

Silver Springs Is Scene Of Filming Of 'The Yearling'

Location Near Ocala National Park Is Considered Ideal

OCALA, Mar. 20.—Chester Franklin, who directed "Sequoia," and will direct the animal sequences in the film version of the Florida cracker novel "The Yearling," arrived at Silver Springs today from Hollywood and joined an advance crew of motion picture technicians here to make preliminary plans for shooting "The Yearling."

The moviemakers anticipate lengthy shooting schedules near Silver Springs in the Ocala National Forest, which is the original locale of the Marjorie Rawlings Pulitzer prize-winning book. The picture is to be made in technicolor, and directed by Victor Fleming, who directed "Come With The Wind."

It was learned from Jay Bennett, business manager of the unit on location, that settlements will have to be prepared in advance and "seasoned," and that filming would probably start not sooner than June 15. Then too, Jody Baxter, who will likely be portrayed by a Florida boy, must associate weeks in advance of the film with the animals in the picture. And the wild deer, the bear, the hound and bull dogs and other animals must become accustomed to one another before they will work properly. This requires weeks, perhaps months, the movie experts said.

A corn crop, planted yesterday, must mature considerably before it is ready. Meanwhile, a home will be built for the Baxter family, and a decision must be reached on Jody, Ma Baxter and the other supporting Spencer Tracy as "Penny Baxter."

Today's activities included the preparation of plans for the Baxter house and a "talent hunt" for a battered hound dog to duplicate the one mentioned in the novel. This proved difficult as agents searched three counties for the ideal dog. The movie men termed the hounds they saw as "fine looking, blooded fox hounds, entirely too handsome. We want an old sinner with scars across her nose and chewed up ears almost dragging the ground."

Art directors, however, were more successful. They enthusiastically praised locations they found yesterday with Spring foliage in the Ocala national forest near Silver Springs. "It's all very, very beautiful," they declared.

The crew on the ground, besides Franklin and Bennett, includes Paul E. Grosse, associate art director for "The Yearling," W. A. Horning, assistant to Cedric Gibbons, art director, construction engineer, and Deloy Sawyer, transportation manager. They will make Silver Springs headquarters as well as the case when "Tarzan Finds A Son" was filmed at Silver Springs last year. The crew contains several who worked here on the "Sequoia" picture at that time. "The Yearling" will keep them here for months.

Inspectors Study Threatening Note Received By Men

ATLANTA, Mar. 20.—(AP)—Postoffice inspectors studied yesterday the second of two threatening notes received by law enforcement officials engaged in probing a series of night-rider slashings.

Chief Matheson of the Fulton (Atlanta) county police department said he turned over to postal officials a letter menacing his two-year-old grandson unless he halted his part in the flogging investigation.

The note, made up of letters from a newspaper, read: "Warned: Call your men off flogging and lottery cases or watch your child and..."

The unfinished sentence was followed by a picture of a child with bandaged head and a newspaper headline which read: "Four arrested by county police in raid."

Policeman Blount of East Point previously had reported receipt of a letter threatening him "with death" unless he "ceased up" in his investigation of the floggings, climaxed about 10 days ago by the fatal whipping of Isaac Gaston, suburban barber.

Four men are under indictment for participation in floggings disclosed after Gaston's death. None, however, was charged with flogging Gaston. Meanwhile Imperial Wizard Colecott of the Ku Klux Klan said his personal investigations

S. C. PEACOCK, of Umatilla, has announced his candidacy in the Democratic primaries in May for nomination as a member of the Florida Railroad Commission.

The Federal government and seven basin states have spent more than $3,000,000 in surveys of the Colorado River to determine reclamation and power possibilities.

He declared he would disband at once any local organization guilty of taking part in floggings, and would dismiss immediately any individual klanman convicted of such an offense.

Colecott said the floggings were discussed at a meeting of the "Klonecium," governing body of the klan, here Sunday but that no action was taken. Eleven of the 15 members of the klonecium attended the meeting, he said.

March Of Time At Ritz Shows Canada At War

Local movie-goers will have an opportunity to see how a great American nation of eleven million people mobilizes under conditions of modern warfare in the latest March of Time film "Canada At War," which comes to the screen of the Ritz Theater today and Thursday.

In this timely issue, the March of Time pictures the whole story of the national war effort of the Canadian people today. The film shows the activities of each branch of the Dominion's military services—Army, Navy, and Air Force; the organization of Canada's rapidly-expanding industries to meet the country's war needs; and many other phases of Canadian participation in the war.

The film will emphasize particularly the "Home Front" aspects of the conflict, and the swift growth of the Royal Canadian Air Force, which is now putting into operation a vast and unique cooperative air-raiding scheme for the entire British Empire.

"Canada at War" was filmed in many sections of the Dominion of Canada during the past two months by March of Time cameramen working under the severe handicap of sub-zero weather.

Ruth Gordon Wright presents her annual Spring Dance Revue on the stage at 8:15 nightly, while Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart are co-starred in "The Shop Around the Corner" as the feature film attraction.

Since President Lincoln signed the Homestead Act, about 275,000,000 acres of Federal land have been transferred to settlers.

Pendergast Aide Is Sentenced To 2 Years In Jail

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 20.—(AP)—Matthew S. Murray, two-job wheelhorse of the Pendergast Democratic machine, was sentenced yesterday to serve two years in federal prison for evading income taxes, and another machine lieutenant, R. Emmet O'Malley, came back from prison to face two state bribery indictments.

Murray, 56-year-old, scholarly appearing engineer, was the first major Pendergast figure to stand trial on tax-dodging charges and the sixth to be sentenced.

The gray-haired executive, who quit under fire as Missouri's WPA administrator, and Kansas City's director of public works, was indicted for evading taxes on $60,691 between 1934 and 1938, inclusive.

He claimed Tom Pendergast and his favored contractor, John J. Fryor, gave him $40,800 in "gifts" and "gratuities," and that these were tax exempt. The government, however, contended the money was paid for favor and services. Judge Albert Reeves said Murray's claim was "incredible and beyond belief," and that the government's charge "can not be controverted."

A motion for a new trial was over-ruled by Judge Reeves before he passed sentences—two years on each of five counts to run concurrently.

At the same hour that Murray was in court, portly, 65-year-old O'Malley hurried from the Leavenworth penitentiary, smiled broadly and waved to a tower guard.

The former state superintendent of insurance was the first of the machine king-pins to be released from prison where he served a sentence for income tax evasion.

Still behind the bars, serving terms for similar offenses are Pendergast, Fryor, Otto P. Higgins, former police director, and Charles V. Carollo, the machine's gambling overlord.

O'Malley had pleaded guilty to dodging taxes on $62,500 received for aiding in the compromise of the $9,500,000 Missouri fire insurance rate case.

He stood mute when arraigned on a state bribery indictment, charging he received $82,500 from Pendergast "directly or indirectly," to influence official acts as insurance superintendent. Trial was set for April 18.

Sheriff Fitzsimmons of St. Louis then took O'Malley to St. Louis for arraignment on another bribery indictment. It charged he received $24,000 of the payoff in St. Louis.

There he pleaded not guilty and was released on $10,000 bond.

Postmaster: General James A. Farley's announcement last night that he will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination appears to us as a mighty plain indication that President Roosevelt will not seek a third term.

A Good Combination

Postmaster General James A. Farley's announcement last night that he will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination appears to us as a mighty plain indication that President Roosevelt will not seek a third term. Nobody in our opinion would be in a better position to know the President's intentions than the chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Neither would he be making such a positive announcement if he had to run against his chief.

It was Jim Farley, more than any other one man, who elected Roosevelt president in the first place. While Roosevelt was governor of New York, Mr. Farley was traveling all over the country lining up delegates and talking to political big-wigs in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt. He carried on a tremendous correspondence throughout the nation to this end. And he helped mightily to get Mr. Roosevelt elected after he was nominated.

Next to Mr. Roosevelt no one in the Democratic party has either so large an acquaintance throughout the country, or so large a following. He knows key men in every state, county, and city. And his genial manner, as well as his retentive memory for names and faces, helped to bind to him thousands of people whom he has befriended. While Mr. Farley starts with many of the handicaps which plagued Al Smith, the Postmaster General has a decided advantage in that he has been in national politics long enough to know intimately most important politicians in the United States; whereas Al Smith was little known outside of the state of New York.

Because Mr. Farley has announced for the presidency, it does not necessarily follow that he would not accept a place on the little end of the ticket. Particularly if the head man should be Cordell Hull, do we believe the selection of Jim Farley for vice president would be a happy choice. They would make a team which would be unbeatable. It may be that in cornering delegates for himself, President Roosevelt has some such ticket in mind for the Democratic party.

Growing Azaleas

A friend of ours who knows more about azaleas than the man who wrote the book says that if azaleas are not doing very well, the best thing to do is to dig them up, make sure your soil has a slightly acid reaction, and is well drained, and then reset the plants, first mixing a generous quantity of cotton seed meal with the surrounding soil. It is a mistake, he says, to try to revive lagging azaleas by nourishing from the top. It is so easy to lift them and give nourishment to the bottom of the roots where they need it most. And in lifting, he adds, it is easier to tell if there is anything else wrong and what needs to be done.

A good way to tell whether the soil is acid is to get some blue litmus paper from the drug store. Mix a little of the soil with water, drop the litmus paper in. If it turns red or pink the soil is acid. If it remains blue it is alkaline. In order to make alkaline soil acid, mix aluminum sulphate with it. Azaleas do not give much trouble if they are planted in the right environment. The soil should be rich but not pure muck. It is a good idea to mix sand with the muck in sufficient quantities to keep the muck from cracking in dry weather. The soil should also be well drained and freed from all roots of neighboring plants or trees. One of the best things about azaleas is that they will grow in shaded areas. They are one of the few plants that will. However, they too do better when they have a little sun, and most varieties will survive very well in the full sun.

Sanford gardeners would do well to go in more than they have for the cultivation of azaleas. There is nothing quite so beautiful when in full bloom. They add distinctiveness to a town or city which makes it long remembered by the visitor. And they give the gardener himself a feeling of satisfaction which he cannot get from any other plant.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THIS IS THE MAGICAL TALISMAN: If a man love me, he will keep my word; and my Father will love him, and we will come into him and make our abode with him.—John 14:23.

THE LOVERS

(From The Virginia Quarterly Review)
I said, I will lie beneath this tree... But I loved life and life loved me. I will slip down deep to the cold river bed, where pulses is stilled and breath is shed.

There will I yield both flesh and bone, and the water can make me into stone.

Did rock ever cringe at the thundering pain? Or feel the rack of a three's salt rain?

I will be as a rock; I will swiftly go... But life loved me, and life said, "No!"

I will be, I said, with the age-gone men, but I loved life and I breathed again.

Life gave me a sob to be my fair, and gave me a sorrow to spin in my hair.

My thoughts still cling to the stony water. The pool, I said, will conclude the matter.

But life held me close in a firm embrace, life cradled by feet and kissed my face.

Spring Dance Revue Presented At Ritz

With music by Mrs. E. L. Burdick on the drums and Mrs. Gillespie Dore at the piano, the Annual Spring Dance Revue of the pupils of Ruth Gordon Wright was presented last evening at the Ritz Theatre before a filled house. The revue will be presented again tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Making a study in black and white with the girls in black French maid costumes and the boys in full dress, the revue opened with the routine of the "French Maids and the Millionaires."

Confident Beverly Rogers in a blue satin military suit with spangled cloth trimming and hat with small ostrich tips gave a military toe tap with shoes covered in tiny diamond glitter stars, followed by the "Dutch Trio" in an interpretive dance.

The outstanding group dance of the evening was presented early in the program by "The Cow-Girls From Texas" who dressed in white leather suits and gaudy hats with large Western hats did an advanced tap routine.

The "Little Red Fox" in the form of Donna Lou Harper in a real fur costume was an interpretive routine of song and dance. Nixie Kirchhoff in an orchid crepe dress with green trimming and Robert Middleton were presented in a ballet, "Coming Through the Rye," amid a setting of 1850.

The "Sailor Tap" led by Jacqueline Rowland was composed of children from DeLand, Orlando and Sanford, dressed in red, white, and blue sailor suits. Sarah Blount in a blue diamond cloth tap suit with full chiffon skirt, Frances Cobb wearing a turquoise Spanish suit and hat with red trimming and silver spangles, and Barbara Ann Pearce in a deep rose evening dress with blue trimming were each presented in solo numbers of song and dance.

Dolores English, remembered for her character songs and dances, gave her interpretation of "Frog From the Country" in an appropriate ensemble. Handling a tarlatan skirt of

Applications for Old Age Aid Are Filed Here

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 21 — The action of the State Welfare Board in opening for investigation applications for Old Age Assistance in June, July and August of last year, will bring a material and early increase in the number of recipients.

According to announcement of Clayton C. Codrington, state welfare commissioner, there are 2,234 cases subject to investigation. These will be disposed of as rapidly as limited staff will permit, investigation being in chronological order. It is not the purpose of the Board however to increase staff or to have visitors neglect varied other responsibilities of the Board.

Applications are opened by counties so as to place all districts on a parity, it was explained, and also to forestall the necessity of increasing staff and thereby unnecessarily increasing administrative expense. The State Welfare Board is endeavoring, Commissioner Codrington said, to pass along to the aged every possible dollar at its disposal.

Investigations will be nearer current when August applications are disposed of than at any time

Bass Fishing Is Ok In Lake Okeechobee

MOORE HAVEN, Mar. 21 — Although the season on black bass is closed throughout the state until May 1, official permission was granted this week to sports fishermen to take the elusive fresh water game in at least a part of Lake Okeechobee.

J. N. Kennedy, executive secretary of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, has recognized a 1925 state law establishing the boundaries in the Lake between Glades and Palm Beach counties, and a local law, passed in 1939, which permits fishing in Glades county during the closed season. Palm Beach county previously laid claim to the entire lake, it was reported, but the Commission had previously upheld the Glades law permitting the bass fishing during closed season.

The county boundaries extend southward across the lake from the mouth of the Kissimmee River to Clewiston, embracing an area of about five townships, and since the State Welfare Board took over on July 1, 1937, in Seminole County there were 20 applications for Old Age Assistance filed during the three-month period.

Florida Continues Second With Aid To Blind Persons

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 21 — Florida continues second in the number of recipients of Aid to the Blind per 100,000 population in the entire United States, according to figures made public here today from the offices of the State Welfare Board.

With 147 per 100,000 population, based on the 1930 federal census, Florida is running Maine, with 156, a close race for top honors.

In the Sixth Social Security District, with which it is grouped, Florida has a long lead over its nearest competitor. The number of recipients per 100,000 population in the district, by states, follows: Florida, 147; Alabama, 21; Georgia, 34; Mississippi, 33; South Carolina, 46; Tennessee, 62. Florida also leads the district in the average grant to the sightless, with $12.41, as compared to: Mississippi, $7.56; Alabama, $8.20; Georgia, $10.02; South Carolina, $10.47 and Tennessee, $11.02.

Accentuating the difference in the liberality of the various states toward the blind and near-blind are grants in Connecticut, which brings up the rear, pays such gratuities to only 9 persons per 100,000 population. In Seminole County Aid to the Blind grants in February were made to 23 persons for a monthly total of $302.00. Total disbursements for the state during the same month were $26,809.00.

INDICTMENTS FOR assault with intent to murder were returned by a Palm Beach County (Atlanta), Ga., grand jury against four men alleged to be members of "flagging gangs" which spread a reign of terror through part of the county. Prop of a series of flappings was touched off by the fatal beating of Ike Gaston, a barber, whose as he was booked in connection with one whipping is W. C. Amerson, typewriter mechanic and church singer.

including the greater part of the best bass fishing grounds of Lake Okeechobee according to the Glades County Democrat.

Owsley Decry 'Collectivism' Before Students

Ex-Minister Talks At University On Yule Lectureship

GAINESVILLE, Mar. 21 — Denying the failures of Communism, fascism and other forms of collectivism, and urging the preservation of America's "Representative Democracy," Alvin M. Owsley, former American minister to Rumania, Ireland and Denmark and former national commander of the American Legion, this morning delivered the annual Da-vid Levy Yule Lectureship before the student body and faculty of the University of Florida.

Don't Spread Your Cold Cough Get Mentho-Mulsion

A cold cough seriously endangers you, your family, and your business associates. Illness from colds and coughs causes more loss of time than all other diseases combined. If you have a cough due to a cold, get Mentho-Mulsion, the guaranteed medicine, today. If Mentho-Mulsion fails to stop your coughing immediately and get you entirely over your cold cough quicker than any medicine you ever tried, ask for your money back.

Yule, pioneer Florida statesman, planter and railroad builder. Previous lectures have been given by President Henry Nelson Snyder of Wofford College, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde, former ambassador to Denmark, and President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Sharply denouncing the doctrine of government ownership as a step toward collectivism and regimentation, he pointed to the low living standards, lack of personal liberty and censorship of regimented and collectivized European nations, asserting "The facts are, the truth is, there isn't a single principle of government which Europeans live that is worthy of our adoption or embrace."

Also flaying alien attempts to undermine and destroy this country's present type of government, he suggested that "All aliens should be registered and periodic check-ups made to determine their activities. This applies to those native citizens who associate with aliens and find their company pleasant and maybe profitable."

ment problem, Owsley said. "The sin of the hour is holding idle hands, the refusal to produce, the raising and throwing of bombs in- to the fomenting of revolutions; unemployment—labor disputes— strikes—and the government's at- tacks on business, industry and employers of labor."

"The need of the hour is now an opportunity to work, and now the spirit to work; a partnership of the government with capital and labor, employer and employee, with increase of production from the farm, from the mine and in the factory, until there is food and raiment, comforts and conveniences to spare for all of our people."

He followed by asserting that he denounced the doctrine which embraced ownership at the belief that we must always have and take care of an army of unemployed, citing post-war days in other lands to show that their percentage of unemployed has been much higher than ours.

Cromwell's Talk Stirs Diplomatic Circles In Capital

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21 —(AP) — With a view to determining whether disciplinary measures should be applied, Secretary of State Hull yesterday called for an official copy of a speech in which James Cromwell, million- aire minister to Canada, sided with the Allies against Germany.

The new diplomat, husband of the former Doris Duke, "world's richest girl" was the target for sharp criticism from Capitol Hill. Introducing a resolution calling for a congressional inquiry to deter- mine whether Cromwell was cor- rectly quoted in criticizing "Amer- ican isolations," Representative Sweeney, Democrat, Ohio, said: "If our playboy minister to Canada wants to fight for the British empire I respectfully sug- gest that he join the ranks of such distinguished American ex- patriates as Lady Astor and Ker- mit Roosevelt, so that he may 'carry on' for the country."

Stanley Delivers Sharp Attack On Neutral Nations

LONDON, Mar. 21.—War Minister Stanley delivered the sharpest attack to date on neutral nations yesterday, warning them that their attitude may induce Britain to "follow Germany's ex- ample" in disregarding their rights.

Much of his biting speech was directed at the United States. His speech, at a luncheon of the national defense public in- terest committee, followed a warning by Prime Minister Cham- berlain yesterday that the neu- trals had better line up with the Allies and Chamberlain's rejec- tion of United States criticism of the Allied policy toward Fin- land.

Russians Are Thick In German Capital

BERLIN, Mar. 21 —(AP)— Rus- sians are as thick as hasty pud- dings in the Reich's capital. There's the embassy staff and the mili- tary office, and the naval at- tache's men; and the consular peo- ple, to say nothing of the com- mercial attaches (who are piling into town—and they all speak Russian, but no German).

The "German Institute for For- eigners" at the University of Ber- lin, known as the best school for German language instruction in the Reich, has designated a spe- cial class and professor for Rus- sian pupils at the institute for years.

Traffic Too Heavy Along Route 41 HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Mar. 21 —(AP)— Rural Mail Carriers Mur- ton Peick is somewhat concerned over the traffic along the United States Road 41 near here.

Returning home, he took pains to see that the road was clear before attempting to turn in his driveway. Just then a speeding automobile appeared over a ridge and neatly knocked the postman's car into a ditch.

Two days later, after the car was repaired, Peick found him- self again attempting to turn in his driveway. This time, a truck appeared and—you guessed it—knocked his car into a ditch.

No one was hurt in the acci- dents. In a recent campaign speech for U. S. Senator, Jacksonville, Governor Fred P. Cone declared: "It is no use to tell you about the cross-state canal. It's coming, perhaps not in my lifetime, but it's coming. Don't give up the fight, because the canal will benefit the whole state."

There are about 140 different dates assigned to the creation of the world. The speech was made, even though he had some doubts as to whether it was the correct thing for a dip- lomat to do. The speech, made yesterday at Toronto, strongly indicated Ger- many and expressed an emphatic desire for an Allied victory as beneficial to the world. Secretary Hull announced he had telegraphed both Cromwell and the American legation at Ottawa to send him official copies as soon as practicable. Cromwell, who was at his New Jersey home today, declined to comment. Hull's manner was wry as he made the announcement, but he did not say what action, if any, would be taken after examination of the speech. He said no inquiry had come from any diplomatic quarter concerning the speech. It was thought the German em- bassy might protest.

New Cabinet Of Reynaud Given Broad Support

Reynaud's first estimate of the casualties early today, the British admiralty said three neutral ships in the convoy suffered damage and that one of them was abandoned by its crew. The German radio broadcast claims that "several" convoyed ships were sunk or badly damaged. The abandoned ship was the Norwegian Svinna, of 1207 tons. Her crew was picked up by another Norwegian vessel. The Swedish Utklippan, 1599 tons, was hit by an incendiary bomb and the Norwegian Tora Elias, 721 tons, likewise was damaged. Anti-aircraft fire from escorting warships damaged one attacking Heinkel bomber, the admiralty said. Planes of the fleet air arm Britain's naval air force, hit two other Heinkels and on one occasion two of the British planes scattered 19 Heinkels. None of the British warships or planes was damaged, authorities insisted. This rapid retaliatory action for the six-hour Royal air force smash at the Nazi air base on Syll served to heighten reports that the British are ready to pit their air fleet against German submarine nests and shipyards in the Baltic itself.

The German accounts of last night's raid placed the scene of action off Scapa Flow. A German attack on this island naval base last Saturday precipitated the 45-plane Syll raids of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

The raid, the biggest Britain has made in this war, brought authoritative predictions that a new phase in Britain's aerial attack had been ushered in. Punctuating the dating of the new British tactics, British fliers today returned to the scene to take photographs of the damage they had done and to drop a few more bombs on objectives that had not been destroyed in the long bombing of the night before.

Among the gleeful statements of the British was that of Germany's most valuable aircraft-seaplane and bomber—were destroyed. "The attack had been delayed so that it should take place when the maximum number of German planes was concentrated on the island. For some time the Allied command had known the Nazi authorities were feverishly building hangars on Syll—and storing hundreds of planes there.

"Today a number of those hangars are in ruins. Flots returning told of wrecked barracks, blazing oil tanks, crippled railways."

Air ministry sources, in cautious language, said they believed the Syll raid showed the RAF was ready for "operations more effective than the preliminary stage of observation."

Most British flights over Germany have been of purely reconnaissance nature. At any rate, the raid and the follow-up flight today proved an immediate tonic for the British public. Critics of the government have been clamoring for Britain to take the initiative away from Germany, and the raid came only a few hours after Prime Minister Chamberlain had told the House of Commons that "we intend to fight."

Officials from Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood on down remained discreetly silent on the full extent of the raid. Wood made the following statement to the House: "Direct hits were obtained on hangars, which were set on fire. Oil storage tanks were also seen to be on fire and many hits were obtained on the jetty, light railway and other parts of the base. Further reconnaissance of the island of Syll, was carried out this morning. Although the aircraft was heavily engaged they were able to make observations of the island which confirm the success of the operation. All these aircraft have returned to their bases."

It had been announced previously that one of the first attackers failed to return home.

Inhabitants Don't Like Mail Service

SCHAFFHAUSEN, Switzerland, Mar. 21.—(AP)—Inhabitants of German and Swiss Rhine villages separated only by the river, across which they might throw a Swiss franc were they not so thrifty, are complaining about the mail. There's ground for complaint, for, since all letters on the German side must go to a distant censorship office first, the average length of time for letters between neighbors is twenty-two days.

He Didn't Mean To Steal Tubes, Too

HOUSTON, Tex., Mar. 21.—(AP)—Isaac Roberts, 27-year-old negro, was charged with stealing tires and tubes. He pleaded guilty to taking the tires. "Didn't you take the tubes?" the judge asked. "No, sir, judge," Isaac answered. "Them tubes was just in the tires—I didn't steal them." The judge gave him a $45 fine and 10 days in jail.

Latin Touch To Be Emphasized In Play Clothes

New Fashions Largely Inspired By Visits To South America

By ADELAIDE KERN
NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—(AP)—You can be a Latin from Manhattan in your play clothes this summer if you like. North America's quickened interest in her neighbors south of the border has resulted in a lot of smart play and evening clothes with a strong Mexican and South American slant. They were largely inspired by visits to those countries, made in New York and may point the way to one of the summer's most colorful fashion trends.

Some spectator sports and casual evening clothes are made of gay plaid and block-checked ginghams. The block checks were inspired by some of the vivid skirts worn by the Brazilian chanteuse, Carmen Miranda, and their colors were taken from the painted robes on statues of angels in a seventeenth-century church, tropical birds' plumage and flower motifs—all in Brazil. There also are some plain round-necked blouses designed to be worn with long dinner skirts and the heady turbans and splashy seed costume jewelry that Miranda made famous.

But the mass of the South American influence on North American clothes stems from the ideas brought back from a trip to Mexico and South America by Truman Bailey (artist, author and photographer), and developed by a group of New York clothes manufacturers.

Here are beach, spectator sports and informal evening clothes made of plain and printed cottons and spun rayons gay as Spanish fiestas. There is a lot of Latin-American influence in the patterns of the prints. They're inspired by prehistoric Peruvian fabrics, hand-weavings from Guatemala, Mexican matador insignias, and Incan sculptures and pottery. Some more are splashed with ropes and lariats, cactus plants or with ears of yellow corn.

Their colors include a rich deep "South American red" that's sometimes paired with an intense sun yellow; a muted rose inspired by the Andean desert; a rust stemming from Incan pottery; a reddish brown from Peruvian rock and a deep rich blue. The clothes are all put together with big bright straw sombreros (worn on the back of the head with spectator sports clothes), crownless turbans of bright cotton or mesh (worn with beach and sport togs), gay pouch cotton bags, lariat and raffia belts. They are fastened with buttons, buckles and clips or plastics or straw in the shape of sombreros, matador insignias, ears of corn and the "animalitos" that march across native handwork. And they are worn with colorful costume jewelry—necklaces of South American fruit pits tipped with glittering sequins or of painted marbles tied with thick bright cord.

THE ORLANDO Camera Club is sponsoring an Amateur Photography Contest in the Mead Botanical Garden. There will be two divisions, color photography and black and white photography with a $25 first prize in each group. The contest closes April 15. Here is Mr. Paul Tanner, President of the Orlando Camera Club officially opening the contest.

Chief evidence of the Latin-American influence on play clothes appears in prints, colors and accents rather than in the line of the costumes themselves. (It's no mantilla-over-the-head rose-in-the-teeth affair.) In design, the clothes generally conform to the modern mode with a little Latin-American slant appearing in something like a bolero. However, there's a bright red rose or two to be seen, worn on the head, right over a side or center part with bathing suits, beach togs and informal dinner clothes. Its unexpected, colorful and smart in effect. Here are a few of the things which are done: Blue sports skirt, yellow blouse, embroidered in blue motifs from an Incan pottery, topped by a big blue sombrero. Casual dinner costume combining a white shirt-bouse, a cactus printed skirt and sequins strewn jewelry. Slacks and shirt of sombrero-printed crepe worn with a wrap-around turban of South American red mesh.

Some psychologists say a person's interest in life can be measured by his newspaper reading habits. If he finds at least one story of interest to him on each page, he probably lives a "well-rounded life."

Privileges Wanted By Park Recliners

PEARISBURG, Va., Mar. 21.—(AP)—In a spirit of levity preceding an election, eight citizens presented a petition to the Giles County Board of Supervisors requesting that the authorities "provide pads to cover the gnarled roots of the shade trees on the courthouse lawn," where the citizenry seeks shade in summer, and also to "provide pillows, with freshly laundered pillow cases, for those weary citizens who at times are unable to sit erect and must needs recline at full length."
