SCRAPS of PAPER

Remember these days! We lived each one of them last year.
But now they are scraps of paper. They don't matter any longer. The days ahead are the ones that count!
That has always been the keynote of our Christian religion. One of the greatest of the early Christians expressed it for all time when he wrote:
Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark—for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (St. Paul in Philippians 3:13, 14)
Let the churches of our community help us to make this a truly happy New Year...
That is no seasonal greeting—it is the call to Christian worship and service for this coming year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reds Hit For Planning War Talking Peace

Chinese Accused Of Trying To Squirm Out Of Accounting For 50,000 Victims

By DON RUTH
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—In final Korean truce talks of 1951, the United Nations today accused the Reds of planning war while negotiating a truce and of trying to squirm out of an agreement to tell what happened to more than 50,000 unaccounted for prisoners of war.

Subcommittee would up the year still deadlocked on the issues of policing an armistice and exchanging prisoners of war. Both groups scheduled meetings in Panmunjom for 11 a. m. Tuesday—New Year's Day (9 p. m. Monday, EST.)

"By your assumed attitude of victor and your insistence on developing a military air capability (airfields) you have served clear notice to the world that what you have in mind is not peace but war," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, U. N. negotiator. "You have cast an ominous shadow over these negotiations."

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists refused to provide data on prisoners the U. N. says were not listed on the official Red roster until the Allies supply further information on prisoners in (Continued on Page 8)

Flemming Says Crisis To Last For 20 Years

Manpower Chief Demands Steps To Provide More Engineers, Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States' defense mobilization program, or something like it, will last for possibly 20 years, Manpower Chief Arthur S. Flemming said today.

If people understood this, he said, more would approve draft deferments for college students and more high school graduates, girls included, would study engineering, which sorely needs trained personnel.

"I have gone on the assumption that we were going to be involved in some kind of defense mobilization program for the next 15 or 20 years," Flemming said in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," a weekly news magazine.

"It seems to me that if we do not approach it on that particular basis, we get into all kinds of difficulties as far as our reasoning is concerned."

Much adverse reaction to college deferment, Flemming said, arose from those who "figured the emergency was going to be with us for two or three years, and that once they believed the armed forces would have no room for draftees upon graduation.

A shortage of engineers is expected to increase and become one of the most serious problems we are up against," Flemming said, adding:

"We haven't got a chance in the world of taking care of the shortage of engineers unless we get women headed in the direction of engineering schools."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A troubled world greets 1952 to night with hopes and prayers that it truly will be a "Happy New Year" for everyone of its 350 days—and not just Tuesday.

Throughout the world there will be merry celebrations in "ring in the new, ring out the old." But for many, the observance will be one of prayer at traditional church watch night ceremonies.

Infant 1952 will inherit the cold and hot war scars of old 1951, and its leap-year calendar will have a few edited events of its own, particularly the United States' presidential election.

New Yorkers will welcome the New Year tonight at theaters, cabarets, and Times Square, where tens of thousands mass annually to cheer at the stroke of midnight. Others will usher in 1952 at the city's churches.

Prices of many nightclubs have been boosted for tonight's celebration with a $27.50 per person charge at the Hotel Pierre's Colillion Room topping the New York list.

In Philadelphia, the New Year will be celebrated with the glittering annual spectacle Tuesday of 15,000 gaily costumed Minutemen on parade.

The sports spotlight will turn on the annual bowl football games between the nation's top college teams.

At Cuxhaven, Germany, hundreds of Germans are planning a New Year's Eve invasion of the still-forbidden island of Heligoland to light fires of triumph celebrating the British decision to stop using Heligoland as a bombing target.

But at the same time, North German coastal residents will light fires of protest near the Knecht and Sandbank, which the British plan to use as a Royal Air Force target in place of Heligoland.

Other celebrations will be held throughout the world. The British will jam London's Piccadilly Circus. The French will flock to their all-night parties, the traditional "revellions."

Behind the Iron Curtain, subdued for Christmas, revels for the New Year were expected. But the merriment will be tempered by the hopes for peace. (Continued on Page 8)

Shriners, Kiwanis Tie In Salvation Army Dime Boards

Shriners and Kiwanis were joined for the first time in a collection for the Salvation Army at the dime boards, Capt. Eva Williams announced today. Each organization collected $308, with the Kiwanis having a slight edge by a few pennies.

The Rotary Club also did very well, she said, in the collections, bringing in $120. Capt. Williams thanked these organizations and other local groups which contribute so much to the success of the campaign.

Those included the Business and Professional Women's Club, Linn Club, Daughters of Wesley of the First Methodist Church, Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Legion and Legion Auxiliary and Pilot Club.

Orders for 3600 worth of groceries for needy families were made possible by the campaign. The 70 gifts included toys to children. In addition, the Home Economic Club, Seminole High School contributed boxes of groceries and gifts for two families. (Continued on Page 8)

Attorney General Ratigan Welcomes Lowell Ozier Into Local Rotary Club For Subversives

Lowell Ozier, building contractor, was welcomed into the Rotary Club today as its newest member by President Jack Ratigan at a dinner held at the last meeting of the year.

Mr. Ratigan also announced that the Rt. Rev. Martin Baum, bishop of South Florida, for many years of Holy Cross Church, and a former president of the Sanford Rotary Club, will be the principal speaker at the program next Monday.

The club devoted the program of its last meeting of the year to honoring a number of long-time members of the club, including Charles Morrison and John Smith, both of whom were introduced by Mr. Baum.

Members introduced by Mr. Baum included Glenn H. Hester, Edward J. Hester, John Hester, E. F. Bridges, Marshall of City of Miami, and J. B. Graves of Sanford.

Reactivation Of Naval Station Is 1951 Major Event

New Construction Up, Bank Deposits By Nearly $2,000,000

Reactivation of the Naval Station in Sanford, Fla., during 1951 was the major event in the county's economic life, according to a report issued today by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The report, which is the annual report of the chamber, shows that the station's reactivation has resulted in a net increase in the county's population of 1,000 persons.

The chamber also reported that the station's reactivation has resulted in a net increase in the county's income of $2,000,000.

The chamber also reported that the station's reactivation has resulted in a net increase in the county's tax revenue of $1,000,000.

House Is Destroyed When Lamp Explodes

In the first big blaze since the Little Paris building opened a month ago, a four room frame house was burned to the ground and two adjoining buildings threatened when a kerosene lamp exploded at the home of Estelle Thomas 1012 Holly Avenue Friday night.

Firemen arrived just in time to prevent extensive damage to neighboring buildings but were unable to save the house owned by Henry Caldwell when the blaze started. Chief Mack Cleveland said the department was unable to save anything of value from the house.

MAYFAIR NOT SOLD
The Mayfair Inn has not been sold, Charles G. Marian, manager, announced today, despite a report previously published in the New York Daily News. "It is absolutely untrue," he said. "The Mayfair is not for sale at any price to anybody."

Two Men Arrested Selling Magazines

Two magazine salesmen were arrested Friday night following complaints of residents as to their actions and aggressive behavior, and one of the men had a fit while in jail, said Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

It was found that the men did not have the necessary City permits for selling, he added. Such permits are obtained from the city manager after he in turn has received a health certificate concerning the applicant from the City physician, following examination.

Violators are liable to a fine of up to $200, 90 days in jail or both, said Chief Williams.

U. S. May Be Building Last Of The Bombers To Be Flown By Man

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be starting to build the last of the man-flown bombers.

When these big planes reach the obsolete age, a new generation of transonic guided missiles and pilotless aircraft are expected to be ready to take over the long range aerial bombardment jobs.

But, airmen familiar with planning for the future, told a reporter today that doesn't mean the current new heavy-weight bombers will be out of date soon.

For one thing, a lot of huge have yet to be worked out of guided missiles—like how to steer them over the horizon and make them blow up the right target.

The Air Force says two heavy jet bomber type projects—the Boeing B-52, the first model of which is completed and undergoing tests, and the Consolidated Vultee B-36, the swept-wing, all-jet successor to the combination model B-29, a prototype model of which is approaching completion. There are several arguments ad-

Negro Awaits Trial On Breaching Charge

James Spence, 41, was held in Sanford on charges of breaching and entering on the Pine Dunes early last Saturday morning.

Spence was caught and arrested by patrolmen Pillsbury, Jack Hudson, S. B. Spence and R. W. French when they discovered the Negro in the dining area he had forced the lock in open.

The Pine Dunes is located at the west end of the Sanford state Farmers Market. On the floor of the dining room, Police Chief Roy Williams reported, police found a lock, a screw driver, an open end wrench and a 12 inch bolt. Just inside of the door was a pair of foot-long, on a table was a flash light. In Spence's pocket was found a pair of pliers and a toy top pistol.

Time Comes To Claim Tax Exemptions

Home dead, disabled and widows exemptions along with personal property and automobile exemptions must be filed for 1952 between Jan. 1 and April 15, and for F. Douglas, county clerk, tax return on announced Saturday.

Mr. Douglas noted that under a new state law all new citizens of the state can become official residents of Florida after one year's established residence and they will be officially recognized as residents of the county after six consecutive months of residence.

These living restrictions, run concurrently so that the six months living in the county will be counted toward the 12 months necessary for citizenship in the state, he concluded.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

We can do nothing in secret. Do nothing, say nothing that you would not want to have read publicly before all humanity. The ways of men are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his goings.—Pr. 3:21.

If we seek a certain destination we must take the road that leads there. Many have been lost on by-roads that are unmarked.
Ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein.— Je. 6:16.

Happy New Year.

About this time of year all that is left of the turkey hash is a bone of contention.

Government employees increased 7,700 during the month of November, the Civil Service Commission reports. That makes a grand total of 2,515,900 working for the federal government in civilian agencies at the beginning of this month. It takes a lot of people to tell us what to do, how to do it, and when to do it.

Even the best laid plans of mice and men sometimes go astray. Prime Minister Churchill was supposed to leave London on Sunday for Washington where he had an appointment with President Truman on Jan. 5. But the anchor on the Queen Mary got jammed and the great liner was delayed 24 hours in her departure. Remember that the next time your paper is late, our anchor may be jammed.

Secretary Acheson sees 1952 as a critical year for the United States. He seems to believe that the issue of peace or war will be settled in the next twelve months, perhaps in the next six months.
"There are grounds for confidence," he says, "but no grounds for complacency. We cannot afford to let down at all in vigilance, purpose and effort". The greatest danger to this country, as we see it, is, there being no war, we will become weary of preparedness, go back to sleep, get caught again as we were at Pearl Harbor, or when the Korean War started.

Former President Herbert Hoover says there is more dishonesty in government today than ever before in American history.
That is covering a lot of territory and a lot of dishonesty. There have been some exceedingly corrupt periods in American life even before Truman, even before Teapot Dome. The difference is merely in degree. Never before in American history have the opportunities for graft been so great. Never before has there been so much tax money lying around to be stolen. But if our officials are more corrupt than ever before, perhaps it is we the people who are to blame for tempting them to become corrupt.

Despite recent racial atrocities and agitation stemming from them leading to nearly racial friction out of proportion to its real cause, the Tuskegee Institute reports only one lynching in the entire country during 1951. This compares with two the previous year, three in 1949, two in 1948, and one in 1947, making nine for the whole five year period, as compared with scores in any one of a generation or to ago.
We are certainly making progress in reducing this type of crime by any means.

At this time people are drawn closer together and have a greater appreciation of the needs of their fellow men. An ophthalmologist we know that throughout the year there will be a chance to help each of you.
Our staff is prepared to do so and we welcome the opportu-

any way we can to make this a happy and a happy New Year for you.

Changing Of The Year

The changing of the guard is one of the best known of the many colorful ceremonies of the military services. Tourists make a special effort to see the changing of the palace guard in London, because it is so famous as a spectacle. To a large degree it is an example of ceremony for its own sake, since the essential task of relieving one group of men and placing another on duty could be accomplished much more simply.

Yet the pomp is useful. It helps to impress upon the participants the deep importance of their duty, to give the old guard a sense of accomplishment and the new one a sense of responsibility, and to create an appreciation of the continuity of the guard. The old tour of duty ends; at the same moment the new one begins.

The celebration of New Year's Eve has become pretty much a party for the sake of having a party. If everyone went about his affairs as usual the calendar would still get changed. But the noise and singing, the greetings and ceremonies and resolutions are useful. They help us to remember that the turning of the calendar's page is a measuring point in the cycle of life, at which we can look back on the past and take satisfaction from its accomplishments and pleasures, and look forward to appraise the jobs and joys ahead. Celebration adds a sense of importance to the passing of time, an appreciation of its continuity.

The old year ends; even as its last sound ticks away the new year begins. The year behind may have been good or may have been bad, according to the individual point of view.
But the one to come can be the best ever. Happy New Year!

A Superhistory

If each one of the best historians wrote on the history of the country in which he specializes, the combined result might theoretically make the best universal history ever written. Such a history is the goal of a project sponsored by Unesco, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. A 3,000,000-word set in six volumes is planned, to appear in 1957.

The large work will also be condensed to a college textbook, and to a single-volume abridgment for the average man. Prof. Paulo B. Carneiro, Brazil's delegate to Unesco, heads the project. The editorial work will be directed by Prof. Ralph E. Turner of Yale University. The plan will call on a thousand scholars, Asiatic, European and North and South American. Starting in 1952, a journal of world history will be drafted as a proving ground for the larger undertaking.

This is not the first work of its kind. There have been so-called historians' histories of the world, containing passages from ancient writers and modern. These are necessarily uneven in quality, often containing statements which have since been disproved. Cambridge University in England is responsible for excellent co-operative histories, in many volumes, of ancient, medieval and modern times, and special histories of India and Poland. The final volume on Poland appeared not long ago. On a narrower scale, Yale University's "Chronicles of America" are a well-executed set on American history, in more than fifty volumes. These may now need correction as research discovers new facts. So will Unesco's great work need alterations from time to time.

One purpose is to do away with the misstatements of superpatriots in different countries. A single work free from national prejudice would be an authority of greater prestige than any local writer, and make it easier to determine the truth. But the knowledge of truth is traditionally elusive.

Living Light

Children have always sought out fireflies in the summer with the idea that the tiny creatures, placed in glass jars, would provide light for portable lanterns. Now scientists tell us that the day may come when they will be able to produce a similar living light and put it to common use.

The scientists who have studied light-producing plants and animals have concluded that the glow is the result of a chemical reaction produced by the nourishment the bright things take in. We wonder if the scientists are suggesting that someday a pill sold at a drugstore will permit a person to walk about at night without artificial light.

The idea would have countless advantages. The human dynamo with living light might then be able to read in bed at night without disturbing other persons in the room. The husband coming home late to find that his wife had unexpectedly rearranged the living room furniture might be able to make his way to bed with a lot less noise and embarrassment.

Some provision should be made, however, to keep the idea from being commercialized. It is not impossible that some promoter would produce a hat designed to shade the human lamp as well as to cover the head. From there it might be but another step to an attempt to convince the individual that he should dress so as to look like a lamp base.

Some may not be altogether sure that this development promises a bright future.

Guided Missiles

B-52's for different kinds of missiles.

The standard jets are growing progressively more powerful and faster. Of equal importance, designers are gradually cutting down the fuel - thirst of the engines, getting more mileage out of them.
In 1946, jet engines were producing about 4,000 pounds of thrust.

Recently, in a report to stockholders, Frederick B. Rentacher, chairman of United Aircraft Corporation, claimed that the Pratt & Whitney J-57 engine going into the B-52 had a thrust "comparable with or superior to any engine in production or ready for production." He had mentioned among other engines the British Sapphire with a 7,200 - pound thrust rating.

Despite the optimism about longevity of the big bombers, no one, including the industry, disregards the ascendancy of the guided missile. Indeed, most of the big aircraft companies, Boeing among them, are working intensively in their own missile research laboratories.

One industry official, Robert E.
Gross, president of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, says we have a fine start on the problem of guided missiles but hastens to point out the question of guiding the missiles is still a thorny one. He told a group of bank officials recently that:

"It's not hard to build just a missile of any range, long or short; it's not too hard to build short-ranged guided missiles. But up to now it's been awfully hard, if not impossible, to build a long - range guided missile. The long range guidance system, not the missile—that's the key. And that's the prize —what the race all over the world is for — and we must and we can win it.

In plain language, we must have a guidance system that can go beyond the horizon. How do you bend a beam (an electronic beam along which the missile rides) around the curve of the earth's surface?"

Year Of 1951 Brought Many Rigid Restrictions To Automobile Industry

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor DETROIT—(AP)—A big, unanswered question 1951 will leave for the auto industry is just how hard controls affected its operations.
The year brought rigid restrictions on materials consumption with consequent limitations on unit output; it brought stiffer price controls and higher retail prices.

Yet when final figures are tabulated it will be shown 1951 was the second best production year that new car inventories were below normal at the year end and that new models were as eagerly awaited as at any other time in the industry's history.

In round figures the indicated output total for 1951 was 6,600, 000 cars and trucks. There are many industry analysts who say that total would not have been exceeded had there been no controls. The same sources say the 4,000,000 passenger cars the industry is expected to build in 1952 will be enough for normal demand.

That view, of course, is debatable. Some leading sales executives say there is a demand now for at least 5,000,000 new cars a year. Restrictions limiting output to 4,000,000 they say, can result only in the building up of another backlog of demand that may not be filled for many years to come.

The year-end finds the auto industry with some $5 1/2 billion of defense orders on its books, but only a small volume of deliveries being made. The orders call for tanks, aircraft engines and other items for which new plants and new tooling installations were required.

Best estimates now are that these weapons will begin to flow in substantial volume about the third quarter of 1952 and that the peak will be reached early in 1953. By that time the industry, now worried about laying off workers because of restrictions on civilian output, expects to encounter a manpower shortage.

The impact of the defense program is reflected not only in production limitations but in new model design. With few exceptions most of the 1952 model cars, already introduced or about to be have been given only "face-lifting" changes. Notable exceptions will be the Ford line of cars, which will have new bodies and new power plants.

Many other car makers, however, have had to defer significant changes planned in their power plants. Some new V-8 engines, originally planned for 1952 model cars, probably will not appear until the 1953 models are brought out.

Innovations, however, include power brakes and power steering, first introduced by Chrysler in its 1951 line of top Chrysler models. These advances, in the making long before the Korean outbreak, are scheduled for other 1952 cars.

Achievements from these engineering improvements and the introduction of more heat and glare resisting glass in some models, few major changes were presented during the year.

nalism at Columbia University late Joseph Pulitzer.

Star Miami Back Is Out Of Action For Bowl Contest

STAR MIAMI BACK: The University of Miami Hurricanes will be forced to go into their New Year Day Gator Bowl battle without the services of their star halfback, Frank Smith. An injury suffered by Smith in the Pitt-burg game has kept the star halfback from more than limited and passing drills since the team opened preparations for the Clemson game. It is a head injury and Coach Andy Gustafson is not taking any chances of having him permanently injured.

During the past couple of weeks both Paul Constantine and Johnny Bow have been running at Smith's left hand post. However, the former injured his shoulder recently and was unable to take part in a full scale offensive scrimmage staged by Miami Friday. Trainer Mike said, however, that there is a good chance that Paul will be available for full duty against Clemson. Bow, however, may be given the starting call as a backfield which will have Harry Mott at full back, Bow at the other half post and Jack Hackett at quarterback.

The starting Miami offensive line will have Frank McDonald and Ed Lutes at end, with Bill Fisher and Nick Chalko at tackles, Ray Arangelotti and Don Marullo at guards and Jack Payne at center. The Hurricane football team left Miami Sunday morning, Dec. 30, for Jacksonville. Enroute to the Gate City the Hurricane stopped off at St. Augustine. Sunday afternoon for a workout and then proceeded to Ponte Vedra by boat. Miami is scheduled to workout at 2 P.M. Monday at Jacksonville Beach. The team's final workout before the game on Friday is being held at 10 A.M. at Jacksonville. The Gator Bowl clash against the Clemson Tigers, who last year defeated Miami, 15 to 11 in the Orange Bowl which a Clemson player named Smith kicked for Miami.

Threat Of Bombing Tallulah Proves Dud

NEW YORK (AP)—Tallulah Bankhead went on the air Sunday night without incident after someone threatened to bomb the actress' theater if she appeared.

The threat caused police to search and watch the theater for 24 hours.

Miss Bankhead, star of the National Broadcasting Company's weekly "Big Show," was involved in a just-concluded court case in which her former maid-secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Cronin, was convicted of raising the actress' checks.

Korean War

U. N. claims were listed as prisoners by the Reds in official radio broadcasts were South Korea.

The Communists insisted Monday that they already had turned over all basic data on war prisoners and only "misinformation" was left. Liberty declared it was not "misinformation" but "a grave matter."

The Allied negotiator said North Korea considered it a definite commitment.

An official U. N. spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Neuhoff, said it appeared to him that the Reds were "just going through the motions. They had nothing new to say. They appeared to be merely waiting for instructions from higher up."

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Communist troops climbed stubbornly to an allied hill position on the western front today in the face of a U. N. counterattack now in its fourth day.

The battle for the snow-covered position west of Koriangpo was hand-to-hand all times, in temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero.

U. N. forces were driven off the hill Friday by a battalion of Chinese Reds supported by 10 tanks or self-propelled heavy guns.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said allied troops backed by four tanks and low-flying planes failed to knock the dug-in Reds off the hill in a weekend attack.

U. N. forces moved out again Monday, the Eighth Army commander said, but a new snow storm curtailed aerial operations.

The battle raged 30 miles north-east of the truce talk village of Panmunjom.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United Nations and the Communists again today exchanged prisoners of war letters.

The Communists brought to this military armistice 100 letters from Allied POWs in North Korea and white propaganda leaflets. They were destined for several countries.

The U. N. turned over 26 letters addressed to Allied POWs in North Korea camps, including three letters for Maj. Gen. William F. Dean.

Concentration Camp

Division is at work on a series of island prison camps, for use in event of emergency. He says he is not authorized to say more at this time.

It is known, however, that McGrath is proceeding under the last and most drastic section of the 1950 Internal Security Act, popularly known as the McCarran Act.

That section charges the attorney general with the responsibility for rounding up and holding all persons likely to commit sabotage or espionage should there be (1) an invasion of the United States or its possessions; (2) a declaration of war by Congress; or (3) an insurrection within this country in aid of a foreign enemy.

The law provides that should any of these things occur, the President may proclaim an "internal security emergency", and thus set in motion a roundup of "each person as in whom there is reasonable ground to believe that such person probably will engage in, or probably will conspire with others to engage in, acts of espionage or of sabotage."

The McCarran Act suggests that membership in the U. S. Communist Party anytime during the last three years be considered as one item in arriving at the "reasonable ground" for detention.

Blues In The News

The Sanford Bowling Alleys was the scene of a highly contested battle for first place Friday night. The "Mixed League" began last September and several men from the station are represented on the teams.

Trans Navy No. 1 and Navy No. 2 fought it out Friday night. Navy No. 3 was in first place going into the fray with Navy No. 1 only 2 games behind. It looked as though Navy No. 1 might take over as they took the first two games but Navy No. 3 made a comeback in the third game and when the evening was over Navy No. 3 was still leader in the league by a lonely 1 game.

The leading team of the league includes Gene Arnold, Bob Gaston, L. Watts, Dave Tappell, and Dorothy Von Herbold while Clem Mann, P. Phillips, Bill Foster, Skeht Swickowski and Margaret Von Herbold are all members of the second place Navy No. 1 team.

L. C. L. Sullivan returned here from his leave in Texas today and the Station Basketball Team will go into their regular practice routine again after lay-off for the holidays.

In pre-holiday play the Sanford five have won one from Orlando Junior College and lost one to Tampa University. On Jan. 11 they will travel to Jacksonville to meet the NAR team there and Jan. 14 they will play Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa.

A home game is scheduled for Jan. 25 at the Seminole High School gymnasium with Jacksonville Flyers providing the opposition. There are tentative plans for a home game the first week of January but a definite date has not been set as yet.

Tomorrow will be a new day of a new year and many men here say they'll be starting off the year with a clean slate.

When asked, "What New Year's resolutions are you making?" These are some of the answers I received:

Fred Wood: "I resolve to keep night life at a minimum and to make sure 1952 is a much drier year than 1951."

Frank Hutchison: "I have resolved that sometime during the year of 1952 I will get back to the west coast."

Ken Jones: "I'm not making any resolutions, but that way I'll have none to break."

Wayne Bakken: "Since this is leap year I resolve not to get married unless proposed to."

So as we all say farewell to the year 1951 let's all look forward to the new year with a prayer in our hearts for a lasting peace in this confused world of ours. Have fun tonight, drive carefully, but above all here's wishing you all a very happy "HAPPY NEW YEAR."

Missing Planes

Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Clain of Morgantown, W. Va., enroute to Coral Gables where they have a winter home. They were accompanied by their 14-month-old grandson, Jeffrey Evans, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Evans, had driven to Miami earlier.

Also aboard were Margaret Meyers and Seaman Thomas Patterson of Key West, and H. Wilson of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Miami.

The plane departed Miami at 3:30 p.m. Saturday for Pittsburgh and was to continue to Buffalo before returning to Miami Sunday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Search planes rained through murky skies in the East and West today hunting three aircraft which vanished in flight over the weekend with a total of 63 persons aboard.

The bizarre sequence of aerial disappearances sent scores of military planes, from this country and Canada, into the hunt.

1. A scheduled airliner carrying 40 persons which disappeared on a 190-mile Pittsburgh to Buffalo flight. It took off Saturday night for the normally one-hour hop with a three-hour gasoline supply.

2. A C-47 military transport, last heard from Sunday afternoon near Phoenix, Ariz. It was carrying 28 persons, including 19 West Point cadets, on a flight from Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., to Goodfellow Air Base, Texas.

3. An Air Force F-51 Mustang fighter, believed the only person aboard on a flight from Spokane, Wash., to Travis Air Base, Calif.

Rail weather hampered search efforts.

But despite thickening skies, 45 Navy, Coast Guard, Air Force, Civil Air Patrol and Royal Canadian Air Force planes joined in the hunt for the airliner.

The search concentrated over the mountains of Western Pennsylvania and the Great Lakes, where Coast Guard cutters scanned the water from below.

In Arizona, rain, clouds and high winds kept all but heavy search planes grounded. Those trained over the rugged mountain area north-west of Phoenix.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Nineteen cadets from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point were among the 28 persons on a military transport plane missing 18 hours after taking off for landing instructions.

Bad weather throughout Arizona today hampered the search for the big C-47 plane and an F-51 fighter plane which also has been missing since Sunday afternoon.

Only heavy aircraft have taken off for the early search with the fighter craft being held back pending better flying conditions. Rain, clouds and high winds were reported in the search area. It was

Mrs. Moore, 76, To Be Buried On Thursday

Harry T. Moore, Mrs. Moore's husband, will probably be buried at Mims Thursday afternoon. Dr. George Starks announced today. Conflicting earlier reports from news sources caused Dr. Starks to investigate in order to ascertain the correct burial date.

Meantime Moore's wife is improving at the Fernald-Laughton hospital, according to Dr. Starks. He stated she is suffering from a fractured skull but her internal injuries are nearly all cleared up.

Though Dr. Starks will not permit the Moore widow to attend her husband's funeral, he has consented to permit her to go tomorrow to the Burton funeral home, where Mrs. Moore is to arrange their final burial.

More than 500 new customers were added during 1951 by the Florida Power and Light Co. in the Seminole County area, including Osteen in Volusia county, H. H.
