.... Sheep Shears Used On Youth

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) -Donald Demoulin charged his high school teacher took a sheep shears to his locks. He took the case to court. Donald, 16, and his mother sued on the ground that the alleged haircut in January 1966 was an assault and battery. They asked $30,000 damages. Karl Bakken, the teacher, said the Fallbrook High School administration had given him permission to cut Donald's hair. Monday, while jurors were deliberating the civil suit, an out-of-court settlement was reached. The amount of the settlement was not revealed. Donald now attends Escondido High.

Our Civil Service Board is now serving the legal word with scant regard for the people which the law was intended. This is no fault of the men on the board as, indeed they are very conscious of their job - and are serving without compensation. It is the system that is at fault and this system is one that has grown over the years through legalistic efforts to place the letter of the law above the service of justice. It would be far better for the Civil Service Board to consider future requirements be a hearing before a personnel Board WITHOUT lawyers and in a closed room where each side could quietly and in their own words tell the story for seeking the services of a new each side.
