. It is nothing short of "sensational" as the Editor and Publisher describes it.

There were other world records established by Florida newspapers during 1925. The Miami Daily News with one issue of 504 pages leads the world in the size of a single newspaper. When the Plant City Courier issued a special edition of seventy-six pages and the Mount Dora Topic one of seventy pages, records were set for cities of their respective sizes.

Florida also made a record last year for the establishment of new daily and weekly newspapers. There are now twenty-seven more daily newspapers in the state than there were one year ago; and forty-six more weekly newspapers. So the journalistic field advances with other lines of enterprise in Florida, establishing records and showing the way to greater things. It is to the energetic, far-sighted business men of Florida, who realize to what great extent advertising pays, that the credit for Florida's great newspapers is due.

FLORIDA IS THE biggest advertisement the South has ever had and the South should not be among those who would throw cold water on the development of that state. The more Florida grows, the more the whole South will prosper. Nothing would do the whole South more harm than to have development in Florida arrested. Just along this part of the South, those who have thought the matter through have long since been convinced that the development of the far South means the development of the Piedmont and the mountains just beyond. If the people of Florida make money they will invest no small part of their profits in the mountains of the Carolinas. The people of the South have developed the mountains as they are developed today, and more wealth in the South means more development there.—Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald.

ONE OF THE TAMPA banks has grown in ten years from a two hundred thousand dollar resource list to more than forty million. The combined bank resources of Jacksonville run into a figure that is almost past belief, considering that fifteen years ago the banks there were only nominally resourceful, and ten years ago a bank failure there affected the whole State adversely. There hasn't been a bank failure in Florida in years and the present indications are, based on cash and good paper, that there will be no bank failures for years to come, except for dishonesty in some bank officials.—L. F. Chapman in Elks Magazine.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

A DEPENDABLE FAMILY INCOME: Formerly, in one of the Southern states the insane were not always sent to an institution. Sometimes they were formally awarded into the custody of someone, usually a parent or a guardian, and for the keep of such an unfortunate the state paid one hundred dollars a year. This amount, in certain sections was regarded as a handsome addition to the family income. One summer a citizen from the lowlands was up in the hill country of his native state taking title to coal lands for an Eastern syndicate. In a canoe, with a native to guide him, he was proceeding along a creek, he was restrained into one of the wildest and most desolate recesses of the mountains. They came to a homestead that was infinitely better looking than any they had seen for days. The house was of clapboards instead of the customary logs, and it was painted. The fences were stout and newly whitewashed. The stock in the barn lot had a well-nourished look. "Who lives here?" inquired the stranger. "Judging by the looks of his place," said the lowlander, "must be a forefamed man."

As Brisbane Sees It

A Cowardly Tax The Mojave Desert. See It, Before You Die. By ARTHUR BRISBANE Copyright 1925, by Star Co.

THIS CONGRESS should change the law which makes the inheritance tax a punitive tax. A punitive inheritance tax is cowardly, because it takes money from a dead man. Why not take it from him while he is alive, instead of waiting to take it from his widow and children?

IT IS an unwise tax, because by such a tax business men of middle age at the height of their constructive ability, but facing possibility of death, dread new undertakings. The death collectors might find their affairs too much "spread out" and they destroy the estate by excessive tax collecting.

TO TAKE taxes from the living and let the dead alone would be a good plan. Mr. Mellon and President Coolidge recommend it. A particularly vicious proposal which would make the inheritance tax worse than it is now, is that the national government should discriminate against states like Florida, that collect no inheritance tax. The plan would be to give a dead man credit for his local state inheritance tax. The national collecting only as much as the state failed to collect of the total federal tax.

In other words as Colonel Peter O. Knight of Tampa points out, the scheme would be for the federal government to collect from a man dying in Florida, five times as much as from a man dying in New York state. Even if such a plan were constitutional it would be extremely stupid.

To punish the citizens of Florida, or any other state, because their local government has the decency to give its hands off the property of a dead man, is a strange suggestion.

THIS IS written in Fred Harvey's hotel at Barstow, Cal., on the Mojave Desert. W. T. Keiser of Pasadena driving a high powered car, in three hours and a half, over a road that runs along the base of giant mountains, up over the Cajon pass, 4000 feet high, then down upon the floor of this desert, which is 2000 feet above the level of the Pacific.

NO MATTER where you live in the United States, make up your mind to see this country as soon as you can, of all the country that lies between the two oceans. Whoever will can do it, expensively and gladly, or economically, and with infinitely greater enjoyment.

ONE MAN in Chicago read about the Hodge brothers alfalfa ranch, near the Hodge postoffice in the Hodge section of Madison, Wis. He made up his mind to see the desert land on which you can raise seven crops of alfalfa per year, by giving water to the plants between the two oceans. He bought a second hand Ford car for $65, drove here from Chicago in 11 days, fixed the car up a little, and sold it for $85. Now he is living here and getting on.

THIS LAND, far from being a real desert, is as fertile as the Nile valley. In fact, the Nile valley soil is like the rows of books in a great library. What you get out of them depends on what there is in your mind.

Here the water, a great inexhaustible river, lies just beneath the surface, and the electricity to pump it, brought down from waterfalls in the mountains, is cheap. FOR INSTANCE, it takes 500 pounds of water to produce one pound of alfalfa. On 17 acres, the Hodge brothers raised this season 150 tons and pumped 150,000,000 pounds of water.

The power cost for the season was just $200, no worry about rain and constant sunshine, ripening a crop in 22 days. Get your car, big or little, start for the Pacific coast, keep going until you get there, stop at Hodge just west of Barstow, and let the Hodge brothers tell you about this desert. In years to come, it will produce food enough to feed ten million people and more.

EVERYTHING THAT grows will grow here. When you finish with your seventh crop of alfalfa in November, you can go traveling or better yet, wintering, on the "silver skin" onions of which three or four make a quart and a half.

THE INTERESTING thing in this land is the infinite variety of work that can be done. Near this station are mines that produce many things, from gold to lime and silicon. There are cement factories that will run for centuries without having diminished perceptibly the mountain of stone. And there are wonderful roads and land to be bought most reasonably, land that will work and produce for the man willing to work.

YOU HAVE heard of God's country. This is it, the place to raise children, the place for a life worth while. Only the Argentinians and a nuisance to the fruit man, do not like the place, for good reasons. Man's superior intelligence uses the anti-family devotion to destroy both anti and the young.

IN MR. Keiser's wonderful Pasadena garden you see and examine many little tin boxes, each containing a sweet tin mixture with a desirable perfume. The tin mixture she has fill, that would be had enough, she would die. But she hurried home, with her young, and nearly all of it to her young, and nearly all of it to her young, and nearly all of it to her young.

THE GHOST—"WHAT A PIKER I WAS"

THE KAISER SPEAKS MIAMI TRIBUNE

George Sylvester Viereck, who was the Kaiser's most zealous champion on this side of the water during the war, has been exclusively interviewing his majesty at Doorn. After Wilhelm has explained how he was sacrificed to politics and allied treachery, and how Germany lost the war because she was not militaristic, Viereck asks him whether he wants to "come back." "Not unless I can serve his country," observes Wilhelm, then goes on: "The Germans would not obey me. Now they must obey their French masters. If they had obeyed me half as well as they now obey alien masters I would not now be in Doorn, and Germany would not be a cripple at the mercy of her tormentors." Shakespeare's Cardinal Wolsey

AN UNINTENTIONAL SLUR TAMPA TRIBUNE

Kenneth Roberts, writer for the Saturday Evening Post, has been "hearing from" the commercial secretaries of Florida in more or less exploded tones. Mr. Roberts, in his latest article on Florida in the Post, inserted this paragraph: "Scarcely a day passes that a secretary of a chamber of commerce in some part of Florida doesn't receive, from a promoter of a Florida cheap lot subdivision, a check for $50 to $100, or much more—ostensibly to get him to perform a little light labor in his spare moment, but actually to induce him to make favorable replies to persons who may write him for information concerning the promoter's dubious subdivision."

We haven't the slightest idea that Mr. Roberts intended this as an intimation that Florida commercial secretaries indulge in the little game of graft suggested in his statement. His purpose was evidently to show the method of some of the subdivision promoters, in attempting to "work" the secretaries for a bit of preferred publicity. He failed to go on and state that, so far as he knew, none of the secretaries kept the checks thus tendered.

Mr. Roberts has written Willis Powell of Sarasota, explaining the "unfortunate slip" as he terms it, saying: "I have been so thoroughly aware that of the many checks offered none had been retained, that I apparently never occurred to me to go into the matter more carefully."

WHILE TIMES ARE GOOD SAVANNAH NEWS

While times are good it is a good time to get a good buy, as a general personal rule. There are personal, individual cases, of course when it means money to go into debt. When that one goes into debt for a permanent investment, like a home, and when one has finished paying for it, one has something real to show for the debt incurred—and when pulling out of debt encourages a saving that might not otherwise be acquired. Credit is a necessary element in business; no business can stand that does not take advantage of credit—and none is sound that does not establish a credit. But as a rule of personal financial and economic practice, the "buy as you go" plan is safe always, the one and only safe plan in many a case.

The personal pay-as-you-go plan is a number of ways. He can select his purchasing places; choose his goods, be under obligations to no one, and in a pinch he avoids the worry and bother of bill collectors. The opening of a new year may be a good time to start paying cash for personal purchases. The "widespread" and "therefore inevitable" habit of very well start under the burden of personal financial plans and burdens. "I will pay cash for what I buy this year as far as possible. There could be some consequences if I were to start paying cash for my personal purchases."

"I have discovered the philosopher's stone that turns everything into gold; it is 'Pay as you go.'" "Pay as you go and encounter no woe.—Proverb." Debt is like any other trap; easy enough to get into but hard enough to get out of.—Josh Billings. Happy is the man who owes nothing.—Virgil. "Pay as you go unless you are going for good.—Anonymous. Youth is in no danger until it learns to look upon debts as virtues.—Bowler. Having the courage to live without one's means is respectability.—Dietrich. The man who builds and wants wherewith to pay, provides a home from which to run away.—Young. Whatever you get you pay for, one way or other. The cheapest plan is to pay cash.—Dr. Frank Crane. The man who will live above his present circumstances is in great danger of living in a little while, such a benefit.—Oss. Addition. In buying goods it is best to pay ready money, because he that sells upon credit expects to lose five per cent by bad debts, therefore he charges on all he sells upon credit an advance that shall make up that loss.—Franklin. This is a pretty good story. It is a story of a man who had a great deal of money, and he was very rich. He had a great deal of money, and he was very rich. He had a great deal of money, and he was very rich.

Bridge Luncheon Will Be Given February 9 By Social Department

Attention of the members of the Social Department of the Woman's Club is called to the notice of the bridge luncheon, which will be given Feb. 9 at the club house, with Mrs. E. Housholder as hostess. All those who expect to have guests are requested to send in names and remittances to Mrs. R. A. Newman or Mrs. D. L. Thrasher not later than Feb. 5 as no reservations will be taken after that date.

Dance Will Be Given At The Country Club

On Wednesday evening at the Sanford Country Club there will be an informal dance honoring those taking part in the golf tournament which will be held on that date. The music will be furnished by the Semitole Syncopators, and a good time is assured. The dance is open to the public. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock and last until 11 o'clock.

Woman's Club Notes

This is an unusually busy week at the Sanford Women's Club. On Monday morning at 10 o'clock the first of the tourist bridge parties will be given under the auspices of the Social Department. These bridge parties are open to the public. There will be a prize given, but no refreshments.

On Tuesday afternoon the regular fortnightly bridge party will be given with Mrs. James F. Hawkins as hostess. At this meeting details of the coming bridge classes will be announced.

All lovers of poetry will be interested in the program to be presented on Wednesday by the Literature Department, with Mrs. L. R. Phillips as chairman for the day, assisted by several of the younger members of the department.

On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home on Sanford Heights, Mrs. Helen H. Housholder will open a series of progressive vanishing bridge parties with four tables of players. At this time details of a proposed plan for a benefit will be thoroughly discussed. The players are chosen to represent the four club departments.

THOUGHTS—WISE AND OTHERWISE

In our own community we have at least two literary clubs—maybe more—a musical club, a garden club, a Nature club, a travel club, a mothers' club, besides several church societies and any number of bridge clubs. It does seem funny—doesn't it?—that we have no "housewife" club or cookery club. I suppose the idea is that among women of moderate circumstances like these, cooking is so much a matter of every-day necessity that it would be anything but diverting to have to attend a club for the discussion of cookery, and that housewife subjects have been thrashed out so often and so thoroughly that there is nothing more to say on that subject.

For my own part I'm not keen about joining these local literary clubs or the travel society. I'd rather stay home and read a good book review or novels and books of travel of my own choosing. I can't see how it would broaden my horizon to listen to Mrs. Jones read a paper on "The Alps" when Mrs. Jones has never been more than a hundred miles away from home in her life. I'm afraid I'd be amused at Mrs. Jones's expense and she wouldn't be very neighborly. But I would like to hear Mrs. Jones tell how she makes clam chowder, and I'd like to know how Mrs. Brown makes whole wheat bread. I've bought some of Mrs. Brown's bread at local food sales sometimes and really it's wonderful. We've tried every recipe in every cook book we own and while it usually comes out good enough to eat, it isn't like Mrs. Brown's. And I'd like to show some of my neighbors how to make French chafe. Everybody that tastes one of our omelets raves over them and yet it isn't difficult to make them.

Then once in a while it seems as if in a club like that there might be a talk from someone who has studied some phase or other of cookery or household problems. Once there was a housewife's club of some sort in the neighborhood but its main object seemed to be to arrange to buy nuts and coffee and other foods by large quantities so that each member might profit by the whole sale rate. But this always meant a lot of work for the one who distributed the things and of course the local grocer didn't like it and the club had a natural death.

The club I have in mind would be quite different. I wish someone would have the courage to start it.

Hats of Many Colors Are Sometimes Made of Plaid Silk Stretched Over Straw or Canvas.

Plaid silk for your first spring hat—how does the idea strike you? Suzanne Talbot was the French milliner who originated these charming little headpieces—only she made them of plaid velours for use in cool weather. A favorite plaid combines putty color, dark gray, black and crimson—a combination of colors and tones that would go smartly with a gray or black suit or street frock. For warmer days or for wear at Southern resorts a hat of this description is most wearable. It might be made with a canvas frame covered with plaid tulle or, as in the hat shown in the sketch, the foundation might be of white or natural straw with the top covered with the plaid silk.

In England and other places where English social life has a strong influence there has been a revived interest in black hats of late. The period of full mourning lasted with the English court up to a week ago. From then until February 20 there will be a short period of half mourning—during which many women will change from all black hats to a hat of black and white. After that no doubt they will blossom forth in hats of the gayest hues. The milliners of Paris were of course affected by this period of English mourning, and such renowned milliners as Lewis of Paris have been turning out charming hats of dull black. One from Lewis was trimmed with leaves of silver-edged ostrich, made rigid and set off by means of the stiff silver paint.

Freight Situation Brings Florida Waterways Into Nation Wide Prominence

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25.—So much attention has been focussed upon the railroad transportation system of the state because of freight congestion the general public has overlooked the work of cities and towns on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts which have provided harbors during the last year to make it possible to handle freight by water, says the Florida State Chamber of Commerce...

PALATKA—Percy, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Cone, died here of injuries sustained in an automobile accident. In a series of other accidents two negroes were injured when a car was driven over them as they sat upon a curb, and a mail truck was turned over in a collision with another car.

It had begun the work of dredging a small bayou in the southern section of the city to provide a commercial harbor in order that the beauty of its miles of parked waterfront might be preserved. Repeated appeals for federal aid in providing the harbor were unsuccessful, appropriations being refused on the ground that there was not sufficient water-borne commerce to justify them...

For months the harbor has been crowded with shipping while almost continuously a fleet of vessels has been anchored in the Atlantic off the port, each ship awaiting its turn to enter and discharge cargo. As rapidly as possible the work of deepening the harbor and of providing more space for vessels is being carried out, the dredges operating twenty-four hours a day.

The Movie Come True

Fair, movie people, played opposite each other in very romantic moments—as this picture shows, film was being made, they slipped out and farms in larger numbers.

Louder's Florida Queen, a cow bred and raised at the Florida Experiment Station, produced 10,035.4 pounds of milk, or 1,172 gallons for nine months, an average of 130 gallons per month, in a test from April 1 to December 31 of last year.

Infected seed will result in poor cabbage production. A Marion county farmer sought the aid of C. R. Hiatt, county agent, to ascertain what was wrong with his cabbage crop, a portion of which had completely failed. Some of the seed, it developed, were bought at one place, and one another. The grower was warned that in the future when his cabbage shows a disposition to die, he should use a treatment for the seed, consisting of 1-10000 corrosive sublimate solution for 15 minutes.

As presiding officer of the Senate, the Vice-President must treat all the pages alike, but he probably prefers the front one.—Virginian-Pilot.

"Flim Flam" Game Operator Held By Jacksonville Police

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25.—(AP)—B. M. Ward, 27, was held in the county jail Saturday in default of $7,000 bond, following his arraignment in justice court on grand larceny charges preferred by Fred Furman, 30, of New Britain, Conn., who alleged Ward and a confederate obtained $7,000 from him in a race track "flim-flam" game during the past two weeks. Ward pleaded not guilty. Furman said he met Ward early this month, and, when told he could make some "easy money" went back to New Britain and drew $7,000 from the bank. He won at first on both races played by the confederate whom he knew as "Jim Madden," but the $7,000 was exhausted a few days ago, Furman said. He then boarded a ship bound for home, but after thinking it over, got off at Charleston, came back and preferred the charges against Ward, he said.

15-Story FLEETWOOD Hotel to be erected at DAYTONA SHORES

Commodore J. Perry Stoltz will build a magnificent hostelry costing $2,000,000--Work will be started at once and the hotel will open its doors next New Year's Eve--Water front location rivals that of the famous Miami Beach Fleetwood. ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧

THE MANAGEMENT of Daytona Shores announces a contract has been signed by Commodore J. Perry Stoltz, President and General Manager of the Fleetwood Hotel system, for the immediate erection of a fifteen-story Fleetwood Hotel costing $2,000,000 on Fairyland Point in Daytona Shores. The new Fleetwood will be the most magnificent hotel in Florida north of Miami and Palm Beach, and the second Fleetwood in this state. It will be finished before the end of the present year, and the formal opening will take place New Year's Eve.

The location selected is on a wooded promontory of high land and great natural beauty. On one side is the broad bosom of Muriel Bay, outlet of the picturesque Tomoka. On the other lies the majestic Halifax River. Opposite is the juncture of the Florida East Coast Canal with the Halifax; and, as it is down this waterway that 5,000 yachts pass on their way from Jacksonville to Miami, the new Fleetwood is destined to become a rendezvous for yachtsmen as popular as its famous sister hotel at Miami Beach.

As thousands of yachting enthusiasts now spending the winter in Florida turn northward in April, they will see the framework of the new Fleetwood already towering skyward. And when they turn south again next winter, they will be greeted by sight of the completed hotel, its warm colors shining in the sun or its vast bulk a-gleam with myriad lights looming against the evening sky--an architectural gem in a setting of rarest natural charm.

Daytona Beach the New Focus of Florida's Prosperity

Commodore Stoltz's decision to build a new Fleetwood at Daytona Shores was influenced by the beauty of the surroundings and the geniality of the winter climate, but also by the significance of the tremendous new development going on in and around Daytona Beach. He realized that this charming region, long known as one of the Nation's outstanding winter playgrounds and the winter home of John D. Rockefeller and other wealthy Americans, is today forging rapidly ahead as a year 'round center of commercial industry as well. The new Fleetwood, therefore, will be open not only during the winter season but every day in the year.

That the Fleetwood will be a magnet attracting home-builders goes without saying. Its noteworthy entertainment programs--its facilities for delightful dining and dancing--its separate Casino and Pool--all will be features adding materially to the attractiveness of community life in Daytona Shores. The surrounding property, to be fully improved and carefully restricted, under the Daytona Shores program, of course will be exceptionally desirable.

Fairyland Point, a Glorious Place to Live

This property--an elevated narrow peninsula between the Halifax and Tomoka rivers--traversed by Fleetwood Concourse, a mile long double boulevard, 120 feet wide, running from the Dixie Highway to the terraces of the Fleetwood--is platted for residential purposes with sections reserved for business and apartment house sites. While not yet placed before the investing public, requests for reservations are already pouring in, as apparently news of such importance as the building of the new Fleetwood could not be kept secret. So preliminary plats have been placed in the hands of our representatives, and they can be seen at our local office by anyone interested in getting information about the Fleetwood Unit in advance of its formal opening.

The opening of the Fleetwood Hotel at Daytona Shores next New Year's Eve will be another of those brilliant Events that focus the attention of the World on Florida.

Smart America Will Greet the Next New Year at this Magnificent Fleetwood Hotel

Work will be started immediately on the new Fleetwood Hotel at Daytona Shores, and the formal opening will take place on New Year's Eve. The plans were drawn by Beacham, Le Grand and Gaines of New York and Asheville, N. C., who have been working on them for the past three months. Complete in every detail, they are now in the hands of the builders for execution.

Seven stories high, the Fleetwood will have accommodations for 600 guests, a tub and shower in every room. Looming 175 feet above the waters of the Intracoastal Waterway, the Fleetwood will be surmounted by a radio tower an additional 100 feet high.

The main floor will be a small city in itself, with shops and offices supplying every need of patrons from the services of a physician or dentist, barber or beauty parlor, to exclusive shoes, hats and gowns. Dining and entertainment will be on the fourteenth floor, overlooking the Atlantic Ocean for fifty miles. On the roof Garden will be a dance floor swept by ocean breezes where the smart set of the Nation will gather. Other features will be the separate Casino and Pool, and the secondary hotel of 100 rooms for accommodation of the maids and chauffeurs of guests.

Where This Hotel Will Be

Fairyland Point, site of the Fleetwood, is in Daytona Shores but a few miles north of Ormond and Daytona Beach.

A splendid city in the making is Daytona Shores. It has fifteen miles of natural water front on rivers and ocean, more than six miles of Dixie Highway frontage, and a mile of Florida East Coast Railway frontage. It will be a fully improved property, with asphalt macadam streets, electricity, water, boulevards, parks, business and apartment house zones, schools, an 18-hole golf course, and many other notable features.

Natural location and beauty---restrictions that enhance values---a complete development program now in full bloom---make Daytona Shores worthy of closest study by far-sighted investors.

BERLIN LETTER

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The esteem held by Prince von Bismarck, the "Iron Chancellor," for a man who could "carry his liquor," is chronicled in a book just published, the memoirs of General Victor von Pöhljelski, late commander of the Russian Hussars and once Prussian minister of agriculture.

It was 25 years ago that Baron Hermann von Eckardstein, then a mere captain in the horse guards, attracted the chancellor's attention by drinking 100 Bavarian cavalry officers under the table at one sitting. Bismarck heard of the feat and invited the victor to luncheon. Afterward he told his son, Herbert:

"That is a most remarkable man. He can drink like a trooper without losing his gentlemanly bearing. I expect great things from him." And not long after Bismarck placed Eckardstein in the diplomatic service, where he added to his laurels. He served with distinction in America, England and Spain and won notice in 1902 by his advocacy of German treaties with England and Japan that might have changed the course of history. One of his related escapades had its scene in Newport, R. I., in the pre-Volstead days. At a dinner he bet a fellow diplomat he could beat him at the street. His opponent slid down the banister, but the baron dived out of a second-story window and won. He was not hurt.

While American tax-payers are counting their savings from income tax reductions promised them, Germans also are figuring on economies resulting from the Reichstag's new income tax law.

Under the German law the basic exemption limit, for single men as well as married, has been raised to $325 instead of $275. Framers of the law apparently considered a wife no more of an expense than a child, the additional exemption for the wife and the first child being $25 for each. In larger families the scale rises, $140 for the third and $180 for each additional child, until a man with a wife and six children does not have to pay tax until his income exceeds $2,000.

The first $2,000 above the exemption limit is taxed at the rate of 10 per cent, the next $2,000 at 20 per cent, and on up until a man who has $12,500 or more a year must pay 35 per cent to the government. Few deductions are allowed, and there are no tax-exempt securities.

No invasion of foreign art has ever provoked a volume of conflicting criticism equal to that aroused by the exhibition of American architecture at the Academy of Arts under the direction of Max Liebermann.

Assailed by some as "art-souless," the American sky-scraper is accepted by others as an aesthetic development born of economic necessity. The adverse criticism is inspired by the traditional German aversion to tall buildings which obstruct full view of the sky.

While some of the critics praise the exhibition as exemplifying and typifying American engineering, others compare the "sky-scraper competition" to that between theatrical producers which might cause one revue to advertise 500 pretty chorus girls and its competitor, 1,000.

Though the Imperial German army is only a name today, the chief of staff of the Reich's reduced forces, Major-General Hans von Seeckt, embodies most of the characteristics of Prussian officers of before the war.

Stern, forbidding and impassive with never a smile to relieve the apparent hardness of his features, General von Seeckt, when on duty, conveys the impression that he is not only a hard task-master but he spares himself least of all.

At home, however, he is regarded as one of the most affable hosts in German officialdom. With Frau von Seeckt he entertains frequently and President von Hindenburg, who visits in few homes, accepts invitations to the general's mansion from time to time.

An unusual guest at luncheon was George Tchitcherin, soviet foreign minister, during his recent visit to Berlin. The fact that General von Seeckt is entrusted with cleaning up the communists apparently did not deter Tchitcherin from meeting him socially. The general not long ago attended the celebration of the eighth anniversary of the soviet republic at the Russian embassy in Berlin.

Beck Beer-suds are holding undisputed sway in Berlin's drinking emporia. For the first time since the war, beer, which is served only during the first five or six weeks of each new year, has reached its pre-war strength of 16 per cent. Berlin is deluged with advertisements of beer festivals at which beer, sauerkraut and frankfurters are the principal attractions.

Berlin is proudly exhibiting its first fire tug. It has created something of a sensation and crowds gather on both banks of the Spree river and the Havel canal whenever the new craft appears.

The tug is 50 feet long and can pump 1,050 gallons of water a minute. It is outfitted with wireless so that it can be called instantly even when cruising.

New 15-Story Hotel For Daytona

Fleetwood to be erected on Fairyland Point will be far more pretentious and much larger than the famous rendezvous of society's smart set, since its grand opening on Jan. 5, 1925, according to Commodore J. Allen, who has secured an iron-clad contract to build a 15-story, steel $2,000,000 Fleetwood here, according to C. Louis Allen, sales manager of Daytona Shores. It is to start within two weeks. Ground has been surveyed and staked, and plans have been completed by Messrs. New York and Asheville, N. C., architects, it was announced here. Daytona Shores Fleetwood is completing on next New Year's Eve.

use all, the Chamber asserts, for dairymen operating in other states long ago would have moved to Florida and established themselves here had the pest been eradicated. Wherever in Florida the tick has been overcome the local dairies are increasing in number and size and the operators are reaping a harvest, for they are obtaining for their product the price obtained by shippers in other states and do not have to meet the heavy express charges. The State Chamber has been in communication for some time with parties interested in the operation of creameries in Tennessee who are considering a proposal that they establish a creamery in Florida but the desirable locations, from a transportation viewpoint, are in tick infested territory and since a creamery must depend upon local dairies for its supply of milk they are in a quandary. The tick free counties on the lower East Coast are being well supplied with dairies but the North Florida section which would furnish milk and cream to Jacksonville and as far south as Tampa and St. Petersburg has few tick free counties. Gadsden county, in West Florida, is free of the pest, as are Washington and Calhoun, but they are not advantageously located as to transportation facilities into South Florida. The State Chamber believes that sometime in the future Suwannee, Madison, Jefferson and Leon counties will form one of the chief centers of the dairy industry in the South and that the first one of the four which eradicates the tick will be the most important. The Greatest Gathering of Professional Golfers Ever Assembled In Florida

Do You Know?

Ponce de Leon Apartments
The palatial Ponce de Leon Apartments, pictured above, will be erected immediately on Davis Shores. Contract for construction at a cost of $1,000,000 has been awarded to the Foundation Company, world's foremost builder.

Mendez Memorial Chapel
In the building pictured above, D. P. Davis will preserve for posterity the most ancient relic that has any connection with St. Augustine, the white robe, or the Christian religion in America. Here will be placed the coffin in which the bones of St. Augustine, the first Bishop of Florida, and the founder of St. Augustine, rested for more than 300 years.

Palatial Davis Shores Country Club
More than a million dollars will be expended on the golf course and Country Club, pictured above, on Davis Shores. This structure is one of the most palatial ever projected.

Ft. Marion Hotel
The magnificent Fort Marion Hotel shown above is an integral part of the $1,000,000 building program for 1928 at Davis Shores.

St. Augustine Yacht Club
America's oldest yacht club will be rebuilt at Davis Shores at a cost of $250,000. The beautiful structure designed for this historic club is shown above.

WHY Davis Shores —another DAVIS ISLANDS St. Augustine on the Ocean

Sold $18,714,600 Worth of Property in One Day

...and why this property will bring big profits to it through resales for years to come?

SUCCESS such as this doesn't just happen. It is the result of an exceptionally good reason, or a series of reasons. Investors in Florida real estate today understand conditions too well to so wholeheartedly endorse a proposition unless it be worth of such a demonstration.

Davis Shores IS worthy. And this worthiness, proven by thousands of investors, will bring big profits at resale to those who own for years to come. Davis Shores has every requisite for big, quick profit-making. In the very important matter of location, it is second to none in Florida. Davis Shores is strategically situated directly opposite and only 2200 feet from the ancient and historical city of St. Augustine and is virtually surrounded by the powerful waters of the Matanzas River and the broad Atlantic Ocean.

And then there is the remarkable construction program and intensive development work under way. Day and night giant dredges are pumping in millions of cubic yards of fill so that every bit of Davis Shores may be from two to three feet higher than the mainland of St. Augustine just a few hundred feet away. As rapidly as conditions permit, such masterpieces of architectural beauty as are pictured here are being constructed. Two beautiful eighteen-hole golf courses will soon be built. Building permits for 1928 alone will exceed $5,000,000!

A $5,000,000 loan fund to facilitate individual construction by Davis Shores property owners has been placed at their disposal by the D. P. Davis Properties.

Such things as these have already made quick, substantial profits for buyers in the first section. Profits aggregating $3,000, $4,000 and $5,000 each have been realized by many owners while scores of others have refused profits as high as $10,000 and $20,000.

These things brought an actual shower of checks—sold $18,714,600 worth of property in one day—when all remaining units were placed on the market. And these things will keep Davis Shores in constant demand—will bring big profits to its owners for years to come!

Davis Shores will be another Davis Islands—nothing greater could be said!

until the "sold out" advertisement appears --- It will be too late then!

What has been done at Davis Islands will be done at Davis Shores!

LANGLEY AT WORK
ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 25.—(P)—John W. Langley, former congressman from Kentucky, has been placed in charge of the stock room at the Atlanta Federal penitentiary where he is serving a two year sentence for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

The former Kaiser of Germany is pictured as a great "home body" and lover of nature, in motion pictures taken at Doorn, which have just been shown in London. There is no suggestion of the military in the film, the former Hohenzollern ruler being revealed as a trim and bearded figure, very modestly dressed. One scene shows him feeding birds in his snow-covered garden while in another he makes a solicited tour among the villagers with his wife and her children. The general effect is one of domesticity on every hand, entirely free from worry about how Germany or any other part of the world is getting on in its post-war struggles.

The general conception of the personal appearance of Socrates is only partially upheld by the latest evidence adduced by the British Museum. That institution has placed on exhibition a recently discovered statue which shows the Athenian philosopher had the very snub nose with which he is usually credited, but does not bear out the stories of his completely bald head. This is said to be the only fully sculptured figure of the great Athenian made within a measurable time after his death.

It was found at Alexandria and experts date it the fourth century B. C. It is considered the most perfect specimen in existence and was acquired by the museum at great cost. It is made of Parian marble.

An appeal to British artists and manufacturers to get together and create a "new school of design" as part of a "brighter England" movement was made by Colonel Vernon Willey, president of the Federation of British Industries, at the annual meeting in Leeds of the National Society of Art Masters.

"One of the strong features of the new school must lie in color," said Colonel Willey. "Modern life is becoming so increasingly urbanized that town dwellers feel the necessity of recreating in their homes and in their clothing the bright colors which formerly satisfied their eyes in natural surroundings." Colonel Willey is opposed to dust-catchers in the homes under

MANY NEW YORK COUNTIES LOSE IN POPULATION

Census Just Completed Gives Increase For State As A Whole As 7.4 Per Cent In Past Five Years' Growth

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 25. (AP)—New York, like Florida, takes a census of population midway between the federal censuses, and the preliminary results of the census...

The total population was returned as 11,192,151, an increase of 7.4 per cent over the federal census of 1920, or about 1.3 per cent a year. The census of 1920 showed 10,412,000, or one more than half the total, to have lost population since 1910, disregarding New York county, which was cut in two during the decade, although the state as a whole gained 13.9 per cent during the decade, or about 1.2 per cent a year.

Since 1920 only two counties have apparently lost population, but six cities decreased slightly, the largest being Troy, with about 72,000 inhabitants, which, the geographer said, looked like a marked exception to the usual rule that cities grow faster than rural districts. The apparent explanation, he added, was that the 1920 census was taken in January, when the ground was covered with snow, and traveling was somewhat difficult in the rural districts. But for that, Dr. Harper found, the annual increase between 1910 and 1920 would probably have shown up as great as between 1920 and 1925, in spite of the war and the flu epidemic of 1918.

Two Counties Lose One of the two counties that lost population was in the western part of the state, and has been practically a standstill for many years. The other was New York county, which is the same as Manhattan Island, the heart of New York City. It dropped from 2,284,103 in 1920 to 1,945,023 in 1925 and the same area showed a small decrease between 1910 and 1920. This, the geographer said, was evidently due to the expansion of business houses, crowding the homes more and more out into the suburbs. New York City, as a whole with a population of 5,873,350, or over half the state total, gained only 4.5 per cent between 1920 and 1925, but three nearby counties, which are close enough for commuters to come in from them to business every day, gained 33.7 per cent at the same time, mainly an increase for the city and suburbs of 7.25 per cent in five years, or nearly the same as the remainder of the state.

All the cities in New York combined, however, increased in population only about 5 per cent in the last five years, and the recent growth, the geographer said, must have been mostly in the small towns, because the number of towns in the state has been decreasing steadily, from 241,058 in 1910 to 226,720 in 1920 and 188,752 in 1925. The same, Dr. Harper said, was practically true of the adjoining states. The 32 counties that apparently lost population between 1910 and 1920 are essentially rural, and their settlers, having now only about one-eighth of the state's population and half its area, the geographer found. Although all but one of them showed an apparent gain since 1920, they still have fewer people than in 1910, and scarcely more than in 1900.

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. HOLLY

The government forces are going about prohibition enforcement in the right manner now. If a hotel proprietor allows booze in his hotel the government closes up the hotel at once. In other words no hotel needs to have any booze on the premises or in the grips of guests or to have it in any form in the hotel. The wide open drinking bouts in various hotels will now be stopped.

Don't know just why the Orlando Chamber of Commerce made so much fuss about a race track and allowed cock fights to be pulled off if the article in daily papers is true. If it is against the law to gamble on horse racing it is against the law to gamble on cock fights, on ball games, on prize fights, on the weather, tossing for the drinks and all other forms of putting up money on games of chance.

"This is the winter of our discontent" when every innocent in the world is down here to get our money when all local charities and many others never dreamed of are in the active list and it dangerous to go on the street with any loose change in your pocket. Many years ago I advocated a Community Chest for all charities and if this rule was followed it would save money and annoyance to all of us.

Coincident with my announcement last week that a big building would be erected on upper Park Avenue comes the announcement of Harry Walsh that he will build a commercial hotel at the corner of Park Avenue and Fifth Street. And when Harry starts this work I will start a three story apartment house on the next corner and Park Avenue will be a business street in fact as well as in theory. A commercial hotel on this beautiful location should be very popular and I wish to commend my old friend, Harry, on his fine spirit.

The young men who are buying booze here and getting drunk will be made to tell just where they bought it and how, if plans of the federal officers go through. Well, the fellow who buys it and gets drunk should get a jail sentence instead of a fine and this would help some.

Sanford business men never did a bigger thing than to start a Y. M. C. A. here. The men have no money when they go to night and if they go wrong we are certainly responsible for it. "Am I my brother's keeper" has been discussed by learned men all over the world, but there is only one construction to place on this injunction. We are the keeper of our fellow men and we are held responsible for them just as surely as we are held responsible for our own actions and we will be held to account when Judgment Day meets us in the morning.

"Palatka will have a steamer line to New York," is the announcement in the Palatka News. This is wonderful, not only for Palatka, but for DeLand and Sanford. We can now make connections with the new line and have another outlet for fruits and vegetables north and all our commodities coming south. Such a little thing as an embargo should never get the goat of river cities in Florida, and especially of cities on the St. Johns River.

The proposed golf tournament here will bring big crowds of good people to Sanford. The yacht races later in the season will bring crowds of good people here. All of these events will show our visitors what wonderful possibilities our city possesses and they can be induced to locate here in the future. No one will ever know we have yachting or golfing if we do not bring them here and show them.

There is one more big thing that I want to undertake before I quit for the season and that is a causeway and bridge across Lake Monroe to Enterprise or Benson Springs, as it is called now. This bridge may be built via Palm Island and then to Enterprise, but regardless of how it goes it will be one of the biggest things we have ever pulled off. Plans are formulating and there will be plenty of money behind it when we get ready to shoot the dope to the newspapers.

I sometimes wonder if all Sanford people are as crazy about their home town as yours truly. It is undoubtedly the best town in the world with the finest people in it. Was offered a fine job the other day right in my line but had to move to another Florida city and I turned it down for the simple reason that I would never be satisfied to live anywhere but Sanford. And, anyhow, Sanford will be the largest city in Florida ere long, so why move to a larger city now.

It is my honest opinion that Sanford will put on the largest building program this summer this city has ever experienced. And this program will include many big business blocks, warehouses, commercial buildings, fine homes, etc. In the list will be several hotels and apartment houses and we should be able to take care of the many visitors next winter without having to send them away homeless.

What wonderful weather we are having just now. Good old Florida weather with the sun shining and blue skies and everything just right. Even with all our troubles we are bound to feel good when the sun shines as it is doing now. But our weather is like our lives—clouds and sunshine and into each life some rain must fall, some days be dark and gloomy.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 23. (AP)—Herman Gunter, state geologist, has just returned from Polk county, where he went with C. O. Holey, inspector of the Southern Division of the United States Bureau of Soils, to look over the soil survey work being done in that section. The survey, Mr. Gunter said, which is in the hands of three surveyors, with two others to join the force about February 1, is progressing rapidly, but it will be impossible to finish the full area this season. Manatee and Santa Rosa counties are also requesting surveys, the geologist said, but owing to the shortage of surveyors, the bureau of soils cannot take this work up as yet.

C. O. Holey, newly-appointed supervisor of trades and industries, has taken over space in the Department of Public Instruction, and is busy now in transferring his new office from Gainesville, where it was maintained by L. S. Greene, who resigned. With the coming of Mr. Holey, Superintendent W. S. Cawthon rearranged his force in the department, the clerical corps taking over one large room and the various supervisors smaller offices.

Dr. H. V. Porter, who arrived at the Capitol recently after an automobile trip from Iowa, will assist Dr. J. V. Knapp, state veterinarian, in looking after tick eradication work in Florida. Dr. Porter, who was formerly engaged in that work in Florida, will travel over the state.

Judge Bullock, of the fifth judicial circuit, has been disqualified to sit in judgment at the January 25 term of court at Ocala, and Judge Hal W. Adams was named by Governor Martin to preside in cases in which Judge Bullock is ineligible.

owners requesting the comptroller to furnish title certificate records on cars so that they might present them at the local agencies for the 1926 privileges.

Announcement has been made by Superintendent W. S. Cawthon, of Public Instruction, that arrangements have been made with the Seaboard Air Line to carry the Florida party expected to attend the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence, National Education Association, from Jacksonville, at 8:30 o'clock, Friday night, February 19. The train will reach Washington at 9 o'clock the next night. Certificates for special rates may be obtained by those planning to attend by applying to Mr. Cawthon. The meeting will be from February 21 to 24.

A Page About Central Florida Values

Orange County represents the best there is in Florida. And Florida, today, holds forth by far the greatest opportunity of any state in the Union. It is America's Last Frontier.

Instead of Raw Gold, she offers the greatest citrus crops in the world. In place of Silver Ore, Florida holds the wealth of overflowing acres of lettuce, cucumbers, cabbage, tomatoes, beans, potatoes and other winter grown vegetables. Better than Crude Oil, she has marvelous climate—outdoor opportunity the year 'round. And unlike the Gold and the Silver and the Oil, Florida's natural resources are inexhaustible! They are diffused throughout her length and breadth, but Nature, has connived to focus these advantages upon the center of the State.

And the center of it All is BITHLO

Lying between Orlando and the East Coast, BITHLO basks in Florida's most productive belt. Analysis shows soil about BITHLO to be equal in productivity to any in the State. Unsurpassed for celery and truck. Its rich Norfolk sand is the secret of Orange County's success as a citrus center.

And coupled with an equable climate BITHLO has the transportation facilities necessary to make it a commercial center and an ever-growing community of homes.

Values throughout Orange County are built on the solid foundation of dividend paying agriculture. Close study of prices at BITHLO will convince you that investment opportunities here are outstanding. PARIS LETTER

Paris, Jan. 25.—"Cyrano de Bergerac" has returned to its place and met with a reception hardly less enthusiastic than that which marked its first appearance 28 years ago. Rostand's famous play is being presented again at the Porte Saint Martin theater, where it was produced originally. Its reappearance produced an ovation and flowers were rained on the stage at the end of the performance. Repeated calls brought the stars, Jean Coquelin, M. Praxen and Mile. France, before the curtain time and again.

The cosmopolitan character of the audiences at the Porte Saint Martin is an indication of "Cyrano's" wide appeal. It is recalled that its original premiere of 28 years ago, produced a reaction almost unique even for the impressionable French audiences, the applause prolonging the performance until long after midnight. Although present day critics are more restrained than those who saw the original opening, they point out that few care to challenge Emile Zola's declaration that "Cyrano" is the greatest dramatic poem of the last 50 years.

Madame Gaston Doumergue is really her name, although she is not any relation of the president of the republic, who, a hardened bachelor, is not considered likely to give any woman the right to bear his name.

The "Madame Doumergue" in question sells vegetables in the covered market of Carcassonne and her name, which is authentic, since she is the wife of a Gaston Doumergue, is inscribed over her stall in accordance with municipal regulations. The regulations, however, do not prescribe the large and flamboyant letters she uses.

She was permitted this form of advertising, however, until she added a bunch of tricolor flags painted on each side of her name. Then the police intervened and recommended the removal of the flags, with their suggestion of official connection. The name alone still is quite an attraction and many customers visit her stall to buy from "Madame le President."

Paris, home of highly spiced magazines, is going to have its book and periodical stalls censored. Prefect Morain has declared war on the purveyors of "snappy literature," who had a profitable holiday season, which they attributed largely to the large number of foreign visitors in the gay capital.

The prefect has announced that the press that the undesirable publications are devoted to "art" will not be tolerated, and he is not afraid his reputation for "culture" will suffer as a result of his campaign. He has ordered his inspectors to make frequent visits to the boulevard news stands. When

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritating inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, laryngitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga., (adv.).

they had "books, periodicals and pictures, the licentious character of which is dangerous to public morality," they will first warn the dealers. If this does not result in a clean-up of the stalls, rigorous prosecution is promised.

Masterpieces of painting that the world can never replace, including such works as Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa," are deteriorating so rapidly under varying temperatures in museums and central heating and tobacco smoke in private houses that these great canvasses will soon be only shadows of themselves.

M. Albert Flament, widely known French painter, raised this cry of alarm after a recent visit to the Louvre.

The "Mona Lisa," M. Flament said, "was a piece of brilliant coloring when it left the hands of Leonardo and now is nothing more than an outline in tints that remind M. Flament of gingerbread. 'Embarquement pour cythere' has turned from blue to brown. At the Luxembourg, the Renoirs, Monets, Degas and Henners are all going to ruin. Carous-Duran's 'Femme au Gant' is covered with tiny cracks. Extremes of temperature, despite attempts to control them, are the chief causes of trouble in museums.

Professors of dancing in Paris have begun a campaign against professional "dancing partners" of the jazz parlors. They say these men, whose business seems to be to seek out lonely women and see that they are not left to play the wall-flower in consideration of tips or other subsidies that do not enter into the category of regular fees, have nothing in common with dancing masters and cast disgrace on the dancing profession by numerous scandals growing out of their traffic.

The so-called "legitimates" have asked the government to confer diplomas on "professors" who can prove their abilities and standing, along with some insignia of their profession by which they could be distinguished from "dancing partners."

Enjoy Eating

If your blood is pure - You like to eat

REMEMBER how you used to come in from play hungry as a bear? But you could hardly wait until Dad filled your plate! And didn't everything taste good? Seemed like you never would get enough. Didn't you feel good those days. Yes, they were the red blood-ed days.

Why isn't your appetite like that now? Why don't you like to eat just the same as you did in those days? Here's the reason—your system is simply starving for the lack of rich, red blood! You've lost your appetite because you've lost your red blood power. No red blood nourishment for the tissues of your body.

Build up your blood to where it is pure and red and rich and watch that appetite come back! S. S. S. is the way to do it! S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions!

You'll get hungry and you'll enjoy eating when S. S. S. helps Nature build pure red cells in that weak blood of yours. And you'll look better—your skin will be clear and unblemished—your flesh will become firm and solid—strength and power will come to your flabby muscles—you'll be yourself again.

S. S. S. will bring back the joy of eating—the joy of living. It's done it for thousands for generations. It's going to do it for you, too. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Seminole County Building and Loan Association

"Seminole County's New Financial Institution"

OFFICE

210 East First Street

The organization of this financial institution was made possible through the efforts of a group of Sanford business and financial men, who have the growth and welfare of Sanford at heart. Filled with a spirit of civic pride they have realized that in this fast growing community there is an ever increasing demand for funds, loaned on easy terms, to finance the building of homes.

The Association will serve two classes of clients: receiving the savings of thrifty and far seeing people, and loaning these funds to members who wish to buy or build a home. The outstanding advantages for the saving members is safety, yield and availability; for the borrowing member, the opportunity to finance the building or purchase of a home by, easy monthly, payments of principle and interest.

These men will direct the affairs of this association.

The Seminole County Building and Loan does not accept deposits in competition with the banks, but co-operates with them in supplying construction money for home building.

Read what these prominent personage have to say:

President Coolidge

"No greater contribution could be made to assure the stability of the nation and the advancement of its ideals than to make it a nation of home-owning families, and that all the instrumentalities toward this end are deserving of encouragement."

U. S. Senator Calder

Chairman of the Senate Housing Committee, says: "For the solution of house shortage problems we must look to the Savings and Loan Associations. These splendid institutions have to date assumed most of the burden of financing home building, in addition to their wonderful work in promoting thrift."

Herbert Hoover, Sec. Com.

"Your Associations—true peoples banks—encourage thrift throughout the nation—having made their assets sound and worthy of confidence. It is my earnest desire that the Savings and Loan Associations of the United States should be encouraged by the public spirited citizens in every locality."

Sec. Treas. Mellon

No greater service could be rendered the country than to increase the number of homes owned by those who occupy them. Building and Loan Associations in countless instances have made such ownership possible.

Building and Loan Associations have been in successful operation since 1835. In the United States there are now over 11,800 associations with combined assets of more than $4,765,000,000 representing the savings of over 8,500,000 members share holders.

This remarkable showing is only made as a result of the whole-hearted support and co-operation by the citizens of the communities in which they operate.

The Seminole County Building and Loan Association, under State Supervision and Examination, is a mutual co-operative financial institution in which all members investing or borrowing, are stockholders.

Its funds are secured by First Mortgages on homes.

Chief Williams Pleased With New Traffic Rule Passed By Commission

Much favorable comment was heard on the streets of the city this morning over the passage yesterday by the City Commission of the ordinance providing a jail for persons caught operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors for the second time. Many citizens stated that the ordinance should have been passed in its original form containing a clause calling for imprisonment for the first offense instead of granting the option of a fine.

At the meeting during which the ordinance was passed, Mayor Forest Lake and Commissioner S. O. Chase advocated the passage without the privilege of paying a fine for the first offense. Commissioner E. F. Houaholder, stated that while he was in favor of the motive, and would vote for the original clause, he felt that complications might arise which would cause considerable legal difficulties to the city. After some discussion the commission adopted the ordinance with a new clause calling for a fine of $200 for the first breach of the law and 90 days imprisonment in lieu of payment.

The punishment for a second offense was fixed at 90 days in jail without privilege of bond.

Police Asst. Pleased

Chief of Police Roy G. Williams, in commenting on the new ordinance, stated today that it was another weapon in the hands of his department which he intended using to the limit in endeavoring to keep the streets of the city safe for law abiding citizens.

"There will be no abuse of the new ordinance by the police of Sanford," Chief Williams said, "we will use our authority, given under the terms of the law, to the advantage of the respectable citizens of the community, and will drive the drunken autoist from Sanford."

The records of the police show that from September 1924 to Oct. 1, 1925 a total of 74 arrests were made on a charge of driving an automobile while drunk. In most of these cases convictions were secured.

In October, 1925, there were six arrests on this charge, in November, six; and in December there were ten arrests.

So far this month, January, there have been 11 arrests made on the charge.

SUSPENSION OF EX-ARMY FLIER NOW IN EFFECT

William Mitchell Will Get Half Pay And Other Living Allowances, Coolidge Rules After Reviewing The Case

Former Air Leader Makes No Statement

"Hasty Action" Of President Draws Criticism From Reid, Counsel For Ousted Officer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Stripped of his rank as colonel in the army air service, William Mitchell today began serving his sentence of suspension from the army for five years.

Contrary, however, to the declaration of the court martial which convicted him under the 10th article of war in connection with his determination to fly an unaffiliated air service, Mitchell will receive half pay and certain living allowances during the suspension.

President Coolidge, in affirming the court's verdict, stipulated yesterday that the sentence will be executed as ordered except as to the provision depriving the former colonel of all pay and allowances. Under the provision Mitchell will receive $37,877 monthly, "during the pleasure of the president."

Mitchell has met the new situation thus far without comment, either regarding the half pay allowance or the reports among his friends that he will submit his resignation. His counsel, Representative Reid, Republican of Illinois, in a statement declared "they have finally got Col. Mitchell."

Mr. Reid criticized the "unseemly haste" of the president's action and declared "this whole proceeding from start to finish" shows that an "invariable mind and hand have labored without ceasing for this day's verdict."

With the president's decision viewed as closing the official phase of the case, it is likely that it will provide no material for discussion in Congress, where the former colonel has many friends.

In the matter of Mitchell's pay, President Coolidge agreed with the recommendation of Secretary Davis and disagreed with the suggestion of the War Department board of review which passed on the case and Maj. Gen. James A. Hays, chief of staff, and navy department and General Hull favored suspension of all of Mitchell's allowances and one third of his pay.

In his statement, President Coolidge reviewed briefly the cause and course of the trial, declaring Mitchell has characterized the administration of army and navy departments as incompetent, criminally negligent, and almost treasonable, and that those statements were made without basis in fact.

CITY LICENSES SHOW BIG GAIN DURING YEAR 1925

Tax Collector Compiles Figures Showing Gain Of 74 Percent Over 1924 Amount; Office Staff Is Enlarged

City licenses issued from Dec. 1, 1924, to Jan. 22, 1925, numbered 657 and the amount collected was $5,874. For the same months ending Jan. 22, 1925, 917 licenses were issued amounting to $16,235, according to a compilation made today by Miss Ellen Hoy, tax collector for the city of Sanford.

Miss Hoy stated that the figures for 1925 show an increase over 1924 of 64 per cent in the number of licenses issued and a gain of 74 per cent in the amount collected.

These figures are pointed to by city officials as being indicative of the tremendous growth of business in the city during the past year.

It was said that a great number of the licenses were issued for real estate brokers and salesman and that others are for various lines of new businesses.

Miss Hoy stated today that her department was rushed with applicants for various city licenses every day of the past month and that she could see no light up in the issuance of the permits.

In addition to this work the collector's department handles much of the bookkeeping for the city clerk's office, of which they are a part.

They also attend to the issuance of building permits and much data pertaining to the building situation is obtainable from that office.

The force of the tax collector's office and that of the city clerk has been augmented recently by the addition of new clerks and the remodeling and bookkeeping instruments and cabinets have been enlarged.

WEARIED BY DULL LIFE, GIRL DRIVES AUTO INTO POST

Second Time In History Of Washington That Charge Of Driving While Drunk Has Been Made Against Woman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Search for a "thrill" to offset a humdrum life at a private school has led a 19 year old girl, who gave her name as Miss Benita Kenyon of Toledo, into police court here to explain how it happened that she drove an automobile into a lamp post during a snow storm, while clad principally in a red bathing suit and silk pajamas.

The girl, who is visiting her sister here, also is invited by the public to answer reports to them that the girl had been arrested on a charge of "endurance party" at which she and her friends partook of "embassy refreshments."

One explanation was offered by police Judge McDonald yesterday by the girl's sister, Velma, who with a man friend, John Hoffman, were in the automobile when it was halted by a lamp post. Benita was tired of school, Velma said, and had come to Washington for a little excitement. A "welcome party" followed, she declared. Police said she aided in the party and had had liquor from an embassy, but she did not disclose which one.

The three were brought to court by two members of the police flying squadron who had pursued the car for some time before the crash and court proceedings came to an abrupt halt when Judge McDonald viewed Miss Benita's attire. In addition to the bright bathing suit and pajamas the girl wore silver slippers and hose to match.

Judge McDonald ordered her to spend the night at the house of her mother and postpone the hearing. The girl was charged with driving an automobile while drunk and without a permit. It is the second time that the driving while drunk charge has been placed against a woman here.

Local Cagemen Meet Daytona Five Tonight

Coach Fred Friable's high school quintet will play the Daytona high on the local court tonight at 7 o'clock, the game having been postponed from last week due to a light shower of rain which retarded the open air court turf for use at that time.

Fresh from their victorious scrap with Winter Park, the local team is now completely set up well against the speedy visitors, who are looked upon as likely candidates for the league championship this season.

The last few days have been spent in developing defensive tactics, Sanford's weakest point, according to Coach Friable, and keen competition is expected to feature the contest looked upon by many as the deciding scrap in the race for league leadership.

Improvements At City Yacht Basin Almost Completed, City Manager Says

With the exception of the water installation the municipal yacht basin at the foot of Park Avenue is now complete, having mooring bases, landing stages and float, and a new safety piling, according to City Manager W. B. Williams.

"A general survey of the basin shows that every modern facility is now available for the use of pleasure craft and within a few days the water lines will be completely installed so that boats may take on water without making use of the Olds Line Company's docks," said Mr. Williams this morning.

"We feel that the city has done its part in developing the basin to where it is now regarded as one of the finest in the state," he added.

Announcement was also made today that the work of setting out shrubbery and palm trees along
