COOLIDGE WANTS INAUGURAL COST LOW AS POSSIBLE

Executive Wins In Determination to Have Cost Shaved To Necessities; Capital Will Spend Sum of $500,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Calvin Coolidge's ideas on economy were made applicable Tuesday to the ceremonies of his inaugural as President of the United States.

Having found Mr. Coolidge unrelenting in his desire for a simple and inexpensive inauguration, the Washington inaugural committee, composed of business men of the Capital, at a meeting Tuesday rescinded virtually all of the appropriations made for the unofficial part of the ceremonies and voted to release from payment subscription pledges amounting to $100,000. Contrasted with inaugurations of a decade or more ago, when the unofficial part of the ceremonies represented expenditures running into several hundreds of thousands of dollars, the Coolidge inauguration office promises to involve a local cost of probably less than $500.

Erection of stands at the Capital, where official ceremonies will be held, will cost about $38,000, but will be provided for by Congress.

Plans abandoned included preparation for construction of a court of honor along Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House; the erection of stands elsewhere along the same avenue and an evening display of fireworks on the Mall.

Mr. Coolidge's insistence that the inaugural parade be held to units of the army and navy stationed in the vicinity of Washington and to such Governors of states as desire to come with their staffs numbering not to exceed 100, led to the abandonment of local plans.

Business men of Washington have been accustomed to subscribe large sums for the unofficial ceremonies and count on receipts from the sale of tickets to reviewing stands along Pennsylvania Avenue for reimbursement and some time for a dividend.

This year, with Mr. Coolidge determined on a parade requiring not more than forty-five minutes at the most to pass a given point, there appeared to be little sale for the tickets to stand and consequently little chance of reimbursements for subscribers.

LITTLE RELIEF FOR FARMER IS EXPECTED NOW

Hopes For Aid Fade While House Endeavors to Carry Out Some of Recommendations of Farm Commission

Marketing Measure Expected To Pass

Bill Aiding Cattle Raisers Put Through House Tuesday; To Rush Market Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Although the House moved swiftly Tuesday to carry out at least some of the recommendations of the President's Agricultural Commission, Senate leaders still were doubtful that much if any of this legislation could be enacted at this session.

With practically no discussion and without record votes, the House put through the Strong bill designated primarily to aid cattle raisers and the Purnell measure granting federal aid to agricultural experimental stations.

Marketing Aid May Be Won. At the same time, Chairman Haugen of the House Agricultural Committee, conferred with committee members and members of the President's Commission with reference to drafting of a bill embodying its recommendations for Government aid in the co-operative marketing movement.

In advance of these developments the House Committee continued and the Senate Committee inaugurated hearings on the Commission's recommendations. B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the Farmers to Consumer's League, assailed the recommendations before the House Committee, while William M. Jardine, a member of the Commission, explained to the Senate Committee the principles underlying them.

Mr. Jardine was subjected to questioning by committee members which developed a rather wide divergence of views with respect to needed legislation. Some members said afterwards that it was doubtful that ever the committee could agree on a farm aid program, and members of the farm bloc expressed doubt that, with the farm already facing the Senate, it would be possible to get through any measure that would afford substantial relief.

The Strong bill approved by the House and sent to the Senate, is in the form of an amendment to the Agricultural Credit Act of 1923 and would make paper of national agricultural credit corporations eligible to re-discount with the federal intermediate credit banks.

While designed specifically for the aid of cattle raisers, the amendment is broad enough in its terms to include any agricultural activity. After his conference with committee members and members of the President's Commission, Chairman Haugen said he hoped to have the co-operative marketing bill ready tomorrow when the committee plans to question Chairman Carey of the Commission.

The present expectation is that the hearings will be concluded this week. Representative Haugen now has the measure in mind, it would authorize co-operative marketing organizations to organize clearing houses and terminal marketing associations to facilitate the crop movement. It also would get up a federal co-operative marketing board of five members, the Secretary of Agriculture and four others to be named by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

SANFORD IS GIVEN BALL FRANCHISE IN STATE LEAGUE

Loop Is Re-Organized With Six Clubs Holding Charters; Will Play 60 Games and Late Series For the Flag

With the re-organization Monday night of the Florida State Baseball league at a meeting held in Tampa, Sanford was granted the franchise formerly held by Daytona. Sanford business men who are sponsoring the organization of a baseball club here, were represented at the meeting by C. L. Britt and Joe Chittenden.

Steps toward the organization of the Sanford club will be taken after the return of Mr. Britt and Mr. Chittenden. Those sponsoring the club are planning to secure the services of players of sufficient ability to give Sanford a winning team.

Two Halves to Be Played. The playing schedule as adopted at the meeting consists of 60 games divided into halves. The winners of the halves will play a post season series to determine the winner of the pennant. The six cities in the league are Sanford, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Orlando, Lakeland and Bradenton.

Seven applications for the management of the Sanford team have been received. Among those seeking the position are Tommy Leach and Harry Swain, both of whom are widely known in baseball circles. The engagement of a manager, it is understood, will be the first step taken by the local club owners in building up their team. It is understood that a number of fast professional and semi-professional players are under consideration.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Senate ratified the German commercial treaty, with reservations. A break developed in the House ranks of the La Follette insurgents. Robert Levy resigned as United States marshal at Chicago and Palmer E. Anderson was named for the place.

Hearings were held before the Senate and House Agricultural Committees on farm relief legislation. President Coolidge is opposed to abandonment of the flexible provision of the Tariff Act. President Coolidge accepted an invitation to speak at the Norwegian celebration at St. Paul and Minneapolis, June 8.

A resolution declaring naval officers did not appear before it under restraint was adopted by the House Naval Committee. The House Judiciary Committee asked authority to investigate charges against Federal Judge English of the Eastern Illinois District and recommended against proceedings against Federal Judge Baker of Northern West Virginia. The House passed the Strong bill to facilitate re-discount of co-operative marketing paper, and Purnell bill extending federal aid to agriculture experiment stations.

PLANS FOR NEW JAIL APPROVED BY COMMISSION

Commissioners Authorize Advertisements For Bids and Plan Speedy Erection of Handsome New Building

Approximate Cost Of Building $50,000

Contracts For Furnishing And Equipping City Hall Awarded By Commission

Plans for the city jail, which is to be erected in rear of the City Hall at a cost estimated at $50,000, have been approved by the City Commission and advertisement for bids has been authorized. The building will be what is termed of the "Florida" type of architecture, presenting an exterior made attractive through the use of red tile roofing, and decorations appropriate to the section of Sanford.

The main entrance will be from Park Avenue. On the first floor will be the lobby, the sergeant's desk, the court room and private offices for the chief of police and the judge of the municipal court. A separate entrance is provided for negroes. An emergency cell and a hospital ward will be provided and plans include a kitchen.

To Have Modern Equipment. In the cell rooms upstairs the whites and negroes are to be kept apart. The cells, which are of steel, are enclosed by steel corridors which provide a runway for exercise and in time of emergency will increase the capacity of the jail from 48 to more than 100.

The building is to be re-entranced and will be fireproof throughout. An automatic looking system is provided on the cell doors. At times of emergency, officers may enter through a drive-way which is barred by an iron grill. Steps lead from the cell rooms on the second floor. The plans were drawn by Elton J. Moughtin, Sanford architect who has designed a number of public buildings in the city.

Bids to furnish the new City Hall were opened by the commission. The Coleman Gift and Stationary shop was awarded the contract of furnishing the office an at a cost of $2,888.25. Bids were submitted. The Peabody School furniture company named $3,444.28 as the amount for which it would supply chairs for the auditorium and were given the contract. The chairs are to be of three classes: 456 assembly chairs for the level portion of the auditorium; 190 opera chairs for the sloping portion of the floor; and 278 opera chairs for the balcony.

The down stairs chairs are to be finished in oak, matching the finish of the building. The furniture company was represented by J. H. Perse and Company, of Savannah. Contractors Are Summoned. R. J. Galleppie and John Emile, who are under contract to the city for the construction of a dock and a breakwater, were summoned with the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, through James and Paxson, agents and the El Dorado Company, to appear Feb. 16 at 2 o'clock to show cause why the contract should not be canceled. The motion adopted by the commission declares that the contractors failed to build the dock and the breakwater within the time limit set and according to specifications.

The following streets were ordered paved: First Street east to Mellonville Avenue; Seminole Boulevard from Sanford Avenue east to Summerlin Avenue; Chapman, Locust, Lake View, San Juan San Carlos and Lee Avenues north from Union Avenue to Lake Monroe.

G. A. DeCottes, city attorney, was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the construction of each side of the bulkhead. A plat of the First Street extension, submitted by the city engineer, was approved.

Woman's Club Will Conduct Tag Drive For Local Hospital

Members of the Sanford Woman's club, directed by the welfare committee will begin Friday a tag day drive in an effort to raise $2,000 for the benefit of the Fernand-Laughton Memorial Hospital, it was announced Wednesday morning. The tag day drive will be followed by a dance at the Armory beginning at 9:30 o'clock the proceeds of which will be turned to the aid of the hospital.

Club members will picket throughout the day the corners of the downtown section. Hotels will be visited and members of the committee will canvass the office buildings. In this way it is hoped by the club members to reach every person in Sanford at some time during the day.

MRS. STARLING IS CALLED BY DEATH SUDDENLY TODAY

Had Allighted From Auto Near Her Home When Stricken By Heart Failure; Was Active Church, Club Worker

Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison Starling, wife of B. J. Starling, died Wednesday morning of heart failure as she alighted from an automobile driven by her husband in front of her home at 321 Magnolia Avenue. Death was instantaneous.

Earlier in the morning Mrs. Starling appeared in good health. After she left the car she stood for a moment then sank to the ground. A doctor was summoned at once but she was dead when he arrived.

Mrs. Starling had been a resident of Sanford for 18 years. She was born in 1872 in Paulding county, Georgia. She married Mr. Starling in March, 1888. She was organizer and first regent of the Sanford chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and was a member of the Sanford Woman's Club and of the John Story Cleghorn chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She was a member of the Methodist church.

During her life in Sanford, Mrs. Starling was prominent as a church and organization worker. In each organization to which she belonged, she always took an active part, working wholeheartedly for any cause she embraced.

Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. B. Peterson, of Jamestown, N. Y., two grand children, Robert Stalling Peterson and A. B. Peterson, Jr.; a brother, Edward Harrison and two sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Robert Simms, of Jacksonville.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Rabbi Makes Talk To Kiwanis About "Friendly Spirit"

Rabbi Isaac Moses, of New York, was the principal speaker Wednesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club held in the Seminole Cafe. A number of other visitors made short addresses.

"Friendliness" was the theme of Rabbi Moses' address. He complimented Florida on its spirit of co-operation and progress and declared that his stay here had been very pleasant.

An address of welcome to the visitors of the club was made by Judge James G. Sharon, L. U. Rockwell, a visitor at the meeting, contributed a vocal solo to the program. H. A. Winston was welcomed into the club as a new member. Other visitors made short addresses.

Hope of Extricating Imprisoned Man Is Running High While Sappers Dig Below

Banana Oil Odor Strengthens Hope

Continued Tests Are Made Showing Man Breathes Regularly

CAVE CITY, Feb. 11.—Hope of rescuing Floyd Collins ran high early today as diggers were working their way through a sandy strata, presumed by geologists to overlie the roof of Collins' cave-in. The odor of banana oil sprayed down the tunnel Sunday and Monday nights, rose through the floor heartening the diggers.

Twenty hours was given by workers at 9 o'clock this morning as the maximum time which they predict it will take to extricate Collins. If he is not out of the hole by that time, they will be sorely disappointed. They are hopeful of reaching him sooner, saying that it might happen at any minute.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday night considerable progress had been made in the side of the tunnel through the mud seam through which the banana oil odor was drifting and those in charge of the rescue work felt that Collins would be reached in a few hours.

Further tests with the amplification device attached to the electric wire leading down to Collins, late Tuesday gave what the physicians here asserted was absolute proof that Collins still is alive.

A series of rummy noises interrupted the irregularly timed faint rattles in the cave, indicating the physicians declared, that Collins was coughing or moving about.

The "breathing" sounds in the receivers, at the even rate of 20 times a minute after about 10 o'clock, the sounds had ceased, dropped to 11 or 12 times a minute, indicating physicians said, that Collins had fallen asleep.

M. E. S. Posey, secretary of the state highway commission and the engineering representative of Gov. Fields, said the banana oil odor became apparent when the shaft reached 37 feet, and now was much stronger. He said the odor was so strong that he is convinced the shaft is within 10 feet of its goal.

The shaft is now somewhat more than 40 feet deep, H. T. Carmichael, director of the work, said. Some dirt was mixed with the rock uncovered this evening and workers expected to make faster progress before the strata again changes.

No tests with amplifying devices to determine whether or not the cave victim lives have been made since early morning when experimenters expressed the opinion that Collins still breathed, although much more slowly than yesterday.

Chief interest swung Tuesday to Cave City where a military court of inquiry heard several witnesses relate what they asserted had done and what has been done to aid Collins. The court met upon the call of Gov. William J. Fields to investigate all angles of the cave tragedy.

PASTOR USED HIS CHURCH AS "LOVE NEST" SAYS WIFE

North Dakota Minister Is Re- moved From Pastorate For Meeting His Sweetheart in Church North Dakota Town

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—The story of a "love nest" in a Presbyterian church in South Dakota, occupied by a Free Methodist evangelist and a girl, pastor of 22 was related in the court of domestic relations here when Mrs. Emma Sturdevant, wife of Charles Sturdevant, the evangelist, had her husband arrested and brought into court.

The neglected wife says the girl, "Red" McKee, now residing in Oak Park, but formerly pastor in charge of a congregation at Valley City, S. D.

A few months ago, Sturdevant was retired by officials in his church for immoral acts and dismissed. His wife says he then started preaching independently and has been appearing in various Wisconsin communities.

"My husband is woman crazy," said Mrs. Sturdevant, a fine looking, motherly person, who has four children, one a girl in her early teens. "Since my husband has become enamored with women parsons, choir singers and others, in the last four years, he has not contributed one cent to our support."

The girl pastor, it is said wrote the "evangelist" to meet her in Valley City, prior to the scandal. She was conducting a revival meeting, and after the services, it is said, she and the "evangelist" would to the "love nest" in the basement, which was fitted up as a study and a bedroom.

"I admit I was turned out of the church," said Sturdevant. "It also is true that the girl and I slept in the basement of the church at the same time, but everything was all right. I went to Wisconsin and tried to begin all over again, but my wife began writing letters."

"They throw rotten eggs at him at Woodstock," interjected his wife, "and ordered him out of town. The next day he put a little girl on a donkey and paraded her through the town, declaring he was persecuted."

Fashionable Home Turned Into Shop By Mrs. McAdoo Jr.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10—So that she may "do something worth while," Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., has decided to enter business for herself, and next week will convert her home into a fashionable interior decorating shop.

The daughter-in-law of the former secretary of the treasury discussed her plans an told why she will desert society for a career as a business woman.

"At first I thought I would get a job in one of the downtown antique stores," she said, "but then I hit upon this plan of having a shop right in my own home."

Mrs. McAdoo, frankly bored at the "inaction" of a society woman's life, feels that her work will be something worth while. She looks for no opposition from any of her family.

"My husband knows how much I want to do this and besides, I will be right at home all the time," she explained.

The first shipment of antiques, lamp shades, glazed chintzes and other art objects is on the way from New York. If business warrants, expansion will follow, she believes.

Mrs. McAdoo is still under 30. She married the son of the late President Wilson's son-in-law in 1922, six months after obtaining a divorce from Armour Ferguson, wealthy sportsman. She is the daughter of John R. Tackaberry of London.

Suicide Plunge Of Barnard Student Is Laid To Overstudy

NORWALK, Conn., Feb. 10. —Miss Helen Vosburgh, 23 daughter of Judge and Mrs. George E. Vosburgh of Norwalk, jumped from the window of her room on the eighth floor of Brooks Hall, Barnard college. Her crushed body was found on the concrete pavement below.

The strain of excessive study for the midyear examinations had unbalanced the mind of the young woman. Miss Vosburgh was a senior at Barnard. She held a brilliant place in her classes. When the college attendants rushed to the pavement Miss Vosburgh was still alive.

She was taken to Knickerbocker hospital, where she died without recovering consciousness sufficiently to make any statement. No notes were left. Only the evidences of Miss Loretta Bates, a student whose room adjoins that occupied by Miss Vosburgh, throws any light upon the suicide. Miss Bates said that at an early hour Miss Vosburgh came to her door and said: "I am Jesus Christ."

The fellow student conceived the idea that Miss Vosburgh was walking in her sleep and put her to bed. It was only a few hours after that time that Miss Vosburgh leaped from the window.

Judge Vosburgh came from Norwalk to get the body. He dissipated any ideas that a love affair had been the cause of his daughter's death.

New York state has 110 tuberculosis clinics.

A financial surplus of $224,000, 000 by the end of the next fiscal year is predicted by Chairman Madden of the Appropriations Committee. Government departments are being cut down to "rock bottom" operating expenses.

- When Sanford had only one hotel.

This Was Not So Long Ago

Since that time the population has doubled or trebled and realty values have increased proportionately. Many wise persons became wealthy because they had faith in Sanford and because they had the vision to invest in Sanford property.

Sanford Will Continue To Grow

The next ten years will witness a growth more startling and more extensive than that of the past ten years or than that which even the most optimistic have dreamed of. Fortunes will be made on Sanford real estate. Lots which now sell for $1,000 or $1,500 will readily bring as much as $5,000 in five years time.

Are You Awake To Your Opportunities

The Burt Mellon Development Company is offering the public the finest residential lots in Sanford which are absolutely incomparable as ideal homelites, for the extremely low price of $1,000. You will never be able to duplicate this offer in this city.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

A SONG OF THANKSGIVING.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men! O come, let us sing unto the Lord; let us come before His presence with thanksgiving. For He is our God, and we are the people of His pasture. Psalm 107: 8; 35: 1, 2, 7.

LOVE

Love is pain, and pleasure,
Love is dawn—and night,
Love is all that's tender,
Love is peace, and might.

Love brings balm for healing
Wounds that also has made,
Love makes hearts grow staunch
And gentle, bold, unafraid.

Love breathes wondrous musings,
Dreams dear and sweet,
And then he brings Reality,
And lays it at our feet.

Love gives all the beauty
One lovely world can hold,
He paints in pastel silver,
And shining, burnished gold.

Love is so tender, gracious,
Not one pain he doth trace,
Save in some hour's longing
For a dear, familiar face.

The sun hasn't set yet on Sun Yat Sen though he's still growing weaker.

Sanford is getting lots of good advertising throughout the state these days.

Speaking of Cave City, if they did it for publicity purposes, it was an unqualified success.

Some folks spend so much time changing their minds they don't have any time to make them up.

We don't know, but Arthur Brisbane and Brigadier General Mitchell should be warm personal friends.

Some business houses show a loss at the end of the year because they didn't spend enough on advertising.

Statistics show that there is one divorce for every eight marriages. What becomes of the rest of them nobody knows.

"Remember when you are right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are wrong, you can't afford to lose it."

The best thing about banks in Florida, where a warm sun shines the year around, they don't have to worry about "frozen credits."

When they see the Hagen-Kirkwood match Friday, a lot of Sanford folks will learn for the first time that Sanford has a golf course.

Napoleon said, "I have known the limits beyond which I could not use my legs and eyes, but I have never known bounds to my application."

There hasn't been a case of rabies in England since 1921. And our office boy says there wouldn't be in this country if you could get the real stuff.

Asheville is sending a big "Booster Special" to Florida. If they come to Sanford, our celery and lettuce crop will open their eyes to the substantial value of this section of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis have returned to America from a long tour of Europe. Let's see now, who is John W. Davis?—Sanford Herald. He's the gentleman who a large number of Americans didn't have sense enough to vote for last November.—Ocala Star.

Of course we knew that most of the great Americans, Rudolph Valentino, Pancho Villa (the flyweight champion), and the others are foreigners, but we were rather surprised to read that one fourth of Swedish-born farmers of the United States were born in Minnesota.

Probably the strangest golf course in the world has been laid at Miami. It consists of only one hole which stretches for one mile along the Atlantic Ocean. Par will be determined after a match is played consisting of Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour and Billy Melhorn.

A rattlesnake will pass over a hair rope. The ostrich does not hide its head in the sand. The bat does not tangle itself in women's hair. The eagle does not carry away babies. The shark does not eat human beings. The toad does not make warts on the hands.

Florida Prosperity.

Far be it from The Sanford Herald to inquire into the financial status of any of our leading citizens, but if you are not a leading citizen and just an ordinary mortal trying to do your duty by your God and your country, are you making money, and as Governor Martin would say, if not, why not? In this day and time, in the state of Florida any way, there is no reason why anyone should not be getting rich. We chanced to notice in our exchanges the other day an advertisement which contained the suggestion of some very good advice. It said, "Your grand-father told your father that if he had bought real estate he would have been a rich man. Your father told you that if he had bought real estate he would have been a rich man. What are you going to tell your son?"

And what ARE you going to tell your son? Are you going to be one of those who failed to take advantage of the obvious opportunities of reaping a rich reward from the increased demand for land sure to come with the tremendous influx of northern people seeking homes in warmer climate? Are you going to tell your son that you just couldn't see it? Are you one of those who are afraid of inflated values in Florida, who fear that Florida really has reached a saturation point, as it were? If you are, you are one of those who really can't stand prosperity and are better off without it. You are a pessimist. As Mark Twain once said, "Few of you can stand prosperity; another man's, I mean." But if you live in Florida, you will have to stand other men's prosperity. There'll be no way of getting around it.

Ten Thousand Patrolmen.

According to a recent editorial in The Outlook there are now more than ten thousand patrolmen in the woods of Massachusetts to protect the forests, the game, and the fish. Thirty-one of this number are salaried officers, the rest of the ten thousand are volunteers who get their pay from the consciousness of being helpers in a fine cause.

It seems that the Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association is the efficient sponsor of "the guardian plan for more hunting and fishing." The great patrol is made up mainly of organized sportsmen, each pledged not only to uphold the game, fish and conservation laws of the state and nation, but to do what is within his power to see that others do not violate them.

The Outlook thinks that if each of the forty-eight states had its force of ten thousand volunteer patrolmen, we might begin to feel that violation of law, natural as well as statutory, will be stopped from "spreading the abomination of desolation over our woods and our streams."

This is undoubtedly true, and what is better still there would be a promise of greater work along educational lines for the protection of the woods and the streams. In Florida there is general need for more and better teaching. Audubon Societies, particularly, should be flourishing more extensively in this state, where so much is owed to the service of insect-destroying birds; and where the woods, and the streams, the fields, and the lakes are constantly in danger of the "abomination of desolation", the Outlook deploras.

SANFORD HERALD says celery shipments in that section are obtaining a much wider distribution this season than during any previous year. Not only are the larger markets being supplied, but smaller cities hitherto unsupplied, have been receiving shipments from Sanford. The price being brought by the vegetable averages $2 a crate, a price that has been prevalent most of the present season. However, the Herald believes this price will become better. The belief on a price increase is based upon the fact that California celery has practically all been shipped. The Pacific coast product will all have been shipped within ten days, it is believed, which will leave a clear field for the Sanford celery. Thousands of dollars change hands yearly in that section of the state from celery shipments, and all over the country Sanford is noted for its high-grade celery. Growers have been successfully raising the product in that part of Florida for many years, and the celery industry ranks with the best of them in the state.—Times-Union.

THE DASH TO NOME

NEW YORK WORLD

What drama in this dash across frozen Alaska to carry precious serum to plague-stricken Nome! It is no wonder that people forget to talk about the eclipse, forgot the great affairs of state at Washington, and demanded only to know whether a lonely dog-driver had arrived in a lone sledge somewhere in the North. Every element of drama was present; human life hanging in the balance, suspense, uncertainty, reality. All this, and yet something sinister in the North itself and something sinister in man. There were really two dramas—one the drama of man, the primitive, the animal, pitted against the elements; the other the drama of man, the torch-bearer of civilization, the captain of his soul, fighting for his birthright. And in the first drama he won, but in the second drama he won.

It was the first drama which engrossed us in the beginning. There is something in all of us which relishes the spectacle of a living thing in a struggle whose outcome means life or death. We watched the progress of Eskimo Pete, Musher Olson, Leonard Seppala, Gunnar Kason and the others; as they forged on under such conditions as most of us could imagine only with horror. We knew instinctively what these men were going through. It was no feat for us to picture that plodding through half-light and dark, snow, wind and cold, with death hovering near every second. And we well knew

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL

Long before Poe wrote his essay, "Mr. Longfellow and Other Plagiarists," makers of songs, verbal or vocal, had been accused of cribbing from some predecessor. Kipling went so far as to declare:

"When 'Omer' smote his blooming eye,
'Tid' heard men sing on land and sea,
And wot 'e thought 'e might require,
'E went and took the same as me.

Just now musical composers, in an effort to put through a new copyright law, are telling Congress that song writers are making money hand over fist by light-fingered tactics. One of them told the committee that "that appealing and inspiring song, 'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' may be found almost note for note in part of 'The Messiah' by Handel and in part in 'I Dream That I Dwelt in Marble Halls' from 'The Bohemian Girl.'"

"Much of the popular music," declared another, "is based upon the works of the old masters."

But the charge of these protestants is only plagiarism. If they can prove their contentions, it would seem the offense is much more heinous. If Bach and Beethoven and Chopin are being mutilated, as charged, the offense consists of mayhem or something worse. No particular damage is done when an old folk song is resurrected and without little change made into "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'." In its modern form it is no worse than it was and it proved a relief to the public from the epidemic of jazz.

However, this is the touchstone of plagiarism. If something is taken and improved upon, it ceases to constitute theft, or so it has been regarded, from Shakespeare to Anatole France. On the other hand there are the modern song writers. It would serve them right if the penalty was made to suit the offense.

As Brisbane Sees It

For President Coolidge. And Those That Choose Him. Heavy Responsibility. Superstition Comes to Life. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

GENERAL MITCHELL has rendered a service to his country, by his fearless and truthful statement on conditions in the air service—or rather the United States lack of air service and air defense. Such a soldier as Mitchell, after risking his life constantly in the big war, flying year after year in machines of all kinds, many of them dangerous would not be deterred from duty.

Mr. Weeks it is to be hoped will have too much common sense, and common decency to punish Mitchell for a course that the whole nation approved. And if Secretary Weeks should make a mistake that would injure the entire administration, you may rely upon it that President Coolidge would intervene, effectively.

THIS NATION needs to know the truth, which is that we rank fifth in air defense among the world's nations, and that air defense is the defense needed by this nation, above all other nations. It is the only defense that could protect our cities from destruction and our country from humiliation and disaster, in case of war.

RUSSIA, so deeply deposed by our prosperity, secured in one single order, placed in Western Europe, five times as many fighting air-planes as this country has, all told. And Japan, tied up by secret treaty with Russia and China, is manufacturing 500 war planes every month, 25 times as many each month as the United States possesses, all told.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, not Mr. Weeks, or Mr. Wilbur, is the man interested in this situation, so disgraceful to the nation's common sense, so dangerous to national security. Mr. Coolidge would bear the entire responsibility if this nation should be caught unprepared.

He has the power. At his demand, Congress will supply the money necessary. And at his order Secretary Weeks will applaud instead of muzzling any army officer with brains enough to understand the importance of air defense.

THIS country is totally unprepared for war. It is bitterly hated in Europe, and all but drolling fools know it. It is hated even more bitterly in Asia, for there, hatred are more intense.

To destroy a dozen United States cities, the biggest in the country, is a task that could now be accomplished easily. Such destruction would change this nation's attitude toward the world. The job could be done by Asia, with Russia's delighting cooperation. Bolshevism has an account to settle with us.

EUROPE need not start the thing, merely look on, regretful, but inactive, and such a setback as air attack might inflict on our nation in three weeks would put us at the mercy of Europe's supplies, of air-craft and everything else. In real war here, at home, we could not rely on our grafting patriots, that in the last war spent a billion or so of public money on machines that played no part in war, while our fliers borrowed French and English machines, to fight for Western Europe.

A SUCCESSFUL attack on the United States would settle that European debt question. It would be worth ten thousand millions of dollars to the debt ridden nations over there. Or, assuming that many of them will never pay anything, it would clear their books and save their honor—next in value to cash.

A FEW million dollars worth of fighting airplanes, real machines that fly, not the product of American graft, would make this country safe. An enemy fleet of such machines, coming across the Pacific or the Atlantic would set this country back 100 years, close the stock exchange, knock prices to nothing, cause not merely a crushing income tax, but savage capital confiscation.

He-spreads loss, caused by war suddenly breaking loose in the sky above our heads, is the one thing the only thing that could cause revolution in this country.

Those that control big capital and through it control this nation, should see this danger. It is possible to push mean economy too far.

All of the above is respectfully submitted to President Coolidge, for whom it is written. This nation is unprepared now. If it is taken by surprise in the world's first great air war, the result will be disastrous, to the nation and doubly disastrous to all responsible.

UPON President Coolidge the responsibility rests, with all its weight. He is head of the army and navy, he is responsible for the men employed as secretaries of the army and navy.

IGNORANT creatures that have been predicting the end of the world offer a valuable opportunity to analyze the superstitious human mind of the dark ages. It is as though some donasseud should come to life and present himself for study to the Academy of Sciences, in Paris.

FIRST you observe that superstition breeds mean selfishness. "Save me, whoever else may perish," is the cry of the dark mind, convinced that on his little carcass, God Almighty is concentrating cosmic intelligence. Mr. Reid, reformed Seventh Day Adventist, tells you that the usual Sunday is the "mark of the beast," as he fixes the hour of the world's end. Only the pure in spirit will see the cloud, in the heavens. Reid an-

NOTHING IF NOT BRAVE!

WILL THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY DIE?

BY R. J. HOLLY

Since the late returns have come in from the national election last fall, and it would seem that Coolidge has been elected beyond any reasonable doubt there is talk of the death of the Democratic party. This might be superinduced by our Republican friends who while they would not give the sick mule bichloride tablets by mistake would not especially care if said mule passed away peacefully without their ministrations.

But where there is life there is hope and to date we have the medical authority of Dr. W. J. Bryan who has been the House Physician for the Democratic party for many years and while acting as physician was himself stricken with the dreaded malady of presidentialism and

When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the fish-worm swallows the whale;
When the terrapins knit woolen socks,
And the hare is outrun by the snail;

When serpents walk upright like men,
And doodlebugs travel like frogs;
When grasshoppers feed on the hog,
And fethters are found on the hogs;

When Thomas-cats swim in the air,
And elephants roost upon trees;
When insects in summer are rare,
And snuff never makes people sneeze;

When fish creep over dry land,
And women in dress take no pride;
When Dutchmen no longer drink beer,
And girls get to preaching on time;

When billy-goats butt from the rear,
And treason's no longer a crime;
When the humming bird brays like an ass,
And a Limburger smells like cologne;

When plovers are made out of glass,
And the hearts of Georgians are stone;
When ideas grow in gold-bugs' heads,
And wool on the hydraulic ram—
Then the democratic party will be dead
And the country won't be worth a cent.

—C. E. Merrill in Florida Shield.

THAT SAME Mr. Reid, whose lime table failed so miserably, would probably have missed the celestial, last day cloud, even if it had appeared on time. At the hour appointed he was listening to jazz music from Pittsburgh, sitting in his little hut, his ears covered with the receiving pieces of a radio set given him presumably for advertising purposes.

Earlier experience with radio might have convinced him that there is still room for praying and for hope, but he was too busy to end, ignorance of the blackest kind is the backbone of superstition.

THE BRUTE selfishness of superstition that says "I'll save myself, never mind about the family" is the superstition that made the early Puritans believe that Heaven would be made more blissful by the sight of miserable creatures roasting in hell.

The same superstition and selfishness made the rich man of long ago, leave his fortune to religion, hoping to purchase personal salvation from divine power.

Today's rich man, outside of the deeply superstitious class, leaves his money to colleges, hospitals, science, to help others.

STANLEY-BROTHERSON NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT HIGH NOON

Beautiful in all details was the wedding of Miss Mary Stanley, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic William Stanley and Thomas Brotherson, which was solemnized at high noon, Wednesday, at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. F. D. King officiated in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the couple.

The church was artistically decorated. Palms and ferns were banded about the altar. Tall French baskets filled with pink roses, were arranged in front of the greens and branching cathedral candles were placed at the back of the altar, towering above the greens. The soft glow from the candles gave a pretty effect over the church. Pews for the family and close friends were marked with white tulle and ferns.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was given by Miss Margaret Davis at the organ, Mrs. R. L. Glenn sang "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. J. H. Colclough sang, "At Dawning."

As the bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played, the wedding party advanced. The ushers, Newton Stenstrom and R. F. Cooper, marched down the side aisle. Miss

Boys and Girls Enjoy Program at Library

The older boys and girls greatly enjoyed the James Whitcomb Riley program given last Saturday morning at the library by W. J. Goodale. There were 10 numbers given, including "The Runaway," "Raggedy Man," "Little Orphan Annie" and several of his popular poems. A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Goodale, and he has been asked to conduct another program in the near future, which he has promised to do. As the children requested the hour changed to 10 o'clock, it will be held at that hour for the rest of the season. Mrs. Thomas Owen, who always give much pleasure with her programs, will take charge this week. There were 13 present last Saturday, and it is hoped the number will increase.

Mrs. Shindler will conduct the Story Hour for the younger children and is arranging one of her delightful programs. It will be held as usual at 10 o'clock, so that the little folks can come with their older brothers and sisters. (22 attended last week, and it was very interesting to have the older and young story hours both being held in different parts of the building.)

NOTICE

There will be a joint meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Associations of the three primary schools at the East Side Primary School, Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. This meeting will be held for the purpose of deciding the time and place for the patriotic pageant to be given by the three schools and a large attendance is requested.

In Japan women detectives have become very popular, and because of their efficiency in unearthing incriminating evidence are employed by the railroads, banks, and many large stores.

Mrs. W. A. Franz and Mrs. Endor Carlette came from Geneva Tuesday to attend the meeting of the Social Department of the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Lon Franzheim and Mrs. J. V. Mendel of Wheeling, W. Va., are visiting with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dunlap of Laurel Avenue.

Mrs. S. J. Messer returned Monday from Oil City, Penn., where she was called by the illness and death of her sister. Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Daggot and Herbert Messer.

L. E. White returned Monday from Washington, D. C., where he has been for the past three weeks.

Personals

Mrs. Alice Hartman of Buffalo, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. E. L. Day on her yacht in Lake Monroe.

A. W. Abbott of the firm of Abbott and Cobb, of Philadelphia, Pa., is spending the winter at the Valdez Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Irving Loucks with their guests Lieut. and Mrs. Earl Loucks are motoring down the East Coast.

Mrs. J. L. Ingram arrived in Sanford Tuesday from her home in West Palm Beach. She was called here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. C. W. Speer.

E. L. Day returns Tuesday from his home in Dunkirk, N. Y., and will be on his yacht here for the remainder of the winter.

The many friends of Mrs. R. S. Keeler will be sorry to learn of her serious illness. She is at the Fernald-Laughton Hospital.

The many friends of Mrs. Joe Meish will be glad to learn that she is doing nicely after her recent operation at the Orlando Sanitarium.

Election of Officers Is Held Tuesday By Social Department

A brief business meeting was held Tuesday afternoon by the Social Department of the Sanford Woman's Club. Reports of the various officers and chairmen of the departments gave a splendid account of the work of the year.

The following officers were elected by the department for the coming year: chairman, Mrs. W. T. Langley; vice chairman, Mrs. R. J. Holly; finance, Miss Annie Hawkins; membership, Mrs. Edward Betts; and program, Mrs. E. M. Galloway.

The regular bridge party followed the business session with Mrs. Donald Smith as hostess.

The club was delightfully decorated with gray colored nasturtium and ferns. For making high Mrs. O. P. Herndon was presented a hand decorated bread board and knife.

At the conclusion of the game the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Lane and Mrs. Archie Betts served a delicious salad course. There were nine tables of players.

Distinguished War Veteran Is Visitor

A distinguished visitor spending the week in Sanford is Major Elsworth Wilson of Chattanooga, Tenn. Major Wilson is nationally known as a veteran of the Spanish American war and was an officer of the famous Twentieth Kansas Division, saw service on the Mexican border and spent three years overseas during the World War. He is a past Department Commander of the U. S. W. V. of Tennessee and a Legionnaire of prominence. Major Wilson was chairman of the National Jubilee Encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans which was held in Chattanooga in 1923 and in 1924 held the office of National Recruiting officer of the U. S. W. V.

Conforms With Ancient Betrothal Custom And Is Jailed For Larceny

BUDAPEST, Feb. 11.—One of the most unusual cases ever heard in Hungary recently was before the court in the little provincial town of Osl, when eight farmer boys, caught in the act, were charged with walking off with 20 pounds of corn stolen from a widow named Voros. They not only pleaded guilty despite the fact that they admitted the theft, but produced a sealed document from the widow in which she declared that "she and her daughter Satika wanted it an honor that Franz Kiraly (the ringleader of the eight) had considered their house worthy of this distinction."

The judge was displeased. "I suppose the widow fears your revenge?" he asked. "No, your Honor," Franz Kiraly replied, speaking for the group. "You see, in our part of the country there is a custom by which every year, after the corn has been harvested, a large pot of corn meal is placed on the stove in houses where there are unmarried daughters. The lover of the eldest daughter must steal this corn. To facilitate the theft the family leaves the house for half an hour after the corn meal has been placed on the stove. The greatest disgrace that can happen to the family consists in the corn being left unstealer."

The judge dismissed the case, yet the remembrance of her unselfish and useful life, and the words of sympathy and encouragement of our friends, will go far in lessening the bitter pain and anguish of irreparable loss.

(Signed) A. J. Loring and children.

CARD OF THANKS
We herewith wish to express our sincere thanks to all our many friends for their fine expression of sympathy, and for the beautiful flowers, which so eloquently portray the love and esteem in which she, our Companion and Mother was held by all who loved her.

While we sorely feel her loss,

IN MEMORY OF OUR DEAR BELOVED MRS. MARY A. TUTEN, WHO DEPARTED THIS 11th DAY OF FEBRUARY, ONE YEAR AGO.

Oh Mother dear my prayers are for all
For those that I meet each day
That their hearts may be prepared
For the world I live in today.

Oh Father dear, with them help them
To see for truth and light
And may they have to guide their
Visions and dreams by night.

And when my times fall come to me
And leave all things on earth be Low
Grave than that I thy voice hear
And dwell with thee O mother dear.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Elizabeth was in a potty mood. "And when Henry inquired the cause of her peevishness, she said, 'Here I have run around with you for a year, and you have been good friends, indeed; don't you think it is time to think of getting me a diamond?'" He had thought of it, but had postponed the event.

Then, a bright smile spread over his face, and he let his gaze rest on her trim, fair figure. "She held her breath waiting his words, which she knew would bring comfort and joy.

"Lizzie," he said (and he had not used that endearing term before), "it was perfectly proper for you to remind me of that. I will do as you ask, and even more." And his finely chiseled hand lifted the receiver from the dark telephone, and he spoke into the transmitting department of the same.

"Hello," he said eagerly, "is this Wight Bros. Co.?" Well, I want a Diamond Ring for Lizzie. Buy say—make it four, and one on each wrist, and better than that in your service car. You know the price. Yes, Diamonds."

And after that Henry and Lizzie traveled on air as the post would readily state in the case.

We believe that our duty to you is to—select our furniture with the utmost care; always buy the best; sell at the lowest possible prices; constantly keep in stock such staple merchandise as is in general demand; cooperate with the manufacturers in the making of newer and better furniture without increasing the cost; give intelligent, courteous and prompt service; make our store as comfortable as possible; satisfy our customers wants in every possible way; try to do the very best and do it.

Our two display floors are veritable Furniture Expositions and when you view our immense showing of fine furniture you'll be convinced that you can make the home of your dreams come true. Here you will find living room furniture, bedroom suites, porch furniture of all kinds, dining room sets and hundreds of odd pieces that do so much in making the home livable.

The Better Homes Club Plan enables you to purchase the furniture you desire on terms that are indeed moderate and easy.
