Stenstrom Quizzed; Says Attorney General Started It

By TOM GARDANO
Herald Staff Writer

If anyone is responsible for bringing about an inquiry into the firing of Sanford's former police chief — an inquiry that apparently will produce no results — it's attorney General Robert Sherwin.

At least that's the opinion of Sanford City Commissioner Julian Stenstrom, one of two city commissioners interviewed Monday by investigators attempting to determine if state law was violated by conduct leading to the firing.

Stenstrom and City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan may have been the last in a string of witnesses to be interviewed to determine if the Sunshine Law was violated by commissioners' conduct prior to the July 17 firing of Wallace

N. LaPeters as Sanford's police chief.

State's attorney investigators indicated Monday the inquiry today he walked away from interviews to date have produced no legally sufficient evidence to prosecute anyone in connection with the chief's dismissal, but were quick to add some of the witnesses may be recalled before a final determination is made.

And, while Stenstrom put the blame for the state's attorney's inquiry into the matter squarely on the attorney general, McClanahan said today he walked away from the interview Monday convinced "as I have been all along that no one violated any law in this matter."

The day after LaPeters was fired he called a press conference.

Sanford Bus Route? Higher Fares Possible As First Step In Plan

By MAX ERKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Countians will be paying more to ride Orange Seminole Ocoola Transportation Authority buses as part of an effort to establish a bus route for Sanford, if the county commission follows through on current plans.

The commission tentatively approved a new route and raised rates of the county's southern route from 15 to 30 cents. The fee for the Sanford route would be 30 cents.

The proposal was part of the county's budget review. The new route and increased rates will be reviewed at public budget hearings at the Seminole County Courthouse Sept. 3 and 4. The creation of the route in and around Sanford will cost the commissioner William Kirchhoff, "to make the system more self-supporting and allow it more of a chance to expand."

If the Sanford route is successful, OSOTA will eventually propose a bus line linking the northern and southern routes, according to Kirchhoff, liaison commissioner to OSOTA.

"The reason we made the proposal for the Sanford area is it's

'There are the aged and youth to consider, too'

— Commissioner Alexander

'It's had the support of a lot of women's organizations...'

— Commissioner Kirchhoff

Currently the county is paying to OSOTA this year $24,650 more than it is paying to OSOTA for the Seminole route. The county's total contribution to OSOTA for the coming fiscal year would be $88,550.

Under the proposal, if a rider in Orange County wants to go to Altamonte Springs, that rider would pay 20 cents to ride there and 50 cents to ride home.

The commission voted the price hike, according to Commissioner Kirchhoff, "to help the disadvantaged," said Kirchhoff.

Resources for Human Needs, a group representing various social service agencies in Seminole County began a push for mass transportation last February. The organization worked with county officials to draw up and distribute surveys studying the need for mass transportation in northern Seminole.

"People who contacted us in this campaign say, 'yes there are facilities, but we can't get to them,'" said Kirchhoff. "In the Sanford area the people who would use it to get to work would have to pay $2 for a taxi."

Commissioner John Alexander voiced displeasure with in-

CHEAPER BY THE...?

It was more than she expected, but not more than she can handle, as Tasha Berlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Berlin, 1227 North Hamilton, Longwood, cuddles one of the 12 puppies born one week ago today to her German Shepherd, Duchess. Average litter for that kind of dog, according to Seminole County Humane Society spokesman, is seven or eight.

Close Call

She almost made it. But Barbara Bradshaw got only so far as the steps of the emergency room at Seminole Memorial Hospital this morning.

Then it happened.

She gave birth to her first child, Robert. Brent Bradshaw, in the backseat of her car.

The baby weighed 8 lbs., 5 ozs. and was delivered by Dr. Charles Corbin.

The grand daddy, Robert Bradshaw, employee of Starnberg-Carlson, was on the scene.

Youth Deputy Program: Start Of Uniform Careers?

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Sheriff's Department Lt. "Bert" Taylor says he doesn't like having to turn down youngsters who want to join the department.

But space in the department's increasingly popular Youth Deputy Division is limited primarily by the number of uniforms available. There are presently 20 uniforms for the division members, ages 14-21.

That could change after Aug. 15, when the Seminole County Youth Deputies Project Fund joins with the Sanford Police Department Association (PDA) to sponsor "A Tribute To Officer" featuring Elvis Presley imitator, Jack Elton.

A portion of the proceeds from the shows, scheduled for 7 and 11 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center, will go for uniforms for the youth deputies.

"It's come to the point now where we have people who have heard about the program and they know it's a good stepping stone to a career in law enforcement. I hate to turn these people away," Taylor said.

The career development program has been ongoing for eight years, Taylor said, and nine of its members have gone on to work in law enforcement. The youths get classroom training from deputy Hank

A Warning From History

The meetings July 26 and 27 in San Diego by the secretary of defense and the chairmen of the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the United States and Korea...

The conference had global significance because the purpose was to determine the extent of U.S. troop withdrawals from South Korea...

Whether by design or not, the San Diego discussions coincided with the 25th anniversary of the truce signing on July 27, 1953...

The Communists took this as an invitation to adventure in North Korea, encouraged by China and the Soviet Union...

The three-year war that followed claimed some six million casualties, including 33,629 Americans killed, more than 100,000 Americans wounded...

Intervention by China prevented U.S. victory and the reunification of Korea as Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur had hoped.

The struggle ended in a stalemate with boundaries generally along the original dividing line...

The stability for South Korea and Japan that was obtained at such sacrifice by the United States and its allies a quarter century ago has been placed in jeopardy by President Carter.

Seeking support in his campaign for the presidency by appealing to a U.S. weariness with international involvement after Vietnam, Mr. Carter promised to withdraw all troops from South Korea.

Obviously, history warns that this would embolden the North Koreans who have never ceased to assert their intention of conquering South Korea, to march again.

They are confident that the United States, in the grip of post-Vietnam paralysis, would not intervene once the ground troops were out.

Even though the U.S. garrison in Korea has been reduced, its continued presence remains the best deterrent against North Korean aggression...

There are signs that President Carter is having second thoughts - stimulated in part perhaps by the adamant warning of Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub, whose outspoken views on this issue forced his retirement as chief of staff for United Nations forces in Korea.

This is why the meeting of military chiefs in San Diego was so important; their strong recommendation against pulling out of Korea could be decisive in preventing it.

"Get ready for some upsetting dinner conversation - I'm feeling kinda 'Andrew Youngish'."

King Henry: He Was Greedy Fellow, His Book Reveals

LONDON (UPI) — King Henry VII has confirmed in his own handwriting what historians have long deduced from the affairs of his reign some 4 1/2 centuries ago — he was a greedy fellow who viewed his subjects as so many bankable assets.
The British Library has just published a book, "The Chamber of King Henry VII," which details the king's private accounts and the expense accounts of the royal establishment — it is the day to day expenses of a king in the last age. The Chamber was Henry VII's chosen instrument for exercising a continual, detailed, personal control of the finances by which he made the monarchy and thus the state solvent and stable.

A Rapid Heart Beat Disturbing

DEAR DR. LAMB—I'm a 47-year-old female and have occasional spells of rapid heart beat. They always occur without notice and I don't have any pain with them although at times it feels as if I'm not getting enough air.

Dr. Lamb

They occur when I'm bending over such as to pick up a fraise while playing or while raking leaves or sweeping dust into a dust pan or picking up clothes. The spells also happen when I have an argument with my husband and once when I went to the hospital to be with my sister when her husband died. In these cases I was very upset.

What you're describing is paroxysmal tachycardia. These tend to start suddenly and stop suddenly. If the rate isn't too fast they don't cause many symptoms. Such individuals have an extra spark plug like that? It can develop from an injured spot in the heart but more often it's something that you're born with.

There are conditions which aggravate such problems or may even cause them. These include excess use of alcohol, disturbances in salt and water metabolism, pneumonia, an overactive thyroid and many other conditions.

I would think that from your general story of good health and long term observation with such mild attacks that you can be reasonably certain that yours is not a significant threat to your health.

To give you more information on paroxysmal tachycardia I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats and Tachycardias. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1501, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10101.

Californian Will Lead Midge War

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Dr. Ashad Ali, a native of Pakistan, and postgraduate research entomologist at the University of California at Riverside, will assume responsibility as head of the blind mosquito research program at the University of Florida's Agricultural, Research and Education Center (AREC) in Sanford on Sept. 1 at a salary of $30,000 annually, according to Dr. John Darby, director at the AREC, Sanford.

He was selected from two finalists for the post after personal interviews by a team of scientists including two from the AREC, Sanford.

The research program is being funded with $50,000 in state money and a grant from the University of Florida. In addition, the county commission has approved federal funding for three laboratory technicians for their wages.

Dr. Ali has headed up a blind mosquito control program for the past four years at the University of California. In a 30-minute seminar to local research scientists, he outlined the work and results of his four-year research.

He has published more than 20 articles, most of them on the midge, in national professional journals. That program cost California and the federal government hundreds of thousands of dollars during a four-year period, Dr. Darby said.

Dr. Ali, 35, was born in Lahore, Pakistan, and received a master of science degree from the University of Punjab, Pakistan, in 1965 with a major in zoology, fresh water biology. He received a second master of science degree with a major in aquatic entomology and ecology from the University of Salford, England in 1969. In 1972, Dr. Ali received a doctorate from the University of Salford with a major in aquatic entomology and ecology.

Dr. Don Hall of the University of Florida will continue to be the county's entomologist for the research program, and will give guidance, according to Dr. Darby.

During his research in California, Dr. Ali conducted work in both chemical and biological control of the midge. He will share equipment, vehicles and boat with the scientists at the Sanford center.

Because of his extensive research, he is considered one of the experts in the United States on the blind mosquito, Dr. Darby said.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, over a one-year period of time, first studied eradication of the insect and then determined that the blind mosquito could not be satisfactorily prevented by fish kills and adversely affect the environment. In concert with the University of Florida, it was determined that a long-range research program is needed to find a biological control such as introduction of parasites and predators.

The approval by the state of the funding is initiating the multi-year research project concentrated on finding an environmentally acceptable method of managing the pest in such a way that the population of the blind mosquito will be reduced to an acceptable level.

The research program will also give immediate assistance to the affected areas in proper larvicide control of the pests.

John Krider, who headed the task force, noted that in 1968 Seminole County was bothered for a two-week period by horrids of blind mosquitoes. By 1977 the severity of the problem had increased to new cover a six-to-eight month span or more than a 10-fold increase over the last 10 years, he said.

The impact study conducted by the task force showed that the midge is costing property owners, government and the business community millions of dollars.

'Timing' Is Key In Library Opposition

By MAX KIRKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Opposition to Seminole County's proposed shift from the Orlando Public Library (OPL) to an independent system is not an objection to the move—but the timing, Commission Chairman Dick Williams said today.

Reacting to criticism of the move by local citizens, including the library study committee and the League of Women Voters, Williams said, "There has never been a great deal of opposition to an independent system. The only question I have heard from the vast majority is when do we do it?"

The study committee recommended two weeks ago that the county remain in the OPL one more year while formulating a plan to go independent. However, the commission also received a letter supporting the withdrawal from the Seminole League of Civic Associations.

"We have long said over the years there are certain points of library service we want over others such as books and reading materials over paid-tings and records. That sort of thing is completely out of our hands as well as the budget," declared Williams.

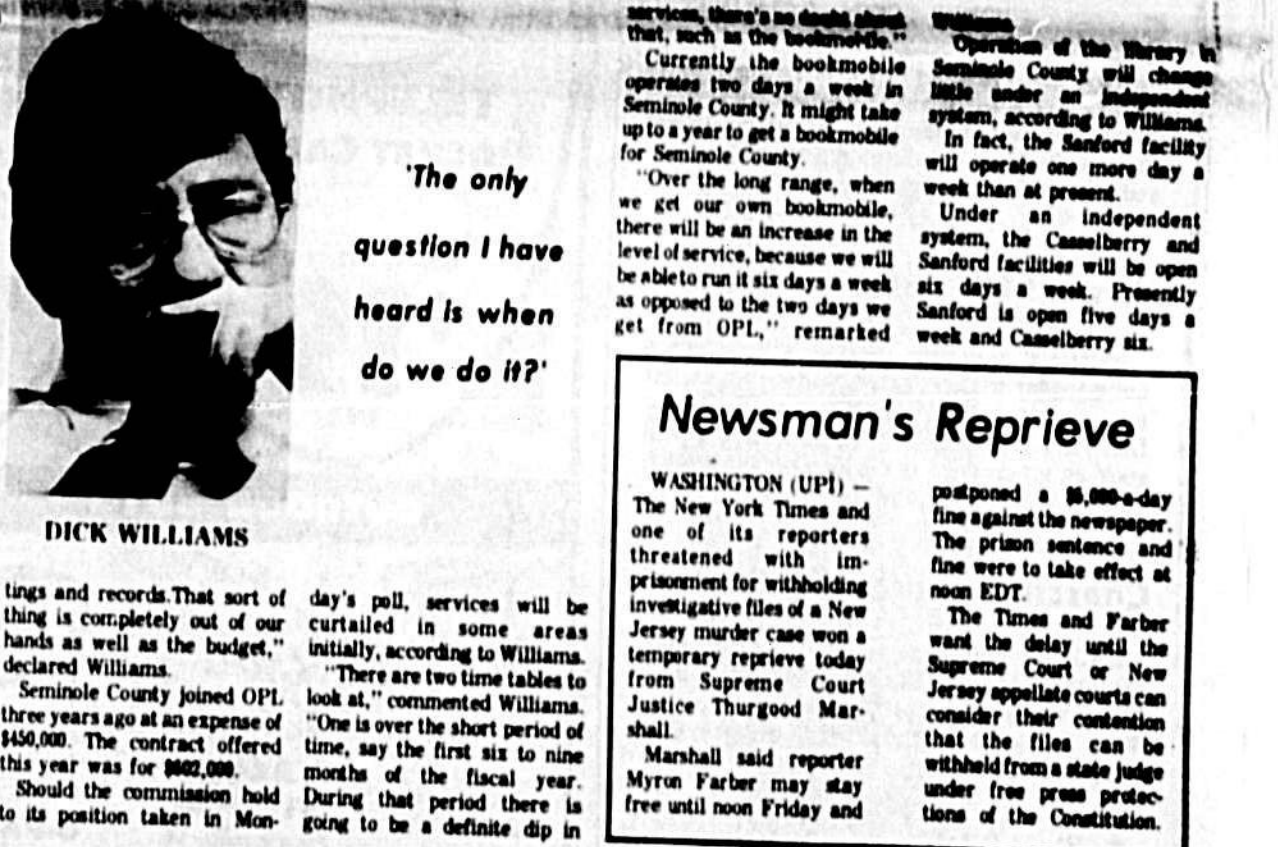

Seminole County joined OPL three years ago at an expense of $450,000. The contract offered this year was for $602,000.

"We are sure do and we make that bid."

6 N.Y. Firemen Plunge To Death As Market Falls

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six firemen plunged to their deaths today in a four-alarm fire at a Brooklyn supermarket that collapsed in a burning heap of rubble, officials reported. The death toll was the largest for New York City firemen in 12 years.

All four fire department rescue units cut their way through the brick rubble in hopes of finding missing firemen alive. A crane, ordered to the scene to remove debris from over the buried firemen, arrived too late to help.

Hospitals reported six firemen treated for burns and smoke inhalation. None was reported seriously hurt.

Today's disaster was the worst in 12 years — since a fire on Oct. 10, 1966, that killed 12 bystanders and pulled four firemen from the rubble moments later.

The firemen died in a disaster similar to today's. The building in the 1966 fire was being renovated and a weakened floor collapsed beneath the firemen trying to extinguish a stubborn five-alarm blaze.

Fire Commissioner Augustus J. Fierman noted the six unidentified firemen were trapped when the roof of a Waldman's supermarket collapsed unexpectedly. The store had been under renovation, and officials believed the roof might have been weakened by the construction work.

'Torch' Testifies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A confessed "hit man" told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee today about his sideline as a "torch" for the crime syndicate.

Gary Berdock, 35, who Tuesday confessed to murdering his loan shark partner, said he and a more experienced partner burned a warehouse in Tampa, Fla., while the Super Bowl game in Miami. The pair then tried unsuccessfully to make it look as if neighborhood mobs burned the building, he testified.

The subcommittee is investigating organized crime in Miami. Berdock is a former partner (Herald and Post, Page 5A).
