Henderson Airfield Still Held By U. S.

Offensive To Drive Japs From Guadalcanal Into Sea Is Underway

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox warned today that the Japanese situation in the Solomon Islands, asserting that no doubt, the Japanese fleet would retreat and added there is still a bitter, tough fight.

(By Associated Press)

In the Solomon Islands, the American offensive to drive Japan's invasion forces into the sea is apparently underway in the jungle-clad hills of Guadalcanal as United States Marines, supported by a terrific air assault, hammered the enemy farther from the island's prized airfield.

Swiftly following the withdrawal of the Japanese fleet, American "devil dog" fighters drove the Japanese back two miles in one sector.

Faced by fighter planes and dive bombers which alerted enemy artillery, the American ground force, strong small-scale offensives and at one point a band of Marines made a two-mile advance last night.

The attack was launched to the west of Henderson Airfield and a "small force" of Marines succeeded in driving across the Maclean River.

The Japanese were reported to be retreating slowly to a command post.

This retreat came Sunday after a long day of fighting in the northwest sector of Guadalcanal.

American air forces also pounded away at enemy bases in the Rekata Bay area—125 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

Earlier the Navy revealed that U. S. submarines hammering a way at Japanese supply lines extending from Japan to the North Solomon, had 10 more ships to the toll of destruction and damage wrought against the enemy.

The undersea blows were independent of those struck in the Solomons area last week by American planes and ships which probably saved Guadalcanal by hammering seven Jap men-of-war and destroying more than 100 planes in the biggest air-sea battle since Midway.

Last week's sea battle forced a huge Jap invasion armada to retreat to bases in the North Solomon and left the Americans with at least temporary control of waters around Guadalcanal.

Taking advantage of this opening, American surface vessels pounded enemy positions on Guadalcanal—as reported in Sunday's communication.

This bombardment, it developed, was the prelude to the land offensive launched by the Marine forces Sunday.

With huge four-motored Army Flying Fortresses spearheading the drive, they crossed the Maclean River and attacked the Japs in the westward of Henderson Field.

Cuban Airline May Start Ferry Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The plane owned by Amelia Earhart to fly the Atlantic would be put to the more prosaic job of ferrying freight in a Cuban airline gets permission to institute temporary service between Miami and Havana, it was made known yesterday at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing.

The plane, now at Boulder City, Nev., is one of four ships the Express Aero Inter-American, of Havana, has acquired. Kenneth Frank, Jr., of Havana, vice president and director of the company testified.

Rare Yew Tree Will Be Taken To Ireland

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 3. (AP)—The only Florida yew, believed to be the world's rarest tree which grows only in a 10-mile strip of the Apalachicola River swamp, is going to be taken to Ireland.

The Florida Forest and Park Service has gathered some of the tree's seed, red wood borers for the yew, and a specimen of the yew, owned of the Irish Department of Agriculture, wants to plant them in a botanical garden.

The first successful glass factory in America was opened in Boston in 1797.

Legion Opposes New Amendment To Youth Bill

A resolution declaring American Legion opposition to the amendment passed by the Senate to the Selective Service Act which will require that draftees of 18 or 19 years of age must be trained within this country at least 12 months before being sent into foreign service, was passed last evening at a meeting of Campbell-Lossing Post at the Legion Hut.

Lloyd F. Boyle, service officer and former Post commander, was instructed by Commander Neil Smith to draw up the resolution which will be sent to Florida senators and to Representatives Joe Hendricks and Ley Green.

The resolution is according to Commander Smith in accord with a recent radio address by Boone Waring, national commander of the American Legion, in which the latter protested against the amendment.

Action of Senator Claude Pepper in opposing the amendment was commended by the Legionnaires, and they ordered a letter be sent Senator Pepper lauding his stand.

On the other hand, Senator C. O. Andrews will be urged to consider his vote in support of the amendment when the bill comes up for final action.

"We feel that any bill requiring an 18-month period of training by the young men, will definitely hamper the war effort," said Commander Smith, who also pointed out that military authorities in his opinion, are the best judges as to the length of training periods, and that there was no time to hamper them with restrictions and regulations as to how to conduct the war.

He added that many young volunteers are now serving with the Navy and Marine from Department Adjutant Howard Rowton of Palatka, which stated that veterans of the present war will be eligible for membership in the American Legion upon presentation of their discharge papers.

Plans for the Armistice Day parade and a full day of celebration were discussed, and will be released in a few days, Commander Smith stated.

Surgeons' Helpers In WAVES Will Be Lieutenants

MIAMI, Nov. 3. (AP)—A commission as lieutenant (jg) in the United States Navy Women's Reserve with equal rank, pay and subsistence as that of the Navy Reserve for men is being offered to women who are qualified to be appointed as an active assistant surgeon.

This is the first time a rank as high as lieutenant (jg) has been offered to women especially qualified for surgical work.

In making the announcement for women surgeons, Lt. Sara J. Terietzky, ranking WAVES officer, 903 Langford Bldg., reported that several important changes had been made by the Navy Bureau of Personnel regarding the recruiting of WAVES officers.

Effective on Nov. 1, 1942, candidates for appointment in the Women's Reserve will be enlisted as Apprentices Seaman in the V-3 classification and the age limits of this classification were extended to include women above 20 to 30 years.

However, women over 35 must have unusual qualifications and if above 40 will be accepted only as an exceptional case.

Barkley Suggested For Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—A resolution to appoint Democratic Leader Albert W. Barkley of Kentucky to the Supreme Court is in circulation in the Senate with a promise that it soon will be signed by a bipartisan majority.

Four observers give Senator Barkley more than a 50-50 chance of being named because of his great value to the Administration in his present job.

Chief Williams Steps Up Drive To Stop Loafing

Stepping up the new drive to get vacated and loafers off the streets of Sanford, twenty negroes were rounded up for idleness and loitering by Police Chief Roy G. Williams and faced City Judge F. J. Miller last evening in a tightly packed Municipal Court.

"You men have been beaten to court for loafing, and there is one thing I want to impress upon you all, you must go to work."

"Don't you know that all of you have just got back from the army? There is plenty of employment offered at this time with good pay. There is no excuse for loafing."

Some of the 20 negroes have been working a few days a week and loafing the rest of the time. Judge Miller added, "I know that you don't have money. How ever you must remember that at this time you are not working."

Some of the 20 negroes were commended for their war effort. You are not loafing, this habit of loafing is a habit that you get out of money, which is not yours, and you are not to be paid for it."

Some were sent to the workhouse and others were fined. Judge Miller said, "I am going to dismiss you, but remember, it is your job to furnish labor to help in this war."

Fresh Russian Gains Reported On Soviet Front

(By Associated Press)

The Russian front, fresh Soviet gains were reported in the 10-week-old siege of Stalingrad which partly offset the Red Army's withdrawal from Nalchik, plateau in the central Caucasus where strong German armored columns are driving the Red's back toward the snow-clogged pass in Europe's highest mountains.

Red counter-attacks in Stalingrad hurled the Germans from several buildings in the north-factory sector.

The Russians acknowledged earlier that they had been forced to evacuate Nalchik, 60 miles by air from the terminus of the strategic road which leads across the 18,000-foot range to Tiflis and the great Russian oil fields beyond the mountain barrier.

The German high command claimed the occupation of Nalchik last Thursday and yesterday said the Germans had taken the town of Alagir, about 20 miles by air and 45 miles by road from Orskanik, where the military "big way" starts.

Some troops retired from Nalchik and fought battles to the southwest of this point, the Soviet communiques said.

In this area, the communiques added, the Germans attacked with more than 100 tanks, accompanied by automatic riflemen and supported by 70 planes.

At the battle of Stalingrad, ended the 70th day of its siege, the Germans launched a desperate counter-attack in an effort to regain "at all costs" the positions they had lost in the past few days, but the Russians held their ground.

At one point, the communiques said, the Russians drove the Germans out of six dugouts in which they had entrenched themselves.

Northwest of Stalingrad, the communiques said, a group of Red army scouts penetrated the enemy rear and attached a motorized column, destroying three trucks loaded with ammunition and two fuel oil tank cars.

Civilian Doctors May Be "Frozen"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Some doctors are seeking a solution to the Nation's acute shortage of physicians through a proposal to create a Federal agency empowered to freeze doctors in their present civilian status, other than to areas where shortages exist, or draft them into military service.

The proposal was advanced by Dr. Frank H. Leahy, national chairman of the Central Board of Procurement and Assignment, a Federal agency charged with the responsibility of obtaining sufficient doctors, dentists and veterinarians for the armed forces.

He told a Senate education and labor subcommittee the shortage of doctors in many States with large rural areas is fast approaching the critical stage because many physicians in those regions are entering military service.
