Strolling In Sanford

A. B. Peterson, director of the Seminole County Defense Council, is attending a regional Civil Defense conference today at Daytona Beach. The meeting was called by Fred W. DeMotta, recently appointed field representative for the state office of Civil Defense.

Dick Koltzow, Sanford baritone who is with the New York Opera Co., will be in a concert at the Seminole High School auditorium April 20 at 8 p. m. Koltzow, sponsored by the Sanford Shrine Club is rated the No. 1 baritone with the Company and is in his 16th year with them. He will be accompanied in the concert by Richard Hufstader, head of Rollins College Conservatory of Music.

B. C. Steele, Seminole County spelling contest supervisor, announced that the spelling contestants will have a practice match at the radio station at 7:45 p. m. March 31. The final contest will be held at the Junior High School on April 4 at 8 p. m. when 36 students in the eighth grade or under will compete. Two top winners in the county will go to Miami to compete in the state contest.

How well do you know our fair city? Without seeking could you tell someone what's on the top of the clock at the intersection of Park Ave. and First St.? For those of you who give up, including the stroller under the clock, there's a double cross indicating a TB emblem, a ball, and a light on top of that ball. When over the right policeman is on duty on the other side of town and the light on top goes on he knows that there is a call for him on the corner phone. Clever, eh?

More Criticism Hurlled At Board

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More criticism was hurled at the Board of Control today. The University of Florida newspaper, "Alligator," called for his resignation and Secretary of State Gray said it had disregarded the Board of Education in its search for a president or the University of Florida. The Board of Control's chairman, Lee Ballard of St. Petersburg, and Vice Chairman W. Glenn Miller of Tallahassee already have recommended elimination of executive sessions of the body. Gray, vice chairman of the Board of Education, said he would vote to confirm Dr. J. Wayne Reid for president of the university despite the board of control's action, however.

"I think Dr. Reid is an able man and I am going to vote for his confirmation," Gray said. "I sincerely believe and hope for the good of the university of Florida that he will be confirmed so that the wrangling over this matter can be stopped. After he has been confirmed there are some things I want to say to the Board of Control about its obligations to the Board of Education as a matter of law and a matter of courtesy." Gray said that throughout the entire proceedings of the Board of Education was kept in the dark and didn't know until it was all over who the three finalists were. The secretary of state said the law setting up the Board of Control stated that it "shall act in con-

Intersection Jinx To Cars

Two cars and a truck sustained damage totaling $835 in an accident yesterday on Park Ave., 87 feet south of the 9th St. intersection, City Police reported. Police said the accident occurred because one car was going too fast to stop on the wet pavement.

The driver of the car, a 1954 Packard sedan, was charged with careless and negligent driving. He was identified as James Richard Laney Jr., 39, of 2100 Forest Hill Rd., Jacksonville. Damage to Laney's car was estimated at $475. The front bumper, grill, radiator and fan of the vehicle were damaged. Other vehicles involved in the 11:35 a. m. accident were a 1953 Dodge truck, driven by Charles William Willets, 26, police officer, of 535 Fairmont Rd., Daytona Beach, and a 1953 Ford sedan driven by Miles Oliver Thornburg, 63, salesman, of 1110 Cumberland Ave., Gastonia, N. C.

The truck sustained only $10 damage, but damage to Thornburg's car was estimated at $350. The front and rear bumpers, body and grill of the car were damaged. Thornburg and his wife, 49, were shock victims, but they declined to go to the hospital.

Patrolman Arnold Williams, investigating officer, said Willets and Thornburg had stopped in the northbound lane of traffic to wait for the traffic light to change. Thornburg's car was behind Willets' truck. Laney came north on Park Ave., the officer said, and although the Jacksonville man applied his brakes, he was unable to stop his car because of speed and the wet pavement. His car hit the rear of Thornburg's car, knocking it into Willets' truck.

At 4 p. m. this afternoon a senior high school massed chorus rehearsal was held for the free concert of the individual and massed choruses which will be presented tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the DeLand Armory. Dean Claude Almand will conduct.

Of the 23 schools represented, 35 choruses were entered: seven class "B", six class "C", six class "D", six class "E" (Junior High), six class "F" and two class "D", (schools entering for the first time). Sixty-seven solo and ensemble events will take place with 1,681 students participating.

Judges for the events are Miss Betty Jang Grimm, Florida State University School of Music; Dayton Smith, Florida State University School of Music; Dr. Claude M. Almand, Dean Stetson University School of Music; Prof. Harold M. Griffin, Stetson University School of Music, and Dr. Hans Barth, Jacksonville College of Music.

Men Crawl Ashore From Sinking Boat
CAMDEN, Tenn. (AP)—Three survivors of the boat Annie S. Cooper crawled ashore about four miles downstream early today three hours after the boat rammed a pier and sank in the Tennessee River.

The Benton County sheriff's office listed the missing as William Yates, about 34, Knoxville, captain; T. M. Cop Asks Youth If He Won, Lost

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police Officer Michael O'Flaherty was directing traffic in downtown Philadelphia yesterday when a battered-looking youth, at least 20 years old, charged by. As the vehicle stopped for a light with a loud squealing of brakes, O'Flaherty sidled over and asked the youthful driver where he picked up the vibrating beep. "Is a crap game, sir?" replied the youth. "Win or lose?" asked O'Flaherty.

Five Sets Twins Enough Says Mom

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP)—Four sets of twins sat on the steps of the Wayne County Courthouse yesterday, awaiting their regular checkup by the Health Department. The youngsters, aged 9, 7, 4 and 1, belong to Mrs. Rosie Lee Bell, 33, Barrier, Ky., who has had 11 children in her 11 years of marriage. "And that," she said, "is enough."

She has had five sets of twins, but the firstborn, as well as her only single child, died.

U. S., Reds Develop Rival Peace Drives

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia are developing rival peace campaigns. These may spur the move toward a Big Four foreign ministers' conference a few months hence.

While Soviet behavior may be designed for propaganda purposes, the regional U. S. State Department is trying to discover whether the Soviet really may want to come to some agreements.

The diplomatic maneuvering could be the cold war battle of the year.

President Eisenhower gave new impetus yesterday to talk of an eventual meeting with the heads of state of Russia, Britain, France and the United States by calling in bipartisan groups of congressional leaders for lunch next week—House members Wednesday and senators Thursday.

The announced purpose is to talk about foreign policy. The White House said there could hardly help but be discussion of the call by Sen. George D. Acheson for a top-level Big Four meeting, perhaps this year. Eisenhower left open the possibility of such a session at his news conference Wednesday. While striking to a demand for prior evidence of Soviet good faith.

On the Russian side, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov last night invited Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab to Moscow to negotiate on remaining provisions of an Austrian peace treaty. The Russians last month began talking about much earlier troop withdrawal than they had indicated earlier they would agree to.

BLACK CAUSES WRECK
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Doris D. Morse was driving with her 3-year-old daughter when one of the child's toy blocks rolled off the seat and lodged under the brake pedal. Unable to remove it, Mrs. Morse turned the car into a wooden fence and crashed through a window before the vehicle stopped. Neither she nor the child was injured.

Crime-Buster Kohn Serving Ten Days

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Aaron Kohn, the Philadelphia crime buster who set out two years ago to investigate New Orleans police, was in jail today, serving a 10-day sentence for contempt of the grand jury. Kohn was sentenced when he refused to reveal his informants. As City Councilman Fred Casdrey put it, the city spent $80,000 for the probe and "the only person who is going to jail is the investigator."

Ed Simpson Reports Pistol Is Stolen

A pistol was stolen from his automobile at the Mar-Lou Motel today, Ed Simpson reported to City Police. Simpson identified the pistol as a German Dryfus 32. calibre automatic. He said it was taken from the glove compartment of his car.

Three Sanford Men Chosen Directors Of Farm Loan Assn.

Les Butler was named president and Gus Schmah and Roy Partin were chosen as directors of the Sanford National Farm Loan Association in a meeting yesterday at the Golf Club in Orlando.

The Lake-Orange NEFA also participated in the meeting. J. P. Ferguson, Florida regional manager for the Federal Land Bank, Columbia, S. C., outlined lending policies and changes in appraisal standards.

The farm loan associations are owned by citrus growers, cattle men, truck farmers and other agricultural enterprises.

Clean-Up Urged By State Attorney

TAMPA (AP)—State Atty. James M. McEwen has suggested to Gov. Collins that all legal actions in the involved affairs of the Overseas Toll Highway be cleaned up. Collins asked McEwen what he thought should be the next step for the state to take in the matter.

Brooks Baleman, united general manager of the old toll road; and Alanzo Coltrane, a contractor, were acquitted of five charges of stealing $18,792 by padding machinery and work vouchers. Nine charges against the two were dropped by John Marsh, Dade County solicitor named by Acting Gov. Johns to prosecute the two.

McEwen also said the State Road Department is looking into the status of a civil suit filed by the road board under Johns seeking to recover alleged overpayments for contracting work done by Coltrane.

McFarland's trip was the culmination of months of saving and planning by him and his wife who is a matron in the Dade County jail. Armed with only a smattering of German picked up from his Austrian born wife and at the University of Miami, plus a letter of introduction from U. S. Sen. George Smathers and 18 days of vacation time, he left March 12. McFarland stayed with his wife's aunt and uncle in West Berlin while cutting through the maze of rules and regulations. He finally got a visitor's pass for Mrs. Asche which entitles her to stay in this country for six months. After that, she may get citizenship.

Offer's Limits Are Told

Pearson Remarks
Clarify Speech

OTTAWA (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson says Canada's readiness to stand by the United States in a major war does not extend to a "limited" conflict over the Nationalist-held Chinese coastal islands. But he warned the House of Commons yesterday that he fears even "limited intervention" by the United States in the defense of Quemoy and the Matsu "might have a chain reaction" which would bring a world war involving Canada.

Pearson's remarks, opening a foreign policy debate, were largely a restatement and clarification of a speech he made in Toronto March 14 in which he said: 1. That it would be unthinkable for either Canada or the United States to be neutral if the other was fighting "a major war" in which its very existence were at stake.

That "certain United States commitments, those for instance covering help to China, Kat-shan in Formosa and certain Chinese coastal islands, have not been accepted by us."

That failure to agree with the United States on Formosa and the coastal islands "is not the same thing as saying that they may not involve us. And it is certainly not the same thing as saying that they do not concern us."

The foreign secretary said his Toronto speech had aroused misunderstanding, but that he did not mean "that whenever the United States is engaged in any kind of war we are at war."

"It certainly does not mean that we must participate in limited or peripheral wars," he told the House.

Swiss Newspapers Say Letter Exists From Late FDR

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Two influential Swiss newspapers claimed today there exists a letter from the late President Roosevelt making demands on Switzerland "not far from Stalin's demands on his allies to force a march through Switzerland."

Both newspapers, the Basler Nachrichten, Liberal Democratic and the Tat of Zurich, Independent, called on the Swiss government to release the alleged letter in view of American publication of the Yalta record.

"If they already have started in America to bare the sins of the past, there is something in this field in Switzerland to catch up on," the Basler Nachrichten said, "there should be a letter of President Roosevelt to the Federal Council of the summer of 1944 in existence containing remarkable demands, whose essence lay not far from Stalin's demands on his allies to force a march through Switzerland."

Milk Committee Drafts Petition

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—The Florida Citizens Milk Committee, a group organized here this week with the aim of abolishing the State Milk Commission, last night drafted a petition which it hopes will draw enough signatures to achieve that goal. Only about 20 persons attended the campaign-mapping meeting in suburban South Daytona but Tom Varner, Post Office greeter whose milk license was ordered suspended 60 days for selling milk below prices fixed by the commission, said he has four pages of names of persons who voluntarily called him to say they will help fight the commission.

STUDENT NEEDS AID AFTER WIFE LEAVES

The essentially spiritual nature of all that is real and eternal will be emphasized at Christian Services on Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality".
Among the selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (184:27-28): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

The following passage will be read from the Bible (Psalm 84:4-5): "For the word of the Lord is right and all his ways are found in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord."
The Golden Text is from Psalms (119:12, 13): "Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes. Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

RAINY DAY

Naturally, they're pleased about it—it's their first bank book. This is something they've managed together. They've saved for the things they want, and also for that "rainy day."

It's wise to save for a rainy day. But it's also wise to remember that drought can be just as devastating as rain... particularly spiritual drought.

Faith is the balance you'll find in your spiritual bank book. It's something that you can renew, something that you can add to, and something that will pay you immeasurable dividends. Where else can such faith be renewed and developed than in the House of the Lord—your Church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

New Jersey Family Is Awarded $7,000 In Plane Incident

MIAMI (AP)—A New Jersey family that sued Miami Airline, Inc., for $775,000 was awarded $7,000 by a federal jury Wednesday.

The Walter J. Burns family of Elizabeth, N.J., had asked damages for injuries received when a plane crashed near their home on Dec. 16, 1952.

One engine caught fire soon after the takeoff from Newark for Miami and 48 persons aboard were killed.

Burns said he was working in his yard when the plane crashed and was struck on the head by a piece of metal and showered with gasoline. His wife said she was knocked to the floor of her home and her back and hip injured.

Burns told the jury that prior to the crash his daughter, Patricia, now 20, had undergone treatment for mental illness and was recovering at home.

EVANGELIST BUDDY TUCKER of Des Moines, Iowa, will conduct a city and county wide revival in a big tent to be erected at the corner of Park Ave. and 25th St., across from the Foodmart, starting Monday, March 28. Mr. Tucker is known as the Evangelist of the Gospel Faith Hour and, with his wife, will be heard over WHOO, Orlando, each morning at 11:00 o'clock, Monday through Friday. The services here will start promptly at 8 o'clock nightly and a cordial invitation to attend is extended to all.

Syngman Rhee To Be 80 Tomorrow

SEOUL (AP)—You would think that an 80-year-old man who was head of his country's government on that particular birthday would consider his life a great success.

Not President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

Rhee, who will be 80 tomorrow, feels he has realized only partial success because North Korea still is occupied by the Communists.

"I hope and pray that we may liberate our people in North Korea before it is too late and they are all indoctrinated by the Communists," Rhee told us in an interview.

The white-haired President received us in his study at Kyung Mu Dai, Korea's White House. He seemed completely recovered from a recent prostate gland operation and was in excellent spirits. He looked better physically than in years.

The peppery old President expressed these views:
1. Britain is not anti-Communist. It has changed. "I do not want to be compared to such a great man as Prime Minister Churchill, who is also 80. Churchill may have been a Communist fighter once, but he is different now. I don't understand him any more."

2. The United States "should turn loose Chiang Kai-shek (of Nationalist China) and Syngman Rhee. The sooner the better. I hope Secretary Dulles is considering this."

3. Japan should "make up her mind which side of the street she is going to walk down. We can never make friends with the Japanese so long as they are trying to be friendly with the Communists."

Rhee probably will go down in history as one of the most controversial figures of his time in Asia. Surely he has been stubborn, unpredictable and adamant.

He is one of the most loyal friends the United States ever had. The only thing he ever threatened to do was start the Korean War up again all by himself in the Far East Command would just give him enough gasoline and bullets.

Rhee's pet peeve with Britain is that the British recognize Communist China.

Then there is Japan, which once held Korea.

Rhee's gunboats seized Japanese fishermen who crossed the disputed Rhee line, in some places 60 miles from the coast of Korea. All efforts to get the two old neighbors' differences settled have failed.

Rhee was absent from Korea so long, fighting against Japanese forces who crossed the disputed Rhee line, in some places 60 miles from the coast of Korea. All efforts to get the two old neighbors' differences settled have failed.

He left Korea in 1904 when he got out of prison to seek aid and recognition for his country. The next 41 years he returned to Korea only once.

He came back for 17 months after his graduation from Princeton University in 1910. By then Korea had been annexed by Japan after years of rule by a king whom Rhee had considered a puppet.

Red Dachshund Likes To Wander

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a red dachshund in northwest Washington that likes to wander.

Sure, most dogs do. But the difference is that this particular pooch often comes home by taxi, collect.

His name is Noodle and he belongs to 12-year-old Elizabeth Sher. He has his favorite spots, over a wide area, and has become so well known that many people who see him don't even have to read his dog tag to know where to send him.

Once a park policeman routed him home. Many times he shows me. I have sudden yearnings to be alone, away from everything that moves, feels or reacts. I would like to kill myself but I retreat from this."

Galbraith Seeking To Be Admitted As Mental Case

MCLESTER, Okla. (AP)—An attorney for Dr. Ben T. Galbraith, charged with murder of his wife and three children, said Wednesday that a letter found in the fire-swept home where they died will be the basis today for an order seeking his commitment to a mental hospital.

Atty. Willard Smith, a brother-in-law of the 34-year-old heart specialist, said an application to send the defendant to Eastern State Hospital at Vinita will be filed in District Court.

Galbraith pleaded innocent at his arraignment Wednesday and waived preliminary hearing.

The letter was not addressed to anyone but said in part: "Despair, frustration, restlessness. All this haunts and tantalizes" up at WJAL radio-TV station and gets home by taxi or the Sher family car. The Bureau of Standards is almost always good for a taxi ride home.

Arrangements for a photograph were a bit difficult.

"He isn't here," the voice at the Sher residence said. "May I tell him who called?"

WET CLOTHES FOUND
DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Kees reported hearing screams shortly after seeing a boy on a Trinity River dam. Officers dragged for the body but found none. They did find a 12-year-old who hadn't been to school. At his home they found sopping wet clothes. Oh no, he said, he hadn't been fishing. Those clothes got wet Sunday, when there was no school.

India: Past To Present

Since India's emerging as an independent power, the development of her government has been watched by both the West and the East. The task facing India today is to unite in workable form the Eastern heritage and the Western example.

Sometimes the combination may be baffling. A forceful example that disturbs many observers is that along with the new democratic trend in Indian politics the old caste system still exists and threatens to monopolize the political structure. Candidates for public office are nominated from "acceptable" castes and the Brahmins yet remain in virtual authority.

Uncomfortable as this rigid ordaining of life may seem to Americans the stratification is presently working in favor of democracy. The communists are having a difficult time bucking the system and in Andhra, the largest stronghold of Indian communism, the electoral struggle between the ruling Congress party and the Communists was largely a matter of caste rivalry.

What India recognizes is the need for a blending of ideologies adaptable to the demands of its own traditions. Caste will doubtless be abolished in India eventually but not through Communist-Congress party conflicts. The eventual breakdown of barriers will come out of India's own methods of blending and gradual adjustment.

It may now seem urgent that all Asian nation builders complete their tasks quickly, that India and the East resolve their cultural conflicts with the West. But some of the East's impervious patience is needed in the West. Problems of caste, curiosity concerning communism, criticism of the swirling pace of the West are all part of the necessary selecting and discarding that goes into the creating of a nation that can be safe in the preservation of its history and be secure in its history and be secure in its selection of the future.

Tax Collector's Voice Rings Loud

NEW YORK (AP)—The voice of the tax collector is heard loud in the land these days. And tax uncertainties—like changeable March weather—plague business firms and individual citizens alike.

While you are struggling with your income tax return, due in three weeks, business management is trying to guess what taxes may lie ahead as it plans future production and expansion schedules.

Here are some tax proposals—either by government officials or businessmen or both—being talked about in Washington today:

A possible hike in the federal gasoline tax, now 2 cents a gallon.

A retroactive tax collection from many business firms to repay a so-called windfall in the 1953 taxes they've already paid.

A cut in certain taxes on business and individuals, tailored to the idea of making investment in business more attractive.

Repeal of last year's faster depreciation allowances for business in the early years of a new plant or new machine's life.

Repeal of the tax forgiveness on part of the income from dividends.

And, of course, that all-but-dead proposal to give lower-income families a tax cut.

Congress is debating repeal of two provisions of last year's tax

Paved With Uranium

A common European notion of America was that its streets were paved with gold. Even had this been true, this would be nothing compared to the discovery that the British have made. There many roads have been found covered with an uranium-bearing slag. The explanation is that the road material was taken from old mine dumps, many of which are now found to contain uranium ore.

This is not the first time in history that "the stone which the builders rejected" has turned out to be one worth making "the head of the corner."

Yalta Leak

The State department intended to send copies of the Yalta documents to Congress on a confidential basis. It was then discovered that a newspaper already had a copy of the documents and intended to print it. The declassification was then made to release the documents to all news media.

How did one newspaper get a copy of the documents while it was still considered necessary to stamp them "confidential" before sending them to Congress? The only answer can be that it happened through either the carelessness or contrivance of someone in a position where he should have known better.

Some explanation should be given. If it was carelessness then that fact should be made known and assurance should be given that steps are being taken to prevent a recurrence. If the documents merited the confidential tag placed on them they should never have found their way into the hands of a reporter. If on the other hand, they did not merit the confidential designation then they should never have been so labeled.

The issue is far more important than whether one newspaper or reporter gets an exclusive story. It involves the security of secrets and the very concept of how the government should inform people of what it is doing and has done. Legitimate government news is not the property of the official who knows about it. It must not be awarded on a basis of friendship or held or released to serve official purposes. If the people have a right to know what is going on they have an equal right to expect that the information will be given in an honest and straightforward manner.

A Welcome Citizen

The United States has gained a valuable citizen. Through naturalization, Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi has become a citizen. He is a native of Hungary, who in 1937 won the Nobel prize in medicine for his success in isolating Vitamin C. He and his wife, who became a citizen at the same time, came to this country in 1947. He is now head of the Institute of Muscle Research at Woods Hole, Mass.

To have among its citizens scientists of the caliber of Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi is an honor of which any nation might be proud. His naturalization shows that, despite our immigration restrictions, our doors are still open to worthy and oppressed of other nations.

Don't Waste Best Years Brooding

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaves from an oddity almanac:

Have you wasted some of the best years of your life brooding over how many grapes it takes to make a fifth of champagne?

So many vineyard visitors asked this question the Taylor Wine Co. finally assigned a winner to find the answer. He discovered there are 83 grapes on a cluster of Catawbas, the variety used. A ton of fruit contained 6,500 clusters or 539,500 individual grapes and produced 830 fifths of champagne. Thus the number of grapes in a single bottle is 62.

But it takes 870 grapes to make a fifth of sauterne or claret. . . . There are only 90 grapes to a cluster in the variety used in these wines.

Remember your back when a college boy's biggest worry was where he could find a job? That is no problem with student engineers today. They are now aristocrats of the campus. Example: The Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N.J., expects to turn out 128 graduates this June, and already more than 170 industrial firms are sending talent scouts to bid for their services. Tip to parents: Why not give your little boy a slide rule instead of a sled next Christmas?

Success comes in strange ways: Denise Ler, vocalist on the Garry Moore CBS-TV program, got into the big money by disregarding the advice of both her mother and her doctor. Against the wishes of her mother, a film costume designer, she went into show business. While singing semiclassical numbers in an act she caught a heavy cold and developed nodules on her vocal chords. A doctor advised her to take a vacation, rest her throat, instead she kept singing, but in a lower register. Her new voice turned out to be just right for the new deep-throated "pop" tunes. Now, nodules notwithstanding, she earns about $125,000 a year.

Male ego dept: At least we have found something men do better than women: They eat a better breakfast. Only 33 per cent of white collar working girls under 35 eat only 20 per cent over 35.

The real gripe of businessmen—and many individuals too—is that taxes are changed so frequently. Businessmen say they planned on the basis of last year's tax rules, now find they may be taxed retroactively on last year's income, and face the uncertainty of trying to guess what Congress may do next year.

Inquiry Has Many Distractions

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Baruch's hearing aid symbolized the closing days of the Senate inquiry into stock market prices. It had trouble catching what went on.

There were plenty of distractions in the three-week inquiry and by the time Baruch testified yesterday, the inquiry had been dwindling away by itself.

Senators Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Capehart (R-Ind) had a running fight for days. Witnesses disagreed. The stock market took a 10-billion dollar dip and has now started up.

Fulbright started the inquiry. He's chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, which made it. He said before it started its purpose was to "determine whether the public interest is being safely and wisely served."

So did the inquiry do any good? If it did, time will have to show it. Fulbright said it did. Capehart, a committee member, said it was useless if not harmful.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey dealt Fulbright a blow. He said the investigation might be undermining public confidence in the economy.

Other witnesses included top men in stock exchanges, Wall Street, corporations and the government. They disagreed even on such a basic question as this:

Are stock market prices too high? A couple of witnesses said they were dangerously high. Others, including Baruch, said they didn't know and doubted anyone else did either.

Inside Washington

INSIDE WASHINGTON WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may go along with British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill's proposal for a Big Four parley after ratification of the Paris-London accords. Churchill recently told a House of Commons member in reply to a question that he would seek a meeting with the Russian premier, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, for Big Four talks when genuine results seemed likely to flow from such meetings.

President Eisenhower has never said flatly that he would refuse to take part in such talks, but he has never openly welcomed the idea, either. Mr. Eisenhower reportedly feels that any top-level meetings, if they failed, would be far worse than no meetings at all.

However the door has been left ajar for a possible conference at the foreign ministers' level, providing that arrangement of West Germany is approved and goes through. Once this happens, it is believed that the United States will be willing to look with favor on a Big Four parley of the heads of states.

New trick for the government — The Eisenhower administration is apparently going to be able to pay back a little of the money the government has borrowed from the public in recent years — about $350 million.

Government income for trust funds will be so great in 1960 that it will cover all the payments from the trust fund and — when last to the government — will cover the anticipated $2.4 billion deficit as well.

The government plans to take in about $2.7 billion dollars for the various trust accounts — old age and survivors' railroad retirement and others — and will still have about $2.4 billion left at the end of the year.

One as Ted Husing, Dick Andrade, Bob Considine etc. — brought a fly that never set the world afire. There were, I think, about 200 rockhoppers in that group.

I can understand the lure. A few seasons back at the Stratoga yearling sales, some may remember, I nearly ended up with a Devil River filly who took two years after her first start to win a race, and only last spring I was of a mind to take a colt named Lamb Allie off Vanderbilt's hands for a small sum (too small for him).

I've watched disconcertingly while Lamb Allie has won $20,000 or so in the interim. He's nobody looking to fly with the idea — and I say follow Bangtail, Preferred, Inc., down the primrose path, yet. Who needs rest money?

Among all the ticket punches used by more than 10,000 railroad conductors in the United States, no two punches make a hole of the same shape.

essor, suggested buyers be forced to pay cash in full for stocks they buy. Present government regulations permit them to put down as little as 20 per cent cash and to borrow the rest.

This idea was squelched by William McC. Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. The market began to dive after Galt's suggestion. Capehart got mad at Galt.

He announced the professor had written something in 1949 which spoke favorably of communism, Galt said, saying it said Capehart had quoted him out of context.

It's uncertain whether the committee will hold any more hearings. For some time the committee staff will try to digest what was said in the past three weeks. This could not be called one of Washington's most impressive investigations.

the year after paying expenses and pensions.

The Treasury department feels that there is no safer investment for anybody's money than government bonds, so the trust fund cash is invested in bonds, in effect lent to the government.

This adds to the national debt, of course but it also makes it unnecessary for the administration to borrow from the public to pay its day-to-day expenses.

The extra $350 million could even be used to pay off that much of existing debt held by banks, corporations, and private persons, and thus, contract the money supply a little.

Security — President Eisenhower may take a dramatic step to help establish a bi-partisan policy on security matters. Informed sources say he may name one or more influential Democrats to high government positions, possibly in the Cabinet.

Likeliest spot, these sources state, is in the Defense department, where an opening may be made for a responsible Democrat as secretary of one of the military services.

Although Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens contends he is not about to resign the rumors still persist that he will. If he does, do not be surprised if he is succeeded by a Democrat. There is also talk that a Democrat may shortly be given a top-ranking State department post.

Traffic — The White House is concerned about the outcome of the President's tariff-cutting program which reaches the House floor next week.

The bill, which grants the President power to negotiate new tariff-cutting agreements with other countries for three more years after June 30, cleared the House ways and means committee, 20-8, this week.

However, the big hurdle will come in the House where there is a big tariff protection following.

U. S. Patent No. 1 was issued in 1890 to John Ruggles of Hales on a device to increase the power of railway locomotives and to prevent the wheel's from sliding.

Handsome Actor Suggests Festival Of All Nations

HOLLYWOOD—One of Hollywood's most noted citizens, William Holden, today suggested an international film festival in Hollywood. For years members of the film industry have sounded the need for film celebrations like those held in foreign countries. Holden, the incumbent Oscar winner, agrees. "We send representatives to Uruguay, Venice, Cannes and other film festivals all over the world," he remarked on the set of "A Man Called Horse." "The logical thing would be to have an international festival here, at the center of the film industry. "And I mean to really make it international. Not just invite the Western countries. We should be big enough to invite the countries behind the Iron Curtain too. I think our films can certainly compete with theirs. "I think such a festival would not only do good for our industry, but for the country as well. It is something the State Department could help to promote."

Holden admitted that the festival would cost a lot of money. But he feels that the resulting good will would be worth it. He cited the advantage of Hollywood's press corps, which he said is the second biggest group of correspondents in the United States (first: Washington). The lean, handsome actor is one of Hollywood's most internationally minded stars. During the past year, he has traveled 165,000 miles to all parts of the world to help spread good feeling toward Hollywood.

"You don't realize the tremendous interest in our pictures until you get out and see it," he said. "Movies are more or less the silent ambassador to other countries. That's why trips like the one Jimmy Stewart just took in Asia are so important to good relations with other countries."

Medical Auxiliary Will Have Dinner To Honor Doctors

The Seminole County Medical Auxiliary asks that ministers devote their sermons to the Medical Profession on Doctors' Day, March 30th, or perhaps the preceding Sunday, March 27. The Auxiliary as a group plans to show appreciation to their husbands by having as their guests, their husbands, doctors in this area and invited families of deceased doctors to a dinner party at the Longwood Hotel on Wednesday, March 30. Several other families are being remembered by notes of gratitude. They hope to reach the public too, by restoring confidence in their family physicians.

The purpose of Doctors' Day is to honor members of the medical profession both living and dead. The official flower is the red carnation. The idea of Doctors' Day originated in 1933. Today it is observed by almost every state in the nation. The date was decided upon as March 30, the day the famous Georgian, Dr. Crawford W. Long, first used ether anesthesia in surgery.

It was resolved by the Barrow County Medical Auxiliary of the State of Georgia that March 20 be the day set aside by the Medical Auxiliary to adopt this day as Doctors' Day, the object to be the wish being and honor of the profession, its observance demanding some act of kindness. In observance of the day, the Auxiliary mailed cards to the doctors and their wives. Flowers were placed on the graves of the doctors including that of Doctor Ligon. The first Doctors' Day concluded with an elegant course dinner, Tributes and responses with appropriate toasts and the hope that hereafter Doctors' Day would continue to be observed on March 20th of each year. Parties and entertainment are only a personal expression of appreciation by the wives of busy doctors. The true objects of the observance of the day is to pay tribute and help the entire public to understand the real physician and his endless service to the community," said an Auxiliary member.

Small plastic containers in which cheese comes make fine "pans" in which to mold fudge. Pour the fudge into these round or half-round containers so it comes almost, but not quite, to the top. Cover and keep on hand for company serving or use for small gifts. Nice to take to a convalescent or to a luncheon hostess.

A. B. Peterson Guest Speaker At Woman's Auxiliary Luncheon

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Seminole County Medical Society held a luncheon Monday at 12:30 in the Jim Spencer's Restaurant with A. B. Peterson as guest speaker.

Mr. Peterson, who is the director of Civil Defense for Seminole County traced the aspects of offense and defense from the Siege of Troy up to the present time. He pointed out the terrific destructive capacity of present day nuclear weapons and how wise and far-reaching are their destructive powers.

"The limitations of these weapons are entirely unpredictable," he said, "even to the point of affecting future generations of mankind."

He went on to say that with regard to the unpredictable factor—a shift in the direction of the wind would have a bearing on the area and the people affected by the fall-out of a nuclear weapon.

He also pointed out that the one certain factor would be that of human suffering and the realistic thing to do is prepare ourselves and meet that possible situation "by taking available courses in First Aid with Civil Defense Supplement and also in general care of the sick."

Mrs. Mary D. Knox read a letter in need for people to the for of Civil Defense for Seminole County in care of wounded and evacuees in case of any disasters.

Mrs. Charles Park Jr. reported on plans for the Doctors Day dinner to be held March 20 at the Longwood Hotel. All the doctors from the auxiliary to wear that day.

subscriptions short of 200 per cent in its magazine project.

Those present were Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. C. L. Park Sr., Mrs. L. L. Park Jr., Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Gordon Stanley, Mrs. Terry Bird, Mrs. D. H. Matheos and Mrs. Mary D. Knox.

Want an extra-special cream sauce for cooked vegetables. Make a white sauce using half vegetable liquid and half cream for the milk called for the standard recipe. This works well with such vegetables as cauliflower, snap beans, peas and carrots. Top the vegetables with the sauce sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and brown under the broiler.

Bersohn Cries Out Guilt Of Espionage

NEW YORK (AP) — As relatives interrupted and tried to stop him, Malcolm Bersohn—jailed by the Chinese Communists—perished Wednesday in praising his captors and insisting he was guilty of spying.

Bersohn, a former student at Peiping Union Medical College, was held in prison by the Chinese Reds for 3 1/2 years. He was described as "thoroughly brainwashed" after he was released from custody last Feb. 27.

Arriving here by plane from the West Coast, Bersohn hurriedly started reading from a five-page prepared statement: "I am guilty of military espionage."

"If I were willing to lie about the People's Republic, I would be paid a high price by the warmongers and capitalists who are plotting a new world war..."

Bersohn was interrupted by his sister, who did not give her name. She told newsmen: "This is obviously a sick boy."

Any citizens who are interested and have free time during this practice, contact O. E. Weaver, County Defense Director, Fern Park.

The Longwood Volunteer Firemen no longer believe in the old adage, "that all things come in threes," after the past week and when four days they received five fire calls.

On last Saturday they were called to Casselberry to a grass fire that was threatening the Barnett Ferry. Due to their prompt arrival there was no apparent damage to the ferns.

About 1 P. M. on Sunday they were called to a grass fire that was caused by rubbish being burned when the wind carried to the nearby tall grass on Molnar Street. Several old stumps smoldered for some time.

Then on Monday afternoon due to the high wind sparks from still smoldering stumps ignited a pile of lumber and proved to be a very persistent fire. However, the fire was held under control so that the rest of lumber was confined to the one stack.

Cooper, 41, and tried the teeth on him. "They fitted perfectly," an officer said. Cooper was charged with the burglary, in which a quantity of narcotics was taken.

Proceed At Your Own Risk

By WOODSON T. ALLEN

BEING wholly unsophisticated, I often fail to distinguish between questions which are asked for a rhetorical effect, and those which are asked in search of the truth.

In the Jacksonville Journal of Feb. 4, the editorial writer discussed an announced electronic weather forecaster. Under the title "No One To Cuss But a Gadget," he implied a fear that it might be unfulfilling, emotionally, to swear at a machine, rather than at a man, in cranky weather. He closed with: "But what can you say to a collection of wires and gadgets?"

This seed has fallen upon good ground. I'm the man who can help that writer toward an answer: not so much WHAT can be said, but rather the circumstances which have caused me to say the appropriate thing instinctively.

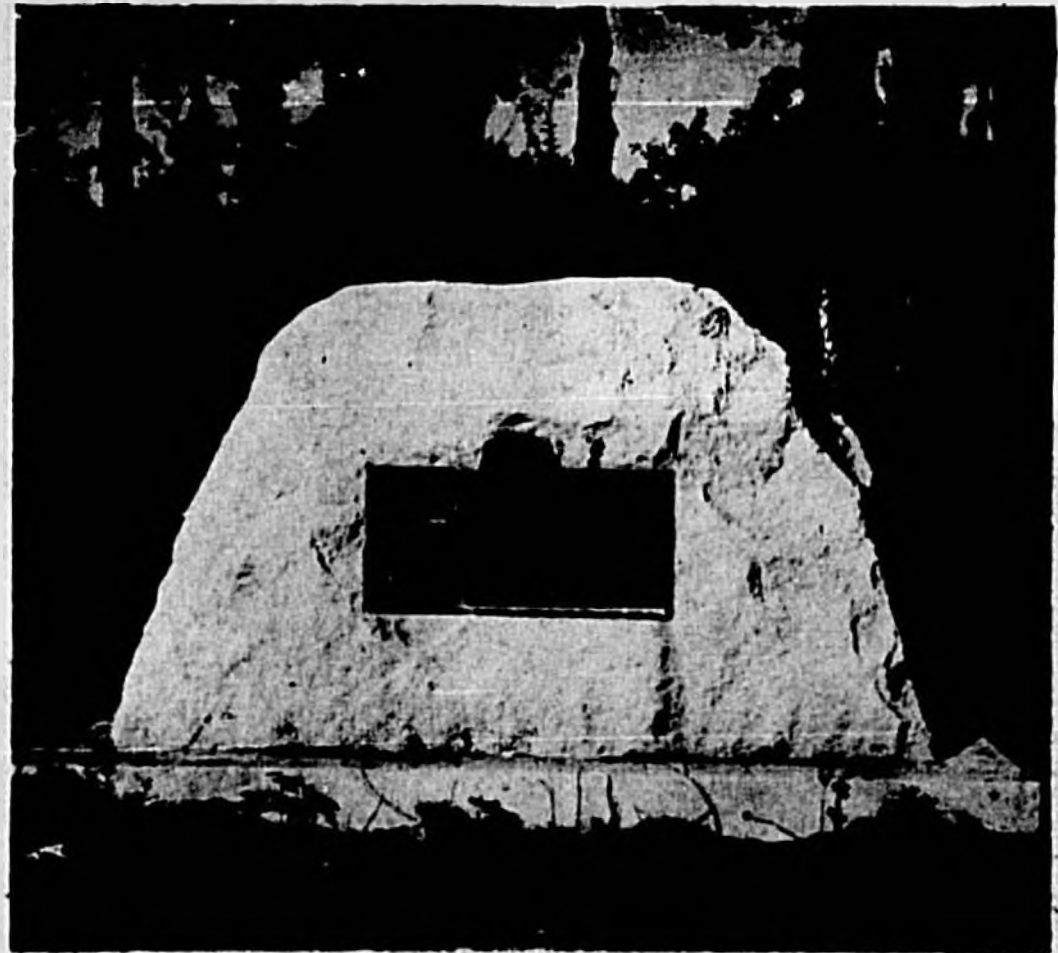

Coincidentally with the opening gong of the "long-count" affair between Dempsey and Tunney, a "radio B-battery eliminator" exploded and distributed its liquid contents over furniture, floors and guests. All present considered my comments at least adequate.

Getting up at 2:10 of a frosty morning, in order to "jiggle" a plumbing handle which was merrily spilling our liquid assets down the drain, I encountered a newly-installed floor furnace from which surface water had seeped upward some 11 inches above the floor. I paused, but not in search of words.

We bought a set of spring clips to hold the cover of an ironing-board. The idea was to hook one end into the cloth, then stretch the spring to attach the other end. After string the full set into the drapey three rooms away, we remembered that "the laundry does it best."

Much can be said, Mr. Editor-writer. Much, much, indeed.

This little known memorial stone and plaque marks a part of Florida's soil that was dyed red from the blood of soldiers and civilians who fought the battle of Fort King, one of the classic struggles of the Seminole Wars. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

JUST FOR ONCE, WE WILL

What's the matter with Florida's scenery? One would think from reading your magazine that there wasn't anything in Florida but people. Just for once, couldn't we have a cover that showed some part of our beautiful state that wasn't crowded out by a bathing beauty?

Maybe people are interesting, too, but my gripe is that you don't play up the scenic outdoors that has enticed all those people, whom you seem to like so well, to come here in the first place.

Look out the window once and you'll see what I mean.

(MRS.) JANE BLANK, West Palm Beach.

WE'LL GET THE NEXT BOAT

I enjoyed the story entitled "Could See" by Rita W. Carwell in your Feb. 20 issue. These little short stories about unusual occupations and hobbies are very interesting.

I do think you missed the boat by not having more and better pictures with this hot story. But this is not a general complaint for you do have many fine pictures in All Florida Magazine.

M. H. MOORE, Daytona Beach.

HE WANTS MORE

Miss Allen, more Allen, more Woodson T. Allen.

S.S.H., Daytona Beach.

MR. BALF, HOW COULD YOU?

How many of us caught you off guard? There is no such outfit as Southeastern Association, Birmingham ball club is member of Southeastern Association. Since about 1900 A.D. A long time anyway. I refer to your last issue, re: Mayo Smith.

D. JOHNSON, Madison.

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

I am glad to hear that folks still like my articles. I appreciated the letter in the current issue.

In regard to the argument about Pensacola, I'd like to suggest that you refer the reader to the Apr. 11, 1955, issue of All Florida Magazine, which contains an article of mine entitled "Hurricane Helmut," dealing with Triton de Lema's settlement at Pensacola in August, 1845.

According to authentic records the ships were in Pensacola Bay when the hurricane struck. It was then necessary for Lema to head back to Mexico for reinforcements and supplies. Thereafter Lema remained in the area until April, 1851, when he and his men were picked up by the fleet of Angel de Villafra.

Pensacola, therefore, was settled before St. Augustine but it was not a permanent settlement. The venture failed because of dissension among the colonists and the poor leadership of Lema, due partly to his ill health.

Neither was the settlement called Pensacola. It was called Santa Maria.

JOHN S. HARRISMAN, St. Petersburg.

THEY LOOK ALIKE

I was very much interested in your reader letter picture on page 2 of the Feb. 20 issue. The caption stated that the one in Madison was the only known one in the state. I thought you might be interested to know that there is a similar tower in Florida on Highway 90, five miles west of Holt in Santa Rosa County.

It was originally built by Ringling Brothers in the early 20's. Today the building has been converted into a service station and concrete shop.

I enjoy your magazine very much.

M. H. HARRISMAN, Holt.

Looking Over All Florida

ANY WEEK. Our current series, "Steamboats In The Hyacinths," continues to draw from our readers flattering comments and appeals for more Florida historical articles. While All Florida has no intention of becoming exclusively an historical magazine, we will, from time to time, publish such material. Recently, for example, we received a manuscript from Robert E. Allison, professor of American Literature at Jacksonville Junior College. Professor Allison touches on a little known phase of the state's beginning when the Timucuan Indians ruled that section of Florida from Cape Canaveral to the St. Mary's River. The story of the battles waged by these Indians to guard their Florida homeland against the invasion of the truculent Guales Indians of Georgia and the Yemassee warriors from South Carolina is a fascinating one and well presented by Professor Allison.

OUR COVER

"Nothing to it, mister, just put on a worm." And, to do that, Mr. Melvin Williams will have to dump a couple of hundred dollars worth of tackle and paraphernalia and buy himself a worm. Young George Rollin, our cover hero this week, met Melvin on the way home from the local fishin' hole. That string of brass, we understand, caused Mr. Williams to trade in his tackle for a worm.

STARS IN THEIR EYES!

By DAN CAMPBELL

THE citizens of St. Petersburg have "stars" in their eyes again. After a lapse of 20 years they expect once again to hail movie players with "Hi, neighbor!" and rub elbows with television stars along Central Ave.

Visions of the Sunshine City as the center of production of a multi-million dollar motion picture and television film industry in Florida, have definitely emerged from the plans of a young man from Orlando, whose activities are anything but visionary.

R. John Hugh and his Empire Studios, Inc., of Orlando, have virtually completed the modernization of St. Petersburg's old studios on Weedon's Island and the cameras are expected to be grinding out Hugh's second feature length motion picture in April and no later than May.

Hugh recently returned from Hollywood where he completed arrangements for world distribution of "Yellowneck," the picture he filmed in the Everglades based on a story of deserters from the Confederate Army ranks during the War Between the States.

He announced that he had completed a contract with Republic Pictures

Corp., of Hollywood, for three more feature length pictures, and the Hollywood organization is expected to be associated with Empire in the production of films for television.

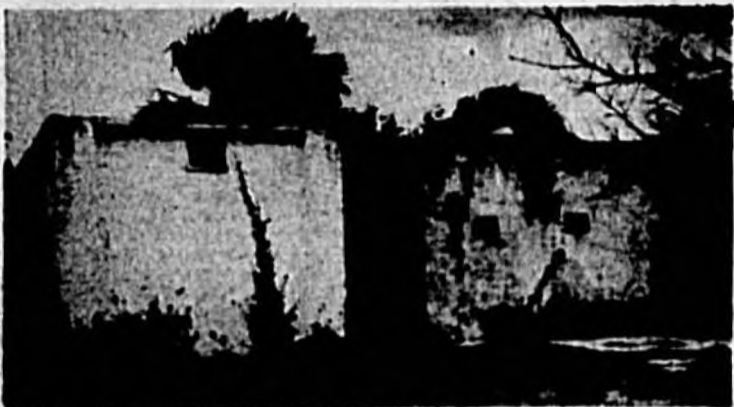

William A. Slade, editorial supervisor for Empire, told All Florida Magazine that Empire's next story will be filmed at the Weedon Island studios and on location sets in the vicinity of St. Petersburg and other West Coast locales.

"The script is now being prepared and we are negotiating with three well-known actors for parts in the picture," he said.

Film stars strolling down St. Petersburg's Central Ave., will be no novelty for the "old timers," but rather a refashioning of a dream shattered some 20 years ago when Kennedy City was established here, several feature length pictures made, and the independent company faded for lack of a national release.

That won't happen this time, since Empire will have a release through Republic and officers of the corporation confidently look forward to making the St. Petersburg studios the center of television film production.

THESE OLD film vaults, used years ago by Weedon Island studios, will be re-built for Empire Studios to house their second production, scheduled for "shooting" in the near future.

THESE "CHARM School" girls (top photo) at St. Petersburg really have "stars in their eyes," now that a possible movie career is right in their own back yard. Motion picture cameras soon will be grinding in the big studio (above) when renovating is completed.

MOTS UND PALABRAS

By W. TAULBEE

(Words And Words)

NOTICING the trend of the "intelligentsia" (smart cookies) toward the use of foreign words and phrases to present "le mot juste" (the appropriate crack), I have been delving into the subject of languages. I like that style; it dresses up the work and impresses the neighbors. This last consideration might well cause one to exclaim "Taedit quotidianarum harum formarum dicendi" (These old common words are plum aggravatin'), if one is given to such exclamations.

"Propterea" (for this reason) I am "abitura" (about to depart) from my native tongue into this better style, and so I say "Vale" (adieu) or (goodbye) to "la Ingles" (the English). I propose also to show that in certain circumstances, the common English word would be "gauche" (awkward).

Let us consider a simple remark which deals with the preparation of food, and we shall use it in several languages. In English, it would be said "I must poison the meat." That is clear enough, I think, in its meaning.

But come with me to heavenly Venice. A couple, married for 15 years, are having a second honeymoon. The night is languorous, the cushions silken soft, the water laps gently at the gondola's prow, and the husband munches a salami sandwich. English just isn't adequate here; it requires the Italian "E d'uopo ch'io avveleni la carne." Doesn't that phrase just fit the gondolier's wordless crooning? Can you not hear the indescribable tenderness of his fortissimo "avveleni," and envision the diminuendo "la carne" winging away to the crescent moon?

Now we are "at the play" in London's Garrick Square. Near the end of the second act, the eighth Earl of Corsett learns that the young man who seeks the hand of his niece, is coming to dine in a red necktie. He must make a decision, and he must proclaim it loudly enough to waken the stagehands, who generally doze off at about this time. For such an occasion, we must have the classical Latin of Imperial Rome. "Venenum carni inject." He roars it: "Venenum Carni Injectit."

To the sound of stirring music and the sight of colorful flags, the sun floods Barcelona's old arena. Today, Leon, El Impavido (the dauntless) shall play the bravest of the bulls, and its haunches shall be grilled and served to the noblest of the sons of Spain, and to the fairest of her daughters. "Doe" (two) picadores whisper in the passageway. "Voila (this is it) Miguel. O, that we should be picadores to Leon, who has killed our father, robbed our mother, trampled our onion patch, and despoiled our sister. What shall we do?" Miguel, busily dipping his darts into a jug labelled "Curare" (a deadly substance which is obtained by distilling the leaves of detective-story magazines) answers only "Voy a' envenenar la carne."

At a cafe along Paris' Rue Affreux (frightful street), two tourists drop heavily into seats. He wheezes; she slips her feet out of her shoes. He shouts "Hey, Garsong—two 'ordres' (orders) of ham and eggs, over light, and 'donnez-moi' (give me) something good 'pour' (for) 'dessert' (dessert). And spur the horses, 'all vous plait' (if you please), 'il est' (it is) one-twenty." The waiter hastens to the kitchen, where his mate asks "What's the rush, Jean?" Jean replies "Il faut que j'empoisonne la viande."

A Milwaukee butcher is tidying up his shop. A customer enters noisily. "Hi Gus. Wrap me up four slices of that liver—and say, I had an argument with a feller today about some German words (you know I was in Germany for almost a week in 1918). He started to pick up my hat, and I said 'Dies ist mein Hut' (that is my hat), and he said I should have said 'Dieser Hut ist meiner' (that hat is mine). Who's right about that? Hey, what're you taking my liver back there for, Gus?" "Ich mus das Fleisch vergiften."

Integrating C D into School Curriculum

By MYRTLE JOHNSON

"Florida should have a catastrophe, at least Dade County is ready, whether it be internal, such as a hurricane, or from without, meaning war."

This was the statement of Miss Jan Johnson, speaker for defense preparation at classes and instruction courses recently held in Miami, St. Petersburg, and other parts of Florida.

"Civil defense is a way of

life. It must be accepted just as we accept police and fire protection," added C. Russell Uphoff, another faculty member of the National Civil Defense Staff College, at Battle Creek, Mich.

Classes were held at the University of Miami and conducted by the two staff members sent here by the United States Government. Both were impressed by the fine work done in Dade County. Leaders from all over the state were there, as well as a representative from Puerto Rico. Representatives from Georgia and Tennessee came, and then went home to teach.

Classes were held from 8:30 a.m. to 5 o'clock daily, with night sessions given over to demonstrations. Courses covered the organization of civil defense, recruitment and training of volunteers, civil defense in schools, attack warnings, tactical operations, organization and operation in support areas, and evacuation and shelter.

This all started when an agreement was reached between the school board and the Dade County Civil Defense Council that they should organize and function as an emergency hospital in the school, in case of disaster. A paid hospital administrator, devoting full time and attention to the problem of converting a school into an emergency hospital, was needed. S. K. Bronstein was hired and he assumed duties in April, 1934.

Parent-Teacher groups, fire and police commissioners, as well as city and county officials, were contacted and they became the backbone of the organization which worked with Civil Defense Headquarters and the Red Cross, so as to be prepared not only for the emergency of sudden war, or enemy attack, but for local disaster as well.

House-to-house surveys were made to determine materials available. Army and Navy equipment was included, since this is always available in time of any kind of disaster.

Then a place within the framework of the Dade County School Plan had to be found where the unit could be organized and could work as a functioning emergency hospital. This would serve as a pilot operation for schools as emergency hospitals all over, in case of emergency.

The school chosen was North Hialeah Elementary School.

First equipment came from the Jackson Memorial Hospital. Dade County authorized the purchase of a 200 bed hospital from Federal Civil Defense, and the commissioners put into their budget money, on matching funds basis, for this purpose. This was intended for use of school emergency hospital groups in training. Plans are for the purchase by Dade County of one such packaged hospital annually, until requirements are made for all schools.

The emergency hospital comprises an examining room, emergency surgery, rooms for burn cases, shock, maternity and pediatric cases, surgery, x-ray and reception room. There is a large mess hall for mass feeding. Use of all personnel of the school is made. Choice of course is given, but it runs somewhat like this. Faculty members become laboratory technicians, ward attendants and office personnel. Two of them operate the morgue.

Professional personnel is made up of hospital administrators, Dade County Medical and Dental Societies, veterinary groups, and the nurses organization. These people teach the use of equipment, its care and handling. The whole unit of the school comprises 300 or more people. All have been trained in special jobs. There are no "V.I.P.s." They operate as a unit.

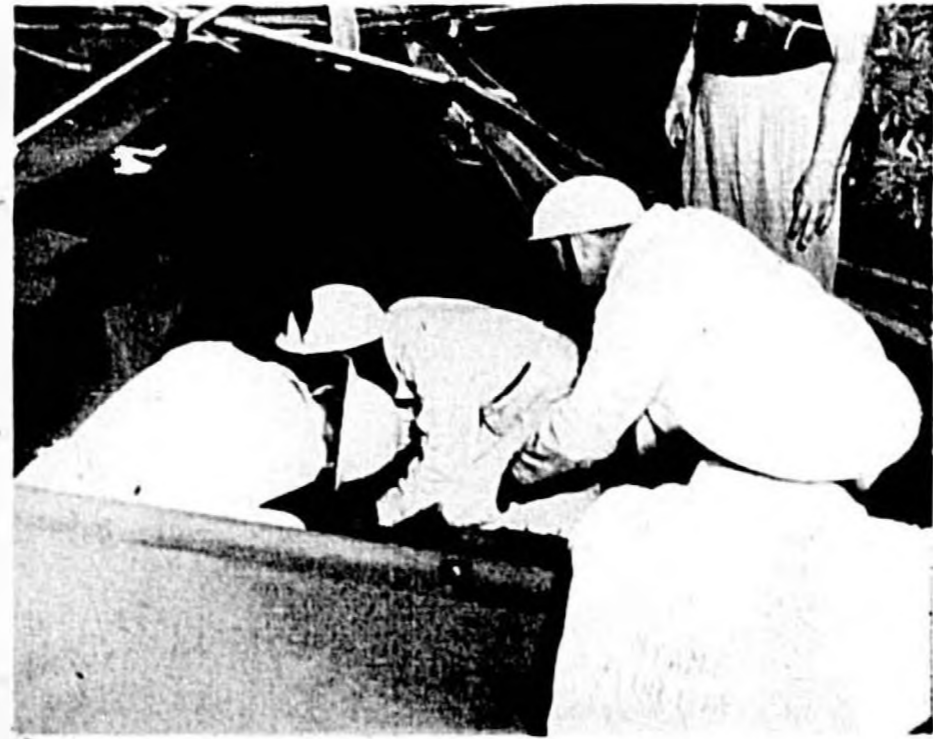

One of the first establishments was a nursery so that mothers taking training could leave their children in safe hands. Then came the home nursing course, with training sessions every other Thursday night. At the first meeting calling for volunteers, there came 1,500 people, with great enthusiasm. The home nursing course was a 14-hour course. The first aid course required 40 classroom hours and 40 hours of experience on hospital floor, before graduation. So great was the interest that after finishing one course, many participants enrolled in another, so as to be able to fill dual roles.

Boy Scouts were used as messengers. The Drum and Bugle Corps of the Legion acted as ambulance corps and litter bearers.

COLD BIRDS are the two Air Force bombers (top photo) which are undergoing temperatures of 85 below zero in the test hangar at Eglin Field where men and machines take a beating every day. A little elbow "grace" helps two airmen warm up and at the same time wipe the ice off a helicopter window before giving it an air test after subjecting the machine to Arctic temperatures.

WORLD'S BIGGEST WEATHER BOX
by Gene Gordon

The coldest spot in Florida (and the rest of the world, too) this summer will be the Air Force's huge, all-weather hangar at Eglin Field.

Here blizzards in which the temperature will plummet to 85 below zero will be simulated as part of routine tests on military equipment.

These are temperatures at which rubber hose and tires splinter like glass when struck with an axe, in which oil freezes so hard it can be chipped with an ice pick, and a B-17 actually shrinks two-tenths of a foot in flight!

The $7 million, 2,900,000 cubic foot all-weather chamber was developed by the Air Proving Grounds Command to duplicate artificially, virtually all types of atmospheric and environmental conditions our newest jets, bombers, men and equipment can expect to meet in service around the world. To meet Air Force specifications, all equipment and aircraft must perform satisfactorily under conditions ranging from Arctic temperatures of -85 degrees Fahrenheit to Sahara-like temperatures of 160 degrees Fahrenheit and up to altitudes of 80,000 feet.

Tests in the huge hangar, believed to be the world's largest all-weather chamber, have shown that equipment problems multiply as the temperature falls. Fuels do not vaporize sufficiently to start engines at low temperatures; bombers, like the B-17, are two-tenths of a foot shorter at -85 degrees Fahrenheit than they are at 75 degrees Fahrenheit; hydraulic systems, guns, air systems and radar installations all perform erratically at sub-zero temperatures. To aggravate the problem, maintenance time doubles and even trips at temperatures ranging around -65 degrees Fahrenheit.

To find out why such things occur, Air Force weather-makers whip up 100-mile-an-hour winds, combining the wind storm with combinations of sleet, snow, rain or sand to provide the most rugged tests possible. Engineers from Minneapolis-Honeywell's Industrial Division devised a complex electronic recording system that easily handles this problem. The system utilizes some 100 indicating and recording instruments to automatically log the results of the various tests, many of them conducted simultaneously.

Air Force engineers explain that it would cost more than $2 million to take a single, medium class bomber to Alaska for cold weather testing. In contrast, it costs only $478,775 to test this bomber in the all-weather hangar.

These cold facts should be a warming statistic to taxpayers.

THE ELECTRONIC "brain" (top photo) keeps a record of the tests at Eglin Field where an all-weather hangar puts our Air Force planes through tests that range from hot desert atmospheres to cold almost beyond imagination. That cloud of steam (bottom photo) is a jet exhaust coming out of the sub-freezing temperatures in the big all-weather hangar where a plane is taking its daily ice "bath."

STEAMBOATS IN THE HYACINTHES

JOHN WILSON SOMERVILLE
AND
ELLA TEAGUE DE BERRY

CHAPTER VII

ALTHOUGH the passengers were well taken care of on the De Bary boats, freight accommodations were being neglected. To remedy this situation, W. B. Watson, manager of the De Bary Merchants Line, ordered built the wooden stern-wheeler Everglade. Later on, this boat was converted to passenger service and the people on board complained that the vibration of the boat jiggled the sugar out of their coffee cups.

The life of the Everglade was comparatively short. It was dismantled in Jacksonville within three years of its launching.

Frederick De Bary had been fortunate in obtaining the contract for carrying the daily mail, and this caused him to buy the steamers Rosa and Florence, the latter having its name changed to Anita.

In 1883, H. T. Bays became a partner with De Bary and the firm was called the De Bary-Bays Merchants Line.

H. T. Bays was a man of many occupations. From the time he was a boy in St. Augustine until he was a partner in a brokerage firm, he devoted himself primarily to business.

When war broke out he gave up his civilian duties for military obligations, and was a captain in the Confederate Army. When the war was over, Bays started a grocery business in Jacksonville. This did not satisfy his adventuring spirit, so he decided to operate a steamboat. To this end he bought the propeller steamer, the Gazelle, which made excursions to Fort George Island and Green Cove Springs.

When the steamboat business showed promise of making plenty of money Bays added the Pastime and the Water Lily, which carried mail, freight and passengers to settlements on the St. Johns.

The Gazelle made runs from Jacksonville at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, returning the next morning.

at 9. Under Capt. Cyrus Hemingway this high pressure boat operated on the St. Johns River successfully, but Bays was not satisfied with anything less than complete control of the river business. He bought the Sylvan Glen to compete with the Post Line steamers, John Sylvester and Eliza Hancox. The Sylvan Glen, by being pushed to the limit of speed, could keep up with the Eliza Hancox, but she was not able to keep pace with the Sylvester.

The Sylvan Glen under Captain Lamos, and the Eliza Hancox under Captain Post, were frequently racing on the river. These determined rivals occasionally damaged their craft in the preoccupation of ruling the river. One day there was a race which proved disastrous. The Sylvan Glen was bow out, the Eliza Hancox, stern out. The boats reached Tocoi about the same time, but from that point on to Palatka the race was on. They arrived there about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, with the Eliza Hancox trailing close astern all the way. After a short stop-over in Palatka, the race was renewed. Both boats blew for Jacksonville at the same time.

In a race with the John Sylvester to Green Cove Springs, there was a collision between her and the Sylvester.

The collision at Green Cove cost Bays $7,000. The suit was handled for Bays by E. M. and W. J. L'Engle on Feb. 27, 1883. Fleming and Daniel represented Captain Post.

The Bays had cost his owner so much money that it was sold to the De Bary-Bays Merchants Line. After the winter of 1883, the boat was taken to New York by T.

Walker Lund. Her name was changed to Bayridge, and she operated in northern waters until she finally burned in the East River.

The steamer City of Sanford, built for the account of Wightman and Christopher and Tysen and Smith, was a passenger freight stern-wheeler 120 feet long and of 145 tons, which began operation under Capt. William H. Roberts. He made two trips each week to the town of Sanford on Lake Monroe.

One April day when the City of Sanford was 30 minutes out of Jacksonville, fire was discovered on board. When Captain Roberts ordered the boat run ashore just below Phillips Point, the passengers began jumping overboard. The engineer had left his post with the engine running, and the paddle wheel drew in fire under the wheel. Although many passengers were killed and others burned to death, the pilot on duty jumped overboard and was saved.

In spite of the hazards of traffic on the St. Johns River, boats continued to be put into service. In 1881, Captain Biglow brought down from Charleston the Isis, an iron stern-wheel passenger and freight boat, to operate between Jacksonville and up-river points as far as Lake Jessup, from which landing all freight for Orlando, 18 miles away, was hauled on ox carts.

The Hancox had several changes of name before she lost her identity completely somewhere along the Atlantic shores.

The John Sylvester and the Eliza Hancox were brought back again to Ralston, not far from Palatka. They continued to run the river until the Sylvester left, never to return.

Dr. Stickler points out that the birth-rate in the United States increased from 2,745,456 in 1946 to 3,909,000 in 1953.

He agrees that although babies don't have a great deal to say about where they are born, it is surprising how many of them, by sheer good fortune, are born in Florida, noting a 212 per cent increase in births in this state during the 20 year period, 1933-53.

Nationwide, he states, there are more candidates for college now than at any other time in history, by a considerable margin, backing his statement with figures on the rolls of the elementary schools in the nation, showing an increase every year since the 1945-46 term, when there were 19,937,000 enrolled, kindergarten through the eighth grade; that the number was increased by 8,000,000 this year; and that the increase stands to continue by at least 5,000,000 in another five years in the elementary schools, with a new total of 33,559,000 when the school bells ring in September, 1959.

While total enrollments in higher education in the nation have increased approximately 150 per cent in the past 20 years, the variations of increase have ranged from 35 per cent in North Dakota, to 561 per cent in Florida, with the state nearest to that figure being Delaware, with an increase of 392 per cent.

"It is obvious from the foregoing," he concludes, "that Florida's problem in higher education is the most difficult among all the states of the nation. Because of what Florida has to offer, the problem is accentuated here, and calls for our best effort and most courageous planning."

"It is up to the guardians of today's children to provide the best possible education, to meet the needs of an age which is much more complicated than that in which they, themselves, were born."

Dr. W. Hugh Stickler, director of Educational Research and Service at Florida State University, makes it his business to keep track of what's going on in Florida. He is aware of the fact that the proud fathers of yesterday are going to be unhappy tomorrow, unless additional school buildings are erected now, and adequately prepared teachers are found for their offspring.

GOING HIGHER IN HIGHER EDUCATION

By L. M. MARSHALL

WHILE proud papas are passing out cigars at the local civic clubs," says E. D. Whittlesey, director of Public Relations, Florida State University, "school statisticians are shaking their heads in dismay, with the feeling that these orange-fed, healthy, sunshine-bathed infants of Florida will grow into sturdy youngsters physically, but with little education."

With little or no education, that is, unless something is done without delay. For the youth who will attend colleges through 1970 have already been born.

One box of cigars from one proud papa is one important statistic in one Florida home, but multiplied by 85,000 as was the case in 1954, and by tens of thousands year after year, it is obvious that school enrollment is far exceeding the school building curve.

Dr. W. Hugh Stickler, director of Educational Research and Service at Florida State University, makes it his business to keep track of what's going on in Florida. good fortune, are born in Florida, noting a 212 per cent increase in births in this state during the 20 year period, 1933-53.

Nationwide, he states, there are more candidates for college now than at any other time in history, by a considerable margin, backing his statement with figures on the rolls of the elementary schools in the nation, showing an increase every year since the 1945-46 term, when there were 19,937,000 enrolled, kindergarten through the eighth grade; that the number was increased by 8,000,000 this year; and that the increase stands to continue by at least 5,000,000 in another five years in the elementary schools, with a new total of 33,559,000 when the school bells ring in September, 1959.

While total enrollments in higher education in the nation have increased approximately 150 per cent in the past 20 years, the variations of increase have ranged from 35 per cent in North Dakota, to 561 per cent in Florida, with the state nearest to that figure being Delaware, with an increase of 392 per cent.

A "Cynic" View of Florida

By CARL LUNDQUIST

THERE are old cynics on the sports beat who snort that today's athletes are all young punks.

Arrogantly, they dismiss today's brand of baseball as "bush." Modern football players are sissies. They scornfully refer to basketball as "round ball" and merely the mention of tennis lifts their noses in the air. There are no good boxers around any more. Golf isn't like it used to be when Bobby Jones ruled the links.

These wise guys live in a world of calculated boredom. Thrills are for silly lunatics who pay good money to sit in an unpadded pew at Ebbets field and whoop for Duke Snider to smash one halfway across Flatbush.

Ah, but these wise guys have a weakness. Something stirs them, too. And this is the time of year for it. Now that the robins have flown north and the ball players have flown south here is something that melts their stony emotions.

It is fabulous Florida, that blue-ceilinged peninsular paradise once described as 400 miles long, 200 miles wide and a foot high. And never was there a sports writer with soul so dead that he complained about going there to cover spring training.

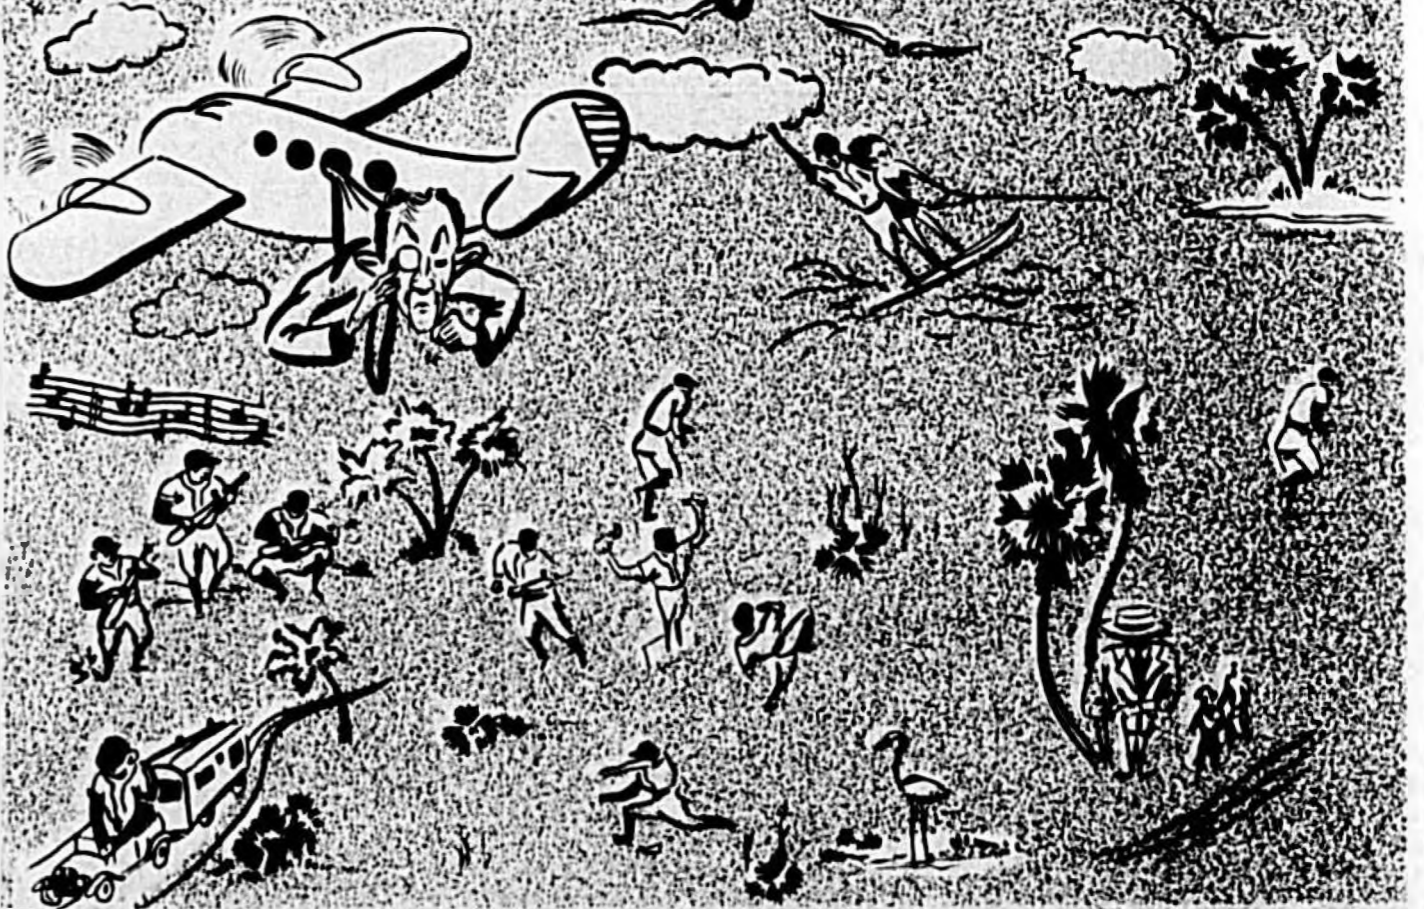

Florida, U.S.A., a warm and wondrous panorama of Americana. It is baseball and beaches, palm-lined causeways, and wind-burned old timers fishing off docks and bridges. It is little kids paddling in the gentle waves and filling their toy pails with sand.

It is that first electric crack of the bat and the hollering of the leathery old coach who implores the youngsters to keep hustling. It is a land of hopes and dreams for old timers trying for that one last good year and for kids shooting for their first big one.

It is the pennant contender and the rag-bag tail-ender on common ground with the common attitude that in the spring there are no pessimists and no team is in last place.

It is the memory of ball players hacking away like other Sunday duffers over a golf course in Tampa. Of little Phil Rizzuto, the mighty mouse of the Yankees, almost reaching each ear with a grin as he outdrives the mighty man, Stan Musial of the Cardinals, off the first tee with everybody watching.

Who can be a cynic remembering giant George Zaharias, the old weeping Greek from Cripple Creek, coming out of the club house with a tear in his eye—and this one for real? It was just a year ago and Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias had just called him from Miami, telling of winning her first golf tournament since her operation for cancer. That all-America sports sweetheart back at her old stand—beating the other lady golfers once more. And Zaharias, the old world champion wrestler, now 300 pounds plus, telling her on the phone—"Honey, don't drive that Caddy too fast coming home, the front springs are pretty weak on the side where I sit."

Who could forget ram-rod straight Connie Mack, Mr. Grand Old Man in person, in his blue serge suit, stiff collar and hard straw hat, signing autographs in the park of the Athletics at West Palm Beach? And those sea blue eyes a-twinkle, dreaming of that one more pennant that never came for Philadelphia? Now, even the Athletics are gone from there, but all who saw him will never forget "Mr. Mack."

Flamboyant Florida full of the fragrance of orange blossoms and the aroma of smoked mullet at a little roadside stand. Get cynical about that if you can.

And baseball camps? What kind do you like? There's a mighty wide variety.

Vero Beach? Don't dodge Dodger-town if you want to see the busiest, dizziest of them all. Up in a sprawling old navy barracks in Florida's Indian River citrus country goes on the work of fashioning another great team in the Dodger dynasty. It is a camp of contracts and incongruities. The humblest youth from the lowliest club in the Dodger farm system works and plays alongside Peewee Reese, Gil Hodges and the other stars of the Brooklyn varsity. They play kelly pool together in the main lobby of the weather-beaten old barracks, listen to juke box music, drink gallons of free orange juice, and go to bed with the chickens. They sleep in the barren barracks in double decker narrow iron beds left over from the navy days.

Almost at dawn the new day begins when an orderly parades through the halls and calls out "next morning—next morning." A thundering herd of rookies stampedes by for calisthenics and a long hard day on one of the various diamonds where Dodgers of the future go through their paces.

St. Petersburg? Brother dig that clay, Cardinal camp. Who's the stylish stout, wearing uniform No. 72, shagging flies in the outfield with a new finger glove? A coach? An over-age rookie? No man, that's Gusie Busch, the brewery boss who owns these Redbirds. On top of the club house at Al Lang field, a loud-speaker blares out mountain music and the fellows stand around the cage at home plate, strumming their hats like ukeleles. That's a Cardinal tradition. There's been music in this camp ever since the days of Pepper Martin, Ripper Collins and old fiddler Bill McGee and, of course, Dizzy and Daffy Dean. But that mused band with such choice melodies as "Willie, My Toes Are Cold" and "The Chill of the Hill," never made any noise to compare with that loud-speaker grinding out such 1955 favorites as "Muskrat Ramble" and "Scrub Me Mamma, With A Boogie Beat."

In the outfield, brigades of rookies go racing from right to left like they were running the Boston marathon—shuttle style. They whiz past batteries of pitching machines where more kids are bunting and peppering the ball around like mad. In the midst of it all stands Manager Eddie Stanky—like a drill sergeant. He waves guys into the batting cage and out to the infield. Nobody stands still—at least while Eddie is looking.

There's more St. Petersburg, too. Out by Crescent Lake is palm-bordered Miller Huggins field where the old timers stand around and say—"right over there, out past that tallest tree—that's where I saw Babe Ruth hit one." That's the home of the Yankees, of course, and on the padded bench of the dugout sits bandy-legged old Casey Stengel, spinning tall tales of yesteryear and talking his own brand of double talk which makes good sense if you multiply by two.

Bradenton? A lot of that Milwaukee madness has rubbed off on this once sleepy little trailer town which in the past had been noted as a kind of an old folks resort—a St. Petersburg on wheels. But the Braves have the old folks bustling. Caravans of new trailers roll in to town bearing Wisconsin licenses. There is a sort of carnival atmosphere around—back home in Milwaukee they'd call it pennant fever.

Down the Tamiami trail to Sarasota and the winter home of the Red Sox and the circus. If you miss the circus, the Red Sox cutups are just as entertaining. There's a great informality as the fans, many from Boston, lean on the fences surrounding the field and chat with their heroes. In the past the big chore was to get Thumpin' Theodore Williams, the great man, to leave the batting cage. He bet nickel cokes with everybody in camp that he'd hit five line drives in a row or get one out of 10 out of the park.

The Pirates switched forts in an effort to desert last place and are now in Fort Myers at the gateway to the Everglades, instead of Fort Pierce where they held the fort last spring. Youth is the keynote and not only are the kids young and beardless, they are big and strong. It is a typical Branch Rickey operation with hundreds of youngsters running, hitting, throwing. The inescapable feeling is that some day this club will click and then everybody better watch out.

Tampa—that's baseball headquarters on the west coast and the writers, the old cynics, come back here each night to swap tall tales in the congenial lounge at the Tampa Terrace Hotel. Out on the way to MacDill field where the screaming jet bombers leave their long vapor trails overhead, the White Sox are giving out with their "go, go, go" brand of ball, the emphasis at all times on speed. Down near town, just a holler from the picturesque Tampa University campus with its steepled buildings, is Plant Field, the home of the Cincinnati Redlegs for nearly a quarter of a century. With muscle men Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell, Jim Greenberg and Ray Jablonski swinging for the fences the tempo here is "slug, slug, slug."

On past the White Sox park and over the Courtney Campbell Causeway to Clearwater, the Florida wanderer reaches the home of the red-capped Phillies. There's a picture postcard park with a diamond of bright red clay and an emerald green backing in the outfield. Boss Bob Carpenter, the big nylon millionaire, sits with his old timer coaches and scouts, Benny Bengough, Cy Perkins, Chuck Ward and Johnny Nee. Occasionally, he gets restless and picks up a glove, summons a rookie and begins a game of catch. There are heaps of free sandwiches for the writers and guests but the players pay for their own. And after a few years of frolicking, as they rode on the glory of that pennant they won in 1950, the camp is strictly business now with no horse play and no wasted time. Everybody works for a living.

Inland from Tampa, at lovely Lakeland, the Tigers are based at a camp that old timers size up as ideal because there is little wind and the temperatures generally seem higher than on the coast. The emphasis here, too, is on youth and old timer Buck Harris, the new manager, could present one of the youngest teams in the Majors.

The tour goes on to Orlando where the memory is of a seemingly endless card game that has been in progress among Washington scribes and broadcasters for half a dozen springs. Foxy old Clark Griffith is around to recall the days when the Senators were a glory team; when Buck Harris was a boy manager and outwitted even the mighty John McGraw of the Giants. Jolly Cholly Dressen is the new dugout genius and there is hope among the oldsters that the Senators may be livelier this season. They'll be more colorful—for sure—with Dressen to do the master-minding.

Daytona Beach, a new camp, finds Paul Richards hoping to pick a winning combination with his Baltimore Orioles. There is new spirit among the old dead heads who used to louse it up for the St. Louis Browns. In fact, not many of the old Brownies still are around. With Richards, a proven master mind who gets much out of little, there is a feeling this club could surprise a lot of people.

Hope, but not much else, is the watchword at West Palm Beach where a bad ball club with a new home goes through its paces. Manager Lou Boudreau realizes the Kansas City Athletics aren't going anywhere unless some drastic line-up changes are made but he is convinced they can do better than they did last year in Philadelphia.

That's Florida, U.S.A., 1950, and for old cynics and wide eyed newcomers alike—it is a little bit of paradise.

EVERYBODY'S ORCHESTRA

Age Span of Talent
In Haven Orchestra
Covers Half Century
By JACK BRAKE

MARGARET MORGAN, guest flutist, rehearses under direction of Robert C. Branson, conductor of Pops Orchestra

Music knows no station in life, no locality, no age. Proof is the personnel of the newly organized 40-piece Winter Haven Pops Orchestra, styled after the famed Boston Pops. Scientists, housewives, pilots, bookkeepers, teachers, students, grove owners and many others now living in Polk County, but formerly from Kentucky, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan, South Dakota, Minnesota, Tennessee and other states, make up this aggregation, the sole purpose of which is the spreading of enjoyment of orchestra music.

This spontaneous gathering of persons, with the same feeling for music, covers an age spread from 16 to 70 years. They come from Lakeland, Winter Haven, Lake Wales, Bartow, Auburndale, Lake Alfred and Haines City twice or three times a week for rehearsal.

That the orchestra has been accepted, and its future assured, was demonstrated at the opening concert at Nora Mayo Hall when an enthusiastic audience of 2,000 crowded the auditorium for the presentation of Handel's immortal oratorio, "The Messiah," by a chorus of 140 voices and a 21-piece orchestra. Robert C. Branson was conductor.

To take care of the several hundreds unable to get into the hall, a repeat performance was given the following night.

Three concerts were originally scheduled for this season, extending through April, by the non-profit organization designed to bring another facet of the cultural arts to Winter Haven.

From the talent available over Polk County, guest soloists will be selected for each concert. Margaret Morgan, 16, a flutist, was chosen for the first presentation.

Officers of the new organization are Culver Spencer, president; Charles H. Raynor, vice president; William B. Holland, secretary; and John W. Sites, treasurer. Directors are John L. Brake, Robert C. Branson, June G. Beasley, Carroll Smith, Jr., John Halabrin and Raymond Daniels.

YOUNGSTERS HAVE the same enthusiasm as older and more experienced musicians in the orchestra, the mutual aim being to spread enjoyment of orchestra music.

FLORIDA FACTS

Precious Metals—Titanium and Uranium

Gold has been Florida's gift to her people. Not in the glistening yellow metal, but in the money returns from the fruits of their labors. Beans, avocados, limes and others known as "green gold" and the orange, Florida gold, are but a few.

That precious gold ore has not been found excepting in a few particles in the sands of the Gold Branch River. Just a few grains, as though Nature used them as lures to keep men here hunting the fabulous, and learning Florida's real offerings.

Florida became known as a non-metallic state, phosphate alone placing her in No. 1 place, supplying today around 70 per cent of the world's needs.

Scientists, however, did not overlook what could be termed as almost a camouflaged source of valuable minerals, the black sands washed down from the Piedmont range by the coastal waters to our shores. They brought ilmenite, rutile, zirconium and monazite.

These brought $85,000, considered big money around 1940, but today they bring in money in the million dollar brackets. Titanium is processed from ilmenite. In addition to its many other uses, it is a needed element in the atomic industry.

There is another discovery, that of uranium, almost priceless, to be had from the sludge of the phosphate processing.

Floyd E. Snow, mining engineer and mineral economist, has spent years exploring Florida for such items and he reports further that uranium is to be found in the limestone along our canals and at Naples.

With these and other discoveries, Florida is all set for industry along the lines of atomic needs.

Do You Know?

That guava trees, related to allspice, nutmeg, clove, surinam cherry and rose-apple, grow both wild and cultivated in Florida; that the fruit is a valuable source of juice for jellies, containing an excellent anti-acid balance?

Florida weather will be another factor. Around Southern California they no longer mention the weather which has become "unspeakable," and the guarantee of year-round ideal "shooting" conditions for exterior scenes has prompted several producers to begin an investigation of the Florida scene.

Hugh, whose father founded British Authors Productions, which was later taken over by J. Arthur Rank, foremost British producer, has been long associated with radio, television and motion pictures. He is the founder of Empire with capital stock of $350,000.

Empire's production will be centered at the old Weedon Island studios, just north of St. Petersburg's fashionable Snell Isle section. A ten-year lease has been taken with option to buy the 600 acres, abounding in natural beauty, wilderness and water-ways.

It was on Weedon Island in 1933, that Aubrey Kennedy, prominent Hollywood producer of that day, built the present studios and brought to St. Petersburg such famous old-time movie stars as Buster Keaton, Olive Borden, Josephine Dunn, Molly O'Day and the famous producer-director, Marshall Neilan.

A huge sound stage was erected, together with other facilities and Kennedy City produced several feature length films including "Plaything of Desire," and "Chloe."

Then, for many years Kennedy City was just a ghost studio, but today, carpenters, painters and technicians are busy installing modern equipment. The main studio, film vaults and projection booths are intact and acoustical engineers are at work.

Not the least excited about the prospect are members of the St. Petersburg "Charm School." Hugh has announced that Empire will be searching for new talent and the girls have visions, too, of becoming "starlets."

FLORIDA FACTS

By HELEN THERKILDSON

To the uninitiated, a statement about the amount of water given off by trees may sound like a stiff story. But those who have studied these elemental facts will vouch for them.

Florida's forests and lesser plantings of trees give us plenty of rain and the dew makes it possible to have luxurious growth and cool temperatures. Remember how much more pleasant it is to walk in the shade of the trees?

Let's take a familiar tree, the oak, for example—a large, full grown specimen with about three-quarters of a million leaves. Such a tree gives off about 120 tons of water a season.

A big tree does a big job of pumping, or carrying 500 bucketfuls of water up a 10 foot flight of stairs every 10 hours, in its growing season. This, its cooling system, keeps it from drying up. Other plants work in like manner, giving off 200 to 500 pounds of water for every pound of dry substance manufactured.

Remember, with trees in your yard, your house is cooler by several degrees, and you have beauty about you, too.

Every student, upon completion of course, is given a diploma, appropriately signed, and every one is received with a feeling not only of accomplishment, but of security in that he is part of his community endeavor. The unit requires some 300 people to function properly.

Occasionally, what is called a "dry-run" is held for practice purposes. At the one held for defense officials, a real fire was started and 100 patients were evacuated and cared for, without the least confusion. Moving pictures were taken to show up any errors in training.

When asked what she thought of the "dry-run" at Miami, Miss Johnson said, "After seeing that fire, I hope I am in such a community should it be necessary to face disaster. Everyone is shown as prepared and knowing what to do."

Out Of Order Ruled Against Russians By ECAFE Head

TOKYO (AP)—Russia was ruled out of order today in its demand that Red China, North Korea and North Vietnam be seated in the United Nations Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE).

Dr. P. S. Lokansathan of India, ECAFE executive secretary and temporary chairman for the 11-day session which opened today, ruled out the Soviet maneuver.

M. A. Menchikov, the Soviet delegate, asserted the Chinese Nationalists and South Koreans were "illegally occupying" seats belonging to Communist China and North Korea. He demanded the delegations be ousted.

He did not demand the expulsion of South Viet Nam, but said that delegation could not speak "for the whole of Viet Nam."

French Senate Given Pledge

PARIS (AP)—Bolstered by final French parliamentary approval of German rearmament, Premier Edgar Faure turned his efforts today to getting Allied agreement for Big Four talks soon with Russia.

As he prodded the apprehensive French Senate towards its crucial, pre-dawn votes on the Paris accords yesterday, Faure gave assurance he already had contacted the United States and Britain on preparation for a high-level parley with the Kremlin.

He went further by making an East-West conference — covering all problems "susceptible to a solution" — the final item in a five-point statement of government aims. He stressed the need for full cohesion among the Western Allies before entering into talks with Russia.

Chances of four-power talks were believed greatly improved by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's sudden support as the French Senate prepared to vote. In an interview with the Soviet news agency Tass, Bulganin expressed his "positive attitude" toward President Eisenhower's news conference remarks last week advocating an East-West meeting after the accords have been fully ratified.

Dulles hailed the French Senate's approval of the West German rearmament treaties as "an event of great significance for the free world."

Mrs. E. P. Jewett, Sanford Pioneer, Dies At Rest Home

Mrs. Elizabeth Parker Jewett, 80, widow of Sheridan Jewett who came to Sanford as a celery grower in 1908 and was for many years connected with the American Fruit Growers, died Saturday morning at the J. C. Jorgensen Rest Home, 618 Park Ave., where she has been receiving care for the past four months.

She spent her early days in Whitinsville, Mass., where she was a member of the Congregational Church. The Jewett pew was well known in the local church where Mrs. Jewett had been a member since 1906. She was active in the various departments and was a loyal member in the Eastern Star.

Until 1927 the Jewett home was on the West Side. In later years she lived at 122 W. 18th St. She is survived by three nieces, Mrs. Charles Webster of Sanford; and Mrs. Joseph Gaudin and Mrs. Harry Daubney of Whitinsville.

Services were conducted yesterday at the Sanford Funeral Home by Dr. J. Bernard Root and Dr. Fred Ensminger of the Congregational Church and an impressive service by the Eastern Star followed. Burial will be at a later date.

Many Eggs Needed For Gigantic Hunt On Easter Sunday

One hundred and 25 dozen eggs are needed for the gigantic Egg Hunt to be held April 10, Easter Sunday, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dave Thrasher, chairman of the event, said donations of eggs will be gladly accepted. He asked persons wishing to contribute to telephone Mrs. Raymond Lundquist at 1372.

Either raw or hard-boiled eggs will be accepted, Mrs. Lundquist pointed out.

The hunt will be staged in Ft. Mellon Park and will get under way at 3 p. m. Seminole County children between the ages of 1 and 10 may participate. Children from Lutheran Haven and the Methodist Children's Home will be guests of the Jaycees.

"So that all children will have an equal chance to win prizes," Lundquist said, "special eggs will be hidden for the children to find instead of awarding prizes to children finding the most eggs."

Two-Car Accident Damage Is Slight

Damage totaling $95 was reported in a two-car accident Saturday on Sanford Ave., just north of the Fifth St. intersection.

Both drivers were charged with careless and reckless driving. Involved were a 1951 Prefect sedan driven by Margot Ellison Reynolds, 31, of 2426 Willow Ave., and a 1939 Ford sedan driven by Emmitt Pope, 1607 W. 13th St.

City Patrolman Joe Hickson, investigation officer, said Reynolds, who was driving south, applied his brakes suddenly, without giving a signal, to avoid hitting a truck pulling out from the curb.

Pope's vehicle was following Reynolds' car too closely, the officer said, and it ran into the rear of the Ford sedan.

Pine Crest Home Inspected By Many

Two thousand persons inspected the model home at Pine Crest Heights at the open house held Saturday and Sunday. It was announced by Bradley Odham, president of Odham & Tudor, Inc.

The home will be open each day and evening this week until 9 p. m. Mr. Odham said sales response was "exceptionally good," although adverse weather conditions undoubtedly kept many persons from attending.

The Pine Crest subdivision is located between 26th and 27th Sts. on French, Laurel and Elm Aves., and immediately north of the new Pine Crest elementary school.

Thirty-two three-bedroom homes priced from $11,500 to $11,850 are being built there by Odham and Tudor, Inc.

The club was one of the sponsors of a conservative Republican rally in Chicago Feb. 12. Among the speakers were Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Sen. Malone of Nevada, Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah and Mit Clardy, former congressman from Michigan — all Republicans.

Secrecy Violation Denied By Soviets

HIGH SCHOOL DAYS—Fred Ganas (foreground), vice president of the 1939 Seminole High School senior class, poses with other class officers on the steps of the school. The photo appeared in the school yearbook. Others in the group are (standing) Jack Holt, president, and Lucy Roumillat (now Mrs. L. C. McLeod), secretary; and (seated) Arthur Williams, chaplain, and Martha Teiford (now Mrs. Billy Vihlen), treasurer. (Cox Photo)

Ganas Associated With Friendly Smile

"He has a smile, can hand a line, plays football well, so all his life."

That was the way Fred Ganas was described in the 1938 issue of Salmagundi, the Seminole High School yearbook.

Ganas, pictured as the "most attractive senior," graduated that year as vice president of his class. He had distinguished himself in athletics and was football captain during his senior year.

Classmates fondly nicknamed him "Baldie" and the yearbook forecast for him a glowing career as a world traveler.

Fred Ganas never became a globe-trotter. He became, to Seminole County youngsters, something far more important. He was a leader who worked almost unflinchingly in the interest of youth activities.

Now, Fred Ganas lies in a hospital bed, a victim of a rare skin malady which requires multiple skin graftings. He has been at Orange Memorial hospital in Orlando since early January and was moved yesterday to Fernald Laughlin Memorial Hospital.

Seminole County residents, in an effort to express their appreciation for his work as a high school teacher and coach, have scheduled Ganas Appreciation Night for Thursday.

Topping off the program at Memorial Stadium will be a game between the Richmond Virginians and the Minneapolis Millers. Tickets are being sold for $1 to adults and 50 cents to school children.

All ticket and concession proceeds will go to the Fred Ganas hospital fund. Members of the Elks lodge will man the concession stands, and high school students will sell drinks in the stands.

Ed Higgins of the Elks Club is general chairman of the Appreciation Night. Other participating organizations include the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the organizations or at Jim Spencer's, Angel's Eat Shack, The Smoke House, McReynolds' Drug Store, H. D. Owen's Service Station, Roumillat & Anderson Drug Store, Touchton Drug Co., B. L. Perkins Men's Store, and Robson Sporting Goods.

Persons selling tickets who need additional tickets or persons desiring to sell tickets should contact Bud Moughton.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may mail donations to the Elks Club or The Sanford Herald.

Broadcast Quotes Pravda

Gromyko Asserts Rules Unnecessary

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union has denied that she violated secrecy rules in publishing her version of Russian proposals at the London disarmament talks. A Moscow radio broadcast said the Soviets never had agreed to keep the talks secret.

Quoting the Soviet Communist party organ Pravda, the broadcast yesterday said Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the outset of the talks had asserted that secrecy rules were unnecessary and "it was not expedient to introduce them."

Pravda said Gromyko's interview last week with the London correspondent of Tass news agency, in that secrecy rules were unnecessary and "it was not expedient to introduce them."

Pravda said Gromyko's interview last week with the London correspondent of Tass news agency, in which he charged the Western Powers with blocking a disarmament agreement, was a deliberate maneuver "to tell the truth to the international public."

In blasting Gromyko for secrecy violation, Britain, France and the United States had said that the U.N. General Assembly last October agreed the talks would be held in strictest secrecy. The three Western allies also said the Soviet delegate's report of the proceedings "did not conform to the truth."

Canada is the fifth nation participating in the disarmament conference, which began a month ago. Gromyko left London Thursday for an official visit to Sweden before returning to Moscow. Jarob Malik, Soviet ambassador to London, took his place in the negotiations, which continue with a meeting tomorrow.

Waiting Game Being Developed In Prison Outbreak

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A poorly conceived prison rebellion at Nebraska's state penitentiary developed into a tense waiting game today.

Hours after seizing two guards as hostages, 12 insurgent convicts remained sequestered and quiet inside the prison's small, three-story maximum security building, or prison "jail."

The rebels obviously were going nowhere. Dozens of well-armed guards and state safety patrolmen had the building's lone exit thoroughly covered.

Neither side was making a move. The convicts had promised to speak out, in writing, their demands.

Superintendent R. T. Milwee Guest Speaker On Jaycee Forum

Raburn T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction was the guest speaker of the Seminole County Jaycees' weekly radio program, the Jaycee Forum, over WTRF Friday night.

In his speech, Milwee brought out several subjects among which were: (1) The $5,700,000 spent by the state for free text books should continue to be used for free books. If books are to be free, enough money should be appropriated to do the job.

(2) Seminole County received $250,000 from the capital outlay fund from the state for new construction. $343,000 has been obligated for the completion of the Pine Crest School; $103,000 came from federal funds due to the fact that Seminole County has the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, and $190,000 is for construction at Goldsboro school. Additional construction is planned for Lyman, Crook's, Ed Higgins of the Elks Club is general chairman of the Appreciation Night. Other participating organizations include the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the organizations or at Jim Spencer's, Angel's Eat Shack, The Smoke House, McReynolds' Drug Store, H. D. Owen's Service Station, Roumillat & Anderson Drug Store, Touchton Drug Co., B. L. Perkins Men's Store, and Robson Sporting Goods.

Persons selling tickets who need additional tickets or persons desiring to sell tickets should contact Bud Moughton.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may mail donations to the Elks Club or The Sanford Herald.

County Residents Have 3 Days Left For Cop Contest

Only three more days remain for Seminole County residents to vote in the American Automobile Association contest to determine the seven most courteous law enforcement officers in Florida.

While competition is spirited, Kenneth C. Kinkle, manager of the AAA's north Florida division, said it is not too late for officers from smaller towns to win one of the seven prizes—travel-paid, weekend vacations at popular resorts.

He pointed out that there are only six nominees from towns of less than 2,500 population, only three from towns of 2,500 to 5,000, and only five from towns of 5,000 to 10,000.

They are among the 20 towns and cities in Florida having uniformed officers as leading contenders in the contest, which ends at midnight, Thursday, March 31. Prizes include trips to Cuba, Nassau, Tampa, Miami Beach and Palm Beach for two inners and their wives.

Ballots may be obtained at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce office here.

Although an exact count of votes is not available, AAA officials said Patrolman Arnold Williams of Sanford was among the leading contenders in a sampling of ballots a few days ago.

Baseball Stadium To Be Discussed

The use of Memorial Stadium for baseball this year will be discussed by J. C. Davis at the regular meeting of the City Commission tonight.

At the same time, Davis will ask the Commission to waive the tax on the Fred Ganas Appreciation Baseball Game to be held Thursday night at the stadium.

Davis is a member of the board of directors of Sanford Enterprises, Inc., which will operate the Sanford baseball club this year. He is also chairman of the Chamber of Commerce baseball committee.

In other business, the Commission will consider contracts with the Florida Power and Light Co. to furnish power to the city's lift stations. A request by the Red Cross for a $300 contribution will also be taken up.

The Rev. Chester Plank of the Geneva Hillcrest Church will lead the prayer.

The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Georgia Man Hurt In Highway Mishap

A passenger in one of the automobiles received a possible broken neck in a two-car collision last night on U. S. Highway 17-92, six miles south of Sanford.

The passenger, identified as John Moore, 39, of Alma, Ga., was reported in "good" condition today at Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando.

Moore reportedly received a broken back about a year ago in an accident.

Moore was riding in a car driven by his brother, Willie Moore, 21, also of Alma.

Highway Patrolman T. Mark Mack said the Moore vehicle was hit from behind by a car driven by Gordon C. Brown, 29, of Chicago, Ill., who is visiting with his family in DeLeon Springs.

Damage to Moore's car was estimated at $300 and to Brown's at about $500.

Social Security Service Offered

A representative of the Orlando Social Security District Office will be at the Seminole County Court House in Sanford on Friday, April 1, and Friday, April 15, between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and noon.
