Mr. J. M. Lord left Tuesday for Webber to spend a week with his son, Rev. M. Mr. Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cassidy returned to their home at Precida last Wednesday after spending the holidays with home folks.

Chas. Gregory of Winter Garden was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. C. O. Humphrey several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lucas left for Jacksonville last Monday. Mr. Lucas went on from there to spend Christmas with his mother, while Mrs. Lucas spent the holidays with friends there.

Chas. Garrett of Orlando was a pleasant caller in our neighborhood on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. B. J. Overstreet of Lockhart is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wynn.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Pitt spent Christmas with Mr. Pitt's parents at Minneola.

Willie Wynn expects to return to Ft. Myers Saturday after a pleasant visit with home folks.

MOORE MOVEMENTS

Miss Nona Cowan of Jacksonville was a guest at the J. F. Hixon home on Celery avenue during the holidays. Miss Cowan sang a solo that was much appreciated at the Christmas entertainment.

Willie Morris of Forest City was a guest of his brother, C. C. Morris and family Christmas.

Miss Frances Warren and J. E. Fisher of Tampa were married the 25th of December. This makes three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Warren to be married within a short time. The young folks are receiving congratulations.

Mr. Hill, formerly of Arizona, is living in the little house on the farm known as Mr. Harper's and will raise eggplants, tomatoes and peppers.

Little Christine McClelland is over from Geneva and is spending the holidays with her parents.

The box social was decided on for this Friday night at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Pope and family spent a most sorrowful Christmas. Their little son, Charles died the morning of the 26th of blood poison from an abscess which had formed in his face. Charles was 2 years 2 months and 10 days old. The funeral was at their home Saturday and interment at Lake View cemetery. Saturday morning Mr. Pope received a telegram from Georgia announcing the death of his father. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

The Christmas entertainment had a large attendance. The program was long and nicely given. Several who took part deserve special mention: Miss Kathleen Burgess, Miss Etta Johnson, Gertrude Little, Ruby Hart and Gretchen Long delighted the audience with fine recitations. Miss Nona Cowan of Jacksonville sang very sweetly and the choir gave several very good selections. The dialogue with Miss Hattie Estridge as teacher, and Will Raynor, Annie Cameron, Joe Guerry, Ruth Little, James Estridge and Etta Johnson as pupils made a hit and brought a good laugh. Altogether it was a very nice entertainment and the Christmas tree was very pretty and there was a present for everybody. Will Morris of Forest City, who was the guest of his brother, C. C., had everyone guessing, as he was the jolly old Santa Claus.

At one time the words "hostel" and "inn" were not confined to licensed houses, but were applied to lodging houses. The "inns" of Oxford and Cambridge, very numerous before the introduction of colleges, were regulated by the college authorities. The Inns of Court were provided for the accommodation of law students. In olden times country houses of the aristocracy, during the absence of the owners, were used as "inns" or guest-houses. It was then the rule to hang off as signs the arms of the owners; hence the origin of public-house signs.

Land Titles in Virginia. The United States government never owned public lands in Virginia, there never was a land office in that state, and, of course, no lease or sale of public lands there. Land titles in all of the thirteen original states, including Virginia, traced back to proprietors or grantees direct from the British crown. THE NORMAN FIELD PLAYERS

Giving Good Plays All This Week at The Imperial Theatre. The Norman Field Players are here in full flower this week and opened their engagement last night to a crowded house. It may have been the fame of the troupe or the special low prices but the crowd was there and the company can be assured of the same loyal support all during the week.

Happy Jack kept the audience in a roar during his specialties just as he is expected to do and he has lost none of his wit by an absence of many months but seems to have acquired more of it. Tonight the Field Company will give away 10 "Bought and Paid For" and tomorrow afternoon they will give a popular prize matinee in the Imperial for the children and the grown folks who cannot attend the night performance.

On Saturday afternoon also will be given a matinee and for every night this week a good program is offered by this popular company. The price is reduced so that every one can attend without adding to the high cost of living and this week will be bargain week at the Imperial and the chance to see some really good talent at bargain prices.

Gun Wicks will play the piano in the grand old theatre.

It is earnestly desired that every member who can possibly arrange to do so will attend the department meetings this week, as important matters are to come before the meetings for consideration. All members are referred to Article VII of the Constitution.

In connection with the regular program meeting of the Welfare Department Thursday at 4 p. m. there will be a short business session for the purpose of nominating a chairman of the department and a member to serve on the membership committee for the ensuing year. Committees will be appointed for Welfare Day to the General Club. A full attendance of the members of the department is desired, owing to the importance of the nominations.

Welfare Day to the club will be observed January 22nd when it is hoped there will be a large attendance of members. There will be no individual entertainments sent out but every member of each department is cordially invited to attend. A social informal afternoon will be planned that members of the various departments may meet and know each other.

SANFORD AND THE CELERY DELTA

NO OTHER WINTER GARDEN SECTION IN THE WORLD CAN COMPARE WITH SANFORD

BY GEORGE CHAPIN IN THE JACKSONVILLE METROPOLIS

I wouldn't want to go to the farmers in the North and west and tell them what we are actually doing, what profits we are making per acre here in Sanford. They wouldn't believe me, and a man hates to have his word doubted. But when these farmers come here we can take them out into our fields, let them count the crates of lettuce and celery that we get from a measured acre of land, let them see us taking it to the shipping station here and get the cash for it—then they will know we are not exaggerating.

This was the first season made to the writer by a Sanford man who has made himself independent by handling these crops in the rich "celery delta" surrounding this little Florida city.

"I'm one of the pioneers of the celery industry in Sanford," said another. "I've been raising celery and lettuce here for fourteen years and I've made money every year. What is my best record? Well, I cleared in one season $1,800 an acre from sixteen acres."

This was the testimony of another man whose name is known all over the state of Florida and in every big northern and western market. He was financially ruined by the big freeze of 1896, but practically wiped out the orange industry in the state. His wealth is now estimated from half a million dollars upward and he has made it cultivating Sanford lands. Many others might be quoted in like manner and to the same effect, for vegetable growing in this remarkable section has developed to a high degree by men of activity, energy and enterprise, who have seized upon their opportunities, and of them have made themselves rich.

Where and What It Is

Sanford is situated in the lake section of Middle Florida. It lies on the south side of Lake Monroe, an enlargement of the St. Johns river, 35 miles south of Jacksonville. This body of water is about four miles wide by six or seven miles long. Some six miles south of the little city lies Lely Jessup, a pretty body of water which also has its modifying influence upon the climate. In other directions are bodies of water and streams which add to the mildness and equableness of the climate and beauty of the section. The climate is mild, but this does not mean that the section is below the frost line and not subject to occasional cold snaps. It is a fact, however, backed by the authority of reliable men who have lived here for years, that with the exception of the great freeze already referred to, which practically swept the northern two-thirds of the state, no cold has wrought serious damage within the memory of the present generation.

The soil is dark sandy loam. It is mellow in character and by ordinary artificial means and holds moisture in uniform distribution. From two to four feet beneath the surface is an impervious substratum of clay which holds water like a rubber blanket, lying under this district is a subterranean body of water, slightly tinged with sulphur, which evaporates quickly on exposure to the air. It is from seventy-five to one hundred and fifty feet below the surface and when reached by artesian wells it rises by natural pressure in an ever-flowing and seemingly inexhaustible supply for irrigation and for all purposes.

Artesian Water Supply

There are something more than 10,000 acres in this section which are known to be underlain by this artesian well supply. Between 2,000 and 2,500 of these acres have been put under cultivation and the cultivated district is being rapidly extended. The new land is held at from $125 to $200 an acre and it is sold at these prices with the guaranty that flowing water may be reached by driven wells.

Sub-Irrigation

The unit of this system is five acres. For each five acres an artesian well is driven and is cased with a 3 inch or 2 1/2 inch pipe. The well is capped so that the flow of water may be cut off when desired. The natural flow from a well of this size is not far from 10,000 gallons an hour. The well discharges into a main supply pipe for four to six inches in diameter, running the length of the field, usually through the middle, and with a slight dip so that the flow of water is from the well toward the drain at the further end. Tapping this main at intervals of twenty feet is a series of lateral tiles, three inches in diameter, running to the opposite sides of the field and terminating in upright tiles a foot or more in diameter. These lateral drains are also laid off on slight slant to direct the flow of water. The separate tiles are not cemented together at the joints, but are laid with fiber over the joints so as to keep out dirt and allow the seeping of the water into the soil.

Dollars and Cents

Based upon careful observation extending over a number of years, the average yield per acre is 450 hamper; the average cost of raising and marketing, including fertilizer, labor and hamper, is $100 an acre, or a little more than 25 cents a hamper; the average price received, f. o. b. Sanford is $1.25, leaving $1 net per hamper.

Celery seed is brought from France. It is put into the seed beds in August and September and is ready for transplanting into the field about sixty days later. When the main land is used successively for lettuce and celery, the land is plowed, in rows between the rows of lettuce then maturing. The lettuce being harvested in December leaves the land for the later crop. The celery is ready for harvesting, under ordinary conditions, from the middle of February to the latter part of March and some seasons into April. It is packed into crates. Sanford growers have been using three sizes of crates, but a movement is on foot to establish uniformity in this particular. The size most favored is 8x20x27 inches. The other sizes are 10x20x24 inches and 12x20x24 inches. These crates are made up in the field where the celery is taken from the ground. It is stripped, the bitter leaves or stalks being pulled off and it is then packed into crates and sent direct to market. The only grading is according to the size of the bunch, three, four, six and eight dozens to the crate. The sizes most favored in the market are the four and six dozens to the crate.

SEEKS A LOCATION

Another Undertaker Thinks He Would Like to Invest in Sanford

The following communication was received by The Herald yesterday from some people in Georgia who think they would like to go into the undertaking business and furniture business in Sanford.

"We know nothing about the possibilities of this business and can only reply to such letters that the parties desiring to locate here in any business should come to Sanford first and look over the field. In such a healthy city as Sanford there is little need for an undertaker, although if the gentlemen want to invest their money in real estate they will find much better returns than the undertaking business. There are other places not many miles away where undertakers seem to be in demand and we would advise all undertakers to go where people die which does not mean Sanford. However, we will give the letter as it stands:

The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.

"Dear Sirs—Myself and two brothers have just sold our business. We have been in active business in a small Georgia town for the past nineteen years. If opportunity presented whereby we could sell for a profit and let go. We are now looking for a location, and have heard a good deal about Sanford and its possibilities.

"The writer is a practical undertaker, being a graduate from one of the best embalming schools in the country, and my two brothers are practical furniture men. We have about $25,000 to invest in stock, and a store building.

Please do me the favor to advise me if competition is keen in the furniture and undertakers' line in Sanford. Just now how many are doing business there, if new settlers are coming in, and if there are many furniture stores in the town in the country. In fact, you will appreciate any information that you may send, which I hope will be complete and if the prospects are good we will go to Sanford and look the field over.

Please do me the favor to reply to this letter to Atlanta, Ga., care Piedmont Hotel. I will be there next Thursday, Jan. 8th.

Yours very truly,
HUBERT WILLIAMS.

First Single Tax City

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 2.—Today, the first day of January, 1914, the city of Pueblo will enter upon her first experience in that new and promising scheme of taxation, known as "single tax." By virtue of an expression of the people's will made at the polls of the general election recently closed one of the most important amendments ever formulated has been added to the city charter. This amendment provides that after a certain period of time shall have elapsed, there shall be in Pueblo, no more taxation of real estate improvements, personal property or bank deposits—with the exception of 1 per cent of the value of the first.

Pueblo is wondering just how it will all turn out. At present she is basking in the distinction of being THE FIRST CITY in America to adopt the single tax by charter amendment, and the Commerce club, backed by the real estate exchange is already preparing literature to be sent to the four corners of the continent calling attention to Pueblo's daring.

Odd Fellows Banquet

All Odd Fellows and families who are strangers in the city are invited to attend the banquet to be given in Masonic Hall on Monday night, Jan. 19th. 10:15

FREE LOTS

My Midway Lots are going fast. I want to sell 150 of them this present month. In order to get every colored family in Seminole county interested in Midway at once, I am going to give away one lot absolutely free with every ten lots sold this week.

I am also going to sell these lots at $40.00 for a short time, so that every man, woman or child can afford to buy one. The terms are five dollars down and one dollar each week till paid for. Any one can have one dollar a week and in a month have a lot paid for. These lots are sure to advance and will prove a good investment. I shall advance my price to $50.00 in a few days, but not this week. This week at $40.00 and one free with every ten sold.

How to Get a Free Lot

Select a lot from the map below. Come in and make a payment of $5.00 or if you can't spare $5.00 pay as much as you can and make up the balance of the $5.00 next Saturday night. Then you get your contract for deed and a ticket for the drawing for a free lot. Only ten tickets in each drawing. You can get as many tickets as you buy lots. The drawings will be held at my office next Saturday Night, January 10th. They will be free and fair. Warranty deeds will be issued at once to the winners of the free lots without a cent of cost to them.

Buy a lot now. Don't wait. Save up the $5.00 and make the payment. Got a free lot. I want to deal direct with the purchaser and avoid paying commissions. This is why I offer lots free this week. I prefer helping the man who pays me his good money and not some other fellow.

My office will be open every evening this week. Come in and see me. If not convenient to come in just send me the $5.00 by mail and I will issue your contract and hold lot.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

(Continued From Page 8) ately climbed into harness again and opened a grocery and feed business. He is just as energetic and sassy as in the days of yore and while he admits that business life is most strenuous and the race is running a faster time than formerly did yet he is there with the goods and his home a model of neatness and cleanliness just as it was thirty years ago...

Joe Harold is another one and while he is not old in years, has had many years experience in the grocery business and also retired some time ago but he is looking again and the idleness falls upon him just as it falls upon any active man who has been in business any length of time and it is predicted that Joe will also break in some of these days. They do come back and it could mention scores of them, and they make good because they have always made good otherwise they would not have retired.

A great many people misunderstand the new income tax law completely. The ordinary man, be he farmer or city man, has to pay 1 per cent on his net income. If he is a married man, with a wife living with him, the exemption is $4,000. The tax is then 1 per cent on the amount in excess of those figures. Suppose the net income of a farmer, who is a single man, is $3,000. He will be obliged to pay $20 a year income tax, 1 per cent on $2,000. Suppose the net income of a farmer, who is married, with a wife living with him, is $5,000. He will be obliged to pay $10 a year income tax, 1 per cent on $1,000. And so on, up to the limit of $30,000 a year net income, when the tax assessments increase. Many farmers are under the impression that the tax of 1 per cent is applied to the entire income. It applies only to that portion above the exemptions.

The next question that naturally arises is: "How will the farmer figure his net income?" The law is specific on this point. It states in figuring net income certain deductions shall be made, listing them as follows: First—The necessary expenses actually paid in carrying on any business, not including personal, living or family expenses. This would include the wages paid hired men, cost of feed and seed purchased and so on. Second—All interest paid within the year by a taxable person or indebtedness. This would include interest on a mortgage upon the farm, the stock or the machinery. Third—All national, state, county school and municipal taxes paid within the year. Fourth—Losses sustained during the year, incurred in the carrying on of the business, and not compensated for by insurance. This would include damage to crops by hail, to buildings by fire, and so on, provided it was not covered by insurance. Fifth—Accounts due and actually charged off, during the year, as worthlessness. Sixth—A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the carrying on of the business. This would include wear and tear on farm machinery and depreciation of buildings. In computing net annual income, therefore, the farmer first takes his total gross income—all that he has received throughout the year—deducts therefrom the amounts exempted in the preceding paragraphs and then pays the tax upon whatever amount this balance is in excess of the $3,000 or $4,000 exemption, depending upon whether he is married or single. The new income tax will fall upon farmers just as it will upon all other individuals, except that the farmer will probably find it more difficult to make his return comply with the regulations that are to be issued. He will be expected to list as his income the increase in the value of his land and stock, as well as the income from his crops, while on the other hand he will be supposed to set down as an offset the depreciation of farm machinery and buildings. The tax this year will have to be paid only for the ten months from March 1, 1913, to January 1, 1914.

ing needs of our rapidly growing population. Second, that the cost of distribution has increased, farm wages being much higher a few years ago, near double. Third, that the cost of distribution and sales in cities is far greater than it used to be. Cities have grown faster in population than has provision for suitable market facilities. The remedies must begin, first, in the country. The farmer must be better educated and trained for his business. The problem of building up and making more productive is a problem that requires practical knowledge and skill in modern farming. Then the educational system in the country should be modified to meet the demands of the times by teaching the young people some of the elementary sciences relating to agriculture, that they may more successfully cope with the present conditions of the farm, rather than, through ignorance, be given to the city. The more perishable products, such as vegetables, small fruits, milk and flowers, should be produced in zones nearer large cities, in shorter time delivery and at the lesser transportation cost, the hay, grain, butter, cheese and meat at the greater distances, and on a larger land.

Cities are interested in good roads and should cooperate with the country in putting to a speedy end the highway graft in the Empire State, that is a criminal outrage upon its treasury, upon every business interest and upon every producer and consumer in the state. The cost of moving farm crops over poor country roads, for the improvement of which the state has wa- issued of $100,000,000 in bonds, is greater per mile than the railroad cost for carrying the same to the city market. Finally, city consumers and economists need to be better informed upon cold storage, which has become indispensable and should not receive wholesale condemnation. Without it even any regular supplies of healthful food at a reasonable cost, in and out of season, would be impossible. Its evils should be corrected, but the system should be neither condemned by the the consuming public nor crippled by legislation. New York Packer.

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. 'DELL PRENTICE—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

Seeing the ladies on the corner of Magnolia and First streets the other morning with their curb market where first crop vegetables were for sale and many other good things reminded me that Sanford should certainly take up the market idea, not only for the benefit of the townspeople but also for the benefit of the small growers and nearby farmers who would make Sanford a trading center for three days out of the week and would bring in the green vegetables and other farm products and we could then purchase these products at living prices and the farmer could always be assured of a good price and a cash price for his stuff. There is nothing that appeals so much to me in the life of Sanford as this market idea and since the city has taken the first step and built the substantial building for the protection of the farmers teams this idea of a city market could now be exploited with but a small outlay of money on the part of the city. Another addition could be built to the building for the market days and when it was not being used for the market the same building could shelter the teams as it does now and Sanford would be a busy mart all the time. I have heard strangers to the city remark time and again that though they were in the heart of the vegetable section of Florida they could not get a fresh stalk of celery or a head of lettuce or cabbage or oranges or strawberries or any other fruit or vegetables in season, although there were plenty of these fruits and vegetables going to waste in the fields at that particular time. Now this market would solve the housekeepers' troubles and would solve the market gardeners' troubles and would prove to be the greatest move the city ever made toward getting the grower and buyer together. Florida with her balmy climate could easily have a curb market as they do in the far sections of the north, for I have often seen country people standing on the curbs of the great northern cities with their products and this in freezing weather and the wagons were simply drawn around the public square and the people would come down and buy everything they needed—even to chickens, turkeys, eggs and other commodities of the country people. With our climate we could easily do the same and now that we have the market house already built certainly our progressive citizens should look into this matter and furnish the country people about it and get together on this subject their main object being the high cost of living to a considerable extent.

I hope the new council and the Commercial Club will get right behind this movement and get a good market established for Sanford, as the entire south formerly had and that has been obliterated for many years since the freeze destroyed so many orange trees and so many bright hopes of those days.

The ladies of the Woman's Club who held the market the other day made a handsome sum for a few hours' labor and they are enthusiastic over the idea of a permanent market for Sanford and as they have always been my faithful allies in everything good for Sanford I hope they will also come forward and help along what has been demonstrated to them to be a good thing for Sanford. Let us have a public market for the city that is situated in the greatest vegetable section of the world and show to the world that not only do we raise the stuff but we also put it within the reach of our home people at a minimum price three times a week.

Postmaster General Burdison, in his proposal that the government go into the telegraph and telephone business, has caused the United States of America to all up and take notice. More particularly he has won the approval of a vast body of citizenship at the same time that he has caused a tremendous flurry in the offices of these two public services.

It seems to matter little whether one lost the need of public interference by the telegraph service. The complaints of citizens in all parts of the country are quite uniform with respect to each the Western Union includes not only the old Western Union service but also the Bell Telephone service and now passes under the name of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company.

It is because of the poor quality of service given that there is so large a degree of approval of the suggestion of Postmaster General Burdison. There is no other fault that compares with the telegraph in indifference to public interests. There is no rivalry, nor competition between the big telegraph companies.

As a relief from the intolerable situation, the government shall go into the telegraph and telephone business. It is not obligatory or necessary that it enter on both fields at once. It may be that if it takes hold of the telegraph business, which it is especially qualified to handle, the other service may then be so braced up and become of such a quality as to avoid criticism for some time to come, improbable as it seems.

In the practical sense there is no difficulty in government running its own wires from postoffice to postoffice. In fact there are far greater numbers of postoffices than of telegraph offices and there would be no difficulty then in covering the present feet of the telegraph service by simply stringing its own wires.

The government would not run into any patents that it has granted because they are long since obsolete; in the main. All it need do is to furnish just such a service as government can furnish, if it will, and would furnish it if it were to enter into that field.

The argument for public operation of the service is the lack of prompt or even reasonable service, and the people turn to the government with a view to having just such a service as that desired and as they really pay for, whether they get it or not.

It is not merely in the south, but it is in other large sections of the country that the telegraph service is beneath contempt. The great body of business is necessarily where people are most generous, where business is in greatest volume and where the call for the service is most frequent. The companies think they can afford then to neglect other sections of the country as long as they serve that part which pays their bills.

The companies have no regard for the general welfare. No company would undertake, for instance, the postal business in such sections as proved to be unprofitable. There is one reason why the people have always insisted upon owning and operating the postal service. They have expanded the service of late by the addition of parcel savings and parcels post and they feature the working so admirably to include the minds of the people by millions to take the course that has been taken by foreign governments almost without exception, and give the people a first class telegraph service at fair cost.

If one goes abroad he finds a telegraph service at about a quarter of the price of it in this country. He finds a delivery so prompt that one may send a message to the same town and get reply more quickly than he can get it if he calls a messenger boy and sends him on a personal message. Such things are done elsewhere. People naturally begin to inquire why they cannot be done here, when the service they get is so exasperating, so unsatisfactory and so high in price.

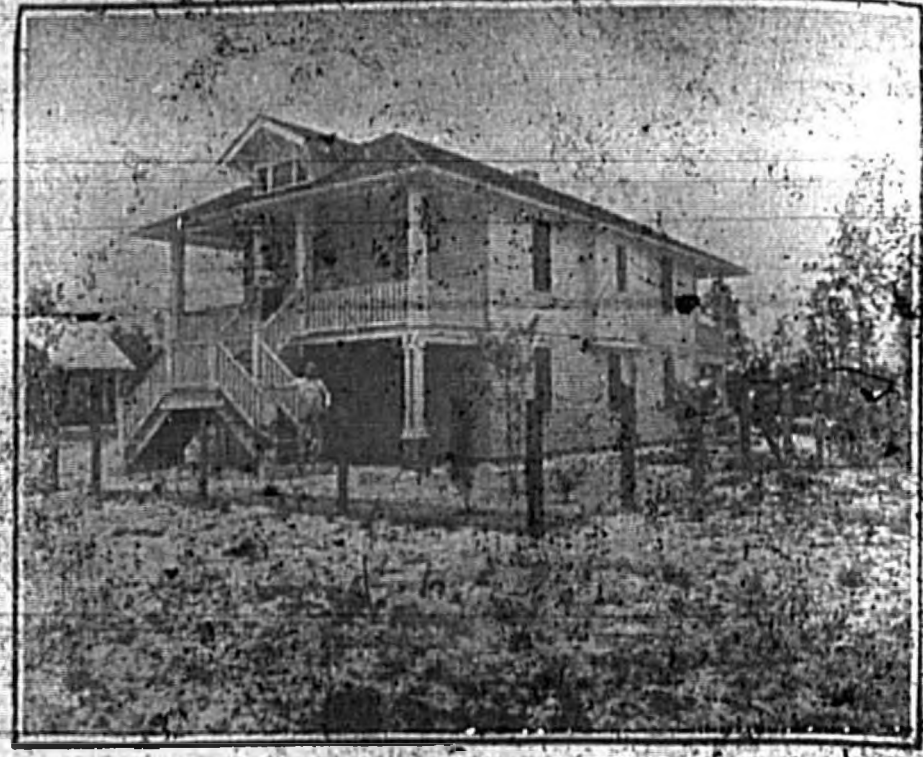

Whatever one company charges the other company charges. If there is a general raise in one, the other responds on the same day and hour. If there is a reduction anywhere, a thing so rare as to be a curiosity, then there is a reduction in the other telegraph company. In a word, they stand together, and if they do not constitute a trust in the legal sense, they do constitute a monopoly with two faces.

Postmaster General Burdison has done a useful service by getting the people to thinking about these things and representatives from the different sections of the country standing up in their places in congress will find a great deal of backing and a larger body of public sentiment when they advocate seriously taking hold of the question, making a study of it and seeing if there is not some way by congressional action to get a telegraph service in the United States that is worth while. There seems to be no other way to get it.

One of the new phrases coined in the past year or so is the saying that they "Can't come back," but that they do come back is demonstrated every day and one of the examples of this is C. H. Lefler who was in the grocery business here thirty-three years ago and is one of the oldest merchants in this neck of the woods. Retiring from business many years ago Mr. Lefler settled down or thought he would settle down to a life of idleness and ease but he was just like a fish out of water and I have watched him out of the corner of my eye for the past few years and wondered how long he would stand for the passive life. It came a few months ago when he built a new business block on Sanford avenue and the store rooms looked so good to him that he immediately

PROGRESSIVE ALDERMANIC BOARD PREPARING BULKHEAD PLANS

ALL MEETING TO DECIDE ON LINES FOR BULKHEAD OLD LINES ARE ACCEPTED

AGREEMENT TO BE PETITIONED TO TEST IS FILING FOR BULKHEAD

The board of aldermen who have taken their seats are of the most progressive type and do not propose to let the grass grow under their feet when it comes to the matter of improvements and called a special meeting on Wednesday morning to consider the lines of bulkhead for the bulkheading. The members visited the city dock and went over the ground very carefully before the meeting at which they resolved to take the 413 lines of the proposed bulkhead and ratify the same. The following is the report of the meeting.

The council met in special session on the 7th at 10:30 p. m. Present: W. H. Henson, president; J. D. Davidson, J. E. Taylor, C. H. Dingle, W. V. Abernathy, J. Adams and R. C. Maxwell. The chairman stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of deciding the line of the proposed bulkhead. Moved and seconded that the council ratify the bulkhead lines as fixed by the last council. Carried. Moved and seconded that a boulevard 300 ft wide be constructed the whole length of said bulkhead. Carried. Moved and seconded that the city be instructed to draw up a resolution, in conjunction with the county commissioners and the Commercial Club, asking the Government engineers or war department to take up the matter of creating an anchorage in turning basin along the water front at Sanford. Carried.

M. W. LOVELL, City Clerk.

Missionary Society Met The Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met last Monday night at the church with a large attendance. After devotional exercises led by Mrs. Cook, the subject for the evening was defunctly conducted by Mrs. Kennedy, after which the business of the evening was transacted. A program for the year 1914 was submitted and ordered printed. Services for the week of prayer and offering for China were arranged for next week as follows:

Monday at 10 p. m. at Mrs. Hyman's with subject, "Caring for Our Own." Tuesday at Mrs. E. E. Tolson's, subject, "Work in Behalf of Woman." Thursday, same hour, at "the share" church, with special gathering. A full attendance is asked for.

Sunday Next at Baptist Church Services at the Baptist church next Sunday will be as follows: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., preaching by the pastor, Rev. George Hyman at 11:00; Sabbeaus at 3 p. m.; B. Y. P. U. at 6:15 and preaching again at 7:00 by the pastor. All are cordially invited to these services.

Presbyterian Church The service Sunday morning will be devoted to a study of the "Education of Man," this being the second sermon of a series which will take up an exposition of various new elements in civilization; the result and intent being to show the advance being made in civilized countries of their people in all walks of life as a direct result of education.

The Sunday evening service will be an evangelistic one, the subject being "The Education of Man," which the audience will find to be most entertaining and filled with such thought as will conduce to the widening of the field for the Master's work. The Church Orchestra will furnish several fine numbers for this service and it is hoped that a large audience will greet Dr. Brownlee on this occasion.

The Sunday school is held at 9:15 a. m. and the midweek prayer meetings are held on Wednesday evenings. The attendance last Sabbath was: Sabbath School 1036, Church 341, Congregational 341, Methodist 341, Presbyterian 341.

Mr. Ward Dead Harry Ward was pronounced to have died of a heart ailment at his home in Sanford on Wednesday evening.

BRICKS MADE AT HOME

ORLANDO BOARD OF TRADE WILL TEST THE MATTER

PRESENT PRICE OF BRICK WITH FREIGHT ADDED MAKES PAYING VERY EXPENSIVE

A movement was begun at the board of trade meeting last night which is probably destined to be of much importance to the people of this immediate section of Florida. As suggested in the Sentinel as a possibility, the idea of Florida producing its own bricks for their own use was developed in the board meeting, and a committee to be composed of Messrs. James L. Giles, H. H. Dickson and G. R. Ramsey, are to make a thorough investigation of the proposed enterprise, concerning the amount of money necessary to purchase single deposits sufficient to supply all the bricks needed for many years to come, with the attendant cost of establishing a factory and making the bricks. A part of the work of this committee will be to confer with the leading men of other counties to ascertain their views and whether Orange county can expect any support from them in carrying the plan to execution.

The high price of brick and the exorbitant transportation rates, and the fact that all the brick manufacturers seem to be organized in a tightly formed trust are the reasons leading to the movement begun last night. The city has recently had an experience in purchasing brick which indicates the absolute manner in which the brick houses deal with their patrons. Two months ago the city ordered a quarter of a million bricks for quick delivery. After waiting several weeks for delivery and hearing nothing, the city made inquiry as to why the brick had not been delivered and the information that a vessel had been procured by the company that would carry less than half a million bricks. The city then increased the order to half a million, but upon consideration of the cost at a subsequent meeting the additional order was withdrawn. There is no prospect that the brick will be delivered for upwards of a month, and in the meantime the city streets are in great need of them. The city had been paying approximately $1 a thousand for bricks, but this particular brick was sold for $1.50 and was suggested in council meeting that the city should be unwilling to deliver the brick at the price mentioned, or had been pulled down by the suspected combine. While all of this is mere speculation, the facts in the case seem to warrant this view of the proposition. Hence, the proposition that the county, or counties, shall go into the business of making bricks for their own use, in view of the large amounts to be expended for brick in Florida, during the next few years it is regarded as a feasible business matter, and will be so investigated with due care and precision. If it is found upon mature consideration to be not feasible, it will be dropped. It may be stated, however, that it will not be abandoned until it has been so determined. Those who have given the question a good deal of study maintain that it is good business, not only for the present, but will protect the counties from future speculations and increased prices. — Orlando Sentinel.

Big Sale of Lots

Geo. W. Fryhofer, real estate auctioneer of Chicago is in the city to put on a sale of Sanford Terrace lots. Mr. Fryhofer makes a specialty of auction lot sales and has operated in Florida, particularly at Palm Beach and the East Coast for six winters. He says his attention was called to Sanford by a Jacksonville banker, who said Sanford was agriculturally the richest city of its size in the state and had more attractions for the tourists than other places better patronized by winter pleasure seekers. Sanford Terrace is being exploited at home and north. Local sales will be made and at the same time extensive advertising of this beautiful tract is being carried on in the northern papers. The company stands ready to not only sell on most liberal terms, but to put up attractive bungalows for northern buyers, making it possible for the tourist to buy a lot and home at what it usually costs to spend a season in Florida. This is the most liberal proposition ever given to the northern tourist and is sure to attract many new comers.

TELEPHONE TRUST SWAN SONG PREPARES TO SELL TELEGRAPH

MAY BE REAL THING OR MAY BE A BIG BLUFF TRUSTS ARE DISSOLVING

OR AT LEAST MAKING A NOISE LIKE IT AND THAT IS GOING SOME

Preliminary plans for the disposition of the so-called telephone trust of its $25,000,000 worth of Western Union stock were under consideration today by G. C. Todd, assistant to Attorney General McReynolds, in charge of prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust act. Mr. Todd listened yesterday to tentative proposals from N. C. Kinabury, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company relating to the disposal to be made of the Western Union stock. Although the recent negotiations have not reached the stage where a policy can be outlined, it is known that the Attorney General and Mr. Todd would oppose a pro rata distribution of the Western Union shares among shareholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The officials take the position that the case is greatly different from that presented by the Union Pacific and the Baltimore and Ohio stock to its shareholders, while the two wire companies are. Although a final decision in the matter may not yet be reached for many weeks, the department of justice probably will adhere to its announced policy of allowing the American company, as much time as is necessary, to dispose of the Western Union stock without loss to its own stockholders.

Deaths

Deaths of several young men of Sanford, killed themselves at an early hour Tuesday in the law office of Groves McCreary.

When Mr. McCreary opened his office found Sinclair's body and a revolver on the floor, a revolver clutched in his hand.

Sinclair was married less than two weeks ago to Miss Alice Carlisle, a young lady of this city. The couple left at once on their wedding trip to Jacksonville, where they stopped at the Argon Hotel. Sinclair returned last night from Jacksonville without his wife and went to his mother's home there.

Mrs. Sinclair is absent on the East Coast and two ladies are rooming at her house. Mr. Sinclair awakes them trying to get in. They gave him the keys and he ruminated around in the lower rooms, evidently trying to find some of his own belongings.

He then fell and was not seen again until his body was found this morning.

When he tried to enter his mother's house he seemed vexed because he could not get in at once, but otherwise appeared to be in his normal condition.

Gordon Sinclair was born and raised in Iowa and was about thirty years old.

Congregational Church

Next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the pastor will begin an important series on the general subject, "The Higher Powers of Man," treating the various themes from the standpoint of the Bible and human experience to the end that practical help may be discovered for all. All of us are so busy with our business that we too infrequently search for the larger truth and help that an All-wise Providence has provided for us. It is the purpose of the pastor in giving this series to help all such and it is hoped that a few minutes spent at the evening services may be of real value to all. Good music is assured and all are cordially invited. The regular morning services as usual.

Presbyterian Church

There will be two special musical attractions at the Sabbath morning services. Prof. John Landrum of New York, will give a violin solo, and Miss Cecil Kinard, soprano, will sing. These two musicians are concert performers who will be in Sanford over Sabbath and have kindly consented to give us these numbers.

Mayor Thrasher

Hon. D. L. Thrasher, the new Mayor of Sanford, elected as alderman, appointed Superintendent of Public Instruction of Seminole County and holding other positions of trust and confidence and has never been found wanting.

Congregational Church Annual Meeting

There was a large gathering of members and friends of the Congregational church at the annual meeting of the congregation Wednesday evening.

Reports from the various departments of the church, including church, Sunday school, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Union, Ladies' Union, Clover Club, Barrens and the Roll, and special reports from the last year were interesting and showed the church to be alive and working.

The Barrens class and Christian Endeavor Society have been organized within the year, each making a fine report for the period of existence. The treasurer's report from each department of the church showed an increase in receipts for the year 1913, all expenses paid and a balance in each treasury. It is worthy of note that the support of the various benevolences of the church was exceeded by one-third.

The pastor, Rev. P. P. Strong, in a happy informal talk gave an outline of the work done by his pastorate of the past six months and outlined briefly the purpose and plan of the church for 1914.

All of the officers of the church were re-elected except the clerk, Miss Carrie Ensminger, whose resignation was accepted with many regrets. Miss Flora Walker was unanimously chosen clerk.

A cordial vote of thanks was given Miss Ensminger, in appreciation of her loyal faithful service of several years. The officers and trustees of the church are Dr. C. E. Walker, C. B. Haskins, Thomas Griggall and F. C. Kent; deacons, J. J. Seccord, C. R. Walker and Findlay Munson; treasurer, C. R. Walker, clerk, Miss Flora Walker.

The business meeting was followed by a delightful informal social hour, the ladies of the church serving delicious refreshments.

Mr. Henry Nickel afforded much pleasure to the assembly with a number of beautiful selections on the Victrola.

The evening was viced a great success and one of the most enjoyable affairs socially in the history of the church.

You Must Register

Supervisor of Registration, H. C. Case has issued notice in The Herald that the registration books will be open from this time until the first Monday in March. There are many who do not thoroughly understand the new primary law which requires every one to register. I quote an exception. Follow me in the law in brief.

The Bryan Primary law, passed in its last session of the legislature makes it obligatory that every elector who would vote in the primary must register. Now are familiar with the provisions of the new election law and it would be well for all to have the copy of the laws passed at the last session that was mailed to every voter in the county, where it has been readily studied.

The main features as to registration may be found in the following paragraphs: The county registration books for each election district shall be open on each week day from 9 a. m. to 12 m. and from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. on each night until 10 p. m. at some convenient place in each election district in such county in this state, from the first Monday in January, 1914, to the first Monday in March, 1914, biennially thereafter.

For the registration of all persons who are legally qualified to register for the general election. It is hereby made the duty of the supervisor of registration between March 15 and April 15, 1914 and biennially between corresponding dates thereafter, to keep the registration books of the county open at his office, Sunday excepted, from 9 a. m. to 12 m. and from 2 to 6 p. m. Except during these periods the election books for primary elections shall be closed forever.

In registering one must state on oath his full name, his political party affiliation, his business in occupation, his age in years, his color and the state or country of his nativity, his postoffice address, and the fact whether or not one is able to read or write.

Father and Child Dead

Affliction came to the Thompson family this week at their home south of this city. The baby boy died on Tuesday and the father, Robert Thompson, died this morning. The father was a very poor circumstanced man, but the kindly neighbors for the past few months for the father and mother.

FERRY FROM KEY WEST TO CUBA IS NOW BEING PLANNED

WILL MAKE OVERSEA RAILWAY THE GREATEST IN THE WORLD

NO NEED TO DISEMBARK

OTHER NEWS OF STATE OF FLORIDA

Key West, Fla., Jan. 9.—The Florida system in completing plans to run a ferry between Key West and Havana, Cuba, daily. Immense ferry boats to be used in the service are already under construction in Philadelphia shipyards. The company is at present engaged in dredging out the basin surrounding the proposed site of their terminal docks and the dock now in use and today there is a depth of water alongside the dock of 27 feet. The work of dredging has answered a double purpose, inasmuch as the mud sucked up by the dredges has been used to fill in the lower portions of what is known as Trumbo island, a large body of land which was made by the Mangler system. The land was named for Howard Trumbo, the well-known contractor, who had charge of this particular portion of work. The dock now in use, which is 2,000 feet long, will soon be removed. It has been surrounded by massive walls of reinforced concrete inside of which is being pumped rock and marl to make a permanent and indestructible pier. The new dock will but be shortened to a length of 1,200 feet.

A. M. Griffin, Lakeland manager of the Union News, met with a peculiar and tragic death last morning when he was driving his car to Lakeland in a machine driven by Mr. J. Bunyan Smith. The left front tire of the car suddenly burst while the machine was going at a rate of about 15 miles an hour, and the driver and passenger were so great that Mr. Griffin's neck was instantly broken. He lived only eight minutes, but never spoke after the accident. Mr. Smith was driving the car and escaped without any serious injuries, although he had a broken thumb and several bruises, which are quite painful. The car did not turn over as was at first reported.

Whitney yesterday, at Lakeland, advised the injunction granted by Dan Johnson and others on Jan. 7 to dissolve the commission, elected by the citizens of Lakeland, restraining them from taking hold of the city's affairs. The result of this decision places the commission in effect for the present at least, or until a decision is had from the Supreme Court.

Judge Rhydon M. Call, of the United States court for the Southern District of Florida, who has been ill for some weeks, left last night for Stratford Springs, Miss., where his already greatly improved condition is expected to result in a complete restoration to health. Judge Call, after his return from court duties in Texas, was taken ill and had to adjourn the December term of court for this place, and has been confined to his bed or room practically ever since. He has several times refused to take the cure resort to receive and pass on matters that required immediate attention.

All the candidates for tobacco for United States citizenship will meet in Tampa, January 20, for the purpose of extending standards of grades for the next year, and to get into closer touch with each other. Collector of Customs J. F. C. Grigg notified the weighers at Key West and Tampa and they will both take part in the meeting. The tobacco examiners will be in session more than one day, but it all depends on the work they find awaiting them. Florida is honored and Tampa paid a special compliment in the selection of that city by the department for the congregating of all the examiners in the service, but the total is not known at this time.

Delivering Lectures Prof. W. B. Adams, colored editor of Brunswick, Ga., delivered an address last night at St. Paul's Baptist church on the subject of Industrial Education. Wednesday night, Jan. 7th he will lecture at Trinity M. E. church. Thursday night, January 8th at the A. M. E. church. Prof. Adams contends that the best friend that the negro has is among the southern white people. These lectures will be delivered for the benefit of Home Missions Alliance on five, but a silver offering will be taken after these lectures. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Bonds Are Validated Orlando, Jan. 7.—Clerk J. M. Robinson of Orange county has finished putting the official stamp on the Seminole county road bonds. There are two hundred bonds of the value of one thousand dollars each. The bonds were validated by the court in Orange county and record of the same was made in Orange county. The records have been transferred to Seminole, it became necessary for the stamp of Orange county circuit court to go on them, and for the clerk to make his certificate of same in addition to a like procedure to be gone through with in the new county. Validating a county is not so small a job as it looks to be from an uninitiated view Jacksonville Metropolis.

Martin a Candidate

Col. Geo. C. Martin, of Brooksville, will probably become a candidate for the United States senate. It is believed that Col. Martin's probable candidacy will much of its inspiration from Tampa from where a rumor has been persistent for some time that a new Richmond would soon enter the senatorial arena. Col. Martin, so it is learned, has received widespread demand in Hernando and adjacent counties for his candidacy to take on form. That Col. Martin will consent to make the run has not yet been ascertained, but his friends in Brooksville and over the state are so sure of his ability and fitness for the place and so confident that he is the "man of the hour" in the coming contest for a seat in the United States senate, that they can present his name with the assurance that he will accept the call to duty and make a successful campaign.

Splendid Vandiville Bill

Jewell & Barrum, comedy acrobats, athletes and tumblers with the Cahurn Greater Minstrels this season present an exceptionally interesting and clever star specialty. Jewell's make-up and line of comedy would make a mummy laugh. This team never pass up an opportunity or opening to bring a laugh and it is the best and cleanest act of its kind that has ever been with this popular attraction. One of their feature numbers is a hand balance head dive from a twelve foot to six-foot elevation, and from there to the stage lightning on hands, an act that has never before been seen with any acrobatic team in the business. Their tumbling and acrobatic work is exceptionally clever and finished, done with delightful ease and zest, and they ginger up their performance with some boisterous fun which the crowd appreciates fully as much as the acrobats. They are only one of six big vaudeville acts in the City of the show, and the charming fun show. Remember the date, Jan. 15th at the Esplanade Theatre. Seats on sale daily, invited to attend.

YOUR TAX ASSESSMENTS

Should be Given in to Tax Assessor Rates in Person

Editor Herald: According to the laws of the state it is necessary for those parties who reside in Seminole county to make their tax returns to this office in person. There are some features of the assessments that cannot be taken care of by mail and it is essential that the statements pertaining to all personal property shall be sworn to. Residents of the county should take inventory of their stock, chattels, monies and other valuables which they may have had on hand the first day of January, 1914, in order to make the proper returns when they come before me to do so.

There has been considerable controversy over the matter of assessing the taxes for 1914 and I want residents and property owners of Seminole county to understand that I have neither intention or desire to be unjust to any one or assess any property in any undue way as to work in an unfair manner to the owner.

We are making our own assessment for the first time and it is the general belief that if each one will do his part and see that the property in his neighborhood is returned at a uniform rate as far as values are concerned, that a just equalization will be made and a direct benefit will accrue to all.

The writer will be pleased to have such information relating to values as residents may from time to time care to give, as by adopting this method, it will be possible to have every piece of property that should be on the books shown, and every resident will pay his or her part of the personal property tax.

Yours very truly, THOS. K. BATES, Assessor of Seminole County.
