

City, State At Stand-Off

Where Will Sanford Dump Sewage?

If Sanford can't dump effluent from its Poplar Avenue sewer plant into Lake Monroe, where's it going to go?

This is only one of the questions which the Sanford City Commission will look at during a luncheon meeting Friday at city hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles called the meeting so commissioners could decide on a direction to go.

Currently the city and the state Department of Environmental Regulation appear to be at a stand-off.

DER has told the city its sewer plant operating permit will expire in 1984 unless planning is under way to dispose of sewer effluent in some way other than dumping it into the lake.

If the city is in the process of planning another way, such as spray irrigation over land, it will get four more years until 1988 from the DER to implement their plan.

A major problem with implementing such a plan is the cost which Knowles estimates at about $7 million. And it appears at this point that the city will have to bear those costs totally. There are no longer federal funds available for sewer plant expansion.

The additional costs, whatever they may be, will be borne by the city's sewer customers in the form of rate increases. Since cost estimates are not firm at this point and since the City Commission has not decided which direction it will take, there is no way of knowing how much that rate increase will be.

The commissioners will be asked to look at the alternatives Friday.

Knowles is convinced the city can spend $15,000 to $25,000 to demonstrate to the DER that the city's effluent is not polluting Lake Monroe.

"They have let us know that regardless of the fact that Sanford's effluent is having no impact on the lake, Sanford's still not going to be allowed to use the lake," said

Knowles, who only recently returned from Tallahassee where he conferred with DER officials.

The city manager said DER officials noted that the state's Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission opposes the dumping of effluent into the lake and that DER doesn't wish to oppose that agency.

"We aren't going to get it (the permit) with the politics (between DER and the GFWFC) in Tallahassee," Knowles said. He added that even an attempt to appeal the decision there would "roust the environmentalists out for 100 miles."

"We could win and still not get a permit," Knowles said.

Another alternative Sanford has, Knowles continued, is to challenge the state ruling in the courts. "But court action could go on for ump-teen years," he said.

And to buy the property necessary to dispose of Sanford's sewer plant effluent off site, in addition to the cost of installing pipe and pumping the effluent to another location could cost $6 million to $7 million, the city manager said.

For some eight years, the city of Sanford, the city of Lake Mary and Seminole County looked into the possibilities of expanding the Sanford sewer plant to a regional facility serving the entire north end of Seminole County.

At that time federal funds were available for most of the cost of the sewer plant expansion plus the costs of providing an interceptor line to bring the effluent to the Sanford plant. Representatives from all three local governments met for eight years talking about the idea and no agreement was ever reached.

In the meantime, federal money for such projects was stopped. And Sanford decided to go it alone and to continue providing service only for the citizens of Sanford.

The commission Friday will decide what is next. — Donna Estes.

Race Bias Victim Gets School Job Promotion

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board will comply with a federal court order to promote a black employee with back pay for discrimination by the district's transportation supervisor against the black employee in 1979.

School board members voted unanimously Wednesday night to appoint George Duncan as the district's assistant supervisor of transportation for maintenance, effective July 1, and award him $432 in back pay.

School Superintendent Robert Hughes said the small amount of back pay is because Duncan would have gone from the top pay scale for hourly employees to the bottom of the administrative pay scale.

George Duncan

Woodrow Burnsed, the man found guilty of discriminating against Duncan, has received an administrative reprimand in his personnel file, according to Hughes.

Hughes said "the proper administrative action" was taken against Burnsed. The school superintendent said he cannot make further comment about Burnsed's reprimand because of confidentiality of employee files.

U.S. District Court Judge Elizabeth Kovachevich ruled in April that Burnsed discriminated against Duncan in September 1979 by not giving Duncan, who was a chief mechanic, the opportunity to apply for the position and by naming a subordinate to the post.

Women In Majority

Williams Joins Housing Board

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Women will become the majority on the Sanford Housing Authority with the newest appointment by the Sanford City Commission.

The commission, impressed with Dr. Velma Williams' efforts on the city's charter study committee a year ago, has appointed the Seminole Community College officer to replace Leroy Johnson, an elementary school principal whose term had expired.

Mrs. Williams' term is four years. She will join Mrs. Eliza Pringle, Mrs. Mary Whitney, Joseph Caldwell and J. Wain Cummings on the board that administers the 480 plus units of public housing in six different projects in Sanford.

Mrs. Williams, director of special services at Seminole Community College, has held that position since 1977.

A native of Sanford, Mrs. Williams is married and the mother of two sons. She received her doctorate in the area of counseling from Florida State University in 1975. She also holds a masters in guidance degree and a bachelor's degree in sociology from Florida A & M.

Prior to coming to SCC, she was a counseling coordinator for the Comprehensive Employment Training Act at Florida A & M in Tallahassee from 1975-1977 and counseling psychologist from 1972-75 at Florida State University.

She taught at Midway Elementary School in 1965.

Her community organization involvement includes: Seminole County Voters League, Kappa Sigma Omega, chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, Jack and Jill Interest Group of America and president of Evergreen Temple 321.

On appointment of the Seminole County Commission, she has served on the Commission on the Status of Women, the Seminole County Prime Sponsor Advisory Council, the Sub-Youth Prime Sponsor Advisory Council and on the Voting Study Committee.

With A Lot Of PRIDE

Sanford Water Usage Up 50%

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's water system pumps are working overtime this month to give its 8,300 Sanford water customers and those in the city of Lake Mary, the Midway-Canaan water district and Indian Mound Village all the water they want.

Water usage this month has been up by 50 percent over the same period only one month ago. On May 20, some 7.38 million gallons per day was pumped, on May 21 some 7.95 million gallons were pumped and on May 22 some 7.4 million gallons were pumped, compared with an average daily usage in April of 4.84 million gallons.

There is no danger that Sanford is going to run out of water, however.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles said the city can pump more than 9 million gallons per day without trouble.

"It's the warm weather with no rain," Knowles said in discussing the increased usage. "People are turning on their sprinklers and going out to eat and letting the sprinklers run all night."

"It's a waste of water, but they are paying for it," he said. "and I probably shouldn't complain."

The city over many years has prided itself on the fact that there has not been a restriction placed in the city on persons using water, while other communities have had to curtail water use during peak periods.

The city has two water plants and two well fields and can rotate use of the plants or operate them together.

Knowles noted the city has received a response from Indian Mound Village, to which it supplies water, urging that the group find its own water supply. Similar letters were sent to Lake Mary and to the Midway-Canaan water district.

Knowles said the letter informed that the Indian Mound group is holding meetings to try to find an answer to its problem.

Lake Mary has also been actively looking at alternative methods of supplying its own water production. County Commissioner Bob Sturm has asked for a meeting with Lake Mary city officials to discuss ways the county may help the city with that problem. A meeting time has not been set.

Some people enjoy the theater so much they will do almost anything to be behind the scenes of a production. That includes helping out youngsters with their play productions in elementary schools in Seminole County. There are many folks who have the unusual hobby of being behind-the-scenes volunteers for play productions throughout the year. See the Leisure magazine Friday for more on this pastime.

Preliminary plans have been approved for construction plans at T. W. Lawton Elementary School in Oviedo and Lyman High School in Longwood.

The Seminole County School Board voted Wednesday night to replace a two-story classroom building at Lawton Elementary with two new buildings and to use a steel beam to support the Lyman High gymnasium roof.

The board heard a proposal from Thomas Frizzell, architect for the Oviedo project, to replace the 12,000-square-foot building with 29,000 square feet of classroom space.

Frizzell said 11 new classrooms will be built, the school's cafeteria will be converted back into a dining area from its current use as classroom space and the kitchen will be reopened.

In addition to classrooms, a new administrative suite and media center will be built for Lawton Elementary. New art and music workrooms are also scheduled for construction if money is available in the district's $1.2 million budget for the project.

Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities, said the budget should be sufficient if bids come in at $38 per square foot, the same amount as the Keeth Elementary School construction project which was bid last fall.

But bids could go as high as $50 per square foot, Arnold said. That would put costs for the total project at about $1.45 million.

"That leaves us with the option of delaying construction of the art and music centers until funds become available, or if we can find the funds somewhere else in the budget, going ahead and building them," Arnold said.

The board voted to raze an old two-story building at the school to make room for the new construction.

Frizzell told the board there is no viable alternative to removing the building.

Superintendent Robert Hughes said the eight-acre school campus has very little extra space. Razing the building is the only way to maintain sufficient playground and drainage space, he said.

"The only alternative the board has is to remove that building," he said. "It's a business decision we have to make. It would be educationally sound to remove that old building out there."

Arnold also said the removal of the building was specified in a state survey of the county's school facilities in 1979. If the district did not remove the building, state funding for construction projects could be blocked, he said.

Arnold said the building will be demolished this summer.

A tentative timetable for construction was also presented by Frizzell. He said bids should be awarded by December and construction should begin in January. Construction should be completed by July 30, 1984.

Board members also approved a tentative plan to use a steel beam as the main support for Lyman High School's gymnasium.

The roof was found to be defective following a Feb. 13 rain storm which left several inches of water on the gym floor. An investigation revealed that the pre-cast concrete, steel reinforced beams used in the construction of the gym roof had developed a sag.

After lengthy debate, the board voted last month to hire Watson & Associates, the Orlando architectural firm which designed the school, to design a new roof for the gym.

Board members Wednesday night vetoed plans submitted by Watson officials to correct the sag in the existing beams and to replace the beams with other pre-cast concrete beams.

They tentatively accepted Watson's plan to use a solid steel beam in the roof but told company officials to bring them proof that the steel beam plan will work.

Watson's engineer, Bruce Townsend, told board members they anticipate construction at the gym beginning in July and being finished by November.

School officials have estimated the cost to repair the gym roof and floor will exceed $500,000, which will be financed by insurance settlement. — Michael Beha.

IN BRIEF

Civil Rights Appointees Stirring Up Controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The three men President Reagan chose to complete his overhaul of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights made a defensive debut that could point to a controversial confirmation process in the Senate.

Reagan announced Wednesday that he will nominate lawyers Morris Abram and Robert Destro and political scientist John Bunzel to replace three holdovers from the Carter administration who have been critical of his policies.

However, he did little to discourage suggestions that the goal was to quiet criticism of the administration by naming members more favorably disposed to Reagan's positions on such issues as affirmative action and school busing.

Reagan is the first president in the history of the commission to try to replace its six members with his own nominees.

MX Opponents Vow Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of the MX missile, stung with defeats in both houses of Congress, say they will use the Memorial Day recess to mobilize opposition for the next round of voting on the controversial nuclear weapon.

The Senate Wednesday joined the House in approving $625 million for further development and flight testing of the missile, handing President Reagan, who lobbied hard for the MX, a dramatic victory.

It was only five months ago that Congress had withheld the funding when it rejected Reagan's now-abandoned "dense pack" plan to bunch the missiles closely together, and asked him to develop another one.

The resolution was sent back to the House for final approval, a technical matter the House was expected to act on today. It does not need the signature of the president.

Withholding Repealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bowing to the will of Congress and pressure from the banking lobby, the Senate Finance Committee agreed to repeal the controversial law requiring taxes be withheld on interest and dividends.

But repeal supporters charged that the unrelated amendments the committee attached to the bill Wednesday would jeopardize its chances for final congressional approval.

The Republican-dominated committee, in a party-line 11-8 vote, moved to scrap the requirement that 10 percent of such income be withheld beginning July 1.

The committee attached several administration-backed proposals to the measure to give President Reagan a face-saving excuse for accepting repeal, which he has vowed to veto.

No time has been set for consideration of the measure by the full Senate.

Port Director To Fight Planned Rate Hike

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

The executive director of the Seminole County Port Authority will represent the port and its tenants in water and sewer rate proceedings before the state's Public Service Commission.

The port authority's board of directors voted Wednesday to authorize Dennis Dolgner to provide comment to the PSC on the rate hike proposed for Lake Monroe Utilities, the firm which serves the port.

Dolgner told board members he expects the rate hike proposal to be presented to the PSC on Tuesday. If the commission accepts the proposal, it will be sent to the utility's customers who will be allowed to comment on the proposal before a final decision is reached.

Dolgner said he is opposed to a PSC staff plan for a base rate charge established by the size of a customer's water meter. He said a customer with a three-inch water meter would pay a higher base rate than a customer with a two-inch meter even though the customer with the smaller meter may use more water.

He said he also opposes a proposal to charge every user of the system who has a sprinkler system a monthly fee for service. Dolgner said the port authority's office would have to pay $80 per month under the proposal. The charge would penalize consumers who want to fireproof their businesses, Dolgner said.

He suggested a one-time connection charge would be fairer for consumers.

Construction of the port's newest building has been delayed because the county's engineering staff still is reviewing the plans, Dolgner said. The building, to be constructed and financed by Clifton Construction of Cocoa Beach, was scheduled to be completed this summer. The building is expected to take 90 days to complete.

Also Wednesday, the board also approved two leases for renewal. Approved were leases with Benchmark Contractors for $428 per month and St. Johns Petroleum for $562 per month. Both leases include a seven-percent increase in monthly rent over the previous lease.

... Discrimination Victim Gets School Job

In her ruling, Mrs. Kovachevich said Burnsed's action was "a case of blatant racial discrimination to the conscience of this court."

The assistant transportation supervisor's post was created in 1979 by the school board and included many of the duties Duncan was then performing as chief mechanic. But Burnsed never notified Duncan.

When the job was established, Burnsed told Russ Williamson, a white mechanic who was Duncan's assistant, he would get the job.

The job was posted on Sept. 13, 1979, by Burnsed and Duncan tried to talk to him about it but Burnsed made himself unavailable to Duncan. Four days later Burnsed announced that Williamson had been selected for the post.

"This was one of the first or second jobs advertised in transportation," Hughes said. "The managers out there weren't trained or educated in the policies used by our personnel department."

"That sheds a little light on how this could have happened," Hughes said.

School officials had considered filing an appeal of the court order but Hughes said the district will implement the order in the interest of maintaining employee and management morale.

Duncan will replace Williamson, whose contract expires June 30. Hughes said no decision has been reached on what job will be offered to Williamson.

Duncan said today he is happy the case has been resolved. But he said he was "at a loss for words" to comment further.

The assistant transportation supervisor for maintenance post is salaried at from $19,092 to $23,483.

Ron Boeth, director of the Seminole Education Association, said his group is delighted at the board's decision not to contest the order.

"Any decision by the school board to appeal it would have been viewed by the public as support for discrimination," Boeth said.

But Boeth is displeased with the reprimand received by Burnsed. He said a more severe punishment should have been given.

"I'm not advocating that anyone be fired," he said. "But a teacher (Seminole High School dean of students Jacqueline Pearson) who was accused of stealing $10 from a grocery store was suspended for six months while a man who was found guilty of discrimination gets only a reprimand in his personnel file."

Several people testified in the trial about racial remarks made by Burnsed about Duncan. One applicant for a job was asked whether he would mind "working for a nigger."

A former employee at the department said she heard Burnsed tell Williamson that he could not wait to "get rid of the nigger."

Several months after Williamson's appointment, Duncan stepped down as chief mechanic. He cited health reasons but the judge said he was forced to resign.

Marked $2 Bill Leads To Arrest

Convenience store clerk Stephen McPherson, 28, found himself staring down the long barrel of a handgun early today, but he kept cool enough to remember to plant marked money on the robber.

And when Seminole County sheriff's deputies nabbed the suspected gunman and his accomplice about an hour later, they found the identifiable $2 bill in their possession.

Arrested were Robert Lee Ross, 18, of 229 Lorraine Drive, Altamonte Springs, and William Jacob Beckelheimer, 18, who refused to give his address. They were charged with the armed robbery of the 7-11 store at Wekiva Springs Road and State Road 434 in Longwood. Beckelheimer faces the additional charge of possession of a concealed firearm.

Both men are being held today in the Seminole County jail without bond.

The pair was arrested at 4:15 a.m. on State Road 434 about 100 yards west of Kensington Park after deputies stopped their vehicle which matched the description of one believed to have been used in the robbery about an hour earlier.

Recovered from the floorboard at Beckelheimer's feet was a loaded .22-caliber revolver matching the description of the one used in the robbery.

The $2 bill was also taken from Ross and identified by serial number by the 7-11 store manager as the one kept in the cash drawer for security purposes.

McPherson told investigators he was cleaning the store at approximately 3:20 a.m. when a male entered and picked out a sandwich, a bottle of juice and package of doughnuts.

McPherson said when he rang up the items and the cash register drawer opened the man said: "Give me all your money."

At that point McPherson looked up to find a gun pointed at him. As the man held the long-barreled revolver in his hand he said, "No change and what is under the drawer."

McPherson gave him all the money including the marked $2 bill. The gunman fled and McPherson called the sheriff's department.

Meanwhile, deputies report, a newspaper delivery man saw the men leave and noticed the driver of the car duck down when he saw he was being observed.

He notified police who issued a bulletin with the description of the car and the men were arrested.

The thieves took a number of items including several tool boxes. They gained access to a second floor office by removing the plastic covering from a missing door window.

The items, as yet uninventoryed, were taken some time between 4:30 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

An attempted vending machine heist netted burglars at Sanford Middle School only a few cold drinks. Police said the bandits were able to remove the chain and lock securing an enclosure for several vending machines at the school sometime between 10:30 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday.

IN BRIEF

Graham Urges Sending Criminals Back To Cuba

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham says a new State Department plan for getting Cuba to take back criminals who came to Florida during the Mariel boatlift in 1980 is a step in the right direction, but is still too passive.

The State Department announced Wednesday that it would begin to restrict the issuance of visas for U.S. travel to Cuban residents until Cuba agrees to take back criminal refugees.

Graham has maintained that refugees who committed crimes should be sent back to Cuba through the gates at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo.

He said 319 Mariel refugees are currently in state prisons on felony charges and that 1,004 refugees are under state probation or other supervision in Broward and Dade counties.

'I Told You So...'

ORLANDO (UPI) — The only reason he robbed six financial firms, Ray Cunningham says, is because he wanted to prove to them they should have bought his robbery prevention equipment.

Cunningham, 30, is in jail today charged with the Oct. 22, 1982 robbery of the Bank of Central Florida at nearby Winter Park. A photo taken during the robbery was published in the Orlando Sentinel and a reader recognized him and telephoned police.

Although the only charge against him at the moment is the Winter Park bank robbery, Cunningham has confessed to holding up five other banks and savings and loan firms in central Florida, Orlando police say.

Cunningham called the newspaper from jail Tuesday, saying that representatives of each of the six financial houses he had robbed had refused his offer to build robbery-proof equipment for them. He said he offered to install bulletproof glass with wrought iron for teller windows.

"They wouldn't listen," Cunningham told the newspaper. "Robbing the banks was the only way I could prove my point that it is easy to rob a bank."

Porpoises Save Swimmer

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Porpoises warded off sharks and swam alongside a 36-year-old man who survived 12 hours in the ocean after his boat was swamped during a nighttime fishing expedition.

"The sharks — I saw two of them about 30 or 40 yards off — never got close," Jeff Barry, an air traffic controller said from his room at Memorial Medical Center, where he was being treated for exposure.

"The porpoises were all around me. They were feeding. They stayed right beside me," Barry said. "I don't know whether their presence had anything to do with keeping the sharks away from me."

For School Improvement Plan, Republicans Say

Better Collection, Not New Taxes The Key

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House Republicans say the House can fund its schools improvement program without a corporate profits tax increase by speeding up the collection of state sales taxes.

Republican Leader Ron Richmond of New Port Richey and Bob Johnson of Sarasota, the GOP whip, outlined a plan Wednesday to raise $189 million by reducing the amount of time businesses have to submit their sales tax collections to the state.

While the proposal shows that the $175 million corporate profits tax increase proposed by Speaker Lee Moffitt is unnecessary, Republicans won't necessarily oppose it as a bloc when the House's budget plan hits the floor today, Richmond said.

However, Richmond said, he doubts that Moffitt will be able to get the three-fifth's majority vote required for a change in the corporate profits tax "with or without the Republicans."

Republicans support the bulk of the educational improvements included in the budget put together by the House Appropriations Committee earlier this week, although they are against the $60 million plan of merit raises for school teachers, Richmond and Johnson said.

They don't believe tax increases are necessary because the state can pick up money through better management of its current tax revenues. They proposed requiring big businesses to submit at least half of their sales tax collections by the middle of the month, instead of being able to keep the collections until the middle of the following month.

This change would produce an extra $189 million for the 1983-84 budget, money that normally wouldn't come in until the 1984-85 fiscal year.

The Legislature could spend the $189 million during 1983-84 and not miss it the following fiscal year because the economy is expected to have rebounded by then, causing state tax revenues to grow significantly.

Richmond and Johnson also proposed the creation of regional banking stations to receive state tax revenues. The regional stations would mean that tax money could be invested in interest-earning accounts up to 10 days sooner than under current procedures, providing additional revenues of up to $50 million a year.

The regional banking stations wouldn't begin operations until the 1984-85 fiscal year, although the Legislature should establish them now, the two men said.

Moffitt's corporate profits tax increase is in trouble because of the opposition of three big business groups, Associated Industries of Florida, the Florida Council of 100 and the Florida Chamber of Commerce.

The organizations came out against the tax hike Tuesday and endorsed instead the Senate's "RAISE" plan, which doesn't require new taxes. They also called for creation of a commission to make recommendations to be considered next year.

Moffitt and Gov. Bob Graham said the Legislature must raise taxes for additional schools funding now and they derided the call for another schools study.

Moffitt says he is moving forward with the tax increase plan regardless of what Associated Industries director, Jon Shebel and the other business leaders think. He said he is confident that many business leaders support him and that he sees any further study as pointless.

What We've Got: Patience, Patience

U.S. arms negotiator Paul H. Nitze and his Soviet counterpart, Yuri A. Kvitsinsky, opened a new round May 17 in their Geneva talks on reducing theater nuclear weapons in Europe. Mr. Nitze seemed cautiously optimistic while Mr. Kvitsinsky sounded decidedly pessimistic, which says a lot about how these negotiations are going.

The Reagan administration remains hopeful that some acceptable agreement can be reached. But Mr. Nitze and his superiors back in Washington recognize that nothing much will happen until the Soviets decide to deal. The hope is that the scheduled deployment later this year of U.S. cruise and Pershing II missiles in Europe will persuade the Russians that nothing more is to be gained by stonewalling in Geneva.

To date, Mr. Kvitsinsky's instructions from Moscow have been to say nyet to most if not all that the Americans have proposed. The Russians rejected President Reagan's zero-option proposal almost as soon as it was offered in November 1981.

The zero option would have banned all land-based, intermediate-range nuclear missiles for both NATO and the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact. The Kremlin refused, no doubt because its arsenal of more than 600 SS-20s and 248 older SS-4s and SS-5s are unmatched by anything NATO has.

That is why there can be no hope for an agreement limiting these weapons unless NATO sticks to its plan to proceed with cruise and Pershing II deployment.

With negotiations stuck on dead center earlier this year, the Reagan administration responded to pressure from NATO allies in Europe by offering a so-called interim solution. That would have allowed some equal but modest number of intermediate-range missiles on both sides.

The official Soviet news agency Tass called the interim offer, "another farce intended to take in the naive." That sort of rhetoric applied to a patently equitable proposal could only mean that the Russians were not yet ready to bargain seriously.

The only subsequent glimmer of light from the East was a suggestion from Soviet leader Yuri Andropov that Moscow might consider counting nuclear warheads rather than just missile launchers when the Geneva talks resumed. That was considered an encouraging sign because the Soviet lead in missile warheads is even greater than their numerical advantage in launchers.

But Andropov's hint of concession has not yet been followed by anything specific enough to constitute an actual negotiating offer. Until it is, there is no reason to regard this tease as anything other than political posturing.

So, the negotiations resume with only the Russians knowing whether any progress is likely. If the Soviets follow their usual pattern in arms control negotiations, they will remain obstructionist until they are convinced that their adversaries will make no further unilateral concessions. Then, and only then, will there be some chance for an equitable, verifiable agreement.

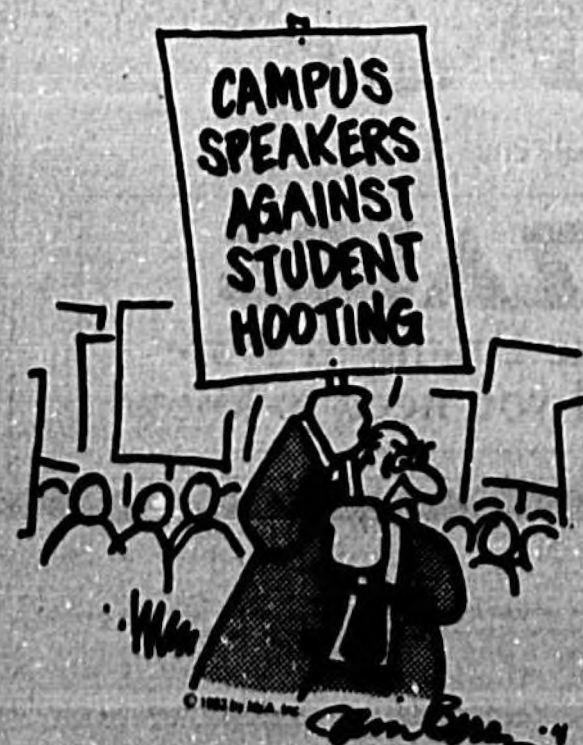

The Reagan administration has already moved in Moscow's direction by effectively giving up on the zero option. The proffered interim solution probably encouraged the Soviets to hope that they could get an even better deal by continuing to threaten no agreement at all.

Mr. Nitze must now be told to stand fast behind the current American proposal until the Soviets recognize that the time for real negotiations has arrived. Unless we miss our guess, that realization will not dawn on the Kremlin until the first cruise and Pershing II missiles begin arriving in Europe.

Will Downtown Sanford become a "red light district" as the result of the findings of Entomologist Arshad Ali's blind mosquito (midge) research? That is the question. All in seeking ways to control the pesky bugs that have plagued downtown business in recent years has discovered that lights of different colors have varying degrees of attraction for the insects. Ali has concluded in his results that "the use of red color lights along the lakefront will attract a lesser number of midges to downtown business and residential areas of Sanford. Brighter (yellow, white or fluorescent) lights should be installed in relatively unhabited areas surrounding the lake. Lights could also be installed on the channel markers in the lake to keep the adults on the lake and away from surrounding homes and businesses."

Pension Reform Data Hit

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For months the Reagan administration has been jousting with current and former government workers over proposed changes in the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) that the administration says will save billions of dollars.

Fuel has been added to this debate by the President's Private Sector Survey of Cost Control, in which, by presidential order, 163 high-level businessmen have probed every facet of government to locate possible savings. The group — known as the Grace Commission, after its chairman, J. Peter Grace — has just completed its survey of federal personnel functions, and it recommends changes in the CSRS that go much further than those suggested by the administration. The Grace Commission says these changes would save taxpayers $16 billion in the first three fiscal years after adoption, and even more in the future.

One person who takes a very dim view of this report is L.J. Andolsek, president of the 500,000-member National Association of Retired Federal Employees.

"The report is inaccurate and misleading," says Andolsek. "It has as its basic premise the fact that federal workers retire much earlier than their counterparts in the private sector, and with much higher benefit levels. Neither fact is true."

In the past 10 years, he says, "the average retirement age for federal workers has been 61.1 years, while the average in the private sector has been 61.8 years of age."

"As far as benefit levels are concerned, the CSRS provides, for a 65-year-old retiree who retired at age 60 with 30 years of service, about 87 percent of his final wages," he says. "When you factor in Social Security — which federal retirees don't get — an IBM retiree in the same circumstances gets 85 percent. AT&T 89 percent and a GM retiree about 102 percent."

Andolsek claims that the Grace Commission's report perpetuates an error that, he says, is often made in comparing the CSRS with private-sector pension plans: "It uses as comparison a large number of plans, including some very small businesses. The only valid comparison is with very large corporations whose spectrum of jobs and grades approaches that of the federal government." Using that comparison, he says, "the benefits going to federal retirees are right in line."

"All we are asking in this ongoing debate over the CSRS," says Andolsek, "is that everyone agree on a single set of numbers as to exactly what are the assets and liabilities of the system — then we can sit down and rationally discuss problems. But every report has wildly differing numbers."

Debate Rages Over Sales To China

WASHINGTON — A secret debate is raging at the highest levels of the Reagan administration. It points up the classic contradictions in recent Republican policies: the desire to promote American business interests vs. the demands of a Rock-of-Gibraltar defense posture.

The debate concerns the sale of high-technology equipment to mainland China. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and the president's science adviser, George Keyworth, favor an expansion of this trade. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and his Under Secretary for policy, Dr. Fred Ikle, don't want to sell the Chinese any technology of potential military value.

The Chinese, of course, are seeking as much high-tech stuff as they can buy, and complain that the administration isn't cooperating. Sources tell me the Chinese have already been allowed to buy scientific technology that has enhanced their military capability.

Under secret presidential directives, the Chinese communists cannot buy nuclear weapons and delivery systems, electronic and anti-submarine warfare technology or goods that will help them in intelligence gathering.

Baldrige and Keyworth, both of whom have just returned from China, seem determined to let the Peking regime buy as much as it wants in those vital areas.

Secret White House documents govern the present China trade policy. They are considered highly sensitive because of the peculiar nature of U.S.-Chinese relations, but my associate Dale Van Atta has obtained the most important ones.

The "Presidential Directive on Export Control Policy to China," issued on June 4, 1981, focused on so-called dual-use exports — items that are ostensibly intended for peaceful purposes but which can also be used by the military. The directive was intended to allow the sale of technology to China "at significantly higher technical levels than previously, albeit somewhat below those approved for other friendly non-aligned nations."

The directive laid out the formula to govern such sales: two times the level of exports to the Soviet Union before its invasion of Afghanistan, when high-tech exports were banned.

But the "two-times" formula was regarded by the business community as not only ineffectual but too restrictive for the kinds of high-tech goods their Chinese customer was clamoring for. They found a sympathetic listener in Baldrige.

The result was a secret presidential memorandum of May 6, 1982, signed for the president by his national security adviser, William Clark, titled, "Export Policy for the People's Republic of China."

"The President expects prompt and full implementation of his more liberal export-control policy, since we do not want to send mixed signals to the Chinese regarding our intent," Clark wrote. And he conceded that the two-times rule had been difficult to apply.

So Clark laid down four rules to clarify the new policy:

— High-tech exports should be "at technical levels significantly above those for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe... (which would) imply the presumption of acceptable national security risk."

— The two-times formula should be interpreted to mean approval for any sale "unless circumstances apply which entail major risks to national security, i.e. exports which would make a direct and demonstrable contribution to Chinese capabilities" in the forbidden military areas.

— If the Pentagon or CIA recommend denial of an export license, "lower risk substitutes will be suggested, where feasible."

— The licensing process must be speeded up.

Baldrige wasn't satisfied. He wanted to be able to OK sale of some things within the forbidden areas — and to set a formula higher than the two-times rule. He suggested sales of anything in any amount "except where the export poses a major risk to U.S. national security."

The Pentagon is obviously nervous about the "major risk" yardstick, and Baldrige hasn't won out — yet.

Limiting Television Exposure

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The terrifying image of a mushroom-shaped cloud, universally identifiable as the immediate aftereffect of a nuclear weapons detonation, fills the television screen as the announcer intones an ominous warning.

If the voters choose the opposition candidate on Election Day, proclaims that off-camera voice, they could be taking the risk of becoming victims of nuclear war.

Other television ads have a musical theme — usually a catchy tune with vapid lyrics ("I'm feeling good about America") more suitable for the marketing of soft drinks.

That's the state of the art in political television advertising today — often vicious but seldom enlightening, riddled with innuendo but devoid of substance, long on imagery but short on serious discussion of the issues.

In addition to being deceptive, misleading and uninformative, those commercials are very expensive. If an election contest requires the use of television advertising, the cost of producing the ads and buying television time typically consumes at least half of each candidate's campaign budget.

During the past two decades — the period in which television has become the country's dominant and most pervasive medium of advertising and mass communication — the average cost of a congressional race has soared from $50,000 to $250,000.

The cost of campaigns for Senate seats and governorships now ranges from $500,000 to $5 million or more per candidate, depending upon the population of the state.

Although those increases can be attributed to the rising prices of all goods and services used in political campaigns, the expanded use of increasingly expensive television advertising is by far the single largest factor.

Now, however, a non-partisan, Washington-based organization has advanced a proposal which holds the promise of not only moderating those costs but also promoting rational debate in future political advertising.

The Committee for the Study of the American Electorate is advocating passage of a federal law limiting the expenditure of money for television production costs exclusively to photographs of candidates talking directly to the camera.

Candidates with speech impediments could designate a single substitute representative to appear in their television ads. Political parties and interest groups wishing to sponsor commercials would similarly be restricted to presentations made by their chairman, president or official spokesperson.

Adoption of the concept almost certainly would drastically reduce the demagoguery and negativism currently fashionable in political advertising.

Reagan's Diplomacy

When President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt endorsed the Lebanon-Israel accord the Reagan administration moved to the threshold of a major diplomatic and strategic breakthrough in the Mideast. Even the progress that has been achieved to date represents a solid accomplishment for an administration alleged to be vulnerable in its handling of foreign affairs.

What has been happening is the disintegration of the rejectionist Arab front, in tacit alliance with Moscow and opposed to any settlement that accepts the existence of Israel.

Sadat of Egypt was the first to break ranks (Journey to Jerusalem), regain the Sinai for Egypt, and agree to the Camp David settlement. Sadat perceived that it was in the interest of Egypt to reach an agreement with the Israelis, and though he was correct it cost him his life. He was gunned down by Moslem fanatics, but with Egypt out of the anti-Israeli equation all hope of a military solution evaporated. The Israelis could probably defeat any combination of Arab armies, but with Egypt on the sidelines a war against Israel lost even superficial plausibility.

With its invasion of Lebanon, Israel demonstrated that the Palestine Liberation Organization amounts to very little on the battlefield, and demonstrated further that Syria is no match for the Israeli military. The Syrian air force was substantially destroyed, and the Syrians' Soviet missiles availed them little.

Now Lebanon has joined Egypt in reaching an agreement with Israel, further disintegrating the Arab front. Far from condemning the agreement, Saudi Arabia has adopted an attitude of neutrality toward it. Score a plus here for Caspar Weinberger and the sale of the AWACs electronic spy plane to the Saudis.

King Hussein of Jordan is an agile survivor, not at all willing to be the point man in an arrangement with the Israelis, but he is basically pro-Western and he is certain to climb aboard any settlement that appears viable.

What this means is that the diplomacy of the Reagan administration along with the military prowess of the Israelis has effectively isolated the Syrians, who remain the only remaining tool for Soviet troublemaking in the area.

If the Syrians can be bought or pressured into withdrawing their troops from Lebanon, the Reagan administration will be able to claim a major diplomatic achievement. The price here may be high, since the Soviets will be pressuring Damascus to hold firm against the agreement, and because Syria has always viewed Lebanon as part of its regional sphere of influence. But even if the price is high, it may be within the capacity of Saudi Arabia and Washington to make Syria an offer it cannot refuse. After all, what is the alternative? Isolation in the Arab world for Syria, increasing dependence upon Moscow, along with, at best, alliance with Quaddafi and the Ayatollah.

It would be a large political plus for Reagan if his negotiators can bring off this Mideast realignment, but it would also be an occasion for general celebration. Until the Syrians and the P.L.O. invaded Lebanon eight years ago and turned it into a battlefield, it was one of the most beautiful and civilized places in the world. Beirut was known, with justice, as the Paris of the Mideast, and its way of life was extraordinarily attractive. Its beaches, hotels, shops, restaurants and clubs were the equal of any in the world, and in the nearby mountains — this is not generally known — there was excellent skiing. An ancient country, its culture was notable for its grace, civility and comprehensive tolerance. The Syrians and the P.L.O. changed all that, but there seems to be an increasingly good chance that Reagan administration diplomacy will return Lebanon to the Lebanese, and get the P.L.O., the Israelis, the Syrians and the Soviets to go home.

If Reagan can indeed bring off such a development, he can then turn to Mondale, Glenn and company and say, in the words of Ernest Hemingway, "How do you like that, gentlemen?"

Different Motives Stimulate Lyman, Tribe In Jamboree

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Last year, Lyman's and Seminole's football teams were about as close as the North and South pole. Lyman had its best season ever, winning the first Five-Star Conference and District titles in its history. Seminole, meanwhile, lost all 10 games, also a first ever.

It's been a half of a year since the rejoicing and the mourning — but the Seminole and the Greyhounds still don't have much in common. Both will approach tonight's Apopka Jamboree with different motives. The two county rivals will battle for one half beginning at 7 p.m. The host Blue Darters and Osceola will play the second half.

Lyman, despite losing 29 of 34 players from last year, wants to sustain the winning attitude which bloomed last fall. An undefeated junior varsity team will help, but head coach Bill Scott knows he needs more than hotshot juniors moving up in rank.

"There's a big difference between varsity and junior varsity," said Scott Wednesday. "They're young, but they'll get after you. Barring injuries and if we get some positive experiences (wins) at the beginning of the season, we could be pretty tough."

The Greyhounds, who have four possible starters on the academic causality list, will use the jamboree to test their highly touted juniors. Defensive linemen Tyrone Simpson and Bill Neilson, defensive end Kevin Kelkes and halfback Anthony Merweather all had trouble with the books, but Scott said all are passing now and should be ready for the fall.

Seminole, meanwhile, will take immediate steps to erase last year's disgrace. Coach Jerry Posey said his lineup is pretty set. "We're going to start with them and stay with them," he said. "We're going to treat it just like a game. We've got a handful of people we want to look at, but it probably won't be until later in the fall."

Without sounding like Knute Rockne, Posey would like to stress this isn't some ordinary jamboree. "We don't want to preach do or die, but it is important for us to make a good impression."

"If we beat Lyman for a half, it's a positive check. It's a confidence builder. We still have a handful of kids who went through last season..."

And, they don't want to go through another one like that one.

Lyman, on the other hand, would like a duplicate of 1982. But it will be tough to repeat. The Greyhounds graduated a multitude of outstanding players. The star-studded cast of Mike Hill, Jerry

TIM LAWRENCE

MARK SCHOFIELD

PAUL ELLIS

Axley, Willis Perry, Todd Marriott, Vince Presley, Gene Allen, and on and on and on is gone.

Four defensive starters return. Paul Ellis is a topnotch linebacker, Greg Pilot is one of the top safeties in the area while Mike Battle is a tough defensive back and Bubba Jones returns at defensive tackle. Sophomores Pete Crespo (defensive guard) and Mike Henley (linebacker) are both hard hitters who should help. Crespo got some varsity work toward the end of last year.

Henley, a 5-11 165-pounder, is also the leading candidate at fullback. Avery Merweather, Anthony's twin brother, returnee Phil Germano, Crespo, Battle and Carl Simmons give the 'Hounds depth to run their wishbone attack which will be under the direction of new offensive backfield coach Jim Markham. He handled the JV's last year. Scott will take care of the offensive line where junior Mark Schofield (6-2, 200) is the top blocker while Dan Johnson will coach the defensive with newcomer Jack Bloomingdale, head coach at Bishop Moore last year. Paul Thomann, the defensive mastermind last year, has been moved to the junior varsity. Two others, offensive coordinator Dan Bridges and defensive coach Doug Dane, did not return. Larry Baker and Ron Baker are working with the freshmen.

Like most teams, the big question mark is at quarterback where Tony Johnson or Greg Pilot will have to replace Axley, an All-Conference and All-County player. Johnson ran the wishbone for the JV and the job is his if he can handle it, according to Scott. If he falters, the versatile Pilot will be called upon to pick up the slack. "Tony is stronger than he was last year and he's throwing the ball better," said Scott. "I think he'll handle it and have a good year."

Tonight's matchup should be a battle of strong offensive backfields with defenses trying to find themselves. Clifton Campbell, who missed most of spring practice because of track, will make his first appearance in the Tribe backfield because of an injury to Jo Jo McCloud. McCloud injured his thigh in practice.

The rest of the cast includes quarterback Mike Futrell, fullback Tim Lawrence and running back Dexter Jones.

Defensively, middle linebacker William Wynn leads the way. He will also play tight end. Ed Rinkavage has been impressive at defensive end while Lawrence will see double-duty at safety.

Darin Slack: No. 2 In The County...No. 2 At Lake Howell

Lake Howell's Darin Slack is the second-best quarterback in Seminole County.

Unfortunately for the strong-armed Silver Hawk, coach Mike Biscaglia lists him in the same category on the Lake Howell football depth chart. There's nothing wrong with Slack, it's just that incumbent Troy Quackenbush better fits the Biscaglia veer offense. And, high school football teams which throw the ball are about as rare as state champions in Central Florida (No offense "Harry the Ram").

Quackenbush, the second-team, all-conference quarterback in the Five Star and for the county last year, is the same year (junior) in school as Slack. But, that is where the similarity ends. "Quack" is a well put together 5-10 and 185 pounds. He runs Biscaglia's veer offense to perfection and passes well enough to keep away the gap defenses. A strenuous lifting program has put more sting behind his throws, too.

Slack is 6-1 1/2 and 175 pounds. The classic dropback quarterback. He can throw the ball a mile or he can pick you apart with short-range darts. He's unloads in a hurry and he knows what the game is all about. But he doesn't run as well as Quackenbush, and he's not as good an all-around athlete — so he's the relief man. Yet, some coaches said they feel Slack is probably a better college prospect because of his arm.

In the spring intrasquad game, Slack threw two touchdown passes to wide receiver Jeff Solomon. The second one, plus a goal-line stand in the last four minutes, won the game for Slack's White squad. Despite the showing, he still sits in the second chair because Quackenbush orchestrates the Biscaglia ball-control offense so well.

Quackenbush is no. 1, Slack is no. 2. That's the way it was last fall, is this spring and will probably be next fall.

Biscaglia, playing the coaching game, won't come out and say who's no. 1. "I still haven't decided who I will start Friday," the third-year Hawk coach said. "I may not decide until that night. I plan on using them equally this spring."

Biscaglia did, however, admit that Quackenbush is more geared to the offense. But Slack knows who's no. 1 and so does Quackenbush. And being no. 2, makes Darin try harder.

Tick off the names of the QBs at the other schools...Seminole's Mike Futrell. Lyman's Tony Johnson, Lake Mary's Ray Hartsfield, Oviedo's "Pop" Bowers and Lake Brantley's Dennis Groseclose.

Slack is better than all of them. Yet, there he sits — no. 2 in the county and no. 2 at his school.

Ironically, this same dilemma occurred three years ago at Lake Howell. Sam Weir was the coach then and he had two talented quarterbacks in Bob Capobianco and Mike Wood. Capobianco, now challenging for the no. 1 spot at Vanderbilt, was the thrower. He was instant offense. Wood was the runner who threw well enough.

They split time as juniors with Wood getting the early starting nod, but "Capo" taking over later in the season. Wood decided Lake Howell wasn't big enough for both of them, so like a frustrated gunfighter he got out of Dodge. He went to Tampa to live with his father. He attended Plant High School and helped it to the no. 1 ranking in the 4A pool during the course of the year. The move worked. Later, he received a scholarship to attend UCF, where even more ironically he returned to play for Weir.

A broken jaw ended his college career, though. Capobianco didn't fare too shabbily either. He was the best quarterback in the Five Star and he led Lake Howell to its first district championship. He teamed with wideout Chuck Scott, now a starter at Vanderbilt, for one of the most devastating QB-receiver combinations this county has seen.

Slack, though, doesn't have a father in Tampa. His father, Steve, originator of the Tangerine (pop!) Citrus Bowl Zones, does live in Winter Park, however. Darin lives with his mother in Fern Park.

As easy as athletes move from one school to another in this county, would Slack consider a move to another county school or even to Winter Park to enhance his starting chances?

"No way!" was the firm and immediate reply as the projected enrollment for Refrigeration & Air Conditioning dropped another notch. "I would never go to another school because of some advantage athletically. I like it at

Braves Walk To Victory Behind McMurtry

ATLANTA (UPI) — Walk. Walk. Walk. Walk. Walk. Walk. Walk.

For Pittsburgh manager Chuck Tanner, watching seven walks in a row by two of his pitchers was a helpless feeling Wednesday night. Pirate hurlers Jim Bibby and Jim Winn tied a 74-year-old major league record — Issuing the seven straight walks that gave the Atlanta Braves four runs in a nightmarish third inning.

That was more than enough offense on a night when Atlanta rookie Craig McMurtry stifled the Pirates on three hits for a 6-0 shutout.

"There is nothing you can do about it," moaned Tanner. "They didn't try to walk them. They were trying to get the ball over."

"I've seen everything happen in baseball. (But) there is always a first for everything. They tried and that's all we can ask of them. The only good thing about it, if there is a good thing, is it's only one loss. Maybe we got it out of our system."

Cliff Sims' one-out single in the fourth inning was the only hit off Poppa Jay's right-hander Jeff Blake as Jay's pulverized D.A.V., 12-3, Wednesday in Sanford Little National Major League action at Bay Avenue Field.

Blake, also considered the top catcher in the league by most coaches, had a no-hitter going until the fourth inning when D.A.V.'s Cliff Sims slapped a one-out single. Blake struck out 10 and walked eight as Poppa Jay's improved to 15-1 for the season.

Offensively, Blake slammed a two-run double in the first inning, singled and scored in the second, ripped an RBI triple in the third and singled in the fifth. Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud collected a pair of triples and a two-run homer while Vernon Miller rapped three singles and Mike Gibson and Steve Johnson added two hits each.

At Fort Mellon Park, Rinker Materials scored four runs in the fifth inning and held on for a 14-13 win over Railroaders which has now lost two games in a row by one-run and stand at 0-16 for the season. Rinker stands at 5-9 for the year.

Key hits in the fifth inning for Rinker included a triple by David Wright, a double by Brian Howard and singles by Tony Curry and William Warren. Wright picked up the pitching victory for Rinker in relief of Warren. Railroaders managed only three hits in the game but almost pulled out the victory by taking advantage of 10 walks and five errors.

Warren led Rinker with three hits while Howard and Wright had two hits each. Edgar Lemon had a double for Railroaders.

In Junior League play at Chase Park, Moose scored 10 runs in the fifth inning and Kiwanis didn't have a chance to come back (literally) as Moose claimed a 12-5 victory. Kiwanis did not get to bat in the bottom of the seventh inning because third baseman Dwayne Willis was ejected and Kiwanis didn't have a player to put in his place and had to forfeit.

Terry "The Cat" Miller slugged a three-run homer and added two triples and picked up seven RBI as Moose stayed within a game of first place in the second half with a 3-1 record. Kiwanis fell to 2-2 in the second half.

Kiwanis took a slim 3-2 lead into the fifth inning, but, by the end of the fifth, Moose had a 12-3 lead. Oscar Merthle and Gary Derr walked to lead off the inning and David Goldstick pounded an RBI double. Miller then stepped up and clouted a shot to deep center field that ticked the center fielder's glove and went over the fence for a three-run homer. Two outs later, Calvin Davis and Tarance Carr looped consecutive singles and moved up a base on a wild pitch. Harry Roberts then walked to load the bases and Merthle, Derr and Goldstick walked to force in three runs. With the bases still loaded, Miller cracked a three-run triple to complete the 10-run outburst.

In Wednesday's first game, Elks edged Ball Motor Line, 7-6, in the battle to stay out of the cellar. Elks now stands at 1-2 for the second half while Ball Motor Line fell to 0-3. Henry Williams scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning on a Ball Motor Line error.

Reginald Lawrence and Williams had two hits apiece for Elks who had just five hits in the game. Ball Motor Line managed only three hits off a trio of Elks' pitchers. Anthony Davis had two of the hits including a double.

Popp, Sanders Outslug Blue Jays

Trevor Popp and Brian Sanders rapped out three hits apiece as the Braves outslugged the Blue Jays, 15-10, in Altamonte Rookie League action. Mark Rohrer, John Young, Allison Colardo and John Terretti added two hits apiece to the 22-hit Braves' attack. Sanders and Young also hit homer runs for the Braves.

The White Sox split a couple of games, upending the Astros, 17-10, and losing to the Orioles, 20-19. Against the Astros, Ritchie Dutrow knocked in the winning run with a RBI triple, he had three hits and two RBI. Scott Perry made a double play in the bottom of the fifth to clinch the win. The White Sox now stand at 11-7 with three games left in the season.

For the Orioles in the win over the Sox, Kevin Scott hit his second home run in as many games to lead the Orioles to their come-from-behind victory. Josh Jones added two singles and a triple for the Orioles and Scott Chance had a single and two doubles.

In an earlier game for the Orioles, Scott hit a two-run homer over the left field fence as the Blue Jays routed the Blue Jays, 22-8. Scott also had two doubles and knocked in five RBI. Fred Engles added three singles and a double. Left fielder Allen Satterfield made a perfect throw to catcher Scott Chance to nail a Blue Jay runner at home plate.

In Altamonte Major League action, Trevor Olson and Spencer Calvin each clubbed home runs to lead the White Sox over the Angels, 5-3. Olson also picked up the pitching victory as he hurled a four-hitter.

Elkettes Struggle Past Barn

The Barn nearly pulled off the biggest upset of the Sanford Women's Softball League season, but Elkettes struggled to a 12-10 victory at the Fort Mellon Park softball field. Elkettes now stands at 8-4 for the season while The Barn fell to 1-11.

Down, 7-2, The Barn erupted for eight runs on four hits combined with four walks in the bottom of the fourth. Laura Kindal, Cec Harkness and Nancy Boren all walked to load the bases with no outs. One out later, Lynne Smith walked to force in one run and, one out later, Sherry Koke drilled a single to knock in two runs. Marlene Burke followed with an RBI single and Sandy Cooper singled in two more runs. Debe Campbell followed with a two-run single and Kindal reached on an error as two more runs scored and The Barn took a 10-7 lead.

Elkettes answered with four runs in the sixth to take a 11-10 lead. With one out, Tony Hardy reached on an error and went to second on a force play. Robin Riggins, who plays softball for Rollins College and was named to the Sunshine State All-Conference Softball team today, then reached on a fielder's choice and April Gordon followed with a single to knock in Hardy. With runners on first and second, Diane McKinsey drilled a three-run homer four what turned out to be the game winning hit for Elkettes.

Gordon and McKinsey had two hits each for Elkettes and Sonia Cherry added a home run. Smith had a pair of hits for The Barn.

In other Women's League action, S&H Fabricating kept its one-game lead with a 17-1 rout over second-place Shoemaker Construction. S&H Fabricating now stands at 9-3 for the season while Shoemaker fell to 7-5.

Jole Boyles continues to swing a hot bat for S&H Fabricating as she hung out three ropes while Gina Burkner and Cindy Pendarvis also had three hits. Maxine Campbell had a pair of hits for Shoemaker which managed only six hits for the game off S&H pitcher Dee Hogan.

In Lassie League action, Optimist played home-run derby Wednesday as the team combined for eight homers in a 20-3 rout of Pat's Electric. Tina Roberts slugged a single and three home runs to lead Optimist while Patrell Pinkney and Katrina Shuler had two round trippers each and Ann Perry added another homer. Melinda Jackson added two doubles. Sorita Rollins clubbed three singles and Lakosia Kennon and Abby Whitehead each added a double.

Singles by Melissa Dawson, Tracey Mitchell and Stephanie Smith were the only hits for Pat's Electric. Optimist now stands at 7-3 for the season while Pat's Electric fell to 2-8.

In the second game Wednesday, Tswana Chisholm rapped a pair of homers as Rotary upended Kiwanis, 13-3. Chisholm drilled a three-run shot in the second inning and added a two-run homer in the third. Teresa King added a two-run double and Natasha Beasley added an RBI triple for Rotary which upped its record to a league-leading 8-2. Kiwanis now stands at 3-7.

Leticia Strickland had the only two hits for Kiwanis, a single in the first inning and a two-run homer in the third.

Stevens, Salvagio's Short-Circuit Realty For Division Crown

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It shouldn't have come as any surprise to the Longwood H.D. Realty girls when the power failed twice, killing the lights during their championship game Wednesday night against Casselberry's Salvagio's Girls. The H.D. Realty power hadn't worked all night anyway.

Salvagio's Denise Stevens gave up two unearned runs in the first inning of game one then blanked H.D. Realty five of the next six frames as Casselberry snared a 4-3 decision.

In the second game of the best two-out-of-three series, Stevens was even tougher. The Lyman High freshman shut down H.D. Realty on just three hits as Salvagio's Girls claimed a 9-1 victory and the Eagle Division title of the Seminole Softball Club.

"Whew!" said winning manager Carlos Martinez while wiping away the perspiration. "That first one was close. But I knew we were due to start hitting in that second one."

Martinez's squad was due all right, but he probably didn't expect the big bats to come from the bottom of his order. After Jennifer Jonas scooted into second on a two-base error to open the bottom of the second inning, Andrea Martinez reached on a fielder's choice as Jonas beat the throw to third.

Eighth-place hitter Barbara Malone then dropped a single into left field to score Jonas for a 1-0 lead. Christine Pozo followed her with another base hit to left to chase home Martinez. Diminutive Jennifer Thomas, batting 10th in the order, then hit a ground ball to short on which Karen DeShetler stepped on second for the force and fired to first for what would be an inning-ending double play. Thomas, though, beat the throw by a step and Malone scored for a 3-0 lead.

Stevens, meanwhile, worked out of a small jam in the first, then sailed through the second, third, fourth and fifth while facing just one batter over the minimum. Malone turned in a nice catch in left in the second on Lori Helms' liner.

Casselberry upped its lead to 4-0 in the sixth when Stacy Campbell and Jennifer Jonas each singled and moved to second and third on a throwing error. Martinez was walked to load the bases. Malone grounded to third baseman Helms who tossed home to force Campbell. The next ball was also hit to Helms, but this time her throw was low and Jonas scored for a 4-0 lead.

Longwood put its only run on the board after the second power failure. With one out, Tracy Kelly hit a slow down the third-base line which she beat out for a single and then went to second on Stevens' throwing error. After waiting through two light failures, DeShetler ripped a single to center for H.D. Realty's only run. Two intentional walks to Dalziel and Kaiser helped Stevens out of her only trouble of the game.

Casselberry put the game on ice with a five-run explosion in the seventh. Jennifer Jonas clubbed a bases-loaded double to score three runs and Martinez's ground ball chased home another one for the 9-1 advantage.

In the first game, Karen DeShetler opened game with a base hit to center. Marcia Dalziel then hit a double play grounder to third, but Campbell gunned the ball into right center allowing both runners to come around and score for a 2-0 lead.

Alecia "Dinky" Dinkelacker slaps a base hit during Salvagio's Girls win over H.D. Realty for the Eagle Division championship of the Seminole Softball Club. Dinkelacker had three hits in the first game which Salvagio's won, 4-3. The Casselberry crew used a three-hit pitching performance from Denise Stevens to take the second game, 9-1.

Casselberry bounced right back in its half. Alecia "Dinky" Dinkelacker singled and Ava Gardner went to second on a dropped fly ball. With runners on second and third, Stevens hit a deep drive to right center which scored Dinkelacker. Gardner then scored on an error by DeShetler to tie the score.

Salvagio's went ahead for good in the second. Pozo hit a one-out single to start the uprising and Jaudon Jonas singled her to second. Dinkelacker followed with her second hit to load the bases. Gardner followed with a hit to left center which chased home two runs for a 4-2 advantage.

H.D. Realty closed within 4-3 in the fifth. After two were out, Dalziel popped to the shortstop, but catcher's interference was detected, giving her first base. Helms then ripped a single and Kristie Kaiser roped a base hit to score Dalziel. Riane Richardson was then intentionally walked to load the bases and Gardner made a nice scoop and toss on Amy Adams' ground ball for a force out at third to end the inning.

Casselberry had won the first half of the season while H.D. Realty took the second half to force the championship playoff. "All the girls played well," concluded Martinez. "Denise played real well defensively, too."

Malone Focus On 'The Big Marble'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Moses Malone has his focus squarely on "the big marble" and he doesn't mean Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

To Malone, "the big marble" is the NBA title. And the 6-foot-10 center will be banging inside for Philadelphia tonight as the 76ers attempt to take a 2-up lead over the Los Angeles Lakers in Game 2 of the league championship series.

Malone has averaged more than 26 points and 15 rebounds thus far during Philadelphia's 9-1 post-season.

season. He scored 27 and pulled down 18 boards Sunday in the Sixers' 113-107 victory in the series opener.

"We just have to keep working hard," Malone said after practice Wednesday. "After we won 65 games, I just blanked it out of my mind. It was time to play for the big marble. Now we're going for the main thing — we want to be world champs."

Doing just what owner Harold Katz had in mind when he signed him to a $13.2 million offer sheet last September, Malone led the NBA in rebounding and finished fifth in scoring while leading the Sixers to the league's best regular season record (65-17).

But in the last 10 years, only one team — the 1981 Boston Celtics — has captured the league's best record and the NBA title.

remembers Darin as being ready to hang it up a year later until Quackenbush went to the varsity as a sophomore. Slack took over the controls for the JV and had a good year. "He had some success and it encouraged him," said Drivas.

Slack agreed. "I had a real tough ninth grade year," he said. "They used me to run the plays of the other teams. I got beat up a lot. I was really apprehensive about going out the next year, but some friends of mine told me Quackenbush was going up to the varsity."

"I had a good sophomore year and then played well last year. That got my confidence back."

Although the battle is an intense one for the starting job, Slack and Quackenbush remain friends. "Everybody seems to think it would be a mean rivalry, but there's no conflict," said Slack. "He's (Quackenbush) a nice guy but I feel I have a job to do. I want to beat him out."

The feeling, no doubt, is mutual.

Lake Howell and I've got too much invested here to go anywhere else.

"The challenge is here. I'm going to a couple of camps this summer and I'm going to come back and try to beat Quackenbush out. If I don't beat him out, then I want to play on an even keel with him," added Slack.

As you may have already gleaned, Slack is not of the "if I can't get my way I'll transfer" school. He's an intelligent chap who knows his worth, yet relies on the opportunity to overcome his obstacle. The obstacle has been there a while. Slack played behind Quackenbush as a freshman, too. # Braves Walk Into Record Book; Barr Strolls Into The Doghouse

United Press International
While Jim Bibby and Jim Winn threw 28 balls and wound up in the record book, Jim Barr made one wrong toss and landed in the doghouse.

At Atlanta, Bibby and Winn tied a 74-year-old major-league record by walking seven straight batters, helping the Braves post a 6-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In New York, Barr angered manager Frank Robinson for tossing the ball in the air as he was removed from the San Francisco Giants' 7-6 triumph over the New York Mets.

"He will be fined a substantial amount for what he said to me afterwards," said Robinson, who met with Barr and club general manager Tom Haller for 10 minutes following the game. "I've asked our pitchers to stay on the mound until I ask them for the ball—then they're free to leave."

Barr, the third of five San Francisco pitchers, was nursing a 7-5 lead and retired the first two batters before George Foster singled and Dave Kingman, who blasted a three-run homer in the first inning, walked on four pitches.

Barr threw a ball to the next batter, Brian Giles, and Robinson stroled out of the dugout toward the mound. As soon as Robinson gestured to the bullpen for Greg Minton, Barr flipped the ball high in the air and began walking off the mound. Robinson grabbed the veteran right-hander's arm and began to lecture him, punctuating his remarks with a forefinger to Barr's chest.

The Braves, leading 2-0, broke the game open in the third inning when Bibby, 1-5, and Winn tied the major-league mark set by Chicago received against Washington Aug. 28, 1909 and broke the former National League record of six held by many clubs.

"There's nothing you can do about it," said Pirates' manager Chuck Tanner. "They weren't out there trying to walk them. It just happens."

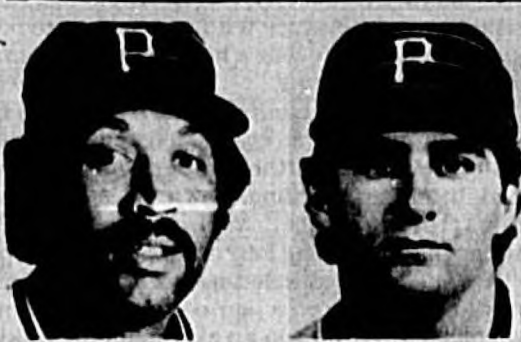

"The only good thing about it, if there is a good thing, is it's only one loss. Maybe we got it out of our system."

Craig McMurry, 7-1, gave up three singles in the first three innings and then did not allow a hit the rest of the way. He walked three and struck out eight.

Cardinals 7, Reds 2
At Cincinnati, John Stuper, 5-2, pitched a five-hitter, Darrell Porter slammed a two-run homer and Ken Oberkell collected three hits for the Cardinals. St. Louis knocked out Reds starter Ted Power, 1-2, in the sixth, tagging him for seven hits and six runs.

Expos 2, Padres 0
At Montreal, Steve Rogers, 7-1, pitched a seven-hitter for his third shutout of the season and sixth straight victory to spark the Expos to a sweep of their three-game

A.L./N.L. Baseball

series. Andy Hawkins, 3-3, went seven innings and allowed 10 hits in absorbing the loss. Tim Raines went 0-for-4 for the Expos.

Dodgers 6, Phillies 1
At Philadelphia, Pedro Guerrero drove in three runs with a single and a homer to hand the Phillies their fifth straight loss. Philadelphia extended its streak of scoreless innings to a club-record 42 before Gary Matthews homered in the eighth off Dave Stewart.

Astros 1, Cubs 0
At Houston, rookie Mike Madden allowed only one hit over six innings and combined with three relievers to outduel rookie Craig Lefferts for the Cubs. Both Madden, 3-0, and Lefferts, 0-2, were making their first major-league starts. Bill Dawley finished and earned his third save.

Angels 7, Yankees 1
While police were busy investigating yet another barroom scuffle involving New York Yankees' manager Billy Martin, California's Tommy John was taking all the fight out of his team.

Martin, no stranger to barroom fights, got involved in another barroom incident Thursday morning, shortly after the Yankees lost a game in extra innings to the Angels. The incident occurred shortly after midnight in the Anaheim Hyatt, adjacent to Anaheim Stadium.

Anaheim police confirmed the fight was under investigation and detectives spoke to Martin before Wednesday night's game with the Angels, which California won, 7-1, behind the pitching of ex-Yankee John.

Brewers 7, A's 6
At Oakland, Cecil Cooper homered and drove in three runs and Robin Yount hit a two-run triple in helping the Brewers to victory. Charlie Moore also homered for Milwaukee and Wayne Gross connected for Oakland.

Mariners 2, Indians 1
At Seattle, Pat Putnam drilled a two-run homer to back the combined six-hit pitching of pitchers Jim Beattie, Ed Vandeberg and Mike Stanton and give the Mariners their victory. Rick Manning homered for Cleveland.

Royals 5, Rangers 2
At Kansas City, Mo., George Brett belted his 11th home run of the season and Joe Simpson knocked in two runs with a triple to give the Royals their victory. Bud Black, called up from Kansas City's AAA affiliate at Omaha Sunday to replace the struggling Vida Blue in the starting rotation, scattered six hits and struck out three over 7 2-3 innings to post the victory.

Twins 7, Orioles 4
At Baltimore, Kent Hrbek drove in four runs and rookie Ken Schrom pitched seven strong innings to help the Twins complete a three-game sweep of Baltimore and hand the Orioles their sixth straight loss.

Red Sox 2, White Sox 0
At Chicago, Reid Nichols' third hit of the game, a two-run single with two out in the ninth inning, broke a scoreless tie and gave the Red Sox their victory behind the three-hit pitching of Bruce Hurst.

Tigers 6, Blue Jays 2
At Toronto, Kirk Gibson hit a two-run inside-the-park homer and Dan Petry scattered nine hits over 6 1-3 innings to help the Tigers snap the Blue Jays' five-game winning streak.

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S. Military Adviser Killed In El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — An unidentified gunman shot and killed the deputy commander of the U.S. military advisers in El Salvador in the first slaying of a U.S. officer in the war-torn nation. The gunman escaped.

The U.S. Embassy said Naval Commander Albert Schaufelberger, 32, of San Diego was shot point-blank four times in the head Wednesday on the campus of the Jesuit-run Central American University while waiting in his bullet-proof embassy car for a friend. The car's window was open.

Schaufelberger was deputy commander for military personnel at the embassy and the 55 naval, air force and army advisers sent to help train El Salvador's armed forces, embassy spokesman Donald R. Hamilton said.

No one claimed responsibility for the slaying, which marked the first death of an American military officer in El Salvador.

Missiles Miss Israeli Jets

By United Press International

Israel charged Syria's missile attack on an Israeli reconnaissance plane over Lebanon was a "serious" cease-fire violation and part of an attempt to sabotage the Israeli-Lebanese troop withdrawal accord.

Israeli officials said Syrian planes Wednesday fired two air-to-air missiles that missed Israeli jets on a routine flight over Lebanon. They denied a Beirut radio report Syrian ground-to-air missiles downed a pilotless Israeli reconnaissance drone in eastern Lebanon.

Israeli pilots, in a departure from their response to past challenges, held their fire when Syrian pilots launched the two missiles over Lebanon's eastern Bekaa Valley.

The army said Syrian forces tried to shoot down an Israeli helicopter Monday and also have fired on Israeli positions in Lebanon. Damascus had no official comment on the incident.

Police Summon Walesa

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Former Solidarity leader Lech Walesa received a "suspicious" summons to appear for questioning by authorities after his appeal for calm during Pope John Paul II's visit to Poland next month.

Walesa said Wednesday the Gdansk prosecutor's office summoned him to appear for questioning Friday on an unspecified matter. He said he plans to comply because "everything is legal," but added "it seems to be suspicious."

Walesa said he had sent to the official news agency PAP the text of an appeal to the nation to preserve calm during the pontiff's June 16-23 pilgrimage. But a PAP spokesman said he knew nothing about such an appeal.

Walesa has been questioned several times recently over suspected discrepancies in the outlawed Solidarity union's financial records, but also for his underground activities.

20 Killed In Japanese Quake

TOKYO (UPI) — An earthquake jolted northeastern Japan today, killing at least 20 people and leaving 75 others missing, many of them in a tidal wave that capsized fishing boats and swamped a beach crowded with school children.

The earthquake, the strongest to hit Japan in 44 years, registered 7.8 on the Richter scale, said the U.S. National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo.

The National Police Agency reported 20 people dead, 75 missing and 16 injured on the tip of Japan's northernmost island of Honshu. The quake hit at noon local time (11 p.m. EDT Wednesday) and lasted several minutes.

"It's the first time that I felt such a strong quake," Senichi Sato, a civil servant in the city of Akita told reporters. "At first we felt a vertical jolt and then there was a long period of horizontal swaying."

The quake cracked open a highway across the coastal city of Akita, 200 miles northeast of Tokyo, and brought a ceiling down in a department store, killing one shopper and injuring four others.

A tidal wave pounded a beach in Akita where a group of schoolchildren was on an excursion.

Police said one fifth-grade girl was found dead, 10 were injured and 13 classmates were missing.

A fire erupted in Akita's power station, halting power transmission to 5,000 homes. Transportation and communications were disrupted by downed power lines.

The Maritime Safety Agency dispatched 57 patrol boats and 12 planes to search the coastal waters for survivors tossed from as many as 50 fishing boats.

The quake wrought havoc on areas around the districts of Akita, Aomori, Niigata, Ishikawa and Hokkaido.

Lisa Peppers, James Spray Married In Centennial Park

Lisa Rae Peppers and James Randall Spray were married May 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the gazebo at Centennial Park, Sanford. Notary Public Carroll Burke performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Betty Jean Burke, 2108 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, and Benny Ray Peppers of Powder Springs, Ga. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Spray, 203 Bradshaw, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her stepfather Carroll Burke, the bride wore a formal white silk gown enhanced with brocade lace. The controlled skirt cascaded into a graceful chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a forward headpiece and she carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers. Carol Ann Thomas attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore an off-white dress and carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Cynthia Eden was the bridesmaid. She wore a pink crepe dress and carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Calvin Williams served the bridegroom as best man.

A reception in the gazebo followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to St. Augustine, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford.

The bride is employed as a cashier and the bridegroom is employed as a tree surgeon.

Diploma Is Credit To Boy In Jail

DEAR ABBY: A friend whose family is divided on this asked me to write. It seems that her nephew was scheduled to graduate from high school, but he got into trouble with the law (an old habit of his) and was sentenced to six months in the county jail. However, he is being allowed to do his homework in jail in order to complete the needed credits and get his diploma.

His mother went ahead and mailed his graduation invitations and announcements to family and friends knowing he wouldn't be able to attend his own graduation. My friend thought this was a tacky thing for the mother to do. Of course, those who received graduation invitations and announcements felt obligated to send a gift.

What do you think about this?

NO TOWN OR NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO TOWN: I think it's to the boy's credit that he chose to graduate instead of dropping out. Having that diploma will make it easier for him to shape up and stay out of trouble. Don't assume that relatives and friends sent gifts because they felt obligated. It could be their way of saying, "Congratulations for graduating anyway. Now we expect better things from you. Don't let us down."

DEAR ABBY: A mother-in-law was upset because her daughter-in-law never made a home-cooked meal for her — instead she always entertained in a restaurant. You said:

"Some people just can't handle entertaining at home. The very thought of it is so upsetting, they don't even want to make the effort, so accept the restaurant dinners with good grace, and don't let it bother you."

Thanks, Abby. No one else understood. But you did. I, too, am petrified at the thought of entertaining at home. Even when my married children are coming for dinner, I can't sleep for three days ahead of time. I wake up at 4 a.m. in a panic, simply terrified!

Books, courses, friends or family can't help me. I can't help being this way. I've fought it for 40 years, and I'm only 60.

Thank you for understanding.

MRS. B., ALABASTER, ALA.

DEAR MRS. B.: If misery loves company, take comfort in the knowledge that you have a lot of company.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything "improper" about having the mother of the bride escort her daughter down the aisle?

My father will be a guest at my wedding, but he and my mother have been divorced since I was a small child and my mother raised me alone.

SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: Improper? No way. Discuss this with the clergyman who will perform the ceremony, and good luck.

National Debt Limit Upped; Crisis Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress, moving to avert a national financial crisis, voted to increase the federal debt limit by nearly $99 billion, enough money to keep the government running through the end of September.

The Senate approved the measure 51-41 Wednesday. Because it is identical to the version the House passed last week, it goes to President Reagan for his expected signature.

The bill increases the national debt limit from its current level of $1.29 trillion, which is expected to be breached next Tuesday, to $1.389 trillion. A trillion is 1 followed by 12 zeroes, the equivalent of 1,000 billions.

The action came after Republican leader Howard Baker, warning the government would come to a halt unless the limit was increased, offered the senators an early start for the Memorial Day recess as a reward for quick passage of the measure.

It appeared for a time the measure would be threatened by the attachment of unrelated riders. But Democrats, assured they would have a chance to modify the July 1 tax cut at a later date, decided not to offer amendments.

Baker earlier received a similar promise from his Republican colleagues — something he called "a little short of a religious miracle."

Any amendments would require the bill to be sent back to the House, where House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said it would not pass.

"The government will stop dead in its tracks on midnight May 31st ... and it's a powerful short time between now and May 31st," Baker said. He explained the government would not be able to pay its bills, including Social Security benefits, or to borrow money by issuing bonds unless the debt ceiling is increased.

The Treasury Department estimates the $99 billion increase would be enough to carry the government through Sept. 30, the end of the fiscal year.

At first, Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia said the Democrats would be willing to refrain from offering amendments only if the debt ceiling was extended until mid-June instead of the end of September.

He said that would allow the government to get over its short-term financial crisis and still give senators a chance to offer amendments when they come back in early June. Byrd wanted a chance to limit the tax cut, scheduled for July 1, to poor and middle-income Americans.

But after a telephone conversation with O'Neill and a brief caucus with his colleagues, Byrd said the Democrats would not offer any amendments.

"The Speaker assured me he will send over a tax cap" bill, Byrd said. "We will have another chance at the tax cap. There is no need to debate this any longer."

Sanford Park To Be Named After Former City Manager

The Marshall Avenue park off W. 25th Street in Sanford will be named in honor of the late Clifford McKibbin, a former Sanford city manager.

Development of the seven-acre park is scheduled to be completed on Aug. 1.

The Sanford City Commission made its choice Monday.

A total of $37,500 was budgeted for the park development plus labor and equipment. While the city spent $25,000 for the development, it also received a $12,500 state grant for the park development.

The park will include handball courts, a soccer field, tennis courts, and open space. In addition, nature trails have been mapped out and an exercise-fitness course for joggers has been planned. Parking is also provided.

McKibbin, a native of Springfield, Ark., served as city manager from Dec. 29, 1948 to Jan. 1, 1952. He was on the city's Board of Bond Trustees from 1976 until his death on Feb. 25, 1982.

He was also a member of the city's Insurance committee from 1954 to 1970; the Sanford Industrial Commission from 1968 to 1970; the planning and zoning commission from 1955 to 1970, and served as its chairman for 12 years; and was the first president of the Sanford-Seminole Development Corp. Inc. from its founding in 1962.

Ceremonies on the park naming will be held when construction is completed.
