Ex-Olympic Great Leads Annual Event

By Rick Branson
Herald Staff Writer

With the touch of a torch, the 10th annual Golden Age Games were kicked off in downtown Sanford today amid an atmosphere of hoopla and enthusiasm. Over 300 people cheered in front of city hall as honorary chairman and former Olympic great Bob Mathias called the games "a great program" and wished the senior athletes well.

"What could be better than competition...and the spirit to win for those over 50?" asked the 53-year-old Mathias.

Earlier, an early-morning fog lifted as participants in the Fallen Arches Parade, garbed in zany outfits, marched down Park Avenue led by the blaring sirens of a Sanford Police Department motorcade.

Seniors and youngsters, including Miss Florida, Lisa Valdez, waved to the few people who lined the streets. The Seminole High School Band pounded out a beat that kept the procession in step. Two Texas-sized limousines filled with dignitaries, including Mathias, cruised down the parade route on their way to the opening ceremony.

As the parade fanned out at city hall, Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the politicians, the media, and the athletes, some of whom traveled from across the country to compete in the Games.

Tom Butler of Post Cereals, the co-sponsor of the games, also welcomed the "vibrant" and "active" athletes and said he hoped they were "raring to go."

Misa Valdez, whom Horner said was "shorter and sweeter than the mayor," said she was inspired by the "spirit of determination to participate and have a good time" which the seniors possessed.

Five-time bike champ Merle Parker, 66, of Sanford, pedals down Park Avenue during the Fallen Arches Parade. The sign he has in tow tells why he competes every year.

The all-pervading spirit of politicking, so prevalent before election day, also managed to creep into the Games ceremony.

Glen Graves of Cypress Gardens came up with a third presidential ticket for the voters to consider Tuesday. He nominated Horner and Virginia Longwell, the chamber's executive assistant, for president and vice president respectively.

After the politicking, Mathias stood up and reminisced about his days as a record-holding Olympic decathlon champion. He also praised the Olympic athletes of this past summer's Games in Los Angeles. He said he hoped the Games continued without hindrance from political ideologues.

"To heck with the politicians," he said. "Except these politicians up here," he quickly added, pointing to the ones sitting behind him like Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn and State Representative Art Grindle. "These are good politicians. They want the Games to go on."

Mathias, who now directs the National Fitness Foundation, said the Golden Age Games make Sanford a possible site for one of the foundation's "fitness academies," fully-equipped centers that promote physical fitness for senior citizens.

Perhaps the spirit of the day and the Games was captured best in the hard-charging enthusiasm of Merle Parker, a 66-year-old Sanford man who has competed in the Games from their beginning. Donned in a shirt which said, "Life is no spectator

You'll Have 5 Minutes Busy Polls Seen

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Voters may have to stand in line at Seminole County's 72 polling places to cast their ballots in the general election Tuesday, if Elections Supervisor Sandy Goard's voter turnout predictions are accurate.

Mrs. Goard expects 82 percent — 79,049 — of the county's 96,401 registered voters will go to the polls.

The prediction, she said, is based on the way people got out to register and the more than 4,000 voters who have asked for absentee ballots.

All polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., she said.

Noting that state law allows voters only 5 minutes each in the voting booth, Mrs. Goard suggests voters study a sample ballot to familiarize themselves with the contests and issues before they are issued their election ballot and go into the voting booth.

She also urges voters to have their identification — either their voters' registration card, a driver's license or some other official card which contains their signature — ready for examination when they get to the polls so they don't have to take 2 to 3 minutes to search for their identification.

"This will save some time," she said. Some 10,000 new voters added their names to the rolls in August and September before the registration books closed Oct. 6.

If an 82 percent turnout is seen, it will be the third highest percentage of voters in an election in the county's 71 year history.

Four years ago, in 1980, when Ronald Reagan was running for his first term, the turnout here was 82.7 percent. The county then had 74,365 registered voters.

But the highest voter turnout percentage-wise seen in the county was in 1960 when John F. Kennedy and Richard Nixon were vying for the presidency. The turnout was 87.87 percent. At that time, however, only 11,000 voters were registered in Seminole County.

Mrs. Goard said plenty of voting machines have been placed in each precinct and some 400 poll officials will be on duty Tuesday to assist the voters and to cut down as much waiting time as possible.

At the same time some 40 persons will be on duty at the Public Services Building election office Tuesday night to help with vote counting.

The fact that eight persons have qualified as write-in candidates for president or vice president in Florida is expected to delay vote counting Tuesday night.

Mrs. Goard said state election officials have notified her that voters have the right to write-in the following names for president or vice president if they choose: David Bergland; Gus Hall for president and Angela Y. Davis, vice president; Sonia Johnson; Joseph W. Kelly Jr.; Arthur Blair Lewis; Melvin T. Mason; Isabel Masters and Denis L. Serrette.

Because of these write-in candidates for president or vice president, when the polls close the sealed ballot boxes will be opened at the polling places and the front of Card A will have to be visually examined for the presence of write-ins. Ballots with write-ins for president or vice president will be placed in a separate envelope and the envelope and all other ballots will be returned to the ballot box which will be sealed again.

She said at each polling place will be members of both the Democratic and Republican parties as well as official registered poll-watchers for various candidates to work with and watch one another to make sure all the ballots get back into the ballot box.

When the ballot boxes are delivered to Mrs. Goard's office, the seal will be checked, the envelopes of write-in ballots removed for special hand counting and the other ballots sent to the computer for automatic counting.

Two Shot In Fight Over Parking Spaces

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County father and son have been charged in connection with a Sunday fight over parking spaces which left two men with gunshot wounds. One of the victims was also run down by the father's car, sheriff's deputies reported.

The trouble began at about 3 p.m. Sunday when the father, Joseph Assam, 54, of 81 S. Devon Ave., Winter Springs, allegedly drove into Richard DeFazio, 34, of 30 Jackson Circle, Winter Springs. Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said Assam was reportedly upset because DeFazio and other patrons of a garage sale at Dun-Rite Transmission, 775 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, were using parking spaces at several closed, nearby businesses, including Assam's Joe's Pawn Shop, as they shopped.

After DeFazio was hit by Assam's 1979 Buick, the pair began to fight, deputies reported. Jerry Stahley, 32, of 390 Harigold Road, Casselberry, stepped into break up the fight as Assam's wife, Olive, screamed for help, deputies said.

Assam's son, Desmond Noel Assam, 34, of 771 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, ran out of his home and fired a .38-caliber handgun, Spolski said. The single bullet grazed Stahley's stomach and hit DeFazio in the back, deputies reported.

When deputies arrived at the scene, they reported seeing the victims lying on the ground bleeding. The suspects were sitting on the porch of the younger Assam's home, and a witness, Ronald Mason, 38, told lawmen what had happened.

Jennifer Assam, 33, reportedly told deputies that Desmond Assam had taken the gun into their home. It was recovered by lawmen from beneath the cushion of a chair inside, deputies reported. Mrs. Assam also gave deputies the clothes Desmond had changed out of after the shooting, the report said.

Stahley was treated at South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood, and released. DeFazio underwent surgery at that hospital Sunday and deputies reported he was in stable condition, but hospital officials refused today to release any information on him.

Joseph and Desmond Assam were arrested at 3:25 p.m. Sunday. Joseph has been charged with aggravated assault and battery with a motor vehicle. He was released on $3,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Nov. 30.

Desmond Assam has been charged with attempted murder and use of a firearm in a felony. He was being held without bond today in the Seminole County jail.

The garage sale was to benefit a boys' football team, Spolski said.

Pedestrian Killed In Hit-Run

A Sanford pedestrian was killed Sunday when he was struck from behind by a lane-weaving car and catapulted into a ditch.

A Sanford man has been charged with manslaughter while driving under the influence and leaving the scene of an accident in connection with the incident.

Dead at the scene was Tommy Mills, 19, of 108 Academy Ave.

According to a Florida Highway Patrol report, Mills was walking eastbound on the south side of Sanford Police Sgt. Bill Bernosky, right, watches as another officer marks the point of impact with fluorescent paint. Sanford police were assisted by Seminole County deputies and Florida Highway Patrol troopers in investigating the fatal hit-and-run accident Sunday. The victim's body lies covered at left.

Celery Avenue just outside the Sanford city limits at 11:32 a.m. A 1972 Ford, also eastbound and weaving from lane to lane, struck Mills propelling him into a deep weed-filled ditch on the south side of the road.

According to an eyewitness, the car, occupied by only the driver, continued to weave along the road then got stuck on the southside shoulder a few hundred feet east from where Mills lay. After getting back on the road, the car left the scene.

Within minutes, sheriff's deputies located a car damaged and fitting the description of the hit and run vehicle in Midway and shortly thereafter made an arrest.

Charged with DUI manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident with injuries is Ernest T. Pitts, 47, of 1752 Midway Ave., Midway.

Pitts was being held without bond Monday at the Seminole County jail.

Mills is the 38th traffic fatality in Seminole County this year.

Suspects Linked To Revolutionary Group Arrested In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Five people, including a suspected revolutionary on the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List since 1977, were arrested for a string of East Coast crimes and a sixth person was sought today, the FBI said.

FBI agents and police from Maine to New Jersey have been hunting for the Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Unit gang for a number of crimes, including the 1981 slaying of a New Jersey state trooper, a string of about a dozen bombings and a series of armored car and bank heists — five in 1983.

Arrested Sunday were Raymond Luc Levaseur, 38, of Sanford, Maine, who has been on the FBI's Most Wanted List since 1977 and was identified as a member of the gang, and his wife, Patricia Gros.

Levaseur is wanted for bank robbery and unlawful interstate flight. Gros was charged with harboring a fugitive.

The New England-based revolutionary gang takes its name from radicals Jonathan Jackson, who died in a 1970 shootout in a San Raphael, Calif., courthouse, and Sam Melville, the ring leader of a Weathermen-affiliated group who died in the Attica, N.Y., prison uprising in 1971.

Killers Had Wrong Address

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two gang members seeking vengeance on a cocaine dealer got the wrong address and mistakenly killed four relatives of former professional football star Kermit Alexander, police say.

The suspects were being held without bail.

Horace Edwin Burns, 20, was arrested at his South Los Angeles home Saturday and booked on suspicion of murder. Another suspect, Tiequin Cox, 18, was jailed earlier in the slayings of Alexander's mother, sister and two nephews.

The two suspects were to face a police line-up on Tuesday, when formal murder charges were expected to be filed by the district attorney.

Police Chief Daryl Gates called the Aug. 31 shootings "tragic" and "stupid." He said the gunmen who broke into Alexander's mother's home had the right house number but were on the wrong block.

Teen Arrested In Triple Murder

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — An 18-year-old drifter has been charged with the shotgun slayings of 2-year-old twins and their teenage babysitter, but authorities say they have not discovered a motive for the killings.

Arnold Leroy Ruebke, 18, was charged Sunday with first-degree murder in the deaths of James and Andrew Vogelsang, and their babysitter, Tammy Mooney, 18. All of the victims were residents of Arlington, a town of 630 people, about 80 miles northwest of Wichita.

Deborah and James Vogelsang reported their sons and the babysitter missing about 5:30 p.m. Oct. 29. The victims' bodies were discovered Thursday night about one-half mile from the Vogelsangs' farm house by a hunter who had decided to conduct his own search.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Assassination-Sparked Violence Appears To Be Waning

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Forty urns holding the ashes of Indira Gandhi were removed from the late prime minister's cremation site today for a journey around the sprawling nation she dominated for nearly 20 years.

The urns will be carried to the country's 22 states and nine union territories for final homage before being scattered by aircraft next Sunday over the lofty Himalayas in northern India.

Sectarian violence and looting that have racked the predominately Hindu nation of 720 million people since Gandhi was assassinated by two of her Sikh bodyguards Wednesday appeared to be declining.

Reliable reports indicated at least 1,100 people were killed in the frenzy of violence that followed Gandhi's slaying. Some officials said they expect the death toll to rise even higher when more accurate counts can be made.

IRA Vows More Bomb Attacks

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — The Irish Republican Army has vowed to plant more bombs like the one three weeks ago that blew up in a hotel where Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her Cabinet were staying.

During a conference of Sinn Fein, the guerrilla army's political wing, an IRA fighter read a statement to delegates Sunday that said the IRA would strike again in its bid to oust British troops from Northern Ireland and unite the province with the republic to the south.

In the British coastal city of Eastbourne, police evacuated a hotel where Thatcher was due to stay Sunday after a "suspicious object" was found behind bathroom paneling in a first floor room.

The object turned out to be an empty cookie tin and a police spokesman said detectives were trying to ascertain whether it was someone's idea of "a sick joke" or perhaps a test of British security.

Priest Was Tortured, Beaten

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Polish government faces a deepening crisis over the murder of a pro-Solidarity priest following revelations the popular cleric was beaten and tortured by members of the secret police.

Church and Solidarity sources said Sunday that the Rev. Jerzy Popieluzko, whose body was pulled from a reservoir Tuesday, had been brutally beaten and tortured before his death.

Alzheimer's Support Group To Hold Open House Thursday

Seminole Community Mental Health Alzheimer's family support group will hold an open house Thursday to celebrate "November as National Alzheimer's Awareness Month." The event will be held in the conference room of Seminole Community Mental Health Center, Pelican building, suite 377, Crane's Root Blvd., Altamonte Springs, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend and meet support group leaders and members as well as professionals. # Store Robbed; Clerk Escapes Rape

A clerk at the One Stop convenience store, state Road 48, west of Sanford, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that a gunman who robbed that store Sunday also tried to rape her.

The bandit entered the store at about 4:30 a.m. Sunday, brandished a large, blue steel revolver and told the clerk, "Give me your money," a sheriff's report said.

The woman opened the cash register and the robber grabbed an undisclosed amount of cash. He then walked behind the counter and began an assault on the clerk, but fled when he heard someone outside the store, the report said.

A witness saw the suspect flee west on state Road 48 toward Lake County, driving a light blue 1976 or '77 Pontiac, the report said.

NIGHT PROWLER

An Apopka man was arrested near a motel after a Seminole County sheriff's deputy found the man hiding in some tall weeds.

According to an arrest report, the deputy responded to a call about a prowler near Tony's Motel, 9250 Overland Road, Forest City. When the deputy arrived at about 11 p.m. Friday, he saw someone run behind the motel. The deputy located a suspect lying on the ground in some weeds next to the motel. The man was found to be carrying a knife with a 4-inch blade, the report said. Arrested for prowling and carrying a concealed weapon was Roger Arthur Welker, 20, of Rt. 3, Box 463, Apopka. He was released on $500 bond.

CLOTHES RIPPED OFF

An Orlando woman had her clothes ripped off and was struck several times when she refused to go to bed with a man.

Sharon Williams, 25, of Orlando, told police she was visiting a man at 305 Marker St., near Altamonte Springs, when he made sexual advances shortly after midnight Saturday. When she refused his overture, he became enraged and ripped her clothes off, trying to force her into the bedroom. When she would not cooperate, he struck her about the face five times.

She was treated by emergency medical technicians. While an arrest was not made, police have the name of a suspect.

POUND OF FLESH

An Altamonte Springs man told police that when he could not pay a man all he owed him the man beat him.

Richard S. Clawson, 20, of Wymore Grove Apartments, 360 Wymore Road, said a man came to his apartment at 7:20 p.m. Friday to collect $300 owed him. However, Clawson said he only had $150 to give. The man, expecting payment in full, reportedly stuck Clawson, then left. Clawson met with the man a few minutes later at a gas station nearby to pay the other $150. At the meeting place, Direct Gas, state Road 436 and Hathaway Drive, the man struck Clawson again, cutting his right eye and breaking a front tooth.

No arrest was made, but police have a suspect.

Hundreds Nabbed In Drug Raids

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reacting to a recent escalation of gang warfare over the lucrative drug trade, police said they broke down doors and crashed through windows in a massive four-day sweep that netted nearly 700 suspected dealers.

By Sunday, 682 arrests had been made as a 300-member task force fanned out over the nation's second largest city in a four-day operation. Lt. Dan Cooke said.

"This is the continuing saga of us versus them and we've got a bigger gang than they do," Cooke said. "We will keep doing this as long as we can."

In a city-wide sweep that began Thursday, police pried open the steel doors and pulled off the metal mesh windows that fortified several of the suspect's homes.

"You really can't believe it until you see it," Cooke said. "Those houses are really fortresses."

At a news conference Saturday, Police Chief Daryl Gates said the crackdown was intended to get drug dealers off the street, not necessarily to seize large amounts of dope.

In recent weeks Los Angeles has suffered a rash of gang-related crime, including more than a dozen killings, in what police said was an outbreak of gang warfare over control of the lucrative drug trade.

City officials accompanied narcotics officers on the raids, which also netted 17 guns. Councilman David Cunningham angrily castigated one landlord whose building housed a suspect in a fortified apartment.

"You collect the rent every month, don't you? You know who lives here, don't you?" Cunningham barked at the man, who mumbled that he didn't know what went on in the building.

In one seedy five-block section of Hollywood, a drug deal occurs every 45 seconds, Gates said. One blatant dealer there offered drugs to Police Commissioner Herbert Boeckman, who was in an unmarked car with the police radio crackling, Cooke said.

The importance of the sweep is its relation to other major crimes, Gates said. He said 55 percent of the city's homicides are somehow related to drugs. One heroin addict arrested Saturday was also wanted for 14 bank robberies, he said.

Police were trying to keep the suspects in jail by setting up a cooperative venture with the courts, Gates said. A judge agreed to raise bail to between $10,000 and $20,000 for suspects who give false names or have prior convictions.

1-Year Jail Term For Burglar Tripped Up By Wrong Wallet

A Longwood man who was arrested after he presented his credentials from a stolen wallet at a police station while there on unrelated business was sentenced to a year in jail for burglary.

Matthew Howell Napier, 19, of 328 Ruth Blvd., was also sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Dominick J. Salfi to 3 years probation, ordered to complete 200 hours of community service, pay the public defender $400, pay $150 to his employer, and $50 each to people whose cars he burglarized. The sentencing hearing was Thursday.

According to his arrest record, Napier was taken into custody Dec. 22. He had gone to the sheriff's department to offer information in an unrelated stolen car case. When he removed his sunglasses and produced his wallet to present his identification to Investigator Bruce Bowden, the officer said he recognized both the sunglasses and the wallet as items taken in a car break-in.

Bowden said he read Napier his rights and placed him under arrest as the suspect in four automobile break-ins.

Napier allegedly stole $400 worth of items from the cars and had sold the goods in Sanford for about $50 worth of marijuana, deputies said.

In another case before Salfi, a brazen Orlando man who made threatening phone calls from the lobby of the Seminole County Jail to the sheriff's department and assaulted two officers who approached him after the calls, was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail to be followed by 2 years of probation.

Joseph Harrison Lusk, 42, was also ordered to complete 250 hours of community service, write letters of apology to the people involved and donate $2,000 to the Groves drug treatment facility.

According to court records, Lusk was originally charged with being drunk and disorderly by sheriff's deputy Steven Walthers, who picked him up at 8:14 p.m. April 5, at 33 Spanish Oak Lane, Forest City.

After Lusk posted $100 bond and was released from jail on that charge, Deputy John Thorpe heard Lusk threatening to kill the deputy who had arrested him. The threats were made from a pay phone in the jail lobby and were directed to the communication center of the sheriff's office.

Communication center workers sent Walthers and another deputy, Anthony Diaz to the jail to investigate the threats. When they approached Lusk, who was at the pay phone with Thorpe standing nearby, Lusk reportedly threatened to kill the officers, took a fighting stance and approached them with flat drawn back, ready to strike, a sheriff's report said.

Walthers grabbed Lusk's arm and at the same moment Diaz punched Lusk in the mouth, cutting his lip. He was wrestled to the floor, handcuffed and taken to the booking area of the jail where he allegedly continued to threaten to kill the officers.

He was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital for the injury to his mouth.

The Limits Of No-Fault

Insurance protects you against everything — or so some people apparently believe. To judge from the mind-boggling insurance claims that wind up in the courts. Case in point: Kim W., a young child who charged that LeRoy Korte had repeatedly sexually molested her, sued Korte for civil damages — and tried to collect on Korte's home owner's policy.

What does a home owner's policy, which covers contingencies ranging from slippery driveways to leaky roofs, have to do with sexual molestation, which doesn't seem remotely related to home ownership? Although the coverage includes accidents that befall others in one's home, child molesting is hardly accidental. The lawyers' answer has less to do with logic than dollars. If the insurance company is obliged to pay up, the child molester isn't out of pocket a dime, and that makes him happy. The victim is better off, too, since she can collect a handsome sum, for it's a fair bet that the insurance company has more assets than Korte.

An appeals court, following the decisions of the high courts of Minnesota and Arkansas, has dismissed Kim W.'s claim. That's clearly the right decision. Home owners' policies are written to cover accidents, unanticipated contingencies; they don't — and shouldn't — protect policy-holders from the consequences of their deliberate misdeeds. If Joe Homebody bashes his neighbor, who then sues him for damages, Homebody has to face the music on his own; that rule fits the case of child molestation, too.

There's a lesson to be gleaned from Kim W. about clogging the courts with frivolous lawsuits, and a more general principle, too. Insurance companies don't defend all wrongdoers or recompense all victims; even in a no-fault world, personal responsibility still counts for something.

TV: Purity Sells

Michael Landon must seem like an avenging fury to television's hordes of panderers who think that the only way to get ratings is through constantly heavier doses of violence and nudity, crime and perversion.

Landon, the creative and quick-witted actor-writer-director-producer who became a family audience favorite with "Little House on the Prairie," appears to have another hit with his new "Highway to Heaven," a family oriented fantasy-drama series.

Some critics say the show is too syrupy. Others say it is a good antidote to sex, and more sex which is the formula of a growing number of shows.

Landon plays Jonathan Smith, a probationary angel sent from Heaven to Earth to prove himself. His assignment: to help people in need by reminding them life is worth living if people only give one another a helping hand.

His sidekick on Earth, played by Victor French, is Mark Gordon, a boozing, burly, burned-out, brawling ex-policeman he drags from existence's scrap pile.

Landon said he had a hard time selling the idea to NBC executives who were convinced it would never take off. But he said the pilot show "went off the roof" and proved they were wrong.

He said he got the idea for the show from battling Southern California freeway traffic. "Out there (on the freeways) people are so unforgiving," he said. "Everybody hates each other. You make one mistake and people scream and yell at you. I think we've forgotten how satisfying the world could be if we just gave each other a helping hand. I think it will be nice to show how life could be if we did."

Sound familiar? It should. The thought has been around for a couple of thousand years. Landon's show dramatizes it in today's hyperactive life. At the same time he proves TV success does not necessarily depend on sleaze-power. That's a lesson that needs frequent airing.

BERRY'S WORLD

As soon as Seminole's Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard recovers from Tuesday's general election, she'll begin preparing a recommendation on how some of the county's voting precincts should be split.

When she researches how many registered voters should properly be included within a single precinct, she will make her recommendations to the county commission for action.

Mrs. Goard says she would like to have whatever precinct changes done before the required purge of the voter rolls early in 1985.

The persons on the voter rolls, who have not voted in an election in the past two years, will be sent a card to sign if they wish to remain a registered voter here. Often when the cards are sent out, it is found that persons who have not voted during the time period have moved out of the county.

A check of the county's 72 precincts shows that 50 precincts have 1,000 or more voters each and eight of those 50 have more than 2,000 registered voters each.

Precinct 60 in Markham Woods area is the largest with 2,753 registered voters.

After the general election, there could be as many as four more elections — in Sanford and Longwood — this year.

In addition to their regular Dec. 4 election, both cities may have runoffs on Dec. 18.

In Sanford, three candidates are running for a city commission seat and for the mayor's office. In Longwood, three candidates are running for a city commission seat.

To win in a three-person contest the first go round in either city, a candidate must poll 50 percent plus one vote.

November, 1984 has been declared National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month by the U.S. Congress.

A workshop-seminar on the disease will be held Nov. 16 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the Marks Street Senior Center, 99 E. Marks Street, Orlando. Purpose of the seminar is to provide information and education on this illness, the fourth largest cause of death in the United States after heart disease, cancer and stroke.

Dr. Paul E. Wilson, gerontologist, and Dr. Roger Murray and Judith G. Hilechuk, director of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council Area Agency on Aging, will provide an educational update on Alzheimer's Disease.

EDWARD J. WALSH Deficits: Liberals' Approach

A major theme of the 1984 political campaign is budget deficits: cure and prevention. This is an uncomfortable subject for liberals who must attack their opposition for deficits they themselves once applauded.

The liberals' approach, as one might expect, is to deny their past. Walter Mondale has tried to do so by presenting a so-called "deficit reduction" plan, hoping that a barrage of figures will help them appear "presidential." A good president, he wants us to believe, will have the courage to impose taxes that are necessary even if unpopular, in the way a parent spansks a naughty child in the hope of teaching a lesson.

Unfortunately for him, the unpopularity of Mr. Mondale's prescription of tax increases is matched by the economic ignorance behind it. It would repeal the indexing provision of President Reagan's 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act for single wage earners with incomes over $15,000, and couples earning over $25,000. Their incomes would be indexed only for a measure of inflation over 4 percent. Indexing is intended to adjust tax rates to increases in the consumer price index beginning in 1985, eliminate the phenomenon of "bracket creep," whereby inflation pushes taxpayers into higher brackets.

Mr. Mondale would also cancel the third increment of President Reagan's three-part tax cut for people with incomes over $45,000-$60,000 for couples. Individuals earning more than $70,000 or $100,000 on a joint return would be subject to a 10 percent surcharge on tax liability over that of a $70,000 income earner.

These new taxes are projected to raise $85 billion by fiscal year 1989, for that year alone. Businesses would also be gipped, to the tune of $25 billion via a 15 percent corporate minimum tax, and by that old tax reform standby, closing loopholes.

Mr. Mondale doesn't propose to cure deficits only by raising taxes. He also wants to cut spending for the MX missile and the B-1 bomber.

All this revenue enhancement, Mr. Mondale asserts, will lower interest costs to the Treasury, and thus lower rates throughout the economy. The plan avoids factoring in the sticky reality of monetary policy. Mondale's spending programs cancel out the spending cuts — even if the cuts materialize — by about 4 to 1, but candidate Mondale seems to think the Federal Reserve would respond gladly by expanding the money supply and stoking up inflation.

Fewer Willing To Risk Public Life

WASHINGTON — In the American tradition, the election campaign has been a period of limited anarchy, a time of frivolity and flummery, of hype and hypocrisy.

The beleaguered candidates have passed through the political gantlet, pummeled by the opposition and ragged by the press. The ordeal seems calculated to drive the best and the brightest out of public life. Fewer and fewer qualified people are willing to venture into the swamp.

The way the press pried into Geraldine Ferraro's family finances, I'm told, put her through great personal travail. Intimates say that her marriage was severely strained, that she sometimes wondered whether the prize was worth the price.

Sources close to President Reagan tell me he, too, is deeply aggrieved by the press treatment he has been getting.

Certainly, the coverage of the presidential campaign has been unrelenting. Networks and newspapers have presented the candidates alternately as bumbling dunces and political connivers.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Extraterrestrial View

By Arnold Sawlsak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You arrived in the United States from your own planet about a year ago. Wanting to learn everything you could about this strange place, you started reading the newspapers and watching television.

One of the first things you noticed is that something called a presidential campaign was getting a lot of attention. Everyone said this was the most exciting and important thing that was happening in the country this year.

Last winter, a large group of men went to some place called New Hampshire to shake hands, give speeches and argue with each other. After a few weeks, you were told that the tall fellow with the bushy hair had done something exciting and important by getting more votes than the man with the bags under his eyes.

Your favorite was the bald man who had traveled in space, but he seemed to fade in importance after baggy eyes yelled "baloney" at him. Your research showed that baloney is a kind of food that comes in packages shaped like space ships, but it apparently had some other important meaning.

As the weather warmed up, bushy hair and baggy eyes were joined by the dark-colored man with the droopy mustache. They continued to argue and yell at each other until summer, when a meeting was held in a hole in the ground in some place called San Francisco and baggy eyes showed up with a female of the species. Everyone got very excited and said this was very important.

A few weeks later, another group of people had a very similar meeting at a place called Dallas and got very excited when an elderly gentleman arrived to say bad things about baggy eyes and his friends. Everyone said this also was a very important event.

Now you were seeing baggy eyes and the elderly man every day on television and twice they appeared together. They didn't actually talk to each other and didn't get very excited themselves, but everyone said what happened was very important.

There were a lot of pictures of both the elderly man and baggy eyes standing in front of very large, very excited crowds with balloons and flags and signs. Everyone said those were not very important compared to what "the polls" were saying. Your dictionary was not much help, defining a poll as both "the top of the head" and an expression of opinion. But everyone said the polls were important, even if not exciting.

Today, you have been told that the people are going to go to the polls — which also seem to be a place — and decide whether they want baggy eyes or the elderly man to be their leader.

You are told this will be a very exciting and very important day and night and you should plan to stay in front of your television set to see how it comes out.

You also are told that less than half of the people who have been watching and listening to all this important and exciting yelling and arguing will go to those polls and decide who should be the leader.

Could this be what "baloney" really means?

UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The flight of Discovery Wednesday marks the first tentative steps into space for the 3M Co., which hopes its onboard organic crystal factory will one day pay off in handsome profits.

A small container housed on the lower deck of Discovery's crew cabin contains six cylinders that will be used to grow exceptionally pure organic crystals for the first time in the weightlessness of space.

The research will be valuable in the fields of optics, electronics and other high-tech areas and the experiment represents a long-term commitment by 3M to investigate the commercial potential of space manufacturing.

"The question of is there or is there not commercial significance (in space), you can argue and talk about it for days but somebody's got to go do something," said Christopher Rodasly, the director of 3M's Science Research Laboratory in St. Paul, Minn.

"I think American industry has to realize that short-term investment is not going to solve our 1990 problems."

Putting its money on the line — company officials will not say how much — 3M established a "space research and applications laboratory," designed and built the hardware for the first experiment, and signed an agreement with the space agency calling for shuttle flights through 1985.

And the company did it in less than 10 months.

The first experiment is designed for basic research and to flight test the hardware, which can be used for other experiments with only minor modifications.

The experiment is self contained and operates automatically, but astronaut Anna Fisher has been trained to take over if it fails to start or stop on time.

Each of the six cylinders includes three Teflon-coated chambers. Organic chemicals are held in chambers at either end or both and once in orbit, computer-controlled valves will open to allow the materials to mix in the central chambers.

The mixing sparks a reaction and the resulting byproduct is expected to crystallize out of solution. The experiment will run throughout Discovery's eight-day flight.

In one "reactor," urea crystals will be formed, which will be studied for their optical properties, and in two others, crystals will form that are useful in making photographic films and paint.

Conservatives were given ideological labels: liberals were not.

Although the researchers didn't analyze the print media, at least one source suggested that the same compensatory practices were evident. He cited only random evidence.

In side-by-side news accounts of the Reagan and Mondale campaigns, for example, The New York Times portrayed Reagan as a tinsel candidate without substance and Mondale as a gritty underdog battling for his convictions.

The Times described Reagan as "wrinkled with age," accused him of "documented factual lapses" and reported, "The Reagan bandwagon is no place for citizens who yearn to hear politicians talking in long paragraphs of issues."

In contrast, The Times described Mondale as "a man of the most decent political impulses" who "has doggedly sought to run an issues-oriented campaign."

Despite forebodings of defeat, reported the Times, "Mr. Mondale has come out swinging. ... His speeches became vivid, his delivery thumping and aggressive." Concluded the Times sadly: "But the irony for Mr. Mondale is that many of the people he cares so deeply about don't seem to be responding."

In my own reporting on politics, I have been as glibly as the next reporter of affronts and imperfections. I have spent the past 37 years in the skeptic's seat, viewing with contempt the politicians' capacity to manage the country.

Perhaps we in the media have been dumping on the government too much, having the effect of a bucket of sand on a grinding machine. We have felt compelled to drive shafts of gloom into the American dream.

This not only has inflicted a degree of paralysis on the government; it has also discouraged good candidates from running for office. Maybe this explains how the government of George Washington could fall into the hands of Richard Nixon, why the party of Thomas Jefferson could be captured by Jimmy Carter.

In the world of 1984, the menace does not appear to be Big Brother as much as Little Brother.

The Final Day

For Campaign '84, It's All Over But The Voting

By Laurence McGullian
UPI Political Reporter

Ronald Reagan and George Bush are using the final day of the presidential campaign to pursue a landslide of historic proportions, while challengers Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro are ignoring the odds and seeking a repeat of history's major upset in 1948.

Today is packed with a series of rallies for the four national candidates before each heads to home turf and awaits the final verdict of an estimated 95 million voters Tuesday.

Reagan ends a five-day campaign blitz — the last he will make in a run for public office — with a sweep of three cities in California, the state where he launched his career and served as governor for two terms.

He will stop in Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Diego and spend the night in Los Angeles.

Mondale hits Los Angeles, Mason City, Iowa, and St. Paul, Minn., before going to the confines of his North Oaks, Minn., hideaway.

Bush campaigns around his home state of Texas, with appearances in Denton, Amarillo and Houston, while Geraldine Ferraro closes out her history-laced mission with appearances in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Newark, N.J., and New York City before going to her residence in Queens.

A poll released Sunday night offers Mondale some comfort, but not much. The Louis Harris-National Public Radio survey found a strong last-minute surge for the Democratic challenger, but it still leaves the incumbent holding a commanding 55 percent to 42 percent lead.

That puts Mondale 4 points closer than results taken two days earlier but leaves a 12-point gap heading into the eve of the election.

A Washington Post-ABC News poll Sunday gives Reagan a 57-39 point lead and prospects of carrying more than 45 states.

The president, far from resting on the lead he holds in every poll, is going after as big a rout as possible — perhaps even a 50-state sweep, which his advisers say could happen.

In a surprise move Sunday, Reagan stopped in Rochester, Minn., the state Mondale has called home all his life, and tried to lure voters in a contest experts say could go either way.

"I don't think of it as running up the score," Reagan said to reporters about the last-minute efforts in a state where only 10 electoral votes are at stake. "The Gipper would never quit before the final whistle," he said, referring to former Notre Dame football player George Gipp, whom Reagan portrayed in a movie.

"From the very beginning, we've been running a national campaign, taking our case all over America," said Reagan, who is seeking a clear mandate so he can complete what he calls "the second American Revolution."

The president conceded to having "a little bit of mixed emotions" about closing out his final quest for public office. "It's sort of like the last football game of the season and knowing you're not going to play football anymore."

Mondale spent Sunday barnstorming through Texas' Rio Grande Valley, following an earlier stop at a black Baptist church in Memphis, Tenn., as the Democratic standardbearer tried to get his party's traditional base of supporters to the polls.

He drew about 20,000 to a high school football stadium in Corpus Christi, Texas, where an airplane pulled a banner proclaiming the current Democratic theme: "Truman '48, Mondale '84."

"The Republicans and pollsters are in for the biggest surprise of their life," Mondale said.

Earlier, Mondale told several thousand in McAllen, Texas, that Hispanics have been "under-represented when running this country is being determined" and pledged "to change that" by naming Hispanic Americans to his Cabinet.

In Memphis, Mondale told a black church congregation: "We need everybody" on Election Day and accused the administration of "turning their backs on civil rights." He said, "You know it. I know it. Don't let them get away with it."

Ferraro, at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Mich., took a swipe at Bush by saying she could never serve on a ticket with Reagan and "be a cheerleader" for his policies.

"I do have some principles and I want to stick with them, so I could never be on a ticket with Ronald Reagan," she said. Noting Bush said he would hate to be running as a Democrat, Ferraro said, "Well George, let me put your mind at ease. We wouldn't have you."

Guardian Angels Protest Guru's Treatment Of The Homeless

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Three members of New York City's Guardian Angels patrol were arrested outside the governor's home after a noisy protest over treatment of the homeless by an Oregon-based Indian guru.

Curtis Sliwa, national leader of the group, said the protest Sunday was to publicize the plight of street people recruited around the country by the guru's commune. Many left the commune and some have remained on the streets in Oregon cities.

"I don't believe the governor has done anything of substance to stop the dumping of homeless," said Sliwa, who had been arrested in a similar Guardian Angel protest Saturday in Portland.

On Saturday, Sliwa and six others were arrested after they handcuffed themselves to the front door of a Portland hotel owned by the followers of guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, whose commune is located in rural central Oregon.

Postal Service Looking For Building Site

The U.S. Postal Service is seeking a suitable site upon which to build and lease a new main post office building in Lake Monroe. Postmaster Robert Mann said today.

The "preferred area" for site consideration is bounded on the north by Michigan Avenue, on the east by County Road 15, on the south by Church Street, and on the west by Missouri Street, including sites on either side of boundary streets.

Minimum site size needed is 30,000 square ft. of land, or a lot with dimensions of 150 by 200 feet.

Property owners are asked to submit their site offerings not later than Dec. 3 to: Pat Ferrari, realty management and acquisition analyst, Field Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Box 22725, Tampa, Fla. 33622-2725.

After a suitable site has been located, the Postal Service will call for construction bids for a building that will be built with private funds and leased to the Postal Service.

The proposed new post office building will have approximately 1,856 square feet of interior floor space.

Panther Set For Surgery

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Veterinarians prepared today for additional surgery on a Florida panther, one of about 30 still in existence, that suffered two mangled legs when it was hit by a car and left for dead.

The 3½-year-old male panther, nicknamed Big Guy, underwent surgery on one leg Saturday at the University of Florida College of Veterinary Medicine. Arline Dishong, a university spokeswoman, said another operation on the big cat's other leg was scheduled for today.

Veterinarians estimated it would be at least six to eight weeks before the big cat could walk again.

The panther, among a rare group of about 30 believed to roam Florida, was discovered early Friday sprawled near a guard rail on the Tamiami Trail about 6 miles east of Naples.

Ronald Townsend, a motorist who found the tawny 110-pound cat, said the panther was hanging over the edge of a canal next to the road, his two broken back legs hanging in the water.

The cat was tranquilized and brought to St. Francis Animal Clinic in Naples, where he was cared for by veterinarian Ned Johnston until animal doctors from the UF veterinary college arrived.

Democrats Lose Hope For Regaining The Senate

But Democratic Contenders Could Dump Some Senior Republicans

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans, struggling to retain control of the Senate, appear headed for victory but Democrats could cut their margin and possibly dump veterans Jesse Helms, Charles Percy and Roger Jepsen.

Democratic hopes of recapturing the Senate, considered promising during the early stages of the campaign, have wilted. Only a remarkable series of upsets could deny Republicans two more years at the helm.

To guard against a last-minute Democratic surge in swing states, President Reagan, confident of his own re-election, started campaigning last week in a number of states where his generous coattails could mean the difference in Senate races.

Republicans, who seized the Senate in the 1980 Reagan sweep after a quarter of a century in the minority, go into the elections with a 55-45 edge, a margin strong enough to play off against the Democratic House in the last two years.

Democratic and Republican strategists generally agree that a handful of the 33 races will determine the extent to which the GOP margin will be narrowed — if at all. There is almost no serious talk of the Democratic putting together a net gain of six needed to take over.

Whatever the outcome, the Senate races will be the most costly in history. Common Cause said that through Oct. 17 the candidates raised $124 million and spent $109 million.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said, "My guess is that we're going to come out close to where we are now."

"It seems to me that we've got reasonable chances of pulling out the close ones," Lugar said, adding that "I would be sad" if Republicans had a net loss of one.

J. Brian Atwood, executive director of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, predicted a pickup of two or three seats but added that if Walter Mondale makes a late comeback to within 5 points of Reagan "we're going to be healthy."

There is no dispute that the showcase elections of the 1984 Senate elections are in North Carolina and Illinois. They could both be decided in the final hours of the campaign.

In North Carolina, two-term Senate veteran Helms, high priest of the Republican right, faces the strongest challenger of his career from two-term Gov. Jim Hunt, a classic match between two political powerhouses. Voter turnout could spell the difference.

The most recent poll, by the Charlotte Observer, give Helms a slight 47-43 edge, three weeks after Hunt was out front by the same numbers.

"Bear in mind," the 62-year-old Helms cautioned, "that we have been mindful that this ball is going to dance all over the lot in the last four or five weeks."

"One night he's up — the next night I'm up," the 47-year old Hunt said in the final days of the most publicized, most expensive ($21 million plus) and very probably dirtiest campaign neared its end.

In Illinois, three-term veteran Percy, a 65-year-old moderate, faces the biggest challenge of his political career from Rep. Paul Simon, a liberal who has served five terms in the House.

Going into the final week, Percy was clinging to a razor-thin lead as Simon tried to peel off the incumbent's liberal, black and Jewish vote and Percy made a frenzied attempt to enlist conservatives he previously took for granted.

If the Democrats pick off both Percy and Helms, they would almost certainly have a gain of three and, in their estimates, four.

Democratic Rep. Albert Gore, son of a former senator, is conceded the seat from Tennessee seat vacated by retiring Senate Republican leader Howard Baker, and Rep. Tom Harkin appears to have edged ahead of Jepsen, the Republican candidate, in Iowa.

Atwood said the Tennessee and Iowa races are "as close as you can get to sure bets" but Lugar, while virtually conceding Tennessee, insists that Jepsen is no more than a couple of points behind in Iowa and added, "This has been a long, tough campaign and it's a question, I suppose, how the marginal voters come down."

After that, the seat hunting gets tough for the Democrats.

Minorities Expected To Grab Few Seats On Capitol Hill

By David R. Anderson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite sharp increases in voter registration among minority groups, the compositions of the Congressional Black and Hispanic caucuses are not expected to change much following Tuesday's elections.

But Democratic contender Walter Mondale hopes that a big turnout by those two groups will give him a surprising edge in several states in the South and Southwest.

Observers of black political participation say the best chance blacks have of winning a new seat is in Mississippi, where Democrat Robert Clark is waging a tough campaign to unseat Republican Rep. Webb Franklin.

Clark, a former teacher and anti-poverty worker, made history in 1967 when he became the first black elected to the Mississippi Legislature since Reconstruction.

Now, in a rematch with Franklin, he would like to make history again by being the first black sent to Washington by Mississippi voters since 1888. He lost to Franklin in 1982 by less than 3,000 votes.

A longshot upset that could increase black representation on Capitol Hill is being waged in South Carolina, where Ken Mosley, a black physical education professor is taking on Republican incumbent Floyd Spence for the second time.

Although Mosley has a well-financed campaign, observers of the race say that he has not been able to broaden his appeal beyond blacks and white liberals and Spence's appeal to his seniority and constituency service could send him back to Congress.

Currently, the 20-member Black Caucus on Capitol Hill is solidly Democratic and while Republicans have fielded one of the largest numbers of black Republican candidates in recent years, it is expected to remain all Democratic.

The caucus lost one of its members when freshman Rep. Kattie Hall was upset in a primary election in May.

Republicans have put six blacks up against black incumbents: Reps. Ron Dellums and Julian Din California, Cardiss Collins in Illinois, Major Owens in New York, Louis Stokes in Ohio and William Gray in Illinois.

In addition, a black Republican is challenging Hispanic Rep. Robert Garcia in New York and Asian Republican Echo Gotto is challenging Rep. Augustus Hawkins in California.

The Republicans are also fielding black candidates against white candidates in four House races, challenging Reps. Lindsay Thomas in Georgia, Andrew Jacobs in Indiana and William Hughes Robert Roe in New Jersey.

Besides Clark, black Democrats are challenging white Republican incumbent Rep. Willis Gradison in Ohio and Floyd Spence in South Carolina.

Hispanics, one of the fastest growing ethnic groups in the country and selected by both Republicans and Democrats for voter registration drives, are fielding 14 House candidates.

Americans Split Over Polls' Value

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — American opinion is split on the value of presidential polls, according to a recent survey.

Of more than 9,000 voting-age Americans surveyed at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center, roughly 4 in 10 said polls relating to the presidential election provide at least a good early reading, while nearly an equal number called the polls either misleading or confusing.

Specifically, 27 percent of the survey group labelled the polls "misleading", while 14 percent said they were "confusing". On the other side of the picture, 24 percent said the polls usually predict the outcome of an election, and 18 percent said they give "a good early reading".

Only 11 percent said the polls do not predict election results, and 6 percent withheld their judgment on the basis of uncertainty.

The survey showed virtually no demographic differences in the way the 9,361 participants felt.

Editor's note: Visitors to Epcot are polled daily and their responses are tabulated by computer. The results of the poll are analyzed by the New York research and public opinion polling firm of Allen, Shapiro and Keller-ASK Inc.

NRC Accused Of Cover-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 5,000 mishaps occurred at nuclear power plants last year, workers were exposed to record radiation levels and reactors generated electricity only 56 percent of the time, a public interest group says.

Of the 5,060 mishaps at American nuclear plants in 1983, 247 were considered "particularly significant" by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, said officials of Public Citizen's Critical Mass Energy Project Thursday. The group was founded by consumer activist Ralph Nader.

Public Citizen said "particularly significant mishaps" were troubling safety problems that had been singled out by the NRC itself for particular concern. The term "mishap" involves events considered less serious.

The group released a 79-page report compiled from NRC records, many of which had to be obtained by use of the Freedom of Information Act, the group said. It also said the NRC has started a "concerted drive" to withhold safety information from public disclosure.

"In 1983, nuclear reactors proved again to be an unreliable, expensive and potentially very dangerous source of power," the report said.

Michael Totten, director of Critical Mass, said: "The track record exposed by our report disproves the nuclear industry's claim that nuclear power provides reliable, safe and abundant electricity. Plant performance was riddled by 'personnel goofs' and utility mismanagement that resulted in a record number of NRC fines. Workers were exposed to record levels of radiation."

The report said, "Once again, reactors performed dismally, generating electricity only 56 percent of the time."

More workers than ever before, 85,646, were exposed to a record high level of radiation — 56,507 person-rem — the report said, adding: "Radiation exposure is 8 percent over 1982, and 1,324 more workers were exposed than in 1982."

A spokeswoman for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission refused to comment on the report, saying, "We haven't had a chance to look at this."

Don Winston, a spokesman for the Atomic Industrial Forum, a nuclear industry group, said the figures in the report showing more plants problems were "meaningless" because each year more plants go "on line."

He also said the reports are an early warning system for the industry, which has never caused "an injury to a member of the general public."

Security threats also continued to plague nuclear facilities, the report said. 63 reported security threats at reactors in 1983. California's Diablo Canyon had the highest number of security threats, 16, "and several instances of inside sabotage," the report said.

The worst of the 247 "particularly significant mishaps" the report noted, occurred at New Jersey's Salem 1 reactor. An accident was narrowly averted when the facility "suffered the first complete breakdown of the automatic shut down system in an American nuclear facility."

The New Jersey plant's owner, Public Service Electric & Gas, was hit with an $850,000 fine, an NRC record, the report said, noting that the NRC called it the worst "accident precursor" since the incident at Three Mile Island.

The NRC fined Carolina Power & Light $600,000 for "gross mismanagement," the report noted, because the NRC discovered that the firm's two Brunswick reactors in North Carolina "had operated for half a decade while failing to carry out routine testing of safety systems."

During 1983 the NRC issued a record number of fines, 49, with Commonwealth Edison of Illinois "heading the list with 10 for numerous violations and management problems."

Fourteen nuclear plants each had 100 mishaps or more, the report noted, with Grand Gulf in Mississippi repeating "its dismal 1982 performance, heading the list with 277 mishaps."

Salem units 1 and 2 in New Jersey "were a close second with nine mishaps each," the report added.

Elect WOLFINGER STATE ATTORNEY

REPUBLICAN

Editorials TODAY

Wolfinger Qualified For State Attorney Post

It is time for a change in the state attorney's office. Republican Norm Wolfinger offers the prospect of intelligent and responsible operation of the office. His work as chief assistant public defender for the past 3 1/2 years has demonstrated his abilities. In that role, he helped transform a poorly regarded office into a well respected one.

In the eight years incumbent Douglas Cheshire has held the state attorney post, the staff and budget have grown tremendously — but bigger isn't always better. And the fact is that this office is not considered to be well run by a large number of the people who have dealings with it — law enforcement officials, attorneys, judges and others involved with the criminal justice system.

In Seminole County, the other half of the two-county 18th Judicial Circuit served by State Attorney Cheshire, the law enforcement officialdom is solidly against the man with whom they must work. Six of the eight police chiefs in that county, as well as the sheriff, have publicly endorsed Wolfinger. That's a bold and unusual step for police agencies to take — openly opposing the man on whom they must rely to prosecute their cases. Usually lawmen suffer in official silence when dealings between them and the state attorney's office are frequently unsatisfactory.

Although there hasn't been such a dramatic anti-incumbent stand in Brevard, there nonetheless is a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction about various aspects of Cheshire's office, such as communications, decision making procedures and use of personnel.

One of our chief complaints about the incumbent, as detailed in a series of articles published in 1982, has to do with his spending and business management practices. In our opinion, he has squandered the taxpayers' money unwisely on purchases such as plush office furnishings. For example, on the last day of the 1982 fiscal year he bought 10

The Orlando Sentinel, Thursday, November 1, 1984

Wolfinger better to manage state attorney's office

Traditionally, voters look for the tough prosecutor image when selecting a state attorney. In today's world, though, a top administrator is at least of equal importance.

That is why we recommend the election of Norman Wolfinger to that office in the 18th Judicial Circuit — Seminole and Brevard counties. He has proved himself to be that tough prosecutor; more importantly, he has a management record that this office so badly needs.

Mr. Wolfinger, 39, spent seven years as an assistant prosecutor and then, four years ago, took the job of chief assistant public defender to help rebuild a department in shambles. He took that job by design: He wanted management experience he could use as state attorney. That he learned is evident in the tremendous change in the defender's office.

One example of management importance is Mr. Wolfinger's plan to put a top assistant in charge of accepting cases for prosecution, rather than rotating the duty as is done now. One experienced attorney on the intake desk will mean better prepared cases, not the helter-skelter, last-minute preparation and cases falling between the proverbial cracks.

It is this lack of office management and control that has led to the almost unanimous endorsement of Mr. Wolfinger by police in the two counties. That includes the Seminole County Police Chiefs Association and two police unions in Brevard County.

Such lack of confidence in the incumbent, Douglas Cheshire, is unusual if not disconcerting. Without the respect and cooperation of police, the people's representative in criminal court is hamstringed.

Mr. Cheshire, 47, has held this job for eight years but has not built a record on which reelection can be justified. On the other hand, Mr. Wolfinger, the Republican in this race, plans such things as a continuing legal education program for assistants, improved communications with police and a stronger victims' rights program.

The Sentinel believes the election of Norman Wolfinger as state attorney would be in the best interest of the people in Seminole and Brevard counties.

Army, Belief In Democracy Will Hold India Together

By Michael Ross
UPI Senior Editor

NEW DELHI (UPI) — "The people," India's first prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru once exclaimed in despair, "have all gone mad."

Now, 37 years after Nehru's lament, the same madness rocks the streets. This time, however, it is directed not against Moslems but against Sikhs, a small but influential minority whose agitation for autonomy ignited a fuse that exploded last week in the assassination of Nehru's daughter, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Gandhi was gunned down by two Sikh members of her personal security force in a killing apparently meant to avenge the army attack last June on the Golden Temple of Amritsar, the holiest shrine of the Sikh religion.

At least 600 people were killed in that assault, ordered by Gandhi to evict Sikh militants using the temple as a base for terrorist operations in the northern state of Punjab, where Sikhs constitute a majority.

Within hours of Gandhi's death, enraged Hindus had taken to the streets in mob force to sack Sikh temples and burn Sikh property.

Several Sikhs, easily identifiable by their beards and turbans, were doused with kerosene and burned to death after being caught by angry mobs. One mob, stopping vehicles near New Delhi airport, dragged a Sikh motorist from his car, soaked his turban with gasoline and set his head on fire, witnesses said.

On the second night, the Sikhs struck back. In downtown Delhi and other cities, the crackle of small arms fire sounded in the streets and the night sky glowed crimson from the fires consuming scores of temples and storefronts.

In New Delhi, "there is not a Sikh business left unburned," a Western diplomat said.

By the time the army stepped in to back up beleaguered police and enforce a 24-hour curfew, the death toll stood at more than 500.

In New Delhi, Gandhi's son and heir apparent, Rajiv, was quickly hustled in as prime minister. Though some politicians grumbled about the bypassing of parliamentary niceties, their objections were soon silenced by the need to plug the power vacuum and quell the worst communal violence since 1947.

Appearing on television on the eve of his mother's funeral, Rajiv warned that "communal violence will destroy us" and appealed for peace.

While many Indians fear the violence has not yet peaked, diplomats believe the army will eventually contain it and have begun to speculate about what sort of phoenix will rise from the ashes of India's smouldering Sikh temples.

Though communal hatreds are still too rife to predict their course, the belief among Western diplomats in New Delhi is that Indian democracy will survive, even if things get much worse before getting better.

Their belief is sustained by two faiths — one in the value that Indians attach to democratic principles and the other in the solidity of the Indian army.

Despite some mutinies by Sikh enlisted men during the Punjab crisis in June, the Army has remained largely immune to sectarian division.

"The army is a major force of stability in India," one Western diplomat said.

"The Punjab defections were damaging, but the Hindu and Moslem components of the army are solid. The role of the Sikh component may be more difficult now, but the army as a whole should hold together."

Much depends, however, on the untested abilities of Rajiv Gandhi, a former airline pilot who entered politics at his mother's behest after the death of his younger brother, Sanjay, four years ago. Now some diplomats fear Rajiv may not have had enough time to prepare for the role thrust upon him.

Papers Say 'Lindy' Flew Spy Missions For U.S. in WW II

By Richard M. Harnett
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Charles A. Lindbergh, often branded as a Nazi sympathizer during World War II, gathered intelligence for the United States on four visits to Germany before the war.

The late Col. Truman Smith, who was America's military representative in Berlin between 1935 and 1939, disclosed in papers recently published by the Hoover Institution that Lindbergh provided crucial and detailed data on the Luftwaffe's planes and Hitler's aircraft manufacturing facilities.

As for the highly publicized incident in which Nazi Field Marshal Hermann Goering presented Lindbergh with a medal in 1938, the papers disclose that neither Smith nor Lindbergh had any advance knowledge of Goering's plan.

Robert Heasen, who edited the Smith papers, said even if they had been alerted "Lindbergh would not have been able to refuse the medal without offending." Smith and Lindbergh did not want to offend Goering at that time because they needed his favor "if they wanted to see more of the German Air Force."

Hartsfield, Salmon Are Cornerstones

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

If you were starting a high school football team, who would you rather have, Scott Salmon or Ray Hartsfield?

After watching the contributions of these versatile performers the past two years, you couldn't go wrong with either as the cornerstone for your team. Which may be one reason their squads have a combined 13-3 record this year.

Salmon, a Lake Brantley senior, is listed at 170 pounds. He plays defensive back and running back. Hartsfield, a Lake Mary junior, is listed at 155 pounds. He plays quarterback and safety.

But the value of these two-way performers goes beyond offense and defense. They also return kicks and provide valuable leadership. "Scott Salmon has saved us a lot of ball games over the past three years," said Lake Brantley coach David Tullis about his three-year starter.

"He's a great leader and a clutch performer." He showed a little of each Friday in Brantley's 28-0 victory over Seminole. Tullis inserted Salmon in the lineup when the Patriots moved inside the 10-yard line. He responded with three straight rushes for the first score of the game. "I just put my head down and keep both hands on the ball," Salmon said about his slashing style.

Later, he took a great pitch and scooted around right end for 17 yards and another TD. Patriot assistant coach Glenn Preising, who communicates with Brian Smith from the press box, couldn't conceal his glee. "Look how he cuts up behind those blockers," gushed Preising. "Too bad he has to go back on defense."

Salmon, a straight A student and a good baseball player, holds the Lake Brantley record with a 60-yard punt return. Hartsfield, meanwhile, is the Lake Mary handyman. There isn't much that he can't do. On three occasions this season, he has jolted ball carriers so hard, they had to be helped off the field.

Hartsfield is especially dangerous in close, like Salmon. The quick-footed junior waves the ball in the air as he speeds toward the end, then tucks it in and scrambles into the end zone. He has five TDs rushing this year.

"Coach Nelson says if I can get around the end, go for it," said Hartsfield, who is also a fine basketball player...

Lake Brantley still has the class act when it comes to Friday nights in the county. The Patriot boosters, headed by president John Neville, have the best field lighting and the finest press box around. The football extravaganza comes complete with fireworks (just the right timing on the "Bombs Bursting" refrain in the Star Spangled Banner) and all those beautiful girls.

Neville said Friday that the lighting will get better, too. That middle pole has got to go," said John. "It's in the way. We'll probably go with four poles instead of six and more lights."

The Patriot lighting isn't limited to football either. Boosters Clayton Garrison, Ron Bass and Richard Coffey have put beaucoup hours into the baseball field which will be lighted for the spring. Both fields are in great shape, too.

The program is the best this side of Titusville Astronaut, also. There are individual photos of each player with a capsule summary of their accomplishments and other tidbits. Example, Junior Jeff "Big Foot" Peterson has a size 15 shoe...

Speaking of big feet, one word left out sure changes a sentence and slims down a coach.

Lyman's Bill Scott was telling how he felt drawled while shaking hands with the Apopka Blue Darters after Friday's loss. "I felt small," said Big Bill. No lightweight himself is how it should have read. "The width of those guys is amazing."

Seminoles Qualify 2

Penick, Martin Lead The Way To Region

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Maybe a "Once upon a time," would be in order to start out Seminole's storybook 1984 cross country season. But, once does not apply here. Seminole will not wake up back in obscurity one or two years from now. Coach Ted Tombros has this program here to stay.

Seminole continued to add to its list of accomplishments Saturday at the 4A-5 District meet at Trinity Prep. Both its boys and girls teams qualified for this Saturday's Region 3 meet at Lake Mary High. The boys team, led by the first place finisher of Billy Penick, finished sixth and qualified for the second straight year while the girls team, which came in third, qualified for the first time ever.

Another fact that adds to the program's great progress is that Seminole High is the only school from Seminole County and the Five Star Conference that had both its boys and girls teams qualify for the regionals. Winter Park is the only other team from the district that qualified both of its teams.

"We're really building something at Seminole High,"

District 4A-5 Cross Country

'We're really building something at Seminole High. These kids are building something for the future of Seminole cross country. We still have a long way to go, but we have the people to take us there.'

— Ted Tombros

Tombros said. "These kids are building a foundation for the future of Seminole cross country. We still have a long way to go, but we have the people who can take us there."

Penick is one of those people. The Tribe's junior standout broke his own school record Saturday and defeated Winter Park's Phil Wharton for the first time this season for the individual title. Penick finished with a time of 15:05.9 compared to 15:13.4 for Wharton.

"Billy (Penick) beat a young man (Wharton) who had beaten him three times this season," Tombros said. "Billy could have been a little apprehensive because Wharton is a speed runner who was running on a speed course (Trinity Prep). But Billy ran his own race and I can't say enough about his desire to succeed and his determination to accomplish his goals."

Larry Cosby, a sophomore, continued to be a solid second runner for the Seminoles. Cosby finished 16th Saturday with a personal best time of 16:17.7. Kelly Faint, a junior, ran a strong race for the second straight week as he finished 27th at 16:49.9. Kelvin Abney, also a junior, came in 17:13.3 and Randy Drury, a sophomore, was 54th at 17:47.3.

A pair of freshmen also ran for the Tribe Saturday as John Herberger came in 76th at 18:35.6 and Ted Richardson was 85th at 19:02.5.

Seminole's girls team literally rewrote the record books Saturday. Shownda Martin, a freshman, went under 12 minutes for the first time as she shattered her own school record, 12:05, with a third-place time of 11:42. Another freshman flash, Dorchelle Webster, also went under 12 minutes as she finished seventh with a time of 11:59.

Debbie Coleman, a junior, broke her own junior record as she came in 19th at 12:33 and Jennifer Roberts tied Coleman's sophomore record with a 37th place finish and a time of 13:08. Katrina Walker, a senior, also ran a personal best Saturday as she finished 41st at 13:22. Also competing for the Lady Seminoles was Glenda Bass (53rd at 14:08).

"Overall, I have to be pleased with the results," Tombros said. "The girls are really looking forward to the regional meet."

Seminole's third place finish was one place lower than Tombros had figured, but that was because Winter Park's second runner, Dorothy Garber, was running in her first meet of the season. Garber ended up fourth in the race. Without her, the Lady Wildcats would have been fourth in the team standings instead of second.

Larry Cosby
...personal best

"Team-wise, it was a little bit of a letdown," Tombros said. "We anticipated closing the gap between us and Lake Howell a little bit. We didn't do that and another team jumped ahead of us. But she (Garber) made a big difference for Winter Park."

"The regional will be different," Tombros said. "The Metro schools coming in haven't run Lake Mary's course and that will be an advantage for the Seminole County schools."

Even though the team finish was on spot lower, it couldn't dim the achievements of the Seminole High cross country program Saturday.

"We've accomplished our goal of making to the regionals, but we've also accomplished another big goal — respectability."

and 11-year-old Ryan Rector. Melissa, from Longwood Elementary, was the overall girls winner with a time of 11:07 for the mile and one-half course. Ryan, from Kelth Elementary, was the overall boys winner with a time of 9:22.

Stenerud's Ageless Toe Boots Bucs

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The only thing as reliable as Minnesota Viking placekicker Jan Stenerud's foot Sunday, was his word.

After convincing Minnesota Coach Les Steckel that he could deliver, the 41-year ageless Stenerud booted a 53-yard field goal with 2 seconds left to snap the Vikings' five-game losing streak with a 27-24 victory over Tampa Bay.

"There was not one person on the sideline, not one coach or player who thought about overtime," Steckel said.

Steckel knew what he needed to reach Stenerud's range, because the kicker tells the coach before every game how far his foot can go.

Pro Football

"Always, before every game, I give Les the yard line where I can reach," the Norwegian said. "On the last drive, when the ball was on the 45, I told Les we needed 8 or 9 yards to get realistic."

Stenerud got just what he wanted in the form of a 9-yard pass interference call against Tampa Bay linebacker Chris Washington as the Vikings faced fourth and nine. Minnesota was then at the Bucs' 35.

"I said 'Les, let's go for it,'" Stenerud said. "Thank goodness it went through."

The Buccaneers had tied the game 24-24 with 1:03 left on Steve DeBerg's 11-yard touchdown pass to Kevin House, capping a quick 60-yard drive aided by DeBerg's 13-yard screen pass to James Wilder on third and 10.

But the Vikings set up Stenerud by engineering a drive behind quarterback Wade Wilson, beginning at their 18-yard line with 59 seconds left in the game.

The Game Ram QBs Hold Edge

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary has two quarterbacks it uses according to situation. Friday night, Seminole used two quarterbacks according to desperation.

That's the way the most important position on the football field stands as the Rams and Seminoles begin preparation today for Friday's big showdown at Seminole High School.

Mike Whelchel, a Seminole senior who has started all eight games this fall, was replaced in the second quarter Friday night by junior Hal Posey. Neither fared too well. Whelchel was 0-for-3 with an interception. Posey was 1-for-10 with an interception. His completion went for 20 yards to Dexter Jones. Of course, the Tribe didn't fare very well either, playing its worst game of the year and losing, 28-0, to Lake Brantley.

Mike Whelchel

Hal Posey

Ray Hartsfield

Mike Schmit

Prep Football

Mike Schmit, a junior, shares the Ram quarterbacking duties with junior Ray Hartsfield. Hartsfield missed Friday's game with an ankle injury, but will be ready to go for Seminole, according to coach Harry Nelson. Schmit tossed a pair of TD passes to Donald Grayson in Lake Mary's 28-14 victory. Schmit hit 6 of 11 passes for 125 yards with no interceptions.

Hartsfield, who also plays safety, is more fearful for his feet than his arm. Nelson usually inserts him to generate the running game although he is dangerous on the halfback pass, too. But run is what the skillful 155-pounder does best, especially close to the goal line when he fakes the pass and turns the corner. He has five TDs rushing this year.

Although the importance of Friday's game would have been greater for Seminole had it won Friday, it still looms important for DeLand, Lake Brantley and Apopka. Lake Mary has a 6-1 conference record while the

Also running for Lake Howell were Mary Fonseca (21st at 12:34) and Michelle Spearman (27th at 12:50).

"When you get into the district, region and state, you get more quality people and it's harder to maintain a pack," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontrree said. "If you can get all seven runners in the top 25 you've got a good shot at winning."

Lake Howell, third in the state last year, has won every meet it has entered this season.

"The Lord's blessed this group has a great mental attitude," Hammontrree said. "They love to compete."

Winter Park can attribute its success Saturday to the state's of Oregon and West Virginia. Bovis, Florida's top individual runner, transferred to Winter Park from Oregon this season and the Wildcats' number two runner Saturday, Dorothy Garber (fourth individually at 11:46), hails from West Virginia. Garber just became eligible for Saturday's meet and those two runners give the Wildcats an excellent shot at making the state meet.

Seminole (see related story, page 9A) and Lake Brantley were the only other Seminole County teams to qualify for the regionals.

Lake Brantley didn't have a top 20 finisher, but the Lady Patriots grouped close together. Senior standout Joanne Hayward led the way as she came in 23rd with a time of 12:42 and Michelle Herbst, a sophomore, was right behind

Experienced Lady Lions Try To Snap Region Jinx

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo's Lady Lions have been the dominant team in their district, winning it the past four years. But, once outside the district, the Lions haven't had the best of luck.

In the last three years, the Lady Lions have lost in the regional. Oviedo, with perhaps its most talented team ever, hopes to change that Tuesday when it hosts the 3A-3 Regional Volleyball Championship.

"This group has a lot more experience and has been together a long time," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "I hope we'll be able to pull it out Tuesday."

Oviedo, the District 3A-6 champions will go up against the District 3A-5 champion Ocala Vanguard at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Oviedo gym.

The Lady Lions advanced to the regional by defeating Jones in the district finals. Oviedo also avenged one of its only two losses of the season against Jones with a 15-3, 15-11 victory.

"We were pretty much in control of the match," Carlson said of the district finals. "We returned their (Jones') serves well too. The last time we played them we didn't do that."

Volleyball

Carlson said the serving of Fran Foster, Stephanie Nelson and junior transfer Yvonne Gulap, led the way for the Lady Lions. Also the spiking of Foster and Mary Lokers, along with the setting of Tina Pauldo and Kim Beistel highlighted the Lions' victory.

"Mary (Lokers) and Fran (Foster) had some excellent spikes," Carlson said. "And Stephanie (Nelson) had some beautiful dinks."

Oviedo finished the regular season with a 16-2 record and unbeaten against Seminole County's other five teams (Seminole, Lyman, Lake Howell, Lake Mary and Lake Brantley). The Lady Lions opened district play with a 15-11, 15-7 victory over Kissimmee Osceola.

In other region action Tuesday, DeLand, which topped Lyman for the District 4A-9 title, plays at Orlando against Evans High. DeLand, which also won the district last year, is led by the devastating spiking of Bridgette Gordon.

Gators Get Physical, Hope For Moral

United Press International

There is no question the Florida Gators are physically good enough to win the Southeastern Conference for the first time, but there is a question of whether they have been morally good enough to qualify.

The 15th-ranked Gators established themselves as the strongboys of the SEC Saturday when they whipped 11th-ranked Auburn, 24-3. Favored in their two remaining conference games — against 8th-ranked Georgia and Kentucky — and expected to wind up in a tie with 17th-ranked LSU, the Gators now must decide whether to appeal a pending NCAA probation.

An appeal, which must be made by Wednesday, would delay NCAA action until January and apparently leave the Gators eligible for the SEC championship and a berth in the Sugar Bowl. However, there also is a question of whether the conference might take punitive action on its own to block Florida.

"They can take away our rings and say we didn't win, but we'll know what happened," said Florida offensive lineman Lomas Brown. "Auburn knows we beat them and if we beat Georgia (this coming Saturday in Jacksonville, Fla.), they'll know we beat them. They can't take away our victories."

Georgia, which beat Memphis State 13-3 in a non-conference game, is 4-0 in SEC play with Florida and LSU, a 32-29 winner over Ole Miss, at 3-0-1 and Auburn at 3-1.

Florida, which opened its season with a 32-20 loss to 6th-ranked Miami and is now 6-1-1, broke out of a 3-3 halftime tie with Auburn when Neal Anderson scored on runs of 36 and 15 yards and Lorenzo Hampton on a run of 43 yards.

"We just got a plain, old-fashioned whipping," said Auburn coach Pat Dye. "Florida manhandled us most of the game, especially late."

"We look at this as a challenge to Georgia," said Hampton. "We wanted Georgia to know the Gators are for real. They better be ready to play football."

Georgia's offense didn't appear to be ready to play football Saturday — netting only eight yards in the second half, but the Bulldogs' defense intercepted two passes and recovered three fumbles.

"We didn't do anything, but win," said Georgia coach Vince Dooley. "That is the important thing. I don't think it was a case of us looking ahead (to Florida). If we had been, I don't think we would have won."

Alabama won its first conference game of the season Saturday, coming from behind on a 67-yard pass to edge Mississippi State, 24-20. In other Southeast action, Kentucky beat North Texas State, 31-7; Miami beat Louisville, 38-23; 14th-ranked Florida State outslugged Arizona State, 52-44; Tulane lost to Virginia Tech, 13-6; and Southern Mississippi lost to Southwestern Louisiana, 22-0.

Tennessee and Vanderbilt had open dates.

Next Saturday's schedule, highlighted by Florida-Georgia, includes Alabama-LSU at Birmingham, Florida State at No. 5 South Carolina, Cincinnati at Auburn, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Memphis State at Tennessee, Southern Mississippi at East Carolina, Maryland at Miami and Tulane at Pitt. Ole Miss and Mississippi State have open dates.

LSU safety Jeffery Dale scored on a 37-yard pass interception return and recovered two fumbles Saturday night as the Bengals, now 6-1-1, came from behind by scoring 20 points in the final period. Ole Miss held Dalton Hilliard, the nation's fifth leading rusher entering the game, to only 78 yards but LSU quarterback Jeff Wickersham completed 18 of 31 passes for 254 yards.

"This is the first LSU-Ole Miss game that I've been associated with," said Bill Arnsparger, in his first year as LSU coach. "I don't know if I can stand any more."

Alabama, with little hope of avoiding its first losing season in 27 years with LSU and Auburn yet to play, improved its record to 3-5 when Mike Shula threw a wobbly pass that was tipped by defender Bruce Plummer, then juggled by Greg Richardson who went the 67 yards when Plummer fell down.

"That was a terrible pass, another example of a receiver making his quarterback look good," said Shula.

"I just tried to balance it in air until I could get it," said Richardson. "I feared I had tipped it away and I didn't know he (Plummer) fell."

Kentucky sophomore quarterback Bill Ramsdell threw three touchdown passes and teammate George Adams rushed for 144 yards Saturday. Miami sophomore quarterback Bernie Kosar passed for 330 yards and three touchdowns and scored once himself.

The Florida State-Arizona State shootout had more than 1,200 yards total offense. For Florida State, now 6-1-1, tailback Greg Allen ran for 223 yards and two touchdowns. Joe Wessel returned two blocked punts for touchdowns and backup quarterback Kirk Coker threw two touchdown passes to Jessie Heater. The Seminoles' 52 points, 35 in the second half, were the most scored against an Arizona State team since 1948.

Merthie Leads Rams By 'Dogs

Mike Merthie threw for one touchdown and ran in another as the Rams upended the Bulldogs, 19-18, in Sanford Recreation Flag Football Junior League action Saturday at Chase Park.

Although the Rams came away on top Saturday, the Bulldogs still won the league championship.

The Rams got on the board first on James Jones' five-yard TD run, but the Bulldogs came right back to tie it at 6-6 as Joseph Murphy scampered 50 yards for a touchdown.

The Rams went up, 13-6, when Mike Merthie hit William Davison for a 15-yard scoring strike and Davison ran in the extra point. The Rams maintained their 13-6 lead at halftime.

The Bulldogs came back to within one point, 13-12, early in the second half on Murphy's 20-yard TD run. The Rams upped their lead to 19-12 when Merthie darted 25 yards for what turned out to be the winning score.

Oscar Edwards scored from 40 yards out to pull the Bulldogs within 19-18, but they couldn't convert the extra point to tie the score.

In other action Saturday, the Wildcats returned a pair of interceptions for touchdowns en route to a 12-0 blanking of the Cowboys.

The first TD came on Eric Chapman's 45-yard interception return and the second came when Robert Amie picked off a pass and returned it 30 yards for a TD.

The Sanford Recreation Department also had a football skills competition Saturday for ages 7-9.

In the 7-8 year-old punt, pass and kick competition, Otis Wellon was the winner with 145 1/2 points. Wellon was followed by Charlie Farmer (118 1/2), Todd Henley (104 1/2), Bryan Analey (92) and Corey Donaldson (89 1/2).

The nine-year-old winner was Adaryl Jones who compiled a score of 177 for the three events. Dennis Reese came in second with 159 1/2 points and Todd McGill was third at 143 1/2.

In Your Face

Sanford's Brent Carlil throws up his best "In Your Face Disgrace" as Seminole assistant principal Lamar Richardson tries to pull in a pass. Carlil, who plays for the alumni, and Richardson, who plays for the faculty, were working out in preparation for Thursday's Alumni-Faculty game at Seminole High School. The faculty won last year by two points but Carlil and his team have vowed revenge. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Washington Moves In On Spot In Rose Bowl

By United Press International

Before the rampaging train from Washington can roll into Pasadena, it must make a detour further south.

The No. 1 Washington Huskies can wrap up a Pac-10 title and an automatic invitation to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., with a victory over Southern California in Los Angeles this Saturday. Last weekend's 44-14 rout of California put Washington one victory away from the Rose Bowl.

Washington has narrowly lost the past two Rose Bowl bids by losing its final regular season game to underdog Washington State.

But should the Huskies defeat Southern California, the finale against their intra-state nemesis would become moot. Washington hasn't lost to USC since 1979.

"The whole team is really excited about the game with USC," said Husky wide receiver Mark Pattison. "I know they regard us as a monkey on their backs, sort of like we regard Washington State. We all know they'll be ready to play us."

Washington and USC, 7-1, are the only undefeated teams in the Pac-10, and the only two Pac-10 teams still in the national rankings. USC was ranked 16th last week and defeated Stanford 20-11.

In other games Saturday involving ranked teams, No. 2 Texas (6-0-1) edged Texas Tech 13-10, No. 3 Brigham Young (9-0) walloped Texas-El Paso 42-9, No. 4 Nebraska (8-1) routed Iowa State 44-0, No. 5 South Carolina (8-0) outgunned North Carolina State 35-28, No. 8 Miami (8-2) defeated Louisville 38-23, No. 7 Boston College (5-2) lost to Penn State 37-30, No. 8 Georgia (7-1) beat Memphis State 13-3, No. 9 West Virginia (7-2) lost to Virginia 27-7 and No. 10 Oklahoma State (7-1) routed Kansas State 34-6.

Elsewhere, No. 11 Auburn (6-3) was bumped by No. 45 Florida (6-1-1) 24-3.

Sycamores Crush UCF

Football

Nothing unexpected occurred in Terre Haute, Ind. Saturday. Coach Jerry Anderson took his University of Central Florida Knights to the lair of the No. 1 ranked Indiana Sycamores and came home on the short end of a 38-0 score before 8,367 fans.

UCF, 2-8, closes the season at Furman Saturday. Anderson, who took over as interim coach three weeks ago, finds out whether he will be hired as head coach for one year Tuesday, according to UCF President Trevor Colbourn.

Colbourn was in favor of hiring Anderson while some of the members of the 14-member advisory committee would like to sift through some more offers, said UCF athletic director Bill Peterson.

Saturday, the Sycamore lifted through the Knights behind the expert leadership of quarterback Jeff Miller. The talented junior ran the ISU record to 9-0 by running for 110 yards and passing for 169 more.

Banks Backs Up Brag, Spurs Trim Knicks In OT

United Press International

Gene Banks backed up his prediction, but he never dreamt he'd have to work overtime to do it.

The last time Banks' San Antonio Spurs hosted the New York Knicks, Bernard King scored 50 points. Before San Antonio's 131-130 victory over New York Sunday night, Banks vowed that the Knicks' all-star forward wouldn't repeat the feat.

It looked like Banks would have to eat his words when the clubs went into overtime and King had 44 points. Not only did the Spurs shut out King in overtime, but they did it in double OT, with Banks on King in a front-back defense.

"In the overtimes San Antonio was zoning us," King said. "They weren't playing man-to-man. They had a man in front of me and a man behind me and that made it tough. Gleye San Antonio credit. They had plenty of chances to fold tonight and didn't,

The Spurs benefitted from Alvin Robertson's replacement of Johnny Moore at point guard. The rookie hounded Rory Sparrow and had four steals.

"It was a great game. It could have gone either way right down to the last basket," said Knick Coach Hubie Brown. "I thought Alvin Robertson displayed great athletic talent tonight."

Lakers 124, Trail Blazers 116

At Inglewood, Calif., Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points and Jamaal Wilkes added 22 to lift Los Angeles. The Lakers led 94-88 late in the third period and then held off a Portland rally sparked by Kiki Vandeweghe and Darnell Valentine.

Bruins Bounce Back For Win

The Boston Bruins are showing comeback ability that Walter Mondale would surely envy.

Coming off a loss to Montreal, the Bruins rebounded Sunday night with a 6-2 pasting of the talent-laden New York Islanders.

Tom Fergus and Dave Silk scored two goals a piece and goaltender Doug Keans, seeing his first action of the year after suffering a hamstring injury, had 21 saves.

"We lost one last night and needed to come back with a win," said Fergus.

Charlie Simmer and Jeff Courtnall scored the other Boston goals. Clark Gillies and Greg Gilbert reached Keans for goals in the third period.

Oilers 2, Jets 1

At Winnipeg, Jarl Kurri and Wayne Gretzky each had a goal and an assist to extend Edmonton's unbeaten string this year to 12.

IN BRIEF

'Wrong Team' Raines Rips 4 Hits As Session Time Pounds Bullets

Tommy "Wrong Team" Raines slugged out four hits and Ernest Shuler belted an inside-the-park homer to lead Season Time to a 12-6 victory over the Bullets in Sanford Men's Softball Association Fall League play at Pinehurst Field.

Raines had a triple and a pair of RBI singles while Shuler added a single and a sacrifice fly. Russell Holloman and Willie Harrison added two doubles each for Session Time.

Wayne Mullen had two hits including a two-run single to lead the Bullets at the plate.

In other action, the Tim Raines Connection picked up two more victories, 17-0 over the Angels and a win by forfeit over the Frontier Cattle Company.

Against the Angels, Levi Raines slammed a pair of home runs and a double and drove in three runs while Eddie Jackson, Billy Griffith and Charles Reynolds also cycled round trippers. Loyd Wall added two singles and a double. The Angels managed just four hits off Jackson.

The Angels came away with a win and a loss Saturday as they upended the Bullets, 8-5, in the day's first game.

Ray Woolfe had three hits to lead the Angels at the plate and Danny Galarza had one hit and scored three runs. Mike Dick clubbed a pair of doubles to lead the Bullets.

Breeders' Cup Loses John Henry

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Breeders' Cup at Hollywood Park next Saturday has lost star attraction, but John Henry's trainer predicts the amazing gelding will be back running early next year as a 10-year-old.

Ron McAnally, who trains the all-time top money winner for Sam and Dorothy Rubin of New York, said Sunday that the fan favorite will not run this year but should be fit in two months.

McAnally thinks John Henry's ligament injury in his left foreleg would respond to rest and allowing him to resume racing next year.

John Henry, who has earned nearly $6.6 million, had been a doubtful Breeders Cup starter since last Thursday when the injury was disclosed. He was officially scratched Saturday.

McAnally said John Henry's problems began three weeks ago after racing at the Meadowlands in New Jersey.

At first, the ailment was thought to be a skin irritation and medication was applied. The leg began swelling, and a veterinarian examined John Henry.

He was galloped and appeared to be okay. But when the swelling returned, it was decided to hold him out for the rest of the year.

Temper Can't Halt McEnroe

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Fresh from a costly exhibition of his infamous temper, John McEnroe is scheduled to face Sweden's Mats Wilander Monday in the finals of the $315,000 Stockholm Open.

McEnroe battled to a 1-6, 7-6 (7-5), 8-2 semifinal victory over Sweden's Anders Jarryd Sunday, but a $2,100 fine put him over the $7,500 limit, threatening both his place on the United States Davis Cup final team against Sweden in December, and his spot in January's Masters Tournament.

Wilander defeated Jimmy Connors 6-7, 6-3, 6-3 in the other semifinal.

McEnroe hit a spectator with a ball, called the umpire "a jerk," and smashed a bottle at court-side. The incidents cost him both penalty points and money.

A player fined more than $7,500 in a year is prone to suspension ranging from 24 to 42 days. McEnroe said he would appeal Sunday's fine.

McEnroe admitted later that he misbehaved on court, but said that he disapproved of the way the umpire and the lineamen handled the match.

"Also, I'm mentally tired for the moment," he added. "That is one of the reasons why I lost my temper."

Jarryd fumed. "It is very difficult to play against someone who behaves like McEnroe. To be honest, I got a little scared and finally lost my concentration."

Lake Mary Sets Mixed Doubles

The tournament will be held Saturday, Nov. 10 and Sunday, Nov. 11 at the Lake Mary High and Seminole Community College courts. Deadline for entries is Wednesday, Nov. 7 at 3 p.m. Call in entries will be accepted.

The entry fee is $20 per team. For more information, call Lake Mary High at 323-2110.

Seattle Turns Pray To Prey, Blasts Chiefs

The Seattle Seahawks' defense used to do a lot of praying. Now it does a lot of preying.

Once the defensive stumblebums of the National Football League, Seattle has become one of the league's best defensive clubs this season, specializing in stripping the ball from the opposition.

The Seahawks demonstrated that skill superbly Sunday, setting an NFL single-game record by returning four interceptions for touchdowns. Dave Brown ran back two, for 95 yards and 58 yards, en route to a 45-0 thrashing of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Keith Simpson also returned an interception 76 yards for a TD, and Kenny Easley scored on a 58-yard return as the Seahawks earned their third shutout this season. The four interception TD returns totaled 330 yards to establish another NFL single-game mark.

The Seahawks, ranked second in the NFL in takeaways coming into the game, had six interceptions to bring their 10-game total to 28, with 18 fumble recoveries. The defense has scored eight touchdowns this season.

"We want to play defense like this all the time," said Brown. "And, yes, I think we can do it."

The Seahawks, 8-2, have won four straight games and have recorded back-to-back shutouts to take sole possession of second place in the AFC West, one game behind the Denver Broncos.

Giants 19, Cowboys 7

At Dallas, Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked four field goals and a bone-crushing New York defense completely bottled up the Cowboys as the Giants defeated Dallas for the second time this season. It marked the first time in 21 years New York achieved that feat.

Bears 17, Raiders 6

At Chicago, Walter Payton rushed for 111 yards and two first-half TDs, and the Chicago defense forced five turnovers and recorded nine sacks in downing the Los Angeles Raiders.

Broncos 13, Bills 10

At Orchard Park, N.Y., running back Ernest Byner ran 55 yards with a fumble recovery midway through the fourth quarter to pace the Broncos. Byner's TD run came after Willis Adams fumbled a reception at the Cleveland 45.

Steelers 35, Oilers 7

At Pittsburgh, Mark Malone, making his third start of the season, threw three scoring passes and ran for another TD as the Steelers handed winless Houston its 10th straight loss.

Packers 23, Saints 13

At New Orleans, Lynn Dickey threw touchdown passes of 33 and 5 yards to Paul Coffman, and Al Del Greco kicked three field goals to pace Green Bay.

Dan Fouts threw three touchdown passes Sunday as the Chargers jolted the Colts, 38-10.

Marino Rallies Miami

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins trailed in the second half for the first time all season Sunday — and found it to be a pleasant experience.

"That was good for us to have to come back," said Marino, who shook off a bad first half to throw for 422 yards and two touchdowns. "We haven't been behind this year; it's the kind of thing where you realize you have to go out and play better."

Marino's 47-yard TD pass to Mark Clayton ignited a 17-point fourth quarter and lifted the Dolphins to a 31-17 victory over the New York Jets.

Miami improved to 10-0 with the triumph, practically sewing up the AFC East.

Marino was 9 for 21 with two interceptions in the first half, but rebounded to finish 23-for-42. He has thrown for a league-leading 29 TDs and has already set single-season club records for touchdowns and completions.

Miami is the first team to get off to a 10-0 start since Minnesota in 1975 and only the unbeaten 1972 Dolphins (17-0 counting post-season) have won more games at the start of the year.

Still, the Jets weren't impressed after falling to 6-4 and remaining tied for second in the AFC East with New England.

"They (Dolphins) looked and hit like a regular football team," said Jets running back Freeman McNeil, who gained 132 yards on 20 carries and scored a touchdown. "They happened to win a game that could've went either way. I'm looking forward to meeting them again."

McNeil's 6-yard TD run with 9:31 left in the game put the Jets ahead 17-14. Miami had trailed just once — for 67 seconds against Washington — all season before Sunday.

Pro Football

Chargers 38, Colts 10

At Indianapolis, Tim Fox and John Turner turned interceptions into scores and Dan Fouts threw for three TDs to lead San Diego to victory.

Lions 23, Eagles 23

At Pontiac, Mich., rookie Paul McFadden's penalty-aided 40-yard field goal with three seconds left in regulation earned the Eagles a tie. The Lions blew an opportunity to win when Eddie Murray, who made his last nine field goal attempts, kicked an easy 21-yarder off the right crossbar with 10:16 left in overtime.

49ers 23, Bengals 17

At San Francisco, Joe Montana shook off the effects of throwing a career-high four interceptions to fire a 4-yard touchdown pass to Fred Solomon with 1:39 remaining and lift the 49ers.

Broncos 26, Patriots 19

At Denver, safety Dennis Smith gathered up Moe Tutupu's fumble in the dying moments and ran 64 yards for a touchdown to spark the Broncos.

Rams 16, Cardinals 13

At St. Louis, Eric Dickerson ran for 207 yards. Mike Lansford kicked three field goals and the Los Angeles defense set up two second-half scores to pace the Rams.

...Quarterbacks

other three are 5-2. Lake Brantley plays DeLand Friday, so the loser there is out. Apopka plays at Lake Howell.

Seminole, which was eliminated with Friday's loss, could throw the Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 race into a three-way deadlock by beating Lake Mary. If Lake Mary wins, it clinches the title and moves on to regional play against Winter Park.

If there is a three-way deadlock, a playoff site will be determined by Florida High School Activities Association executive director Fred Rozelle. After a flip of the coin to determine the teams who play first, the tiebreaker system will be used to determine the winner.

If two teams tie, head-to-head competition will be used. Which would make Lake Mary happy, since it has beaten Apopka, Lake Brantley and DeLand. Lake Mary is guaranteed a playoff spot, but not necessarily a regional berth despite having beaten all three teams which could qualify.

Getting back to the QBs, Posey said Whelchel will begin the week as No. 1. "We owe it to him," said Posey. "We're just going to start from scratch Monday and see what pans out."

Posey said the fact that Hal is his son clouds the issue. "You try to block it out and look at it in a different light," Posey said. "But it's still always there."

Although Whelchel had his problems Friday, he was coming off his best statistical showing the week before against DeLand. In the loss to the Bulldogs, Whelchel hit 8 of 21 passes for 121 yards with no interceptions. Posey said he had two or three others dropped, two which could have gone for touchdowns.

For the season, Whelchel has completed 26 of 83 (31 percent) passes for 442 yards and four TDs. The Tribe's number one receiver is senior Mike Cushing, who has eight grabs for 116 yards, 14.5 per catch.

Posey said Whelchel's biggest problem is throwing off his back foot. "Our line did a poor job of protecting him against Lake Brantley," said Posey. "But when he gets rushed, he hurries and throws off his back foot."

Posey said Hal showed some encouraging signs. "He made one or two bad throws, but he moved around a little bit," said the Chief. Hal broke one quarterback sneak for nine yards and a scramble for 13. He was also sacked three times for 21 yards of losses.

Another quarterback in the picture is freshman Jeff Blake. Jeff, son of backfield coach Emory Blake, is Seminole's QB of the future but the future may be sooner than it appears.

"Jeff's been up here working out with us," said Posey. "He's got a quick release and a strong arm. We're not ruling him out."

Defensive coordinator Dave Mosure found out how quick and strong last week. "Jeff was running the scout quad and making us look sick," said Mosure. "I was so ticked off, I started throwing papers and clipboards everywhere."

Nelson, meanwhile, hasn't been throwing anything lately. The way Schmit and Hartsfield have worked out, he doesn't have to. "I don't know who will start," said Nelson. "We'll use Ray when we're inside the 15- or 20-yard line at either end and Mike in the middle."

Schmit has hit on 22 of 53 (42 percent) passes for 478 yards and five TDs. Hartsfield is 6 for 17 (35 percent) for 73 yards and one touchdown. Lake Mary's big receiver is Donald Grayson, who has 17 catches for 381 yards. That's 22.4 yards per reception for Grayson.

"They've got two good ones," acknowledged Posey. "And they're a different team with each one of them in there. Schmit will hand off and throw the ball, but Hartsfield is the real dangerous one."

"That who they go to when they want to put the pressure on. He throws that arm up (as if to pass) and backs you up, then takes off running. They make things happen with him."

Hayward as she came in 24th at 12:45. One person and two seconds later, Lake Brantley's third runner, junior Kim Pacetelli, came across in 26th place with a time of 12:47.

Completing Brantley's top five were Kim Lubenko (33rd at 13:01) and Melissa Meghaddi (44th at 13:37). Also running for the Lady Patriots were Lynn Gomezperalta (48th at 13:48) and Kim Wain (80th at 14:37).

A pair of injuries led to the demise of Lake Mary's Lady Rams Saturday. Sue Kingsbury, still nursing a sore hip, ran a fine race but was not at 100 percent and Heather Heikkila, the Rams' number one runner, cramped up in the middle of the race.

Fran Gordon was Lake Mary's top finisher as the senior ran her best time ever and finished 22nd at 12:36. Kingsbury finished 28th with a time of 12:53 and Heikkila wound up 30th at 12:58. Jodie McCurdy (46th at 13:45) and Niki Hays (47th at 13:47) both ran personal bests to complete Lake Mary's top five. Also competing for the Rams were Lisa Shelby (63rd at 14:48) and Liz Stone (64th at 15:09).

Lyman had its top two finish in the top 20, but only the top five individuals qualify for regionals. Tracy Fisher, a freshman, finished 13th at 12:22 and Julie Greenberg, a sophomore, came in 18th at 12:33.

Completing Lyman's top five were Tammy Smith (59th at 14:29), Kathi Hunziker (62nd at 14:39) and Julie Seligson (65th at 15:14). Also running for the Lady Greyhounds were Artemis Elliott (74th at 17:20) and April Jaffin (77th at 18:47).

In the boys race, Winter Park had four of its runners in before Lake Mary's third and went on to easily outdistance the Rams, 65-101. "We looked good in the first mile," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "Then we just fell apart."

Along with Winter Park and Lake Mary, regional qualifiers included Lyman (110), Edgewater (123), Boone (138) and Seminole. Lake Howell finished ninth at 203 and Lake Brantley was 11th at 243.

The Rams top two runners, Ken Rohr and Matt Palumbo, saved them from falling lower than second place. Rohr, a junior, finished fourth with a time of 15:48.2 and Palumbo, a senior, was sixth at 15:59.8.

After Palumbo, the Rams' next finisher was Harold Pitts who came in 21st at 18:38.6. Completing Lake Mary's top five were John Amrhein (34th at 18:58.8) and Jim Shepherd (36th at 17:00). Also running for the Rams were Eric Peterson (38th at 17:01.8) and Bob Howard (73rd at 18:29.7).

"Howard's usually my third runner but he was sick Saturday," McGee said. "He ate something Friday that didn't agree with him and he threw up three times during the race."

'The Lord's blessed this group with a great mental attitude. They love to compete.'

— Tom HammonTree

"If we're going to be up, I'd rather be up for regionals," McGee added. "Hopefully we'll get back to our own course and do better."

Lyman is continuing its late-season surge as the Greyhounds started to close in on the Rams. Carl Schmalmaack, a senior, has made tremendous progress the past few weeks and he led the way for the Hounds Saturday with an 11th place finish and a time of 18:11.9.

Schmalmaack was followed in Lyman's top five by Steve Grundorf (15th at 18:17.2), Mike Mohler (25th at 18:48.8), Chuck Mullins (29th at 18:53.3) and Robin Rogers (30th at 18:54.4).

Lake Brantley's Jose Calvino just missed qualifying for the regionals as an individual as he finished seventh with a time of 18:01.4. Completing the Patriots' top five were Adam Smith (42nd at 17:10.5), Steven Drake (53rd at 17:44), Kevin Greenstein (64th at 17:59.9) and Chris Borglum (77th at 18:38.1).

Lake Howell's top five Saturday included Jeff Van Buskirk (31st at 16:55.7), Bryan Drose (33rd at 18:57.9), Brent Springhart (44th at 17:13.5), Anthony Howe (45th at 17:18.4) and Paul Cina (50th at 17:37.1).

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Wildler's Criminal Past Dated Back To 1962

MIAMI (UPI) — Christopher Wildler, whose nationwide crime spree resulted in the deaths or disappearances of 11 women, had an extensive criminal past dating back to a 1962 arrest for a gang rape in Australia.

Wildler was believed to have killed at least 11 young, aspiring models across the country before shooting himself last April when stopped by two New Hampshire troopers a few miles from the Canadian border.

In 1969, Wildler came to Florida and got into the construction business. Police files show these incidents followed:

— On March 17, 1971, Wildler was arrested in Pompano Beach for disturbing the peace because he tried to persuade girls on the beach to pose nude. He was fined $25.

— On Oct. 4, 1977, Wildler offered to drive a Boca Raton girl to a job interview but instead drove her to a secluded field and allegedly raped her. He was acquitted because the jury believed the defense contention he could not have completed the act in the car, as the girl claimed, because of the stick shift. But Wildler admitted his guilt in an interview with a psychiatrist.

— On June 21, 1980, Wildler spiked a teen-age girl's pizza with LSD and raped her in Palm Beach County. He was sentenced to five years probation after pleading guilty to reduced charges.

Condemned Killers To Appeal

STARKE (UPI) — A last-minute round of legal appeals was to begin today for two Florida killers scheduled to be electrocuted Wednesday at Florida State Prison.

The condemned men are Timothy Charles Palmae, 37, who took part in the torture murder of a Jacksonville businessman on Oct. 4, 1978; and Chester Levon Maxwell, 29, who killed a golfer during the robbery of a Pompano Beach golf course Sept. 19, 1980.

Palmae's lawyers were expected today to go to a federal district judge in Jacksonville, where Palmae won a stay of execution when he first faced electrocution in June 1982.

Maxwell's appeal was still at the state circuit court level Sunday.

Shuttle Readied For Rescue Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Workers at the Kennedy Space Center geared up for the start of the shuttle Discovery's 43-hour countdown today leading to blastoff Wednesday on an Intrepid mission to rescue two satellites stranded in space.

The countdown, which includes 11 hours and 18 minutes of built-in "holds," began at 2 a.m. today with the traditional call to stations at the ocean-side launch pad.

Commander Frederick Hauck, pilot David Walker and crew members Anna Fisher, Dale Gardner and Joseph Allen arrived at the Florida shuttleport about 4:35 p.m. EST Sunday to begin final preparations.

If all goes well, Discovery will blast off at 8:18 a.m. Wednesday for an unprecedented eight-day mission. The shuttle is scheduled to land back at the space center's 3-mile-long runway on Nov. 15.

"It's an exciting mission," Hauck said. "We're looking forward to climbing into this machine over here in a couple of days and I can guarantee you we're going to have a lot of fun."

The astronauts will launch two communications satellites on the second and third day of the mission.

Hauck then plans to pilot the shuttle through a complicated rendezvous maneuery's payload bay.

The $35 million satellites then will be returned to Earth for refurbishment and relaunch in a demonstration of technological prowess unmatched by any nation in the world.

"I think I can speak for all of us in saying how happy we are to be down here in Florida because it means we're getting ready to do another one," Hauck said. "And this one's particularly exciting to us."

The astronauts plan to spend the time before launch boning up on their flight plans and relaxing.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is trying to maintain an ambitious launch-a-month pace and Discovery's sistership, Challenger, is being readied for blastoff Dec. 8 to ferry a secret Air Force satellite into orbit. Discovery is scheduled to fly again in January.

Mrs. Goard said only those write-in votes for the qualified write-in candidates will be counted. She said if anyone decides to write-in Santa Claus or some name other than the qualified write-in candidates that particular race will not be counted.

She said the operation is being handled in accordance with state law and it will be faster for the write-in ballots to be separated from the others at the polling place than if the task was performed at her county office.

The first task the poll workers must perform before the polls open is the examination of the ballot box to make sure it is empty before it is sealed for the voting to begin.

The same process of unsealing the ballot box at the polling place after the polls are closed to search out write-ins was done several years ago, Mrs. Goard said, when write-ins qualified for a U.S. Senate seat in Florida.

U.S. Says It Did Not Slow Aid To Ethiopia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A senior administration official has rejected suggestions that the United States was slow in sending food to 8 million starving Ethiopians to encourage instability and topple the Marxist government.

Charles Elliott of Britain, involved in food assistance programs for Africa, has accused the United States and his country of delaying aid to Ethiopia.

"The idea that we would tie aid to political considerations in Ethiopia is just wrong," Peter McPherson said. "A hungry child knows no politics — that is our policy."

director, Terri Pattishall, who worked to secure a spot for the band in Macy's Thanksgiving parade, the Lake Mary band performed a rousing rendition of "New York, New York" with chorus line accompaniment that brought a standing ovation from the audience.

In turn, each band and its auxiliary units presented a 10-minute show.

As a tribute to Ms. Pattishall, who worked to secure a spot for the band in Macy's Thanksgiving parade, the Lake Mary band performed a rousing rendition of "New York, New York" with chorus line accompaniment that brought a standing ovation from the audience.

The musical finale was accompanied by fireworks featuring the Olympic rings and the American flag.

"All of the bands did a tremendous job," said Blair, who is the fine arts coordinator for Seminole County Schools. He said it will be about a week before all the tickets are in and the total raised by the event for the bands is known.

BARBARA CHRISTENSEN ON THE ISSUES

TRANSPORTATION RESIDENTIAL AND AGRICULTURAL INTEGRITY

This is the most critical problem facing Seminole County. Barbara Christensen has supported and will continue to support road improvements with sufficient funding to make driving safe and convenient. She has approved a Transportation Management Program to assure the most cost effective use of tax dollars. Major improvements have been approved for eight projects, including the following: four-laning of Howell Branch Road, Maitland Ave., and the congested segment of Red Bug Lake Road. A portion of State Road 416 is currently being widened to six lanes, and major improvements are planned to collector roads. The Seminole County Commission projects the resurfacing of an average of 100 miles of local roads per year. In addition a computerized traffic signal program has been authorized and 14 additional traffic signals have been approved. At present, the Seminole County Commission is updating the bus service system. This expansion is the result of the careful analysis of ridership and need. The promise of prudent commitment of resources assures a continuation of improved service with cost effectiveness.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Barbara Christensen supports the Emergency First Response agreements. Regardless of City or County jurisdiction, the closest emergency units will respond. The Commissioner supports the County Paramedics and the enhanced 911 system. Seminole County has obtained 5 fire station sites at no cost to the taxpayers. In cooperation with the City of Altamonte Springs, Fire Station #12 was constructed, saving the residents of the city and county $1,000,000. New fire stations have been built in Midway, Paola, Sabal Point, Fern Park and Chulotoa.

GROWTH MANAGEMENT

Commissioner Christensen voted for the Comprehensive Management Program. This will be the primary tool in determining how costs concerning growth in Seminole County can be minimized and properly funded. She has supported and appointed a Citizens Review Committee to the Wetlands Study Board. In Seminole County wetland protection is vitally important to the quality of our lives. This strong support of our wetland will insure clean water and relief from the ravages of flooding. Commissioner Christensen will support a wetlands ordinance even stronger than that proposed by the State of Florida.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Senior citizens have spent a lifetime of contributing to and building for the community. Barbara Christensen has supported the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and the Federation of Senior Citizens, which provides services including transportation and Meals-on-Wheels.

Jewish Wraith Arouses Catholic's Wrath

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. A very big one.

For three years I was tormented by a Jewish ghost who thought I was his wife. I moved into the apartment where he and his wife once lived. They both died, but he kept coming back to the apartment to be near her.

After three years, I just couldn't take it anymore, so I moved. Well, he followed me, and now I am right back where I started.

Abby, how can I get rid of him? I am a widow, and I'm not even Jewish. I'm Catholic.

KATHLEEN IN THE BRONX

DEAR KATHLEEN: Have you told your priest about this? If not, please tell him at once. He may be able to arrange an exorcism to rid you of this "Jewish ghost."

DEAR ABBY: With regard to your column on fire prevention: Your closing sentence was, "It took less than three minutes to bird in any of them! No pesticide was sprayed, and there are no cats or dogs around.

Can you please tell me what might have happened to those birds?

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: The birds probably went south for the winter. You don't say where you came from, but after one winter in New Jersey, you'll realize that those birds are not cuckoos.

DEAR ABBY: I am a full-time employed registered nurse. I love my work and make very good money.

I am married to a wonderful, gentle man who stays at home and cares for our 2-year-old son. "John" does all the housework, cooking and yard work. We are both more than satisfied with our arrangement, which is especially good for our son. Most children hardly ever get to see their fathers.

My problem is my mother. She puts John down, calling him a "sissy" and a "gigolo" to his face! She can be really vicious when she wants to be, but at times she's truly a very kind and loving person. Her moods can change in a minute!

What should I do? My efforts to communicate with Mother have been in vain.

In spite of it all, I love her. Sign me...

WORKING WIFE WITH HOME HUSBAND

DEAR WIFE: We never know the private battles others may be fighting, so be patient with your mother. Ask John to tune her out and regard her as more disturbed than vicious. In all probability she is. And please encourage your mother to see a doctor.

read this column. Was it worth it?"

While it was well-worth the three minutes, I would have gladly spent a few more minutes to find out why you felt compelled to compare Canada's comparatively low death and fire-damage figures to those of the United States.

HOT WITH CURIOSITY IN THE U.S.A.

DEAR HOT: Cool off. It was not my intention to make comparisons, I cited Canadian statistics as well as ours because my column is also published in Canada, and I think my Canadian readers are entitled to know their statistics, too.

And apropos that column on fire prevention, read in for one of many similar complaints:

DEAR ABBY: As a firefighter I appreciate your annual column on fire prevention, but I have a complaint. You said, "If you can afford smoke detectors, install them, etc. ..."

Abby, everybody can afford smoke detectors! They are not that expensive. One can be purchased for as little as $15.

If there is one single thing that saves lives in a fire, it's a smoke detector. It alerts people in time to let them get out of the house. Those few seconds can make the difference between life and death. Please print this.

FIREFIGHTER IN BABYLON, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: I know this isn't your usual "Dear Abby" question, but I don't know anyone else to ask.

I moved to Harrington Park, N.J., five months ago, and started feeding the birds on my property. I had 20 or more birds every day. Some were beautiful.

Then one day they suddenly disappeared. I have several trees on my property, and not one

Acne Medicine Accutane Has Adverse Side Effects

DEAR DR. LAMB — My dermatologist has recommended Accutane to treat cystic acne. I'm taking Minacin now and have been for several years. It doesn't seem to be helping very much. The acne is severe on my back and I still get cystic pimples on my face. That's why I'm considering Accutane.

The doctor says I could take Accutane for four months and probably never have to take anything again, which sounds terrific. I'm 26 and the doctor says that without Accutane I'll probably have cystic acne until I'm in my 40s. I've had this problem since I was 13 and I'm fed up with the embarrassment, cost, pain and scarring.

What are the side effects of Accutane? I hear there are a lot. Will these effects go away when the medicine is discontinued? Will Accutane affect future children even after the medication is discontinued?

DEAR READER — Accutane is a very useful medicine in the treatment of cystic acne or those cases that cannot be managed by more conventional means. Certainly, not everyone needs Accutane, but some — and you sound like one — can benefit from it.

Yes, Accutane does have side effects. The most common problem is excessive dryness, which can affect the eyes, mouth, nose and moist membranes.

Accutane may cause birth defects. That is why it is not recommended for women who may become pregnant or who are pregnant. Women should avoid pregnancy until at least a month after Accutane has been discontinued. There are no reported problems of birth defects caused by males using Accutane. Since you are male, I think you can forget about that.

I have discussed the conventional treatment and the use of Accutane in treating acne in a new issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 29, Controlling Acne, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Accutane may also increase triglycerides and affect blood fats. You may need to stay on a low-fat diet. These and other effects are temporary and will disappear after treatment is stopped.

DEAR DR. LAMB — How much vitamin A can a 16-year-old girl tolerate? She takes One-A-Day vitamins and supplementary C. She has acne, so I want to give her more vitamin A. Her acne is not serious enough to be treated by a dermatologist.

DEAR READER — You are making at least two mistakes. Additional vitamin A will not help her acne. That is an old idea that went out of acceptance 20 years ago. The new vitamin A derivatives for skin peeling, or those found in Accutane, are not the same thing at all. Therefore, you needn't push vitamin A.

The second mistake is that too much vitamin A can be toxic. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

A cardinal principle of expert declarer play is to expect the cards to be divided in such a way as to let you make your contract. Tournament professional Alan LeBendig of Shreveport demonstrated this rule in front of his home folks at the recent Labor Day regional in that Louisiana city.

Despite South's opening bid, West led the diamond queen. A second diamond was played to East's king, also ducked by declarer. LeBendig won the third diamond with the ace. Meanwhile he had discarded a heart and a spade from dummy. He next played the club 10. When West sluffed a heart, declarer played low from dummy. East refused to take the queen, intending to shut out the long club tricks. It was now probable that East held the spade ace, or West would have signaled possession of that card when he discarded a small heart on the club play. LeBendig could play A-K of clubs and a low club, but East would exit with a heart and sit back with his A-Q of spades over dummy's king. Instead, Alan played A-K-Q of hearts, throwing clubs from dummy. Now when he played the clubs, putting East on lead at the end, the hapless defender had to play away from the spade ace to give declarer the contract.

Foot Dragging Study Shows Pentagon Slow To Clean Up Toxic Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional study shows that the Pentagon has been "painfully slow" to clean up toxic waste sites on military property, two House members say.

One, Rep. Vic Fazio, D-Calif., says he will introduce legislation in the next Congress to create a military "Superfund" similar to the one established several years ago for the Environmental Protection Agency to pay for cleaning up civilian toxic waste sites.

The draft report by the General Accounting Office, Congress's investigative arm, shows the military "is just beginning to come to grips with what must be recognized as one of the most pressing environmental problems of this decade," said Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., whose Energy and Commerce subcommittee deals with toxic waste issues.

"The military's progress to date has been painfully slow and the GAO report ... paints a grim picture of the status of its efforts to cope with growing revelations concerning the scope of the federal waste sites problem," the report said. The report, requested by Florio and Fazio, was based upon a survey of 18 Army, Air Force and Navy bases across the country.

The report contained no official response from the Pentagon; it was sent to the Pentagon last week for comment.

The GAO recommended that the Defense Department revise its policy on cleaning up its waste sites to provide for "increased and earlier involvement" of various regulatory agencies within the federal government which often have more expertise than the military. "Nine years into the program," said Fazio in a statement, "the department has not even completed the most preliminary assessment at a quarter of the (463) potentially hazardous waste sites."

He said the "soft commitment" to cleaning toxic waste programs in part can be attributed to the fact that such a task is not the Pentagon's chief mission.

But, said Fazio, the threat of groundwater contamination near military facilities "is a great enough public health threat to require that (the Pentagon) devote greater resources to solving this critical problem."

Diablo Canyon Set To Begin Operation ... At Last

AVILA BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — After years of delay, $4.8 billion in additional expenditures and many bitter protests, the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant will start producing power in final tests to begin this week.

Technicians today slowly raised the temperature and pressure of the water that will cool the Unit 1 reactor when it starts producing power, possibly sometime today or tomorrow.

"We've been heating up for the last day or so," Pacific Gas & Electric spokesman Ron Weinberg said Sunday. PG&E owns the controversial facility that last week won court approval to begin preparations for commercial operation.

It will take 76 to 100 days of testing before the plant, located on the California coast about halfway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, will begin producing electrical power for some 2 million customers, said Weinberg.

Following a federal appeals court order last week, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission on Friday issued a license for the $5.3 billion plant to begin full power operation.

Nonetheless, the Abalone Alliance and an organization called Mothers for Peace said they would continue their fight to keep the plant shut down.

At full power the twin reactor is supposed to generate 2,200 megawatts of power and be PG&E's hedge against increased power demands of 2 percent a year for the next 20 years.

But it will be a long time paying off the cost of the plant. Originally estimated at $700 million, the cost increased to $5.3 billion since groundbreaking 14 years ago.

Opponents, alarmed that the nuclear plant is less than 2 miles away from an earthquake fault line, waged a fierce fight.

Rebels Blamed For Election-Day Violence; Voter Turnout Good

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A top Nicaraguan official accused the U.S.-backed rebels of renegeing on their offer of an election-day cease-fire and said the insurgent forces killed an electoral policeman in a mortar ambush.

Supreme Electoral Council President Mariano Fiallos said voter turnout in the first elections since the Sandinistas took power in July 1979 surpassed the predicted 80 percent mark.

No results would be released until late today because of poor communication, Fiallos said.

Fiallos said Nicaraguan Democratic Force rebels, who have received training and funds from the CIA, failed to disrupt the elections. President Reagan, campaigning in Minnesota Sunday called the election "a phony."

Charging that "the counterrevolutionary forces" had offered a cease-fire, Fiallos said the polling station was closed in Matagalpa, 87 miles northeast of Managua in Matagalpa province, because of the "imminent danger of an attack."

He also said rebels launched a mortar attack on an electoral police vehicle, killing one officer, on the highway near La Tronca, also in Matagalpa.

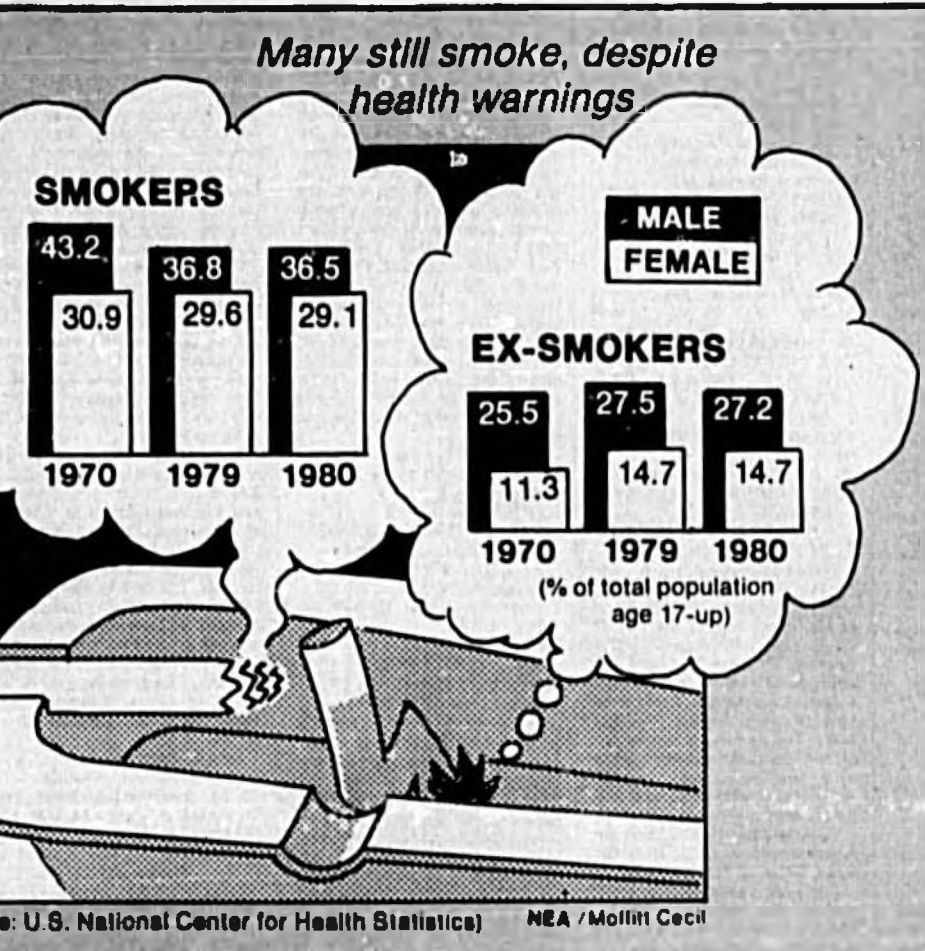

Fiallos told a news conference late Sunday nine polling places could not open in remote northern Yelava province in an area of frequent rebel attacks, but otherwise the balloting had proceeded "without major incident."

180 Haitian Refugees Taken Into Custody

MIAMI (UPI) — With the Coast Guard's help, an unusually large contingent of 180 Haitian refugees were in the custody of Bahamian officials today, ending their ill-fated attempt to get to Florida in a small wooden sailboat.

The Haitians, possibly the largest group ever stopped en route to Florida, spent at least three days on Jamaica Cay, a small coral outcropping in the Bahamas some 350 miles southeast of Miami, after their overloaded, 40-foot wooden sailboat ran aground.

Beginning at dawn Sunday, the 150 men and 30 women were transferred to a Bahamian Defense Force vessel with the help of a crew aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Decatur, which on Friday positioned itself near the island about 120 miles southeast of Andros Island.

While smoking may have some bearing on increased productivity at work, it also has a definite bearing on smokers' health. But the increasing warnings against puffing have had little effect on the number of U.S. smokers. About a third of all American adults still smoke. The percentage of ex-smokers has also changed little since 1970.

Study: Puffers Work Better But Die Sooner

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Smokers are slightly more productive in the workplace than nonsmokers, but they'll also die a lot sooner, a recent study shows.

University of Minnesota health economist Tor Dahl says smoking was among five factors that increased the productivity of managers in the Farm Credit Services bank in St. Paul.

Exercise, a moderate amount of sleep, and regular meals are best for enhancing productivity, Dahl said. But the inhaling of nicotine does the job too, he said.

"The boss may think highly of you, but you will be gone," Dahl said. "When you inhale a cigarette you deposit 8,000 different chemicals in your body."

Relief Officials Warn Ethiopian Famine Is Spreading

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Western relief officials warn the famine that is killing hundreds of Ethiopians a day is spreading from the north into other sections of the country.

The warning came as the first of two U.S. transport planes flew into Addis Ababa's Bole airport Sunday to take part in a massive international airlift to ferry supplies to the famine-stricken interior, hit by the worst drought in modern African history.

A second U.S. aircraft was to arrive today.

Peter McPherson, director of the U.S. Agency for International Development, arrived in the capital Sunday to monitor the flow of American aid to millions of starving Ethiopians. He was to leave today on a tour of relief centers in the northern province of Wallo.

The Ethiopian government has refused to give an estimated death toll for the famine, but unofficial figures show more than 250 people are dying daily in the worst hit northern provinces of Eritrea, Tigre and Wallo.

Diplomats and relief workers have estimated between 200,000 and 1 million people will have died from starvation between March and December of this year.

A Capsule Look At Discovery's Next Crew

By United Press International
The four men and one woman who make up the crew of the space shuttle Discovery, scheduled for launch Wednesday, approach their daring satellite rescue mission with typical low-key bravado.

Commander Frederick Hauck, copilot David Walker and crew members Anna Fisher, Dale Gardner and Joseph Allen are scheduled to spend eight days in space launching two communications satellites and rescuing two others.

A thumbnail sketch of each crew member:

Frederick Hauck
A nuclear physicist turned shuttle astronaut, Hauck is an ace test pilot and engineer who spends his spare time tinkering with a 1958 Corvette. The 43-year-old father of two college children comes from a Navy family that goes back two generations. Hauck previously flew as pilot of the seventh shuttle mission and is more than ready to command Discovery.

"I'm looking forward to this especially as sort of being able to take these folks up myself and go after a very challenging mission."

David Walker
Walker, 40, is an ex-carrier pilot who flew combat missions over Southeast Asia before moving on to test-pilot duties at the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River, Md. Selected to join the astronaut corps in 1978, Walker said he never dreamed he would become an space flier and he's "tickled pink" to be a member of Discovery's crew.

"I was never one of those people who were sure that someday I would be an astronaut. I was fortunate to be in the right place at the right time."

Anna Fisher
Fisher, 35, combined a medical degree and a love of flying to become a NASA astronaut in 1978 and with Discovery's flight, she will become the fourth American woman to fly in space and the first mother. Married to astronaut William Fisher, she says the presence of women in the space program opens the field up as a valid career goal.

"I think what's really neat is young women and men can know that this is a career option and plan their careers toward it. You can really blend a career that you enjoy like medicine or astronomy or whatever with an interest in going into space."

Dale Gardner
Gardner, who turns 36 on the second day of Discovery's mission, is a nonsense engineer who keeps his personal life strictly personal. He previously flew in space aboard the shuttle Challenger in August 1983, an experience he describes as "very close to being overwhelming to me." He downplays the danger of his planned satellite-retrieval spacewalk and says it shows the true value of the shuttle system.

"We are attempting, by retrieving the satellites, to show another side of the shuttle's capabilities that competitor launch systems don't have."

Joseph Allen
Allen, 47, joined the space program as a scientist-astronaut in 1967 but he had to wait until 1982 and the space shuttle Columbia for his first trip into orbit. A personable man with a quick wit, Allen has written a book about spaceflight and has a reputation for a philosophical bent.

"It's a rumor I keep starting but nobody seems to believe it." Allen says when it comes to spaceflight, today's headlines serve only to chart the progress of man's conquest of space

For An Independent Florida Supreme Court: Keep Justices Ehrlich and Shaw

When the Florida Bar polled its members by secret ballot and asked whether Justices Raymond Ehrlich and Leander Shaw should remain on the Florida Supreme Court, nearly 9 out of 10 voted "Yes!"
Editorial writers, columnists and law enforcement officials across the state of Florida have agreed:

"We recommend a 'Yes' vote to retain Florida Supreme Court Justices Raymond Ehrlich and Leander Shaw."

The Florida Times-Union
October 28, 1984

"We wish you (both) God Speed in your endeavor and may the citizens of Florida, in their wisdom, vote overwhelmingly to support your continued, valuable services to us all."

Willis D. Booth, Executive Director
Florida Police Chiefs Association

"Florida citizens are fortunate to have Supreme Court Justices who regard the Constitution as a vault for safekeeping principles of government, not as a pantry easily opened to special interests."

Tampa Tribune
October 21, 1984

"We highly recommend that the people vote 'yes' to retain Supreme Court Justices Raymond Ehrlich and Leander Shaw Jr. They are among the best justices on the court. Their records have no blemishes. They are fair-minded justices of even temperament. They have demonstrated intellectual honesty, independence and integrity on the bench. We know of no reason either justice should be rejected for a second term."

St. Petersburg Times

"Should they be retained? We don't think there's any question about it: The answer is yes."

"A justice's job is to interpret the law. . . . Based on their records of doing just that, Justices Leander Shaw Jr. and Raymond Ehrlich deserve to remain on the Florida Supreme Court."

The Orlando Sentinel
October 18, 1984

"Citizens who believe in constitutional government and an independent judiciary ought to rally strongly behind Ehrlich and Shaw. They have good records."

The Tampa Tribune
August 6, 1984

"In fact, though they are the newest justices on the court, they are among the best."

St. Petersburg Evening Independent
September 10, 1984

"Justices Ehrlich and Shaw deserve the unqualified and strong support of every member of the Bar of this State. Every opportunity should be taken to deliver the message that a free and independent judiciary has always been the true guardian of freedom in this nation."

Larry Seidlin, Columnist
