KEY WEST, Dec. 6, (AP)—Burglars made off with a $5,000 safe containing approximately $5,000 from the branch store of Sears, Roebuck Company over the weekend.

The thieves broke a panel in the rear door of the store and opened a door of the Fleming Street side to remove the heavy safe. They apparently the thieves drove off.

No trace of the safe was found on the island.

American capital is becoming interested in South Africa, he said, and there are already many factories there owned by Ford, General Motors, Firestone and other big corporations which employ native labor and are interested in developing the resources of the country. It is a land, he said, of unlimited possibilities, but of uncertain future as long as the people continue fighting the Boer War.

Jack Rutigan called attention to the benefit dance for the Fernald Lighthouse Hospital at the Mayfair Inn next Saturday night, and Dr. C. L. Proper Training

The years between two and six are more important in the life of an individual than the years spent in college, she quoted national Education leaders as stating.

"No child is ever born bad," she said, and declared that parental delinquency is a factor in bad conduct of children.

The solution for world peace, she told the Lions, is to bring up children so that as properly trained adults they will not have the hatreds and greed that are the cause of war.

She advocated that mothers be supplied with child training literature while still at the hospital after giving birth to a first child. Co-operation of fathers in child training was also stressed.

Seventy percent of all the crime reported in the United States last year was attributed to juveniles, she revealed. She stressed the need of parental discipline and of not allowing children to do everything they want to. Training in old-fashioned courtesy makes for gracious living, said Miss Callahan.

King Lion Hamilton Bialen announced that the Lions Club will hold its annual Christmas party at the Mayfair Inn on the evening of Dec. 17. John Bell was named to head the Christmas party committee which includes Henry Witte and Al Skinner. Father William Schachtel of All-Souls Catholic Church was welcomed as a guest.

Suchow Fight

Government forces in East China must break through the Reds or face probably annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the evacuation of Suchow, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government is regarded as hinging on developments between 100 and 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

Following the evacuation of Suchow last Wednesday, government forces spearheaded by the 10th and crack 2nd Army groups feinted south and southeast. The 13th Army group protected the rear.

Their current maneuver brings them about 95 miles northwest of Suchow.

Almost directly to their south, seven red columns have surrounded the 12th Army group. Holding well-organized positions between the Kwai and Fei Rivers, the 12th has been supplied by air drops from Nanking and Shanghai.

With Chen Yi's forces massing to block the Suchow armistice, government troops moved northward from the Hwai River line set up to defend Nanking and occupied Kueichan, eight miles north of Pengpu. Pengpu is about midway between Nanking and Suchow.

Chinese press dispatches reported 20,000 Communist troops equipped with artillery were active in an area about 60 miles northeast of Nanking. These reports coincide with the widely accepted belief that many Reds have infiltrated to the north bank of the vital Yangtze River.

Some are even believed to have crossed the broad stream and come into the Nanking area.

Monday morning Mr. Morris announced the floats that won in the Homecoming parade. The senior class float won first place. It had a little boy with an insect spray gun to shoot the "Yellow Jackets." The name of the Leeburg team. In second place was the Pep Club float. On it was a coffin with a student dressed as a Leeburg player—those two floats accurately expressed our sentiments. The judges probably had a hard time picking the best floats, because they were all so cleverly decorated.

Coch Ganaa attended the Basketball Rules Clinic in Jacksonville for two days this week. It was conducted by H. R. Porter, who is the secretary of the National Basketball Committee. Mr. Morris is the director for the 5th district, which includes Seabreeze, Sanford, and Leeburg, while Coch Ganaa was chosen the representative.

The Debate Squad went to Daytona Wednesday for the Central Florida Debate Tournament which lasted two days. Our Debate Squad which is sponsored by Mr. McCaslin, our World History teacher, is the first Seminole High school to have had since the war. It includes Ellen Westmoreland, Jane White, Arlene Jacobson, Olive Ann Adams, Clarence Clause, Alan Hettzel, John Fite, and Randall Goff. They came out very well as they won seven debates. The debate was "Resolved that the United Nations be revised into a Federal World Government."

Miss Riser's home room had the largest percentage of parents join the P.T.A., so they won the prize which was a Coca Cola party. They are all looking forward to it; it isn't every day that you can get Coca Cola free!

The Tri-Hi-Y girls at their last meeting received some good news about the annual football banquet. Mr. T. Morrison, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, said they wanted to do something for the "football boys," so would pay the bill for a big, expensive banquet at the Mayfair Hotel's ballroom.

In chapel, Wednesday, Mr. O. K. Goff introduced Mr. Carr, formerly of Kentucky, who gave a splendid and informative talk on safety. Afterwards everyone realized how important it is to be careful. Joanne Spaulding was Mistress of Ceremonies, and Betty Ann Cagle, chaplain of the Junior class gave the devotional. Mrs. Anderson, a representative of the P.T.A., Judge Sharon, and a State Highway patrolman were there for the program also.

The 3rd period girls' Glee Club, whether they know it or not, give their study hall upstairs entertainment of the form of the songs they are learning for the Christmas program on Dec. 15. Miss Whittle is doing a wonderful job.

The band, directed by Mr. Black, was invited to go to the United High School to give a chapel program this morning. Their program was successful as it usually is, and everyone hoped that they would come back again, soon.

Selection Of Toys For Child Important

Written Exclusively for AP Newsfeatures by LAWRENCE FRANK, Chairman of the Advisory Committee to the American Toy Institute

The selection of toys you make for the youngsters on your Christmas list can play a very important part in their education for living. Shopping for toys should be preceded by some careful observation of each child's play interests, by playing with him and watching his play activities. Before you buy, take advantage of informative labels and tags which American manufacturers offer, advising an age appeal of toys, based on research.

Most children will develop many different interests, if you provide them with the toys that will encourage them. They like active, physical play; they like imitative, imaginative, dramatic play; they like manipulative, constructive and especially creative play materials. They need toys not only for these interests, but also toys that change with the changing interests and capacities of the child at each age level.

Common Mistakes

In many homes where there is no only child or several boys or several girls, a youngster may miss out on important play experience because of the mistaken idea that certain types of toys are only for boys or only for girls.

Boys are just as keenly inter-

Carping and criticizing is hardly in tune with the Yuletide spirit. But, please, let's not toy too much with the fine feminine institution called the luncheon-bridge.

The luncheon bridge, as most of us know it, is a pleasant, innocuous way to put on weight and spend an afternoon. A group of four, eight or other multiples of four foregather at the home of the hostess—who usually is too busy to play—and there they eat a very fancy meal. This is a good mental exercise, because all guests count calories, course by course. Then they settle down at card tables, with packs of cards in front of them and concentrate, first, on conversation and secondly, on a popular game called contract bridge.

Very good. But then those mouliders of public opinion, the women's magazines, go and decide that something must be done to make luncheon bridges different.

And if you think I'm making this up, I'll tell you exactly what a popular monthly magazine is advising currently for a luncheon-to family life just as girls do—housekeeping toys, dolls and miniature furniture.

Girls like to make things. They enjoy pounding and hammering for this type of play activity, but often miss out when there is no little brother in the home, because parents label such toys for "boys only."

It's important, too, for parents and children to share some play-time. Some toys should be chosen with the idea of providing mutually interesting games and recreation for both grownups and children.

Here are some suggestions on basic play interests at different age levels, as worked out by various studies:

For the infant to 2 years—rattles and other sound-producing toys, things to grasp and pound and bang; as he begins to walk, things to push, pull, and carry; soft cuddly dolls and animals; rubber toys; bath toys; things to put together and take apart.

For 2 years to 4 years—push-pull toys; wheel toys; climbing apparatus; dolls and simple housekeeping equipment; farm animals and zoo animals; sand toys; blocks; paints and crayons and clay; musical instruments, etc.

For 4 to 6 years—in addition to those of the age before, real housekeeping toys; doctor and nurse kits; trucks and wagons; more blocks of different sizes and shapes; puzzles, games with words, numbers, time; more musical instruments; simple carpentry equipment; simple trains, etc.

For 6 to 8 years—in addition, mechanical toys; real housekeeping in family life as girls are. They need toys that are related to things; miniatures of all kinds; paper dolls and cut-outs; dress-up materials, etc.

For 8 years and over—hobby outfits of all kinds; competitive games; games of skill and information; puzzles; costumes and props for simple dramatics; model sets; puppets; construction sets, etc.

These age norms should not be applied rigidly, each child grows and matures at his or her own rate and some are fast and some are slow. Buy toys that fit your child, not an age group.

bridge this month—and with colored illustrations.

Give a Monday luncheon bridge, the article advises. What's Monday? Well, of course, and so build your party around the old-fashioned business of tubbing clothes.

Well, now, clotheslines and clothes pins form the important part of the luncheon table cheer. And the fool! Bread isn't just old-fashioned slices. You sculpture it into the shape of a wash-board—and put a little hunk of colored gum drops on it to look like soap.

Another item—this is the most dramatic—is dessert. Cup cakes hollowed out to look like wash tubs, and filled with such items as whipped cream (saus) and gelatin (colored) clothes) and other little piece of gum drop for more soap.

All this wouldn't be too bad. One hopes, of course, the entire neighborhood doesn't subscribe to the magazine and immediately plunge into a heady series of Monday—Washday—luncheon bridges, all with the same menu. Might take the edge off of it.

But the crime perpetrated is what they advise doing to a fine, study—and interesting—game called contract bridge. The magazine people want to improve even that.

For instance, if you're vulnerable, you have to stop calling clubs clubs. You are supposed to call them "saids," like "I bid two saids." If you forget you must pay a penalty, dropping a small coin in a box, saying "better lux, next time." That isn't bad enough, instead of saying you double someone, you are instructed to say,

As a woman who can play conversational bridge with the best of small-talkers, I wish to decry this sort of thing. All women bridge players must also play bridge from time to time with their men folks. And men traditionally take a dim view of card-playing by women.

Just exactly what is going to happen when, in a crucial situation, the little woman brightly proclaims: "I don't care if my partner is stubborn, I bid six saids."

Murder, that's what it will be murder. The future of the American home is at stake on this issue. Let's go back to chicken patty and peas. And let's stick to a game of bridge in which conversation about clothes and a missing friend occupies the center of attention. Banish cuteness from the card-table!

Marshall Is Operated On In Washington

Surgery Required For Kidney Ailment, But State Secretary Is Doing Excellently

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall was operated on for a kidney ailment today at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital. Hospital authorities reported the operation was successful.

The eventual results of the operation may determine whether the 67-year-old Marshall will remain very much longer as President Truman's Secretary of State.

The State Department announced that the operation was performed and the hospital then reported:

"The operation was successful. The Secretary is doing excellently. No complications are anticipated.

Both the State Department and hospital called it a "kidney operation." Neither would say specifically what the trouble was or how serious the operation was considered.

The operation was performed at 8 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, by Col. James C. Kimbrough. The hospital said it would issue periodic bulletins on the Secretary's condition since Marshall had authorized those beforehand.

With typical thoroughness, the general had laid down exactly the arrangements for handling news of the operation. Under this, the State Department could give no information except that it had been performed. All condition reports had to come from the hospital.

Fuller Warren To Be Asked To Close Bookies In Dade

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Governor-elect Fuller Warren was put to bed today suffering from a cold. He was forced to cancel plans to fly to Pensacola where he was to speak tonight before the Florida District of Key Clubs.

MIAMI, Dec. 7. (AP)—The Miami Daily News said today Governor-elect Fuller Warren will be asked to close Dade County's multi-million bookie business.

Percy L. Murray of Frostproof, speaker-designate of the 1949 House of Representatives, told the Daily News he was "concerned with the declining race track revenue and would urge Warren to stann out the bookie racket here as well as all other forms of illegal gambling in the state.

Murray plans to visit Warren in Jacksonville Friday at which (Continued on Page Two)

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Faint signs of a comeback appeared in the stock market today after an early decline.

Looses were still well in the majority but many of the wildest declines were shaded and some issues managed to climb to the plus side. Changes either way were generally a point or less.

Trading was fairly active at the outset, soon slackened, and then expanded when rallying tendencies developed.

Donaldson To Seek Rate Increase For All Mail Except First Class

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Postmaster General Donaldson said today he will ask the new Congress to boost rates on all mail except first class.

Donaldson told newsmen that higher rates "will have to come on all low revenue-producing mail."

He talked with reporters at the White House after conferring with President Truman, but said he had not discussed the matter with Mr. Truman.

He said the President is "not acquainted" with situation, but he will be.

In reply to a question, Donaldson said he would ask Congress to increase rates after clearing matters through the White House and the Budget Bureau.

He said increases will be asked for second class mail, newspapers and magazines; third class, circulars and advertising; fourth class, parcel post; and special services, such as money orders.

Donaldson told reporters the Post Office Department will have an all-time record deficit of $50,000,000 at the close of this fiscal year next June 30.

He said that compares with a deficit of $310,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1947. (Continued on Page Two)

Produce Shows Price Decrease At State Mart

Prices received for vegetables and fruit at the Sanford State Farmer Market show a 10 percent decrease during November as compared with prices of November, 1947, according to the report released today by Sandy Anderson, market manager.

Units, however, have increased in quantity with 179,961 units selling for $27,061 as compared with 165,770 units selling for $474,276 in 1947. Most of the sales were in Florida produce and 7,688 out of state units sold for $5,206.

More than 92,894 bushel bean prices of snap beans were sold here during the last month at an average of $2.50 and brought approximately $229,735. This was by far the biggest deal on the market but fell short of the November, 1947 figure, when 100,125 bushels of beans averaging $3.19 a bushel brought $319,398 in top all records for local sales.

The entire deal looks brighter, however, with average prices during the past month being $5.17 compared with $5.50 in November, 1947. (Continued on Page Six)

The purchase price was $100,000 and the contract stipulates, in addition to present equipment, the eventual erection of a building for the transmitter, studios and offices on the tower site east of the hotel and now under lease from the city.

Mr. Reck has taken over his duties as general manager of the station under purchase and management contract agreement, and this morning announced that he will continue with his present staff of six employees.

Details of the sale and transfer of the station have been filed with the Federal Communications Commission for approval.

Since attending the University of Cincinnati Mr. Reck has been engaged in radio work. Among his connections was that of general manager of the Federal Music Company in Detroit, Toledo, and other cities. He later was affiliated with WCFM, a 50,000 watt station, in Chicago.

State To Spend $40 Million More On Education In '48 Than In '45

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Florida is spending nearly $40,000,000 more on education this year than it did in 1945, when Millard Caldwell became governor.

It has a two-year old public school code that has become the model for other states. The average teacher's salary is nearly double what it was four years ago. The state is lending 1,500 college students money to help them prepare for teaching careers.

Total enrollment in state colleges and universities has jumped from 4,461 to 16,958 in the four years. Both state universities have become co-educational. More than $12,000,000 has been spent on new college buildings, and others are in various stages of construction.

Much of the states' attention during the Caldwell administration has been centered on improving education but the outgoing governor still says the job is far from done.

"They have laid a good foundation for secondary education," he said. "We've made even more progress at the university level."

"But it is not emphasized that the job is not done and that the manner in which it is administered will determine the welfare and prosperity of this state."

The educational improvement program began even before Caldwell was inaugurated. Late in 1944, he and outgoing Governor Spessard L. Holland got together (Continued on Page Four)

Local Rule Said To Be Bad In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 7. (AP)—The president of the Florida State conference of Mayors said today that Florida's local government is "badly run."

George W. Welch, mayor of Grand Rapids, Mich., said he had little to say about the form of the government that his people were reduced to the status of second class citizens.

He said he was feeling similar problems in housing and that all were in financial and legislative straits.

In their efforts to cope with the problems, he said, he had found that the original colonial state officers were subject to more legislative restrictions and have less to say about their own affairs than the newer states to the west.

"We preach democracy abroad and make a farce of it at home," he said. "Our schools should lay greater emphasis on civic education on the local level because that is the basis of democracy."

Drugs For Combatting Typhoid, Spotted Fever Are Discovered

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Two amazing new drugs effective against such diseases as typhoid and Rocky Mountain spotted fever have been added to medicine's growing arsenal of germ killers.

The drugs, chloromycetin and aureomycin, have been administered to several hundred patients suffering from various diseases, including virus pneumonia, undulant fever, and typhoid.

The sometimes "astounding" results were described today by Dr. Fernin Long, professor of preventive medicine at the medical school of Johns Hopkins University at a meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

He disclosed that chloromycetin has brought "dramatic cures" to ten typhoid fever patients at the University of Maryland hospital, where Dr. E. T. Woodward has done major work with the new drug.

Love comes high in the movie industry. Louis B. Mayer, who was married the other day to Mrs. Lorena L. Dancer, settled $3,500,000 on his first wife from whom he was divorced last Spring.

Celebrating his 100th birthday anniversary with a cocktail party and dinner-dance attended by 150 guests, Francesco La Sala of Bronxville, N. Y. attributes his longevity to "setting up exercises, some made wine, big black cigars and playing cards all night."

America seems to be losing its powder puff war in Greece. At least that is what President Truman says. "A military stalemate has ensued," he says, in spite of U.S. aid running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Meanwhile, a few B-7s loaded with bombs could end the war in 30 days, giving the Greeks a chance to go back to work and earn their own living in peace and happiness.

Congratulations to Governor-elect Fuller Warren who says that after Jan. 4 slot machines will not be permitted to operate in the state of Florida. "Any county which permits these mechanical thieves to steal after Jan. 4," he declares, "will be given new law enforcement officers." Atta boy, Fuller! We will back you up to the limit on any law enforcement program. We are not only against slot machines, but against unlawful gambling of any kind. And we believe that all laws should either be enforced, or repealed.

It will cost the United States three billion dollars to bail the Chinese government out of its present deplorable mess, high Chinese officials in this country are reported to have said, and that is the figure for which Madame Chiang Kai Shek is shooting in her talks with Secretary Marshall. Three billion dollars is a lot of money. It will certainly increase taxes, or increase prices, or both, and even then it may not do the job. But we don't see what good it is to try to stop the Russians in Europe and then allow them to over-run China.

How Berliners feel about Communism should be evident to all who are willing to learn from Sunday's election when 84.7 percent of the eligible voters went to the polls after being warned of dire consequences by the Reds if they did. When one stops to think how uncertain is the future of Berlin, how desperate would be its plight if the United States pulled out, how quickly it would be over-run by the Communists, and how deadly would be their reprisals against anti-Communists, one has to admire the courage of the Berliners who insisted upon their right to vote even if it was the last thing they ever did on this earth.

It was a grand and glorious feeling to see Mrs. Henry Wight down there at the laying of the cornerstone for the new Garden Club building last week. We remember when she organized the Sanford Garden Club back there in 1926 for we wrote the story about the first meeting. Sanford has come a long way since then, and to have the Garden Club, in spite of hurricanes, fruit flies, crop failures and depressions, the Garden Club grew in membership, prestige and achievements until today it is able to launch a project which is going to give it one of the finest club houses on the most beautiful site in Florida. It is a real feather in the cap of Mrs. Henry Wight and a splendid testimonial to the wisdom, energy and perseverance of Mrs. McCallister, Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. and other Garden Club members.

Seven Years Ago

It was just seven years ago today that the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor, killing thousands of American men and destroying billions of dollars worth of American property, including desperately needed warships, planes, and equipment of all kinds.

America was about as ill prepared for that war as it is possible for a great nation to become, but what was accomplished in the next four years should serve as a warning to any other nation ever tempted again to launch a surprise assault up on this country. When the American Army came to rest on the Elbe on May 8, 1945, it was the most powerful military machine the world has ever seen.

General Eisenhower in this "Crusade in Europe" writes: "His left flank rested on the Baltic Sea and its right in the Alps. Behind it were armadas of planes whose numbers were greater than all the air forces of the world a few years before. Its line of supply and communications was a vast network that covered France and the United Kingdom and extended into every community of the homelands.

"Its strength was supported by still another victorious host. To the south, pouring through the Alpine passes that had been the traditional avenues of classic warfare, were the million veterans of the Italian campaign under Alexander, backed also by the immense air power and sea power and trans-oceanic supply lines. When these two forces came to a halt with the German surrender, their combined might was overwhelming evidence of democracy's might—a visible lesson of war.

"Victory in the Mediterranean and European campaigns gave the lie to all who preached, or in our time still preach, that the democracies are decadent, afraid to fight, unable to match the productivity of regimented economies, unwilling to sacrifice in a common cause."

The Plant Mystery

One of the most precious mysteries of Nature may be almost within the grasp of man, suggested W. E. Kelley, manager of the New York operations office of the Atomic Energy Commission in a recent interview. He said use of radio-active isotopes, as a tool of research, may soon enable scientists to find the secret of photosynthesis, the process by which plants use energy from the sun in making food.

All life depends on green plants, which are the ones capable of photosynthesis. Other plants are parasites. Animals feed on plants, or on other animals which in turn feed on plants. If man knew the secret of using sunlight to make food from the chemicals in the soil and the air, he might be able to make himself independent of plants. Without the secret, his life depends on the green leaf.

If the isotope should help to reveal the secret, this might be far more important than anything done directly with atomic energy, either constructive or destructive. Mr. Kelley describes the isotope, which is a sub-microscopic product of atomic operations, as "the most powerful research tool discovered since the microscope." It may be remembered long after the atomic bomb has been forgotten.

Swimming Pool For Sanford

SANFORD HAS STEPPED AHEAD of Orlando by the action of its city commissioners in authorizing an architect to prepare plans and specifications for a municipal swimming pool at the earliest date possible so the city can call for bids for its construction.

Orlando needs swimming pools, too. But officials have said the lakes are good enough to swim in. Sanford has possibly more river and lake frontage than Orlando, but the city commissioners feel that a new pool would be vital in making any recreation program among Sanford youth a success.

It is interesting to note that an outside cost of $42,000 is estimated for the Sanford pool which will be 36 by 100 feet, will have a promenade deck and dressing rooms under the promenade. This it seems to us, is not an excessive price to pay for "vital" recreation facilities for our boys and girls under ideal conditions of safety and sanitation.—Orlando Sentinel.

Santa And The Snow Man

By LUCRECE HUDGINS

Chapter 4 DANNY COMES TO SANTA LAND

Flournoy, the evil elf, disappeared from Santa Land but he left behind a great shadow of fear. "I'll pay you back for this," Flournoy swore when Santa banished him from the land.

What could he mean? wondered the Santa Land folk. What awful thing did he plan? How could he hurt Santa if he could not pass the invisible wall Santa had laid about his land?

Santa seemed so calm and jolly as ever. Though he felt fear, sudden and cold in his heart, he did not let his little workers know. He patched the poor Queen Fairy's wings with glue and tape and promised her she would soon be able to fly as well as ever.

Then he said, "Come now, everyone get to work for we must put the bounce in 2000 bouncing balls before sundown."

But before the fairies could return to work Danny and the Snow Man arrived. "Fancy that—a snow man who walks and talks!" cried the fairies when the Snow Man introduced himself.

"My!" said Santa admiringly. "What a fine toy you would make!" "Sir," said the Snow Man with dignity. "I could never be tucked away in a Christmas stocking—I am too large. And I could never be placed before the Christmas fire—I'd melt away. So please do not think of me as a toy."

Santa laughed. "What can I do for you then?" "I should like to stay here in Santa Land for, to tell the truth, it is the only climate in the world that will agree with me."

hat will never work for me again. "My goodness," gasped Santa. "You must watch out for Mrs. Claus. She so dislikes my own cap she will surely try to trade it for your own."

So, laughing merrily, Santa led the Snow Man and Danny into his house and welcomed them to dinner. "And what do you suppose they had for dinner?" "Fifteen different kinds of ice-cream! Vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, caramel, lemon, orange, macaroon, peppermint, pineapple, pistachio, peanut brittle, cherry, chocolate chip, butterscotch and banana."

Now all the time they were eating ice cream Santa kept watching Danny out of the corner of his eye. He was worried because Danny ate some vanilla and a little peppermint and didn't so much as touch another dish. This was a very strange way for a boy to act and Santa knew there must be something on Danny's mind.

Finally he said, "I can make most any kind of toy in my workshop. What would you like me to fix for you?" Danny looked at Santa, his eyes filled with hope. "Would you would you fix my crooked leg?"

Then Santa's heart was heavy. He could bring Christmas joy all over the world but how could he fix a little boy's crooked leg? "Would you?" cried Danny again, his face white with expectancy. Santa slowly shook his head. "Oh, don't say no," cried Danny desperately.

"Perhaps—some medicine—some herb—some tonic—" suggested the Snow Man hopefully. He couldn't bear to have his little friend disappointed.

And suddenly Santa remembered the pill. He rose from the table and walked back and forth across the room four times thinking and shaking his head. Danny and the Snow Man watched and hardly dared to breathe.

Then Santa put his hand on the little boy's shoulder and said, "Danny, there is a pill which will cure your twisted leg. But to get it you must go to the Tree Wizard and do whatever he asks."

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The German voters in the Allied zones of occupation in Western Berlin have given Bulshever a terrific kick in the teeth.

From the standpoint of the Western powers, Sunday's sensational election is among the encouraging developments of the cold war. The overwhelming vote registered against Soviet policies shows that the Germans want no truck with Communism.

The Berliners displayed a lot of courage in this rebuff to the Russians, who not only were making threats but were holding their brutal food and fuel blockades over all the citizens of the western sectors. Ignoring possible consequences, 82.6 per cent of the eligible voters turned out and cast their ballots—all for non-Communists, the Reds having boycotted the election because they knew they didn't have a chance.

Let there be no doubt about the significance of the election, the Western Socialist Party based its platform on a denunciation of Russia. It demanded freedom for Germans to erect a peaceful Socialist state. It condemned the blockade.

The Soviet news agency, Tass, charges that the election was taken in an atmosphere of military and police terror. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda, of Moscow, claims that the election was the latest step to American-British plans to split Berlin into two separate cities.

The answer to this is that the election was open and above-board and there hasn't been the slightest evidence of coercion. As for splitting Berlin into two, the Russians themselves long ago achieved that, and bolstered this unhappy position recently when they established the Russ government for all Berlin in the Soviet sector.

The completion of the vote in Western Berlin isn't at all surprising. The Germans have been shattering and battling against Communism ever since the First World War. The Reich naturally was one of Communism's first targets for when Germany had been defeated in 1918, it had been the politico-economic military keystone of Central Europe and was bound to be again.

Hitler capitalized German hatred of Bolshevism in his fierce campaign against it. He succeeded in driving it underground, but it was in Berlin just before the war. Communist propaganda still was appearing mysteriously over night under office doors. The spies and fifth-columnists were busy.

Naturally the fear and hatred of Communism were strengthened by German officers and soldiers who invaded Russia in the early phases of the war got a full and startling picture of how the Russian people were being regimented by Red police methods.

So there never has been much support for Communism in Germany. Such "support" as is being received by the Russians in the zone of occupation is held by non-Communist observers to be largely due to duress and to the imposition of Russian Communists.

There is one other important point of encouragement which we get from Sunday's election. It shows that the Western, anti-Communist nations are holding well along the cold-war battle-line through Europe. It is unfortunate that this line should cut Germany in two, but a new and healthy Western Germany is in the making and time may remedy the split.

Fuller Warren

Murray's statement followed by less than 24 hours Warren's pledge to see that slot machines are put out of business when he takes office Jan. 4.

Warren said he was "liberal minded" and believed in self-government, particularly in local law enforcement, "but notwithstanding, slot machines will not be allowed to operate after Jan. 4."

He warned law enforcement officers that they would be replaced in any county where slots are permitted to run.

Warren's statement was issued from Jacksonville shortly after his trip here last weekend when he met with legislative leaders. Murray was among the legislators conferring with Warren.

At that time Murray discussed the possibility of "legalizing" tracks. Today he suggested race tracks be permitted to operate in counties which have legalized race track gambling.

Pari-mutuel play at Tropical Park is off almost 26 per cent compared with last year, the Daily News said. It estimated "well over $100,000,000 was placed with horse books in the 1946-47 season compared with $108,000,000 bet at the tracks. Last season the tracks handled $97,000,000 and the Daily News estimated bookie receipts "as high as $90,000,000."

Carrier Rescues 33 Survivors Of Pacific Air Crash

Air Force Men Are Picked Up From 2 Overcrowded Rafts

By LEE ERICKSON HONOLULU, Dec. 7. (AP)—A Navy aircraft carrier last night rescued 33 exhausted survivors of a mid-Pacific crash, ending a dramatic 40-hour air-sea search.

The Air Force men were picked up in shark-infested waters from two overcrowded life rafts. Four others were given up as dead.

The survivors were all in an advanced state of exhaustion from 40 hours of rowing to the life rafts. Two were unconscious and had to be hoisted aboard the carrier in a boat. Almost all the other had to be helped aboard the carrier.

All 33 were crammed on or around two life rafts, each built to accommodate only seven men. Those two rafts were all they could find and inflate after the plane "ran out of oil and altitude" and crashed into the ocean 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu in the early darkness last Sunday morning.

The two rafts were lashed together. Lieut. Col. William R. Calhoun of Birmingham, Ala., the plane's pilot, reported in a radio-telephone interview from the carrier. While sharks circled them, the men took turns hanging on the outside of the rafts in the ocean, resting on the crowded surface. At one time, the pilot said, 18 men were packed onto his raft.

All of the men got seasick. But they were always confident of rescue. Nevertheless, Calhoun issued rationing gingerly, ready to stretch their supplies over five days. Each man was limited to only three sips of water until rescue planes sighted them in mid-afternoon yesterday and dropped additional supplies.

The rescue plane found them because its navigator—Ensign L. R. Johnson of Minneapolis—wanted to make "just one more try." Johnson asked for the extra run after Lieut. Commander Steve J. Kohn of Hammond, Ind., ordered his searching privateer to turn back to his Johnston Island base. In six minutes on the extra search the life rafts' green dye marker was sighted directly beneath the privateer.

Kohn said the survivors "were hanging on the gunwales-half inside, half outside."

Calhoun reported his men saw sharks circling them from the time they "ditched" the plane until they were picked up.

"We had shark repellent aboard the raft and used it at all times to keep them away, Calhoun said. He said to the best of his knowledge everybody got out of the plane when it hit the ocean 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu.

But Capt. James M. Lane of the Rendova radioed that two men went down with the plane. He said another died Sunday night and a fourth jumped overboard Monday after more than 30 hours on a raft in the shark-infested waters.

All survivors were "well and happy" when rescued, and Calhoun sounded calm as he told the story.

(Continued From Page One) punishment by the Secretary of the Treasury of an officer or employee of the Treasury Department as a commissioner to determine the claims brought for losses sustained in the eradication.

The claim for losses has long been a contention. The Agriculture Department in 1947 reported "unfavorable" on the legislation. It said the proposed bill "is desirable and not in the best interest of the United States."

The agency said that Congress did not intend to assume damages suffered by producers in the wiping out of the fly and that Florida received the benefit of the campaign.

Florida, on the other hand, says if the fly had not been wiped out in the peninsula state it would have spread to other sections of the nation and that the campaign there was a safeguard for the rest of the states.

Donaldson Asks

The Postmaster General noted that increases of provide additional revenue of $110,000,000 have been approved by Congress and will become effective Jan. 1 on third and fourth class mail.

But he said that pay increases for postal workers and higher transportation costs will more than offset that additional income.

Donaldson was asked whether the contemplated higher rates for second class mail—newspapers and magazines—would put that class of mail on a paying basis. He replied that the increases over the radiophone from the Rendova.

Marshall Operation

(Continued From Page One) Marshall will be 68 years old Dec. 31. He has been Secretary of State since January 1947. Before that he ran the American Army as chief of staff and helped plan this nation's global strategy against the Axis.

The State Department issued the following announcement: "General Marshall underwent a kidney operation at Walter Reed Hospital this morning following a physical checkup last summer. Surgeons wished to operate then but because of the Paris conference the operation was delayed until today."

President Truman told a news conference last Wednesday he had asked Marshall to stay in the cabinet and Marshall had agreed. At the same time, the President said he had received no information on the condition of Marshall's health.

The former Army chief of staff has been living in the hospital since his return from the Paris United Nations meeting Nov. 22. He held several conferences with President Truman immediately upon his arrival here. Later, he spent all his time at the hospital.

Until today the State Department publicly and his associates there privately had insisted that he was only in the hospital to undergo physical checkups. Last Thursday and Friday he broke his hospital routine to receive Madame Chiang Kai Shek, wife of the president of China, and hear her appeals for more American help for Nationalist China's fight against the Communists.

Aides at the State Department said that he had been fully informed of world developments and had continued to work on papers at the hospital.

In Marshall's absence from his office, Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett runs the State Department.

His most intense years of work began seven years ago today with the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor. He retired from the Army at the end of 1946 and thought he was out of public life for good. But within a few days President Truman asked him to undertake a special mission to China where he spent 13 months. He took over the State Department post on his return.

During much of the time he has been Secretary there have been rumors about his health. Last summer he spent about two weeks undergoing examinations and tests at Walter Reed. Later he told a news conference he was in good health. He had had a minor operation—removal of a small growth from his back.

There was no hint at that time that his condition required an operation. In the fall he went to the United Nations meeting at Paris. On his return here two weeks ago, he again began taking tests and examinations, as his aides put it.

Plea Made For Girls Who Wear Glasses

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

It's many years now since I started going to the movies. Lots of things have changed dramatically since I was a girl. One thing, talkies replaced the silent. But one thing hasn't changed a single bit, and I want to complain about it, bitterly.

The most recent example was a very good film entitled "A Foreign Affair," and the offender was a good looking blonde actress named Joan Arthur. In this movie, Mrs. Arthur enacts the role of a bank-telling Congresswoman, checking up on morale among the troops in Berlin.

For about one half of the film, she has Miss Arthur doing the classic role of an ugly duckling. She is shown being brisk, business-like, making notes on what she sees. She is all business, serious and intent. Okay, okay, that's all right with me. But to make sure that everyone knows Miss Arthur is a very unattractive young woman, they have placed a pair of glasses on her nose.

By movie standards, presumably accepted throughout the civilized world, the sure sign that any woman who wears a pair of glasses is unattractive is a pair of glasses. And just as inevitably, round after the middle of the picture—after no male has even looked at her—she ups and throws her glasses away. I usually also get a new hairdo and blouse out in some very tight fitting clothes, too. But the sign to the movie audience that she's changed, emerged from the emotional and intellectual shell, is the fact that off come the glasses. Immediately, the fellow flocks around in such quantities the heroine has to beat them off with a stick to give her own true love a chance.

To be perfectly honest about Miss Arthur, in "A Foreign Affair," she doesn't get a whole new wardrobe in the heart of occupied Berlin. All she does is take off her glasses, and permit the new, soft woman to emerge.

This device on the part of people who make movies should, by rights, enrage all the opticians and lens manufacturers and eyeglass frame manufacturers in the nation. After all, they spend a lot of money every year trying to persuade the public—particularly women—that optical aids won't cause all their friends to desert them, break up their happy homes and send husbands or sweethearts straggling into the arms of Another Woman.

The fact that it's an unwritten rule of filmland that no attractive woman ever has recourse to spectacles undoubtedly has had its effect on millions of females whose vision is something short of 20/20. There certainly must be another way to portray the familiar theme. How about having the heroine first show up with gray spots all over her white pique d'egypt? How about having her constantly in need of a shampoo or even a comb? How about her teeth, you can always have them capped or put on braces when the right man comes along. How about having her bite her fingernails? Let's get a little variety in this leaving-of-the-cocon.

And while we're on the subject, how about having a heroine, in magazine or movie, who gets her man in spite of tortoise-shell rims and without getting fitted for contact lenses?

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7, 6P.—This year marks the 20th that Gary Cooper has been a top film star and I found him in a rare reflective mood about his long success.

In 1928, the lanky Montana lad, sauntered across the screen in "The Virginian." It was his first starring role, although he had already made a hit in "Wing" and "It." For two decades he has clung to the list of top stars. Naturally, I wanted to know how.

"Darned if I know," he answered. "But as an explanation, he offered some history.

"After 'The Virginian,' Paramount worked me like a son of a gun. I was at the studio 10 hours a day, sometimes working on two pictures at a time.

"Finally, in 1931, my health broke down. I had a cold and was down to 125 pounds. My doctor said unless I got some rest I'd be susceptible to TB and other things. I went back to my home and stayed in bed for a year. I was put off salary and I went to Africa for a year.

"When I got back, I told Paramount I wouldn't work for anything. I didn't think I was going to be good. They took me at my word and I signed to get important pictures like 'A Farewell to Arms,' 'Devil and the Deep,' and 'Lives of A Distinguished Gentleman.'

BURGERS SUPPER
If you've splurged on meat or fish over the week-end, try this economical main dish that uses vegetables, cornmeal and cheese. It will make an excellent supper along with soup, salad and dessert.

STUFFED PEPPERS, CHILI-STYLE
Ingredients: 2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes, 1/2 cup cornmeal, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1 tablespoon salad oil, 1/2 cup ripe olives, 1 cup cooked or canned whole-grain corn, 1 cup grated yellow cheese, 6 green sweet peppers.

Method: Heat tomatoes; add cornmeal, salt, and chili powder, and cook slowly 5 to 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Cook onion slowly in salad oil until tender; add tomato mixture. Cut olives from pits in large pieces and add with corn and 1/2 cup of the cheese; mix well. Cut tops off peppers, remove seeds and membrane, and parboil peppers 5 to 10 minutes. Drain, fill with cornmeal mixture, and top with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Put a baking pan with about 1/2-inch hot water and set peppers in it. Bake in a moderate (350F) oven about 1 hour. Make 6 servings.

To make banana fritters to serve with baked ham or luncheon meat, split large ripe but firm bananas in lengthwise halves and cut across again. Roll each quarter in flour and saute or fry in deep fat.

Baked stuffed potatoes are particularly delicious when a little finely grated onion is added to the stuffing along with butter or margarine, salt, freshly ground pepper, paprika and hot milk.

Rookies Take National Football League's Statistical Spotlight

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7. (AP)—Rookies took over the National Football League's statistical spotlight today with chucking Charley Conerly—the New York Giants passing ace—literally beaming.

Conerly, who last year at Mississippi University smashed all collegiate passing records, moved into second place in the NFL passing race on the strength of the greatest individual aerial performance in league history.

The Giants' freshman completed 30 passes out of 53 attempts to break Davey O'Brien's 1940 record of 33 completions in 60 tries. Only one of his 63 passes was intercepted by Pittsburgh Steelers defenders, an achievement ranking with the top performance in this category.

On the over all season, Conerly has attempted 259 passes, completed 139 for 1,950 yards and 20 touchdowns. Thirteen of his tosses have been intercepted to give him—under the NFL's inverse system of rating—a completion average of 53.7. Tommy Thompson of the Philadelphia Eagles has thrown 225, completed 125 for 1,707 yards and 21 touchdowns. Only 11 have been intercepted. Thompson continued to lead the loop's aerial artists despite one of his worst days as the Eastern Division champion Eagles bowed to the Boston Yanks 37-14 in the week's biggest game. Thompson's average fell to 55.5. Jim Hardy of Los Angeles ranks third and Washington's Sammy Baugh fourth.

The ascent on pro freshmen finds Tom Fears of Los Angeles tops in pass receiving with 50 successful catches for 609 yards; Dan Sandler of Washington, leading in interceptions with 13, and Joe Scott of New York heading the field return department with 17 for 554 yards.

Steve Van Buren of the Eagles remained head and shoulders above the rest of the field in ground gaining. The "Louisiana Locomotive" needs 159 yards against Detroit Sunday to break his season record of 1,908 established last year. His present 839 yard total is a comfortable margin over second place Charley Trippi's 610 yards. Trippi of the Chicago Cardinals is just ahead of his teammate Elmer Angerman who has 595.

Joe Mur, Philadelphia's great punter, maintained his punting leadership with a 47.6 average. Pat Harbo of the Cardinals tops the scorers with 48 points—five touchdowns, 50 point after touchdowns and six field goals. His teammate, Mal Kutner with 15 touchdowns holds second place on 90 points. Cliff Patton, another single holds third on 65 points—44 extra points and seven field goals.

HOGAN NAMED—NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Ben Hogan has been named professional golfer of the year. Fred Corcoran, editor of the official Golf Guide, announced the selection of Hogan as the best play for many golfers yesterday.

Corcoran named Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, the men's amateur of the year; Grace Lenczyk of Newton, Conn., Women's Amateur; and Mrs. Babe Zaharias of Denver, Women's professional of the year.

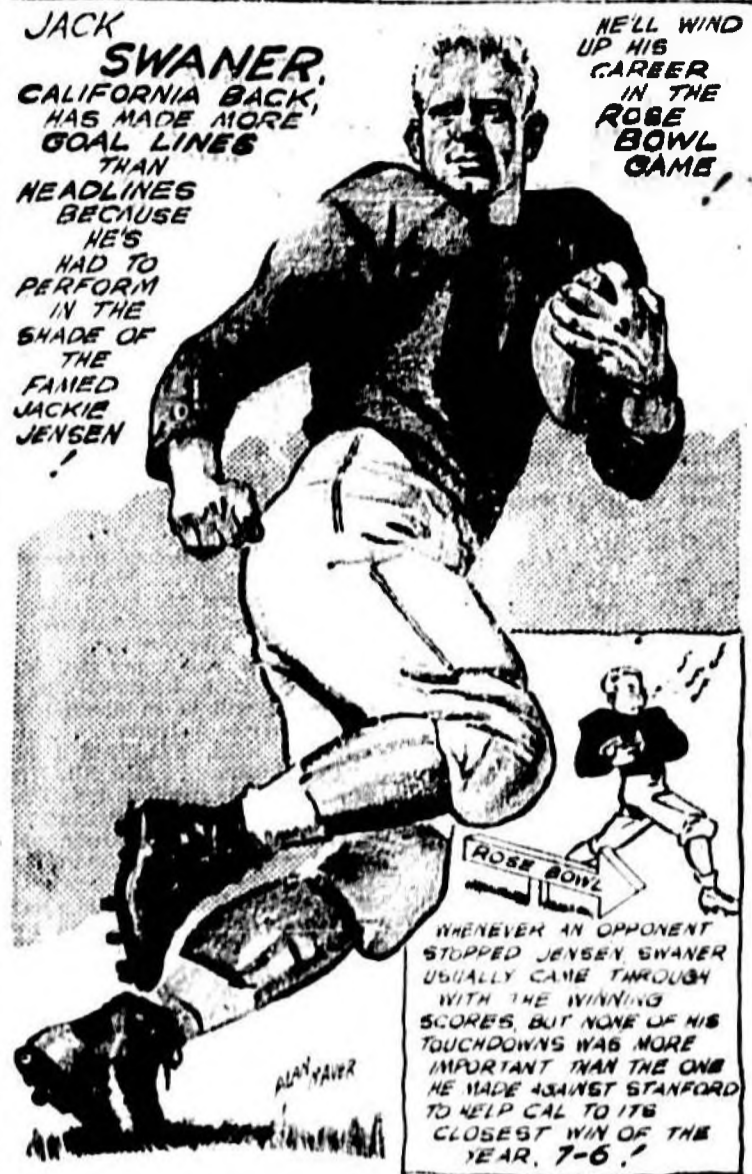

Half of Auburn's football coaching staff of six, including Head Coach Earl Brown, played football for Notre Dame.

The 1945 legislature, meeting a few months later, found the state contributing to the counties $800 for each instruction unit to teacher and classroom full of pupils.

The Lowell, Mass., High School football team will be greeted by Governor Fielding L. Wright when it arrives today to play in the Memorial Bowl on Dec. 10.

Wright said he would accompany Allen Thompson, mayor-elect of Jackson, to Meridian to greet the team which then will be brought here for a parade.

The Bogalusa, La., High School, other half of the annual post-season game sponsored by the Jackson Touchdown Club, will receive a similar greeting when it arrives Thursday.

Lowest total of home runs ever to lead the American League is seven recorded in 1908 and again in 1914.

(Continued From Page One) and the destruction of enemy submarines will have a number one priority. He called for an American "undersea fleet to be second to none." The chief of Naval operations' staff Russia is estimated to have a fleet of more than 210 modern submarines. The association's 1948 Crozier Gold Medal for distinguished service was presented to Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company. Wilson was cited for his wartime service as vice-chairman of the War Production Board.

Army To Study

(Continued From Page One) grounds, New Mexico. Samples of atmosphere at various heights from 10 to 35 miles will be gathered by the first rocket, a Navy "aerobee." This will contain cylinders with tops which open by explosions and close automatically when filled with samples.

The Army said that the study of gases in the upper atmosphere is expected to aid tremendously in the study of the effects of passage of light, cosmic radiations and guided missiles through the vast expanse of outer space.

The rocket launched Thursday will be a V-2 Trail smoke from the rocket will be photographed from three cameras on the ground. The Army said the photographs will give "an opportunity for study of wind movements and speeds never before possible at such high levels."

The Army expects the rockets will take only 24 seconds to rise to 19 to 38 miles. Continued in the V-2 will be a stadiograph, which measures wind velocity, and a heliograph, which measures the roll and pitch of the projectile.

The V-2 may go to 90 to 110 miles high before it returns to the earth. Except for the shadowgraph and heliograph readings, however, the studies will be confined to the 19 to 38-mile heights.

Drugs Discovered

(Continued From Page One) hospital, enabling patients to leave their beds in eight days. The disease, carried by a tick, normally killed one of eight patients, but can now be cured by either chloromycetin or aureomycin if "you diagnose the fever before the patient dies," Dr. Long asserted.

Similarly, 16 of 17 Baltimore patients laid low with virus pneumonia responded almost immediately to aureomycin doses and were virtually well within 24 hours, according to Dr. Long.

Undulant fever, acquired through polluted milk or directly from cattle, is another apparent victim to aureomycin's magic. Five cases of acute undulant fever in Baltimore were cured within 72 hours. Further, and potentially of great economic importance, Dr. Long told a reporter earlier that he saw no reason why the drug should not work on undulant fever-stricken cattle.

Both new drugs are derived from molds, like penicillin. Their "clinical history" is about nine months. The preferred and best way is to administer them by mouth, Dr. Long told the association. "This means that they will be especially desirable for use by the general practitioner in treating infectious diseases at home, engineering, and many technical graduate subjects."

Caldwell found soon after his inauguration that most other Southern States are up against the same problem. So in October, 1946, he proposed to the southern governor's conference that the states pool their funds to set up a series of regional colleges in specialized fields.

Educators had been playing with the idea for a good many years, and when the governors actually got together at Wakulla Springs last spring and signed a compact it was one of the most significant educational developments of this generation.

The plan now has advanced to the point at which it appears there will be one or more regional colleges in operation next fall.

Jockey Ted Atkinson has been the leading rider at Hialeah race track for the last two seasons. He will try for a third. Only five members of the 1948 New York Rangers hockey squad were with the club during the 1946-47 season.

U.S. Industry Passes Post-War Expansion Peak

Election Chuses Uncertainty In Investment, Bankers Find

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY, HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 7. (AP)—American industry has passed the peak of its post-war expansion, but probably will continue to spend on a large scale in 1949, a special committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America reported today.

The bankers, who deal in public investment in industrial enterprises, found that "the unexpected result of the presidential and congressional elections has again caused a great deal of uncertainty about the investment outlook."

"Positive result of the election, so far as its investment implications are concerned, has been the revival of demand for fixed income securities on the basis of the belief that a Democratic administration means a relatively lower interest rate policy than a Republican administration would have meant," the report said.

Large companies, such as U. S. Steel, General Electric and Johns-Manville, which made an early start on their post-war expansion and spending programs, "are apparently scheduled to cut back their outlays by one-third or more in 1949, as compared with 1948," the committee said.

"Additional concerns which have already witnessed a downward turn in demand for their products will cut back more sharply," the committee reported. "And yet manufacturers as a group are not expected to cut back by more than 20 per cent, much other enterprises in the mining, railroad, public utilities and commercial fields may well hold their budgets at a high level, so that total business expenditures will be down only 10 per cent."

This would mean a decline in business capital spending of from two to three billion dollars, the committee observed.

"On the assumption that business earnings next year can hold up to within about 15 per cent below 1948," the committee said, "the internal generation of capital funds would be approximately adequate to meet this spending program and continue dividends at the 1948 level."

"Demand for new capital would then hinge on inventory and working capital requirements. If inventory requirements were $7,000,000,000 in 1947, and about $6,400,000,000 in 1948, if no new money is needed for building up 1949 inventory, then business might be able to supply most of its own capital needs."

The committee said there was a question whether the results of the election "will have an even more adverse effect on earnings than has been assumed."

Spy Case

provided by Whittaker Chambers, admitted former Communist courier, that Alger Hiss gave him secret State Department papers back in 1937.

Hiss formerly was a high official in the department. He now is president of Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. He has denied "without qualification the accusations" Chambers made in testimony in Baltimore.

The testimony was in connection with a libel suit Hiss has brought against Chambers for making charges that Hiss was part of a pre-war Red underground in this country.

At the time Chambers says he got secret papers from Hiss, Welles was undersecretary of state. The committee since has consulted him on the individuality of releasing or keeping secret some of the documents it has obtained from Chambers.

The committee's decision came as a grand jury in New York continued an inquiry into the whole question of Communist espionage. The Chambers-Hiss exchange figures in a report said President Truman had made no comment on the developments.

3. Nixon announced he plans to seek authority from the committee to put everything that has been learned from the grand jury. He said he will suggest to the Justice Department that it appoint a special attorney to handle the case before the grand jury.

Among the documents the committee has gathered together are various sets, some that were produced in the libel suit, some that were obtained by planting microfilm Chambers had hidden in a pumpkin on his Maryland farm, and some obtained from Chambers separately.

Mundt said he didn't know when Chambers might be available for public hearings. Chambers now is appearing before the New York Grand Jury.

In advance of the renewed public hearings, Mundt arranged to talk with a representative of the FBI and two people from the State Department. He said one of the departmental representatives is a high official but wouldn't name him.

The FBI and State Department officials, he said, asked for appointments with him.

Mundt said there was a "chance" the committee might make some documents public this afternoon and he said he thought there could be something new in Stupp's testimony. But he said there would be no naming of the source of the microfilm obtained from Chambers.

"Chambers," Nixon broke in, "has to name that source."

Mundt said the House investigators will "get Chambers just the first minute the grand jury will let him come."

Commission Meet

The ordinance rezoning the southwest corner of French Avenue and Eighteenth Street from residential to commercial status was given its first reading, and is due to be approved at the next regular meeting, said Mr. Sayer. The rezoning is necessary to enable the County School Board to purchase the property, said Mr. Sayer.

A 30-day extension of the trial rental program of airport facilities was granted to the Showalter Corp.

units have dropped from $4.75 to $2.91 and eggplant from $4.34 to $2.39. Cabbage has dropped from $2.74 to $1.26 a crate.

Oranges have declined from $2.00 average last year to $1.70 average and tangerines from $2.27 to $1.88 during the season. Market prices, however, are optimistic that further price rises will come soon as the fruit, warmed and ripened in favorable warm weather, is of fine flavor and sweetness.

Tomatoes have been somewhat scarce during the past month and $2.31 units brought an average price of $7.24 a crate. They are nicely polished and displayed with red and green cellophane tucked on top of crates packed by William Willsons Jack Flynt has gone in heavily for the cellophane containers, each holding four tomatoes and with 30 containers to the paper carton. He revealed that cellophane like the appearance and preservation quality of the containers.

For a picking of snap beans is now taking place in the Pompano section and are tender and of fine quality, market men report. They are bringing $1.75 to $3.00 a bushel. The Sanford bean deal is about over. Local growers are bringing $2.25 to $2.50 for five dozen to the market. Local cauliflower is bringing from $2.75 to $3.50 a unit. Cauliflower is coming in from Zellwood and five quality eggplant from Gees.

Mundt, was a relatively quiet day at the market due to light supplies. The yard was jammed with large vans of trucks from out of the state, waiting until today for supplies.

Sanford has developed into the central loading post for fruit and vegetables of the state. An Anderson pointed out. He said the trucker from northern or seaboard states can get a solid load of vegetables, a mixed load of citrus and vegetables.

His setting of crops in the Central Florida area is not hampered this year by labor shortages as during past seasons, and the supply at present is adequate to cover local needs, from labor officials of the Orlando office. Mr. Rumbley may be contacted by growers at the Court House on Monday.

U. S. Ready To Open Austria Treaty Talk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The United States notified Austria today it is ready to resume Big Four negotiations for an Austrian peace treaty.

Austria yesterday asked that the Big Four—the United States, Britain, France and Russia—revive the talks which reached a stalemate in London last May.

A note handed the legation today said this government is "fully prepared" to take part in renewed discussions. It said that as soon as the other powers reply, the American chairman of the Foreign Minister's deputies will act.

In its opinion today the Appeals Court noted that the case had come before it previously but that it was sent back because "privileges and want of malice should await final decision on the trial."

"It is here again, this time on Collier's appeal from a judgment on a verdict for $287,600," the Appeals Court said.

"Urging us that the undisputed evidence made out a case within the decision of the Supreme Court," the Appeals Court said.

Dulles Seeks

Russian delegates already have served indirect notice they will do their utmost to bar assembly action on Korea in the five working days left here.

Dulles declared the Communist regime of North Korea asserts pretensions to govern the entire country and threatens to back those pretensions with force and violence.

"Already it has incited acts of terrorism and cruelty that shock all decent people," he said. "Yet that regime, born in obscurity, in defiance of the United Nations has been recognized by three member states: the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and is, it seems, supported morally and materially by the forces in North Korea of the Soviet Union."

The Korean case came up yesterday but the entire day was spent in unsuccessful Soviet attempt to get the committee to invite representatives of North Korea to the debate. The committee did invite representatives of the Republic of Korea to take part.

Dulles said the U.N. should approve the government of the Republic, which was set up under auspices of the U.N. Korean Commission. He urged the committee to approve the joint American-Australian-Chinese resolution backing the Republic.

Dulles called on the U.N. to continue a Korean commission to help the new government and the wartime military occupation.

The U.N. decided to adjourn its Paris meeting Saturday or Sunday and reconvene the General Assembly in New York April 1.

Meanwhile two-thirds of the office staff of the power company of blockaded Berlin left the Russian sector and reported for duty at a new office in Western Berlin. It was another wide split in the shattered city government.

Communist politicians, stunned by the 1,330,820 votes cast Sunday in Western Berlin against them, talked of their own election in the Russian sector. The Russians in both Berlin and Moscow denounced the Western hallooting. The Social sources admitted Communist armies have encircled 110,000 Nationalist combat troops on the Central China front southwest of Suichow.

These army groups said the three trapped army groups have been compressed on a front eight miles long and five miles in depth. They were trapped by the Communists as they marched south from Suichow to rescue other encircled government forces.

Eight or nine Red columns, commanded by General Chen Yi, were said to have completed the encirclement of this former Suichow garrison. The trap was sprung about 50 miles southwest of their former base.

Civil officials, evacuated from Suichow with the troops, were reported hampering operations of the encircled armies.

The bulk of Chen Yi's forces were reported concentrated south of the government pocket to prevent an attempted break through in an effort to contact the encircled 12th Army Group.

Last night the Communist radio claimed 20,000 casualties already have been inflicted on the 2nd, 13th and 16th Army Groups caught in air tight encirclement. An other Communist broadcast said Nationalist troops attempting to march south were "stampeded"

Democrats, who have aims like the British Labor Party, got about two-thirds of the vote and prepared to install a reformed Communist, Ernest Reuter, as mayor.

The industrial boom in Western Germany began leveling off at 46 per cent above levels of June. The American and British zones delivered $42,000,000 of exports last month, a new record.

Russian planes flew in all the Allied airtel corridors but stopped no deliveries of food and coal.

And in Palestine Mediator Ralph Bunche asserted peace is not far off in Israel. The U.N. Security Council membership committee ended its study of Israel's application but made no recommendation.

Eunice Lincoln Questioned In Spy Hearings

Lovett Says State Department's Code Has Been Changed In Past Ten Years

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, (AP)—A woman described as a former state department secretary who worked with Alger Hiss, was questioned behind closed doors today by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

She gave her name to reporters as Eunice A. Lincoln. A committee official said she was a secretary back in 1937 and 1938 in the office of Francis B. Sayre, then assistant secretary of state. Hiss was employed at the time in Sayre's office.

Undersecretary Lovett said today the State Department's code system has been completely changed in the past ten years. It is now far more secure against espionage, he said.

At the same time Lovett said a new conference that the department is making a major effort in investigation of the alleged loss of documents reported to the House Un-American Activities Committee by the self-described former Communist courier, Whitaker Chambers.

He challenged criticism that the department had been dilatory in interesting itself in the committee's disclosures.

The committee currently is following up testimony from Chambers.

Thomas W. Jones, Chase Foreman, Is Injured In Crash

Thrown to the pavement following an automobile collision at 4301 South Street and Palmolive Avenue yesterday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock, Thomas W. Jones, 57, foreman of Chase and Company, suffered shock and bruises, and was reported to be resting this morning at his home at 2001 Sanford Avenue pending the taking of X-rays to determine if there are any internal injuries.

At the time of the accident police reported, Mr. Jones was driving his 1948 Frazer Sedan east on Tenth Street and his car collided with a 1939 Chrysler Sedan driven south on Palmolive Avenue by Clarence Sutherland, 49, a former resident of Hixson, who now lives at 1404 Palmolive Avenue. Mr. Sutherland, although shaken and bruised, escaped without serious injury.

Warren Is Reported To Be Some Better

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 8, (AP)—Governor-elect Fuller Warren apparently was some better today after being put to bed yesterday with a cold and sore throat. He was recovered enough last night to talk after special treatment by his physician, yet, however, had not seen him yet today at midday.

The physician said Warren was not badly ill and that while he would not presume to speak for his patient he did not believe he should go to Sarasota to appear before the National Convention of the State Purchasing Agent tomorrow as had been planned. He said Warren's main trouble seemed to be fatigue.

POPULATION INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, (AP)—The country's population reached 148,860,000 on Oct. 1, the Census Bureau estimated today.

Population growth in the first nine months of 1948 amounted to about 1,800,000 persons, an average increase of about 200,000 a month.

In the corresponding period of 1947, there was an increase of about 2,100,000 persons, an average of over 233,000 a month.

Hiss At Grand Jury Quiz

PREPARED TO TESTIFY before a special Federal grand jury in New York, Alger Hiss, former State Department official, is shown (right) as he was stopped by a newspaperman seeking a statement. The grand jury is investigating alleged activities of a possible spy master, and the recent sensational discovery of microfilm in the home of E. Whitaker Chambers, magazine editor and reformer, is being used to reveal the contents of secret government documents which, it has been charged, were stolen and copied. (International Scoutphoto)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, (AP)—Three Congressmen recommended today that labor unions be barred from organizing farm workers.

A House Labor subcommittee headed by Rep. Wm. Smith (R-Iowa) said in a published report:

It is pointed out that labor unions have been active in the farm organizing campaign, and it is stated that labor organizations may destroy thousands of independent farmers within the next few years.

The committee also recommended that Congress declare a vetoable right in agricultural labor laws as they will be sure to be excluded from coverage of the Fair Labor Law. It said:

While Congress has recognized the distinction between industrial and agricultural labor, it has failed to protect farmers against the organized efforts of labor leaders and the top-heavy burden of a 4-hour week with the excessive penalties of time and a half for overtime. The committee believes that it is imperative that Congress spell out its definition of agricultural labor so as to protect the interest of the farmer in carrying out the intent of the act.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, (AP)—The Navy said today it intends to buy a title in the Fort Lauderdale area for a future military use.

The office of Senator Holland (D-Fla.) made public a letter sent today to the Fort Lauderdale County board of supervisors by John Nicholas Brown, undersecretary of the Navy for air.

Brown wrote that the Navy will give Brown a reasonable consideration in the matter in order to allow any land which he may have and which he may be able to sell to be used for the Fort Lauderdale Naval Air Station.

However, because of the price offered for the property, the title will be sold to the Navy.
