'Fern' Spills Over Galveston, Texas

Hurricane Fern drenched the Galveston (Tex.) area with heavy rains and flooding today while Hurricane Edith threatened widespread flooding in Honduras. Both storms hit land in sparsely populated areas and were losing strength as they moved inland, Form spawned two tornadoes and lightning which set six houses the level of a tropical storm from 90 to 60 miles per hour.

Edith, still whistling at 160 miles an hour moved further inland than expected, lessoning the danger to the northern Honduras industrial and banana coast ports. Her winds had been as high as 175 miles Thousands evacuated the Galveston area Thursday as Fern dawdled over the Gulf of Mexico some 30 miles offshore.

At 4:10 a.m. the leading edge of the storm swept inland in a sparsely populated area some 25 miles southwest of Freeport and churned over the swamplands of the upper Matagorda Peninsula,

Two tornadoes spawned by the storm uprooted trees and tore shingles from homes at Texas City and lightning from the hurricane touched off fires which destroyed six homes on Galveston Island, Four inches your chance to lend a helping of rain fell at Galveston, flooding some streets and TALLAHASSEE (AP) - There may be no greater irony in the quickening Florida presidential preference primary than that Sen. Birch Bayh's forces think ex-judge G. Harrold Carswell can be an asset to them.

Bayh, (D-Ind.), as you'll remember, was a leader of successful Senate opposition to the Tallahassee judge's nomination by President Nixon for the Supreme Court.

Workers for Bayh, unannounced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, are training their sights on Florida's second Congressional district. Floods Potential To Be Explained

The flood potential in Sanford along the shore of Lake Monroe will be explained in a report to be presented to city officials and to interested citizens at 8 p.m. tonight at City Commission meeting, it was announced today by Col. A. S. Fullerton, Jacksonville district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers. At that time, Same S. Cowan, of the Corps

> Department of Natural Resources, will unveil and explain the studies. The flood plain information report covers an area about seven miles in length along the south shore of Lake Monroe, including a portion of Sanford's highly developed downtown area.

of Engineers, which conducted the studies at the request of the City of Sanford and Florida's

Past and possible future flood conditions in this area are discussed in the report. The study cost $14,500 and required about 11/2 years to complete,

The purpose of the study is to provide Sanford and Seminole County governmental agencies and private citizens the flood hazard information needed to obtain the best use of flood-prone areas. This information can be used to regulate construction that would be damaged Got a couple of things on my by future floods in the flood plain. Pamphlets describmind . . . like beauty contests ing the flood situation in the Sanford area will be availand riots. (From the ridiculous able at no cost to interested citizens.
