Snow Blankets Plains

By United Press International
A blizzard battered the Plains states with 40 mile an hour winds and foot-deep snow today.

It was the latest of a long line of vicious winter storms that paraded across the country this month.

The heavy snow, combined with near-gale winds and very cold air, made travel extremely dangerous, the weather bureau said. Work crews fought mounting drifts to keep main highways open.

Up to 12 inches of snow fell in Kansas Monday night. The weather bureau issued heavy snow warnings for parts of Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri with winds expected to reach 50 miles an hour in some sections.

The storm was expected to reach the Great Lakes area tonight.

A cold wave chased the storm across the country. The mercury dropped to 10 degrees at Amarillo, Tex., and 8 at Dalt, in the Texas Panhandle. Readings near zero were common in New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming.

Children in Colorado were given a school holiday Monday when the storm reduced visibility to "yardstick length."

The storm provided high drama when two Great Falls, Mont., couples were rescued after spending more than 24 hours in an isolated valley where their plane made an emergency landing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. McCabe Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flynn suffered only cuts, bruises and minor frostbite during their long ordeal. A helicopter evacuated them from the Montana mountains.

Better Roads Plans Adopted By Board

The County Commission today adopted a "final" primary and secondary road program to present to the State Road Department at its budget meeting March 10.

Top priority primary projects include:

- 1—Widen and rebuild SR 436 from Altamonte Springs to the turkey farm.
  - 2—Osten bridge and connecting link to SR 46.
  - 3—Four-lane Geneva Ave. from Mellonville to French Ave.
  - 4—Realign and resurface SR 426 from the Orange County line to SR 46.
  - 5—Complete W. First St. from French Ave. to the interstate road.
- Secondary road improvement projects include:
- 1—SR 427 from SR 436 to the Orange County line.
  - 2—SR 427 from Longwood to Altamonte Springs.
  - 3—Bear Lake Rd. from SR 426 to the Orange County line.
  - 4—SR 46A from Banana Lake Rd. to SR 46.
  - 5—Mular Ave. from SR 427 to SR 419.
  - 6—Concrete bridges on Red Bug Lake Rd.

The program also calls for a survey for Lake Jessup Causeway to Oviedo and purchase right-of-way for realignment of SR 426 from the Orange County line to SR 46.

The board also agreed to submit its application for an additional half million dollars from secondary gas tax fund money. The funds would be used for:

- 1—Rebuild Sanford Ave. from SR 46 to the Orange County line.
- 2—Purchase right-of-way for First St. from French Ave. to the interstate road.
- 3—Widen and rebuild SR 427 from SR 436 to the Orange County line.
- 4—SR 46A from Banana Lake Rd. to SR 46.
- 5—Purchase right-of-way for SR 419 new bridge and connection to SR 46.

Animal Shelter Lease Approved
Seminole County should get its animal shelter in the near future.

The County Commission today agreed to lease a two-acre tract near Cassady Ave. and U.S. 17-82 to be used as an animal shelter by the Sanford Humane Society, Inc., a nonprofit organization.

The society's president, Harriet Cowley, said she would lease the land on a year-to-year basis.

However, the commissioners said final approval must come after a public hearing is held "in case there are any persons who don't wish the shelter near their homes or property."

Mrs. Cowley said the society will discuss plans for the shelter at its meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. in the American Legion Hall.

"We hope to start work on the project as soon as we sign the lease agreement if there is no opposition at the public hearing," Mrs. Cowley said.

"With the support we have been promised, we believe that we can have an animal shelter by the summer months," she added and asked that all interested persons attend the Thursday meeting.

Castro Completes $40 Million Grab

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary government took over the newspaper El Mundo and the Telemundo TV station Monday night, completing its seizure of Italian businessman Amadeo Barletta's Cuban properties valued at $40 million.

Top executives of the newspaper and the station resigned at once, and government men were installed in their places.

El Mundo and Telemundo were taken over by the Ministry for the Recovery of Social Property, which seized Sunday night other Cuban properties owned by Barletta and his American-Italian son, Amadeo Jr.

Barletta has denied the government's charge that he "profited unjustifiably" from his relationship with ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista and leaders of his administration.

El Mundo is the second newspaper the Castro regime has taken over this year. The minister seized the once-independent Advance last month, after its owner and publisher Jorge Laya, fled to the U.S.

Castro's "revolutionary press" now numbers seven newspapers, plus the Communist publication Hoy, which always lines up with the government.

Six Havana newspapers are still independently published, but their pages are customarily dotted with footnotes inserted by their workers branding stories they disapprove as "false" or "sneakish."

Independence Move Growing In Puerto Rico
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — A new group in the "Movimiento Independencia" composed mainly of young people, intellectuals, students and workers between the ages of 20 and 30, Communists in its membership form only a small percentage.

The group is being led by Maria Bras, a brilliant young lawyer in his early 30s, who was expelled from the University of Puerto Rico six or seven years ago when Chancellor Jaime Benitez launched what was then called a "brain-washing" of students favoring independence.

Bras led the opposition to the "brain-washing," the object of which was to urge students to accept the U. S. commonwealth role for Puerto Rico as backed by Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. He was expelled from the United States to complete his education and returned to Puerto Rico.

The movement is reported growing throughout the island and now has 2,000 to 3,000 members. The language they use is more radical than that used by the old Independence Party, but no one limits their opposition to words.

The group publishes a monthly newspaper called "Claridad" which takes a strong verbal stand for independence.

It was this group which demonstrated Monday at the airport when President Eisenhower arrived for an overnight stay. There was no violence—just shouts and slogans which Eisenhower did not hear or see.

Foremost Gets Hearing Delayed
JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Foremost Dairies, Inc., was granted another 30 days Monday to prepare arguments against revocation or suspension of its license by the State Milk Commission.

Circuit Judge William A. Staley issued a temporary injunction preventing the commission from holding a hearing in the case last Wednesday. He gave each side 30 days to prepare briefs.

The commission has accused Foremost of buying milk from farmers in St. Petersburg and Gainesville, both areas under commission control, and selling it in Tallahassee, which is not under commission control. It had ordered the dairy to show cause Wednesday why its license should not be suspended or revoked.

Foremost, in filing suit Friday asking for an injunction, contended the commission's action violated federal regulations concerning free commerce.

Water Pollution Measure Vetoed
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today vetoed the first big bill of the election-year Congress—a measure to expand federal spending to curb pollution of the nation's waterways.

The vetoed bill would have raised to $600 million the present long-range ceiling of $400 million on federal grants to help local communities build sewage disposal plants.

City Leaders Back Van Hoy For County Commission Post

City Commissioners agreed Monday night that Sanford needs representation on the County Commission and decided to ask J. H. Van Hoy for the post, with the knowledge that they would support him if he accepted the position.

In other action, the commission accepted for annexation a 20-lot plat of land between Eighth St. and Celery Ave. along Scott Ave. The land is being developed by Phillip Zeuli, and will have a paved road - a continuation of Scott Ave. - sewage facilities to tie in with the city's, and city water.

The commission received land on the northwest corner of Mellonville and Celery Aves. from C-N to C-1 commercial to permit building of a grocery store, laundrette and filling station there. A public hearing on the rezoning was set for March 14.

The request of Clarence DeWitt for three cab permits to operate a new taxicab company in Sanford was denied.

The commission approved the city's vacating an irregular shaped piece of land on the north side of E. Fourth St. west of Mellonville Ave.

The commissioners also authorized City Atty. William Hutchison to inform the Allen-Orlando Co. that it owes Sanford $200 for land the city conducted to see if Allen-Orlando metal finishing operations were polluting city wells.

The commission decided that Eugene C. Dimmock, 3700 Park Dr., must get signatures on an annexation petition before action can be taken to annex the block in which he lives on Dreamworld. The signatures must be those of other residents on the block.

The city will "move in on" a lot left filled with trash on Scott Ave. north of Second St. The commissioners decided to have city workers clear the privately owned land. Recently the commission said that any land in the city left uncleanly or dangerous would be cleaned up by city workers and the owner would be billed for the cost.

The commissioners also authorized City Atty. William Hutchison to inform the Allen-Orlando Co. that it owes Sanford $200 for land the city conducted to see if Allen-Orlando metal finishing operations were polluting city wells.

The commission decided that Eugene C. Dimmock, 3700 Park Dr., must get signatures on an annexation petition before action can be taken to annex the block in which he lives on Dreamworld. The signatures must be those of other residents on the block.

The city will "move in on" a lot left filled with trash on Scott Ave. north of Second St. The commissioners decided to have city workers clear the privately owned land. City Commissioners agreed Monday night that Sanford needs representation on the County Commission and decided to ask J. H. Van Hoy for the post, with the knowledge that they would support him if he accepted the position.

In other action, the commission accepted for annexation a 20-lot plat of land between Eighth St. and Celery Ave. along Scott Ave. The land is being developed by Phillip Zeuli, and will have a paved road - a continuation of Scott Ave. - sewage facilities to tie in with the city's, and city water.

The commission received land on the northwest corner of Mellonville and Celery Aves. from C-N to C-1 commercial to permit building of a grocery store, laundrette and filling station there. A public hearing on the rezoning was set for March 14.

Japanese Hail Birth Of Prince

TOKYO (UPI) — Crown Princess Michiko today gave birth to a boy who may one day succeed the chrysanthemum throne as the 12th emperor of Japan.

The "Cinderella" princess, a 25-year-old commoner, who won the heart of Crown Prince Akihito in a romance that began on the tennis courts at Karuizawa, gave birth to her first child nine days before doctors had predicted.

Imperial household officials said the baby weighed 8 pounds, 3 ounces and was 18.5 inches long. The imperial household announced the royal birth to an overjoyed nation with the statement: "Both the emperor (Hirohito) and empress (Nagako), as well as Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko are happy a child was born. We are all praying for the good health of the princess mother and child."

All of Japan joined in these sentiments. All streets in Tokyo sprouted rising sun flags. Huge crowds gathered on the plaza in front of palace and the shouts of "banzai!" for the boy who is destined to sit on the imperial throne were repeated thousands of times.

Michiko and Akihito, who were married ten months and 13 days ago, will have little to say about the birth. That will be left largely to the imperial household agency.

HST Suggests Universities Hire Politicos

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Monday night retired politicians could do much, if properly employed, to better education in America.

Truman spoke to some 300 guests at the National Community Award dinner of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. Earlier he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the seminary.

He indicated he thought universities would be wise to hire former politicians as teachers.

"Both as teachers, and more importantly as students," Truman said, "the men and women who have served America as lawmakers and as executives could bring to our universities a new understanding of political theory and practice and a new interest in free government of the people."

"Such a move," he continued, "might create on the campus a new and deeper concern with the humanistic, the essential basis of our free society, and help to restore them to their rightful position in relation to the sciences."

Truman said such retired politicians — turned - academicians "might give us the closest thing to real statesmanship that we are likely to find."

33 Arrests Halt Negro Sortie On Virginia Tea Room

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Police arrested 33 Negroes who tried to enter a fancy tea room in Richmond's largest department store Monday.

The wholesale arrests were the latest in the three-week-old "sit-in" demonstrations against segregation at the lunch counter in five southern states.

U. S. Wooing Of Latin America Is Vital, Sanford Rotary Told

Latin America has a great need and desire for U. S. Point Four aid despite a few young upstarts, a Rollins College economics professor told Sanford Rotarians Monday.

Dr. Joseph W. Romita, former industrial investment adviser with the International Cooperation Administration of the State Department in the Philippines and traveling to Latin America is advocating for new status and escaping from colonialism.

As a market for U. S. exports, Latin America is as important to this nation as all Europe, or as all Asia, Africa and Oceania combined, Romita said.

Stressing the value of U. S. aid to Latin America, the economist said the inroads by communism in this part of the world are serious.

Brazil's coffee deal and Cuba's sugar agreement with the Russians may set precedents, Romita said.

Many foreign nations regard U. S. aid as refined bribery, he said, adding that the U. S. is held responsible for the state of the world.

The goal of Point Four aid to Latin America is that the U. S. will be best served by having its southern neighbors economically strong. The program's purpose is to give technological and economic aid to Latin America and 46 other countries.

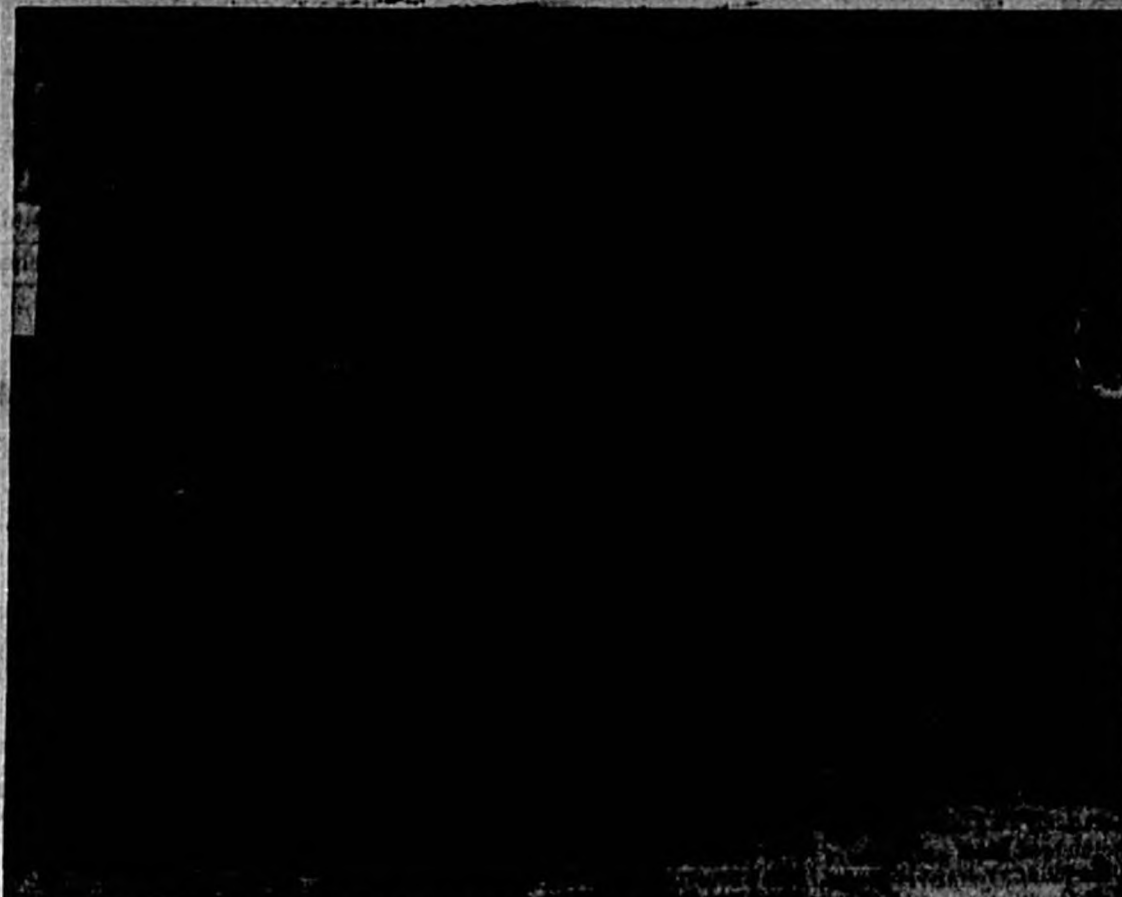

Romita said President Eisenhower's South American visit may be an answer to charges that the U. S. has abandoned its Latin neighbors. Romita dismissed such charges as ridiculous, saying $375 million in U. S. aid has gone to Latin nations in the past eight years.

Aims Of DeBary Fire Department's Recreation Area Project Explained

The proposed DeBary Fire Department Recreation Area is aimed at augmenting present recreational facilities and those planned by other organizations, members of the fire department stressed today.

They said available funds will be used to erect on "land we now have, a concrete block building large enough for all purposes."

"Couples or individuals who care to while away an afternoon chatting with friends and neighbors will find the facilities adequate and cheerful," according to a statement issued by the fire department outlining plans for the recreation area.

"A horseshoe pitching and shuffle board courts also are included in the plans if donations are sufficient."

The statement emphasized that "there is nothing to join. It is estimated that a voluntary contribution of $1 per person annually from all DeBary residents will fully cover the expense and upkeep, including proper insurance coverage for all purposes."

The firemen said they believed "the people of DeBary, including the organizations and places of business, upon realizing the aim of the recreation project will support this project by providing the necessary funds to carry it to its successful conclusion."

They pointed out that the recreation area building fund is separate and distinct from the fire department fund, which is used solely for operation and maintenance of the firefighting equipment and which is derived from the annual $3 per house "protection" request and firemen's membership dues.

"We already have the land and we have the men who are willing to give of their time and effort to make the recreation area plans a reality," the department statement said. "We are confident of your faith in us and ask for your support."

Your check for the recreation project—mailed to the DeBary Volunteer Fire Dept., P. O. Box 222, DeBary, will be gratefully received and acknowledged."

Political Pace Quickens As Candidates Hit Trail

By United Press International The pace of Florida politics is beginning to pick up a bit, with gubernatorial candidates hitting the speaking trail, campaign expenses mounting and more candidates qualifying.

At Eustis, three candidates for governor paraded their political wares before 22,000 persons attending the annual George Washington celebration Monday.

At Tallahassee, figures revealed eight gubernatorial candidates already have spent nearly $100,000, but still have at least that much on tap.

In Miami, Metro Commissioner Arthur Patton backed out of the race for Florida insurance commissioner, saying it would not be feasible for two South Florida men to be elected to the Cabinet.

John Carborouh, also of Miami, is running for secretary of state. Patton said: "The best thing is for South Florida to play it cool and try to get one seat at a time."

In Tallahassee, J. L. McMullen, Live Oak, paid his $875 qualifying fee to run for the Cabinet post being vacated by Secretary of State R. A. Gray.

The three candidates for governor speaking in Eustis were Fred O. Dickinson, West Palm Beach; Doyle Carlson, Wauchula; and Rev. George Dewey, Winter Park. Dickinson said Florida needs a governor who understands the citrus industry.

He said California citrus, "which is inferior in taste, appearance and quality, enjoys an average of $1 a box more than Florida citrus in the world markets."

He said one of the main reasons for the difference was discriminatory freight rates.

"If I am elected," he said, "I intend to do something about it. Carlton promised to lead Florida to 'unity and progress.'"

"Florida stands united at the forks of the road of unity and the road of sectionalism," he said. "I pledge to lead the state down the road of unity and progress."

Downs, a Baptist minister, said: "It's time we took our heads out of the sand on the gambling issue. I am against gambling but if the people want gambling legalized I will work to that end to get full benefits for the state."

At Miami, state Democratic leaders began sifting possible candidates to be delegates to support the "favorite son" presidential candidacy of Sen. George Smathers.

The leaders met in a closed session Monday to discuss possible delegates to the national convention.

Former U. S. Rep. William Lantaff, Miami, representing Smathers, said the meeting was closed to the press because the committee did not want to publicize the names of proposed delegates until they had accepted.

The group includes U. S. Rep. Robert Sikes, Crestview; State Sen. J. A. Boyd, Leesburg; State Democratic Chairman James Milligan, Orlando; John Perry, aide to Gov. LeRoy Collins; William McCrae, Bartow, law partner of Sen. Spessard L. Holland, and Christine Maxwell, secretary of the State Democratic Committee.

William C. Gaither, Miami, said names of the delegates would be made public before the March 1 deadline.

MYRTLE WILSON

Believe it or not, the home kitchen can be a mighty dangerous place especially when the homemaker is busy preparing meals for a hungry family.

A play pen or play area near the kitchen is a good practice since children present real hazards to little ones at these busy times.

Falls, according to the National Safety Council, are one of the major kitchen hazards for adults. You can protect yourself and others by immediately cleaning up slippery substances — spilled water, grease or foods. A safe step-stool will eliminate another kitchen danger — that of climbing chairs, boxes and other makeshifts when reaching for high shelves.

Storing sharp knives separately will protect both user and the

Future Farmers Observe Week

Seminole County members of the Future Farmers of America are joining their contemporaries all over the U. S. this week in celebrating National FFA Week.

The theme of the week is that farmers will be needed in the future, regardless of the atomic age and its effects. This is true in our county, where the missile impact has been felt, but where agriculture still is our bread and butter, according to statistics.

There are 66 youths who belong to the FFA in Seminole County. Their activities are designed to fit training in farm skills into the school program. The organization tries to stimulate leadership and good citizenship along with study of modern farming methods and research.

We congratulate the officers of the local FFA chapter: Burke Wain, president; Bobby Thompson, vice president; Freddy Teale, secretary; Arthur Blanton, treasurer, and other officers, members, and Mr. West, their instructor in agriculture, on their achievements and on their participation in National FFA Week.

The custody of the land will pass to these youths one day and it's good to know that they're interested in getting ready for that time.

An Advertiser Apologizes

Mr. H. J. Mervine called The Herald Saturday to say that he wanted to purchase space to make a public apology.

What Mr. Mervine wanted to say was that the new Sea Shell Restaurant which he and W. E. Lanierman opened Friday had sold out of sea food items they had advertised in The Herald for their grand opening.

The apology read in part:

"The tremendous response to our grand opening advertisement in last Thursday's Herald overwhelmed us.

"We had hoped for a good crowd and planned our stock of food and service facilities accordingly.

"However, the crowd which came was far beyond our fondest dreams, and many went away disappointed."

Mr. Mervine's ad apologized for "our bad guess" and thanked the public for its reception in Sanford.

We're always glad when business houses have this kind of trouble through advertising in The Herald. In fact, we recommend it and our advertising staff works hard to cause more of it.

Britain Wants Peace But Hikes Defense Spending $3 1/2 Billion

The man of the week last week: British Defense Minister Harold Arthur Watkinson.

The quote: "The policy of the government, in cooperation with our allies, is to prevent war. We intend to do all in our power to achieve by negotiations comprehensive disarmament under proper control. Meanwhile our defenses must be maintained."

For the 10-year-old Harold Arthur Watkinson, it was his first policy pronouncement since last November's cabinet shift which moved him into the tough defense post from his previous assignment as minister of transport and civil aviation.

It revealed some change in British defensive thinking and emphasized anew Britain's close military ties with the United States.

It came in connection with an announcement of a boost in Britain's defense spending to more than three and a half billion dollars, or nearly a third of her entire budget.

As in the United States it had not been produced without painful pressure upon the new minister from each of the armed services upon their own needs and desires.

But in the end it was Watkinson who had to make the recommendation and his maiden announcement disclosed both his businesslike approach to the problem and his reluctance to put all his eggs in one basket.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — I have before me what could well be interpreted as an acceptance speech for a presidential candidate.

It's a telegram from Bob Hope in reply to a recent column in which I facetiously suggested he run for president on the Humor ticket.

The proposal was inspired by his stellar performance two weeks ago at the inaugural party for our new National Press Club president.

From the reaction to this proposal, it is safe to assume that the people of our nation want a change and would welcome a platform built around the gag rule.

Hope, who reads this column in his home town paper, the Hollywood Citizen-News, was taken completely by surprise, but recovered enough to personally pen this wire:

"Dear Ed: I'm flattered at your suggestion that I run for president on the Humor ticket.

"I feel that I qualify in several respects. I've done almost as much traveling as the 1, see, refuse to reveal my golf score. And, like the, I think Washington is a great place to visit.

"For my running mate, I'd choose Jayne Mansfield. I'm sure Jayne would measure up.

"My cabinet would consist of Elizabeth Taylor, Anita Eckberg, Gina Lollobrigida, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Jane Russell. With this group we'd be sure our country was in excellent shape.

"I'd ease world tension by inviting Khrushchev to Disneyland. I'd have Fidel Castro and Deal Aarnas exchange jobs for awhile, and I'd appoint Marilyn Monroe our representative in the UN. Let's see the Russians say 'no' to that!

"However, I would become a candidate for president only with the U. S. swimming pool industry is splashing its way toward the $1,000,000,000 mark, having set a record sales mark of $600,000,000 in 1949.

WASHINGTON CALLING

WASHINGTON — A president, it has been written, is many men. President Eisenhower is one of those men and in such generous measure that it seems ungrateful to point out that he neglects or ignores the other roles making up the complex office of chief executive.

Off on another journey of good will, this time to Latin America, he is in his happiest aspect. The value of these journeys, despite the disappointment in the countries not visited, is unquestionably great. In India in December he performed superbly and there is evidence of action to follow through on the glow of friendship generated there.

He is the ceremonial president; the president who symbolizes and who speaks for a generous, idealistic America. With his vast reputation as a soldier-hero for peace he is ideally equipped for the role.

But as recent events have begun painfully to show once again he is not the president who takes the hard, tough decisions and thereby sets a clear policy line for all in his administration to follow. The drift is conspicuous and above all in vital areas of foreign policy. Decisions are put off and put off until now with only 11 months to go President Eisenhower's successor is likely to find a truly appalling array of unresolved problems awaiting him.

The drift is well illustrated by the effort to shape up within the government here an agreement of disarmament for a March 15 deadline. On that date in Geneva the representatives of five Western powers sit down across the table from five Soviet-bloc powers to start the long, tedious effort to cut back the arms burden with proper inspections and controls.

First the differences within the State Department, the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission on the proper approach had to be worked out. Then the far deeper divergences between these three separate legs of the disarmament stool had to be reconciled. This last is a process that has really not yet been completed, although in the past few days progress has been made.

When the negotiators for the other four Western powers—Canada, Great Britain, France and Italy—came here they were dismayed to find how much was still to be done within the American government. For, of course, until the American position is fixed the last and perhaps most difficult step of all—to bring the five countries together on a common ground—cannot be taken.

There was something almost comic about the behind-the-scenes attempt to find a way to put forward the March 15 deadline without asking the Communist bloc for a postponement. It happens that Geneva will be filled to the rafters on March 15. A conference on the law of the sea with representatives of 53 nations is to be held under United Nations auspices. At the same time the marathon conference on nuclear testing will still be going on.

In a message to the UN Secretary-General, Mr. Acheson said that the United States would not be a party to any test ban until it is clear that all nations are on an equal footing.

It cannot be denied that Hope has something for everybody. But before he makes another move he must decide on a party emblem. It should be an animal symbol. They've got donkeys for the Democrats and elephants for the Republicans. So why not yaks for Hope?

Quotable Quotes

United Press International MIAMI—Former President Truman, suggesting that American universities hire retired politicians as teachers:

"Retired politicians that bank in the classrooms of our nation might give us the closest thing to real statesmanship that we are likely to find."

LONDON—U.S. Embassy information officer Lorimer Moe, dismissing an anonymous telephone report that a U. S. security officer had run off to Russia with a woman:

"Whoever was making the call was having a grand old time. There is absolutely nothing to the story whatsoever. Somebody was just being funny."

HELENA, Mont.—Mrs. Ernest J. McCabe Jr., describing the 24-hour wait for rescuers after she and three other persons crash landed on a snow-covered mountainside:

"The guys kept joking back and forth. If they didn't joke, they knew we would cry."

LONDON—Dr. Edith Summerskill, asserting in the House of Commons that eyeglasses issued by the state-operated National Health Service are grossly unattractive:

"Why should a state service article be dreary and unattractive? We all have a streak of vanity and some are very sensitive about what they put on their faces."

Worry Clinic

CASE D — 481: Dr. John H. Hanger, aged about 48, is a dynamo in the pulp at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "newspapers render a wonderful moral service to America as in your Worry Clinic column," he began.

"Thank you," I replied, "but how do you mean?"

"Well," he continued, "about 40% of Americans belong to no church at all, neither Protestant, Jewish or Catholic.

"So those 70,000,000 people, including children and teenagers, never get to hear a pastor or priest deliver an inspiring sermon. And they don't subscribe to any church journal.

"Nor do these youngsters get inside a Sunday school to obtain a lesson in temperance or other moral virtues.

"But those 70,000,000 are usually newspaper readers. So newspapers get a chance to offer a moral and psychological boost to their souls.

"We clerics don't fully realize our tremendous debt to newspapers for their moral influence in America."

Dr. Hanger's remarks were an eye-opener to me for I hadn't thought about those 70,000,000 non-church folk.

And it is true that they rarely enter a church, unless for a funeral or wedding.

So newspapers do get a chance to bolster the morals and teach good citizenship every day via the printed page.

Several times I have received letters from women, like this one: "Dr. Crane," a Florida housewife began, "I grew up in a Godless home and never went to Sunday School or church but a few times in my life.

"Now I am married and have three children. The oldest girl is in high school.

"Her teacher suggested that the students follow your quiz column. So she developed the habit and began reading it aloud to me and the rest of the family. It became a daily mixture of fun and education.

"But on Sunday you always included a matching problem where Bible characters are to be associated with dramatic events. For example, you once enumerated Noah, Jonah, Mordecai, Samson, and Eli.

"We were then to tell which was the strong man, the first drunkard, the Dorothy Dix of the Bible, the fat man of the Bible and the Sherlock Holmes.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — A president, it has been written, is many men. President Eisenhower is one of those men and in such generous measure that it seems ungrateful to point out that he neglects or ignores the other roles making up the complex office of chief executive.

Off on another journey of good will, this time to Latin America, he is in his happiest aspect. The value of these journeys, despite the disappointment in the countries not visited, is unquestionably great. In India in December he performed superbly and there is evidence of action to follow through on the glow of friendship generated there.

He is the ceremonial president; the president who symbolizes and who speaks for a generous, idealistic America. With his vast reputation as a soldier-hero for peace he is ideally equipped for the role.

But as recent events have begun painfully to show once again he is not the president who takes the hard, tough decisions and thereby sets a clear policy line for all in his administration to follow. The drift is conspicuous and above all in vital areas of foreign policy. Decisions are put off and put off until now with only 11 months to go President Eisenhower's successor is likely to find a truly appalling array of unresolved problems awaiting him.

The drift is well illustrated by the effort to shape up within the government here an agreement of disarmament for a March 15 deadline. On that date in Geneva the representatives of five Western powers sit down across the table from five Soviet-bloc powers to start the long, tedious effort to cut back the arms burden with proper inspections and controls.

First the differences within the State Department, the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission on the proper approach had to be worked out. Then the far deeper divergences between these three separate legs of the disarmament stool had to be reconciled. This last is a process that has really not yet been completed, although in the past few days progress has been made.

When the negotiators for the other four Western powers—Canada, Great Britain, France and Italy—came here they were dismayed to find how much was still to be done within the American government. For, of course, until the American position is fixed the last and perhaps most difficult step of all—to bring the five countries together on a common ground—cannot be taken.

There was something almost comic about the behind-the-scenes attempt to find a way to put forward the March 15 deadline without asking the Communist bloc for a postponement. It happens that Geneva will be filled to the rafters on March 15. A conference on the law of the sea with representatives of 53 nations is to be held under United Nations auspices. At the same time the marathon conference on nuclear testing will still be going on.

In a message to the UN Secretary-General, Mr. Acheson said that the United States would not be a party to any test ban until it is clear that all nations are on an equal footing.

It cannot be denied that Hope has something for everybody. But before he makes another move he must decide on a party emblem. It should be an animal symbol. They've got donkeys for the Democrats and elephants for the Republicans. So why not yaks for Hope?

Worry Clinic by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE D — 481: Dr. John H. Hanger, aged about 48, is a dynamo in the pulp at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "newspapers render a wonderful moral service to America as in your Worry Clinic column," he began.

"Thank you," I replied, "but how do you mean?"

"Well," he continued, "about 40% of Americans belong to no church at all, neither Protestant, Jewish or Catholic.

"So those 70,000,000 people, including children and teenagers, never get to hear a pastor or priest deliver an inspiring sermon. And they don't subscribe to any church journal.

"Nor do these youngsters get inside a Sunday school to obtain a lesson in temperance or other moral virtues.

"But those 70,000,000 are usually newspaper readers. So newspapers get a chance to offer a moral and psychological boost to their souls.

"We clerics don't fully realize our tremendous debt to newspapers for their moral influence in America."

Dr. Hanger's remarks were an eye-opener to me for I hadn't thought about those 70,000,000 non-church folk.

And it is true that they rarely enter a church, unless for a funeral or wedding.

So newspapers do get a chance to bolster the morals and teach good citizenship every day via the printed page.

Several times I have received letters from women, like this one: "Dr. Crane," a Florida housewife began, "I grew up in a Godless home and never went to Sunday School or church but a few times in my life.

"Now I am married and have three children. The oldest girl is in high school.

"Her teacher suggested that the students follow your quiz column. So she developed the habit and began reading it aloud to me and the rest of the family. It became a daily mixture of fun and education.

"But on Sunday you always included a matching problem where Bible characters are to be associated with dramatic events. For example, you once enumerated Noah, Jonah, Mordecai, Samson, and Eli.

"We were then to tell which was the strong man, the first drunkard, the Dorothy Dix of the Bible, the fat man of the Bible and the Sherlock Holmes.

"Well, that was very difficult for me. My daughter saw the Bible references attached to the answers, so she wanted to read the full account of those Bible stories.

"But we didn't have a Bible in the house; in fact, there hadn't been a Bible in my home when I grew up as a child.

"So I finally bought the first Bible in two generations, just to help my daughter's education.

"And since then, we got started attending a neighboring church and now we are all members.

"Most people would never realize that newspaper was thus the reason why all five of us, including my husband, joined the church."

By JERRY COVINGTON

After the game last Saturday night in Apopka, the Seminole dressing room was wild with excitement. All of the players were walking around with big hunks of chicken in their hands and singing and yelling for all they were worth.

To Coach Bud Layer, who had been toiling for five years with no results, this was his greatest moment. At the halftime break, we were chatting in the dressing room and he commented that he had checked the boys' teeth to see if they were growing fangs. And of course their fangs were showing in the second half too, because they were determined enough to defeat in good fashion the team that had been rough on them all season.

After the game the team members were hollering, "Coach, we won, we won." Layer was practically beyond speaking but he managed to get out, "This was only the beginning, we still have two more to win."

Of course, he was referring to the district tournament and the state tournament.

After the impressive victory, everyone is more confident than ever that we could well go all the way. There are two big obstacles between the Seminoles and a trip to the state tourney in Gainesville—Seabreeze and Cocoa. In my books, however, we have players who can match any player in point making and our speed is far superior to any team in the entire area.

With a great 16-2 record and an OBC championship already in the books, we could stop right here and consider it the finest season in the history of the school, but the players and coaches won't settle for anything less than a shot at the Class A state championship.

There are several factors that have played a great part in the successful season and probably one of the biggest is the fan support. In years past there have been many occasions that the players on the bench have outnumbered the fans in the stands, but all of this has changed. On Saturday night, Sanford folks actually were searching for seats in the huge Apopka gym and when the cheerleaders would let out with a cheer a multitude of folks would stand up and ring out in full volume.

And I can say this. If anyone who saw the games Friday and Saturday didn't get his money's worth he just doesn't enjoy anything.

I sat near Dr. John Morgan Friday night and all I could hear him say in the second half was, "I've just got to get Dr. Roberts to work for me tomorrow night." By the way, Doc was on the last tournament winning team in Sanford.

Minneapolis Pro Cagers May Wind Up With New Home

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Minneapolis Lakers headed for New York today after splitting two games here with the St. Louis Hawks, but there is a possibility they may return next season to make Los Angeles their permanent home.

The Lakers lost Monday night to the Hawks by a 113-103 score after battling their way to a 113-103 score in the final minutes of the game.

A total of 12,105 fans saw the two games here and Bob Short, Lakers president, said "I was very pleased with the response."

The Lakers had to leave here hurriedly because they must play the New York Knicks here at Madison Square Garden tonight. They took a jet flight.

The Hawks took it easy after the game because they don't play until Sunday night when they meet Cincinnati in St. Louis.

In Monday night's game the Hawks appeared determined to make up for their poor showing Sunday night — and they did. Cliff Hagan, a former Kentucky star, was the hero in the point department, with 25. He was followed by Bob Pettit and Larry Foust, both with 21.

Foust became the 10th player in NBA history to go over the 10,000-point mark, joining such past stars as Wilt Chamberlain, Ed Macauley, the St. Louis coach. Tom Scerif for the Lakers was Rudy Larusso who had 24 points. He was followed by Frank Selvy who had 23.

Dream Come True

A golfer's dream came true at the Mayfair Country Club Sunday.

M. J. Lyman, Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y., teed off towards the seventh hole, the ball arched 195 yards down the fairway and—kerplunk—a hole-in-one.

The feat surprised everyone, including Lyman who said he had never previously come close to one. The three others in the foursome vouched for the feat.

Lyman, who carded an 85 for 18 holes, used a No. 32 wood on his dream-come-true shot.

'Surprise' Georgia Tech Five Lands NCAA Tournament Berth

United Press International Georgia Tech and Notre Dame are safely berthed today in the NCAA basketball tournament—and now Cincinnati may not be far behind.

Tech, a real surprise package with a 20-4 overall record, went on a 15-1 rampage in an overtime period at Gainesville, Monday to wrap up the Southeastern Conference's spot in the big post-season carnival by beating Florida, 99-93.

Notre Dame (15-7) accepted a "member at large" berth in the same tourney earlier in the day and may be Tech's first tourney rival, if first the Irish can beat Ohio University in a preliminary round game.

But the big surprise Monday night was Bradley's 92-89 loss to Houston in the Missouri Valley Conference game — a defeat that gave Cincinnati a one-game lead in the title chase with just three games to go.

Houston sprang a come defense on fourth-ranked Bradley and led the Braves all the way in their clash at Houston. The loss was only the second for Bradley in 20 games and snapped a 15-game winning streak. Houston, hitting a torrid 59 per cent of its shots, was led by Gary Phillips with 30 points.

Cincinnati, meanwhile romped to an 83-54 victory over North Texas State despite another low-scoring game by Oscar Robertson. The "Big O," who was held to 14 points by Houston Saturday night, scored only 16 in this one—but his baskets gave him 896 for his career to tie

New Kegler Loop To Start Soon

Oppose Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI)—New opposition popped up today against the New York Yankees' attempt to turn a park near Yankee Stadium into a parking area. George Eastman of Manhattan College, one of the nation's top track and field coaches, said the New York Coaches Association would fight the Yankees effort to convert Macombs Dam Park with its track and playing fields into a parking lot.

Territorial Rights

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The holders of the Minneapolis - St. Paul franchise in the Continental League are attempting to acquire the territorial rights now held by the Boston Red Sox. Wheelock Whitely Jr. of the Twin Cities Continental League entry said negotiations are now underway to obtain the Boston farm club.

California Holds No. 1 Cage Poll Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—California turned into the home stretch in the race for the 1960 national collegiate basketball championship today with a slight lead over Cincinnati in what is beginning to look like a two-horse race.

With just two weeks remaining in the regular season, the United Press International Board of Coaches today rated California the No. 1 team in the country for the fourth straight week.

And Pete Newall's defencemen Bears received a slight boost in their margin over Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Co. All told, 34 of the 35 famous coaches who comprise the board picked California on top, while eight voted for Cincinnati, two for Ohio State and one for Bradley.

On a point basis, that gave California 333 points — a lead of 21 points instead of the 12 the Bears held last week.

California and Cincinnati each has a 20-1 record. A stumble by either very possibly could mean the national title for the other — or give third-place Ohio State (19-3) or fourth-place Bradley (21-1) a chance at the top prize.

California and Cincinnati each went into the current week with four games remaining in the regular season.

This week's ratings marked the fifth straight week that the same teams have been ranked among the top 10. The only change from last week's standing was the raising of Utah from sixth place to fifth place and the dropping of West Virginia from fifth to sixth.

Rounding out the top 10, in order, were Utah State, Georgia Tech, Villanova and Texas A&M.

The second 10, however, received a bit of a shakeup with St. John's, last year's National Invitation Tournament champion which now has won 10 straight, moving to the No. 11 spot, followed in order by North Carolina, St. Bonaventure, St. Louis, New York U., Auburn, Wake Forest, Dayton, Texas and Kentucky.

MacKays, who wants to attain the No. 1 ranking in the U. S. before considering offers from Jack Kramer to turn pro, thus goes on to the summer grass court circuit with his prestige at an all-time high. MacKay, fresh out of the Air Force, has been training his big game for months and this looking like the year in which he'll make the big bid for stardom.

Lary, Top Kicker In NFL Circuit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The man with the big kick in the National Football League last season was Yale Lary of the Detroit Lions.

Lary won the punting championship for 1959 with an average of 47.1 yards for the 45 punts he sent booming over the heads of opponents, according to the official league figures released today. It was the highest average since Joe Mula punted 47.3 yards for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1948.

Don Chandler of the New York Giants finished second with a 46.6 yard average and was a factor in the Giants winning the team punting title with a 46.6 average.

Tom Davis of San Francisco celebrated his first season by taking third place with a 45.7 average followed by defending champion Sam Baker of Washington (45.3) and Jerry Norton of the Chicago Cardinals with 44.9.

MacKay Looms As No. 1 'Hope'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Barry MacKay, the erratic 27-year-old slugger from Dayton, Ohio, is the United States' No. 1 Davis Cup hope today after his dramatic victory over veteran Dick Savitt in the finals of the national indoor tennis championships.

Savitt, who calls himself a weekend player but who is one of the best players in the world on the boards, appeared to have the title sewed up for the third time. But then MacKay surprised the experts by rallying with the poise of an old pro to pull out the victory, 6-2, 4-4, 10-12, 6-1, 4-4.

It was essentially a battle of big services, net attacks and booming ground strokes by MacKay in order to surprise the experts by rallying with the poise of an old pro to pull out the victory, 6-2, 4-4, 10-12, 6-1, 4-4.

Warren Spahn, who has had 10 20-victory seasons and won 297 games, is the only Brave who remains a higher salary than Aaron. Spahn's 1959 salary was estimated at $60,000.

Second-base candidate Chuck Cottler, who hit .326 for Louisville of the American Association, also signed with the Braves Monday to bring their winless list to 22. Cottler, who hopes to win the regular job from Red Schoendienst, will receive the "long look" from Manager

CHUCK DRESSEN during spring training.

Ray Herbert, 30-year-old right-hander who had an 11-11 record last season, agreed to terms with the Kansas City Athletics. Herbert, who will report with the rest of the A's battery men at West Palm Beach, next Sunday, was only unsigned Giants.

Stu Miller indicated that he is close to signing when he left San Mateo, Calif., by auto for the San Francisco Giants' Phoenix, Ariz., training camp. Miller, 47, with a 2.84 earned run average last season, and first-base man outfielder Orlando Cepeda are the only unsigned Giants.

Yank Pacing Olympic Skaters

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI)—The United States, in the midst of another speed skating controversy, seemed sure to get out of the Olympic also-ran category today on the shining silver blades of Carol Heiss.

Queen Carol, three-times world champion and already leading her 23 competitors by a wide margin, should pick up the gold medal in ladies' figure skating. And that would put a Yank on the top pedestal of the victory stand for the first time in the games.

The U. S. team, point-blanked Monday in the unofficial scoring, also could pick up a bronze medal in this competition if Barbara Ann Roles of Temple City, Calif., can hold her third place standing after final tabulations.

And there is a chance that one of the beauty queens of the U. S. giant slalom ski team could win a medal. It might be pitted against Penny Pitou of Laconia, N. H., All-American beauty Betsy Snite of Norwich, Vt., or Linda Meyer of Mammoth Lakes, Calif. All three have a strong chance.

But there seems no chance for victory in the other two events—the men's 15-kilometer cross-country, and the ladies' 3000-meter speed skating.

The speed-skating members of the U. S. team are in rebellion — and it is doubtful that the Yankee skaters can be depended on to give much of a challenge to the crack athletes from Russia and the other European nations.

Several of the U. S. team members complained to Irving Jaffee, former U. S. Olympic Champion that they were getting no attention from their coach or manager, Jeanne Ashworth, Wilmington, Mass., who has made the best showing of the U. S. skaters, told Jaffee.

"I could have been helped a lot if we had a coach and manager here who knew something about Olympic skating or were really interested in the welfare of the team."

She said the only coaching she had received was from Russian Klara Guseva, winner of the 1,000 meter race. Miss Ashworth finished 8th in this race; third in the 500 meters and 11th in the 1,500 meters.

"Most of the time we could only practice in the chill of the almost zero weather in the evenings at 8 p.m.," complained Miss Ashworth, "and we would very rarely see our coach or manager when we trained."

The member of skater Kathleen Mulholland complained to Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, on conditions. Brundage confirmed to United Press International that Mrs. Mulholland had spoken to him regarding the complaint and he had advised her to take the matter up with J. Lyman Blagham, executive director of the U. S. Olympic Committee or Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee. Wilson said she had not contacted him, nor had Brundage.

Blagham is in the Olympic infirmary, recovering from a flu attack, and could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, the Russians pushed ahead in their rout of the unofficial team championship. They had chalked up 96 1-2 points against a surprisingly strong German team that had 60. Sweden was next with 29 — and the U.S., which failed to get a single point Monday — was fourth with 16. But there were plenty of European heroes Monday. Jean Vaurast, a 37-year-old French hill man, won the men's downhill on the icy slopes of Squaw Peak. Miss Guseva, a 23-year-old Russian school teacher, won the 1000-meter (about 4 miles) speed skating; and Georg Thomas, decided underdog, won the Nordic combined.

CANADA AND SWEDEN won the first two gold medals in the Eighth Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley, Calif. Barbara Wagner, 21, and Robert Paul, 22, of Toronto, Canada, taking the pairs skating championship and Sixten Jernberg, 31, of Sweden capturing the 80-kilometer (18 1/2-mile) cross-country ski race. At top, left, Jernberg plows through the snow during the race. At bottom, Sweden's Prince Bertil (center) congratulates Jernberg (right) and Rolf Ramgard (left), 25, after they finished first and second in the ski race. At top, right, Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul, already three times world champions, are shown in action at Squaw Valley. They have been skating together for eight years. At bottom, right, Barbara and Paul show their gold medals, after winning pairs-figure skating event.

Rain No Bother

A rainy night at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club Monday night enhanced excitement for an unusual card. More pari-mutuel action is scheduled tonight with 10 events starting at 8:10.

Neither the fans (who stayed dry and warm in the stands or clubhouse) or the greyhounds seemed to mind inclement weather. The hounds, regardless of rain, tend to business—which in this case is Swiftie, the mechanical rabbit.

Favorites in tonight's featured Grade-A ninth race is veteran standout Rocky MacGinty, a fast-closing heavy greyhound owned by Arthur Bower. Rocky will be romping in quest of his fourth season victory. The 67-pounder is rated a 5-to-2 choice from the five-box.

Warren Spahn, who has had 10 20-victory seasons and won 297 games, is the only Brave who remains a higher salary than Aaron. Spahn's 1959 salary was estimated at $60,000.

Probe Of Payola Could Lead Into Store Clerk Investigations

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By now we all know all about "payola." But how about "spiffs?" When I say "spiffs" I'm not just making cat noises. I'm talking about the way that retail clerks make themselves a little extra scratch.

Suppose I go into a department store to buy someone a bottle of perfume for Christmas. I have a stupid look on my face and the sales lady sizes me up—correctly—as a bloke who knows nothing about perfume.

She waves a scent called "Love in the Hayloft" under my nose, extolls it as the Eve's apple of perfumery and sells me a hot couple of ounces before I can consider the consequences.

Chances are the sales lady is on somebody's "spiff" list. That is, in addition to drawing her salary from the store she is getting paid by a perfume manufacturer to tout "Love in the Hayloft" over other brands the store carries.

I am told that such payments, known as "spiffs" or "push money," are widespread in the retail trade. I used perfume as an arbitrary example; it happens on many products. It also takes many forms.

For instance, a drug store clerk might be told that if he sells a certain number of bottles of a certain headache remedy, he can have four bottles for himself. Then he can sell the four bottles and pocket the proceeds.

This also can figure in the allotment of display space in a store. The manufacturer who is paying "push money" is likely to get his product on the front row of the shelf.

The Federal Trade Commission, as you know, has been cracking down on "payola." Well, I can't see that paying a disc jockey to plug a certain record is much different from "push money."

I called up Daniel J. McCauley Jr., the FTC general counsel, and learned that he has been having some thoughts along the same line. In fact, he raised that very question recently in a speech to a business group.

Under present rules, it is okay for a manufacturer to pay push money to a clerk so long as the clerk's employer knows about it. So far, there is no requirement that they let the customer in on their little secret.

McCauley told me there was a good possibility the FTC would reconsider, in the light of the furor over payola, whether a consumer disclosure rule should apply to "spiffs" as well.

Proves 'Moving' TV Vignette 'Our American Heritage'

By FRED DANES
NEW YORK (UPI)—Just about any part of the Ulysses S. Grant story you choose to see in the vignettes in the television series "Our American Heritage" will be a moving vignette, if properly handled.

Sunday night, NBC-TV's "Our American Heritage" series connected a number of these vignettes in "Shadow of a Soldier," by John Whedon and came up with a glowing, absorbing human document. The credit for this triumph goes to Whedon, who perceived the solidity of the military man of unimpeachable bearing, and actor James Whitmore's skill in capturing Grant's personality.

Quietly and with great compassion, the story traced Grant's ups and downs. We went from his years as a reluctant West Point cad to his final hours as a man dying of throat cancer. In those hours, Grant struggled to complete his memoirs in order to provide for his wife and children, who had suffered with him when a crooked business partner left the Grant family close to ruin. The play didn't go into Grant's disastrous experiences as President, perhaps because they would add much to the revealed qualities and weaknesses of the man.

Of course, the fact that Grant once drank heavily is now part of every schoolboy's gossip and every comedian's joke. But Whedon's script, which borrowed heavily from the books by Bruce Catton and Lloyd Lewis, depicted Grant as one who drank because

Two Couples Rescued After Crash Landing

HELENA Mont. (UPI) — A single-engine four-seater plane took off from Great Falls, Mont., and headed southwest for the gay spots of Las Vegas, Nev.

Ernest J. McCabe Jr., 41, a lawyer and veteran pilot of World War II, was at the controls. His buddy, Jack Flynn, 38, also a pilot, sat next to him.

Seated behind them, chatting jolly about getting away from the cold Montana winter, were their wives, Alison McCabe and Florence Flynn.

Shortly after the plane took off Sunday they ran into a snow storm, fog began to form on the wings. The plane became sluggish; the controls hard to manage.

"They were forced to crash land in four-foot deep snow, just 100 feet short of jagged mountainous rock."

"We were going down so fast we could think of nothing but how we would hit the clearing," said Mrs. Flynn. "When I opened my eyes and saw everyone was moving, I couldn't believe it."

Their injuries were slight—minor cuts and bruises. The plane was only slightly damaged.

Then began the ordeal of awaiting rescue and survival in sub-freezing temperatures in snow up to the arm pits.

McCabe and Flynn joked about their predicament. As near as McCabe could figure out they were somewhere near Helena, on the side of a mountain about 8,000 feet above sea level. This timely information immediately became the brunt of some humorous jokes.

"The guys kept joking back and forth," Mrs. McCabe said. "If they didn't joke, they knew we would cry."

"It was awful," she said. "We didn't have any overcoats. We didn't even have a sandy hat. Luckily we had lots of socks and we could go to the bonfire, warm our feet and put on another pair of socks. The snow was murder to get through."

The two couples spent the night in the plane, cuddled together for warmth.

When the skies cleared the next morning the men built a signal fire.

A short time later one of the two aircraft searching for the two couples spotted their fire and radioed for a helicopter. The copter took them to a hospital here for treatment of their injuries and frostbite.

Electric Carillon Spreading Sound Of Church Music

SHELLEYSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — The modern electric carillon, invented just 25 years ago, is spreading beyond the musical boundaries of its original religious purpose to an internationally responsive audience.

Some 6,000 carillons have been installed throughout the world. They are played at Vatican City, Arlington National Cemetery, Father Flanagan's Boys' Town, churches, banks, insurance companies and even in Michigan State Prison.

It all began in 1866 in the basement of the home of George Schlimmerich, who was in the radio business at the time.

Schlimmerich was intrigued with the large brass bells which have pealed religious anthems from hundreds of European church towers for centuries. What troubled Schlimmerich was the fact that these bells weighed thousands of pounds and playing them required the strength of a busy carillonneur.

Schlimmerich believed there was an easier way, and his basement experiments led to the development of the electric carillon. Its principle, achieved only after many months of research, is simple.

Manual On How To Wash General's Dog Costs $11.15

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That GI manual on how to wash the general's dog, serve his drinks and shine his shoes cost $11.15 per copy, the Air Force disclosed today.

A master sergeant and three civilians devoted a total of 230 days in composing the "on-the-job training" manual. Just 500 copies were published and distributed to enlisted men assigned as aides to general, at a total publishing cost of $5,372.71.

These vital statistics were published by a House appropriations subcommittee which had called on the Air Force for an explanation of the controversial manual.

The manual, which popped up at a House armed services subcommittee hearing on Feb. 2, is one of several put out by the Air Force which have stirred controversy and sparked two congressional investigations.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities plans to quiz the Air Force Thursday on why it withdrew a manual which contained charges of Communist infiltration of some churches. Walter said the charges were "absolutely true."

An armed services subcommittee, on the other hand, is laying groundwork for an inquiry into how this manual came to be issued.

Explaining the manual for general's aides, the Air Force said some of the contents had been "misconstrued," or could be, anyway.

This presumably referred to sections on how to bathe a dog, shine shoes, clean toilets, mop, dust, wait on the table, and greet guests.

"The fact that certain tasks or procedures were included in the manual does not indicate that such duties were to be performed regularly by the airman aide as a routine part of his duty," the Air Force said.

Ballad Singer Becoming Idol

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Johnny Mathis, who would rather sing than talk, is a pretty good example that the balladeer may be replacing the rock-and-roller as the idol of the teen-agers.

Mathis ignores rock and roll in favor of the ballad and sales of his records have skyrocketed among the younger set. Not only that, he is lining up a steady backing of adults, as evidenced by the success of his recent night club engagements.

His success story began only four years ago when Mathis applied for a singing spot in the Black Hawk cafe in his hometown of San Francisco. Since then he has filled supper club appearances in top spots across the nation.

An introductory to the movie "The Best of Everything" by Mathis has boosted his singing of the theme song toward an Academy Award nomination this year.

New 'Racial' Protest Shaping Up

ATLANTA (UPI) — Three weeks ago today a "bull session" in a college dormitory supplied the spark for what may become the first full-scale assault by Southern Negroes on the nerve center of racial segregation in the South.

The attack is on Southern customs and Southern habits — not Southern laws.

The movement began with Negro college students at Greensboro, N. C. Feb. 2 and raced throughout North Carolina into Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee and Florida. It appeared in New York City and in Baltimore, Md.

The Greensboro students walked into the local F. W. Woolworth store, part of a national chain that has no racial barriers but follows "local customs," and demanded service at the lunch counter. When they were refused they took seats and announced they would stay until served.

"They serve us standing up," said Rolland Hannah, a student at Greensboro's North Carolina A & T College and one of the "sit-in" leaders.

"We want to be able to eat sitting down like everyone else," Hannah said. "We will not settle for anything but integration of the lunch counters, and we have no intention of stopping there."

All insisted the Greensboro demonstration was spontaneous. But the local president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called in another organization to coordinate and lead the campaign.

The Congress for Racial Equality (CORE) of New York sent Gordon Carey, 23, a white man, to spur the Greensboro demonstration into something bigger.

Leaders of other demonstrations in other North Carolina cities denied that CORE had a part in their plans. But CORE managed similar demonstrations in Tallahassee, and other cities.

The NAACP encouraged the movement and provided lawyers for those arrested on charges ranging from trespassing to disturbing the peace. It denies, however, any part in the organization or leadership.

"We are trying to show Negroes the best way to demonstrate," Carey said. "We are trying to show them that it is better to hit one chain store than different stores."

There are no laws requiring segregation at the lunch counters of drug, dime and department stores in the South. There only is long-standing custom.

Negroes long have been accepted customers at such stores—but never at the lunch counters.

Ingrid Bergman's Daughter Marries Electronics Executive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Actress Ingrid Bergman's daughter went back to classes at Mills College today and her husband of less than 48 hours returned to his job with an electronics firm.

Jennie Ann (Pia) Lindstrom, 31, and Fuller E. Callaway III, 28, revealed Monday they were married "on the spur of the moment" Sunday night in the county jail at Elko, Nev.

Miss Lindstrom said that while driving back to San Francisco after visiting friends in Sun Valley, Idaho, they decided to get married and accomplished their mission in the police radio room of the county jail.

It was the first marriage for Miss Lindstrom and the second for Callaway.

The pretty daughter of the world famous actress said any honeymoon would have to wait and that she and her husband, the heir to a Georgia textile fortune, would return to "business as usual."

CID Boss Faces Space Gap Queries

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles was called by Senate investigators today to explain why the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff did not see certain intelligence figures on Russian missile strength.

Dulles was summoned to a closed meeting of the Senate space and preparedness committees. Members said they would ask him why Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Joint Chiefs chairman, did not have the figures when he assured the group the "missile gap" had been narrowed.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said in advance he hoped Dulles could "straighten out some confusion" between the two men.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Dulles testified Jan. 20 that intelligence estimates showed the Russians would have more missiles on launching pads in 1960 and mid-1962 than had been indicated one year ago.

Testimony released Tuesday night showed Twining conceded on Feb. 9 he never saw the year-old estimates that Dulles gave the committee.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked Twining if the military chiefs "made their calculations as to our proper defense without knowing last year's teacher figures."

THE REASON FOR LEAP YEAR is shown to Sanford Grammar School students in this poster made by Mrs. Alice Grant's sixth graders. The poster shows how it takes 365 1/4 days for the earth to go around the sun. Instead of having one-fourth of a day in each year we

Van Hoy Available If Asked To Serve

City Bond Trustee J. H. Van Hoy, discussed as a possible appointee to the County Commission from District 2, said today he would accept the appointment if it were offered.

Van Hoy was asked if he would be available for the county post by Volle Williams Sr., a longtime friend, who said he made the inquiry on the suggestion of city commissioners.

The District 2 commission seat has been vacant since November and appointment by the governor, or special election after 60 days, is required to fill it.

One reason previously expressed publicly for the delay in filling the District 2 vacancy was that no qualified person would accept the appointment at the time.

Van Hoy, former member of the Charleston, S. C., planning board, was mentioned as a good man to represent the Sanford district during a discussion of an item on the City Commission agenda Monday night.

He said he never has been in politics, but "would be available if the community wanted me to serve."

Mayor Earl Higginbotham said today a Herald headline Tuesday which said "City Leaders Back Van Hoy For County Commission Post" might have been misleading.

City Manager Warren Knowles took a stronger approach. He wrote a letter to the County Commission saying The Herald "carried misleading and inaccurate headlines" and that The Herald had "been requested to run a retraction and clarify the entire matter."

Herald Publisher Walter Gielow said he felt that such an important public matter as a prolonged vacancy on the County Commission from the county's most populous district should have been discussed by all civic leaders and officials, and he commended the city commissioners for bringing the matter up on their agenda.

"I don't feel that the report of that public discussion carries the implication which Mr. Knowles referred to in his letter and certainly none was intended," Gielow said.

The report of a discussion by city commissioners of the continued vacancy on the County Commission from District 2, which includes the city, said that the commissioners decided to ask Van Hoy if he would accept their recommendation for the county post.

The story said that City Commissioner Jimmy Crapps "suggested the board back Van Hoy and Mayor Earl Higginbotham agreed he would be a good administrator if he could be tempted to accept the post."

Higginbotham said, when asked if he thought the story gave the wrong impression, that the reference to "backing" Van Hoy probably would be construed as meaning political support by the commissioners. That, he said, was not the case.

Knowles said in his letter to the county board that "we wish to assure you that the Commission on this story that the City Commission was backing an individual for the County Commission could not have been further from the truth."

Knowles' letter advised the county commissioners:

"You gentlemen can rest assured that there was neither discussion nor thought of the City Commission actively participating or interfering in any phase of the county function. The purpose of a very brief discussion was to provide help if possible. We are sorry to say that the newspaper account did not convey this intention."

$590,000 Jail, Courthouse Plans Given Initial Approval

The County Commission Tuesday authorized Architect James Gamble Rogers to proceed with preliminary plans for the new county jail and remodeling of present courthouse facilities at a combined estimated cost of $590,000.

The board ordered the Winter Park architectural firm to draw up working plans within 60 days for the two-story jail with a capacity for 116 prisoners at an approximate cost of $480,000. The courthouse project is expected to cost $100,000.

When working plans are ready, the board plans to put Fiscal Agent D. Kirk Gunby to work paving the way for a bond issue, setting the mileage and validation proceedings.

Chairman John Kridler emphasized the board does not intend to put the county in debt for a long period of time, but plans to pay the money back "in five years."

H. W. Johnson, an associate of Rogers, presented two plans for the new jail to the commission.

An alternate plan calls for a three story 225 prisoner jail to cost $55,000, but the board agreed that under the first plan it could add another floor later if desired.

Charles L. Hobbs told the commissioners he was "pleased" with the preliminary plans and that the two-story building would meet the needs for the next five-to-seven years.

According to preliminary plans for the jail, the first floor will be used for administrative purposes and will be airconditioned. The second floor will be the cell block.

Preliminary plans also revealed adequate parking facilities in the area near the jail which will be located adjacent to the courthouse.

In discussing the cost estimate of the jail, Johnson emphasized the figures may be higher when bids are let.

Johnson and the board also went over preliminary plans for remodeling of the courthouse. He said he had spoken to all department heads and the majority was in favor of the changes proposed.

Plans include relocating the County Commission chambers on the ground floor, with a seating capacity of 75; an eight-passenger elevator; additional space for the tax collector and tax assessor and a law library in the present County Commission chambers.

"There won't be any fancy frills in the project in an effort to keep the costs low," Johnson added.

Kridler said he hopes to invite the public to meetings when working plans are presented so interested persons can give their views on the two projects.

County's Bookkeeping System Going Modern

Circuit Court Clerk David Gatchel plans to revise the bookkeeping system in the courthouse and set up an entirely mechanical operation.

Gatchel asked the County Commission Tuesday to consider purchase of a $6,000 bookkeeping machine that will eliminate duplication and consolidate all tabulation done in the clerk's office.

The board approved the request and Gatchel plans to study various machines of the type desired now in use in neighboring counties.

The court clerk said there is only one small bookkeeping machine in the office at the present and most of the tabulation checks and vouchers is done by hand.

Commissioner Vernon Dunn stressed the importance of the new machine in eliminating the "antiquated accounting system in the courthouse."

However, Chairman John Kridler told Gatchel there is not enough funds available from the current budget for purchase of the machine. If the machine is purchased, funds must come out of next year's budget, Kridler said.

Rio Gives Ike Wildest Welcome In City's History

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI)—President Eisenhower came flying down to Rio on the eve of a critical time today, and received the wildest welcome in this city's uproarious history.

So dense was the welcoming crowd and so tumultuous was his reception that it took Eisenhower's aide 15 minutes to move his blocks from dockside.

Blizzards of confetti rained down. Screams of "Vee leek Kee" filled the air. Sirens roared.

Pleased as punch, Eisenhower alternately stood and sat in the back of his convertible, waved his arms in greeting and gave the through his famous grin.

In his speech of welcome, President Juscelino Kubitschek told Eisenhower the vast throngs had come because of their great "esteem and admiration" for the U. S. president.

"This city which acclaims you, Mr. President," Kubitschek said, "has always been distinguished by fidelity to the cause of democracy, always has been proud to fight for liberty and self-government."

Eisenhower responded that a "Brazil and the United States have always lived together in peace and friendship."

He said he hoped his visit would emphasize the desire of the people and government of the U. S. "to strengthen the bonds of friendship."

With that, Eisenhower and Kubitschek started out on a triumphal ride through the city. Police had to force the crowd back.

Longwood's Christ Church, Episcopal, has been left a bequest of $100 by the late Mrs. Bessie Alford Ballance, Charles Morrison, church treasurer, revealed today for the tax collector and tax assessor and a law library in the present County Commission chambers.

"There won't be any fancy frills in the project in an effort to keep the costs low," Johnson added.

Kridler said he hopes to invite the public to meetings when working plans are presented so interested persons can give their views on the two projects.

State Okay Of Health Center Expected Soon

Final approval for the Shoemaker Construction Co. of Sanford to start work on the new County Health Center is expected by the middle of next week, Architect John Burton told the County Commission Tuesday.

Once the Florida Development and Public Health Commissions approve the $65,010 bid of the Sanford firm, construction will start within two weeks on the new building to be located between Eight and Ninth Sts. on Hwy. 17-92, Burton added.

Burton told the county commissioners that equipment in the building will bring the complete project cost to approximately $120,000.

The board had estimated the proposed facility about $100,000 and has been notified that a $5,000 grant is available through the federal Hill-Burton hospital aid act.

Titan Achieves Test Goal

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An Air Force Titan missile streaked down the Atlantic range today on its longest test flight to date. The Air Force hoped to recover a data-laden nose cone.

The big rocket achieved separation and ignition of its huge second stage, the main objective of the shot. It was the second success out of the last five shots.

The sleek, 110-ton missile, largest of America's air rockets, rose from its pad at 11:03 a. m. It arched high toward the southeast in what appeared to be a perfect flight.

The Air Force sent the nose cone of the two stage rocket into a target area near Ascension Island, about 5,000 statute miles from Cape Canaveral. Recovery crews were stationed there to attempt to get the data capsule from the water.

It was by far the most ambitious flight planned to date for the 60-foot tall Titan, which had one unimpressive single success in four shots during the past nine months.

On Feb. 2, the Titan achieved powered flight for its upper stage for the first time in a test of slightly more than 3,000 miles. A Titan blew up on the launching pad Aug. 14 because of premature

Dixie Senators Threaten All Out 'Rights' Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Battle lines lightened in the Senate today while the Senate was in session, Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) objected. Long, one of the southern bloc, is a committee member.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the southern bloc, said a speedup ordered by Democratic leaders was "legislative torture," and served notice he will prevent legislative short cuts.

Russell's warning of retaliation was quickly followed by a similar warning from Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson asked unanimous consent for the Finance Committee to meet today while the Senate was in session, Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) objected. Long, one of the southern bloc, is a committee member.

Russell's notice came as Johnson told newsmen he "hopes" the Senate will "reach some votes next week."

The Texas said both sides are "entitled to consideration" and their "viewpoints must be met." The only thing he is trying to do, he said, is to arrange sessions to accommodate both.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said if the Senate carries on "sunrise to sunrise" sessions starting Monday "we might finally get to a vote."

But he said he has no desire at this point to try to limit debate under the Senate's gag rule.

"Around the clock sessions are more likely to get the job done," he told reporters. The chamber met Tuesday night until 10:11 p. m.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) said the "honorable course" would give the "honorable course" laid out by Senate leaders a chance to work before taking further steps.

"Of course, if this does not work, we will have to consider other measures," he said. These could include a closure move to shut off debate by a two-thirds vote of all senators present.

Children Aid Mom In Delivery Of New Baby

GREEN, R. I. (UPI)—Mrs. Louis Repose felt the familiar pangs and ordered her five younger children to bed.

Then she summoned her daughters Carol, 10, and Sandra, 9, to her bedroom. She told them what was about to happen and instructed them in what to do.

The girl's father, Louis, was at work. They have no telephone so he couldn't be summoned in time.

The two little girls, following their mother's directions, delivered their little brother Monday night.

"Everything worked fine," Repose said proudly. "My wife stayed conscious all the time and said the girls how to do things. They've all been close calls. I had to rush to get my wife to the hospital for six of the girls and just about made it—all except for Carol."

"I delivered her myself."

Seminole's Two Legislators To Run

State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick today announced they will seek reelection to the legislature.

Both said they expect to qualify with the secretary of state the latter part of the week.

Cleveland has served four terms in the legislature and has been a member of the House Finance and House Rules Committee. He was House speaker pro tem in 1957.
