

A PUZZLING PLANE THAT FOLDS UP

PUZZLING is only a hobby to C. B. Colby. Aviation is his profession, so the silhouette of the plane that is the solution of his latest "Foldie" puzzle is technically correct in detail.

To solve a "Foldie," which is a new version of an old puzzle that was once very popular, you cut out the entire boxed area above. Then, by folding and refolding it, you cause the silhouettes of black within it to meld into one design—the silhouette of the plane at left.

CHARADES

The Encyclopedia of Puzzles and Pastimes says that after the invention of movable types and printing presses introduced literature to the European masses, but before censorship of the dictators of that time were torn down, the charade was a common form of political propaganda. It was difficult for censors to cope with it; for them to place the worst construction upon a charade was to admit the validity of the gossip or sly allegations that it concealed.

The acted charade was popular in older times, with guests dividing themselves into teams to endeavor to "stump" each other with words dramatized.

Thousands of the versified variety of charade have been authored by members of the National Puzzlers' League for their unique organ, The Enigma. An eight-letter example:

I looked in the LAST for a FIRST today,
Or to put it another way I spent a FIRST before the LAST,
Holding my attention fast.
Was it a useful thing to do,
Or idleness I should rue?
My WHOLE will never, never tell,
Tho' it reckoned my FIRST well.
(FIRST and LAST refer to syllables, naturally.)

TRANSPOSAL

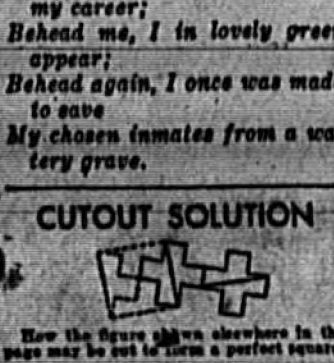

The puzzler with the nom-de-plume of "Hector," who wrote the foregoing charade, also authored this poser:

A man has a son twenty-seven years younger than himself. Transpose the numbers in the son's age and they will give you the father's age. What is it?

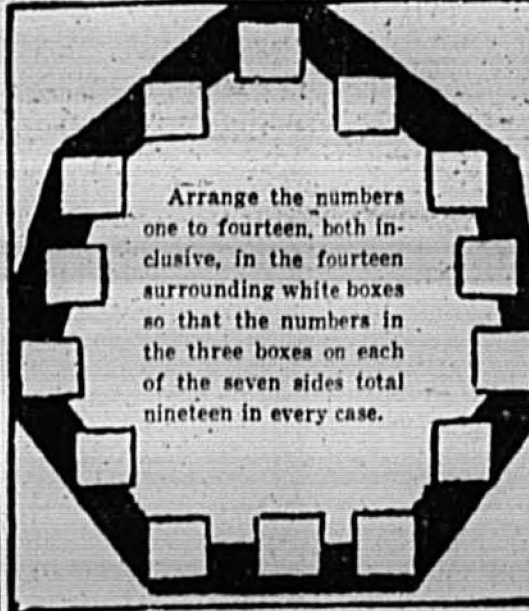

DECAPITATION

Short was my life, and brilliant my career;
Behold me, I in lovely green appear;
Behold again, I once was made to eave
My chosen inmates from a watery grave.

THE JEALOUS HUSBANDS

MRS. Appleby, Mrs. Beedone and Mrs. Ceema were good friends and so it came about that the three women and their husbands went off on a hiking trip together. It turned out that their husbands all were jealous men, and this presented a problem when the six hikers reached a wide river. For there was only one boat at hand in which they could get across, only two persons could get in the boat at a time, and no woman could be with a man unless her husband was present.

In what manner, then, did they cross the river in the boat and avoid trouble among the men? If you've never tackled a poser like this before, we suggest that you use three pennies to represent the husbands and three nickels or dimes for the wives, in working it out.

STAMP TAX

HERE is a stamp poser to tax your wits:

Mr. Phil A. Teltat has three rare stamps in his collection. One is red, one is blue, one is green. The denominations are 25 dilaars, 10 dilaars and 2 dilaars, not necessarily in that order. Can you determine the color of each denomination from the following statements, only one of which is correct?

1. The 25 dilaar stamp is red.
2. The 10 dilaar stamp is not red.
3. The 2 dilaar stamp is not blue.

MARBLE MYSTERY

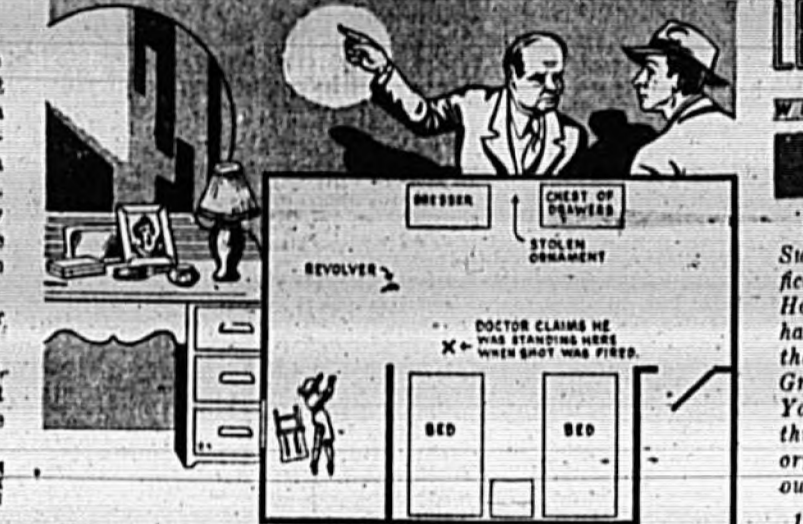

JUAN and Jose got out all of their marbles to arrange some trades. They found that together they had a total of 174 marbles. For the trading, Juan arranged all his marbles into piles of seven each, while Jose divided his into piles of nine each. Between them they had 22 piles. How many marbles had each boy?

The Gorgon's Head Mystery

It was one of Inspector Ferret's oddest cases. There was no apparent reason why any one except Doctor K should have killed Mrs. K.

But before drawing conclusions, let us have the doctor's story:

"My wife couldn't sleep and as the night was warm she seated herself by the screened window in our bedroom. The light was off and I dozed off, then suddenly awoke with the startling feeling that something awful had happened. I called out to her to find if she was all right. She replied reassuringly. I guessed I had had a nightmare and decided I needed a cigarette. The instant I struck the match there was a loud report, as if I had set off an explosion. I heard my wife cry out and fall to the floor. I jumped up, and turned on the light. My wife was lying by the window. I ran to her and saw she was badly hurt. As I tried to stop the bleeding and felt her pulse, she died. Terrified, I rushed to the dining-room and called the police. Then I locked myself in the dining-room and barricaded the door, for I feared an assassin would fire another shot."

It was in the dining-room that the police found the doctor. They also found that the screen in the bedroom was intact—it had no bullet holes. The woman had been killed by a bullet from the gun that lay beside her. The nature of the wound indicated the bullet had been fired from short-range. The doctor said he had not seen or heard an intruder.

To the police, it appeared the doctor had killed his wife. The belief was strengthened when they asked him to look around and see if anything had been stolen. There had been no burglary, for a pearl necklace and several diamond necklaces lay upon the dead woman's dresser, and the doctor said the only thing missing was an iron ornament, shaped like a gorgon's head, which he claimed had been taken from the wall.

And so matters stood when Inspector Ferret arrived. "I can't understand why anyone would want that gorgon's head," the doctor repeated. "It was just a trinket I picked up in Europe."

"On the contrary," remarked the inspector, "it is worth a man's life. Yours."

What did Inspector Ferret mean by this remark? Study the diagram and picture carefully and see if you can tell how Dr. K's innocence was shown.

LET'S TOSS FOR IT

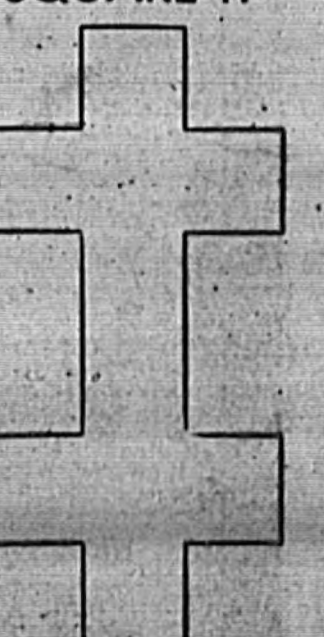

There's no doubt about it, Susan Hayward is the personification of IT, according to the Hollywood idea of it. But she'd hardly bring to mind some of the other "its" for which the Greeks and others have words. You have to think up them, in this Whiz Quiz. Give your memory a tossing around, and toss out these "its":

1. IT—: a country.
2. IT—: Cornell's and Ulysses' home.
3. IT—: Famous pianist.
4. IT—: An irritation.
5. IT—: Biblical land of palms.
6. IT—: Kind of printing type.
7. IT—: Separate article.
8. IT—: To do again.
9. IT—: Wandering.
10. IT—: A passage.
11. IT—: Lake source of Mississippi River.
12. IT—: Automotive center.
13. IT—: Drinkers' salute.
14. IT—: Skillful bodily or mentally.
15. IT—: Rend asunder.
16. IT—: Grain mart.
17. IT—: Draw together.
18. IT—: Courage.

Rebels Escape From Net Of Greek Troops

Guerrillas Insist On Communist State; Reportedly Willing To Come To Terms

By L. S. CHAKALES
ATHENS, July 17 (AP)—Military circles expressed belief today that survivors of the 2,500 guerrillas, who, the government said, invaded Greece from Albania Sunday, had withdrawn successfully eastward toward the towering Mt. Grammos range near the frontier.

Only scattered minor clashes were reported in the Mt. Grammos area.

The rebels' retreat was noted yesterday when Greek army units attacked north of Ioannina, but failed to contact the main force. Military informants said they believed the insurgents were trying to reach their comrades on Mt. Grammos, where national forces were harassing another group of 2,000. The larger party failed in an attempt to capture Ioannina, capital of Epirus.

Greek troops watched closely for developments along the Yugoslav and Albanian borders from Florina to Konitsa, an area pregnant with possibilities of new eruptions of border battle.

Despite their apparent reversal, the guerrilla chief, Markos Vafiades was reported in the Communist press today.

Pilot Of Crashed Plane Testifies At CAB Hearing

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board hearing was held today that the Eastern Air Line plane which crashed May 30 at Port Deposit, Md., with a loss of 58 lives, previously had landed at Newark, N. J., with one of its four engines turned off because of a defective throttle.

The crash occurred as the plane was enroute back to Miami, Fla., after repairs had been made to the throttle control at Newark.

Capt. W. T. Habbitt, who piloted the plane from Miami to Newark, testified at the hearing, which was presided over by Robert W. Cripe, chief of the hearing and reports section of CAB, that shortly before landing he encountered difficulty with the throttle of the No. 4 engine. He said he cut the engine and feathered the propeller to make a three-engine landing. He described the flight as of a routine nature, despite the throttle failure.

Ralph J. Moscatelli, a chief mechanic for Eastern Air Lines at Newark, said damage to the throttle control consisted of a broken link rod, which he said was replaced before the plane took off for Miami. He also testified that his crew made an inspection of outside surfaces and controls of the plane and that if any other defects had been noted he would have been told promptly. He said he was satisfied the crew found the plane in satisfactory condition.

George Roerig, assistant to the vice president in charge of the line's operations in Miami, testified that the plane had been subjected to a routine 3,000-mile inspection and overhaul at Miami before it took off for Newark.

Baptists Converge For World Congress

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Baptist clergy and laymen from all over the world are converging on Copenhagen for the seventh Congress of the Baptist World Alliance, opening July 29.

It will be one of the largest religious meetings since before the war, with between 4,000 and 5,000 delegates attending.

From the United States alone 360 Baptists are going to the meeting. Many already are enroute. The largest group, headed by the Queen Elizabeth, July 17. Many will go by plane later.

Poland Demands Removal of Alien Troops In Greece

Formation Of Coalition Government Urged At UN Meet

LAKE SUCCESS, July 17 (AP)—Poland joined Russia today in blaming Greece for the current Balkan disorders and demanded formation of a new coalition government in Greece, new elections and the immediate withdrawal of foreign military personnel.

Poland's views were stated by Dr. Oscar Lange, United Nations Security Council president, as the council met in the extraordinary session in an atmosphere intensified by the fighting in northern Greece.

"It is necessary that Greece be extricated from the network of international power politics," Lange said in demanding the withdrawal of foreign troops.

Lange said the primary trouble in the Balkans must be attributed to the internal situation in Greece, aggravated by the presence of foreign troops. The present government in Greece is a coalition of the major parties, with the Communists and other Leftist groups excluded.

Lange vigorously opposed the American proposal for a semi-permanent UN Commission in the Balkans on the ground that this seemed to be based upon the assumption that the three Soviet satellites, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, were to blame for the situation.

Local Pilots To Make "Breakfast Flight"

Sunday morning at 8:00 o'clock will initiate the "First Breakfast Flight" from the Sanford Municipal Airport. Students and officials of the Sanford School of Aviation, Roy Browning, manager, announced today and private owners of aircraft located at Sanford will participate in this flight.

They will be guests of the "New Smyrna Airport," where the flight will land and be taken to the beach for a morning swim. On their return to the Sanford Airport, a man size breakfast will be served to the visiting pilots.

The social activities of the Private Flyers of Sanford now consists of a monthly barbecue and swim party given each full moon and a breakfast flight each month to some point of interest within the state, Mr. Browning said. Banquets and dances are planned at a later date.

There have been quite a number of requests for a "Flyers" organization of Central Florida pilots to sponsor all types of airport activities and help to promote a closer relationship between private plane owners in this area, Mr. Browning added. All pilots having student ratings upward are eligible.

DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That was a stern warning regarding the dangers of the European crisis which Secretary of State Marshall gave us in his address before the conference of governors at Salt Lake City.

"There is no blinking the fact that this country now stands at a turning point in its relations to its traditional friends among the nations of the old world," said Marshall. "Either it must finish the task of assisting those countries to adjust themselves to the changed demands of a new age, or it must recede itself to seeing them move in directions which are neither with their own traditions nor with those of this country."

"In the latter case, the United States would be faced with a radical alteration of its own position in the world. I ask you to consider most carefully the implications of such a development for the future prosperity and security of our country."

The General has left us to dot the 'I's and cross the 'T's, but that's not difficult. If we don't help the still free European democracies to regain their feet, they will be brought under Russia's Communist domination. Thus America will be cut off from her old friends. Her security, both economically and militarily, will be weakened.

But that's only a snap-shot of the threat. Europe's economic crisis is by no means due solely to the ravages of war. A fundamental fact which a lot of folk fail to realize is that Europe in part (Continued on Page Two)

Dutch Forecast War With Indonesia As Negotiations Fail

BATAVIA, July 17 (AP)—War between the Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic was forecast by Dutch sources today following a new disagreement in negotiations for a joint national government for the United States of Indonesia.

One high-level Netherlands informant said the Dutch were expected to decide before nightfall whether to undertake military action against the Republic. He indicated that such action was extremely likely.

This informant declared that a new crisis of "extraordinary gravity" had grown out of Republican Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin's refusal to issue a cease-fire order to Indonesian troops last night. He said this broke a pledge the premier made yesterday.

In a radio speech earlier from his capital of Jogjakarta, the premier told Indonesian troops the situation was critical. He said the Dutch attitude showed "they want to avoid the ways of peace."

Fireman Killed In Warehouse Blaze

OAKLAND, Calif., July 17 (AP)—One fireman was killed and three others injured early today in a blaze that swept a half-block in West Oakland's warehouse area before being brought under control.

Assistant Fire Chief Manning Basch said damage would amount to $100,000 at least. Owners of property consumed by the flames said the loss would run much higher.

Fireman Louis Cetraro, 27, was killed. Spectators said they saw him fall into a burning building when the roof collapsed. His body was recovered.

The flames destroyed the warehouse of Coastwise Movers Company, containing 30,000 pounds of blood plasma and antique furniture valued at $30,000, another warehouse containing privately owned war surplus goods, a Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company garage and two homes and damaged three other houses.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Full Account Of Dunkerque Is Disclosed

330,000 Troops Were Evacuated, According To Admiralty Release Of Event

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—The British Admiralty released today, seven years after the event, the full epic story of the British and French evacuation from the bombed, bloody beaches of Dunkerque between May 26 and June 4, 1940.

Even the matter-of-fact language of the dispatch from Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, who directed the operation, failed to hide the magnitude of the achievement.

Ramsay disclosed in his dispatch, written on June 18, 1940, that of the 176 British ships used in the operation 35 were sunk and 42 others damaged. Those ships, ranging from destroyers and hospital ships to trawlers and drifters, were supplemented by approximately 700 little boats which put out from British fishing points to rescue the battered troops.

Three hundred and thirty thousand of the British troops who had been driven out of Europe by the victorious Germans were brought back to Britain. The Admiralty, Ramsay wrote, had expected at the utmost to rescue 45,000.

The French Navy, too, suffered heavy losses among the 190 ships which it flung into the task of evacuating French troops from the beaches. Nineteen of them were sunk and two others damaged. They brought 20,525 French troops to Britain. In all, 123,095 French troops were transported across the channel in British and French ships.

Though "intensive" air attacks, mine-laying by planes, attack by motor torpedo boats, coast artillery gunfire and submarine operations the Germans tried to block the evacuation, Ramsay reported. All their operations succeeded in part, but the air attacks were the worst.

"Heavy air attacks started on May 29," Ramsay wrote. "From then onwards the scale and vigor of the air attack increased and during June 1 all ships in Dunkerque, off the beaches or in the approach channels were subjected every two hours to an unrelenting bombardment."

UN Group Asked To Visit Jew DP Camps

JERUSALEM, July 17 (AP)—Moshe Shertok, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, appealed anew to the United Nations Palestine Commission today to visit at least a few Jewish displaced persons camps in Europe before writing its report.

"Please visit these camps," Shertok pleaded in a personal appearance before the commission. "They form an integral part of your inquiry for the life led by Jews during the substance of the whole issue."

Shertok said there was urgent need to permit large scale migration of homeless European Jews to start at once.

The Jewish underground organization, Irgun, Zvai Leumi, today held a meeting for laying mines on highways near Jerusalem and Petah Tikvah which last night took the life of one British soldier and wounded 15 or other 16 others—some seriously.

Irgun, in a statement delivered to Jerusalem newspapers, said the mines had been planted to "relieve Natanya from siege"—a reference to the military rule imposed on Natanya to facilitate a search for two British soldiers kidnapped by the underground and held as hostages for three condemned Jewish extremists.

Senora Peron Flies From Italy To Paris

GENOA, July 17 (AP)—Senora Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president, ended her 10-day stay on the Italian Riviera today and left Genoa by plane for Rome en route to Lisbon and Paris.

Just before her departure a member of Senora Peron's suite said she would make her final decision about visiting England while in the French capital. (In London yesterday an Argentine source said that Senora Peron finally had decided against making a visit to England.)

5 Year Program For Western Hemisphere Calls For Standardized Arms

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today approved a $50,000,000 five-year program for arms standardization and military cooperation between the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

The legislation, however, probably will have to await consideration by the House and Senate early in 1948, since it is not listed in important measures to be considered by Congress before its expected adjournment at the end of the next week.

The program has been described as essential to the security of the Western Hemisphere by Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of War Patterson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Army Chief of Staff Dwight D. Eisenhower and Chief of Naval Operations Chester Nimitz.

Under the measure the United States would supply Latin American nations with modern weapons, ships, planes and training missions. In return, the military chiefs said this nation hopes to develop a series of air bases from the Arctic to the tip of South America.

City's Bid For State Legion Site Will Be Presented

Sanford's invitation and bid to the American Legion to establish a permanent State department headquarters building on the lakefront site now occupied by the football diamond will be officially presented by Joel Field and John Sauls at the midsummer conference of the Department of Florida in Jacksonville next Saturday, Mr. Field announced this morning.

Mr. Field and Mr. Sauls will represent Campbell-Leasing Post 63 in presenting the matter to the Legion committee headed by Tom Cooley of Mt. Dora and named by State Commander Frank Cason for the purpose of selecting a site for permanent state headquarters.

Final decision on a site will take place during the State Legion convention in April at Panama City, when the issue will be decided upon by ballot said Mr. Field.

All local civic organizations," said Mr. Field, "are showing their interest in the project by sending letters of approval and endorsement to the State Legion Committee requesting favorable consideration of Sanford's bid for establishment of a headquarters building here."

Aug. 6 from 9:00 to 12:00 A. M. was the date decided upon for a county wide referendum will be held for establishment of the district. Only land owners within the district are eligible to vote in this referendum, according to K. S. McMullen, extension soil conservationist of the University of Florida at Gainesville, who met with the growers at the hearing in the Court House and gave the history and purpose of soil conservation in Florida.

Reds Seek Prompt Steel Repairs

BERLIN, July 17 (AP)—The Russians asked in the Allied control authority today that steel plants capable of producing 13,000,000 tons annually allocated immediately for repairs.

The demand could be met only by stripping the Ruhr, United States and British representatives refused to entertain the Soviet proposal for discussion.

The Russians demand appeared to be an attempt to forestall the current American and British efforts to build Western Germany's economy to a self-sustaining level and tie it in with cooperative plans for rehabilitation of Western Europe.

Two Men Arrested In Jax For Safe Cracking

JACKSONVILLE, July 17 (AP)—Two men identified by Detective Inspector E. L. Acosta as Robert L. Spencer, 49, and his brother, John L. 47, of Birmingham, Ala., were in jail today awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges of safe cracking.

The two were arrested Monday night in the act of forcing the combination of a safe at the Southside Automobile Agency by Patrolmen Johnny Shreiver and C. L. Green who answered a call by neighborhood residents that two men were lurking in an alley, Acosta said.

Rebels Escape

Communist-dominated newspaper Elithria Ellada to have issued a proclamation over a guerrilla radio asserting it was absolutely necessary to create an independent, Communist government in what he termed the "free regions."
The purported broadcast was said to have proclaimed that the guerrillas were "willing" to come to an agreement but that establishment of a free state was necessary. One of the aims of the "free state" was to "free Greece from intervention, whose aim is to turn Greece into the starting point for war in the Balkans."
The Communist newspaper Rizospastis said "Headquarters of the Greek democratic army" (guerrillas) had established the radio station within Greece and that it broadcast two hours a day. Foreign ministry sources said the station had been heard for two days and that because of its power, it was believed to be outside Greece, perhaps in either Belgrade, Yugoslavia, or Sofia, Bulgaria, where facilities have been allocated for propaganda.
The broadcast contained no indication that the guerrillas intended to lay down their arms under conditions of current amnesty for political offenses. The proclamation was quoted as saying the guerrillas would abstain from activities and would recognize "free elections."
The government said that during the first week of July, 210 guerrillas were killed, 150 wounded, 14 captured and that 50 surrendered.

Dunkerque

ted scale of attacks by the Royal Air Force were unable to deal with the situation.
A footnote reported the RAF destroyed 262 German planes over the beaches between May 25 and June 4.
The actual evacuation started on May 26 with the signal: "Please send every available craft to beaches east of Dunkerque." German armor, it was noted, was then operating to the south of the beaches.
From the signals received it appeared the situation was desperate, that little could be lifted direct from the port of Dunkerque and that the maximum effort must be made from the beaches, Ramsay reported.
On May 28 a "moderate surf" reduced the rate of embarkation and "rendered the whole operation slow and difficult."
"The considerable alarm as to the immediate safety of the British Expeditionary Force felt during the evening of May 28, which caused all available resources to be immediately concentrated on the French coast, eased during the 29th," Ramsay reported. But he noted that the destroyer Wafeloff, laden with troops, was attacked and all troops on board went down with the ship, and that later the destroyers were attacked by dive bombers.
At about 4 P. M. on May 29 a two-hour dive bombing attack on Dunkerque had forced the complete cessation of embarkations of troops, but the operation was resumed at dusk. That air attack, however, blocked the harbor, and all troops thereafter were loaded from the beaches, wading out into the surf.
On May 30 "matters proceeded smoothly throughout the day owing to the mist and there being a big smoke cloud over Dunkerque which prevented the enemy bombers attacking the ships in large numbers."
Throughout May 31 "the rate of evacuation was steadily increasing."
"Heavy" air attacks by more than 100 bombers started soon after dawn on June 1 "and it became evident that a very serious threat to daylight evacuation again was in being. The toll of casualties among the ships during the day was mounting, particularly among the destroyers."
On June 2 this signal came from the beaches: "Wounded situation acute and hospital ships should enter during day. General evacuation will be honorably observed, it is felt, and that the enemy will refrain from attacking."
So two hospital ships were started out and both, Ramsay reported, were attacked by Junkers planes. One of the Paris was "badly damaged, and it subsequently sank" and the last attempt to evacuate the wounded by hospital carrier from Dunkerque was brought to naught.
On June 3 and 4 the small boats joined the evacuation fleet in increasing numbers despite "continuous bombing attacks." Ramsay wrote that "the number of soldiers taken off the beaches by motor or ant nabbies mtwykmbgwvwv boats cannot be estimated. One 25-foot motor launch, however, ferried off 600 men to transports and carried 420 direct to England."
"On the final night, after the last two destroyers had left at 3:40 A.M., a number of power boats continued to work in Dunkerque harbor and only left when they came under sea mine fire from German troops who had penetrated into Dunkerque at certain points," Ramsay said.

growers requesting that the State Soil Conservation Board hold such a hearing.
Colin D. Gunn of Gainesville, state supervisor of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Florida, said that his group assigns technicians to districts set up by local boards which are set up by the growers to develop and plan work programs. R. E. Withersell, head of the USDA Conservation Service for Central Florida also spoke of this set-up.
Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, recently stated, "The crux of the issue is proper use of land. It is a program that merits the solid backing of all citizens, whether they are in the city or on the land."
If the county wide referendum is successful, and the Board at Gainesville determines that the feasible, five of the original practitioners may apply to the Secretary of State for a certificate of organization. Within 30 days after receiving this certificate five local supervisors are to be elected.
This procedure is according to the Soil Conservation Districts Act which was enacted by the Florida Legislature, in 1939, according to Mr. McMullen, in order to furnish farmers, vegetable, citrus and cattle producers with an organized and more effective medium for planning and conservation and improved land use measures on an individual farm, community, county or larger rying out soil and water conservation.
This land is entirely a cooperative effort, he pointed out, and districts have no taxing or bonding authority, neither do they provide for regulatory powers that may be forced upon any operator; the movement is entirely voluntary. The cost to the individual voluntarily carries out improvements on his respective property.
Through the request of the five man Board of Supervisors, of a soil conservation district, technical assistance may be secured at no cost to the district or the producers on planning and applying soil and water conservation and improved land use.
Seminole County will be the 40th district in the state if it approved the program, it was pointed out. Orange, Brevard, Lake and Volusia Counties already have established such districts.

World Revolt

ar, and the Eastern Hemisphere in general, are in the throes of the Communist world-revolution which was projected back in the days of the Bolshevik upheaval of 1917 and only now is in full swing.
Professional observers even before the late war, recognized the idea of world-revolution as a cardinal goal of Russian Communism. It was held up pending the strengthening of the Soviet Union economically and militarily. This was achieved in the successive five year plans carried out by Marshall Stalin.
Recently, observers were giving the Moscow regime credit for fore seeing that another general war was brewing. This war would provide the chaos which would be favorable to the inauguration of the world drive for the expansion of Communist domination over the continent in Moscow.
Well, the war came. Russia and Germany signed their non-aggression pact and, with this in his pocket, Hitler lashed out. Then he attacked the Soviet Union which wasn't according to his policy. However, although Russia suffered grievously herself, with allied aid she emerged strong enough to undertake a wholesale expansion of her sphere of influence. This has resulted in the establishment of Communist controlled governments throughout Eastern Europe and the expansion continues.
"Naturally all Moscow's activities have been dominated by the central idea of spreading Communism and thereby strengthening Russia's own position. You see that in the methods employed in establishing Communist domination over the countries of Eastern Europe, and in the obstructions created in the United Nations and in the various European conferences. You see that in Moscow's refusal to cooperate in the economic rehabilitation of Europe."
So the greatest problem of the United States and the other democracies is to deal with this Red world revolution. One method is to put weak nations on their feet so that they can withstand the political and economic attacks of the immediate objective in Europe.
"However, the revolution isn't confined to Europe, though that's where we notice it most. Its tentacles reach around the globe, as anyone can see with half an eye if he looks about him."

Lieut. General Lawton Collins told the group that the Army would train 618,000 and the Navy 482,000. Under present plans, he said, trainees would be inducted on a quarterly basis and would be given six months of instruction.
The subcommittee plans to wind up the hearing this week and report to the full committee next week. Advocates of UMT are hoping to get the full committee's endorsement, although there is no chance that the legislation will get through congress this session.
A measure calling for the United States to return $60,000,000 in wartime seized property to Italy and to provide 31 ships for the Italian Merchant Marine received consideration of the House Commerce Committee. The bill already has been passed by the Senate. Sponsors planned to rush the legislation to President Truman's desk at this session of Congress. Rep. Lodge (R-Conn) said the aid is needed to help Italy "become a bastion of liberty rather than Communism" and keep that nation from falling under Moscow's control.

As the session began, Herschel V. Johnson, Deputy U. S. delegate, told newsmen the United States was standing firm on its proposal for a border watch in the troubled area, but was willing to accept amendments as long as they did not change the heart of the proposal.
Johnson thus knocked down reports that the United States would offer a revised resolution to meet objections of some delegations.

China Reports New Mongolian Crossing

NANKING, July 17, (AP)—A new border crossing by Outer Mongolian troops into China, this time into the inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan, was reported today by the newspaper Hsi Min Pao.
The area of the reported new crossing is approximately 1,000 miles east of the first reported border crossings on the boundary between Outer Mongolia and Sinkiang, most northerly of the Chinese provinces.
A dispatch to the newspaper from Peiping quoted travelers as saying that Outer Mongolian troops had crossed into Suiyuan to a depth of about 65 miles from the Tukehlikeh border region, northwest of Peiping.
The dispatch said that Outer Mongolian forces were establishing border defense headquarters at Wulanjenlohai, well within Chinese territory.
The area entered is a sparsely settled wasteland of many thousands of square miles of government territory unprotected by government garrisons.

LONG-BILLED GANNETS

(From Trails)
We came to the High Cliffs of Bonn. venture abiding flamingo red in the departing sun.

A thousand or more long-billed gan-nets, black tipped wings and chalk white bodies,

took off from the narrow ledges, darted like arrows into the sky above.

We watched these birds upon the red-gold water, these feathered fishermen who rear their young in saucer-like nests of seaweed,

At length the broad and steady beam

of the lighthouse fell across our path, and we turned home, night at our shoulders,

and the flutter of wings in our minds.
FRANCIS DAHLEM EMERY

The government is planning underground war factories. Guess we won't have many of them down here. And by the way what would we do for bomb shelters in case of emergency?

It would be interesting to know how many houses which recently cost 10 or 15 thousand dollars to build, or which have sold recently for that amount, or more, are assessed at $5,000 for tax purposes.

If Communism were in control in this country, no one would be allowed to vote except Communists.
That would be the same as if the Republicans got control and passed a law that no one could vote but Republicans. How would you like that?

The State Department has decided to abandon the program initiated by Henry Morgenthau to reduce Germany to a nation of small farms. Its new policy calls
"an industrialized, productive Germany for peaceful purposes."
How to keep those industries peaceful, however, remains the big problem.

Everyone is interested in better safety for the nation's coal miners, but the occupational hazards in this country are not confined to the coal mines. We are concerned, too, with the growing accident rate among farmers as the increased use of farm machinery sends more and more of them to the hospitals. In Florida last year 30 persons lost their lives in farm accidents, more than 2,000 were injured.

Prof. Einstein reiterates the warning that it must be "one world, or none." There will be more confidence, however, in man's ability to organize One World for peaceful purposes when the simpler problems of maintaining industrial peace within one nation are met. When the CIO quits fighting the AFL, when there is peace within the halls of Congress, when you can get along with your competitor, then One World may be possible.

General Motors has decided to halt production of automobiles for one week because of disturbed conditions in the steel industry.
These conditions have resulted from the recent coal settlement which gave miners a rather substantial wage increase. The steel industry will have to pay more for their coal so they will want to charge more for their steel, and the automobile industries will then have to pay more for steel so they will want to charge more for their automobiles. And until they find out how much production is interrupted because of disturbed conditions.

Learning To Swim

All sorts of theories have been advanced for teaching small children to swim, from throwing them into the water with the expectancy that they will show fish tendencies, to hiring the services of an expert teacher. The first system has too many elements of danger, and the second is not always practical. American Home Magazine, in its July issue, offers some good advice on teaching youngsters to enjoy the water, written by a father who has had experience.

Titled "Water Sprites", it is packed full of details that take children from their first experience paddling in a baby pool, to that momentous first dive. The author, Charles Sawin, emphasizes that all steps of the swimming lessons must be FUN. In that way, it is almost impossible for a child ever to fear water.

The Sawins' five-year old daughter led the way when swimming lessons began for three-year old Buddy. First of all the Sawins taught their boy how to hold his breath.
The parents showed him how, out of water. Then they made a game of Buddy's picking up shells in his one-footdeep pool, and he quickly commenced to do this ducking his head under water.

His next step was floating with face downward while holding his breath. By this time, Buddy was experienced enough to learn to kick. This was achieved by telling him to "kick like an engine". Soon, he was anxious to learn how to dive, and the momentous day arrived when he "dove" into the pool from a low step "with no form and plenty of splash". Thereupon Buddy was ready to start learning strokes, and to eliminate the splash from his diving.

"Water Sprites" is instructive reading for all parents who are about to launch their offspring at the beach this summer.

Gum Forwards Knowledge

Chewing gum, a habit which some people deprecate, has done something for the world. It has helped make known the imposing ruins of the Mayas of Mexico and Central America. Just the other day eleven hitherto unknown temples were found in Chiapas, Mexico, near the border of Guatemala, just because of chewing gum. Gum contains chicle, which grows in these semi-tropical American jungles.
The chicle companies have had to clear away the underbrush and lay out small air fields to transport their product. In the process they discovered ruins, overgrown with vines, whose presence would never have been guessed.

The new temples are particularly interesting because of their wall paintings, the largest of the few Mayan specimens known, and brilliantly colored. Fortunately Giles G. Healey, who came upon them while making a documentary movie for his company, is a trained archaeologist, and if it seems wise to remove them to a museum, will see that they are not damaged in the process.

So friends of knowledge should be more tolerant when next they have to scrape wads of disused gum from furniture and shoes.

Island Of Ceylon

Known the world around for its major export, tea, Ceylon also contributes citronella, so much in use during vacation days to ward off mosquitoes. Poets for centuries have celebrated Ceylon as the "Garden of the Sea," the "Land without Sorrow," "Island of Jewels."

It soon is to be given dominion status by Great Britain.
Of its 6,000,000 natives the largest group is the Buddhist Sinhalese who came from India centuries before Christ.
There are also Hindus and Mohammedans, but apparently these religious differences create no such problems as obtain among these sects in India.

Around many family dinner tables these days talk is heard of life during World War II in Kandy, one of the leading cities, the Buddhist pilgrimage center. Here large Allied forces were quartered.

At this time when in one day breakfast is to be had in Calcutta, lunch in Bangkok and dinner in Manila, a fair spot like Ceylon seems no longer beyond the possibility as a tourist objective. The exotic corners of Asia are brought close by the airplanes, and the far places of the earth take on interest never imagined before.

THE HISTORY OF SANFORD CELERY

By H. J. LEHMAN

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the first of a series of three articles appearing daily in The Sanford Herald on the history of Sanford celery, written by H. J.
Lehman, manager of the Sanford Bluff Farm Market, and himself for many years a grower of Sanford celery.

It is said that celery originally grew wild in the marshes along the banks of the river Thames in England and in the Mediterranean countries. There are many reports as to its early uses in various manners, but the first record of it as an edible was in France in 1652.
There is no definite information as to how it was first introduced into the United States, but there is a legend that the French Hugrenots had with them celery seed when they landed in Charleston, in 1671. However, there is no record as to how it found its way to New Jersey and Michigan, other than the assumption that seeds were carried along as the people sought new homelands. Thus, the first celery planted in Sanford, primarily as an experiment, came from Kalamazoo, Mich., and developed into what is probably known as one of the greatest agricultural money producing crops in Florida.

According to all the available records that I have, the history of having planted the first celery in Sanford is given to Hon. J. N.
Whitner, who was a member of the Florida Legislature. It is only fitting to use as a beginning the following excerpt from an address given by him at the National Horticultural Exposition at Council Bluffs, Iowa: "When God made man, he made him a horticulturist, put him to dress the Garden of Eden, and the happiness and perhaps the very existence of man has depended since then upon tilling the soil."

In the latter part of the nineteenth century, Sanford, situated on the St. Johns River, 125 miles south of Jacksonville, was a thriving town of about 500 population, mostly citrus growers and farmers. At that time Sanford was the largest shipping point of celery in Florida. On the morning of Feb. 7, 1895, the citizens awoke to the fact that their main source of income had been destroyed overnight. What is referred to as the "Big Freeze of '95" had virtually laid waste to practically every orchard and grove in Florida and had stripped them of from 70 to 100 millions of dollars. They had been made poor in a night. Thus perhaps the most remarkable feat of Sanford's celery development is that it was conceived and developed by people without money and some heavily in debt. The population dropped to around 2000 by the end of the year.

After viewing the devastation wrought by nature, the growers were forced, by necessity, to look for other means of livelihood. About a year elapsed before new fields could be exploited, as little could be done until the land could be cleared, which when completed, resembled miles after miles of wasteland. This same land sold the following Fall for as little as 25 cents per acre, quite a difference from the price of land today in the Sanford celery section.

Saints Trip Feds 1 to 0; Red Hats Here Tomorrow Night

Blasen And Ketcher Tangled In Hurling Duel; Stillwell's Blow Decides Tilt

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR., Herald Sports Editor

Jim Ketcher limited the attack of the Sanford Celery Feds to two scattered singles as his teammates were collecting six hits and a single tally off the off-spring of Lanky Charlie Blasen to shank up a 1 to 0 victory in a hotly contested diamond battle here last night.

Tonight the Feds invade Frankfield in St. Augustine for a second tilt, and will return to the local ball orchard tomorrow evening for a tilt with the DeLand Red Hats. Saturday night the Feds invade Conrad Park in DeLand and Sunday the Palatka Azaleas play the local nine in Sanford.

Ketcher pitched another one of his masterful contests and displayed remarkable control. The big Saint righthander kept his bitches low and displayed remarkable ability in pitching for the offense.

Blasen fared well throughout the contest, but the Saints lunched two of their six hits in the fifth inning to punch across the only tally of the contest, which was one of the fastest ever recorded in the Florida State League over the nine inning route.

Stan Karpinski singled to open the fateful fifth, Lyle July went down swinging and Karpinski stole second on the play. Art Stillwell singled into left field to send Karpinski home with the only run of the contest.

Graciano Trims Zale To Win Middleweight World Championship

CHICAGO, July 17, (AP)—The heavy Italian, Rocky Graciano, absorbed a terrific beating from Tony Zale in their middleweight title bout for four rounds to return with a battered body to soundly thrash the Champion in 5 minutes and ten seconds of the sixth round with a technical knockout last night.

A steady stream of blood oozed from his left eyebrow, and his right eye nearly closed, Graciano began to catch up with the left and right smashes of Zale. Graciano was nearly the victim of a technical knockout himself at the end of the third round, but the commission physician, Dr. John J. Drummie ordered the bout continued after an examination of the eye.

Last night's grand brawl provided many thrills for the crowd that paid $115,120 to witness the spectacle.

Graciano started after the fight that it was not any one punch that forced the end of the fight, but that it was a series of several damaging right and left hooks to the Champion's body and head that forced the trick.

The winner, owned by Conroy and Troy, was clocked in 2:10 1/2 in the final race, run in a blistering rain. Sam Zam finished second, and Rev Rex, third.

Billie Ross Aboe, an 86-1 shot, was the first elimination to finish fourth in the final. Sir Volo returned the second elimination.

Ross paid $175.10 in the race, the largest price at the Saratoga Raceway in two years.

Zam set the early pace in the race, but coming out of the stretch Sam Zam pulled up from the lead and Sir Volo from third place to race neck and neck in the last half of the stretch.

Young Lady Graciana, owned by Monmouth, E. C. Jaeger, was the World Champion Racing Horse Ladyship, won the single race in the $1,500 Junior for two-year-olds.

DonMurray Will Have Opportunity To Air Charges In Daytona

PALATKA, July 17, (Special)—As a result of action taken by Florida State League directors here yesterday, some unlimited service players soon may be seen in action around the circuit.

This decision came when a motion that would have allowed all clubs to have four veterans under control at one time was defeated by Orlando's negative vote. Under league by-laws that had been amended a few minutes prior to the vote, unanimous vote of all clubs now is required to amend the constitution or by-laws outside of the annual meeting.

So under present league rules and providing clubs can operate within the salary limit by so doing, each club can carry as many as 14 veterans at one time, although only three of them can be listed on the club's active roster.

At the request of Sanford Director John Kridler, Sanford Manager Don Murray will be given hearing at Daytona Beach so that he can reply to Daytona Beach fans' sworn charges that he hurled abusive and obscene language at them.

President A. Combs had fined him $100, which he paid. Directors also voted to purchase a satellite team for each of the 23 players appearing in the league's All-Star game at St. Augustine last Sunday. Judge A. B. Herlong, Jr., vice president, took over the presidency at the close of the meeting as Combs left for a two-week's vacation.

Palatka Azaleas scored a 2 to 1 decision over the Orlando Senators in a 13 inning affair in Palatka last night as Frank Paulick smashed a single into left field to send Manager John Toncok home with the winning margin.

Theobold, working on the hill for the A's, had near perfect control and pitched shutout ball for the first eight and two-thirds frames.

The Leesburg Pirates jammed three runs across the platter in the eighth inning to trip the DeLand Red Hats in a 6 to 4 contest.

The Gainesville G-Men edged the Daytona Beach Lads, 4 to 3, to hang on to their league leadership. Big George Fullis racked up his 16th victory of the 1947 campaign.

Braves To Leave Ft. Lauderdale For West Coast of Florida

PORT LAUDERDALE, July 17, (AP)—Boston Braves General Manager John Quinn today notified the Fort Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce that the major league club would not train here next spring and would attempt to locate quarters on the west coast of Florida.

Bill Greene, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee, said that Quinn told him of the move today by telephone.

Quinn did not say in which west coast city he planned to conduct spring training, Greene reported. The Braves' manager indicated that one of the major league's farm clubs, possibly Milwaukee of the AAA League, would replace the Braves here next Spring.

BRIDGE ANGLERS IGNORE THE LAW AND MOTORISTS' TOMMY HENRICH GAINING PLACE AMONG TOP STARS

By WILBUR JENNINGS, AP Wirefeatures

KEY WEST, Fla.—The world's longest fishing pier is distinctly a hazard to motorists, but they don't seem to mind.

The 122 miles of ribbon-like road linking Key West with the Florida mainland is one of the "fishiest" highways anyone ever drove a car over. Also, it is one of the most interesting.

This is a highway on which the pedestrian doesn't give a hang about the motorist. The pedestrian is a fisherman armed with rod and reel. When this particular pedestrian hooks one of the 400 varieties of fish which abound in Florida waters, anything can happen, and usually does.

Shorts-Clad Women

The anglers—there are as many shorts-clad women as men—fish from narrow ledges on one of the 18 miles of bridges which link the islands of the Florida keys and span bodies of water which flow across the narrow peninsula between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean.

This happens Sunday. A fisherman hooks a big one. There is a tug and a splash of line. Out into the high way he goes, playing his catch. The approaching cars are forgotten. The job at hand is for that fish not to get away!

Motorist is Obliging

The motorist is most obliging. He slows down, frequently stops. He is also a fisherman and his interest is as keen as the other fisherman's.

This slowing-down, stopping is a courtesy of this seemingly never-ending highway which boasts of one bridge seven miles long and another of four miles. Few ever heard of a fisherman getting hit by a car.

The seven-mile bridge is a dandy. One would expect the fisherman to do their angling near the approach. But no, they get clear out into the middle.

How'd they get there? They brought along someone who didn't mind driving them out and then taking the car back to the end and reading for a couple of hours.

Numerous Varieties

It takes a veteran angler to call his catches by name, so numerous are the varieties. The fighters include the tarpon, shark and the bonefish. But there are snook, snapper, trout, drum, jewfish and 533 other kinds.

Florida Keys' fishing is not confining to the bridges, however.

The tiny islands are dotted with fishing camps, many of which are elaborately equipped with twin-engine motor boats at the backdoor.

There are also lodges where for a nominal sum, an angler may forget his outside worries and concentrate on fishing. Favorite dishes of these lodges are turtle steak and lima beans.

The 122 miles of road "out to sea" which, in a part of the highway from Miami to Key West, was completed in 1914 at a cost of seven million dollars after eight years of work. Its foundation is the old bed of the Florida East Coast Railway which was washed away by a hurricane. Some of its bridges rise 75 feet above the water.

Shik's Island

One little matter about the bridge fishing which few seem to know: It's illegal. But who'd tell anyone. Somebody might try to enforce the law.

COMMENTS SIDELINES

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.

Danny Dandero

We were sorry to learn that Danny Dandero has been confined to the Fernald Loughton Memorial Hospital for the last couple of days.

Danny is a new infielder who was sent to Sanford by the New York Giant farm system, and is reported to be an all round good player.

We are afraid that this tour of duty in the hospital will spike his playing days for the 1947 season. Maybe the youngster will be ready to go next Spring. We will probably need several good players next year.

Feds the Feds

One of the outstanding events of the 1947 Sanford Celery Fed baseball season occurred the other evening when the Sanford Baseball Association gave the players a feed.

The boys had all the steaks they could eat and mounds of French fried potatoes, tomatoes and all the trimmings that makes an enjoyable T-bone steak dinner.

It is not often that the players are given a good evening of entertainment. Those boys are just like anyone else who is away from home. They want something to do.

Standing around on the street corners is not the worst entertainment a fellow can have, but even that is a lot more enjoyable.

Ginny Bennis, Sanford glider enthusiast, broke her own national distance record for women at the National Soaring Contest now being held at Wichita Falls, Texas.

Bennis has broken her own record twice. She set a record at 37 miles, then upped it to 52 and day before yesterday she extended the launt to Willow, Okla., which is 94 miles from her starting point. It is reported that Miss Bennis was aided by perfect thermal conditions during her flight.

Here's There

Gordon Kipp, sportswriter of the DeLand Sun News says "The hottest club in the league right now is Sanford. The Feds are fairly well down in second division, but have been getting a lot of fanless they run out of steam they may be tough to keep out of the Shaughnessy playoffs for the season still has seven weeks to go."

We see that Bill Pueli, former DeLand Red Hat skipper who is now patrolling the left field park for the St. Petersburg Saints, noted a 400-foot home run with one more aboard to trip Lakeland by a 3 to 1 margin Sunday afternoon. It is reported to have been one of the longest home runs ever hit in the Sanford stadium. Fuchs has seven round trippers to his credit since joining the Saints.

NEW YORK—Getting to see Guy Lombardo is like going on a guided tour of Radio City.

You get in line, walk down a flight of stairs across the stage of a big Broadway theater, walk up a dressing room, busy with ringing telephones and a half-dozen press agents all trying to talk to the star.

The noise was about the International Gold Cup Regatta at Jamaica Hay, N. Y., Aug. 10.

Lombardo is best known to speedboat enthusiasts as the holder of the Gold Cup. To most people he is the leader of the Royal Canadians, a top dance band featuring "sweet music."

These are busy days for Lombardo. His band plays in theaters or hotels and he gets little spare time. But when he does he lures up his speedboat sound movies of the race he won in Detroit last year.

"Someone gave me the films so my wife went out and bought me the projector," says Guy. "Now I study the films whenever I get a chance and I learn something everytime I look at them."

One thing Guy hadn't learned was which switch to nudge at the right time. In attempting to prepare for his "stage call" he flicked the projector button and everything went black. He finally found the proper gadget.

"See, I'm learning all the time," he quipped as he began shaving and the race films started.

The films showed Danny Arena, Lombardo's main competitor last year, driving his super-charger Miss Golden Gate III at 77 miles an hour. They also showed the super-charger becoming super-serious, forcing Arena's speed-wagon out of the race.

"I don't use super-chargers," said Lombardo. "They'll give you a bundle of speed but they invariably run into trouble with them in the 30-mile heats such as will be run in the Gold Cup again this August."

"I'm going to use the same 16-cylinder engine designed by Harry Miller. It has about 600 horsepower and cost the former owner $40,000."

Tempo VI formerly was My Sin, you know, and cost $100,000. I got it for about one fourth of that. She has won the Gold Cup (speed) of Louisville, where Why Lombardo estimates it costs between $16,000 to $20,000 to maintain and race Tempo VI for a year.

"But it even has a speedometer," broke in one of the press agents.

"No," replied Guy. "No speedometer. You get to tell how fast you're going after practicing over a measured mile. I think Tempo VI can hit 145 miles per hour on a complete straightaway, providing she can stay on the water at that speed. Her Wood holds the record at 124.86 mph. I think we'll find Jamaica Bay's water two miles faster than the Detroit River where I hit 73.29 for one lap."

"We're going to have about 20 entries in the coming race. It will be run in three 30-mile heats. Count The Rossi of Italy is coming over."

"Rossi is a great idol in Italy."

RETIRING GRID COACH LEAVES FINE RECORD

By FRANK ECK, AP Wirefeatures

TAYLOR, Tex.—When splashing of football coaching records, consider that of T. H. (Heck) Johnson. This is brought up because Johnson is leaving the coach's bench for the avial chair of the school superintendent.

In 14 years as head grid coach of Taylor High School his teams played 145 games, won 119 and lost 22. There were four ties. He had undefeated seasons in 1933, '38, '42, '43 and '45. He produced eight district championship teams, six regional champions.

Taylor never won a state high school championship because the school was in a class that didn't play through to a state title. Now that Johnson is leaving the coaching ranks this division—class "A"—will start playing for a state title.

In the middle of the 19th century, Robert Fortune, an English naturalist, disguised as a Chinese, entered central China and obtained secrets of tea-growing which he passed on to India.

Recreation Facilities On Increase In U. S.

NEW YORK—With 1,743 cities reporting organized public recreation programs throughout the U. S., the increase in cities sponsoring these activities and furnishing facilities for public use was nearly double that of 1938.

These cities reported that there were 26,185 separate public recreation areas and centers in the U. S.

TOUCHDOWN!

NEW YORK—(AP)—The results of a race recently told a short story in themselves. Resembling the dialogue between a football coach Frank Merriwell and the mascot of the horses in the order of finish were:

"Goal to Go."
"Say No More."
"Swoosh!"

(cubic inches) division boats in the race," said Lombardo. "They are smaller jobs and keep running. They never break down because they stay together better than the high-powered stuff."

"These 22's must do 65 miles per hour on a straightaway to qualify and they cannot be over 40 feet long nor under 16 feet."

The 22's coming to Jamaica Bay between Rockaway Beach and Brooklyn's Floyd Bennett Field will have such veteran drivers as Gibson, Bradford of Bernosville, O. A. Brinkman of Buffalo, Bob Bogie of Lake George and Judd Hagley of Providence, R. I. Gibson finished second to Lombardo's Tempo VI in last year's race.

"This will be a big race this year," Lombardo said. "We expect 1,000,000 fans to line the course. I selected Rockaway Inlet in the neck of Jamaica Bay chiefly because it can be reached easily and inexpensively by both yacht and public conveyance."

The South Shore Yacht Club, of which Lombardo is an honorary member, is sponsoring the event.

Among the Andamanese, men and women dying in the prime of life are frequently given the most honorable form of burial—upon a platform placed in a tree.

He has won a couple of times here. The Italians know more about the Gold Cup than Americans."

Lombardo said Miss Canada, owned by E. A. Wilson and driven by his son, Harold, will be ready for the race. It's equipped with a 2,000-horsepower engine. In 1938 Miss Canada won the President's Cup on the Potomac.

Another contender is Danny Foster with an Allison engine in a 1,700-horsepower, 21-foot boat formerly known as So Long. Foster beat Lombardo in the President's Cup last year. Wild Bill Cantrell of Louisville, whose Why Worry did 100 mph in Washington in 1940, and Albion Fallon with Miss Great Lakes also are entered.

Arena, who held the Gold Cup last year until last year, may pilot Notre Dame, and Joe Van Blerck of Freeport will drive his 400-horsepower Al Joe IV.

"There will be a lot of 22's

"I'm going to use the same 16-cylinder engine designed by Harry Miller. It has about 600 horsepower and cost the former owner $40,000."

Sam Helps with the Dishwashing

Dropped in at the Abernathy's just the other evening—and there was Sam, out in the kitchen with an apron on, helping his mistress wash the supper dishes. (And then I learned later he'd helped wash the supper, too.)

Of course, Sam could have settled into his favorite chair, enjoyed his evening glass of beer, and left all the messy kitchenwork to Dixie. But he kindly likes her company—and she in turn certainly appreciates his help.

In fact, sharing the housework and the merriment chorus is part of a bond between them... One sharing that friendly glass of beer together, when the wash is done, few men of these little all-important things in marriage.

From where I sit, the time that a man and wife can spend with each other in this busy world today is all too precious. And the more things they can do together, the better.

R. W. Ervin Plans To Run For State Office

PALATKA, Fla., July 17.—R. W. (Dick) Ervin, Resident Attorney for the State Road Department and former Assistant Attorney General, stated here today that he plans to run for Attorney General and will formally announce his candidacy shortly after the first of next year when he will resign from the Road Department to wage an active campaign.

Mr. Ervin was born at Carrabelle, on Jan. 26, 1905. He was educated in the public schools of Marion, Leon and DeSoto Counties and graduated from the University of Florida Law College in 1929.

He entered into private practice of law in Pinellas County in 1928, in Lee County in 1929, and from 1930 to 1935 in Palatka, Putnam County, of which County he is a legal resident.

Ervin has served as an Attorney for the State Road Department from 1935-43 and from 1945 to date; as Assistant Attorney General from Aug. 1, 1943 to Jan. 1, 1945; as Secretary for the Florida Railroad Commission from Jan. 1, 1945 to July 1, 1945. He served as Attorney for the Overseas Road and Toll Bridge District from 1937 to 1941 and was the first Attorney for the Department of Public Safety from its creation by the Legislature in 1939, serving until 1941. He served as Executive Clerk of the House of Representatives, Florida Legislature, each session from 1921 through 1935.

R. W. Ervin of Palatka who made known his intention of running for Attorney General today. He will make a formal announcement at the beginning of the year at which time he will resign from the Road Department.

New "Parasite" Army Plane Is Announced

ST. LOUIS, July 17. (AP)—A new type of fighter plane, designed to be launched in midair from the bomb bay of the Army's giant B-36 bomber and to return to it, is being manufactured for the Army Air Forces by McDonnell Aircraft Corp., at Lambert-St. Louis field, it was announced today.

Gulf-Pacific Shipping Said Undependable

NEW ORLEANS, July 15. (AP)—Dependability of existing steamship service between Gulf and Pacific coast ports was questioned here today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on an application by the Arrow Line to inaugurate service on that route.

G. O. Nickel, traffic manager of a Sapulpa, Okla., glassware manufacturer, testified before ICC Examiner Sam Diamondson of Washington that his firm had discontinued use of water transportation between the Gulf and West Coast in 1939 because of the "uncertainty of shipping arrangements."

Sailing Ships Still Used For World Commerce

By SAUL PETT
AP Newfeatures Writer
NEW ORLEANS, July 17. (AP)—Sailing ships still travel many of the world's trade routes as though their skippers had never heard of supersonic speeds.

In an age when the average boy grows up to believe that the only big square-riggers and schooners left are built on Hollywood movie lots, wind-driven vessels of oak and iron continue to find cargoes to haul at speeds frequently no faster than the Mayflower's.

At least 60 American sailing vessels of more than 500 tons each are still in commercial use, according to the Treasury Department's bureau of customs. Large foreign sailing craft still in trade are estimated to number between 100 and 150.

This figure, of course, is painfully small compared with the old days, when America had 4,000,000 tons of shipping under sail and fast, beautiful clippers raced around the Horn for the California gold rush or carried tea and spices from China.

While the world fleet of sizable square riggers has been reduced to less than 10, fore and aft windjammers operate in more respectable numbers. Serving as freighters and tankers off both American coasts and in the Great Lakes are 48 schooner barges and 14 schooners, all over 500 tons.

One, the 623-ton schooner C. S. Holmes, still operates out of Seattle as a whaler.

Abroad, windjammers are used in feeder operations in the West Indies between small ports and harbors suitable for steamers. Up and down the west coast of South America, they transport guano and bulk cargoes and between the east coast and Capetown they carry timber and manufactured goods.

From Australia, there are still windjammers carrying wheat across the Pacific. They haul fish and lumber in the Baltic and coal, timber, salt and wool in the British coastal trade.

But the square-rigger finds it most difficult to hang on.

Today, there are only three big square riggers left in American waters—the sailing ship Pacific Queen and the bark Scottish Lady and Star of India.

The oldest large sailing vessel still used in this country is the Star of India, built in Scotland in 1823, grossing 1,318 tons. She now sails out on scientific expeditions for the Zoological Society of San Diego.

The Scottish Lady, 79 years old and also of Scottish origin, hauls freight out of Seattle. The three-masted Pacific Queen, 61 years old and grossing 1,835 tons, used to make the India and Alaska runs. She once won a race from the Golden Gate to Chignik, Alaska, in 19 days. But now the Pacific Queen is anchored off Long Beach, Cal., the star of a harbor exhibition there.

The late war heavily reduced the number of all ships. No one was hit harder than 73-year-old Capt. Gustaf Erikson of Finland. Erikson had built up his fleet of square riggers to eleven, carrying nitrates from Chile, Swedish lumber from Australia, case oil for Fiji and guano from Juan de Nova,

Short Strike Ties Up Cincinnati Hotels

CINCINNATI, July 17. (AP)—Four of Cincinnati's six major hotels resumed normal operations today after a seven-hour strike by 1,700 AFL employees paralyzed services yesterday afternoon and early evening.

Officials of the Cincinnati Hotels Association and the AFL Hotel Employees council announced an agreement ending the strike shortly after 7:00 o'clock last night, and said a new contract would be signed today.

Under terms of the agreement, most of the strikers, including elevator operators, bellhops, maids, porters, bartenders, waiters, and all culinary workers, will work 40 instead of 48 hours a week, with additional wage increases.

The majority of the unionists, who left their jobs at noon yesterday at the Netherland Plaza, Gibson, Fountain Square and Sinton hotels, began working regular shifts at 11:00 o'clock last night.

Restaurants and bars in the four hotels were closed during the walk-out and room service was discontinued. No new guests were received and reservations were refused "for the immediate future."

More Meat

Egbert's statement was submitted to the committee on the last day of a series of hearings to find out what can be done about stabilizing prices and the economy generally.

The institute official cited these principal reasons for the rise in meat prices since January:

1. A seasonal, 10 to 15 percent decline in supplies.
2. An increase in weekly wages in industry "to an all-time high."
3. A record peak of 69,000,000 persons employed, an increase of about four percent since the start of the year.

Contributing to the pressure on prices, Egbert added, is the fact that storage stocks of meat are smaller than the prewar average.

"Another complicating factor," he said, "is that the current outlook for grains, as compared with a year ago, is unfavorable and there are prospects for large grain exports."

Assuming these deterring elements develop, they may prevent the expected 1948 increase in meat production and could even result in some decrease, Egbert said.

It all depends, he added, on the weather, the corn crop and grain exports. In connection with the latter, Egbert gave this example of the impact of exports:

"Had the grain, other than wheat, exported last year been fed to meat animals, the meat supply would have been increased by about 10 pounds per person."

Two other witnesses told the committee in separate statements that one of the most important preliminaries in stabilizing the economy is reduction of federal spending.

Marion B. Folsom, treasurer of the Eastman Kodak Co., said that would be the "greatest contribution" the government could make "toward maintenance of the present high level of employment."

W. Randolph Burgess, vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York, said the national budget must be brought "under control" as a step toward "wise management of the public debt."

Both Folsom and Burgess also urged that taxes be cut to encourage industrial expansion.

Before their statements were made public, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), a member of the joint committee, told a reporter "we are more dangerously close to a blow-up of our economy than most people realize."

Doctor Reveals New Way To Give Medicine

NEW YORK, July 17. (AP)—A new method of giving medicine, which he calls "aimed injections," where the drug goes mainly to one place or to one sick organ, was explained in the Third International Pediatrics Congress today by Dr. Rudolf Degkwitz, of Hamburg, Germany.

One aimed medicine, a dye, goes either to the lungs, or other areas, depending on "aim" and has been used to cure tuberculosis in guinea pigs and rabbits. It has not been used for humans.

The Degkwitz method is like a game where balls of different sizes are rolled to stop in holes whose sizes also vary, and the size that fits stops a ball.

His medical balls are the tiny crystals that form many different kinds of drugs. These crystals are too small to be seen without a microscope. Some are found, but they have also many other shapes, Degkwitz says he has found numerous sizes or shapes that are caught in only one or another organ, like the liver, or the spleen, bone marrow, glands or lungs.

The crystals have to be some chemical that does not dissolve in water. He has experimented with about 100 such, and shapes in the form of balls, needles, flakes and threads.

For tuberculosis he uses crystals made of one or another of the Azo dyes, which are used industrially for red, yellow or blue colors.

To be trapped in the lungs, the Azo crystals are needle-shaped. They are about the shape and size of red blood corpuscles which go to the lungs for oxygen.

Greek Planes Hit Invaders Fleeing North

Guerillas Said To Be Inflicting Terrible Damage On Line Of Retreat

ATHENS, July 18 (AP)—A Greek communiqué said today national planes were inflicting severe losses on guerrillas who were fleeing northeast of Ioannina before pursuing ground forces and ravaging villages on the way.

War Minister George Stratos said another and larger guerrilla offensive was expected along the northwest frontier. The Greek government said the last guerrilla band "invaded" Greece from Albania with the aim of setting up a separate Communist government.

"Bandits passing through villages have committed crimes of unimaginable brutality," the communiqué from the Greek 8th division said. "Villages have been pillaged and many inhabitants killed."

Didged from the 7,000 foot heights of Mt. Gamila, 18 miles north of Ioannina, the bulk of the 2,000 man guerrilla force started a march on lightly defended Ioannina five days ago. Legatists asserted the irregulars had been cut into small units which were scattered in an area over a wide, rugged area 16 miles northeast of Ioannina near the villages of Frangades, Elatohori and Tholion in the foothills of Mt. Timfi.

Farther north, Spitfire fighter planes caught two more battalions in ravines along the southern foothills of Mt. Smolikos and were said to have inflicted crushing losses.

An unconfirmed report said 245 bodies were found in the ravine after the estimated 800 rebels under fire.

A further official report said 60 were killed and 90 captured in the first phase of the attack and that remnants of the band were running in two directions, south toward Metaxa, stronghold during the German occupation, and northeast toward the heights of Mt. Smolikos. The report said the army was in a position to cut off the lines of retreat and that escape was impossible.

The Balkan sub-commission of the United Nations was to leave Belgrade during the day for Ioannina for another investigation. Both the Russian and Polish delegates opposed holding the inquiry at Ioannina, although G. P. Casparov of Russia had accompanied the board on a preliminary inquiry Tuesday.

Comdr. Wimbish, Former Sanfordite Ends Foreign Duty

Lieut. Comdr. Glenn Wimbish, a former resident of Sanford and a brother of Mrs. Hawkins Connelly, returned to Sanford today after five years in the United States Coast Guard and a recent tour of duty in Antwerp, Belgium.

Comdr. Wimbish, who was in the real estate business in Sanford during the 1920s, served for more than a year in Antwerp in charge of the marine inspection detail and also had charge of the ports of Amsterdam and Rotterdam. Approximately 60 U. S. cargo ships entered the port of Antwerp each month. Comdr. Wimbish said, with about 60 more entering the two other ports.

Living conditions in the lowlands have greatly improved since the war, Comdr. Wimbish said, but prices are still exorbitantly high and the black market is flourishing. Many U. S. automobiles are in evidence everywhere, he said, and sell for fantastic prices.

Rotterdam, which was virtually obliterated during the blitzkrieg, has been largely rebuilt, he said, pointing out that the Dutch and Belgians are a very industrious people and "do not sit around and sulk like the French." At Antwerp, he said, he got a big kick out of the sight of a boat load of Florida oranges shipped by Chase & Co.

Comdr. Wimbish, who is on furlough leave and expects to be discharged on Aug. 15, was commended for a while at Charleston, S. C. before going to Key West where he was for more than a year captain of the port. On Sept. 1, he will return to his former position with the Treasury department in Antwerp.

Sanford Reduces Bonded Debt By 34 Per Cent In 14 Years

City Officials Attend Meeting In Washington

Pending Airport Legislation Discussed By Floridians

Sanford's bonded indebtedness has been reduced from a peak of $7,461,246 on Sept. 30, 1933 to $4,878,000 as of July 1, 1947, a 34 percent reduction, according to figures released today by City Manager H. N. Sayer.

This reveals a $2,583,246 reduction of bonded indebtedness during a 14 year period. At the time of issue during the "boom" period of 1922-27, bonds had interest rates of 5 1/2 to 6 percent. The City was later unable to carry this interest during the depression period and on Mar. 1, 1937, the bonds were refunded and the interest was sealed down to 1 percent.

On Sept. 1, this interest on outstanding bonds will be increased 1/4 of 1 percent. This increase will apply to $224,000 of waterworks bonds on which the interest was 2 percent, said Mr. Sayer.

According to the City audit report of Sept. 30, 1936, the bonded debt on Jan. 1, 1910 as issued under the old charter was but $117,000. Until 1922 this was increased by $18,000.

Then the bond started and approval of bond issues increased. In 1922 the City added $325,000 to its bonded debt. The bonds of 1922 were: $67,000 for dock and boat basin; $35,000 to refund the old City debt; $15,000 for the public library; $108,000 for paving and $105,000 for sewers.

In 1923, the library got $5,000 more; $30,000 in bonds were approved for an athletic field (Municipal Ball Park); $45,000 was bonded for a golf links (Seminole Country Club) and sewers drew another $90,000, a total of $160,000.

In 1924 it was decided to build a new City Hall and bonds were issued for $75,000. Other 1924 bonds issued were: $10,000 for the cemetery; $100,000 for paving; $105,000 for sewers and $50,000 to build a city jail.

Other 1924 issues were: waterworks bonds, $375,000; Gas plant, $167,000; paving, $149,000; and $62,000. The total issue of 1924 was $1,124,000.

In 1925, paving bonds were issued to the amount of $132,000 and $158,000. In 1923 paving bonds were issued in the amount of $70,000 and $62,000. Total paving bonds issued were $1,406,000.

Total waterworks bonds were valued at $700,000. Gas plant bonds totaled $339,000.

In 1926, a total of $988,000 was bonded for bulkheading the lakefront. Bond issues in 1926 amounted to $2,809,000. Of this two hundred issues totaled $203,000.

Lions Endorse Plan For State Legion Building

The Sanford Lions Club today voted to endorse the program of Campbell-Loring Post 53 of the American Legion in their effort to secure a permanent Department headquarters building here, also to offer whatever assistance they may be able to in furthering the project.

Secretary Hamilton Blahse was instructed by King Lion W. O. Livingston to write the State Legion Committee, organized to secure such a site, in this effect, and it was pointed out that the City has entered the latest football site for the purpose.

A request that the club aid in securing a relocator for Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital was referred to the Board of Directors. It was pointed out that the device could be used in many more ways than an iron lung, and if there was need for the latter could be used as an iron lung for 24 hours in emergency pending the arrival of the iron lung.

Harry Robson, who has succeeded Dick Elaberry as Lion "Tail Twister," proceeded about the Tourist Center, administering fines right and left. One of his victims, his brother, J. N. Robson, Jr., protested against being fined for being the sole member present wearing a necktie on the ground that it was necessary to his men's wear business. When it became apparent that a necktie, a Florida wash tie, was about to be cut off, he reluctantly yielded the 10 cent fine and much lion laughter.

U. S. Emissary Leaves Fairfield For China

FAIRFIELD, Calif., July 18 (AP)—Bound for China as President Truman's special emissary, Lieut. General Albert C. Wedemeyer left the Fairfield-Cuning Air Transport Command base by special plane shortly before midnight last night.

With a party of 10, he will remain in Honolulu on completion of the 12-hour flight and then continue westward via Kwaialalei, Guam and Tokyo.

School Board Votes 4 Mill Tax Increase

Action Seen Necessary Due To Loss Of Racing Funds, Increased Salaries

A four mill increase in the general County School tax which will increase the levy from 6 to 10 mills, subject to approval of the State Department of Education, was yesterday voted by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction.

This increase in millage, said Supt. Lawton today, is made necessary due to loss of race track funds, and to an $89,000 increase in teachers' salaries.

Teachers of Seminole County received $292,000 last year; whereas during the coming term it is estimated that they will receive more than $380,000, he asserted.

He added, however, that it is possible that a reduction of 2 mills may be effected in bond interest and sinking fund levy. This would make a net increase of only 2 mills.

Supt. Lawton said that he had been instructed by the board to prepare a tentative budget to take to Tallahassee next week and submit to the State Department of Education for its consideration.

The bid of W. L. Kessler of Winter Park to re-roof the Lyman School at Longwood was accepted. Mr. Lawton announced. Since no bids were received at this time for conversion of the Lyman shop building into a school cafeteria, the trustees of the district were authorized to engage workmen to make minimum alterations not to exceed $2,000 in cost. O. E. Fourcack, a trustee who was present, estimated that this would not cost more than $1,500.

Contracts were approved for transporting school children by privately owned vehicles to U. B. Jones and M. M. Estes of Orlando, Glen Bowen and Homer Ballard of Geneva and to Bert H. Smith of Bank. Under state law said Mr. Lawton, contracts cannot be made for the group handling of County owned buses as in the past and the board will enter into contracts with individual drivers of school buses. This will take place at a meeting to be held on Aug. 11, he declared.

Iwo Jima Memorial Suffers From Erosion

TOKYO, July 18 (AP)—The American flag that fighting Marines planted atop Iwo Jima's Mount Suribachi "will not be hauled down now" despite the savage erosion of rain and wind that is making the twice-daily trip to the volcanic summit almost impossible.

Lieut. Col. Elmer M. Gould, commanding officer of the Iwo Jima Air Base, told Manning Editor James J. Puchung of the Milwaukee Sentinel as he days ago that "soon we won't be able to get a man up here in a jeep to raise and lower the flag, and keep the monument in shape."

That steep road that Seabee battalions chewed out after the battle is fast crumbling, already has been closed to tourists. But headquarters here said the flag "will not be hauled down now." It is trying to work out some method of maintaining the memorial—and flag—with the necessity of costly road rebuilding.

The wartime raising of the flag on Suribachi—caught by the news camera of Joe Rosenthal, then an Associated Press photographer—made a Pulitzer Prize picture. It was memorialized in war bond posters and statuary on postage stamps.

Boys At Camp Winona Settle Down To Variety Of Sports And Activities

By BOBBY PARRIN Camp Scribe

The second day of camp at Winona began at 7:30 A. M. as the sleepy campers tumbled from their bunks to the sounding of the bugle. Pepped by the early morning dip and exercises, they dashed off to a hearty breakfast and hurried back to their cabins to prepare for the cabin inspection. Cabin I and Cabin V won first place. Cabin II, second place. Cabin III, third and Cabin VI, honorable mention.

During the swimming period, Bobby Morris, Harold and Frank Cronan, Sammy Dunn and Ernie Cronan earned white ribbons. Four proud red ribbon owners received their blue ribbons with tired smiles as they finished the 50 yard unbroken swim.

Four more medals were being prepared by the campers for the campers to paint and many of the campers began handsome plastic lavenders in the handkerchief shop. Hot pad holders worn on frames are also popular.

Cabin II, with confident smiles challenged Cabin I to a "soft ball game" and were greatly disappointed at their losing 17-3. They know, however, the tide will turn in the next game.

It was contest night at the council ring last night and an elaborate bubble gum contest was held in which Ernie Morris was chosen Bubble Gum King and was challenged by Bobby Morris.

Truman Veto Of Tax Cut Bill Overridden By House 299-108

Newsprint Sold On "Free Market" At Fancy Prices

Publishers' Stocks Are At Lowest Level On Record

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The House today voted to override President Truman's second veto of the Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 tax cut. But indications are that the Senate may sustain the President and thus kill the bill.

The 299-108 vote, 28 more than the necessary two-thirds majority. A total of 63 Democrats joined 236 Republicans in the vote to override the President.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the Senate Republican committee will press for a vote later today on the veto.

A powerful Republican-Democrat coalition rolled up in the House, the more than two-thirds majority necessary to overthrow the veto. The House roll call showed a substantial shift of Democrats in support of the measure, which provides for tax reduction effective Jan. 1, 1948. The chamber had voted 268 to 137 two days ago to sustain Mr. Truman's veto of the first bill which would have made the cuts effective last July 1.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—President Truman today sent Congress a second veto of the Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 tax cut. He said the measure would "seriously curtail the Government's ability to carry out its essential functions."

The detailed breakdown remained a secret between the committee and Wood on the grounds that it may be decided to deny countries in the Russian orbit some of the funds which went into the compilation.

Senate leaders added legislation to permit immediate furlough of veterans' terminal leave pay bonds to their pre-adjudication list but cling to July 26 as their hoped-for splitting date.

The terminal leave pay plan, already approved unanimously by the House, calls for immediate cash payment of some $1,800,000, in bonds issued to World War II veterans as compensation for earned leave which they were unable to take.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council ended its general Balkan debate today and plunged immediately into the final phase of the case as compensation for the conflicting American and Russian plans of action.

As the general discussions came to a close, French Delegate Alexandre Parodi called on the representatives of Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia to give assurances of their cooperation and good will.

Each of the four in turn expressed a desire to see the problem settled peacefully, and Parodi voiced his satisfaction that the debate had ended on a peaceful note rather than a note of mutual recrimination.

Earlier Bulgaria joined Russia and the other "Soviet Bloc" states in what appeared to be a planned attempt to delay action in the council on the explosive Balkan problem.

Dr. M. Mervan, Bulgarian representative, took the floor at the opening of this morning's session and outlined the "Soviet Bloc" plan for a permanent border watch along Greece's northern frontier.
