Sanford To Require 'Devices,' But Won't Sponsor Sale Contract

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A new ordinance adopted by the Sanford City Commission Monday night will require the installation of water-saving devices in all new homes built in the city.

But the commission turned down a contract to sponsor the sale of the devices for use in existing homes after a city commissioner said toilet dams stopped up the plumbing at his home. And, he said, his water bills have not gone down even though the devices have been used in his home for seven months.

In fact, Commissioner Milton Smith said his water bill went up by $3 last month.

And Commissioner David Farr said a friend in the plumbing-supply business told him devices like those being sold by New Resources Group Inc. (NRG), of Milford, N.H., and Boston, can be purchased for about half the price the non-profit conservation group is charging.

The commission unanimously balked on the proposed contract with NRG calling for the city to pay $72,000 in advance for 3,000 kits of devices and a five-week educational and distribution program.

The kits, containing two water-closet dams, an especially designed shower head and a faucet aerator, were to be sold to Sanford residents for $15 each, with the city to pay an additional $3 education fee for each device sold.

The city was to recover all but the $3 educational fee through sales. The proposed contract provided that any unsold kits could be returned to NRG for reimbursement.

Smith said he purchased a kit of the devices at a Florida League of Cities meeting in Orlando last October.

He said the toilet at his home stopped up last week and that he is convinced the problem was created by the dams not allowing enough water to run through the commode. "I want the people to be aware," he said. The dams are designed to restrict the flow of water.

Commissioner Ned Yancey said his home was built in 1953 and the shower head will not fit the house's plumbing.

Moore questioned whether the city should spend some $3 per kit to educate the public on the use of the devices. He noted the city of Orlando is getting television coverage for an identical program and that education should be enough for Sanford too.

Smith said, "I have confidence in the material if the people know how to use it. But I can't truthfully say I've been saving any water."

"We should promote water conservation with our constituents, but they should be able to buy from anyone they please. If we endorse these (the NRG devices), the people might feel we are urging them to buy them," Smith said.

Smith made it clear that NRG is free to come into Sanford and sell its devices like any other business without city support if it wishes to.

The City Commission has been discussing the NRG program and devices for more than two months. Several weeks ago it rejected the idea of providing the devices free of charge to city water customers.

Instead, it tentatively agreed to permit NRG to operate a five-week educational-sales program for the devices. The city was to pay about $24,000 for the educational program, with customers paying the $15 per kit.

An identical program is to begin in the city of Lake Mary on May 24.

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson said today, "I certainly hope Commissioner Smith's experience is not typical. Our city manager, Phil Kulbes, has had a kit in his house for several months and is happy with it."

Sorenson said Lake Mary has signed a contract with NRG and will begin the water conservation program on schedule.

Representatives of NRG have said the devices could conserve as much as 40 percent of the water usually used in a home.

How To Pay For Drains Is Problem

Is there any way Sanford can come up with $11 million to finance a citywide drainage program?

The City Commission discussed several options Monday night, but none appeared feasible.

And a suggestion by Commissioner Milton Smith that drainage improvements be done on a "pay as you go" piecemeal basis was rejected by his colleagues, Commissioner David Farr. Smith asked whether a drainage program could be done on an annual basis with drainage provided first where it is needed most.

Farr said that if citywide drainage could be provided on a pay-as-you-go plan, it would be excellent. "But it can't be done," he added.

Attacking one part of the drainage problem would actually worsen the flooding situation in another part of the city, he said.

Among the options the commission discussed and rejected were:

— Seeking voter approval by referendum of a general obligation bond issue for drainage. The issue would pledge the city's full faith and credit and would require raising property taxes to pay the bonds off over a period of years. Twice before, Sanford's residents have turned down bond issues for drainage improvements.

— Attempting to float a "revenue" bond issue for drainage by pledging the city's $400,000 annual franchise tax receipts from the Florida Power & Light Co. and the anticipated $300,000 annual receipts from the state sales tax increase.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said that by using those funds the city would be stripped of money. He said property taxes would have to be raised to replace the funds. Today, he estimated, it would take a tax of $5 per $1,000 assessed value of real property to replace the $700,000.

— Placing on referendum a 1-cent sales-tax increase applicable only at businesses operating in the city.

Commissioner Milton Smith noted that state law permits a county's largest city to opt for the tax increase if the County Commission does not.

Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said today that the mood of his colleagues "is that we are not interested (in the option to levy the tax) at this time." But, he added, the commission might change its mind due to heavy transportation needs. It has been estimated that a countywide 1-cent sales tax could bring the county more than $4 million in revenue annually.

The voters, in referendum, would have to approve the tax before it could be levied by either the county or the city.

The commission showed no interest in the possibility Monday night.

It instructed Knowles and City Attorney Bill Colbert to determine how much it would cost to finance so large a project.

The residents of Sanford first turned down at the polls a proposed $3 million bond issue for citywide drainage improvements in 1968.

By 1975 the cost of the program had risen to $6.16 million, and the voters again turned down a proposed bond issue.

Knowles told the commission Monday night that citywide drainage would now cost $10.69 million plus right-of-way costs. He said that if existing collector lines had to be rebuilt, or new lines had to be added, the cost would be higher.

And City Engineer Mack LaZemby said the city might have problems in getting approval from numerous federal and state agencies now regulating drainage programs. While regulations on storm drainage some years ago permitted directing the water into moving streams, regulations today require that drainage water be held in retention ponds and that it be chemically treated.

Sanford Seeks Bids Anyway

Can City Afford Mosquito Spraying?

Mosquitoes have become fierce in Sanford this season, and the answer to the problem may be aerial spraying. But the cost could be beyond what the city can afford.

Nevertheless, the City Commission on Monday night instructed City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles to get bids on an aerial eradication program.

Knowles said that from estimates received several years ago the cost could run as high as $50,000 every 10 days throughout the eight-month-long mosquito-breeding season.

The action came after he reported that it would cost the city $23,650 to reinstitute a mosquito-fogging program in the city.

Such a program would not be effective but would satisfy the people psychologically, he said.

Knowles said that when the city used a more effective insecticide in the mosquito fogger some years ago, people didn't believe it helped, since they couldn't see a fog.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said he and Commissioner Milton Smith have received complaints from residents about the droves of mosquitoes. He said the insects infesting Sanford are a small, black variety that are "fierce."

He added that using a mosquito fogger creates a hazard because children running through the fog could be hit by vehicles.

Moore said that in other cities where he has lived it never occurred to him that mosquitoes were a problem of local government.

Today, however, "Providing service is local government's excuse for existence," Moore said. He agreed that pesticides are ineffective against the mosquitoes.

Commissioner Eddie Keith said that if residents would clean up their yards and remove standing water where mosquitoes breed, they could alleviate the problem.

And Knowles responded that government can't be all things to all people. He said the city could send around the city a mosquito fogger operated with diesel fuel only and that the people would feel better off psychologically.

Voters Will Decide Oct. 5 On County Library Expansion

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County voters will decide whether they want to finance a proposed $6.8 million expansion and upgrading of the county library system when they step into the voting booths Oct. 5.

The library's referendum steering committee pored over details of the proposed expansion with the County Commission at a workshop session Monday, and although the commission took no formal action on the proposal, it is expected to officially consider the referendum at its May 25 meeting.

Only three commissioners, Chairman Robert Sturm, Robert G. "Bud" Feather and Bill Kirchhoff were in attendance at the workshop in which referendum steering committee chairman Carolyn Durak outlined the expansion proposal. The committee's recommendations include the construction or expansion of six branch library facilities. The total cost of the package is $6,662,700.

According to the committee's findings, in order for the county library system to keep pace with rapid population growth, new expansion or construction should include:

— A 4,500-square-foot expansion of the existing facility in Sanford by 1984 — cost, $359,000.

— The construction of a 12,000-square-foot branch library in the Forest City-Wekiva area by 1984, cost, $1,400,000.

— The construction of a 3,000-square-foot branch library in Oviedo by 1986 — cost, $370,000.

— The construction of an 18,000-square-foot branch library in Casselberry by 1988 — cost, $1,700,000.

— The construction of an 8,000-square-foot branch library in Lake Mary by 1990 — cost, $428,000.

— The construction of a 12,000-square-foot branch library in the Lake Howell-Tusawilla area by 1992 — cost, $1,400,000.

Financing a bond issue for the $6 million-plus construction program would cost county taxpayers 33 cents per $1,000 on a 20-year bond issue. By opting for a 10-year bond issue, taxpayers would cut interest payments in half, but the tax levy would rise to 43 cents per $1,000. On a 20-year bond issue, homeowners paying tax on a $50,000 property would be paying $16.50 per year in library taxes, while a 10-year bond issue would result in a $21.50 library tax per year based on the same property value.

Currently, the county library system operates just two facilities, the main branch in Seminole Plaza in Casselberry and another branch on First Street in Sanford.

The Seminole system, once a part of the Orlando Public Library until 1978, spends $3.74 per resident, compared to Orlando's $7.05 per resident. The state average expenditure per resident is $6.00.

County Librarian Jean Rhein said the average book-per-resident ratio is 1.3, while Seminole County's current book-

Downtown Project Rehearing Sought

How time is determined as to when a court "judgment is rendered" may have opened the door for Sanford lawyer G. Algernon Speer to ask for a rehearing on the Sanford downtown development plan.

Speer on Monday filed a motion in Circuit Court Clerk Arthur H. Beckwith's office seeking the rehearing in a five-page document.

In asking for the rehearing, Speer said that Judge Roger Dykes in rendering his decision failed to consider that the city's proposed development plan is not for a public purpose but to benefit downtown businesses; creates a public nuisance by increasing the flooding of stores and sidewalks on First Street; and unlawfully takes a portion of private property without paying compensation to the owners.

City Attorney Bill Colbert said he received a copy of Speer's motion in the mail today and is looking it over.

It had been believed that Speer had 10 days to file a motion for rehearing after Dykes' April 19 decision. However, since Dykes' decision wasn't officially made part of the court file until April 29, Speer apparently is basing his rehearing time on that date.

The City Commission on Monday night delayed moving ahead with downtown development pending any appeals by Speer.

The city's plan is to beautify the downtown area by adding decorative planters, resurfacing streets and closing a portion of Magnolia Avenue to vehicular traffic to create a pedestrian mall.

Implementing the plan has been delayed since Speer and nine other downtown property and business owners filed suit a year ago. — DONNA ESTES

Issue Of Abortion Causes Doc Enormous Difficulty

DEAR ABBY: You published my letter last March in which I took issue with your statement, "If the parents cannot agree whether to terminate the pregnancy, the decision should be the mother's because it's her body."
I said, "Pregnancy is not simply the state of a woman's body. It is also the stage in another person's life. The whole issue of abortion is difficult enough when both parents agree, but to deny one parent his share in that decision, just because he doesn't agree with the other parent who by biological accident happens to be in control, is unconscionable." My closing remark was, "After all, you could not claim as your own another person's car parked in your garage."
In your published response you said, "A woman's body is not a garage that can be rented by the week or month."

In a subsequent personal unpublished letter to me you wrote, "Now don't tell me you aren't with the right-to-lifers. You're certainly not pro-choice!"

Wrong! And right! I am still getting letters of congratulations from pro-lifers, which shows how poorly I expressed myself. However, I am not with the pro-lifers; neither am I with the pro-choicers. I have enormous difficulty with the issue of abortion.

In the case of an unwanted child who would be severely emotionally or physically crippled by child abuse because he wasn't wanted in the first place, I would have to opt for abortion to prevent that kind of suffering. But I cannot take lightly the argument that abortion is murder.

DEAR DR. HEINEMAN: At last we agree. Every child has a right to be a wanted child.

Woman's Club Installs, Reviews Year

The Longwood Woman's Club met May 4 at Duffs in Forest City for the installation of officers and luncheon.

President Gladys Piloian conducted a brief business meeting and thanked all officers and committee chairman for their help in the club year success. She also gave a resume of the club's fulfilled agenda, the highlight being the soon-to-be traffic lights installed at State Road 427 and Longwood Post Office intersection initiated by the club's 1,000 signatures.

Maxine McGrath, historical library chairman gave the yearly briefing of the library activities and added the appreciation given to Blanche Kissan, librarian, with a gift certificate. She also reported the success of the April 18 fifth annual Old Timer's celebration of which she was chairman.

The president announced the appointment of Louise Buffalo to be the Fall Bazaar Festival chairman and urged members to start collecting saleable items.

Changes in the bylaws were voted on and approved. Installation ceremonies were conducted by Mollie Steudle with each new officer receiving a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Steudle was presented with a gift in appreciation for her generous talent and time given to the club.

New officers are: president, Gladys Piloian; first vice president, Ida Cox; second vice president, June Lormann; secretary, Marion White; treasurer, Louise Buffalo; and trustees, Mmes. Lormann, Piloian and McGrath.

Before adjournment, a birthday cake was presented by Duffs' management to honor the May birthdays of Mmes. Weber, Lormann and Piloian.

President Piloian was presented with a chrysanthemum plant from the members.

"And please, Lord, help me to get through the wedding preparations without a squabble with the 'other side.' And drive from my mind the belief that had my child waited a while, she or he could have done better."

"Dear Lord, remind me daily that when I become a grandmother, my children don't want any advice on how to raise their children any more than I did when I was raising mine."

"If you will help me to do these things, perhaps my children will find me a joy to be around, and maybe I won't have to write a 'Dear Abby' letter complaining about my children neglecting me." a

A Peachy Way To End Evening

Soup Makes Meal

For many of us, there is the physical necessity of not only eating less, but the economic necessity of eating for less. For these combined reasons, we are seeing more soup and salad combinations on restaurant dinner menus and serving them often in our homes. Hearty soups — warm, filling and made more toothsome and nutritious by the simple addition of turkey ham.

As you become more familiar with these hearty-type soups, you will find that the flavor and texture are even better the second day. So, think ahead! In fact, thinking even further ahead, double the recipe, eat some now and freeze meal-size portions for that "rainy day." Slip a clean plastic bag inside a square plastic food storage container, fill, seal and label with the name of soup and date.

SPLIT PEA SOUP
2 cups (1 pound) split peas
2 quarts cold water
1 carrot, peeled and diced fine

1 stalk celery, with leaves, chopped fine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon thyme

1 pound turkey ham, cubed
Salt and pepper to taste

Check split peas and rinse thoroughly in strainer with cold water. In large pot, combine split peas, water, carrot, celery, onion, bay leaf and thyme. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for about 40 minutes. Add turkey ham and continue cooking for an additional 20 minutes. Taste and add salt and pepper accordingly. More hot water can be added if soup gets too thick. Flavor is best if soup is refrigerated overnight, reheated and served the next day. May be frozen. Yield: about 3 quarts.

LIMA BEAN SOUP
2 cups (1 pound) small or large white lima beans or white Michigan beans
Water to cover
1 large onion, chopped
1 pound turkey ham, diced
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Check beans, then rinse in strainer with cold water. Place in large pot, cover with cold water and soak overnight. Drain and re-cover with water. Add chopped onion and simmer for about 4 hours until beans are cooked tender. Add turkey ham and simmer for an additional 20 minutes. Add salt and pepper to suit taste. Just before serving, bruise beans with large spoon, enough to cloud. Yield: about 2-1/2 quarts.

TURKEY HAM MINESTRONE
1/4 pound bacon, diced
1/2 pound turkey ham, diced
1 large onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (10-3/4 ounces) bean and bacon soup
1 can (10-3/4 ounces) beef broth

1 1/2 cups chopped carrots
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped cabbage
1/2 cup green beans or peas
1 cup spaghetti, broken in pieces

1/4 cup minced fresh parsley or 2 tablespoons dry parsley
1 teaspoon dry sweet basil
Tomato juice, if needed, or water
Salt and freshly ground pepper
Freshly grated parmesan cheese

Fry bacon until transparent. Add turkey ham, onion and garlic. Saute, stirring constantly. Add tomatoes, bean and bacon soup, beef broth, celery, carrots, cabbage, green beans or peas, spaghetti, parsley and basil. Simmer until fresh vegetables are tender — 20 to 30 minutes, adding tomato juice or water if soup is too thick. Taste and add salt and pepper if needed. Yield: about 3 quarts.

What better way to cap off a warm evening than by combining two favorites from the Old South — peaches and pecans — into one delicious dessert.

Crunchy chopped pecans are folded into tasty shortcakes. Juicy, fresh peaches are then spooned between the warm halves and over the tops. And such a delectable dessert deserves a royal crown. Top these Peachy Pecan Shortcakes with whipped cream and a final pecan half.

PEACHY PECAN SHORTCAKES

Pecan Shortcakes (below)

1 cup chilled whipping cream
1/4 cup powdered sugar
3 or 4 fresh peaches, sliced or 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen peach slices thawed and drained
Pecan halves
Bake shortcakes. Beat whipping cream and powdered sugar in chilled bowl until stiff. Split warm shortcakes; spoon peaches between halves and over tops. Top with whipped cream and garnish with pecan halves. 8 servings.
Pecan Shortcakes:

1 1/3rd cup chopped pecans
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
1/2 cup milk

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Mix all ingredients until soft dough forms. Gently smooth dough into ball on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Knead 8 to 10 times. Roll dough 1/2 inch thick. Cut with floured 3-inch cutter. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet until golden brown, 10 to 12 minutes.

Hors D'Oeuvres To Fit Season

Fresh clams are appearing in supermarkets across the country and that means many people are being introduced to this delicate seafood for the first time.

CLAMS IDAHO

24 fresh clams
Rock salt (or coarse grain salt)
1 envelope (3 1/2 ounces) Idaho dehydrated instant mashed potatoes
2 strips bacon

2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons horseradish
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon liquid hot pepper sauce
Clean and open clams. Remove from shells; drain. Reserve halves of cleansed shells. Fill bottom of shallow baking pan with rock salt; preheat in 400-degree oven.
While salt is heating, prepare mashed potatoes according to package directions. Fry bacon until well browned; chop finely.

Add bacon, onion, horseradish, parsley and hot pepper sauce to prepared potatoes; mix well.
Arrange clam shells on hot rock salt. Place a clam in each shell. Spoon a mound of potato mixture on top of each clam. Broil about 6 inches from heat until potato is lightly browned. Garnish each shell with a fresh parsley sprig, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 appetizers.

Fare For A Picnic

In most parts of the country it's time to dust off the picnic baskets. Homemade take-along fruit bars will be stars of your favorite picnic menu since they're filled with pitted prunes, apricots, oats and nuts heightened by a coconut rum liqueur.

These fruit bars also make nice hostess gifts and a treat for the elderly whose doctors allow such an item in their diet.

Another nutty favorite is a double-nut cheese ball.

TAKE-ALONG FRUIT BARS

1/2 cup chopped pitted prunes
1/2 cup chopped dried apricots
2-3rd cup coconut rum liqueur, divided
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup quick cooking oats
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Cocobite Frosting
Soak prunes and apricots in 1-3rd cup liqueur for 1/2 hour. In large bowl of electric mixer cream butter and brown sugar; add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla.

Sift together flour, baking powder and baking soda; stir into creamed mixture. Add oats, nuts and fruits with liqueur. Stir just until mixed. Spread in a greased 13-by-9-1/2-inch baking pan. Bake in a 375-degree oven 25 minutes.

Remove from oven; let stand 10 minutes. Pierce cake with cake tester or three-prong fork; pour remaining 1-3rd cup liqueur over cake. Cool; frost with Cocobite Frosting. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 bars (1-by-3 inches).

COCOBITE FROSTING

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup coconut rum liqueur
In small bowl of electric mixer cream butter; gradually add sugar and liqueur. Beat until mixture is smooth and creamy. Spread on cooled fruit bars.

DOUBLE-NUT CHEESE BALL

2 cups (1/2 pound) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature
6 tablespoons coconut rum liqueur

1-3rd cup raisins
1/4 cup finely chopped toasted almonds
1-3rd cup sliced toasted almonds

In small bowl combine Cheddar cheese, cream cheese, liqueur, raisins and chopped almonds; mix well. Place on waxed paper; shape into a ball. Chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm.

Roll in sliced almonds. Serve with thinly sliced French bread or crackers. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 ball about 4-inches in diameter.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

May 13, 1982
Don't be content with the status quo this coming year. Your potential for major achievements is very promising. Raise your sights and establish higher goals. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Allow yourself ample time today where a major goal is concerned. Even though you will be successful, you might not pull it off on the first try. Predictions of what's in store for you for each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

You're extremely resourceful today in resolving difficult problems for which associates can't find answers. Put your bright mind to work and help them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Beneficial changes are likely to come into play today in two areas that thus far have had you stymied. These shifting conditions will make what you have to do easier.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

The odds tend to favor you today in situations calling for smart negotiating or bargaining. Don't settle for less than your terms.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

You should be rather lucky today in the ability to turn involvements seemingly of little or no potential into something personally profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

In activities with pals today where a bit of friendly competition is involved, you're likely to be a notch or two better than your peers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Today, stay on top of financial or security matters important to you until they are finalized to your satisfaction. Happy endings are likely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Early in the day you may not be in the best frame of mind. However, once you begin to rub elbows with others you will be quite charming and electrifying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Be on your toes today. Something unusual might suddenly develop in your work or career. If handled correctly, this could bring you additional earnings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

There should be a lessening of restrictive conditions today, allowing you to function more independently and to take charge of matters that have been controlled by others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

You could be quite lucky today in participating in enterprises originated by others that are now under way. Accept, if invited in.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

An important relationship with one with whom you haven't been on the best of terms should begin to improve. Better understandings will be reached.

Early Man Was Much Too Small To Hunt

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—I just read your column where you said sugar was not a health hazard. I have read that early man lived primarily on protein from hunting wild animals and that carbohydrates were really not man's natural food. Also I understand that you get more energy from protein than you do from carbohydrates. Isn't it true that sugar and sweets are the main cause of gaining weight? And isn't being overweight a health hazard? I'd like to hear your remarks on this.

DEAR READER—The statement that man ate wild beasts in his early development is summed by some fat books promoting low-carbohydrate and high-protein diets. The truth is that early man was primarily a vegetarian. He was too small to hunt the bear, hairy mammoth or other animals. H.G. Wells stated, "Man was probably the hunted, rather than the hunter."

Primitive man lived on fruits, berries, vegetables and later started cultivation for cereals. The grinding teeth of early man are those of a vegetarian rather than the sharp overriding canine teeth of the carnivores.

Both carbohydrate and protein contain four calories per gram. In fact, protein is in food that is usually emptied slower from the stomach than carbohydrates such as sweets. As a result protein is not available for energy as immediately as many carbohydrates, particularly the refined carbohydrates such as sweets. As a result protein is not available for energy as immediately as many carbohydrates, particularly the refined carbohydrates such as sugar. And protein is broken down into amino acids. Some of these are converted to glucose sugar to provide energy.

Consuming more calories than your body uses is what causes a person to gain fat deposits, whether the calories are from carbohydrate, protein, fat or even alcohol. A gram of fat contains nine calories, more than twice as many calories as a gram of heavy meals in the evening may cause indigestion when you lie down soon afterward but in terms of calories there is no difference.

The same is true of the calories used in exercise. Whether you use the calories in the morning or evening makes no difference. But if you exercise in the morning it may energize you and start your day off well while exercise too close to bedtime may keep you awake.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been told that it is worse to have food intake during the evening and late evening hours than in the morning and early part of the day. And also I have been told that doing exercise in the morning is more beneficial than before going to bed. Is this true? If so, why?

WIN AT BRIDGE

partner cashes the ace and king and continues the suit. South ruffs, leads the four of clubs to dummy's king and plays a spade to his queen and your ace.

You have three tricks in and need a fourth if you want to keep South from winning the rubber.

Where is that fourth trick going to come from? Can your partner hold the ace of diamonds?

You decide that he can't for two reasons. One is that South really needs that ace for his jump bid. The other is that if your partner held it in addition to ace-king of hearts he would almost surely have found some bid over the club opening.

Can East have a club trick? No way. If South holds three clubs your partner will only hold two. If your partner holds three to the queen, then South will only hold two.

Finally, you see one ray of hope. Your partner may hold the 10 of trumps. You lead a fourth heart. Lo and behold your partner ruffs with that beautiful 10 spot and your side gets its fourth trick.

Bread Baking

Planners Turn To 'From Scratch' Trend

Meal planners today are predominantly concerned with nutrition and quality, according to a recent Gallup Study of food preparation habits. The trend is likely to continue, due to consumer awareness as well as necessity. Statistics in the survey indicate a strong relationship between these concerns and the preparation of food from scratch. Seventy one percent agreed that foods prepared from scratch are more nutritious and better than pre-packaged foods.

Homemade yeast breads were high on the list of foods prepared from scratch, the survey indicated. Bread's primary ingredients — yeast, flour, milk, margarine and sugar — make it a rich source of essential and natural B-vitamins and minerals. Whole grain flour adds fiber to the diet. What's more, homemade yeast breads are economical to bake. Consumers save 40-50 percent per loaf by making their own. Forty percent of all consumers bake with yeast. The majority of these bakers are employed outside the home — startling news in a day and age when time pressures are demanding. Today's stream-lined recipes and modern appliances make bread-baking enjoyable as well as delicious!

The preference for quality foods made from scratch sparks an interest in new, better food preparation appliances, the Gallup Study suggested: consumers are looking to produce a better finished product while saving on energy costs.

MEXICAN CORN BREAD

- (Makes 2 loaves)
- 3/4 to 4-1/4 cups unbleached flour
  - 1/2 cup corn meal
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 3 packages active dry yeast
  - 1/2 cup cream style corn
  - 1/2 cup water
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 2 tablespoons margarine
  - 1/2 cup grated onion
  - 1 teaspoon chili powder
  - 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In a large mixing bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, corn meal, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine corn, water, milk and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until very warm (120 degrees F to 130 degrees F). Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add onion, chili powder and 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in cheese and enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl turning to grease top. Cover with foil. Set bowl in convection turbo-oven with temperature control knob set midpoint between off and 150 degrees F (air should be warm, not hot, about 85 degrees F), until dough doubles in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down, turn out onto a lightly floured board. Divide dough in half; roll each half out to an 8-inch circle. Place in 2 greased 8-inch round pans. Lightly grease tops. Let rise in convection oven until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake in convection oven at 300 degrees F for 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

CONVENTIONAL OVEN DIRECTIONS:
When preparing dough for baking in a conventional oven, let dough rise in a warm, draft-free place, until doubled, about 1 hour each time.

Bake in conventional oven at 375 degrees F for 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Remove from pans. Cool on wire racks.

WHOLE WHEAT BRAN ROLLS

- (Makes 18 Rolls)
- 4-1/2 to 4-3/4 cups unbleached white flour
  - 2 cups unbleached whole wheat flour
  - 1 cup 100 pct. bran cereal
  - 1 tablespoon salt
  - 3 packages active dry yeast
  - 1-1/4 cups water
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1/2 cup dark molasses
  - one-third cup margarine
  - 1 egg white, slightly beaten
  - 1 tablespoon cold water
  - sesame seed

Combine flours. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour mixture, 100 percent bran cereal, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine water, milk, molasses and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F to 130 degrees F). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour mixture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes (dough may be sticky). Place in greased bowl turning to grease top. Cover with foil. Set bowl in convection turbo-oven with temperature control knob set midpoint between off and 150 degrees F (air should be warm, not hot, about 85 degrees F), until dough doubles in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Punch dough down; divide in half. On a lightly floured board, roll each half to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into circles using a 4-inch cookie cutter. Reroll scraps. Place on greased baking sheets. Lightly grease tops. Let rise in convection oven until doubled, about 35-45 minutes.

Combine egg white and 1 tablespoon cold water; brush rolls gently with mixture. Sprinkle with sesame seed.

Bake in convection oven at 300 degrees F for 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

Conventional Ovens Directions:
When preparing dough for baking in a conventional oven, let dough rise in a warm, draft-free place, until doubled, about 1 hour each time.

Bake in conventional oven at 375 degrees F for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from sheets and cool on wire racks.

CRUSTY RYE BREAD

- (Makes 2 Loaves)
- 4 to 4-1/2 cups unbleached white flour
  - 2 cups unbleached rye flour
  - 3 packages active dry yeast
  - 2 cups warm water (105 degrees F to 115 degrees F)
  - one-third cup firmly packed light brown sugar
  - 2 tablespoons margarine, softened
  - 1 tablespoon salt
  - 1 tablespoon caraway seed
  - 1 egg white
  - 1 tablespoon cold water

Combine flours; set aside. In measuring cup dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup warm water (105 degrees F - 115 degrees F). In large bowl combine remaining water, brown sugar, margarine, salt and caraway seed. Stir in dissolved yeast.

Gradually add 2 cups flour mixture and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour mixture; beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover with foil. Place in convection oven with temperature control knob set to midpoint between off and 150 degrees F (air should be warm, not hot, about 85 degrees F), until dough doubles in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board (use white flour to flour board if rye flour mixture is completely used). Divide dough in half. Form each half into an oval. Place on greased baking sheets. Grease tops lightly. Place in convection oven until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Slash the top of each oval with a sharp razor blade. Combine egg white and cold water; brush loaves.

Bake in convection oven at 325 degrees F for 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from sheets and cool on wire racks.

Conventional Oven Directions:
When preparing dough for baking in a conventional oven, let dough rise in a warm, draft-free place, until doubled, about 1 hour each time.

Bake in conventional oven at 400 degrees F for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from sheets and cool on wire racks.

Fresh bread can be a pleasure to bake.

Microwave Magic

Turkey Parts
Make Tasty
Main Dish

One of the better buys at the meat counter recently has been turkey parts, especially the hind quarters and legs and thighs. If purchasing five or more pounds, the cost is 39 cents a pound.

Microwave cooking of the parts is not a lengthy process and with a browning agent such as Kitchen Bouquet produces an attractive and tasty main dish.

To cook a turkey hind quarter place the section on a rack, cut-side up. Cover with wax paper. Estimate the total cooking time; divide in half 50 percent power, 13-16 minutes per pound. Microwave at 100 percent power reduce to 50 percent (medium). Microwave remaining part of the first half of time. Turn turkey over. Brush skin with bouquet sauce. Cover. Microwave remaining time or until internal temperature of thigh muscle registers 165 in thickest part. Let stand 10 minutes, tented with foil to keep hot.

That's the basic way to microwave a turkey hind quarter, but you might like a change of sauce, or perhaps would like to do the leg, thigh, or wings separately, so here are some easy glazes and sauces to try while these are available at a bargain.

BARBECUED TURKEY LEGS
(18-14 minutes per pound)

- 1 cup bottled barbecue sauce
- 2 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 4 turkey legs

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

1 teaspoon lemon juice
Mix barbecue sauce mustard and lemon juice. Place turkey legs in hot dish, with meatiest parts to outside of dish. Brush with half the sauce. Cover. Microwave 100 percent power the first 5 minutes. Reduce power to 50 percent. Microwave remainder of first half of time. Turn over and re-arrange the legs. Coat with remaining sauce. Cover. Microwave remaining time, or until meat near bone is no longer pink.

CREAMY TURKEY THIGHS
(15-19 minutes per pound)

- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon parsley flakes
- 1/2 teaspoon sage
- 2 turkey thighs

Combine all ingredients except thigh. Place thigh skin-side down in hot dish. Pour sauce over turkey. Cover with wax paper. Microwave at 100 percent power first minutes. Reduce power to 50 percent power microwave remainder of first half of time. Turn over and rearrange thighs. Spoon sauce over meat. Cover. Microwave remaining time or until meat near the bone is no longer over pink. (Removing the skin before cooking will reduce the fat content)

HONEY-GLAZED TURKEY WINGS
(13-17 minutes per pound)

- 4 turkey wings
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 2 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet

Combine all ingredients except turkey wings in 2 cup measure. Microwave 100 percent power 1-3 minutes. Place wings meatiest side down on roasting rack, brush with half the glaze. Microwave at 100 percent power the first 5 minutes. Reduce power to 50 percent power. Microwave remainder of first half of time. Turn over and rearrange wings. Brush with remaining glaze. Microwave for second half of the time or until meat near bone is no longer pink.

Great eating at the "Anytime Feast" begins with Asparagus Frittata and ends with Peanutty Cranberry Cake.

'Anytime Feast' Easy To Prepare

It makes a great brunch when you're expecting weekend guests. It's fine for a leisurely lunch on the patio. Add a tossed salad, and it's an ideal Sunday night supper. It's the "Anytime Feast!"

Quite simply, it's a two-dish meal with three-course versatility—entree and vegetables prepared and baked in one skillet, dessert in another. And it's easy to put together, quick to fix and impressive to serve.

Start with a frittata (in Italian, it means "flat omelet"). Kissing cousin to the quiche—but without the crust—frittatas offer a marvelous way to stretch your food dollar.

- ASPARAGUS FRITTATA
12-14 spears fresh asparagus (or 1 10-ounce package frozen asparagus)
8 eggs, beaten
2 cups grated fontina or Monterey Jack cheese
1 1/2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt (or to taste)
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
1/2 cup chopped parsley
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 pound sliced mushrooms
1/2 pound diced ham

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Break woody ends off fresh asparagus and discard. Place spears in 10-inch oven-going skillet with lightly salted water to just cover; bring to boil and simmer three minutes. (If using frozen asparagus, defrost and cook 1 minute.) Drain thoroughly and cut in 2-inch lengths. Reserve. Combine eggs, cheese, Dijon mustard, salt, pepper and parsley in medium mixing bowl; reserve. Melt butter in the 10-inch skillet on low heat; add garlic and mushrooms and saute 1-2 minutes. Stir in asparagus. Cover skillet, increase heat slightly and cook 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in ham, and cook 3 minutes more. Remove skillet from heat and stir in egg mixture. Bake 30 minutes (this makes a moist frittata which firms up on standing).

If desired, reserve half of the cooked fresh asparagus spears (whole) and arrange them to resemble spokes in a wheel on the top of the egg mixture before baking.

- PEANUTTY-CRANBERRY BAKE
(Makes 18-22 servings)
1-3rd cup packed light brown sugar
1-3rd cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups buttermilk baking mix
2 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 cups (12-ounce package) peanut butter chips
Cranberry Topping (recipe below)

Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine brown sugar, walnuts and cinnamon; set aside. Combine baking mix, sugar, egg, milk and oil in large mixer bowl; beat at medium speed one minute (batter will be slightly lumpy). Stir in 1 1/2 cups peanut butter chips. Pour 1 1/2 cups batter into lightly greased 10-inch oven-going skillet; sprinkle brown sugar-out mixture evenly over batter. Carefully spoon and spread remaining batter over all. Bake 45 to 60 minutes or until cakes tester comes out clean. Spread Cranberry Topping over warm cake; sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup peanut butter chips. Serve warm.

- CRANBERRY TOPPING:
1 can (16 ounces) whole berry cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Combine cranberry sauce with melted butter, sugar and cinnamon; stir until smooth. Spread over warm cake.

Sinkholes

You Can't Blame Mother Nature

ORLANDO (UPI) — It's springtime again and in central Florida that means blooming flowers, harvested crops — and sinkholes. Hundreds of them.

Experts are predicting that this year, more than ever before, craters will blanch the Earth wherever conditions are right for them, sometimes under cars, buildings and houses.

In the past, drought has been blamed for the sinkholes. But last month, when 120 sinkholes developed in the Ocala area after four days of thunderstorms, rain was added to the list of causes.

"Sinkholes are now saying that 30 percent of them can't be blamed entirely for the problem. A lot of it is man's doing.

Carl G. Carlender is a Casselberry, Fla., engineer who has been trying to place the blame for sinkholes where it belongs for years. He says he has been laughed at for blaming man.

Carlender contends the "primary mechanism" that triggers sinkholes is a reduction of the groundwater table by natural or artificial means. When tremendous amounts of water from the underground aquifer are withdrawn, the ground collapses and sinkholes form.

"I have been saying many sinkholes were caused by man for a long time now," said Carlender. "This time last year, most of my peers were snickering and calling me an alarmist, heavy-penny and the sky is falling type of syndrome.

"But we can't say these sinkholes are all natural occurrences because we have changed the conditions and accelerated the processes that existed or were occurring naturally.

"Many of these wouldn't have happened in our lifetime if water levels were up to what they were 10 to 20 years ago."

The most famous crater is the Great Winter Park sinkhole, which opened with a loud hiss and growl May 9, 1981. By the time it was finished, the monster had gobbled two roads, a house, five expensive sports cars and the deep end of a public swimming pool. Officials estimate damage at $4 million.

After nearly a year of haggling over what to do with the unsightly crater, city officials plan to dump dirt into the 350-foot sinkhole to keep it from creeping into a four-lane thoroughfare that knifes through the heart of the fashionable Orlando suburb.

The sinkhole, which has surprisingly become a prime tourist attraction, developed when an underground limestone cave, depleted of water during a severe drought, collapsed.

More than 200 other sinkholes — all tiny in comparison to the Winter Park crater but causing about $20 million in damage — developed in central Florida in 1981.

Carlender forecast in January that the number of sinkholes in 1982 "can be expected to increase beyond last year's record numbers." He was right on target.

More than 200 craters — the largest 80 feet across — opened in central Florida between January and early April — weeks before the peak sinkhole season began. The season normally runs from mid to late April through June.

Carlender said the likelihood of more sinkholes spells danger to thousands of central Florida buildings.

"Thousands of structures have been built today on sites that are considered to have a high potential for development of a sinkhole," he said. "Many of these structures were built without an adequate investigation of the (near surface) conditions, much less the deep-seated soil and rock conditions."

Space Technology Uncovers Old Masterpieces

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Computer methods used by space scientists to analyze photographs of other planets are now being used to uncover possible old masterpieces hidden beneath known paintings.

The same space imaging technique used by Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists to analyze photographs beamed from Mars, Jupiter and Saturn also is being used to determine the condition of a priceless Leonardo da Vinci sketch.

Planetary scientists working with art conservators at the Los Angeles County Art Museum developed the method to separate X-ray images of paintings where two or more pictures are believed to exist in different layers on the same surface.

Don Lynn, a former JPL scientist who developed the process, said computer enhancement of images began with NASA's Ranger project in 1962-63 and also was used in the Mariner, Viking and Voyager projects.

"Very simply, what we do is obtain images of the painting through X-ray," said Lynn. "The X-ray reveals both the over-painting and the underpainting.

"Then we move it around and try to subtract the major part of the upper painting from the two combined pictures. The net result is a reasonably good view — or an excellent view — of the painting and the surface beneath."

The intensity or brightness of light values of the two images are then converted to digital numbers, the language of the computer.

"The computer can manipulate those numbers," he explained, "and we express the over-painting in one series of numbers and the under-painting in another series."

In the final step of the process, the first set of numbers is subtracted and the second set is converted by the computer into light intensity values that produce an image of the hidden painting — possibly a masterpiece that has been covered for centuries.

The art project began when William Lalsher, head of conservation at the art museum, asked JPL to separate and enhance a painting found beneath a 17th-century painting of the Crucifixion by an unidentified Flemish artist.

Lynn worked with an astronomer and computer analyst from JPL and museum officials and experts to bring out the hidden painting in detail.

They discovered the surface painting was on paper and the covered picture, on a wooden base, portrayed a man and woman in 17th-century attire sitting at a table in a room lighted by sunshine coming through a window.

The process also is being used to examine the condition of the priceless Codex Hammer, the Leonardo da Vinci manuscript on the nature of water that was purchased in 1960 by billionaire industrialist Armand Hammer.

The 470-year old manuscript had for more than 250 years been known as the Codex Leicester and was owned by the family of the Earl of Leicester who put it on auction to pay inheritance taxes.

The diary, which da Vinci began in 1508, was written and sketched backwards, so that it is readable only by reflection. Hammer has donated the manuscript to the County Museum.

Flying Diploma

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — College diplomas look dandy framed and hung above the mantle. At the Rhode Island School of Design, the 440 members of the class of 1982 will have a much more utilitarian certificate.

It's a Friabee, with a twist: a folding, cloth disc with the school seal. Thus its name, FRISD (pronounced friz-dee).

The design diploma, handed out each year with the traditional sheepskin, is the work of fifth-year architecture student G. Legare Porcher, 26, of Charleston, S.C.

Porcher was inspired by a former professor's difficulty in pronouncing the popular acronym for the 104-year-old art school.

"I transferred from Clemson, in South Carolina, and I had a professor who couldn't get the school's name right. He kept calling it 'Frisdee,'" Porcher said Monday.

Each year, students submit offbeat design proposals to a panel of fellow students, who make the selection. The college finances the production of the design diplomas, and each graduate is given one at commencement.

This year's design diploma will be handed out, or tossed, May 21.

Porcher's entry won over such prospects as a wax mold of the school ring, which would allow students to cast their rings in the metal of their choice, and a jewelry creation.

"The FRISD is a hiker's model, made of nylon with flexible wire so it can fold into a backpack," Porcher said.

"I think the idea is students feel that FRISD is a very unique school and they ought to have something that is unique to celebrate their graduation," said Neil Severance, vice president of student affairs.

"They just want something special every year to commemorate this great event."

According to a recent survey, the top selling soup in American restaurants is vegetable soup.

OURSELVES

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Wednesday, May 12, 1982—19

Sharee Censke, left, says it's easy to get in a cooking rut when you work. She plans on a lot of outdoor meals during the summer days ahead.

Cook Of The Week

Her Barbecue Sauce Dates Back Several Generations

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

This week's special cook is a hard-working young mother of two who spent a very unusual Mother's Day. Sharee Censke, an Emerson Electric employee, invited her mom, Shirley Ellender of Deltona, to a barbecue rib dinner Sunday that started with a family recipe for barbecue sauce that is three generations old.

"We cooked the ribs on an open pit grill," says Sharee, "and boiled some fresh Florida corn on the cob to go with it." Sharee's children, Heath, 8, and Christina, 2, enjoyed the meal along with their granny Ellender and their father Mike.

Sharee's grandmother Barve cooked her own barbecue sauce, bottled it and then refrigerated or froze it, long before store-bought brands were available. "Her secret ingredient is the juice from a lemon," says Sharee.

Sharee was born in Battle Creek, Mich., where she lived for 18 years. "I used to watch Grandma Barve cook her barbecue sauce (and other things, too). Other than that, I only knew how to cook a few things learned while taking high school home economics," Sharee quips. It wasn't until she was "out on her own" that Sharee really started learning to cook.

GRANDMA BARVE'S BARBECUE SAUCE

1 bottle catsup
1 bottle Tabasco sauce
1 stick butter
1 large onion, chopped
juice from 1 whole lemon
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
2 cups water
Chop onion and saute in butter. Add catsup, Tabasco sauce and water. Stir in garlic powder and lemon juice. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer for 2 hours. When cooled completely, pour into bottles and refrigerate. (May also be used immediately for barbecuing.)

BARBECUE RIBS

5 to 6 pounds of ribs
1 stick melted margarine
About 45 minutes before cooking time, start fire so coals are slightly burned down. Cut ribs into 3-rib segments and place on grill. Cook 30 to 35 minutes, turning frequently. Coat with melted margarine to keep meat moist. Cook about 15 minutes longer and brush ribs with barbecue sauce the last 5 to 10 minutes of cooking time only. (If you put barbecue sauce on too soon, meat will burn.)

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

1 large fryer chicken, cut into serving pieces
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 cups thinly sliced onion rings
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes, drained
1 can (8 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon oregano

Wash chicken and pat dry. Melt shortening in large skillet. Coat chicken pieces with flour. Cook chicken in shortening over medium heat 15 to 20 minutes or until light brown. Remove chicken, and set aside.

Add onion rings, green pepper and garlic to skillet; cook and stir over medium heat until vegetables are tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Add chicken to sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 30 to 40 minutes until all of the chicken pieces are fork-tender. Yield: 4 servings.

TUNA CASSEROLE

1 9-oz. can tuna, drained
1 package (16 oz.) noodles
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of asparagus soup
2 cups milk
2 cups fresh broccoli flowers
8 oz. sour cream
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup crushed potato chips
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 stick margarine
Sauté chopped onion in margarine. Add mushroom and asparagus soups and milk. Stir well and heat to very hot, but do not boil.

Cook noodles and broccoli together according to directions on noodle package for "recipes that require further cooking." Drain water. Add sauce to noodles and broccoli. Fold in sour cream and cheese. Place in casserole dish and sprinkle potato chips over the top. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes.

CREAM CHEESE FUDGE

1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 pound confectioners sugar, sifted
3 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 1-ounce squares unweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup broken walnuts
Combine cream cheese, sugar, water, and vanilla, blending until smooth. Quickly stir in melted chocolate and nuts. Turn into a buttered pan, spreading fudge 1-inch thick. Chill and cut into squares. Additional whole walnuts may be used to garnish squares.

FRUIT COCKTAIL PARFAIT PIE

1 1-pound can fruit cocktail
3 1-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Drain fruit, reserving syrup. Add water to syrup to make 1 cup; heat to boiling. Add gelatin, and completely dissolve. Add cold water. Cut ice cream into 6 pieces and add to hot mixture, stirring until melted. Chill until mixture thickens (about 20 minutes). Fold in fruit. Turn into Vanilla Cookie Crust. Chill at least 45 minutes before serving.
Vanilla Cookie Crust: Line the bottom of a buttered 9-inch pie plate with whole vanilla wafers. Trim 1/4-inch off edges of enough wafers to stand up around edge of pie plate. Crumble a few wafers and fill in any spaces on the bottom crust.

SUPPORTING THE ARTS

Eddie Senkarik, president of the Sanford-Seminole Art Association, presents SSAA patrons memberships to Doris Dietrich, Sanford, and Jane Casselberry, Casselberry, for their longtime support of the Arts in Seminole County. SSAA membership includes about 110 members, patrons and life members. The organization was founded in 1959 with only a handful of interested artists and supporters, according to Senkarik.

Dear Abby's Policy: To Label Reprints

John P. McMeel, president of Universal Press Syndicate, has issued a statement outlining the position of advice columnist Dear Abby and his syndicate on the reprinting of items from previous columns.

"Abby has made a special effort to label letters and items that are being reprinted in her column," said McMeel, whose syndicate distributes the six Abigail Van Buren columns each week to 1,000 newspapers in the United States and internationally.

McMeel issued the statement in response to numerous phone calls and queries from the media following an Associated Press wire service report Monday revealing advice columnist Ann Landers was reusing items and not labeling them as reprints.

"In fact," McMeel said, "Abby and her readers have had a running dialogue in the early months of this year over the issue of using reruns. One reader wrote in to protest Abby's use of reruns, and Abby presented the question to her readers: Did they like the practice or not?"

McMeel said Abby has a policy of labeling reprints. In fact, in March, three of the 100 published letters were reprints from previous years and labeled as such. In April, two of the 78 published letters were labeled as reprints.

When the controversy about Landers' use of old material first surfaced, Abby's response was: "Ann has always been proper, ethical and honest, and I'm sure there was no intentional deception."

Raines Can Steal Second, But Can He Play Second?

United Press International Tim Raines sure knows how to steal second base — all he needs is to learn how to play it. Raines, who broke into the majors last year in the outfield, is in the infield this year. He turned a slow grounder by Jim Wohlford into a two-run single Tuesday night, to help the San Francisco Giants to a 5-4 victory over the Montreal Expos.

National League

Tim is working every day to improve... but I think he could have been a little more aggressive on that hit by Wohlford. Clark hit a solo homer in the fifth inning to tie the score at 1-1 and also doubled home a run in the sixth.

Cubs 6, Braves 4

At Chicago: Jody Davis hit two homers, including a two-run shot that capped a four-run sixth inning, to lead the Cubs to their fourth straight victory. Mets 6, Padres 0. At New York: Charlie Puleo fired a four-hitter and Dave Kingman drove in four runs with a double and his 12th homer to lift the Mets to a 7-0 straight victory.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Patterson's HR Drops Pub; Hamp's Angels Zoom To 7-0

In Junior League softball action Tuesday at Ft. Mellon Park the Elkettes posted a 11-0 drubbing on Cooper's Pub. The Elkettes pulled away early with 7 runs in the bottom of the first. The big blow in the first was Sabrina Patterson's 3-run homer. Patterson tripled in the second to drive in another run in a 5 run inning for the Elkettes.

Thumbs Down Cerone Becomes 4th Yankee To Crack

United Press International There's only one way to describe the New York Yankees season so far — thumbs down. Catcher Rick Cerone was the fourth Yankee player to suffer a thumb injury Tuesday night when he cracked a bone in his left hand while making a tag on Don Baylor at the plate in the fourth inning. He is expected to be sidelined three to six weeks with the injury.

American League

Willie Wilson hit three-run homers and Arnis Ott added a two-run shot to carry the Royals. Twins 10, Red Sox 6. At Minneapolis, John Castino's two-run single capped a five-run sixth and Gary Ward hit a solo home run in the seventh to lead the Twins.

New Football League Forms

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's only fitting the United States Football League's first major news conference was held in the "Hunt Room" of the NFL. The NFL, still smarting from last Friday's jury decision supporting Oakland owner Al Davis' proposed relocation to Los Angeles, has another upstart on the professional football block slinging arrows at the established league.

Islanders Go Up 2-0

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Bob Bourne is like a watch that can be mistreated and still come up ticking. He might even have better timing. "I was suffering in the season but now I feel good," Bourne said Tuesday night, after leading the New York Islanders to a 6-4 victory over the Vancouver Canucks and a 2-0 lead in the Stanley Cup finals.

Stanley Cup

scheduled for Thursday night in Vancouver. "The goal that hurt us was Bourne's," Vancouver Coach Roger Neilson said, referring to the power-play goal that tied the score, 3-3, just 32 seconds into the third period. "It picked them up and it certainly didn't help us."

Bourne's most spectacular play occurred in the first period while he killed a penalty. He stole the puck along the boards, launching a 2-on-1 with Carroll. He pulled the defense to him, then slid the puck to Carroll for an easy tap-in. "Everything fell into place," said Bourne, whose 16 playoff points makes him fourth on the team. "When you do something good early, you feel good all night."

Nixon Leads Confident Lakers Past San Antonio

United Press International Something you get the idea the Los Angeles Lakers spend little time worrying about defeat. "It's hard to tell us, or convince us, we're going to lose," Norm Nixon said Tuesday night, after scoring 22 points in the Lakers' 110-101 victory over the San Antonio Spurs in Game 2 of the Western Conference best-of-seven championship series. The Lakers lead the series, 2-0.

hitting just 7-of-21 field-goal attempts. Dave Corzine added 23 points while Mark Olberding had 16. "We are making progress and I still think it's going to be a long series," San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck said. "Los Angeles is going to encounter something in San Antonio they haven't seen before, a crowd of crazies. I think that crowd is worth 10 points to us. They get us cranked up."

Some Of Man's Best Friends Talk With Phyllis The Psychic

HERMITAGE, Tenn. (UPI) — Phyllis Moline's unusual job has her mingling with the minds of mules, felines, horses, bwa constrictors and other beasts.

She's a psychic who specializes in communicating with animals.

"All I need is a little eye contact," said Ms. Moline, who studied with a yogi in India for 10 years before coming to Middle Tennessee.

Her second home is Action For Animals, a "no-kill" animal shelter run by Judy Myers. Instead of putting abandoned pets to death, animals are adopted by "qualified" parents.

The animals inside the "no-kill" shelter know they're not on dog's death row, Ms. Moline said.

"They're sad they don't have homes. When they're on death row, they sense it. I can sense the animal saying, 'Why am I dying? It's too early.' 'But here, they're happy,' she said.

To test her abilities, two impartial dogs unbeknownst to Ms. Moline volunteered to vial the psychic for a reading. After the customary hand-paw shake, Ms. Moline went to work.

The first to be "interviewed" was Mandy, a 10-year-old gentle female with beagle and shepherd in her blood.

"She's a happy dog. She's thinking about a nice house. She really likes music and is trying to learn how to sing. She's finicky about food. Oh, yes, you need to remove a picture of mirror from the wall of your home. This disturbs her."

The pet owners, Debbie Banks and Doug "Dawg" Casmus of nearby Nashville, shook their heads in agreement. Mandy is on a special diet for a kidney ailment, has been howling around the house like she's trying to sing, and there is a large mirror in the hallway of their home.

Ms. Moline continued. "Mandy likes fishing. She's telling me about fish and fishing. She really likes it. Do you take her fishing?"

Miss Banks turned to Casmus and both smiled.

"We throw rocks in the water and she likes to splash in, stick her head all the way under the water and look around for the rock," Miss Banks told the psychic.

"We say, 'There's Mandy fishing again,'" added Casmus.

Next up was Arnold, an aging but still cantankerous mutt who snortles like a pig. Arnold, a mix of beagle and pit bull, barks and snaps at everybody, even his owners.

It took Arnold a few minutes to calm down enough so Ms. Moline could "pick up his vibrations."

"He's scared of a swimming pool. He doesn't like to swim. He has a fear of water, that's why he's fighting," the psychic surmised. "He's also afraid of a bandanna, or a hanging curtain or cloth."

Miss Banks and Casmus don't believe Arnold is afraid of water, but the comment about the curtain seemed to be accurate.

"He got stuck in our curtain the other day," Miss Banks said.

"He likes to do the paw trick (shake hands) but this dog has pride. He figures anybody can do the paw trick so he doesn't do it much," the psychic said.

"Do you drive a compact car? He's saying he likes to sit up front, not in the back or on the floor," Ms. Moline said.

During the ride to the shelter, Arnold kept poking his nose up in the front section of their compact car, but he wasn't allowed to take the front seat.

Following the individual therapy, it was time for the joint reading of both Arnold and Mandy.

"They're like most close dogs. They like each other and sometimes they don't. They compliment each other. Arnold likes to chase things and Mandy likes to sunbathe."

"By the way, they don't want any more dogs. They have a closed relationship. They don't want any more dogs coming into their house."

That's it," the psychic concluded.

Mexican-Americans More Prone To Diabetes

HOUSTON (UPI) — A University of Texas study shows Mexican-Americans are three times more likely to develop adult diabetes and says a gene traceable to Indian ancestry may be responsible.

Dr. Robert Ferrell, associate professor at the University of Texas Health Science Center, said Thursday Mexicans and Mexican-Americans should avoid obesity to minimize the risk of adult diabetes.

He said proper diet and weight control can prevent adult diabetes even in those genetically prone to it.

"There won't be the magic bullet sort of drug come out of this," Ferrell said. "I think the responsibility for controlling the disease is really going to lie with the individuals who are a risk."

Ferrell said his study has nothing to do with juvenile diabetes, which may have different genetic origins and usually is treated with insulin injections. Adult diabetes appears to result from different causes and responds better to diet and blood sugar control through oral drugs, Ferrell said.

Ferrell bases his conclusions on a statistical study sponsored by the National Institutes of Health.

His team focused on the 27,000 residents of Starr County in South Texas, where many residents have Mexican heritage. But he said the results, to be delivered to the American Diabetes Association next month, appear applicable to all Mexicans and Mexican-Americans.

Ferrell's survey of 1,924 Starr County residents over 15 turned up 130 cases of adult diabetes — more than 6.4 percent. He said 29 of those people did not know they had the ailment.

In the same number of persons drawn from the general population, Ferrell said there normally would be about 40 cases of adult diabetes, a rate of about 2 percent.

Ferrell said researchers discovered some time ago Indians of the Southwestern United States have "the highest diabetes prevalence in the United States and one of the highest if not the highest in the world."

"Obviously, Mexican-Americans in Texas are part of a hybrid population between Hispanic Caucasians and Indians," Ferrell said. "You might postulate the reason would be genetically predisposing factors among American Indians."

Ferrell used 1970 census statistics to draw conclusions about Texas as a whole. He said 1980 figures do not offer the same useful population breakdowns. There were about 1 million Mexican-Americans over 15 in Texas in 1970.

Doctors Repair Blocked Kidney Of Ailing Fetus

FARMINGTON, Conn. (UPI) — Doctors who repaired the blocked kidney of a fetus by operating through the wall of its mother's womb say the baby — born three weeks later — is "doing fine," making it the first known successful procedure of its kind.

University of Connecticut doctors, in announcing the March 18 operation, attributed the success of the kidney procedure to timing and said a similar operation attempted in Finland, and announced three weeks ago, failed.

The doctors at UConn's John N. Dempsey Hospital used a long needle to tap about one-third of a cup of urine from a blocked kidney of Juan DeJesus. The infant was delivered by Caesarian section prematurely on April 8 as an added safeguard against kidney damage.

The infant and his mother, Sonia DeJesus, 37, of Meriden were discharged May 6 from the hospital after post-natal treatment.

The woman and infant, her fourth child, attended the news conference at the university's Health Center to discuss the procedure.

Ms. DeJesus, speaking through an interpreter, said she was "very pleased with all the doctors here. I am grateful to God and them for saving my baby," she said.

Both mother and son "are doing fine" said Dr. David J. Nuchinson, the center's director of maternal and fetal medicine.

Dr. Anthony M. Vintzileos, 31, who performed the three-minute procedure, said the ballooned kidney was first suspected when ultrasound pictures of the fetus showed a bloated right kidney.

"Although it wasn't life threatening, we wanted Juan to start out with two good kidneys," he said. In addition, he said, there was concern the bloated kidney would press upon still undeveloped lungs if it were not repaired.

Vintzileos said the problem was discovered at a time when the fetus was developed enough to sustain entry and was stable enough to carry out the brief procedure.

The needle was inserted through the mother's abdomen, through the edge of the placenta and into the back of the fetus.

Despite the removal of the urine, the volume of fluid in the right kidney developed again two weeks later, but a second tap was not possible because the fetus was too active and not in a good position, Vintzileos said.

Three ways to avoid taking a bath with an inefficient water heater.

One of our three Watt-Wise™ incentives could pay you up to several hundred dollars. Our water heater incentive program applies to customers who replace or modify their current electric water heaters with either 1) a solar water heater, 2) a water heating heat pump or 3) a heat recovery unit. All three are designed to save electricity.

An FPL Home Energy Audit will determine if you qualify and how much you can save. Then we'll help cover the cost of purchase and installation of the new system. Water heaters must meet our standards and be installed by a participating dealer/contractor. In most cases, payment will be in the form of a Watt-Saver™ certificate redeemable with the contractor.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives?
Yes.

These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient homes. Every 600 kilowatt-hours of electricity not used is a barrel of oil no one has to pay for. This also helps us postpone the building of expensive power plants. The less oil we use, and the less new building we have to do, the more we can help hold the line of everyone's electric bill.

For more information, or to arrange for a Home Energy Audit, send us the coupon or call the Watt-Wise Line at 1-800-432-6563.

The Watt-Wise Products Program. Another way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

I'd like more information on the following Watt-Wise incentives:

- Water Heating.
- Cooling & Heating.
- Solar-Reflective Film.
- Ceiling Insulation.
- I would like to have an FPL Home Energy Audit.

Raines Seeing Better, Average Climbs To .340

There was a familiar ring to the voice which answered the telephone at the Tim Raines residence in Montreal Tuesday.

It wasn't the sleepy mumbblings of the Montreal Expo second baseman that usually greet a caller who doesn't believe in sleep the morning after a night game.

This voice was that of an older man who was wide awake. "I'm just sitting here reading the paper," replied Tim's father Ned. "I've been here since Sunday."

Coincidentally, it may have been this visit from the wide awake one that jolted Tim out of a season-long slumber at the plate.

Since father Raines arrived, the son has been anything but sleepy at the plate. Raines rapped three hits, stole three bases and rapped a game-winning double to snap an Expo losing streak Monday. He had similar strong showings Saturday and Sunday.

"I'm seeing the ball better and I'm swinging the bat better," was how Raines explained the recent surge. His batting average has climbed to .340 — fourth in the league — which is a precipitous ascent since he started the season 2 for 21.

Raines has now stolen 13 bases in 14 tries. Lonnie Smith leads the National League with 17 steals. "It's just a matter of time before I catch him," predicts Raines.

Oakland speedster Rickey Henderson has jumped off to an exceptional start, one similar to Raines last year, and has 33 swipes in 31 games. "I can get him too," said Raines confidently. "That's just a matter of time too."

Speaking of time, Raines was supposed to reside in left field for this season. His outfield

Hits Coming For Tim,
But Fielding Lackluster

...See Page 11A

time, however, was curtailed last Saturday when the Expos finally gave up on Rodney Scott.

"They felt he had a bad attitude and wasn't going to change," Raines said about Scott. Tim was a second baseman in his entire minor league career and the Expo brass felt it was just a matter of time (sound familiar?) before he would be moved back to second.

Scott, who possesses great speed but no bat, was released. "We'll pick up his contract for the rest of the year," said Montreal publicist Richard Griffin. "Yes, it's a considerable amount."

Scott's release upset Bill "Spaceman" Lee so much that he left the ballpark and headed to a neighborhood tavern to drown his sorrows, according to an Associated Press story. In the eighth inning, he returned well-oiled, but Expo manager Jim Fanning pronounced him "in no condition to pitch."

Whereupon, Lee tore his uniform to shreds and deposited it on Fanning's desk. Lee said his only regret was that he "didn't get to punch someone in the mouth."

Lee's few drinks cost him a $5,000 fine and a waiver job by the Expos.

Quite a stiff tariff at any pub.

Posey Checks Reservation For Remaining Gridders

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

Down on the Seminole High reservation head football coach Jerry Posey is checking out the Tribe's possibilities for next season.

The defending Five Star Conference Champions are returning only six or seven experienced players from last year's 8-2 squad. "There are a lot of possibilities but nothing is definite yet," Posey said of replacing the graduating players. "We are very short on experience."

Jerry Posey... rebuilding

College Football

The "Noles problem lies primarily with heavy losses to Dave Mosure's outstanding defense along with the departure of three all-star performers.

Gone is the solid linebacking trio of Byron Washington, Greg Register and Antonio Davis. Davis, a super-quick 175 pounder, was an honorable mention all star.

Defensive lineman Bill Painter must also be replaced. He was an all-conference selection at tackle along with cat-quick Larry Eason at defensive end. Vince Edwards will be tough to replace at safety.

Offensively, first-team all-state offensive tackle Isaac Williams is taking his blockbuster blocking to Florida State, while bruising fullback Lenny Sutton has also departed as is all-conference quarterback Jeff Linton.

Two of the top returnees are offensive linemen Doug Sanders and Aubrey Kendall. Posey said that Ed Rinkavage, an offensive tackle, could turn out to be one of the better offensive linemen on the team.

In the defensive backfield Posey has Harold Gaines and Darryl Manley returning. Eric Freddie also shows potential in the defensive backfield.

An addition to the defense is junior Marvin Pringle, who was ineligible last fall. "He shows a lot of promise, we hope he can contribute to our defense," Posey said. Pringle will be joined on defense by Willie Brooks who has some size and William "WW" Wynn who Posey said looked good at linebacker. Tom Miller, Tony Cox and Anthony Hall also are other possibilities on defense.

"Overall spring practice has been going slow," Posey said. "We had a pretty good turnout. About 80 guys from junior varsity came out and we still have 46 or 47 varsity guys."

"We haven't accomplished much so far because we are short on coaches. We've got a lot more to work on."

Although the "Noles have only just a few experienced players, Posey thinks with the right combination this year's team could go a long way.

"We are going to have to work extra hard. Most of the guys have good attitudes, hustle and aren't afraid to go after somebody. We should do well if we stay away from injuries and have the same attitude we had last year," he added.

Chicks Trip O-Twins, 3-1

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — Bob Mulligan, the Orlando Twins stylish lefthander, went into Tuesday night's game here with a spotless 3-0 record and a hot so spotless 4.35 earned run average.

When he came out of the game in the eighth inning, trailing 3-1, Mulligan had pitched better than his earned run average, but would suffer his first setback of the year—a 3-1 verdict to Memphis before 822 patrons at Tinker Field.

"I got a little tired in the late innings," said Mulligan later in the clubhouse. "But I can't blame the guys for not scoring runs. Our defense was excellent."

"We're going to have games where we just don't score enough."

The O-Twins, 15-16, didn't need to score too many to put this one in the "W" column. Mulligan allowed just one hit over the first four frames, but the one was a big one.

Chicks' shortstop Gene Glynn hammered a leadoff home run in the first inning to put Orlando immediately in the hole.

"The pitch was up," said Mulligan. Two batters later, Mike Fuentes deposited another Mulligan "upper" way beyond the left-field fence, but the ball curved foul at the last minute. Fuentes, a Florida State star, has 12 homers and 38 runs batted in.

Mulligan knocked down the next eight batters in a row before hitting Glynn in the back to end his string.

The O-Twins, meanwhile, were having just as much trouble with Memphis lefty Jeff Taylor, who blanked Orlando on three singles until the fifth.

With one out, Greg Gagne coaxed Taylor for his first walk. Catcher Buck Austin followed with a single which moved Gagne to second. Leftfielder Kevin Williams then ripped a shot into the left field corner for a double which scored Gagne for a 1-1 tie.

Further trouble was averted, though, when Jeff Carl made a nice over-the-shoulder grab of Mike McCain's pop fly down the third base line. Tim Teufel fanned to end the threat.

Glynn again was the nemesis in the seventh for Mulligan. The slap-hitting shortstop sprayed a single to left field and immediately stole second. Dave Hoeksma followed with a two-out single to left for a 2-1 Chicks' advantage. It turned out to be his fourth game-winning RBI of the year.

Memphis lacked on an insurance tally in the eighth on Horvath's round-tripper for the final 3-1 outcome. Mark Schuler came on in the seventh after Taylor's arm stiffened to record the save.

"Mulligan gave up two homers, we only scored one run, that was it," said Twins' manager Tom Kelly.

Kelly filed a protest during the seventh inning when Memphis' Al Newman was called out at first base for running on the inside of the foul line.

Umpire Bob Sarina threw Memphis manager Rick Henick out of the game for over-arguing the call, but then reversed his decision and let him stay.

"I don't know if that's kosher or not," said Kelly about the reversal. "But I'll probably drop the protest. It doesn't seem that important now. It didn't effect the outcome of the game."

Bellamy Fires Second No-Hitter For 11th Adcock Win

Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy hurled a no-hit shutout and struck out 11 Tuesday to lead Adcock Roofing to a 1-0 win over second place Krayola Kollege in a key Sanford Little American League contest.

The victory boosted Adcock's record to 11-0, while Krayola Kollege fell to 9-3.

Bellamy allowed base runners every inning, but he managed to keep them from them from reaching third base as he pitched out of each jam. It was Bellamy's second no-hitter of the year.

Jay Adcock, who scored the only run of the game, was a perfect two for two at the plate, his first two hits of the season.

The only run came in the bottom of the second. Adcock singled with one out and went to third when Ardine Daniels stroked a two-out single. Sammy Edwards batted the ball to the second baseman for what should have been the third out, but the second baseman fired the ball to the plate and Adcock beat the throw to score.

Eddie Charles and Bernard Mitchell had the only other hits for the winners.

Bellamy improved his mound record to 4-0. Krayola Kollege's Ronald Cox went the distance on the mound in defeat. It was his first loss in seven decisions.

In other games, S&H Fabricating and Engineering beat Butch's Chevron 20-7, while Seminole Petroleum stopped Jack Prosser Ford 19-12.

In today's action in the Sanford Little National League, Rinker Materials plays Sunniland Corporation at 5 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park, while the Railroaders play Cardinal Industries at the same time at Westside Field. First Federal of Seminole plays Sanford D.A.V. at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

In Sanford Junior League games at Chase Park, Knights of Columbus plays Elks at 5 p.m., while Moose battles Kiwanis at 7:15 p.m.

S&H Fabricating and Engineering scored four runs in the top of the first and never looked back. Troy Rollins had a pair of singles for the winners and Johnny Wright added a triple.

Tony Hayes had three hits for Butch's Chevron and his brother Ronnie had a pair of hits, including a double. Jerry Harkness also had a pair of hits.

Seminole Petroleum pounded 11 hits in its win over Jack Prosser Ford. Leading the hit parade was Tommy Mitchell, who belted a pair of home runs and a pair of doubles, driving in seven runs.

Daniel Skipper and Eric Johnson each had a double and single for the winners and Lewis Wade added a pair of singles.

John West had a triple and two singles for Jack Prosser Ford.

Gracey Construction Builds Record To 3-0

Gracey Construction Co. rolled to its third win without a loss Tuesday in the Sanford Pee Wee League, while Clem Leonard Shell and Adcock Roofing both posted victories to remain tied for second with 2-1 records.

Gracey broke open a 5-5 first-inning tie with four runs in the top of the second and then put the game away with seven runs in the third, going on to beat Butch's Chevron 16-7.

Clem Leonard Shell topped McRoberts Tires 14-8, while Adcock Roofing crushed Kokomo Tools 15-2.

Gracey scored its 16 runs with just four hits, doubles by Elliot Brownly, Keith Armondi and Brett Hansen and a single by W.L. Gracey. Gracey, 2-0, was the winning pitcher.

Shawn Washington had a double and single for Butch's Chevron and Michael Allen added a double.

Clem Leonard Shell jumped out to a 7-0 lead, scoring two runs in the top of the first and five in the second. Winning pitcher Brian Grayson keyed the second inning attack with a three-run homer.

After McRoberts Tires scored one run in the bottom of the second, Clem Leonard Shell put the game out of reach with seven runs in the top of the third. Diablo Washington had the big hit of the inning, a two-run homer.

Washington had a home run and double for Clem Leonard Shell, Eric Pendergast had a double and single and Michael Taylor slapped a pair of singles.

Eloy Moreno and Larry Bradley each had doubles for McRoberts Tires. Already leading 6-2, Adcock Roofing scored eight runs in the bottom of the second to easily out-distance Kokomo Tools.

Feds Playing Strange Games

The Justice Department doesn't seem to know who's on first base when it comes to the case against Miguel Nazar Haro, the Mexican security official accused in a multimillion-dollar car theft ring.

For months, San Diego's U.S. attorney, William Kennedy, worked to bring Nazar to trial. Kennedy's moves were blocked by the Justice Department and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Finally, in frustration, Kennedy went public with his problems. He said the CIA and Justice were hampering his efforts against Nazar. He said the reason was that Nazar, former chief of Mexico's National Security Agency, had been a CIA informant.

Kennedy believed Nazar should be brought to justice as a matter of ethics — that he should not remain unchanged as a matter of political expediency. The government didn't see it that way at all. Kennedy was fired from his position as U.S. attorney by the Reagan Administration for confirming Nazar's covert activities.

Then came a turnabout on the part of the Justice Department, possibly because the public found the Kennedy dismissal grossly unfair and let Washington know about it. The Justice Department finally sanctioned Nazar's prosecution. Nazar came to San Diego to testify voluntarily before a federal grand jury and was arrested and jailed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

But then, inexplicably, the order came from the Justice Department in Washington to the U.S. Attorney's Office in San Diego not to request more than $200,000 bail in the case.

Within 24 hours, cash was sent from Mexico City and Nazar was free on the $200,000 bond, a sum that seems ridiculously low for a defendant in an international car theft ring that stole from $30 million to $40 million worth of vehicles. Others charged earlier in the same case had bonds as high as $2 million.

Nazar jumped bail. He failed to appear for arraignment and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. A statement from the defendant indicates he is in Mexico and he will leave it to his attorney to prove his innocence.

Soon the San Diego U.S. Attorney's Office will be asking the Justice Department to start extradition proceedings. Which way will the Justice Department bounce now? Toward justice or toward political expediency?

They Know Not What They Cost

With health-care costs continuing to rise at double-digit rates even as other prices are moderating, the United States can ill afford to neglect cost-containment efforts. Thus, it is good to have the government's prestigious General Accounting Office putting the spotlight on one of the best cost-control strategies.

Noting that physicians either control or influence about 70 percent of all expenditures for health care, the GAO suggested that the government step up efforts to make doctors more attentive to the financial impact of the hospital stays, treatment and tests that they order. Studies have shown that major savings can be made without adverse impact on the quality of care.

Commendably, most medical schools and many residency training programs have begun to include cost containment in their instruction, but much more remains to be done. The GAO wisely suggests that the government substantially increase the modest amount that it now spends to promote cost-consciousness among doctors. It could be an excellent investment.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Al, thanks for coming by. How's the ol' shuttle diplomacy comin' along?"

By JOE DeSANTIS

Just how fast is Florida's population growing? Too fast for present facilities to handle the ever increasing influx of those seeking fun and future in the Sunshine State.

Longwood City Administrator David Chace opened a few eyes at the City Commission meeting earlier this week when he relayed an interesting fact he brought back from a conference in Tallahassee.

A family of four moves into the state every six minutes. If you break out your calculator and do some fast figuring, that comes to 40 new residents per hour, or 960 residents per day. Formulate that into an annual figure and the increase in the state population is an astounding 350,400 additional residents per year.

Seminole County is considered one of the hot spots in the state as far as attracting new residents. Since 1970, the county has doubled its population, clearly illustrating why there is such a present crunch for necessities like road construction, increased public services, and a matter that the County Commission appears to be willing to put before the voters this fall, a $6.6 million referendum to finance new construction and expansion of the county's public library system.

Like almost all other public services in the county, the library system has had to struggle to meet the demands of the constantly increasing population it serves while trying to avoid falling farther and farther behind in the kind of quality of service it can provide.

Generally speaking, the board of commissioners agrees steps need to be taken to improve and expand the library system. At the same time commissioner Robert "Bud" Feather feels the county has more pressing priorities, such as roads and drainage problems.

Both arguments have merits, and if the commission, as expected, moves to place the referendum matter on the October 8 primary ballot, they'll be doing us all a favor. They'll be placing a decision to spend our tax dollars directly in our hands — a refreshing return to the basic concept of government by the people and for the people.

Doubtless there will be those county residents 100 percent in favor of the referendum. Many feel the library is a vital part of a growing community. Culture and education do indeed go hand in hand with the roads library users travel to get to the facilities and the drainage facilities that enable us to travel those roads.

Others will agree with Feather's assessment that the county has more pressing needs, and that for the time being, the library will have to take a back seat.

The County Commission has apparently headed a national cry by citizen-taxpayers for a more direct voice in how their dollars are spent. Seminole County residents, regardless of whether they are for or against the referendum, have the opportunity to have their say.

The opportunity should not be passed up lightly.

Consumer's Guide To The Fair

KNOXVILLE (NEA) — Robert Moses, the city planner and impresario of the great New York World's Fair of 1964, once said that "no fair worth visiting can make money."

He proved it by losing about $50 million on his fair — at a time when that amount of money meant a lot more than it does today. Montreal, in turn, lost some $70 million on its 1967 Expo.

But the people behind the 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville are determined to prove Moses wrong. They are convinced that a worthwhile fair can still make a buck.

They have attempted to do so by cutting corners here and there — in fact, everywhere — and by charging fair-goers top dollar for everything. Of course, their publicity will tell you quite the contrary.

How good is this fair? Perhaps it is too early to tell.

Fully half of the pavilions were not finished only hours before President Reagan was to dedicate the exposition and the first paying guests were to pour through the gates. Some exhibits were so far from completion that the press was not even allowed inside.

But this fair does seem likely to achieve its own modest goals and therefore should be understood in that context.

This is not a spare-no-expense exposition like the New York World's Fair of Robert Moses. Neither is it Disneyland or Disney World, where exhibits are turned into minor adventures; most of the exhibits here are as static as those found in a museum.

And neither is it a theme park filled with rides for the kids. If your children, like mine, are accustomed to theme parks where they can enjoy thrilling rides over and over again, Knoxville's 13-ride "Punfair" area is going to seem awfully tame to them.

What this fair is, instead, is a rather well-assembled exposition on energy.

Many of the exhibitors have stuck very closely to this theme. Unless you have a particular interest in some esoteric energy subjects — like geothermal energy or syn-fuels — you might be a bit bored by many of the pavilions.

The most interesting exhibits are those that have departed from the theme. The dazzling Chinese Pavilion features that country's arts, crafts and culture, not energy.

The same can be said for many of the other foreign pavilions, which give a good taste of the culture and products of the exhibiting country but do little to further the energy theme.

The most elaborate of the fair's $2 corporate exhibits is the one sponsored by Federal Express, which put $2 million into a laser show and multi-media presentation in its own free-standing pavilion.

But most of the corporate exhibits fall far short of those seen at some past world's fairs. Dozens of corporations spent upwards of $20 million each on their exhibits at the New York World's Fair. Here, many of the corporate exhibitors are grouped together in common pavilions for an effect more like a trade show than a world's fair.

Portions of the fair are visually pleasing, but except for a few notable exceptions — such as the $21 million U.S. pavilion — the prevailing architectural style might best be labeled "modern pre-fab steel warehouse." People will not come here to be impressed by the buildings.

Proof Of A Shady Olympic Coin Deal

WASHINGTON — Last month I reported on some suspicious finagling in the arrangements to mint and sell commemorative coins for the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

The gist of the story was that Franklin Mint first lost the bid for the coin contract, then managed to get a piece of the action by some delicate pressure.

The Franklin coin dealers threatened to give the House Banking Committee evidence of chicanery on the part of the winning bidder. This was a consortium comprised of Occidental Petroleum and the Paris-based international banking firm of Lazard Freres.

Any contract for Olympic coins needs congressional approval. So the threat of a congressional stink apparently persuaded Occidental Petroleum and Lazard Freres to include the Franklin Mint in their deal. The three partners in this forced marriage called themselves the Coin Group.

Since my column appeared, the Coin Group withdrew from the arrangement. But the

JEFFREY HART

Blitzkrieg: The Only Way

When Dr. Dodd, the 18th-century forger who was condemned to the gallows, repented his crime, Samuel Johnson remarked that the imminence of execution concentrates the mind wonderfully.

The destruction of the Argentine cruiser General Belgrano, with heavy loss of life; the loss of the British destroyer Sheffield and the downing of a jet craft should have concentrated the minds in the Falklands crisis.

It is difficult to focus on a developing situation where sudden military and diplomatic moves may intervene. But we now know enough about the situation in the South Atlantic to make a few accurate assessments.

In his great novel "One Hundred Years of Solitude," the Colombian-born writer Gabriel Garcia Marquez has as his central theme the depth of illusion in the Latin-American consciousness. The Latin-American mindset is simply cut off from military and political reality as these things are understood in the outside world.

What else can explain the extraordinary behavior of the Argentine junta? The best fighting ship in the Argentine navy now lies at the bottom of the South Atlantic. The General Belgrano was built by the United States in 1934, and, as the U.S.S. Phoenix, survived Pearl Harbor, fought in the Pacific war, and was sold to Argentina in 1961. To send that kind of warship into combat with British nuclear submarines and aircraft carriers makes Don Quixote look like a practitioner of Blamarcian realpolitik.

Or, consider the ridiculous situation that is developing on the main Falkland Island. A single British bomber, flying from Ascension, put the airport at Stanley out of commission — thus depriving the Argentine defenders of air cover. Since the Argentine navy has no chance whatsoever against the British, this means that the Argentine master strategists have isolated 10,000 of their troops on islands 800 miles at sea. "One Hundred Years of Solitude."

At the same time, professional as it is, the British operation moved almost certainly too slowly from the beginning.

The gradual tightening of the military noose may be sound strategy in a political vacuum, but the contest is not being played out in a political vacuum. Margaret Thatcher risks an erosion of her political support both at home and around the world. Thus, few people really think that the Falkland Islands are worth significant loss of life, and the British attack has left hundreds of Argentine sailors at the bottom of the sea. The British Harrier pilot who downed an Argentine Mirage with a Sidewinder missile said upon returning that he "felt sick" to kill the other pilot.

A slow humiliation of Argentina can only energize the so-far tepid support its Falkland Islands seizure has enlisted in Latin America. Most Latin governments obviously regard that seizure of the islands as an act of mind-boggling stupidity, but they will not easily swallow Argentine humiliation.

The agent of Soviet strategic designs, of course, is and will be Fidel Castro. There is no way he can move his troops to the islands, and he has no significant navy — but, if the British strategy remains gradual, he will have a psychological field day.

If the operation continues to move at a deliberate pace, things will deteriorate for Thatcher, and also, politically, for the Reagan administration.

Because of the speed of modern communications, and because, in the atomic age, of the fear of a Soviet-U.S. confrontation, blitzkrieg tactics are the only ones that are politically viable.

Lord Kitchener could not today move his army down the Nile, build a railroad to Khartoum, and beat the Dervish forces of the Mahdi. The British should have learned this in their slow-motion and therefore doomed operation of 1956. Egypt's Nasser was even weaker militarily than the Argentines, but it didn't matter. The United States learned the lesson, we all hope, in the slow-motion Vietnam War.

The models for successful military campaigns in the latter part of the 20th century are the Six Day War and the Israeli rescue-attack on Entebbe. Adolf Hitler, traumatized by his four years of trench experience in WWI, grasped this new truth. Throughout his diaries and table-talk one phrase recurs constantly: icy cold and lightning fast. A war should be over by the time you read about it in the morning paper.

The British should have seized Stanley with a combined paratroop and marine landing operation, and sent the Argentine conscripts back home on the Queen Elizabeth II. The negotiations could have then commenced, and the victors made a generous peace.

ROBERT WALTERS

A Unique $-Raising Problem

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The National Republican Congressional Committee, which provides assistance to GOP candidates in House races, has a problem that's probably unique in politics — it is being perceived as having too much money.

As a result, some potential contributors say they declined to purchase tickets to the $1,000-per-person May 4 dinner jointly sponsored by the NRCC and its Senate counterpart, the National Republican Senatorial Committee.

The two committees last year sold a record-breaking $3.5 million worth of tickets to that party, but sales for this year's "Salute to Ronald Reagan" were well below that mark.

Final figures won't be available for several weeks, but less than a week prior to the dinner — the year's biggest Republican fund-raising event — its sponsors said donations and pledges totaled about $2.4 million.

Much of the blame for the decline has been attributed to a running feud between the White House and Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate committee.

Packwood has publicly criticized President Reagan on several occasions in recent months, provoking indignant protests from some Republicans who boycotted the dinner and demanded his resignation as committee chairman.

Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., the NRCC chairman, says those who refused to attend the dinner "say they're mad at Packwood." But some traditional GOP donors say they've also become disillusioned with Vander Jagt's committee.

"Packwood is getting a bad rap on this," says one longtime party contributor. "The House committee has stirred up some bad feelings because it's no longer the lean and mean operation people expect from a political committee."

Another Republican contributor noted that the NRCC had more than $4 million remaining in its treasury at the end of the 1979-80 campaign cycle, compared with $2.3 million for all other national Republican and Democratic committees.

"That money should have gone into House races," he says. "The committee seems to be losing sight of its mission — to elect Republican candidates — and is devoting its resources instead to perpetuating its own bureaucracy."

NRCC Finance Director Wyatt A. Stewart III insists those charges are unfair. The big surplus is deceptive, he says, because almost $2 million of the total came from a major solicitation in November and December of 1980 — after the elections.

The NRCC is operated as "a carefully budgeted and well-managed business," adds Stewart. "Every dime of the money we spend is allocated in a line item."

The NRCC's $37.6 million operating budget this year is the largest of any political organization in the country. Even the well-heeled Republican National Committee has a more modest 1982 budget of about $32 million.

With a staff of more than 80 people, the NRCC has an annual payroll estimated at $2 million. At the beginning of this year, it had almost $14.7 million in cash on hand.

"Achilles Karamanlis' involvement in the issue makes it unlikely that we can uncover the truth without exceeding the limits of appropriate diplomatic questioning," states the cable delicately.

The Greek president's brother was undersecretary to the prime minister for sports at the time that the contract for the Pan-European Games was approved.

The embassy concluded that while it couldn't say for sure that Lazard-Numarco "had an inside track," Achilles Karamanlis' involvement "makes many observers assume the worst... Although the government of Greece appears to be reviewing all contracts, the Karamanlis connection could exempt this one."

Footnote: A Greek Embassy spokesman said the president's brother was not part of the three-man team that recommended Lazard-Numarco. But the spokesman conceded that "coins were one of his areas of responsibility" as undersecretary for sports.

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — Hot solder dropped by workers renovating Notre Dame Cathedral apparently sparked a fire that destroyed the 3-year-old church and 26 other buildings. National Guardsmen today patrolled the gutted five-block area to prevent looting. Only one minor injury was reported in the spectacular blaze Tuesday afternoon. But more than 100 people were forced to flee the area and many were left homeless.

Grand Jury Calls For Release Of 600 Refugees

MIAMI (UPI) — The Dade County grand jury has called for the release of 600 Haitian refugees from the federal Krome Avenue Detention Center while saying immigration officials must stop the flow of illegal aliens who come to south Florida to participate in drug smuggling.

Policy makers in the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service were "slipshod," "impotent" and "completely mismanaged," said a report released by the grand jury Tuesday.

The Krome camp is a "jail containing 600 Haitians on the edge of the Everglades" and treatment there is "expensive and cruel," the jury said. The panel advocated in its 56-page report the parole of Haitians with relatives in south Florida and resettlement of the others.

...New Hospital Opening Set

The new facility, a major promise in the contract negotiated by HCA with Seminole County when SMH was purchased, is opening three months earlier than anticipated.

Tesar said, "The construction company has been able to move quickly and efficiently due to planning and the availability of experienced manpower."

He pointed out that HCA's design team has overcome a unique environmental problem by utilizing tinted glass in flush positions on the north, east and west elevations to minimize insect accumulation. Blind mosquitoes invade lake-side areas during certain seasons of the year.

Energy conscious architects have used double plated windows which are also tinted to contrast with the light brick facade. Special features include a sloped glass green house effect in front. Extensive landscaping of native shrubbery has created a natural setting pleasing to the surrounding environment.

Although many of the Florida palms just planted were toppled during the April 8 storm, the new structure withstood the onslaught of hail, wind and rain without damage.

Tesar said that he was extremely pleased that HCA could provide such an up-date hospital for the community. "Accurate and efficient service is paramount, but the heart of any hospital is its staff, its people."

He echoes the compassionate care philosophy which is the trademark of HCA founder, Dr. Thomas Frist Sr. To emphasize this prevailing attitude which is fostered in all of the 350 HCA hospitals, Frist says, "Quality health care demands total commitment. Bettering the human condition is the greatest goal any individual — or any corporation can achieve."

Tesar underscores the commitment and dedication required by saying, "Our employees make the difference."

Budget Compromise In Doubt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects for a budget compromise again were grim today following staunch bipartisan opposition to the inclusion of Social Security reductions in the fiscal 1983 spending plan.

In another setback for President Reagan Tuesday, the House Republican leadership opposed the Senate Budget Committee plan that would require $40 billion in unspecified "savings" in Social Security over the next three years.

Senate GOP leaders, as a way to persuade their members to vote against a Democratic amendment that would have put the chamber on record against Social Security cuts, hammered out compromise language that will be introduced today.

The compromise would have the Senate delay a decision on Social Security cuts.

In Altamonte Man's Murder

Killer Sentenced To Chair

A man accused of killing an Altamonte Springs real estate broker and insurance salesman in an apparent cattle rustling scheme last year has been sentenced to death by electrocution. Robert Patrick Craig was sentenced Monday by Lake County Circuit Judge C. Welborn Daniel in Tavares in connection with the murder of John Eubanks, 32, and Bobby Farmer, 29, a Sumter County farmer. The killings occurred on Eubanks' ranch in July 1981 and the men's bodies were later discovered in the Wall Sink, a Sumter County water-filled sinkhole.

Daniels heard almost two hours of arguments from Craig's attorney, Assistant Public Defender Ron Fox before handing down his sentences at the Lake County courthouse.

Craig was found guilty in December of first-degree murder in connection with the two men's deaths. Following the 10-day trial, which was held in Tampa because of pre-trial publicity, the jury recommended Craig be sentenced to life imprisonment for Eubanks' murder and death for Farmer's murder.

Daniel sentenced Craig to death on each count. The sentence and conviction are expected to be appealed because of the death penalty sentence.

A 30-year-old Wildwood man, Robert Lawrence Schmidt, who was also charged in the killings, pleaded guilty to two counts of second-degree murder and is currently serving two consecutive life terms at the Avon Park Correctional Institution.

LOUD PARTY NETS ARRESTS

Two Chuluota men were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana after deputies responded to numerous complaints of a loud party at a field off Langford Road.

Sтивен Wayne Coffey, 19, of 100 W. Seventh St., and Christopher Wayne Driggers, 19, of 101 Seventh St., were arrested after deputies reportedly discovered a plastic bag of marijuana in the car in which they were sitting, deputies said. The two men were later freed on bond.

p.m. Sunday and 1:45 a.m. Monday and stole an empty cash register and numerous bottles of liquor.

Deputies said the thieves broke into the Buccaneer Lounge, at the Cavalier Motor Inn, 3200 U.S. Highway 17-92, by breaking the glass door pane with a rock. Once inside the burglars stole the register, which was locked but contained no money, and several bottles of liquor, deputies said.

CULPRITS HIT CATHOLIC CHURCH

Thieves broke into the All Souls Catholic Church, at 902 Oak Ave., Sanford, at about 4 p.m. Monday, knocked over vases, scattered flowers and stole about $300 worth of property.

Police said the culprits entered the church through an unlocked door.

In addition, thieves stole a battery from the church's bus sometime between 4:30 p.m. Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday. The battery was valued at about $50, police said.

MISSIONARY MISSES CASH

When Sanford missionary Dorothy Estelle Abbey, 60, of 1000 E. First St., entered the Hallmark Card Shop in the Sanford Plaza Monday afternoon, she was reportedly carrying $225 in her purse. However, when she went to the store counter to pay for the cards she had selected, she discovered someone had opened her purse and stolen about $75, police said.

Ms. Abbey told police that the store was very crowded while she was shopping at about 3:15 p.m. Monday and that a woman had bumped into her, on the side where Ms. Abbey was carrying her purse, about three times. Ms. Abbey added that when she went to make her purchases, the purse was opened and the cash was missing, police said.

BURGLARS GRAB TV AT GOODWILL

Thieves stole a 21-inch color television from the Goodwill Industries, at 300 E. Third St., Sanford, sometime between 5 p.m. Saturday and 4:10 p.m. Sunday.

Deputies said the thieves entered the building after removing a wall fan. Once inside, they stole the TV, valued at about $140, deputies added.

USAF Band Performs In Sanford Monday

The 36-member United States Air Force Reserve Band will bring its multi-faceted show to town May 17 for a free public concert at the Sanford Civic Center on Sanford Avenue.

Sponsored by the Evening Herald and the city of Sanford, the outdoor performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. and last about 1½ hours.

Formed in 1941, the band is headquartered at the Robins Air Force Base in Georgia. Since its founding, the band has serenaded presidents, visiting heads of state, and thousands of Americans and foreign citizens.

The band performs a wide range of musical pieces including jazz, pop, classical and show tunes, many featuring vocal solos and the band chorus.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: More than 40 tornadoes hopped across Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska and Kansas, killing a woman and a child and injuring more than a dozen others in a devastating march across the Plains. Cars, trailers and homes were reduced to rubble by 70-mph winds. Up to 2 feet of mid-spring snow smothered parts of Wyoming and heavy rains flooded Nebraska with 7 inches Tuesday, but snow-weary Illinois and Wisconsin basked under the highest temperatures of the year. One of about three dozen Oklahoma twisters hit Altus Air Force Base, causing more than $1 million damage and slightly injuring 12 people. Tornadoes that tore through Friendship and Blair, Okla., leveled three brick houses, ripped apart more than a dozen mobile homes and tossed at least 13 cars about, the highway patrol said. At least 12 cattle were killed in the assault. A string of tornadoes battered Texas, pushing 74-mph winds at Del Rio and bombing Hitchland with baseball-sized hail.

Woman Charged In Murder

PUNTA GORDA (UPI) — Bonnie Kelly, 29, of Lexington, Ky., will be arraigned May 24 on a charge of first degree murder.

Mrs. Kelly was indicted by the Charlotte County grand jury Tuesday on a charge of shooting and killing Assistant State Attorney Eugene C. Berry.

The 46-year-old Berry, who had a reputation as an aggressive prosecutor of drug cases, was gunned down the night of Jan. 15 when he answered the doorbell at his home.

No one saw the shooting occur, but neighbors reported seeing a woman jogging from the area moments after they heard the shots.

Prosecutors allege Mrs. Kelly was that woman, and contend she killed Berry in revenge for his prosecuting her husband Wallace McClure Kelly, 33, of Lexington, Ky., who was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Britain Gives Talks Until End Of Week

United Press International
Britain which is sending 3,000 more troops to the South Atlantic today aboard the QE2, gave Argentina until the end of the week to come to terms in U.N. peace talks or face a possible all-out invasion of the Falkland Islands.

U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar reported "some progress" in his continuing negotiations with Britain and Argentina but admitted a diplomatic solution remained remote.

As legendary Gurkha warriors and other elite British regiments prepared to board the luxury liner QE2 in Southampton, England, British warship sank after exploding "with a fireball" suspected Argentine tanker ship during a third consecutive day of bombardments. Reporters with the fleet said British destroyers and frigates were sweeping bays, harbors and inland channels in a massive sea dragnet to cut supplies to the 9,000-man Argentine occupation force on the disputed islands.

In London, sources said the British fleet also had orders to find and destroy two German-built Argentine submarines believed lurking in deep-water inlets. The submarines pose a major threat to the two aircraft carriers heading Britain's 60-ship naval task force.

U.N. peace talks entered their fifth day today with Britain pressing Argentina to drop its demand for ultimate recognition of its sovereignty over the islands.

Argentina has insisted negotiations on the Falklands must lead to Argentine sovereignty over the 149-year-old British colony it invaded April 2.

Informed sources in London said the government of Prime Minister

Margaret Thatcher had decided to give the talks four more days but warned it still was not ruling out military force to retake the islands.

"These negotiations will take a little time. But the fact we are negotiating does not close off military options," Mrs. Thatcher told Parliament.

"There are certain fundamental principles we cannot fudge. A cease-fire must be accompanied by (Argentine) withdrawal to a specific timetable and the Argentines must give up the idea that at the end, sovereignty will be conceded to them," she said.

"We are now thinking in terms of the end of the week," U.N. Ambassador Sir Anthony Parsons said in a television interview aired in London when asked how long Britain would give the negotiations.

Hinckley Described As Troubled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Hinckley Jr.'s sister, Diane, says the only time she saw him happy was when he played with her 4-year-old son, whose picture was in Hinckley's wallet the day he shot President Reagan.

Hinckley's brother, Scott, said the 26-year-old assailant lost his sense of humor by the time he was 12 and fell into deep depression in the year before the attempted assassination.

Facing their now notorious brother in court Tuesday, Scott Hinckley, 31, president of the family oil company, and Diane Hinckley Sims, 29, a mother of two, painted a portrait of an isolated child who grew up in a world far different from theirs.

They said they finally decided, three weeks before Hinckley shot Reagan, their brother's depression was so deep the best place for him was a mental hospital.

Defense lawyers called Hinckley's family to testify at his trial in an effort to build their case that he was insane when he sprayed bullets at the presidential party on March 30, 1981, wounding Reagan and three others. Hinckley's father, Jack, was scheduled to testify today, after prosecutors complete cross-examination of Mrs. Sims.

Hinckley's brother and sister each testified they had no idea he was consumed with fantasies about actress Jodie Foster, that he owned guns or that he had stalked Presidents Carter and Reagan.

Mrs. Sims, a Dallas housewife, said, in high school her brother John never went to dances, never had a date and never brought friends home.

She said she didn't invite John Jr. into her circle of friends because "I was involved in things like cheerleading and choir ... those things wouldn't have been of great interest to John."

Scott Hinckley, president of Vanderbilt Energy Corp. of which his father is chairman, said he never inquired about his brother's depression.
