Here come the Bush Brothers

The Bush Brothers are the deal. George W. has been reelected as governor of Texas and Jeb is the new governor of Florida. It's been awhile since brothers served simultaneously. The Rockefeller Brothers were the last - Nelson in New York and Winthrop in Arkansas.

Former president Bush must be very proud of his sons. He chose to be with Jeb on Tuesday night, perhaps because winning is old hat with George W. This was Jeb's first big victory after a disappointment four years ago.

The local Republicans are delighted that Jeb Bush is taking over in Tallahassee. He nearly doubled Buddy MacKay's vote total in Seminole County, a Republican stronghold. He's a staunch conservative, a converted Catholic and is against abortion.

Bush's pro life stance excites Andrea Krazetse, the executive director of the Sanford Crisis Pregnancy Center. "Maybe we will see less abortions," Krazetse said. "And I would expect that women will become better informed and realize they do have choices."

It disappointed Krazetse that Gov. Lawton Chiles offered little help to the pro life movement. "He nixed the effort to have 'Choose Life' tags," she said. "It is okay to Save the Manatee or Save the Panther but not to Save Our Children."

Krazetse said that the legislation she would like to see passed is a parental consent rule for teen-age pregnancies. "None is required now. It should be."

Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris said he believes Bush will be a strong ally for the county. Morris expects he will support most of the county's major projects - particularly roads and light rail. "We wish Jeb Bush could have made it four years ago," Morris said. "We're overjoyed he's in now."

Jeb Bush seems to be a warmer, friendlier fellow than his brother. He certainly made a lot of friends as he campaigned in 1998. Provided he serves the people well, he figures to romp again in 2002.

George W. Bush has an eye on the White House, of course. It would be interesting if Jeb were his running mate.

When the Kennedy's were in Washington the Republicans used to complain. "We're living in the Grimm World of the Brothers Wonderful."

Wonder what kind of world it would be with the Bush Brothers.

Mitch spares county

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - A deadly hurricane named Mitch that claimed more than 10,000 lives in Central America is being called "a rain event," in its stop in Florida.

"What happened in Central America was horrendous," said Seminole County Fire Chief and Meteorologist Terry Schenk. "Most of Mitch is gone now - We've had steady but light rain. And that's going to be all."

"We're going to have a great afternoon and the weekend is going to be ideal," Schenk said. "It'll be cool, in the low 70's. Maybe our best weather of the year."

The forecast is good news for the Golden Age Games participants in Sanford. The track and field events are scheduled for Saturday. It is good news, also, for the high school football games to be played Friday night.

Mitch was downgraded from a hurricane to a tropical storm before it reached Florida. It created strong winds in the southern part of the state and threatened to spawn isolated tornadoes. The 20 to 25 mph winds some expected in Central Florida did not happen.

The Florida Keys Co-Op reported today that 12,000 residents - 40 percent of its customer base - were without power this morning. Several tornadoes touched down in the night. There was an early morning tornado in Miramar in Broward County. The Naples area had heavy rains this morning.

State emergency managers operated three shelters in the Florida Keys housing 200 evacuees.

At its peak, Mitch was a Category 5 storm, the most powerful Caribbean storm in 10 years. More than 7,000 died as the storm hit the Honduras and more than a million were driven from their homes. There are 2,400 dead in Nicaragua.

Those in Honduras were left without food, medicine and supplies as almost all the country's roads were wiped out. As many as 11,000 people are missing. The U.S. Peace Corps was telling its 200-plus members to leave Honduras. Whatever aircraft available is being used to search for survivors.

Along with emergency supplies, the U.S. has sent more than two dozen aircraft and 500 military personnel to assist with air surveillance and rescue missions.

On Thursday the National Hurricane Center issued a tropical storm warning along a line from Tarpon Springs to New Smyrna Beach and south. A combination of Mitch and a front moving through this area caused the rain but little else.

Death suspicious, police say

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Sanford Police Department is investigating the death of a man found on the floor of a factory this morning with a blunt-force trauma to the head.

Employees of Federal Parts, at 3795 S. Sanford Ave. in Sanford, found the deceased white male lying on the floor, and called the police at 7:46 a.m., police said.

Commander Ray Bronson of the Sanford Police Department, said the death is being investigated under suspicious circumstances.

"It appears employees found the body lying on the floor of the factory," Bronson said. "We're processing the scene, trying to clear everyone out of the area."

Bronson said an investigator from the State Attorney's Office was on the scene. The Florida Department of Law Enforcement has also been called.

Bronson said the police are trying to locate the owner of the company, Howard Lay.

Toddler drowns in backyard pool

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

CASSELBERRY - A 17-month old boy drowned in his family's backyard swimming pool Wednesday in Casselberry, while under the care of his grandmother, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

At 11:37 a.m., 38-year old Tina Sadler called 911 to report her grandson, J.C.N. Santucci, had drowned in her backyard pool at 1728 Cinnamon Circle.

Fire department dispatchers instructed Sadler to get the phone on performing CPR until paramedics arrived. The toddler was taken to Florida Hospital, but pronounced dead within an hour, deputies said.

Sadler told deputies she was taking a five-minute shower. When she called for her grandson, there was no answer. She found the boy had exited the house through an open sliding glass door, past an unlatched screen door. He then fell into the pool, deputies said.

Sadler watched her grandson everyday in her home, while her daughter and son-in-law were at work, deputies said.

The state attorney's office is examining the case to determine if any charges will be filed. At this time, it appears to be a tragic accident, deputies said.

Local store breaks food stamp laws

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

SANFORD - A Sanford store has received the maximum penalty for food stamp program violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

Boden's Seafood, 2330 Celery Ave., Sanford, owned by Robert Boden, was permanently disqualified from participating in the food stamp program based on evidence showing that store personnel exchanged cash for food stamps.

"Trafficking is the most severe violation of the food stamp program that a store owner or his employees can commit," said Ann F. Wages of FNS's Tallahassee office. "It is not only a violation of program rules, but it hurts the food stamp recipient's family and children who depend upon the program for good nutrition and taxpayers who fund the program."

Wages said that food stamps can be used legally only to buy food or seeds and plants to be used in gardens to grow food. Items that cannot be bought with food stamps include alcoholic beverages and tobacco, automotive products, paper products or pet foods.

"Although many non-food items are necessities, purchasing these items with food stamps or trafficking in food stamps circumvents the intent of the program," Wages said. "The program is designed to help low income families buy the food they need for a healthy diet. Any other type of transaction with food stamps is prohibited."

Before a store owner can participate in the food stamp program, he or she must certify that the store sells food for home preparation and consumption.

Another condition for authorization is that store owners must sign an agreement that they will abide by food stamp program rules. Violations of the rules can result in stores being disqualified for periods of time ranging from six months to permanently. The penalty for trafficking in food stamps is permanent disqualification from the program.

Latin banquet held

The annual Latin Club Banquet held in honor of brave Caesar (John Angel) took place on May 7 at the Episcopal Parish House.

Toastmaster Edward Marshall introduced Caesar who made a speech to his mighty warriors. Guest speakers were Mr. G.S. McKay, principal, Mr. T.W. Lawton, county superintendent, and Boyd Coleman. Mrs. Nellis Coleman, Latin Club sponsor, expressed thanks to all who had made the banquet a success.

The first year students, dressed as slaves, had to remain on their toes in order to satisfy the whims of their masters, the second-year students.

A short program of musical numbers was presented during the evening. All of Caesar's good people enjoyed a delicious meal of baked chicken with all the trimmings.

L.M. Telford did his best for three years towards helping chalk up victories. He became 21 before the season ended, but was able to help the better part of the year. He would be missed in athletics and as the school's Casanova.

P.H. "Huck" Staland, a member of the National Guard, played two years of varsity football.

Billy Ward, old faithful, fought endlessly for two years in football and also kept the team in good spirits with his keen wit.

Bob "Beano" Wilkinson was the best passer on the team. His pep and enthusiasm was a great inspiration to the team.

Milton Smith only played one year, but his promising ability made us wish we had had him longer.

May Day Ball

On May 30, the junior class honored the senior class with the annual May Day Ball which was held in the City Hall ballroom.

The ballroom was beautifully decorated with large trellises on which baskets of green ferns were placed. Adding color and gaiety were brightly colored crepe paper streamers hung from the ceiling. The white thrones were surrounded by a colorful profusion of gladioli.

Early in the evening, Mack Cleveland, president of the sophomore class, revealed that Mary Higgins was Queen of the May and L.M. Telford was the King.

The senior girls attending the queen were Madalyn Truluck and Esther Strange. Other girls from the different classes were Mary Martha Emerick, Patty Hodge, Lois Caldwell and Shirley Eick.

The senior boys attending the king were Charlie Levitt and Bobby Newman. The other boys were Giles Chapman, David Gatchel, Leo Butler and Billy Fleming.

Following the coronation of the king and queen, a floor show was presented in their honor. Eloise Winn gave several impersonations including "How a Small Town Girl Became a Big Nightclub Singer." Marion Haynes sang several selections including "Ma, She's Making Eyes at Me."

Immediately following the floor show, the king and queen led the Grand March.

During the evening, punch was served and corsages and candy were sold. The music was furnished by the Crazy Cats of New Smyrna Beach.

Following the singing of the school song, the devotional was given by class chaplain, Rose Harkey. The group then sang "God Bless America."

Athletic and music awards and letters were presented by Coach McClucas, Miss Taback and Mrs. McCracken.

Senior class president, Kent Rossetter, gave the welcome after which the seniors sang "Hall and Farewell." Kent then presented the Key to Happiness to Rebecca Lee, vice president of the junior class, after which the seniors solemnly gave up their seats and went onto the stage and the juniors jubilantly marched to the front.

The remarks on peace in the farewell address by Edith Lundquist were very appropriate to the occasion.

Guests attending were members of the SHS Class of 1915 who were having their 25th year reunion; they would also attend the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Deputies arrest burglary suspects

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Three burglary suspects are being held in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in Sanford after being arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies this week. The three face multiple charges from both Seminole and Orange Counties.

Deputies arrested the suspects at 8 a.m. Friday on State Road 436 and Line Drive, near Hunt Club Boulevard in Altamonte Springs, in response to a description of the vehicle they were driving by the Altamonte Springs police.

"We had a good description of the vehicle," Lieutenant K.E. Starr of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office said, describing the arrest. Starr was present for the arrest. "When we spotted the car they pulled over. They didn't flee or resist in any way. We did find a large folding pocket knife in the pocket in the pocket of one of the suspects."

Michael D. Sanders, a 42-year old white male, was carrying the knife in one of his pockets. Seminole County is charging Sanders with one count of armed burglary to a dwelling and one count of accessory to armed burglary to a dwelling. He also faces an outstanding charge from Orange County, said central booking at the correctional facility.

Billy Caldwell, a 35-year old white male, was arrested in the car with Sanders. Seminole County is charging Caldwell with one count of armed burglary to a dwelling, one count of accessory to an armed dwelling, and one count of possession of drug paraphernalia. He faces an outstanding charge from Orange County.

Suzanne Phillips, a 26-year old white female, was the third suspect arrested. Seminole County is charging Phillips with two counts of armed burglary to a dwelling, one count of aiding and abetting of a crime, and one count of violation of probation, according to the central booking. She faces two outstanding charges from Orange County, said central booking.

A white male allegedly entered the fenced in yard of 1030 Oletha Court in the Bear Lake area of Altamonte Springs. Once inside the yard the suspect allegedly opened the unlocked bathroom door. He then entered the residence, when the homeowners confronted him, Starr said.

The suspect allegedly shut the door and fled through the yard. One homeowner said she saw the suspect walk toward a dark green station wagon, with two other people also in the vehicle. She said she saw him get in the vehicle and drive away, Starr said.

The male homeowner got into his vehicle and searched for the suspects. He located the green vehicle on Bear Lake road near Curtis Drive. He then followed the vehicle to the Winn Dixie store on 436 and County Road 434, and got the tag number before leaving the area, Starr said.

At approximately 7 a.m. the same day, a white male entered the residence of 3530 Shirley Drive in Bear Lake. That suspect has been identified by the homeowner as Sanders. The homeowner confronted Sanders in the kitchen area. Sanders allegedly stated that he was a neighbor who lived around the corner. He then fled from the house, Starr said.

The homeowner observed the suspect get into a green car with two people in it, Starr said.

At approximately 8 a.m. that day, the Altamonte Springs police put out a local lookout for a green station wagon that had just been involved in an attempted theft of a case of beer. A tag number of NJR 78R was given along with the description. The vehicle had last been seen on S.R. 436 heading to Apopka, Starr said.

Secret of success is love

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The answer is finding pleasure, and creating love.

George Simkanich of Sanford has been taking part in the Golden Age Games for 17 years, winning gold medals in canoeing and remaining robust at age 71. The secret to his success in the games may not be far from what he considers the secret to happiness.

"You want to know the secret to happiness," Simkanich said. "It's love. I've been married for nearly 48 years. We moved to Jacksonville with one suitcase, and her Vanity. We love one another and respect each other. We do things together, such as go to Disney. It's a give and take."

The same strength that gives Simkanich a 48-year marriage and three children with his wife, Rosemary, also pays off in canoeing. Simkanich said he did not know how to canoe when he first took up the sport 17 years ago, but over time he has practiced and learned how to improve.

"I practice at a nearby lake," Simkanich said. "I flipped over several times when I first started. But, I'm still learning better techniques. I stay healthy, and I keep busy. I bicycle, walk and I stopped smoking. And I have a good wife."

Simkanich used to take part in a multitude of other events at the Games, including the mile run, the six-mile walk, the two mile race, shot put, bowling, discus, and football throw. This year, he decided to trim his participation to the

Pancake race still a crowd pleaser

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Fifteen athletes competed in the 24th annual Pancake Race, sponsored by the Pilot Club, Wednesday morning at Fort Mellon Park in the Golden Age Games in Sanford. The athletes ranged in age from 60 to 92.

In a pancake race, athletes run 150 feet with a pancake in a frying pan, flipping it six times at marked off lines.

Francis Huge, 88, and her daughter Joan Surace, 65, both won medals for their age groups. Huge lives in Casselberry, and Surace lives in Longwood.

"We've done this together for the last two years," Surace said. "It's fun to be with her (Huge). She takes walks every day, and antiques."

Willie Jones, 69, of Sanford said he has been competing in the race for ten years.

"I look forward to being able to share time with friends," Jones said. "Last year I won the gold medal, and this year I'll just try to run as fast as I can. This is perfect weather today, nice and cool."

Terr Haar, 66, who is a triathlete, comes to the race to have fun.

"This is just for fun," Haar said. "Tomorrow, I'm competing in five swimming events and weight lifting. I won a triathlon three weeks ago."

Lisa Jones, the organizer of the event said the race is a chance for people to talk, get together and have fun.

"Everyone has a fun time," Jones said. "People love this event every year, catching up on old times. The Pilot Club is wonderful, they work hard at volunteering time."

Television students air videotapes

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

SANFORD - Students at Seminole High School are on a roll.

Through the school's television production department classes and under the guidance of teacher Gay Bess, students are producing videotapes which are being aired on public television.

After an assignment that involved making a tape that would serve the community, students learned that Arnold Palmer Hospital for Women and Children wanted to produce a series of videotapes for training paramedics. After a pre-production meeting with the Pediatric Trauma Coordinator, Sandra Pangonis, and the director of the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit, Dr. Mark Swanson, the students were assigned jobs as camera operators, editors, floor directors, producers, directors, graphics designers, and grips and plans were made to shoot the demonstrations that were needed for training paramedics at the Seminole High School television studio.

"My kids deserve a lot of credit," she said, adding that after the producer, who had committed to the project left for another job, the students "did everything."

Bess said the medical team and television production team worked together to produce a series of training tapes. Dr. Swanson demonstrated how to clear airways in infants and children. Paramedics will be required to watch the training to learn valuable skills that may save lives of injured infants and children who come to Arnold Palmer Hospital. Dr. Jogi Pattisapu, a pediatric neuro surgeon at Arnold Palmer visited the Seminole Studio to demonstrate techniques for treating head injuries in infants and children. Students worked to complete the last of the series of videotapes this week before school ended for the summer break.

Dr. Pattisapu is shown in the photos with Carson Stone, who helped produce one of the tapes with the help of Sandra Pangonis, hospital trauma coordinator. Stone, who will be a senior at Seminole next year is planning a career in the television industry and stayed after school to work on the project.

Jesse Gurtis, an 11th grade television production student is shown with Cinnamon Swan, as they discuss story boards for the production. Gurtis enjoys editing and directing, while Swan prefers to work as producer. Both students like the fact that the tapes will be used to help children in the community who have the misfortune of being injured.

Bess said she appreciates the opportunity for her students to have a "real world" work experience with professionals and complimented the students for their compassion and interest.

"The students involved in this project are so proud that they have made a worthwhile contribution during their class time," she said. "They know these tapes would have cost the hospital a great deal of money and they are proud to give their time and services to the community."

Dr. Jogi Pattisapu added that "he was surprised to see such a professional crew and studio at a high school. After the tapes were completed, Dr. Pattisapu reminded the students to wear helmets and seat belts to prevent injuries like they had seen in the production of the training tapes. The staff presented the Seminole Health Academy with the tapes for their faculty library and took the completed footage to Orange TV where it will air later this summer.

For seniors, Darrell Foster and Andrew Klempner, this was an opportunity to add work experience to their resumes. Klempner plans a career in television and this gave him an opportunity to have credits with his name on Orange TV, both as an editor and director. Foster is majoring in graphic arts and was in charge of the graphics with help from Will Ross who enjoys working with the character generator, a computer dedicated to the creation of fonts for video production. Klempner explained that he appreciated just getting to be a "part of the experience" while Jose Lasado, a second year television production student, who is part of the school news crew, Note Daily News, said that he loved anything related to television production and looked forward to seeing his name in the credits on Orange TV later this summer.

Now students are planning summer pre-production meetings for making several public service announcements for the anti tobacco campaign. The Arnold Palmer staff has agreed to provide information to further encourage students from smoking for the students to use in their public service videos.

The Seminole Football show is aired Wednesdays at 10 p.m. and Thursdays at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 21.

Sheriff's deputies set up positions along S.R. 436, knowing the vehicle description and tag number matched that of the burglary suspects, Starr said.

Sergeant John Negri conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle. The suspects were searched and placed in investigative detention, Starr said. The homeowner from 3530 Shirley Drive was taken to where the vehicle was stopped, and positively identified Sanders as the suspect who had entered his residence, Starr said.

City employees

I read with interest the article by Bill Kerns in the Friday, Oct. 16, 1998 edition of the Seminole Herald regarding the Sanford City Commission's comments on the recent evaluation and bonus program affecting the City of Sanford employees.

From my conversations with City employees, it is apparent that the new evaluation system is totally inequitable. First, those employees who stand to gain the most from this program are those who have been employed by the City for the shortest period of time. Those employees who have been faithful to me City for a number of years and are at the top of their pay grade can only hope to receive a small percentage of the total bonus allocated to their department, while others who have been with the City for much shorter time periods, are eligible for the same or more bonus plus a three percent increase in their base pay. This, in no way, rewards valuable City employees who have superior knowledge of City functions, and are depended upon to provide information to the same City Commissioners who, according to my interpretation of the article, feel that any bonus is too much.

These are the same City employees who have not been given a cost of living increase in a number of years, and who were victims of a restructuring of their pay scale which was ultimately designed to provide City Department heads with huge raises, while increasing the work hours and work load of the common employee with little monetary benefit.

While these Department heads were given large salary increases, there has been no attempt to reward employees who have performed well above their assigned duties. I know of dedicated employees who, while the Department was short handed due to various reasons, have performed the work of two or three other employees for several months at a time without any additional pay. Then when their review came around this time (after not being reviewed for up to two years) they were rated as average employees (ones who perform their job duties as they are assigned) and cannot share in the meager bonus program at all. The highly paid Department heads did not have to do any additional work to cover for this manpower shortage. In fact, they could use this as a means of budgetary control. On the other hand, some supervisors may have rated a lesser employee on a different scale, allowing them to share in the bonus program with mediocre work.

The staff at Sanford's City Hall is comprised of dedicated people who are tops in their respective fields. They deserve better than this.

Advice from a bear and a bull

Don't know where to turn in this market or how to invest your fund dollars? Here are a couple of ideas from pros with different market outlooks.

Being a bear is paying off for money manager Charles Minter. He's the portfolio manager of two funds that have scored big over the past few weeks: the Comstock Partners Capital Value Fund, up 17.48 percent for the third quarter, and the Comstock Partners Strategy Fund, ahead 13.70 percent.

The difference between the two funds is where they invest; the Strategy Fund is more conservative. "But both of them should be benefiting from a decline in common stocks," Minter says.

Minter's bearish outlook is deflationary-based (deflation means that the prices of goods and services are going down). He says that deflation has been in effect for a number of years. While there's a sweet side to it things can get out of hand if there is overinvestment excess debt and excess capacity in the economy. He figures that we're in that pickle now.

"If deflation was just deflation, and you were able to buy shoes at lower prices and get cheaper haircuts, this is not so bad. It's a good thing," says Minter. "But if deflation works through the system, it affects earnings. And earnings are the lifeblood of the stock market."

In the Comstock Partners Value Fund's portfolio, you'll find 50 percent Treasury bills, 18 percent 30-year Treasury bonds, 10 percent gold stocks, and 12 percent in derivative products that represent over 100 percent net short positions.

The Strategy Fund isn't allowed to use futures or sell stock short. In its portfolio, you'll find 50 percent Treasury bills, 23 percent Treasury bonds, 12 percent gold stocks, 12 percent puts, and 3 percent in Deutsch marks.

If you like his style, Minter suggests not putting more than 20 percent of your total assets into either bear-minded fund.

A. Michael Lipper, president of the mutual fund research firm bearing his name, sees things differently. While he admits he's not certain which direction the market will head in the near term, he's a long-term bull.

"The real damage was done in the seven weeks between the 17th of July and the end of August," he says. "September was a rally. October has been volatile thus far, but has stayed above the August lows. While it's possible that things could go down further, most investors have to have capital to meet their retirement needs." They need to be thinking long term, he says.

For those who currently own a lot of equities, he suggests making sure they've got some money in money market funds. For the aggressive invest-tor, Lipper points to the funds that have been beaten down a lot lately, such as the emerging markets and Latin American funds, or those investing in Japan, India or specialty over-the-counter funds.

One thing both Minter and Lipper agree on is dollar-cost averaging. That's an investment strategy that involves investing the same amount of money at specific intervals into the same investment. "The whole concept of dollar-cost averaging works well with volatile markets," says Lipper. "If the market was going to go straight up, you should put all your money in now. But if it's going to go up and down, you want the market going down when you're buying. And I think you ought to be a selective buyer here."

Minter adds a caveat. To get the most out of dollar-cost averaging, he says, "Remember, you have to have a very long time horizon and be willing to carry the program through."

Seminole High will be the place to be on Friday

SANFORD - Friday is the biggest night of the season for the Seminole High School varsity football team.

It will determine the rest of its football season. Or lack of one.

At 7:30 p.m. Daytona Beach-Mainland, which is undefeated in Class 5A-District 5, comes to town and Seminole is in a do-or-die situation.

Here is the scenario.

If Seminole loses, the season is over.

No playoffs.

If the Fighting Seminoles win, they will be in a three-way tie with Mainland and Spruce Creek (which handed Seminole a district loss earlier in the season, but later lost its game with Mainland) for the playoffs which will be determined by a Kansas tie-breaker.

If Seminole wins and Spruce Creek loses its game with Deltona, Seminole and Mainland will be 5A-5's two representatives in the Regionals.

Bottom line, Seminole must win.

If not for the playoffs, then for revenge.

Last year, Seminole fell to Mainland in the district championship game, was forced to go on the road in the first round of playoffs, and subsequently lost that first post-season game.

That loss didn't sit too well with any of the players, especially those juniors who have since returned and remember all too well what it felt like to lose that game to Mainland.

Despite the fact that Seminole has two losses this season, one of those is in the conference. Because the Fighting Seminoles play in Class 5A and not Class 6A, (classification is determined by school enrollment), the Seminole Athletic Conference loss does not effect the playoff picture for the Sanford school.

That makes it hard on the 'Noles, however, who have to play some of the toughest teams in the area for pride, and pride alone, while they play the rest of their season for the hopes of a state championship.

Several things will factor into whether or not Seminole can pull off the win.

First, the offense has to be 100 percent.

Nothing else past this actually matters although there are a few other factors.

Quarterback Garrett Goldsmith has had pretty good success this year with the keeper. He has scored several touchdowns and two-point conversions in addition to racking up some pretty good yardage. The passing game has been hit or miss, though. Julius Francis has been the go-to guy when the passing game is tested and has come up with some good plays.

Still, there is one key weapon for the Tribe.

The backfield.

The running game cannot experience a lull this week. Seminole has a triple threat with Mario Frederick, Clarence Lattimer and converted defensive back Willie Bennett. And just for the record, all three of these players are underclassmen, so look out next year barring any injuries.

The key to all of this is the offensive line. Jeff Faine will have to put his college aspirations on hold for a day and play at the level that has the likes of the University of Florida looking his way. He can make holes better than anyone in the county and he will have to be in top form on Friday evening.

Then there is the defense. All year, Mike Bradley, Fred Siplin and Clint Murray have been wild men on defense. Even in the two losses, the defense wreaked havoc on the offenses it has come up against. The Mainland offense can be no exception.

And if Bobby Williams can continue to break up the pass play, that will leave the running game to go up against one of the strongest defenses in the county.

The biggest problem for the Tribe this year has been inconsistency. They're hot and cold at the drop of a hat and that won't work with Mainland. Seminole cannot allow Mainland to get the upper hand because fighting back against a team of that caliber is very difficult.

The 'Noles need to come out strong and never let up on the pressure. Their post season lives are depending on it.

In all, Seminole has the ability and the weapons to win this game. It is a pretty safe bet that coach Jim Worthington has been discussing the importance of this game and the way to win it all week. It will basically take three things...the running game, good decision making by Goldsmith and total concentration by the defense.

Sounds like the three things needed in any game but in this one especially. Seminole has as good a chance as anyone to be in the state championship race at the end of the year. It all hinges on the outcome of Friday night's game. Sure, a Spruce Creek loss would make things a lot easier, but that still requires a Seminole win. Anyone who likes a good football game should head out to Thomas E. Whigham Stadium on Friday. It should be a really good battle.

SCC girls display flashes of brilliance

By Dean Smith
HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - The Seminole Community College women's basketball team made its home debut on Wednesday night with mixed reviews.

Hosting NCAA Division II St. Leo College in an exhibition game, the Raiders' performance over the full 50 minutes played was pretty good, winning 103-81 at the Health and Physical Education Center.

But for two 10-minute stretches, one in each of the first two halves, SCC looked like world beaters.

"We're still looking for constancy," said SCC assistant coach Tony Mandeville. "But we're playing so many girls right now, it is hard to tell how well our top players are doing."

St. Leo, led by former Lake Howell star Kellie Kohn, and the Raiders were tied at 8-8 early in the first half, but SCC went on a 23-2 run to take a 31-10 advantage before coasting into intermission with a 45-

Bigley wins 35th Governor's Cup

From Staff Reports

SAMSULA - Billy Bigley passed leader Pete Orr on Lap 154 and held the lead the rest of the way to win the 35th Annual Florida Governor's Cup at New Smyrna Speedway last Saturday.

B.J. McLeod also got past Orr for second place, with David Rogers and David Reutimann coming home fourth and fifth in the prestigious 200 lap race that payed $5,000 to win. The race was taped and will be shown on Sunshine Network and FOX at a later date.

Indianapolis 500 champion Eddie Cheever was also on hand and was the official starter for the race.

Other winners in last week's features were Bobby Sears in Limited Late Model, Jerry Symons in Modified, Chad Pierce in Sportsman, Bob Doxie in Mini-Stocks, Rich Clouser in Bombers and Joe Brogan in Run-A-Bouts.

This Saturday night, the Baby Grand Race Cars will hold an exhibition race along with a regular program of Late Models, Limited Late Models, Open Wheeled Modifieds, Sportsman, Mini-Stock, Bomber and Run-A-Bouts.

On November 14th, the SARA Open Wheeled Modifieds will hold a special $1,000 to win, 50 Lap race.

Racing begins at 7 p.m. every Saturday night

Murphy Morgan (left) shows off the style (above) that allowed the Lyman High School junior to set personal bests in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle finals last Saturday as the Greyhounds defeated a powerful Lake Brantley High School squad handily, 462-372, to claim their first boys' Seminole Athletic Conference swimming and diving championship since 1995.

Next up for Lyman and the other SAC schools is the Class 6A-District Meet at the Lake Brantley High School Pool on Saturday, November 14th.

Lyman, Morgan swim to SAC title

By Jeff Berlinke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LONGWOOD - Murphey Morgan was pumped up big time Saturday.

Maybe a little too pumped up. After the Lyman junior swam the Greyhounds to a shocking Seminole Athletic Conference swimming championship, he said one of his biggest problems was trying to loosen up between races.

Morgan swam personal bests of 22.61 in the 50-yard freestyle and 50.26 in the 100-yard freestyle, but between races, things didn't necessarily go according to plan.

"It was great to win the first race, but when I was trying to wind down, it usually goes pretty easy. This time, I was so psyched it was hard to wind down."

So he simply went out and scored another personal best to lead the Greyhounds over perennial state power Lake Brantley.

One of the amazing things about Morgan's performances was that he was disappointed in both of them.

"At the 100, I got off to a bad start and made bad turns," Morgan said. "I was behind with a couple of yards to go, then I just barely made it to the wall. In the 50, I also had a bad start. I just had to gut that one out."

The result was Lyman's first conference title since 1995.

Research on fever therapy needed

DEAR DR. GOTT: A while back, you mentioned fever therapy as an impractical treatment for cancer and other diseases. However, I witnessed the positive effects of this therapy during World War II, before sulfa and penicillin became widely available to the military.

At an El Paso, Texas, hospital that treated servicemen for gonorrhea, patients were placed in "hot boxes," with their heads exposed, and subjected to temperatures of 107 degrees. Fluids were constantly administered. The treatment lasted 24 hours and was successful in a surprisingly high percentage of cases.

I have suggested to AIDS researchers that fever therapy might be useful in treating HIV infections. Several doctors pooch-pooched the concept. I know that it works. Is there any current research?

DEAR DR. GOTT: Not to my knowledge. Fever therapy has been around for decades, in the form of "hot boxes" and Coley's toxin (an injectable material that causes fever — and cures — in cancer patients). I agree with you that further research is appropriate. But maybe the concept is just too basic and simple to justify responsible investigation. Researchers today seem to be infatuated with high-tech science, rather than basic "kitchen" medicine.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 25 and have had bulimia for 10 years, without apparent ill effects. Why is there such a fuss about throwing up after eating?

DEAR READER: Bulimia (binge eating followed by vomiting) is a serious psychological disorder that can have dangerous physical consequences, including malnutrition, inflammation and bleeding of the esophagus, and loss of dental enamel from repeated exposure to gastric juices. Many disorders cause ill effects that aren't apparent or that develop over time. Ultimately, you will probably experience the physical complications of bulimia if you don't get help. Start with your family doctor.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Mental and Emotional Illness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR READER: A broken tailbone (coccyx) is uncomfortable but not medically harmful. Although the sensitivity may remain for several months, a fractured coccyx does not progress into more serious conditions.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Fireworks for a day

By Phillip Alder

Fireworks are controversial. They are illegal in some countries, Australia for one. But most places use them to commemorate key dates. In New York harbor, it's July 4. At the EPCOT Center in Orlando, it's every night! In the Netherlands, it's at midnight on New Year's Eve (which is frightening for the pet cats and dogs). In England, it's Nov. 5, which is Guy Fawkes night. Fawkes and his band of men tried unsuccessfully to blow up the Houses of Parliament on this date in 1605.

You get fireworks at the bridge table when long suits are let out of their cages. This deal is from Jose Le Dentu's book, "Les Donnes Extraordinaire." Look only at the North and East hands. Against six spades, your partner leads the diamond two, four, jack, ace. South cash-

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday
Friday, Nov. 6, 1998

A number of new people worthy of befriending could enter your life in the year ahead through some rather unusual circumstances. Make it a point to get to know them better in order to cultivate some good friendships.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try to view life philosophically today. Regardless of what events transpire, a bad disposition will spoil your day, while good humor will bring you the happiness you seek. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that'll govern you in the year ahead. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Set your goals early and go for them. Major accomplishments are possible today, but only if you utilize the entire day and not waste time getting started.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Weigh and balance every aspect before rendering any decisions today, and things will work out. Avoid making hasty judgments, because your initial assessments could be way off base.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Only if you rely on your own abilities and not on fate or friends, can goals be achieved today. You'll create your own destiny through assertiveness.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's healthy to have a good opinion of yourself, but be careful you don't carry that too far. Don't ever behave superior or haughty to others. Treat everyone with respect and dignity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you allow yourself to believe that things are much too difficult for you to handle today, you won't even attempt jobs. Keep your responsibilities in proper perspective.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Though you want to interest others today in a cause you're espousing, take care not to paint too rosy a picture. Don't embellish the facts, just tell things like they are.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's fine to look out for your needs and desires today, but don't do so at the expense of another. You could lose a valuable friend if you appear too selfish.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Just because you might be uncertain about something today, there is no reason to ignore your own counsel. Don't allow others to influence you, for their advice could be flawed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Opportunities that come your way today should not be ignored or taken for granted. Something good could slip through your fingers if you disregard Lady Luck's offerings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be fair to others today, but be equally so to yourself. Don't make unwise concessions to placate others just to serve their best interests in hopes of appearing cooperative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Disappointment is likely today if you expect more than you're entitled share. You're capable of generating personal benefits, but be realistic about your input.
