SPD adds officers through Fed program

The Sanford Police Department will add new officers to its force with help from the federal Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS).

"The Federal Government recognizes the critical need for community policing," said U.S. Rep. John Mica (R-7th District). "As Central Florida and Seminole County continue to grow, this grant will provide significant assistance and resources to Police Chief Brian Tooley and his staff as they work to serve our community."

The grant will be administered through the COPS Universal Hiring Program, which helps law enforcement agencies pay the salary and benefits of additional officers who will perform community policing and homeland security activities. The $375,000 in federal funds will permit the Sanford Police Department fill five full-time positions.

"We're happy we were selected for this grant," said Darrel Presley, the department's deputy chief. "This was a competitive selection process, and the city was fortunate to receive this assistance."

Presley said the city commission still must approve the grant.

The program provides up to 75 percent of the total cost of salary and benefits of each new officer for three years, up to a maximum of $75,000 per officer. Local funds pay the remainder, and each city is required to retain the new positions for a minimum of one local budget cycle after the grant funds expire.

Presley said the total cost to the city for all five officers would be about $80,000 in the first full year of grant funding.

Stink raised over trash collecting bids

By Christopher Patten

Decisions by Longwood and Oviedo officials to replace Florida Recycling as the cities' contracted garbage collector are being contested.

The two municipalities issued requests for proposals (RFP) this year as four-year agreements with the trash hauling company came to an end. Longwood commissioners learned last month that Florida Recycling was challenging the bidding process in court. At the same meeting city officials adopted an ordinance approving a four-year solid waste contract with Longwood-based Waste Pro, one of six vendors submitting proposals.

Oviedo city officials recently chose Republic as its contracted trash collector, and City Manager Eugene Williford has met with Florida Recycling representatives as they appealed the decision through city channels.

"I'm limited to how much I can comment since Florida Recycling is appealing (the bid process) through the administrative process," Williford said.

"What happened was they did not provide all the information they were required to in the bid package and therefore they were eliminated from consideration, and they are contending that they did," he added.

Williford judged that the city was in the right to eliminate Florida Recycling from the bidding process. The company may appeal to circuit court. It's a legal step in the municipal appeal process that Florida Recycling has appeared to skip in Longwood.

According to Richard Taylor, Longwood city attorney, he believes the contractor missed the seven-day deadline to protest the bid process through an administrative hearing.

"I think there will be a real issue if the court will even have jurisdiction," he said.

"Florida Recycling, to my knowledge, has never complained about the bidding process and the way it was set up and the way it was evaluated until they didn't get the contract," Taylor added. "Any step of the way, they had the opportunity to ask for clarification of the criteria, or

Celebrating 100

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

When Margaret Zachary Wright first moved to Sanford, downtown was full of horse-drawn carriages and school was held in a one-room schoolhouse near downtown.

Wright would travel with her parents by carriage from Markham Woods to the heart of Sanford to attend school. Her family would drop her off on Monday morning and she would stay with her aunt in a rented apartment during the week, since the trip was too far to make in one day. She would be picked up again on Friday afternoon to spend the weekend with her family. Today, that same trip to Markham Woods would take Wright only 15 minutes — depending on traffic.

Wright, who turned 100 years old last week, has witnessed a world of change during the last century, from the invention of the automobile and computers to the creation of the rock era and Several friends and relatives were on hand last week to congratulate Margaret Zachary Wright on her 100th birthday.

City code irks owners trying to remodel older building

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

When the Sanford City Commission unanimously approved the new Schedule S Code, the Bible of the Historic Preservation Board (HPB), residents and officials alike believed it would be the end of the confusion that has surrounded what is and is not allowed in the Downtown Sanford Historic District.

The HPB, the organization formed in 1986 to protect and preserve the historical look of the downtown Sanford Historic District, spent two years revamping the Schedule S Code before bringing it before the city commission for approval on July 28.

Unfortunately, not even two weeks after the ink had dried on the new S Code, another Sanford resident was searching for answers and bringing up questions not thought of during the revision process.

The building in question is owned by

Denise

Hurley,

As the next step to the process, Virgil

the building,

he would

"These

renovations

will take the building from one

Virgil said. "We process that we have been

The

Iraqi Diary: Police station bombed

Editor's note: Staff Sgt. Charlie C. Carlson III, son of Sanford historian Charlie C. Carlson II, is deployed in Baghdad as part of the 549th Military Police Company. He is providing the Herald with a journal of his experiences.

3 July 03 Last night there was an explosion at Al Rashad Police Station in which two soldiers were wounded and one soldier killed. This is one of our police stations and I was there just the other day.

What is happening is the 2nd Cavalry provides security for the MP's and IPF (Iraqi Police Force) and our company goes out on calls, usually two teams. The Iraqis do not want us here anymore, plus we are approaching 14 Jul 03 which is the anniversary of the Baath Party. We are told that Hussein is still alive and has put a bounty on each U.S. soldier's head.

SFC Williams and I rode out to Al Naqua Police Station and some of the Cav soldiers were just sitting on their truck, no one at the concertina wire gate and no one on the roof. Williams chewed out one CAV soldier who was only wearing a t-shirt, had no weapon, Kevlar, or flak vest. Then I went to the roof and found no one up there and brought that to Williams' attention. I have to go over to Al Rashad and conduct a little investigation as to where and how this bomb went off and why CAV did not see anything.

Now I hear that some general is on the news saying that the killing of US soldiers will not deter U.S. presence in Iraq. Iraqis don't want us here, they are only attacking U.S. personnel because we are here. We are stuck here because of "political pride" but that pride is killing our soldiers everyday. There are no weapons of mass destruction and most of us believe it was all about oil all along. If I get killed over here it will be because of our Washington leadership. But I refuse to let those politicians kill me just to save face.

Today I went out with two of my teams and stopped a BMW with tinted windows and no plates. A search of the vehicle revealed a large bag of stacked 250 Dinar bills in the trunk and a submachine gun in the backseat and a samurai sword. A search of the suspect revealed $5,700 in U.S. $100 bills. We hauled him in and using the interpreter, I gave him the "business" about where he was going and coming from, and where he got so much money, nearly $10,000 in U.S. dollars.

His story did not make sense, so

Carlson

I checked his wallet and personal effects for a Baath Party card (nothing) then we went out to search his house and business and still nothing out of the ordinary. We detained him for having more than $1,200 in cash and arrested him for having a weapon in his vehicle.

I got an old Iraqi police uniform from an Iraqi policeman I know named Mustafa.

I have had a cold for two days now, and it gives me achy joints. I am sweating it out in this heat, but actually running on 800 mg of Motrin. It is hard to concentrate when you are sick. The temp outside is 110 degrees. I literally drip sweat just sitting in my chair writing to you. At night when the temp is a moderate 100 degrees, I sleep with a towel so that sweat does not burn my eyes.

I got a new team leader assigned to me today who is 49 years old. I gave SGT Bates two new people so he could send one female soldier to A team and the other to 3rd squad, which in turn, third squad gave my A team their C team gunner. Today I

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Chow down for charity: You wouldn't think that Tom Ball and I could see eye-to-eye on much. For one, Tom, who serves on the Downtown Sanford Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA), is about six or seven inches taller than I am. For another, he's an Auburn graduate, while I got my degree at the University of Alabama. However during Wednesday's CRA meeting, Tom pointed out a mutual interest.

by Dan Ping

"Mr. Ping and I love our groceries," he said.
Amen, brother. I especially like mine when it's all-you-can-eat and the money goes to charity. Such will be the case on Saturday, Sept. 27 at the Civic Center when the Sanford Lakeside Lions Club hosts its annual Spaghetti Dinner. Beginning at 2 p.m., Lions Club members will pile the plates high with pasta and meat sauce. The Spaghetti Dinner is a major fund raiser for the Club and this year's dinner is more important than ever. Some no-good son-of-a-guns broke into the Lions Club's storage locker and stole $650 worth of pots, pans and utensils. They also vandalized and destroyed the bingo cards the Club uses to raise additional money during the dinner.

Unfortunately for the Lions Club, the powers-that-be at City Hall decided to add insult to injury. In the past, the city has hung the Club's banner over 1st Street near the Park Avenue intersection to provide additional publicity. The city has agreed to do so again this year — for a cost of $120.

I understand the city must operate leaner than it has in the past. But if the city can afford to buy $12,000 worth of windows that it never intends to take possession of, can't it spring for $120 to help an organization dedicated to assisting people with vision problems? And, if the city does not waive the fee for the Lions Club, I hope every other organization that uses city services will be charged, regardless of the positive "economic impact" such a group might have downtown.

As it is, the Lions Club will have to sell 130 tickets just to break even on the pots and pans that were stolen. Of course the Club could take advantage of my and Mr. Ball's love of groceries and charge us for every pound of spaghetti we gobble down. It might not be pretty, but we dang sure would raise some money.

We have numbers: A few weeks ago, I chided Bill Kirchhoff in this column for failing to provide the CRA with details about how Sanford Main Street, of which he is president, spent taxpayer money. Members of the CRA board have requested the information for months with little cooperation from Main Street.

I'm happy to report that that information was turned over to the CRA this week. Good job Bill.

Price gouging? The sign coming into Sanford must say "Welcome to Suckerville," especially when it comes to hiring consultants.

Former city manager Tony VanDerworp loved consultants more than a fat kid loves cake. During one memorable presentation, a consultant prefaced his dog-and-pony show with the comment, "I know the city doesn't have the money to do this project." No kidding, we spent it all on consultants.

Now comes Pete Sechler from Glatting Jackson, the engineering and design firm that has provided drawings for the Riverwalk and the planned renovations of 1st Street. It's not enough that Glatting Jackson has gorged itself on $1.1 million of taxpayer money in two years. Sechler asked the CRA for an additional $8,000 because his engineers drew an 8-inch pipe instead of a 10-inch pipe on the 1st Street project. Never mind that the first spade of dirt has yet been turned, so any changes are on paper, or in this case in the computer.

Come on Pete, stop nickel and diming the city. This is the computer age. Resizing the pipe is a matter of a few key strokes. You no longer have to use a T-square and mechanical pencil to redraw the entire plan like the old days.

And how 'bout making a donation to the Lions Club with all that money the city has paid you. I can only eat so much spaghetti.

It's a dog's life

Don't let waning days of summer get you down or dehydrated

"How hot was it?" The response is, "Well, I saw a dog chasing a cat, and it was so hot, they were both walking." Yes, not only we but our animals suffer from the heat. I don't care what the calendar says, these are still "Dog Days" for me.

Nick Pfeifaut

Actually, Dog Days run from July 3 until Aug. 11. They are traditionally the hottest days of the year in the Northern Hemisphere. They have been said to be recognized for several weeks longer than that from time to time so we can feel safe in writing about them during September.

Dog Days are (traditionally) supposed to be an evil time, "when the sea boiled, wine turned sour, dogs grew mad, and all creatures became languid" (whatever that is). It is supposed to cause mankind to have burning fevers, hysterics and frenzies. Another origin says Dog Days relates to Sirius, the Dog Star, which rose just before or about the same time as the sun. I don't know why but they say Sirius doesn't do that anymore. What happened to poor Sirius?

In ancient times, people used to sacrifice a brown dog at the beginning of Dog Days, to appease the rage of Sirius, believing the star was the cause of the hot and sultry weather.

These days, we probably wouldn't get rid of the family dog just to have it cooler in the summer, and Sirius doesn't rise in the morning anymore.

I heard it said recently (when the shuttle crash report came out), that no matter what goes wrong these days, people seem less concerned over why something happened, than they do about who caused it. We're always looking for someone to blame — a "scapegoat."

So, on whom do we blame the very hot weather of summer? Global warming, the Earth moving differently on its axis, ourselves for forgetting how hot it was last year, or if we really want a scapegoat, let's blame Dave Marsh.

It really doesn't matter. The thing is — drink PLENTY of water when you are forced to be outdoors, away from air conditioning. That's WATER, not sports drinks, beer, or other liquids. You can drink that stuff too, but concentrate on water to do the trick when you are overheated.

And if you feel woozy or unsteady, seek a cool place and rest up. Stop what you are doing. Whatever you are doing, it's not as important as keeping yourself alive.

If you are in some other circumstance, remember, being overheated also can cause a person to lose his or her temper, become erratic in behavior or driving, or suffer many other problems.

The Dog Days of Summer (according to the calendar) are supposed to be gone now. But that hot weather is still with us and temperatures are still getting close to the 90s. Take care. Have a drink of water — and be cautious about you feel.

Don't let the heat get you down — you may not be able to get back up.

Why GWB can't win

It could be argued now that President George W. Bush cannot be re-elected — not after screwing up most everything he touches.

If you doubt that, look at the record. The poor guy is a disaster. I'll just list the first 10 reasons

GWB looks like a lame duck — or a dead duck:

1. GWB misunderstood the limits of the super power he inherited, and over-reached around the world. He learned a bit about far places — Afghanistan, Iraq, Iran, Syria, North Korea — and then personally declared war on them, war on the cheap.

A classified report being prepared for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "Operation Iraqi Freedom Strategic Lessons Learned," obtained by Rowan Scarborough of The Washington Times, discusses the search for weapons of mass destruction and concludes: "WMD elimination and exploitation planning efforts did not occur early enough in the process ... Insufficient U.S. government assets existed to accomplish the mission."

2. In the process of going to war, GWB began mocking and pushing around old allies like a school yard bully. Then he was surprised when they — beginning with France, Germany and Russia — began pushing back.

3. Rushing in as fools are said to do, GWB has tied down the greatest military in the history of the world. Ours. Half our combat-ready army is looking for snipers and bombers in unruly countries that look as tribal as they were a century ago when the British failed as imperialists in the same sand and mountains.

4. GWB dished the United Nations (and, again, our allies) and now is coming back to ask everyone else to help clean up the mess he made.

5. "He" — we always overstate presidential power over the domestic economy — has "lost" 2 million jobs here at home as the stock market went south.

6. GWB is presiding over the economic decline of millions of American families — and not only the poor ones left behind long ago. Take a look at the new book "The Two-Income Trap" by Elizabeth Warren and Amelia Warren Tyagi, published by Basic Books. Comparing the early 1970s with the early 2000s, the authors report that a typical family with only the husband working earned $38,700 30 years ago, and after fixed expenses like shelter, food, transportation and taxes, had $17,834 to spend for tuitions and other incidentals. Now, with both husband and wife working (if they're lucky) and earning $67,800, the fixed expenses total $50,755 and $17,045 is left to pay for everything else. (That's all in constant dollars.)

7. GWB is a "big government" big spender, compared to, say, his predecessor, Bill Clinton. The Center for Public Service at The Brookings Institution, directed by Paul Light, has just issued a report indicating that the number of federal employees and contractors is increasing for the first time since the 1980s, led by a 43 percent increase in employees of defense contractors feeding on federal contracts.

8. GWB is running a "borrow as you go" government, exploding the national debt by hundreds and hundreds of billions of dollars compared to Clinton-era numbers. Given the choice of "tax and spend" or "borrow and spend," he has chosen to pass the bill on to new generations.

9. GWB's environmental record is comic, confirmed when Jon Stewart of "The Daily Show" showed him walking through a national park filled with "future two-by-fours."

10. GWB lies a lot. At least, these are the things that Democratic candidates for president should be saying. The one coming closest is Howard Dean, he of thin credentials and not much to lose, and that has made him the Democratic front-runner at this moment.

That shows Democrats are not totally clueless, but this moment is not yet election time. Many Democrats, and some Republicans, too, might agree that Bush has not been a very successful chief executive or commander-in-chief, but is he more impressive and more trustworthy than whoever the Democrats finally chose as his opponent? After all, assuming the economy begins to improve and there are more jobs out there, the president may well look a lot better than he does at the end of this summer of our discontent.

Giving credit where credit isn't needed

Pvt. Jessica Lynch fought fiercely and shot several enemy soldiers after Iraqi forces ambushed the Army's 507th Ordnance Maintenance Company, firing her weapon until she ran out of ammunition," The Washington Post breathlessly reported.

Citing accounts by "U.S. officials" the Post wrote that the 19-year-old supply clerk "continued firing at the Iraqis even after she sustained multiple gunshot wounds and watched several other soldiers in her unit die around her in fighting March 23.

"She was fighting to the death. She did not want to be taken alive." According to The Post the same official said Lynch was also stabbed when Iraqi forces closed in on her position," and added that initial intelligence reports even indicated that she had been stabbed to death.

The whole story, the Post later admitted, was an outright lie, apparently concocted by some Pentagon flacks to help recruit female recruits into the armed services, and by militant feminists determined to abolish the rules forbidding the use of women in combat.

Pvt. Lynch was crushed when her vehicle turned over and fell on her, breaking numerous bones and causing serious internal injuries. Moreover, it is reported that she was probably unconscious during the entire firefight, and was neither shot nor stabbed.

Despite the fact that Jessica had done nothing heroic she has now been awarded a Bronze Star medal, the fourth highest decoration for valor in combat. And she's signed a million dollar book deal.

For Mrs. Arlene Walters those unearned honors are a direct slap in the face for the mother of the soldier who actually did what Lynch was said to have done, and died doing it.

According to his fellow soldiers, her son, Sgt. Donald Walters was killed after mounting a lone stand against the Iraqis. Yet few, if any, of the Americans watching Private Lynch's homecoming have even heard her son's name. "The military tell us that everyone who was in her unit was a hero," Mrs. Walters said. "In fact they have singled out Jessica Lynch as the hero, and they are not giving the recognition to my son that he deserves.

"The fighter that they thought was Jessica Lynch was Donald," Mrs. Walters told Australia's The Age. "When he was found he had two stab wounds in the abdomen, and he'd been shot once in the right leg and twice in the back. And he'd emptied his rounds of ammunition. Just like they said Jessica had done at first."

Jessica Lynch's million dollar book deal is an outrage. The whole story was concocted by some publicist in the very beginning and it turned out to be utterly untrue. Then on top of that they give her the Bronze Star for doing what? She did nothing.

Is this fair to other females in the military? For the Pentagon to use this hyped up fictional account to try to recruit more females into the armed services was just plain outrageous.

If she was any kind of soldier at all she'd take that money and put it into a fund to take care of the loved ones of her fellow soldiers who died in that ambush.

She should have turned down that medal — she did nothing to earn it and it is an insult to every member of the armed forces who was awarded that medal for heroism in combat.

I can't avoid thinking about how Ronald Reagan, my father turned down a promotion to major before he left the service in WW II. He said the promotion should go to men who were serving overseas, which he could not because without his glasses he was legally blind — the thought of him in combat horrified the family — we didn't know who he'd end up shooting at.

My dad knew he wasn't worthy of that promotion and he left the army as a captain. Jessica Lynch is a fine young American who has suffered horribly and deserves our sympathy for what she has endured and will endure as she goes through the painful process of rehabilitation from her injuries. But Jessica Lynch knows she did not deserve that medal, and she should have done the honorable thing and turned it down, along with that million dollar book deal.

Mike Reagan, the eldest son of President Ronald Reagan, is heard on more than 200 talk radio stations nationally as part of the Premiere Radio Network. Comments to merogun@hotmail.com for Mike.

WHEN NORTH KOREA THINKS ABOUT THE U.S. WHEN THE U.S. THINKS ABOUT NORTH KOREA

President's economic policy is working according to plan

If you are a middle-aged software designer still looking for work a year after a layoff, or a former Enron manager now selling shoes in a department store, or a seamstress laid off when a textile mill shut down, you might think President Bush's program for economic recovery isn't working. You'd be wrong.

The president's economy policy is working just as he planned it — for the well-to-do. The stock market is bouncing back, sales of Rolexes and Range Rovers are humming right along, and compensation for CEOs is still in the stratosphere. Among the president's friends, there is little anxiety about the kids' trust funds. (Notice how well Halliburton has been doing since the invasion of Iraq?)

Bush's multibillion-dollar tax cuts largely benefited the wealthy while doing little to produce jobs for average workers. Conservatives fiercely defended the tax cuts as redress to rich capitalists who paid most of the taxes and who would create jobs if given appropriate incentives. They neglected to mention that many of those jobs would be created in other countries.

So far, the United States has lost 2.4 million jobs during Bush's tenure, threatening him with the worst job loss record since Herbert Hoover. The recession may have ended two years ago, but the economic pain continues for many working families. While economists (most of whom have not yet lost their jobs) continue to predict that jobs growth is right around the corner, hundreds of thousands of unemployed workers are so discouraged that they have given up even looking for a job. Others struggle along with part-time work that doesn't meet the obligations of full-time bills.

While presidents have traditionally taken the blame for economic doldrums, the vast changes affecting the U.S. economy are largely beyond the control of the White House. It is Bush's bad luck to preside over an economy undergoing a tectonic shift, as globalization gives capitalists the incentive to look for low-wage workers from Mexico to India. No president would be able to stop that shift any more than politicians could have stopped the West from moving from an agricultural economy to an industrial one 250 or so years ago.

The problem with Bush's policy is that he doesn't even seem to understand the overarching forces creating economic dislocation or the frustration and fear those forces produce in average working families. Parents worry about what happens if they lose their health insurance. Or whether they can afford to send their children to college. Or how they'll pay the rent when their unemployment benefits expire.

If Bush understood these frustrations, he would not have squandered the budget surplus on tax cuts for the wealthy but would have preserved the funds to pay for programs that might help to tide over workers who cannot find jobs. A creative economic policy would have anticipated the continued flow of jobs to lower-cost countries (the trend started years ago, after all) and looked for ways to help Americans adjust. For example, Americans need not just (only?) longer-term unemployment payments but also low-cost or free health care if they find jobs that don't provide health care coverage.

Or how about a huge federal jobs program? The war on terror has provided an abundance of opportunity for economic expansion — not just in contracts for Halliburton and Bechtel abroad but also in the myriad homeland security tasks that still go undone. Ports have scant security; sky marshals are limited; bridges and nuclear sites are vulnerable. More "first responders" — police, fire fighters, paramedics — are needed in cities throughout the country, especially since many of them have been called up for military duty. Bush might have set aside billions of dollars to hire Americans for those jobs.

But with a budget deficit now approaching a half-trillion dollars — and the occupation of Iraq costing a billion a week — there is no money left. And unless you sell luxury goods to the rich, no relief in sight.

 Junior Achievement of Central Florida is seeking business people in Seminole County to serve as classroom mentors for students in elementary, middle and high schools. Last year, community volunteers served as classroom consultants for nearly 4,000 classes, reaching 94,000 students. Volunteers serve as positive role models, working with teachers to help students understand economic fundamentals and career opportunities, as well as to share their experiences with students to show them what it takes to be successful. Training is held monthly at the Junior Achievement Volunteer Resources at 407-898-2121, ext. 35.

Benefit a success
 The Seminole County Sheriff's Office, along with Oviedo High School and the city of Oviedo Parks and Recreation Department, raised more than $1,500 Thursday in a benefit basketball challenge. ## Residents should prepare for possible flooding

This weekend the possibility of additional rain water moving into our area is prominent. Therefore, many residents should prepare for the worse. Flooding is one of many things that citizens should be concerned with, due to the amount of rain that has already spread throughout Central Florida. In Seminole County, emergency workers will continue monitoring the flood prone areas. Below are a few safety tips that can be given to residents or persons that travel near these areas.

- If at home:
- Monitor NOAA weather radio or battery-operated radio or television to get the latest emergency information.
  - In a highly flood-prone area, keep materials on hand like sandbags, plywood, plastic sheeting, garbage bags, lumber and shovels.
  - Get your emergency 72-hour kit ready.
  - Verify evacuation plan and if told to leave, do so immediately.
- If outdoors:
- Climb to high ground and stay there.
  - Avoid walking through any

- If in a vehicle:
- If you come to a flooded area, turn around and go another way. If your car stalls, abandon it immediately and climb to higher ground. Many deaths have resulted from attempts to move stalled cars.
  - Never drive in roadways where water is moving over the road.

to object, or protest, to the way the bidding process was proceeding and they never did that."

One of the lower bidders in both cities, according to officials, Florida Recycling actually reduced their existing contracted rate by about 25 percent.

"Certainly what was interesting, as with the Longwood situation, was we didn't necessarily didn't get a better rate with Republic, but Florida Recycling's rate that they bid was much lower than their existing rate," Williford said.

The existing contract rate for both cities is similar, but slightly higher, to rates of the new waste removal companies, Waste Pro and Republic. The difference, in Oviedo for example, is less than $1 to the customer, Williford said.

However, in the RFP bidding process, companies are asked by a municipality to meet several determined criteria. Judging with a weighted scale, cost of the bid is a fraction of the decision. Vendors vying for the trash collecting contract were weighed by officials on a variety of characteristics, including experience, project understanding and capabilities.

Despite the lower cost bids from Florida Recycling, there's that the old saying you get what you pay for, Taylor said.

"One, in my opinion, I don't know how any company could provide good services for $9," he said. "The city and residents have had a long history of being dissatisfied with Florida Recycling."

Complaints filed by Longwood residents include missed garbage service and throwing trash cans and lids haphazardly on the street and customers' property.

"Toward the end there — I can't believe they were doing this — they got worse before this thing was in the bidding process," Taylor added. "I mean there was garbage and outdoor yard waste that was sitting out on my street for days that wasn't picked up."

Longwood and Oviedo residents are not the only ones that have complained about Florida Recycling's service. According to figures compiled by the Seminole County Solid Waste department, more than 4,000 complaints have been filed against Florida Recycling by residents of unincorporated Seminole in the past three years.

Seminole County has been doing business with Florida Recycling since about January 2000. They serve about 22,000 Seminole residents in the center area of the county, while Republic and Waste Management collect trash for a combined 37,000 residents in the eastern and western portions of the county.

The county contract with Florida Recycling expires in December 2004 and Seminole officials have the option to renew the contract or try a competitive bidding process.

"We've had complaints about Florida Recycling," said David Gregory, Seminole County Solid Waste manager.

"We do seem to get more complaints historically from Florida Recycling than the other haulers," he added.

In the last three years, Florida Recycling has 1,000 more complaints filed through the county than Republic and Waste Management combined.

However, another Seminole County municipality has had good reviews of Florida Recycling's service. Sanford's contract with Florida Recycling is up for renewal at the start of the year, and it appears the city will extend the contract.

According to Sanford officials, city staff is in the process of reworking the existing contract to clarify some areas, and as long as the commission and Florida Recycling are amicable to the new provisions, it appears the contract will be renewed.

room for appeal. There has to be a right to appeal.

"The windows are literally falling apart," he added. "Not because we haven't maintained them, there just isn't anything we can do to help this."

After Virgil changed his application to read wooden windows, rather than aluminum, in order for it to be processed, the HPB voted down the idea of aluminum windows 5-2.

"I think HPB, having to follow the S Code, made the right decision," said Commissioner Randy Jones. "They did a good job with it."

"The problem is that we have an instance that didn't get thought of on the front end," he added. "There is no way to predict all of the what ifs. I don't think anyone thought that tweaking the S Code would happen this soon. But, if it needs to happen this soon, then it will. It's never perfect, there will always be the 'what if' instances that we have to deal with and this is probably one of those instances."

The city attorney will brief commissioners regarding the legality of the Schedule 5 and whether it would need to be amended regarding this issue during Monday's commission meeting.

"I firmly believe in keeping in style with the building and the character of the ones surrounding it," said Jones. "We have a building owner who is actually spending money on his building vs. some of the others, it seems stupid to try and significantly deter what he is trying to do."

Virgil believes the Schedule 5 was not intended to bring the aluminum rules to non-contributing commercial buildings, especially when the surround buildings have the windows he would like to install.

The other factor Virgil believes will help sway the city attorney and commissioners his way is that although the building was constructed in 1901, it was significantly remodeled in the 1950s. Wooden windows were taken out in the 50s and replaced with aluminum, making the windows an unalterable change.

"At that point [after the remodeling] the building wasn't built in 1901, but in the 1950s," he said.

Scott R. Singelsen, HPB chairman, and Antonia Geril, city liaison to the HPB, did not return phone calls on this matter.

According to Hurley, Singelsen has resigned as the chairman and did not vote on this matter.

the microwave. To celebrate her 100th birthday on Aug. 28, Wright's five children and their families gathered for a quiet get together. It was a time to celebrate and help her blow out the 100 candles atop her birthday cake.

Whether it was Wright's birthday wish as she blew out her candles is unknown, but her family did help her fulfill a lifelong dream on her birthday. For years, Wright told her family, especially her first grandchild, Kathi E. Heagerty, she planned to reach the 100 year milestone so she would have the opportunity to be featured by Willard Scott of the "Today Show" on NBC. On her birthday, the family sent her photograph to Scott and are eagerly waiting to see if he airs it.

Born in Raleigh, N.C., in 1903, Wright moved to Sanford with her parents, Maggie B. (who lived to be 101 years old) and Arthur D. Zachary, from Raleigh via Tallahassee in 1913. When the family decided to make Sanford their permanent home, Arthur built a home at 812 Magnolia Ave., in Sanford. The family became a prominent addition to Sanford society when they opened Zachary Veneer Lumber Co.

Wright was educated in Seminole County, graduating in 1922 from Sanford High School. She continued her education at Sullins College in Bristol, Va., and later graduated with honors from Duke University in Durham, N.C., in 1928. She was a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

After college, Wright began teaching English at Sanford High School. In 1947, she switched gears and started teaching elementary school at Sanford Grammar School, where she later became the librarian before retiring in 1973.

While in Sanford, Wright met and married her husband, the late James A. Wright. The couple raised five children in Sanford — Mary Ann Wright, Jim Wright, Roy Wright, Peggy Heagerty and Joan Ludwig. The couple was happily married until his death during a robbery at their home in the 1970s.

"She was the perfect mom when I was growing up," said Ludwig, who has fond memories of standing with her mother in the kitchen as she made "the most delicious" fudge. "She was always there for all of us. That wasn't always easy because there was a lot to do and take care of. But, she always took care of us, guiding us in the right direction."

Wright attributes her long life to "eating right." She eats three square meals a day full of fruits and vegetables. However, according to her family, her favorite meal is fried chicken, rice and white chicken gravy.

"She loved to cook and made the best fried chicken and biscuits," said Roy Wright.

Wright, who lives on her own with the help of a caregiver, also believes that surrounding herself with younger generations, including her children, her 12 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren helps keep her active and young.

In her lifetime, Wright has clocked more than 3,000 hours as a Pink Lady volunteer at Central Florida Regional Hospital. She also volunteered at Seminole High School until she reached her early 90s.

"She has such a kind-hearted spirit and was always doing for others with love and understanding," said Mary Ann Wright.

Heagerty agrees, saying, "Mama was constantly saying, 'Be kind to others — always treating others as you would like to be treated.'" went out with 2A and 2B so my new team leader could get the hang of things and you know hanging around me will usually draw some excitement.

Wright was also a charter member of the Dependables at First United Methodist Church in Sanford, where she has been a member since 1915.

We stopped off at our assigned police station (Al Thoriva Police Station) and was told about some Iraqi police investigating a possible stolen car when about 8 Iraqi males threatened to kill them with AK47's, grenades, and RPG's if they came back. So we decided to go back. To tell you the truth, I expected to get into a gun battle, so I called in about three vehicles of IPF, my two trucks, a humvee from the 307th MPs and my C team.

We went out to the house. I took my C-team down the highway behind the house and had to cross a ditch. The IPF and the other teams moved in from the front and sides. It was a spur of the moment tactic that I hastily created. For the lack of anything else, I called it my "sandwich tactic."

We moved in and put two guys on the ground and found another guy that we also flexicuffed and put him on the ground. The rest were women and children. We searched for other people and weapons but found none. One of the women threatened the Iraqi police until I stepped in.

There were some very scared kids, one was about my own boys' age and was extremely terrified, and was trying to wave through his crying and fear to show he wanted to be friendly. The poor little fellow was terrified. I shook his hand and gave him "five" and showed him and his mom a picture of my little boys. He calmed down and we left with our prisoners. It turned out they were making empty threats with weapons, for which they went to jail. I told one of them that with U.S. soldiers getting killed everyday, I would take no chances at not killing him if he threatened me. Anyway that was today's experience.

I finally got myself a set of those playing cards that you keep hearing about on the news that show the most wanted Iraqis. It cost me $8 for a pack of those "most wanted" playing cards.

Next issue: Still no clean clothes.

Unknown squash does well in Fla.

The balsam apple, balsam pear and Chinese cucumber belong to the genus Momordica, a little known genus of the squash family.

Momordica is a Latin word that means "to bite" and refers to the look of the uneven seeds. They all do well under Florida conditions and can be grown as warm weather vegetables. They are very popular in oriental countries such as Malaysia, Vietnam and China.

The balsam apple is found through Florida as a weed in hammocks, disturbed sites, turfs, ornamental landscapes, yards and citrus groves. It is a very aggressive weed-vine and will climb over fences, trees and plants. Birds usually distribute the seed of this plant in the wild.

The plant: As most cucurbits, the plant is an annual running vine. The leaves are alternate and deeply notched into five to seven lobes. The lobes of the blades are round to a point and usually have teeth on the margins. The flowers are yellow and occur singly on stalks bearing a modified leaf near the middle.

The fruit of the balsam apple is about 3 inches long, egg shaped, pointed, bumpy, ribbed and are golden yellow to bright orange when ripe. At maturity the fruit breaks, bursting open along the three valves. The orange pulp contains the seeds that are covered with a bright red sugary tissue. The seeds are elliptic, flat and about a half-inch long.

The balsam pear, also called bitter melon, is 4 to 6 inches long, oblong, pointed with warty furrows extending lengthwise. When fully ripe, it splits into three sections. Both balsam apple and balsam pear immature fruits are boiled as a vegetable.

The Chinese cucumber fruit looks like a cucumber, 6 to 8 inches long, dark to yellowish green, and with a very bumpy outside surface. The hollow center contains several watermelon-like seeds that are irregularly etched and covered with a scarlet pulp. The fleshy portion of the fruit is edible and is mainly cooked in soups.

Toxicity: The ripe fruit and seeds of balsam apple are toxic and can cause severe diarrhea and vomiting. They have also been used to induce abortion.

The foliage and the outer coat and seeds cause diarrhea and vomiting if eaten. Recovery from poisoning can be lengthy. This plant contains alkaloids and other substances that make it dangerous for human consumption.

Use: All parts of the plant are used in folk medicine. The rind is sometimes dried and used in medicinal preparations. The unripe fruits are boiled and eaten in the orient. Cooked leaves, when drained of the bitter liquid, are said to be edible. Aril covering the seeds is edible. Because of their vining habit of growth they are sometimes used as ornamental vines to cover fences, porches and arbors.

Culture: Balsam apple can be grown in home gardens using the same practices used to produce cucumbers. Provide enough space or a trellis for the vines as they can grow more than 10 feet long. They should be planted in full sun, in a loose, rich and well-drained soil. Water the plant regularly during the summer to avoid wilting of the vines and flowers. As with other cucurbits, plant the seeds

Scouting for Seminole lands

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

Three local Girl Scouts will conduct a survey for the Seminole County Natural Lands Program as part of a service project for the community.

The purpose of the survey is to gain an overall understanding of the knowledge that Seminole County residents have of the Natural Lands Program and its offerings. This, in turn, will demonstrate what aspects of the program the department leads should focus on for educational purposes.

The Girl Scouts will correlate human use with biological data during the survey, looking at the public's knowledge of such topics as prescribed burning, the overall Natural Lands Program, the county's conservation areas, the program's Web site and the Natural Lands Center.

"It's something I can help out with in my community," said Renee Hansford of Winter Springs High School. "The county is losing a lot to development. I've been here almost 10 years and when I first got here it was almost all forest, now, all of sudden, there are houses everywhere. We want people to get involved and tell them more about their environment, which is where the survey comes in."

"You can make a difference even if it isn't right away," she added. "If you do something you may not see the results right away, but it will leave an impact just the same."

The survey, which will service Geneva, Econ River, Chuluota, Lake Jesup and Lake Proctor wilderness areas, will allow county employees to better focus their attention on public outreach.

"Part of our mission is to promote education and service within the county, so this is a perfect match for the Girl Scouts and the county," said Amy Raub of the Seminole County Natural Lands Program.

The survey will include person-to-person interviews at trailheads, a Web-based questionnaire and a possible mail out. According to Raub, it is expected to be complete sometime in November.

"I love the community and the environment and I want to help both in any way I can," said Pjari McCloud of West Orange High School.

To prepare for the survey the students — 16-year-old Lindsey Phelps, 14-year-old McCloud and 15-year-old Hansford — attended the "2003 Earth Summit, Girls for Planet Earth — Promoting Women and Science," in New York last month.

At the conference the teenagers were able to meet with women in the field of science, learn about endangered wildlife, explore the principal concepts of conservation and participate in activities that facilitated teamwork. They also learned to think outside the box, became proficient at public speaking, and had the opportunity to tour the Bronx Zoo and the New York Aquarium.

"It's important to give young girls an opportunity to meet with professional women in the scientific community," said Raub, who chaperoned the girls during the trip. "It helps promote self-esteem and foster a sense of accomplishment in their community."

"Not only did the girls get to participate in the conference, but they learned what their role in the environment can," she added. "Then, they can come back home and apply what they learned in their community."

The cost of the trip and the survey are being offset by funds the county received through the Wildlife Conservation Society. The students beat out 55 other organizations to become one of 12 grant recipients to receive a portion of the $500,000 grant.

"The girls and the county program had the chance to be nationally recognized during this conference," said Raub. "In addition, the project will do a lot for us and provide much needed information."

Wilson couple are 'golden'

Mr. James W. and Mrs. Virginia W. Wilson, former Sanfordites, renewed their wedding vows before more than 250 family and friends, celebrating 50 years of marital bliss, continued love and happiness.

The Wilsons were united in holy matrimony Aug. 12, 1953, with the Rev. A.C. Chander officiating at the ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's family, the Wrights at Lake Monroe.

The golden anniversary ceremony was held Saturday, Aug. 9, at the radisson Plaza in downtown Orlando. Rev. Allen Wiggins and Rev. Barry Henson officiated at the religious ceremony.

The couple were eloquently attired as the bride chose a formal length gold silk suit/dress with gold accessories, and the groom wore a black tuxedo with gold accessories.

Attending the couple were Mr. Royce and Mrs. Eddy K. Walden, longtime friends.

Jamie "Vina" Wilson Jones, daughter of the honorees presided at the reception, with daughter Jamie "Jam" Wilson extending the official tributes to their parents. A poetic tribute was by Chenise Williams, a former student of the honorees.

Proclamations and words of congratulation on their anniversary were extended and read from President George W. Bush and First Lady Laura Bush, Congressman Alcee L. Hastings, Congresswoman Corrine Brown, Rep. Bruce Antone, Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer, Orange County Chairman Richard Crotty and Orange County Schools Superintendent Ronald Blocker.

During the delicious luncheon, the guests were treated to photographs of the couple's 1953 wedding. Entertainment music was provided by the Rhythm Chiefs Ensemble and the blessing of the lunch was given by Rev. Ralph Aker.

Memories of the Wilsons were shared by poet Valada Flewellyn, and reflections of them were given by Katherine Alexander, Royce Walden, the Watsons and Mary Lynn Williams.

Only in Geneva; the lost three little pigs

I'll be brief ... with words this week in order to save room for the photos that really tell the story. Earlier this year, Geneva residents Mal and Mary Jo Martin contacted me for items that would be considered in the category of "Only in Geneva..." You know, like how we still have a May Pole dance each year, or that our streets have names like "Four-Wheel Drive" and so forth.

Little did the Martins know at the time that in a few months they would live their very own "Only in Geneva..." story.

Mary Jo tells it like this: "While working in the yard, I spotted a traffic jam on Lake Harney Road (we all know that three cars make a jam in Geneva). In front of our open gate was an animal control officer trying to round up three pigs. She asked if our yard was totally fenced in and when I said yes, she herded the "three middle-sized pigs" into our yard, using the shaking sound of dog cookies in a plastic box as bait. While we waited for backup to come to help, the officer told me she was driving down the road and was surprised to see three pigs strolling down the road."

"The three pigs were cute, about 6 months old (which looked like full grown pigs to me), and ready to eat anything and everything. Just as they were eating the last of the dog cookies and heading for the allemande blossoms, my husband came home and offered a bag of duck corn, which they relished and seemed to be very content for a while. Meanwhile I called everyone we could think of that might know who has pigs in the area — to no avail.

"When help arrived, it took two officers and a husband to carry and "wheelbarrow" (hold hind legs and steer while the pig walks on their front legs) the squealing cuties out the gate and to the truck. They were taken to a farm until the owners could be found ... Only in Geneva."

The rest of the "tail" goes something like this: After Animal Control Officers Jessica Wolff and Angel Medina escorted the three little pigs back to the shelter, time passed with no one coming forward to claim them. As pigs luck would have it (pigs are good luck, you know), a woman in Osteen operates a pig rescue farm where the three little Geneva porkers will live out the remainder of their days.

P.S. ... I commented to the Martins that I thought a more appropriate name would be "squealbarrowing" instead of "wheelbarrowing." Can't you just hear them?

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, writing to Stetson's Corner c/o The Seminole Herald, via e-mail at darlas@mpinet.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-323-9408.

Family guests attending were their daughters from Houston, Texas. Others were from Sanford and Orlando.

Congratulations on your Golden Anniversary James "Chief" and "Ginny" Wilson.

Former Sanfordites, Mr. James W. and Mrs. Virginia W. Wilson, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last month.

directly in beds when the danger of frost is over, treat them as annuals. Seeds should be planted about twice their diameter deep.

After seeds have germinated, start feeding the seedlings weekly with a water-soluble fertilizer at half strength; use a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10. After plants are about a month old you can use a granular fertilizer, about 1/2 cup per hill, to keep the plants growing vigorously.

Pests and diseases: Little is known of the pests and diseases that can affect balsam apple. It must be assumed that the same insects and diseases that affect other cucurbits will also affect this plant.

Various leaf-spot diseases, mosaic virus, downy mildew, and powdery mildew have been reported on this crop. Nematodes are probably one of the problems that can affect balsam apple. Do not use any pesticide until insects or diseases appear.

Balsam apple growing wild in nature does not seem to be affected by either insect or diseases.

The balsam apple is found through Florida as a weed in hammocks, disturbed sites, turfs, ornamental landscapes, yards and citrus groves.

All Ferrer is Seminole County Urban Horticulturist. Inquiries may be directed to him at the Cooperative Extension service, 250 W. County Home Road, Sanford, FL 32773 or phone 988-6666. All Seminole County Cooperative Extension services are open to all regardless of race, color, sex, handicap or national origin.

ASA Supers back for sixth Sanford visit

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

Jeff Wallace (shown batting) was named the MVP after leading Long Haul/Taylor Brothers/Bham Corp./TPS to its second straight ASA Super Open World Championship. While Long Haul is no longer in existence, Wallace will be back in Sanford with Hague/Reemondo/Taylor/Sunbelt/Miken.

SANFORD — There will be an air of excitement around Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium this week when the Amateur Softball Association hits town for the 2003 ASA/USA Men's Super Slow Pitch Softball National Championships.

Seven of the top teams in the country, including the current No. 1 and No. 2 ranked teams in the nation, will take to the Rinker-Stenstrom Field turf starting Thursday for the sixth edition of the event in Sanford.

Local fans mark the date of the tournament on their 'must see' schedules as the amazing power displays that these athletes put on must be seen to be believed.

The tournament is also perfect for the whole family as the event creates a great atmosphere; there is good, mostly friendly, competition which brings a lot of ooohs and aahs from adults and children alike; the stadium has covered seating to protect fans from the weather; and there is plenty of 'stadium food' available.

Fans have no excuse for not coming out to the tournament on opening day as all of the activities that day will be free of charge.

The action will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the 2nd Annual "Woody and Pat Ball Home Run Derby."

The always exciting home run derby will be followed by the Opening Ceremonies at 7:30 p.m.

In addition to the usual speeches and introductions, there will be also be a special appearance by the Altamonte Patriots, the recently crowned 16-and-Under Babe Ruth Softball World Championship team.

Of special interest to local fans will be the chance to honor Seminole High School's own Ashley Tabor and Lake Mary High School's Andrea Wain, Danielle Valentino and Lauren Bennett, the daughter of Sanford Recreation Department Supervisor Evelyn Bennett.

Following the opening ceremonies, the first game will be played around 8 p.m. between #2 nationally-ranked Hague/Reemondo/Taylor/Sunbelt/Miken, the runner-up in the 2002

Lyman upsets Lake Mary

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Mother Nature, and Tropical Storm Henri specifically, gave Central Florida a break Friday night.

And is the Lyman High School football team ever grateful it did.

Kyle Harris' two-yard plunge with 4:32 left was the deciding touchdown and two big defensive stands by the Greyhounds kept the hosts at bay as visiting Lyman upset state-ranked Lake Mary, 15-14, in a Seminole Athletic Conference opener at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

As happens in most opening games of the season, if not most games in general, the team that made the least mistakes won.

With a large crowd dressed for the worst, no rain fell during the game as the Greyhounds, who were expected to be in a rebuilding mode this season, survived numerous penalties to pull off one of the biggest surprises in SAC history.

The veteran Rams, with 17 starters returning, looked like the rebuilding team as they were flagged several times, mostly for false starts on its offensive. See Upset, Page 4B

By Tony DeSormier
Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO — Tropical storm Henri forced the cancellation of Oviedo High School's varsity football season opener.

The Lions were scheduled to play Lakewood Ranch from Bradenton.

According to OHS athletic director Jay Getty, all travel and extracurricular activities were canceled for Manatee County schools because of the threat posed by TS Henri.

No make-up date was announced. Getty said that most likely the two teams will split the gate from next year's game when the Lions are scheduled to play at Lakewood Ranch.

Oviedo is scheduled to play next week against Seminole Athletic Conference foe Lake Howell, now coached by former OHS teacher and coach Ed Norton.

Lakewood Ranch, a member of 5A-District 11, will open its season at Bradenton-Bayshore.

In other games from Friday night, Seminole looks like it has bounced back nicely from last season's 1-9 debacle, rolling over Pine Ridge, 38-6, in Deltona.

Lake Brantley turned the ball over five times, including muffing a punt late in the game with the score tied at 14-14, setting up host Apopka for the winning score as the Blue Darters, which scored 14 quick points but were shut down by the Patriots defense the rest of the game, held off the visitors, 21-14.

Lake Brantley actually outgained Apopka in both total yards and rushing yardage, but the Blue Darters made less mistakes and claimed the victory.

Winter Springs made a nice comeback against powerful Winter Park, but an incomplete pass on fourth down late in the game with the Bears driving, allowed the Wildcats to hang on for a 28-21 victory at Showalter Field.

University got two running touchdowns and a passing TD from highly-

Snookin' at night

Special to the Herald

The fever has set in for the night. That fever gets the blood boiling and only one way to find a cure is to do a little snookin' at night.

As we approach the next full moon, you can expect to find many snook lurking around docks, rocks and bridges. What an awesome experience it is to go snookin' at night. The beauty of the full moon and stars is a wonderful sight. The sounds of snook crashing a top water bait or soft jerk bait is a blood boiling experience. One can expect the drag to scream when that big snook decides to eat.

Make sure you rig your equipment properly so you won't be disappointed. Spooling up with Power Pro line can increase your chances due to its strength. When fishing around docks and other structure you need to upgrade your tackle. A 40 pound leader is important, as well as a strong knot.

If you can find a dock with some lights it will increase your chance of hooking up. A strong current can also be a plus. Whether you are plugging, jerking or jigging it can all be rewarding.

Port Canaveral is a great place to try snookin' at night. You must be properly equipped on your boat. Expect to be stopped by the security. Once they check you out you should be okay.

I like to work lighted areas around the docks. Large top water baits or soft jerk baits can be very deadly for snook. I love to toss a large Chug Bug or Top Dog at night. A Rip Tide Flats Chub or 6 inch Jerk Worm can be very productive. Tossing a jig can also be very productive. You can also use live bait such as shrimp or mullet. Whatever you choose to fish it will be a ton of fun. Make sure you have a good flashlight in case you break off. Break offs are very likely, so take an extra rod or three. (Snook must be between 26 and 34 inches, I had the numbers reversed last week).

I will be giving a free fishing seminar at Boater's World in Altamonte Springs tomorrow (Monday, September 8) at 6:30 p.m.

Tight lines and good fishing. Captain David Rogers, AAA Hawgwild Saltwater Charters, 407-405-0819, www.aahawgwildcharters.com

Distant Replay

Nov. 27, 1971

Coming into the 1971 Miami-Florida game, Florida's John Reeves needed 345 yards to break Jim Plunkett's record for NCAA career passing yards. With Florida leading 45-8 with 80 seconds left, Reeves was 14 yards short of the record. To get the ball back, Florida defenders dropped to the ground (except QB John Clifford), allowing a quick score by Miami. A botched Miami on-side kick later, Florida recovered the ball and Reeves broke the record. Reeves was carried off the field as the Gators celebrated in the Orange Bowl by jumping into the pool used by the Dolphins' mascot.

The Orange Bowl is week

GAME OF THE WEEK Florida at Miami

Orange Bowl showdown

After what Miami did to Florida last year in the Swamp, when the 'Canes dropped more than 500 yards of offense on the Gators in a 41-16 rout, you have to figure Florida is ready for redemption.

The Orange Bowl will be a tough place to find it, as the in-state rivals hook up in Miami for the first time since 1987 when Florida freshman Emmitt Smith's club lost 31-4 in the OB.

It will also be a reunion with old teammates for Florida transfer quarterback Brock Berlin, who now leads Miami's offense after sitting out last season.

Berlin's home debut should be a successful one if he hands the ball to running back Frank Gore and gets out of the way. If Berlin insists on forcing the action it will lead to turnovers, and Florida coach Ron Zook will find himself in the hunt for the national championship.

Florida at Miami

■ Record: Florida (1-0) at Miami (1-0). ■ Series: Miami leads 26-25. ■ Coach: Florida's Ron Zook (9-5); Miami's Larry Coker (25-1). ■ TV: CBS

Key for Florida: Run Run (Carthon) right at Miami, shooting gaps in the defensive line and negating the Hurricanes' team speed. With an inexperienced quarterback, the Gators need to protect the ball and milk the clock.

Key for Miami: Put pressure on Ingle Martin and make him win the game. Stack the box and dare Martin to throw into the teeth of a secondary that led the nation last season in pass defense.

The Rest of the Matchups

Oklahoma at Alabama

■ Record: Oklahoma (1-0) at Alabama (1-0). ■ Series: Tied 1-1-1. ■ Coach: Oklahoma's Bob Stoops 44-9; Alabama's Mike Shula 1-0. ■ TV: ESPN

Key for Oklahoma: Shut down Shaad (Williams). Take away the run and make Brodie Croyle rely on his legs and his arm. Assuming the Sooners can stuff Williams, they still have to watch for him on punt returns, where he racked up 74 yards and a touchdown in the Week 1 rout of South Florida.

Key for Alabama: Use some play-action passes to freeze Oklahoma's fast linebackers and allow Croyle to find Zach Fletcher and Triandis Luke to keep the drive alive.

Tulsa at Arkansas

■ Record: Tulsa (0-1) at Arkansas (0-0). ■ Series: Arkansas leads 50-16-3. ■ Coach: Tulsa's Steve Kragthorpe (0-0); Arkansas' Houston Nutt 75-45. ■ TV: None

Key for Tulsa: Start with some easy swing passes and allow Tulsa quarterback James Killian to get back some of the confidence he lost after throwing 14 incomplete passes in the opener.

Key for Arkansas: Run and hide behind 6-foot-5, 330-pound offensive tackle Shawn Andrews. Let Andrews lead the way against an anemic run defense.

Auburn at Georgia Tech

■ Record: Auburn (0-1) at Georgia Tech (0-1). ■ Series: Auburn leads 47-39-4. ■ Coach: Auburn's Tommy Tuberville 55-40; Georgia Tech's Chan Gailey 31-18. ■ TV: ABC

Key for Auburn: Whip the offensive line back into shape. This unit allowed six quarterback sacks and failed to open much of a hole in last week's lopsided loss to USC.

Key for Georgia Tech: Let freshman quarterback Reggie Ball use his athleticism and improvise a little more. Roll him out and get him outside the pocket to cut his field in half.

LSU at Arizona

■ Record: LSU (1-0) at Arizona (1-0). ■ Series: LSU leads 1-0. ■ Coach: LSU's Nick Saban 70-38-1; Arizona's John Mackovic 95-78-3. ■ TV: TBS

Key for LSU: Quiet the home crowd quickly with a deep strike from Matt Mauck to Michael Clayton. Ride this red-hot connection until it cools off.

Key for Arizona: Ring his Bell. Hit Wildcats tailback Mike Bell hard and let him know he's not playing Texas-El Paso.

Middle Tennessee at Georgia

■ Record: Middle Tennessee (0-1) at Georgia (1-0). ■ Series: First meeting. ■ Coach: Middle Tennessee's Andy McCollum 21-25; Georgia's Mark Richt 22-5. ■ TV: None

Key for Middle Tennessee: Keep feeding tailback Eugene Gross and hope you can mix in a few first downs and keep the Bulldogs' rebuilt offense off the field.

Key for Georgia: Guard against overconfidence, and don't get caught looking ahead to South Carolina. Play a lot of pitch-and-catch with Fred Gibson.

Virginia at South Carolina

■ Record: Virginia (1-0) at South Carolina (1-0). ■ Series: South Carolina leads 19-13-1. ■ Coach: Virginia's Al Groh 41-

52; South Carolina's Lou Holtz 239-120-7. ■ TV: Jefferson Pilot

Key for Virginia: Be more efficient. Lean on freshman QB Anthony Martinez, who replaces the injured Matt Schaub. Martinez will have to do better than his 6-for-15 performance against Duke in the season opener.

Key for South Carolina: Get Dondrick dialed in. Gamecock quarterback Dondrick Pinkins was either early, late or 10 yards too deep for his receivers. He needs find his rhythm early or it will turn into a long game.

Murray State at Kentucky

■ Record: Murray State (1-0) at Kentucky (0-1). ■ Series: First meeting. ■ Coach: Murray State's Joe Pannozzo 18-16; Kentucky's Rich Brooks (91-110-4). ■ TV: None

Key for Murray State: Stretch the field with deep threat Deandre Green (106 yds, TD), then take advantage of crossing routes to Andrew Nowacki.

Key for Kentucky: Find a way to stop the run. If the Wildcats look as soft against the run as they did in losing the Governor's Cup — allowing 234 yards rushing by Louisville — Murray State might start to think it can actually win the game.

Marshall at Tennessee

■ Record: Marshall (1-0) at Tennessee (1-0). ■ Series: First meeting. ■ Coach: Marshall's Bob Proest 81-13; Tennessee's Phillip Fulmer 104-25. ■ TV: ESPN2

Key for Marshall: Pack the box, slow the run and force the Volunteers receivers to make big plays. The Vols' passing game still has a lot to prove.

Key for Tennessee: Pressure Thundering Herd quarterback Sean Hill and watch him make mistakes. A road game and noisy crowd should be worth two interceptions and a forced fumble.

Ole Miss at Memphis

■ Record: Ole Miss (1-0) at Memphis (1-0). ■ Series: Ole Miss leads 41-8-2. ■ Coach: Ole Miss' David Cutcliffe 31-18; Memphis' Tommy West 44-50. ■ TV: ESPN2

Key for Ole Miss: Stop stalling out on drives and settling for Jonathan Nichols' field goals. The Rebels can do that by giving El Manning a little more time to let routes develop.

Key for Memphis: Use DeAngelo Williams to dink and dunk down the field. The pass-catching tailback could give Ole Miss fits.

Tennessee-Chattanooga at Vanderbilt

■ Record: Tennessee-Chattanooga (0-1) at Vanderbilt (0-1). ■ Series: Vanderbilt leads 17-1. ■ Coach: UTC's Rodney Allison 0-1; Vanderbilt's Bobby Johnson 62-47. ■ TV: None

Key for UTC: If the Mocs can keep it close, then their most experienced player, kicker Patrick Shumers, will have a shot to follow Ole Miss' winning game plan.

Key for Vanderbilt: Keep that offensive juggernaut rolling. The yards were there last week, and if they could have held onto the ball in the red zone, the points would have been there too.

2-MINUTE DRILL

ALABAMA Everyone knew it would be tough for Alabama to learn an entirely new offensive playbook in a short time under Mike Mundy, so you expected the Tide to lean on Blaine Williams and the run — but 28 carries? Williams was the Tide's offense against South Florida, accounting for 177 yards of total offense and three touchdowns on 32 plays. The passing game will sail as the season progresses, but until then, expect Alabama to pound the rock.

AUBURN The Tigers are a team whose success is predicated on the run. The problem is, it's tough to stick to the ground when you fall behind early. Auburn abandoned the run against the Trojans' dominant defensive line, finishing with a paltry 43 yards rushing. But Carnell Williams wasn't the first opposing back to fail to gain 100 yards against USC — it also happened to the Trojans' previous 13 opening backs.

FLORIDA After what Florida's quarterbacks did in the romp over San Jose State, expect the quarterback rotation to continue this week against the Hurricanes. Ingle Martin, Chris Leak and Gavin Dickey combined to go 27 of 41 for 347 yards and three touchdowns. Dickey has been tossed from the rotation, but look for Ben Zook to continue to alternate Martin and Leak. Their numbers collectively won't be as good this week, so one of the three should rise up and take the starting job before conference play begins against Tennessee.

LSU The way Matt Mauck was throwing crisp passes in the Tigers' rain-soaked rout of Louisiana-Monroe, and the way Michael Clayton (6 rec., 152 yds., 2 TDs) was catching them, you would have to consider Clayton a legitimate Heisman Trophy candidate. The junior wideout now has a reception in every game he has played (27 games), and his 66-yard touchdown catch and run from backup Marcus Randall was the second-longest catch of his budding career.

MISSISSIPPI The Bulldogs started a game as badly as a team can in allowing 28 first-quarter points to Oregon in the home opener. The good news is they fought back to a 42-34 loss, and showed how potent their offense can be. Quarterback Kevin Fant had a career-high 23 completions for 285 yards and three touchdowns, and a solid offense usually means wins for head coach Jackie Sherrill. MSU has lost only 10 times out of 51 games since 1996 in which it has scored at least 25 points. The Dogs are only 31-54-2 (.360) during that same span when they fall shy of the 25-point plateau.

MISSISSIPPI Punter Cody Ridenway is on the Ray Guy Award watch list, but Saturday it was kicker Jonathan Nichols who looked as if he was already in award-winning form. Nichols nailed a 53-yarder to beat Vanderbilt, and also hit a 51- and 20-yarder to become the first kicker in school history to hit two 50-plus yard field goals in one game. He also hit his only extra point to push his consecutive PAT streak to 50. His 10 points moved him past Les Binkley and into sixth place on the all-time kicker scoring list with 151 career points. "He was just outstanding," said head coach David Cutcliffe.

SOUTH CAROLINA It looks like Virginia will see more of Daccus Turman than Demetrius Summers at tailback for the Gamecocks this week. Turman was the leading rusher last week with only 40 yards on nine carries, but looked more versatile catching the ball. Summers suffered bruised ribs, but is expected to play this week. "Our running backs did not play particularly well without the ball. Turman probably was the most consistent of our backs," said head coach Lou Holtz.

VANDERBILT The Commodores put up 390 yards of offense against Ole Miss and also outgained them in a game they should have won. This team finally has some offense to go with its consistently tough defense. Quarterback Jay Cutler looked dominant at times, throwing for 248 yards and two touchdowns in the most impressive passing performance of the Bobby Johnson era. The 298 yards of total passing offense far eclipses last season's high game of 213 yards. And the way they smothered the Rebels' run game, don't be shocked if Vandy gives Auburn a run for its money next week.

Lake Mary welcomes large turnout for cross country tune-up

From Staff Reports

It was a hot hot morning in Lake Mary! Many Central Florida area cross country teams unofficially kicked off their seasons last Saturday as the annual Lake Mary Summer Meet was held at Lake Mary High School.

Many of the 500-plus entrants were clinging to shade under the trees at Greenwood Park as the heat and humidity took its toll on runners making their first competitive runs of the year.

It proves the old adage true once again. Training is nothing like competing.

The morning started off with an 8 a.m. 2-mile run for 52 runners in the 13-and-under and 19-and-older divisions.

The 14-to-18 girls, which drew 25 teams and 204 runners, took to the course at 8:30 a.m. and the race was all Jenny Barringer from Oviedo.

By the first mile, her lead was already sizable—perhaps 45 seconds. The Lions junior came through the two mile mark around 12 minutes, before crossing at least a track's length in front of the next runner with a time of 18:58. Coming in over two minutes behind (21:08.18) was Sharon Rogers of the Flagler Palm Coast Track Club.

The team title, however, went to the PioneerRunners Track Club (78 points) over the Oviedo Harriers Track Club (83 points) and the Flagler Palm Coast TC (95 points). The Lake Brantley Track Club (141 points) and Lyman Blue (204 points) rounded out the top five.

The 14-to-18 boys kicked off next at 9:15 a.m. and it was Andrew Chuplis, running unattached, edging Lyman Blue's Bryan Christian by a little under 13 seconds (16:32.89 to 16:45.19).

But the team race was all Flagler Palm Coast Track Club as it had a total of 30 points to 131 for second place Edgewater Track Club (131). The Oviedo Harriers Track Club (133), the Winter Springs Track Club (184) and the host Lake Mary Track Club (222) rounded out the top five. Other impressive runs were turned in by the Lake Brantley Track Club (sixth with 223 points), Lyman White (seventh with 259 points), Lyman Blue (eighth with 263 points) and Lyman Gold (11th with 330 points).

The turnout for the boys' event was astounding with 29 teams and 247 runners.

Most of the county teams were to open the regular season at the Lake Brantley Open in Altamonte Springs this morning (Saturday) and then head to the Edgewater Invitational at Cypress Grove Park next Saturday (Sept. 13) before returning to Lake Mary for the Lake Mary Classic on Saturday, Sept. 20th.

season upon us, Boat Owners Association of The United States has these top five tips to help weather the storm:

Keep it high and dry: Boats stored ashore are far more likely to survive than boats in the water. After the boats in its outer harbor were devastated in 1983 by Hurricane Alicia, the Houston Yacht Club responded by devising a comprehensive hurricane plan that includes the evacuation of all vessels. At Martha's Vineyard Shipyard, the marina has put together a list of emergency employees to assist the regular staff with the rush removals, each one being pre-assigned to a specific duty so all goes smoothly.

These marinas, and many others, recognize that the key to weathering the storm is preparation—both by individual boat owners and marina personnel. Now is the time to review your marina's contract or boat club's rules for hurricane preparation and cement a plan with them.

Ensure your marina and boat are ready: There is a huge difference in how marinas prepare for a major storm. How well your marina is currently organized can tell you a lot about how well your boat will fare in the slip during a storm. Boats in poorly maintained, unorganized and cluttered marinas usually fare the worst in hurricanes.

Poorly sited marinas—those in unprotected areas, also face higher risks. When Hurricane Andrew decimated South Florida in 1992, most boats in the well-proected Coco Plum Marina survived. Marinas with floating docks and tall pilings also provide a safer solution than fixed docks as extra scope is not needed and docks will not float away over the pilings.

If you plan on leaving your boat in the water, be sure you'll have everything you'll need to secure it well in advance. If your plan is to leave it at a slip, take inventory of your dock lines, chafe protection and other items such as fenders and duct tape. After Hurricane Fran hit in 1996, the BoatU.S. Catastrophe Response Team estimated that as many as half the damaged boats at marinas could have been saved by longer and thicker dock lines and adequate chafe protection—the first items to sell out once a hurricane "warning" is posted.

Find the right 'hole': If you plan on moving your vessel to a hurricane hole—a canal, river or harbor that offers better protection—it's important to remember that the storm surge may be ten feet high or greater. Seawalls and jetties that might otherwise protect your boat could be underwater. One other consideration: Plan on moving your boat early, as soon as a "warning" has been posted. Otherwise, you may find the best spots are already taken or that bridges have been locked down to evacuate automobiles.

Check your policy: An up-to-date insurance policy can mean success or failure in quickly returning the vessel to its pre-storm condition. Does your policy include all of your recently installed electronics or other upgrades? BoatU.S. also offers Hurricane Haul Out coverage that will pay half of all costs associated with pre-storm haul out—up to $500—for only $25 a year.

Trailerable boats should be relocated as far as possible above the anticipated storm surge and made secure. Boats on storage racks, davits and lifts should be put on trailers and taken inland.

Read up: For more information on hurricane protection, BoatU.S. publishes a free brochure, Hurricane Warning: A Guide to Preparing Boats and Marinas for Hurricanes and includes a free Hurricane Planning Worksheet that takes boaters step-by-step through the storm preparation procedures. For both of these free valuable tools and for other information on hurricanes, visit <http://www.boatUS.com> or call 800-283-2883.

FLOODING FORCES WITHLACOOCHIEE RIVER BOAT TRAFFIC SHUTDOWN

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) last week filed an emergency order, closing the Withlacoochee River to all vessel traffic because of severe flooding.

The order, signed by the FWC's assistant executive director, Vic Heller, will remain in effect 30 days or until the Withlacoochee's water level recedes to eight feet. Also, the order establishes an idle-speed, no-wake restriction from when the river reopens until the water level drops an additional two feet.

The affected stretch of the river is from the S.R. 41 Bridge at Dunnellon, southward to the Turner Camp Road (County Road 581 N) near Inverness.

Heller said the emergency order is necessary because submerged structures, such as docks and seawalls pose navigation hazards to vessels. In addition, boat traffic on the flooded river can damage flooded homes and cause pollution and erosion.

Authorities already have evacuated residents from along the river.

The FWC coordinated with the U.S. Coast Guard and Army Corps of Engineers in developing the order. State and local law enforcement officers will enforce it. Officials will notify boaters of the emergency order via marine radio broadcast, personal contact and posted signs at river access points.

Normally, closing a river to boat traffic, requires formal action by the FWC's Commissioners, but the agency's Office of the Executive Director has authority to take such action in emergency situations in which people or property are in immediate danger.

FWC SETS NEW REGULATIONS FOR FOUR WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT AREAS

In reaction to state budget shortfalls, the Florida Fish & Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) today (Thursday, Sept. 4) converted four wildlife management areas (WMAs) to recreational "user-pay" areas and changed some specific area rules accordingly.

On these privately owned WMAs, hunters are required to pay higher permit fees than the normal $25 WMA permit.

"This was the only course of action available to the Commission to keep the areas open to public hunting," said Rolando Garcia, regional director of the FWC's North Central Region.

The new "user-pay" areas are:
Fort McCoy—This area has a user-pay quota of 150 permits at $200 each. Camping is prohibited per landowner request. There are no other rule changes. Access is restricted only to those individuals who possess a Fort McCoy recreational use permit.

Relay—This area has a user-pay quota of 300 permits at $275 each. Camping is allowed. There are no other rule changes. Access is restricted only to those individuals who possess a Relay recreational use permit.

Gulf Hammock—This area has a user-pay quota of 400 permits at $275 each. Large dogs are still allowed. There are no other significant changes to the area except there is now a new three-day muzzleloading gun season this fall. Access is restricted only to those individuals who possess a Gulf Hammock recreational use permit.

Grove Park—This area has a user-pay quota of 200 at $325 each. Seasons will be the same as when it was part of the Lochloosa WMA, and the entire area will be still-hunt only.

"Those applying for a Grove Park recreational use permit should be aware that general public access will be permitted for hiking, biking and horseback riding along two trails on the area," Garcia said.

Recreational use permits are not required for these activities, provided such use is restricted to leaving footprints on the trails. Hunters and trail users should be alert to the potential presence of others while on the area. A recreational use permit is not required for individuals who use the area's roads as thruways, provided they are not engaged in recreational activities.

Lochloosa—The former Lochloosa WMA has been divided between two WMAs—Grove Park (user-pay - 16,303 acres) and the remaining publicly owned land, Lochloosa (name retained on 10,333-acre St. Johns River Water Management District property).

Lands lying north of Fish Camp Road or west of C.R. 325 will be Grove Park, and lands lying south of Fish Camp Road and east of C.R. 325 will retain the name Lochloosa. Lochloosa WMA is a dog hunt area with two quotas for the general gun season (first 25 days and 24th through 58th days) with a quota of 50 and no exemptions. A separate drawing will be made for the two Lochloosa quota hunts.

The Lochloosa application acceptance period is Sept. 15-26. The random drawing will be held immediately thereafter. Anyone possessing a preference card from this summer's normal random drawings will not be able to use it in this special drawing. However, next year, Lochloosa will again re-enter the normal random drawing and preference cards will again be able to be used.

Anyone who has already received a quota permit from the normal random drawing this summer will not jeopardize that permit if he applies for a Lochloosa permit in the special drawing.

Recreational Use Permit applications are now available from county tax collectors' offices, online and at regional offices. Applications will be accepted starting Sept. 10.

Quota hunt applications for Lochloosa WMA will be available next week.

TOP TRAILER BOAT GAS STATION TIPS

The ability to easily explore new cruising grounds and filling up on the fly are synonymous with trailer boating. But filling up at a gas station requires a special set of precautions, says Caroline Ajoonian, director of the BoatU.S. Consumer Protection Bureau.

"We have received a number of reports this summer of gas accidentally exiting fuel filler pipes and vents on trailered boats," says Ajoonian. "This 'blow back' can occur for many reasons."

To help you safely refuel at gas stations, the Boat Owners Association of The United States had these trailer boat gas station tips:

Know fuel tank capacity: To prevent overfilling, trailer boaters should know their vessel's precise fuel capacity. This basic information is critical to a safe fill-up.

Never use your boat's gas gauge while filling up: If you are not sure of your tank's capacity, never turn on the vessel's ignition switch to view your boat's gas gauge. Sparking can sometimes occur.

Don't walk away: While filling up you may be tempted to save time and get ice, bait and snacks at the gas station's mini-mart. Don't. Leaving a refueling vessel unattended removes the biggest layer of safety—you.

After half-full, slow down: Slowing the flow of gas after reaching your tank's half-full mark will reduce the chances of blow-back.

Where is my gas tank vent? Is the vent forward or near the transom? Understand how your filler tube, tank and vent are installed. If your boat is not level on its trailer you may find fuel inadvertently exiting the vent, or unable to fill tanks completely.

Fill evenly: If you have two or more tanks, distribute fuel equally. Loading up one tank more than another could put your boat-and-trailer-combo dangerously out of balance.

Never top off: Fuel that is pumped from cool, below ground holding tanks into your boat's tank—warmed by hot asphalt below and bright sun above—will expand. Not only is this a safety hazard, but you could pollute.

Always check the hubs: Every gas station fill-up gives you an easy opportunity to perform a trailer hub check by placing your hand on the hub and inspecting for excessive warmth. Most hub failures could have been prevented with periodic inspections. And while you are there, check the tires, too.

Long Haul/Taylor Brothers/Shen Corp./TPS poses proudly after winning its second straight ASA Super Open World Championship last year at Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium. The tourney was kind of a going-away present to the sponsor as the team folded after the season. Most of the players, however, will be back at Rinker-Stenstrom Field this week playing for other teams.

tournament, and Bell Corp./Easton out of Tampa.

The double elimination tournament will continue at noon on Friday and run through Saturday night, weather permitting.

No matter how you look at the teams entered, this figures to be a very tight and strong field.

Under ASA guidelines, using a point system, US

Vinyl/ZWare/Anaconda/Miken is the No. 1 ranked team in the country, followed by Hague. Backman/Dan Smith/Menosse/Easton is No. 6.

In addition to Bell Corp., the other entries are Vernon's/Miken, T.R. Stucco/Easton, and BJ Loggers/Snap On.

But on this week's ranking by the 'The Old Scout', which follows all of the tournaments and has a very good website for information, Hauge is No. 1, followed by Backman at No. 2, BJ Loggers at No. 3, US Vinyl at No. 5, T. R. Stucco at No. 16, Vernon's at No. 19 and Bell Corp. receiving honorable mention.

So if you are looking for something for the whole family to do together, Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium will be the place to be next Thursday.

For more information, contact the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department at 407-330-5697 or the Stadium Office at 407-328-3773.

line, which has all five starters back from a 10-2 season last year.

The first break of the game came with just 30-seconds left in the first quarter when Lake Mary's Vincent Cedre recovered a Lyman fumble at the Greyhounds three.

The Rams almost didn't take advantage of the turnover as they were hit for an illegal procedure penalty and a delay of game, 10 of 92 yards walked off against the Rams, and had two runs for no gain.

But on third and goal from the 13, junior quarterback Robert Kass found senior wide receiver David Sauls open in the left front of the end zone for the touchdown.

But then in a play that would come back to haunt the home team, an attempted run for two failed, leaving the score, 6-0, with 11 minutes left in the second quarter.

Lyman looked like they would answer right back when C.J. Walker made a nice move on the kickoff to elude two tacklers and took off down the left sideline for 87 yards.

The only problem was that there was a personal foul called near midfield, wiping out the score.

After a couple of changes of possession, the Greyhounds finally got things rolling.

Walker got things going with a 30-yard run and then two more big plays, a 24 yard pass from Harris to Von Dixon and a six-yard run by Dixon, set up a 16-yard run by Harris to tie the score with 2:15 left in the opening half.

The game remained tied as the extra point try never got off the ground.

But Lake Mary gave the ball up quickly, gaining only two yards on three plays and a short punt into the wind gave Lyman the ball at the Rams 34.

Harris hit Cormet Franklin for nine yards, but it was still fourth and one with only 2.3-seconds showing on the clock.

A little indecision got the field goal team on the field late, and despite Mike Barner nailing a 42-yard field goal, it was called back because of not enough men on the line of scrimmage.

But that did not bother Barner as he backed up the five yards and boomed a 47-yarder between the goal posts, giving the Greyhounds a 9-6 lead at intermission.

Neither team was able to do much in the third quarter as little mistakes kept the ball from moving.

Lake Mary finally got its offense going with 1:23 remaining in the third period.

With a third and 17 from their own 43, Kass hit former starting quarterback Jon Clark for 32 yards and a first baseman down the right sideline.

Cameron Bateman then ran three times for 10 yards and Justin Scott carried the pigskin for three yards, giving the hosts a third and goal from the seven.

That's when Kass found Bateman in the flat and the senior running back scooted in for the go-ahead score.

Keith Rivers, more known for his stellar play on defense, made a rare appearance on the offensive side, lining up at fullback, and bulled his way in for the two-point conversion, giving the Rams a 14-9 lead.

But Lyman was not ready to throw in the towel.

Taking over on its own 42 with 9:20 left on the clock, the Greyhounds started a nine-play, 58-yard drive, capped by the two-yard sneak by Harris.

There were four big plays in the drive, all of which hurt Lake Mary.

On a third and 10, Harris hit big tight end Mark Robinson for 19 yards and a first down.

Then after a pair of penalties left the Greyhounds with a first and 22, Walker ran for eight yards.

Then on third and 14, the Rams looked like they had grabbed the victory when Scott made a beautiful over-the-shoulder interception.

But Lyman kept the ball, and got a first down, as Lake Mary was hit with a roughing the quarterback penalty.

The Rams then looked like they got another big break when the Greyhounds fumbled. But somehow, Lyman got the ball back.

Harris then hit fullback Nate Beard for 20 yards for a first and goal at the two, and Harris barreled in.

The try for two failed, leaving the score, 15-14.

The game then appeared over on the first play after the kickoff, as the Rams fumbled and Walker made the recovery at the Lake Mary 28.

But a penalty called back a potential clinching touchdown run and a subsequent 45-yard field goal try fell just short, giving the hosts one more chance with 2:24 remaining.

Kass passed of 10-yard to Clark, nine yards to Ross Hopkin and nine-yards to Paul Canado, gave the Rams a fourth-and-one from the 49 with 45-seconds left.

But an attempted run to get the first down came up six-inches short with 41-seconds left and Lyman was able to run out the clock.

The Greyhounds will look to keep the momentum going next week as they will host Deltona in their home opener at 7:30 p.m. next Friday at the Carlton D. Henley Sports Complex.

Lake Mary will try to right the ship on the road next Friday, traveling to Orlando to face a talented Lake Highland Prep squad. That game is set to begin at 7 p.m.
