the area. The chamber celebrated the grand opening of the Lake Mary Hilton Garden Inn at its monthly business-after-hours mixer Thursday night. "We are the main marketing arm of the city," said Parker. The chamber gets the word out about Lake Mary through its various events, touting networking as an important business tool, Miller said the office receives 60 to 100 calls or letters per month, requesting information about the area and the business environment. The chamber went on-line last year and Miller said this has been an effective marketing tool. "We received 19 e-mails in one day," Miller said.

Parker and Miller conducted 10 to 12 interviews each month with prospective business owners. The chamber is also "shopped" by information gatherers who want to keep the identity of their business or client anonymous. Parker said, when inquiries are made about business in Lake Mary, she is quick to say that there is very little turnover in small retail businesses in the area. "Businesses come, get established and almost immediately need to expand," Parker said. She said she tells any business that it needs to have enough capital to survive the first year, "or don't open."

Temporary position turns to fulfillment for pastor

By SUSAN WENNER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - With banjo in hand, Leonard O'Donnell spoke proudly of the church, Paola Wesleyan, he has called home for almost two years.

O'Donnell was led to Mattland to the Reformed Theological Seminary and in the process of enrollment and job hunting he found Paola Wesleyan Church.

"I have spent my life to ar-chitecture," he said. "I came down to Maitland to study theology. I happened to be renting a house near the church. One night I stopped by to go to a meeting at the church and the minister said the meeting had been called off. He told me he had been here five years and was leaving in a few weeks. I took the posttion as minister on a temporary basis until they could find someone and I've been here ever since. I found the church was needing a pastor and I happened to be here at the right time."

O'Donnell now fills his time with part-time architecture work, taking a few classes on the side at the Seminary, church work and his love of Bluegrass music, "I'm trying to put together a string band," he said. I play the banjo. I have been involved with Country Bluegrass music all my life."

He shared that the congregation's mission at the present is to begin a more active youth down to earth group of counprogram and music program and target the new homes in the area. They would like to cater to some of the new families moving in the Paola area.

The 50 members make up a wide range of ages from bables to senior citizens. O'Donnell described the group as "a the opportunity to meet many people. Some will be coming to perform at the church in the near future from Canada and Maine with an evangelist from Brunswick, Canada.

The Gospel Jamboree will begin Saturday, Jan. 31 at 7 p.m. with a group from Nova Scotia, Canada, Duane and Connie Stewart with puppets and Roger and Marge Asselin from Perry, Maine holding the service. Continuing Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m. various speaker and singers will be featured. Ken and Ginger McLellan from DeLand, The Salvation Army with Major Faith Williams and the Freewill Baptist Church from Winter Carden are just some of the features.

Evangelist and Rev. Oland and Elste Kent from New Brunswick, Canada will speak throughout the weekend event. Great singing and preaching will be available also throughout the activities.

"Our main thrust is putting together Gospel Jamborees, he said. We have about four or five a year. We really pack the place. We also meet with other churches so that makes for some good fellowship."

The services of the church are Sundays at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. Members also hold coltage prayer meetings in various homes on a weekly ba-

The human predicament: A valid answer

By DR. BOB PARKER

First Baptist Church Markham Woods

The Book of Job addresses the human predicament by raising the age old questions: "How then can a man be just with God? Or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?" Men do face the fact of being imperfect in body and therefore, as a creature of time and space, limited by death. The fact of man's imperfect status verses what he ought to be as an ideal self creates conflicting realities. When the reality of being limited by death is heavily contemplated, friction is created within man. When this friction becomes severe, it brings suicide. Solomon, a man of great wisdom describes the problem: "For that which befalls the sons of men befalls beasts; even one thing befalls them; as the one dies, so dies the other; yea, they have all one breath; and man has no preeminence above the beasts; for all is vanity' (Ecclesiastes 3:19). Men are born into the world without consultation; thus, they cannot negotiate a change that crases the predicament.

The predicament lies then in this fact: the body (empirical self), being limited by death, is incompetent to act as a vehicle to bear the eternal ideals of the soul. The universe and environment in which man lives intensifies the problem by being adverse to an ideal body. The environment puts off aggressive "pollution" which the body cannot withstand!

The predicament: The philosophy of the universe

In 1609, the discovery of the telescope by Galtleo pushed the boundaries of reality out to infinity! With this exposure, man appeared to be nothing in comparison. Here science purported a philosophy which assumed it impossible to believe in God as an almighty immanent, loving fa-

Darwin published in 1871 The Descent of Man. From this environment came the theory of the biological evolution of man which no longer considered man as a crowning act of creation. The problem continued as men meditated on the "fact" that man oozed from alime with the analis and beetles. The problem, then, multiplies with science's view of the universe and human values in the 2nd Law of Thermodynamics which states that the amount of available energy in the universe is dimintaking whereby in time all energy will be evenly distributed and therefore uscless. Further in this philosophy, life becomes what Shakespeare describes in Tragedy of Macbeth.

The question is: "What is life?" The answer is: "It is a tale told by an id-tot, full of sound and fury. Signifying nothing." The core of man's dilemma is the problem of relating his insatiable desire for self-preservation to the realities of a death-doomed body and an impersonal universe' (Edward John Carnell, An Introduction to Christian Apologetics).

Man really does remain in the predicament-having limited and short life; and he is far from the ideal of living without death. Man may then be only a grown-up germ-infeated with mortality and without meaning.

Four basic alternatives to

predicament

1. Most reject suicide as a course of action because of man's basic urge to live. 2. Some people ignore the problem of brittle mortality and live as if life has complete meaning. For example: "For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his life (Mark

3. Others admit the predicament but just try to make the best out of a bad situation. They say: "There is no virtue in playing the role of a whining child and making the problem worse ... (ibid., Carnell).

4. The fourth alternative states the belief that even in the state of imperfection there is meaning in the universe since it was made by God. Connected to this is a firm faith presupposition that there is a way to bring the body and soul together for an eternal existence and meaning.

The answer to the predicament

The predicament forces man to correctly answer the fundamental question: What is truth? Anything short of truth flies, false assumptions, mental fabrica-tions, error, deception) will not answer the predicament. If truth is not defined, man lives with an artificial world view, a false hope and mere wishful thinking. Without truth, there is no rational view of the universe. Therefore, no hope beyond limited empirical self can be secured.

Solomon breaks through predicament

her" (Proverba 3:13-15).

Happiness is finding wisdom in God. The Son of God said: "I am...the truth..." John 14). The nature of truth may be defined as a judgment which corresponds to things as they actually are. Since God is truth, truth must be linked to the mind of God. God is the Author of all facts and meaning. There is, therefore, no reality apart from the eternal nature of God Himself, and the universe which he has created to display His glory. God does not say that the chief end of man is to eat, drink, and be merry; therefore, this is not truth. God has the answer to man's predicament. It is God who is truth; and He is the only one who makes sense out of mortal life and secures immortality for man. Many by faith and trust in God may live forever by His gift of eternal life. This gift of grace is for those who perceive and seek the answer to their

WASHINGTON .- Sixty years ago, the Count Basie Orchestra opened at Harlem's Apollo Theater featuring Billie Holiday, Only a few daring women wore pants in public. And the conflict that would become World War 11 gained steam when Nazi-led German and Italian airmen destroyed the Spanish city of Guer-

In 1937, Ada Blanche Williams Lee, of Chantilly. Va., now 106, was already "middle-aged". In a world in which people barely 40 get se-riously depressed about being "old," "Miss Ada" is a revelation. In 1891--the birth year of this sweet-faced woman who daily sits at her kitchen window, watching neighbors and their children flit past--Benjamin Harrison was president and slavery had been history for more than a quarter-century What's it like, celebrating more than a century of birthdays? "It's just another day to me now," Lee says. "But I'm just thankful I'm here, thanking the Lord. ... So many people so much younger than I am, are down on the bed."

She pauses. "I'm 106 years old. ...That means something."

For Lee, it means walking unassisted, cooking for herself, reminding much-younger visitors what day it is and going out shopping. It means taking care -- good care--of her infirm son, Joe, 82, a former house painter who lives with her in their two-bedroom apartment.

Today she's a bit of a local treasure. Neighbors such as Willie Brooks, 53, drop by to help cook, do odd lobs--and to ask questions like mine, 237 18 " life better or worse?"

"Half Oldst half," she says slowly. "Today, there are no children-nothing's kept from them. People have no regard what they say or do around them. (Children) aren't to blame for what they do."

Pausing to call out, "Are you all right, Joe?" she continues when her son, resting in the living room, says, "Yes, ma'am."

Things are more convenient, ... We didn't know anything about a sink, water in the house. ... Automobiles, airplanes--you had an old horse and wagon. ... Back then, people weren't as friendly and all to the different races. I could write a history just about that." She's grinning again. 'But I'm old and grayhaired and-don't you write that!"

Listening to Miss Ada, seeing her quick amile and skin that's a soft, brown whirl like mocha ice cream, you understand why folks call some old people "precious". She's precious not just

New products debut this year

The Off Moth Proofers, Johnson Wax has a new product on the consumer market that may reduce some fabric damage from moths. Sold as a type of OFF Insect repellent product, the OFF MOTH PROOFER is composed of plastic containers about 2" x 1" x 1/4". A cover strip is pulled back to activate the substance. The gel is suppose to remain active for several months. When the gel turns into a powder, the unit should be replaced. Instructions indicate that one unit should be placed in small closets or drawers and two units in large drawers or closets. A handy self closet rod hanger is part of the purchase unit.

The active ingredient is Lavandin Oil which appears to be some type of herbal substance. Product information indicates that it has a pleasant lavender odor rather then the more objectionable scent characteristic of most moth prod-

New Fiber, Elastoester, Enters Fiber Lexicon*. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has settled on elastoester as the generic name for a new, stretchy fiber. Created by Japanese inventors, the fiber, which is similar but chemically different from spandex, is marketed for fabrics used in such things as swimwear, cycling shorts and ski pants. The clastoester name was used because the fiber has qualities of poly-

Conquering The Might Dust Mite*. According to vacuum manufacturers' estimates, onethird to one-half of all American households include an asthmatic or allergy-prone member. This adds up to a lot of people who have good reason to be wary of household dust. House dust may appear benevolent, but it actually contains chemicals from exhaust, lead and other sources--

Micro filtration bags, which increase a vacuum's ability to capture particles as small as one micron (0.001 of an inch) have been on the market since 1991. Chemically treated bags and bags designed to prevent dust leakage during changing are more recent innovations. At least one manufacturer offers a vacuum marketed as hypo-allergenic because, according to the manufacturer's claims, it removes 99.7 percent of particles as small as one micron. Another offers electrostatically charged filtration systems that charge dust particles as they are sucked through the machine, resulting in better dust retention. Others contain multi-stage Ditration systems, some with electrostatically charged final filter. but all are designed to better retain incoming dust. HEAP (High Efficiency Particulate Air) technology, the same technology usually found on air cleaners, allows a vacuum to capture 99.97 percent of particles down to 0.3 microns.

Industry experts predict filtration systems will become standard features a high-end vacuums, in much the same way as on-board tools. Although indoor air quality is a growing concern for many people, filtration is a secondary issue, except for those consumers with asthma, specific allergies or similar health concems. It drives up the initial cost of the vacuum. In addition, replacement Micro filtration bags cost about twice as much as standard one-ply

25-year marriage to alcoholic leaves wife, kids, dog fearful

I've been married to an alcoholic for 25 years. Actually, he quit drinking 10 years ago after I threatened to leave him. I thought that would be the best thing that could happen to us; but as it turned out, he was easier to live with when he was drunk. It seems he is mad all the time. He yells at all of us over nothing, drives like a maniac and sometimes he gets so nuts he kicks or punches holes in the walls and throws things around. I kept hoping that as time went on he would mellow out a little, but it's really gone the opposite way. The kids and I are all scared to death of him. Even the dog doesn't like to be around him.

Anyhow, I met a man at work last summer and there is clearly some chemistry between us. I find myself fantasizing about him all the time. The kids are almost grown and I think I deserve a few years of happiness before I get too old to care anymore.

To make a long story short, I'm thinking about leaving my husband and starting a new life that I'm sure would include my friend at work. I want this more than I've wanted anything for a very long time, but then I start feeling guilty because it neems so selfish of me. I keep going back and forth; first I'm going to leave, then I'm going to stay. My husband says I'm acting weird and it's getting on his nerves, so I'm going to have to make a decision one way or the other soon. I need some help to think this whole thing though. Undecided

Dear Undecided.

Being between a rock and a hard place isn't an easy place to be--that's where you are. If you decide to stay, you'll probably play the "what if" and "If only" game for the rest of your life. If you decide to leave, you will almost certainly go through one of the most difficult periods of your life as you deal with the feelings of guilt, failure and self-blame for ending your marriage. No one can decide which path is best for you. But one thing is for sureif you get involved with another man before you have come to a sense of conclusion with your new relationship by not having taken care of the unfinished business in your current relationship.

Get some counseling, join Al-Anon and promise yourself you will not become involved with anyone else while you are still married. Any other course of action will only make everything worse.

boy with an older brother who attends an out-of-town college. Since he entered college over a year ago, I have tried to convince my parents to let me switch bedrooms with him. Except for summer vacations, my brother rarely comes home, so his huge room is vacant most of the year. Although I am able to make use of his room in his absence, it is not truly mine, and I think it's unfair that I have been relegated to the smaller bedroom.

My parents don't want my bruther to feel dispossessed. They want him to know that he is always welcome here and that his things will be exactly the way he left them. I don't want him to feel dispossessed either, but couldn't he feel just as welcome in a smaller bedroom?

Abby, why does the younger brother always get the shaft? Please

Jan. 16: Winter Springs at Seminole, basketball, 7:30 p.m.

Winter Springs has served as a patsy through much of the season, but lately, the Bears are playing some tough basketball, capped off with a loss in the final seconds against state power Lake Howell.

Winston James, a sophomore, is one of the county's leading scorers and he will be one of the county's dominant forces over the next it's a growing season for the Bears but things are moving along better than most expected. They are a force in Class 3A and are beginning to hold their own against the big boys.

As for Seminole, it's been an up and down season, but mostly up. Daryl Redding. Cornelius Blue and Mequal Bush seem to take turns leading the team and last week, the Seminoles pulled out big time upacts against Lake Mary and Lake Brantley. It should be an interesting game as both teams gear up for districts.

Jan. 21: Oviedo at Lake Mary, boys basketball, 7:30 p.m.

Oviedo always seems to find a way to win. Whether it's Seth Fowler, Josh Cullen, Brad Combes or any of the Lion's other contributors, somebody always seems to step it up when Oviedo needs a hero.

Now, it is Lake Mary that needs a hero. Paul Beik has been the team leader all season long but he dislocated his knee in a big win over Lake Brantley last week. His status is questionable, but the Rams have been bolstered by the return of big man Jamal Harrison and guard Alphonso Davis. Harrison came up big against the Patriots and showed he can dominate a game at spurts.

Oviedo doesn't have Lake Mary's height, but Lake Mary doesn't have Oviedo's ball handling and shooting. The Lions seem to have the top spot in the districts clinched, but Lake Mary has been playing well and the two teams could meet again down the road.

Jan. 22: Lake Mary at Oviedo. Qirls basketball, 7:30 p.m.

If you can't get out to Oviedo, stop by lake Howell where Seminole has its second big non-district game in a week.

Lake Howell and its terrorists who roam the baseline blocking every shot in sight, is led by guard Reggie Kohn, and are still in the running for top spot in the districts. What the Silver Hawks have to look out for is looking past the Seminoles as a home game against Oviedo looms ahead.

Lake Howell showed effects of its tough loss to Oviedo last week by escaping against Winter Springs, but don't expect coach Steve Kohn to allow his team another let down.

Give Seminole credit. They are a Class 5A school that plays mostly 6A schools and Bob Traina never lets his kids back down. Even in a loss to Oviedo last week, the 'Noles played hard the whole way.

Jan. 22: Seminole at Lyman, girls basketball, 7:30 p.m.

It will be the final home game of the season for the Lady Greyhounds, so look for coach Bruce Bonaventure's team to come out fired up. They are in a battle with Oviedo for second place in districts, but Oviedo got the upper hand with a large win last week over Lyman. The Hickey twins - Brianne and Meghanne - lead Lyman and this will be a great tuneup for districts.

As for the Lady 'Noles, they never quit. Last week against Lake Mary, Seminole was all over the floor even as the score became insurmountable. Then, they had Oviedo beaten until a late rally by the Lady Lions. Coach Sylvester Wynn gets the most out of his girls and Shemetka Stokes has been playing a huge role lately.

THE WEEK IN Sandidge a prophet?

Lyman boys' soccer team claims SAC crown

By TONY DeSORMIER Herald correspondent

LONGWOOD _ Two years ago, Ray Sandidge made a commitment that might have been grounds for having him committed.

"I'm going with these underclassmen," said Sandidge during the then-Pizza Hut Invitational boys' soccer tournament. In a couple of years, these sophomores and freshmen have the chance to be an outstanding team. They just

Last year, Sandidge's forecast seemed questionable as the Greyhounds suffered through what was, by Lyman boys' soccer standards, a nightmarish campaign.

When this season began with key players suffering injuries and others being lost for other reasons, it looked like Sandidge's prediction may have been wishful thinking.

Now, with three games to go in the regular season, Sandidge seems like Nostradamus: after finishing second in the prestigious D'Adora Tournament in Tumpa and winning the Florida Hospital Invitational, the Greyhounds' season of resurrection continued Thursday when they claimed the Seminole Athletic Conference championship with a 1-0 win over the Lake Howell Silver Hawks.

"This is just another step," said Sandidge, whose team was ranked No. 5 in Thursday's Florida Sports Writers' Association/Florida Athletic Coaches Association's Class 6A state poll. I'm proud of these guys. They've worked hard and had to deal with a lot the last two

Along with claiming the SAC crown, Lyman (13-3 and 4-0 in both the district and conference) clinched the No. I seed position in the 6A-District 3 tournament.

They deserve to be conference champs," said Lake Howell coach Travis Betsinger, whose Silver Hawka were No. 10 in the FSWA/FACA state poll. They're an outstanding side. They're really rolling right now."

Not that the Silver Hawks went without a conatderable tusale Thursday; like most SAC boys' soccer matches, the two teams spent much of the match challenging each other just within the bounds of acceptably physical play.

That apparently was also the assessment of referee Gary Hundley, who handed out four yellow cards (two to Lyman in the match's first eight minutes) and had a demonstrative meeting with the captains from the two schools at midfield during halftime.

"This is how I remember SAC soccer matches being when I played at Lake Mary, very intense," said Beisinger. "Both teams played hard and the fans were really into it."

Lyman dominated play in the first half, sending nine shots on goal. Of the nine, Lake Howell keeper Jeff Subbert made saves on five. Jason Diebler headed one shot just over the cross bar while teammate Adrian Pedrosa hit both the left and right posts with shots.

Less than a minute into the second half, Ryan Potts hit the post. Later in the half, Potts nailed the cross bar with a shot.

But the Greyhounds finally broke through for the Silver Hawks' luck finally ran out, take your pick) when Chris Sonntag slid a shot between Subbert and the left post at 41:15.

After that, it was up to Greyhound goalle
